TEN CENTS

"HOOSIER AT LARGE"

By Al Spiers

This Couple Does A Heap Of Living In The Dunes

SOL GREGORY'S Hawaiian eyes are dark and droil. They twinkled impishly as he said, "Around here I'm Martha. You want Mr. Gregory? That's Gladys. She's the man of the house."

"Sol — I'll slug you," sputtered Gladys. "But why, sweetie?" purred Sol. "It's true. You run a lathe, drill, hoist or gas pump — and go gardening barefoot in blue jeans. I cook and keep house."

A flushed blush danced across Gladys' creamy Danish face — but merriment lurked in her azure eyes.

"YOU MUG!" she chided. "What'll Mr. Spiers think — and write?"

"He'll think he's wandered into a house filled with laughter," I chuckled. "And he'll write about two truly delightful people."

Which is about the size of it. THE GAY, HAPPY Gregorys dwell in a cozy, flower-fringed cottage along rural Marine Drive east of Gary — their home and "hide-away" since 1947.

In dungarees and work shirt, Gladys does run a lathe, drill, hoist or gas pumps at Jack Isley's nearby Portage Boat Yard. A first-rate machinist and painter, she likes mannish toil — and barefoot gardening.

But Gladys can, with equal skill, pretty up like a fashion model and be a smooth, polished hostess in a posh restaurant or club.

And while Sol does keep house and cook, for fun, he's a veteran band leader, not a male domestic. For more than 30 years, Sol Gregory's Hawaiian Beach Boys have appeared all over the U.S., Canada, and Mexico.

"You name it — I've played it," chuckled Sol. "Honky tonks, carnivals, circuses, radio, vaudeville, road tours, plush clubs, and big hotels. I even played mood music to help old silent movie stars emote."

HONOLULU-BORN (in 1900) Sol got an engineering degree at Hawaii's St. Louis College. Jobs were scarce, so he joined the Navy, became a champion swimmer, and learned to strum a uke and croon a mellow tune.

Discharged, he stayed with music and presently drifted to Hollywood where he played bit parts, doubled for stars like Charles Bickford, Boris Karloff, and Richard Arlen, and rassed fake morny eels and octopuses in underwater stunt scenes.

In 1925, Sol formed his own band . . . and 13 vagabond years later brought the Beach Boys to Sioux City, Iowa, for an engagement in the Egyptian Room. (Continued on Page 11)

The taxes continue to apply to the first $4,800 of wages paid by an employer to each employee each year.

Stanley M. Cline Killed In Crash In Washington

Promising Career Ended By Tragedy

The ghastly toll of U. S. record-breaking 374 traffic deaths during the three-day New Year's holiday hit Culver with a horrible impact when it was learned here Saturday morning that one of our fine young men, Airman First Class Stanley M. Cline, 24-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roth Cline, had died at 5 a.m. that day following a two-car collision in Washington, D. C. shortly after midnight.

Home For Christmas

Stanley was home over Christmas, arriving here Dec. 22, but he returned to Bolling Air Base near the nation's capital on Dec. 28. His leave did not expire until Jan. 5, but he left town early in order to keep a band engagement.

Stanley Milton Cline was born in Culver on June 22, 1935 and was a graduate of our high school. He attended Purdue University and was graduated from Phillips University at Enid, Okla.

For the past 2 1/2 years he had been attached to the Air Force Band at Bolling Field. He was an accomplished musician with great promise in that field.

Surviving, with his devoted parents, are a sister, Miss Sandra Cline, a nurse at a hospital in Kingston, Jamaica, who arrived in Culver at 4 a.m. Monday; his grandfather, M. R. Cline; and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Orval Tracy, of Argos.

His body arrived at Plymouth with a military escort Tuesday morning and was brought to the Easterday Funeral Home.

Funeral services are being held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Culver Methodist Church with Rev. Kendall E. Sands, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Culver Masonic Cemetery.

A Victim Of Car Driven On Wrong Side Of Street

(From The Washington Post Of Sunday, January 3)

An Air Force bandsman, who was to have been a pallbearer today for a fellow musician killed in a traffic accident Thursday, died a traffic victim himself yesterday.

Victim of a Friday night collision at M and Union Sts. SW was Airman 1/C Stanley M. Cline, 24, of Culver, Ind., a clarinetist assigned to Bolling Air Force Base. He died early yesterday in Casualty Hospital.

The State Exchange Bank Continues Amazing Growth; All-Time Records Set

Resources Now Almost $31 1/2 Million!

The remarkable but not surprising year-end statements of The State Exchange Bank of Culver and Argos and the Farmers State Bank of LaPaz are published in this issue of The Citizen.

On comparing them with statements published a year ago, our readers will discover that the total combined resources of these affiliated banks have increased $765,000, making the total resources as of the end of the year over $31,480,000, which is an all-time high.

Highly Pleased With Results

The officers and directors of these three great banks are highly pleased with the results attained during the year 1959.

W. O. Osborn, president of the three Culver-managed Marshall County banks, reported that deposits in many banks had declined during the past year but that he was proud and happy to announce that the deposits of these three banks had slightly increased during the past year, which he felt was largely due to the services which these banks were rendering to the public and the fact that they had paid the highest rate of interest on deposits permitted by law.

STANLEY M. CLINE Mourned By Community

Police said Cline was a passenger in an auto driven west on M St. SE, by another Bolling bandsman, Airman 2/C Thomas A. Kasten, 23. He was in satisfactory condition at Andrews Air Force Base Hospital with head injuries and a broken leg.

Head-On Collision

The Kasten car was struck head-on, police said, by a car driven by Lee F. De Lawder, 26, of 115 12th St. SE, who was unhurt, although three others riding with him were admitted to Casualty Hospital.

Cline was one of five Air Force bandsmen scheduled to serve as pallbearers today in Hampton, Va., for Charles R. Test, 24, a former bandsman, who was killed in another 2-car crash Thursday at Valley Ave. and Wheeler Road.

Serve Enlarged Territory
President Osborn also stated that the territory served by them had been enlarged and extended to areas the banks had never served before.

Banner Year For Affiliated Finance Company Also

Hampton Boswell, also of Culver, an officer and director of these banks, and also the manager of State Exchange Finance Company, reports that 1959 was a banner year for the Finance Company in every department, and that the business of this company, which is owned by the same stockholders who own the stock of the three banks, is now larger than a great many country banks.

Appreciate Public's Confidence

The officers, directors, and employees deeply appreciate the confidence and the business with which so many people have favored them.

ENTER HOSPITALS

Perchis Blanchard will enter Ferguson, Droste and Ferguson Hospital at Grand Rapids, Mich., on Thursday for examination and surgery.

Mrs. Mayme Johnson was taken by ambulance on Tuesday, Dec. 29, to Osteopathic Hospital in South Bend.

FIRST ICE ON LAKE

Lake Maxinkuckee is partially frozen over for the first time this winter.

New Town Board and Clerk-Treasurer Take Office

A. R. McKesson, standing, is seen presiding at the New Year's Day meeting of the new Town Board which will serve the community for the next four years. His associates elected him president by acclamation. At the left is CHARLES COOK, 3rd ward member, and at the right is BERNARD BUSART, 2nd ward member. Seen taking notes is MRS. RUTH OVERMYER, new clerk-treasurer. Bill Taber took this fine picture for The Citizen but admits he "goofed" on the shot he made of the new official family photographed with the members of the retiring Town Board who were present to wish them well in their responsibilities.

Culver Residents Figure In Car-Bus Crash

Two Culver residents figured in the tragic car-bus crash on rain-slick U. S. 31 in suburban Meridian Hills north of Indianapolis last week which resulted in the instant death of an Indianapolis couple and their two children.

They were Cecelere Brown and William Walattis. Neither was injured.

The dead: Mrs. Margie L. Terry, 40, the driver of the car; her husband, Baxter, 57; a daughter, Darlene, 2; and Katherine Spively, 9, Mrs. Terry's daughter by a previous marriage.

According to authorities, Mrs. Terry lost control of her car as it began to skid in the southbound lane of the four-lane highway. The car skidded into the northbound lane of traffic and the entire right side of the vehicle was ripped open as it struck the bus owned by the Indiana Motor Bus Company.

Passengers praised John R. Webster, 46, Plymouth, driver of the bus, for his handling of the vehicle after it collided with the car, and then careened into a tree.

Eddie Amond has just completed the famous Dale Carnegie public speaking course with Class 27 in South Bend — winning two awards for best speeches, culminated by being voted the "highest award for achievement" in a class of 40 members.

He also is a graduate of the Robert Nutt memory course recently held for management in South Bend.

Ed belongs to the South Bend Judo Club, whose members have appeared on television and in school exhibitions. The club is instructed by John Dykslaag, now a Bendix engineer, who previously organized the Judo Club in Europe following World War II.

Stanley M. Cline

Ironically, the car with which Test's collided was driven by still another former Air Force bandman and personal friend of the victim, M/Sgt. Howard W. Martin, 34, of 5226 Devonshire Dr., Oxon Hill, Md., who was unhurt.

S/Sgt. John J. Senior of 1233 Valley Ave., an Air Force drummer, said Cline, himself, and three other bandmen were scheduled to drive to Hampton for the Test funeral today and their final plans for the trip were made at the Senior home just before Cline drove off to his own appointment with death.

Victim Of Reckless Driver

Police said De Lawder's car was eastbound on M St. SW, when it swerved suddenly into the westbound traffic lane. Both cars were demolished. De Lawder was charged with driving on the wrong side of the street and was ordered held for the inquest into Cline's death.

De Lawder's injured passengers were Louise V. Tyrrell, 31, under treatment for bruises; Ruth R. Henson, 43, and Charlie Boze, 35, both of whom suffered head cuts. All were listed in good condition.

Purdue Professor, Holland Native, Will Visit CMA

Philip Dwinger, associate professor of mathematics at Purdue University, will visit the campus of Culver Military Academy next Tuesday as part of the visiting scientist program established by the Indiana Academy of Science.

The program, financed by a grant from the National Science Foundation, is designed to encourage better co-operation between college scientists and the high schools of the State for the improvement of the science teaching program.

Some 80 scientists from 17 colleges throughout Indiana have made their services available in the program. In the group are specialists in 11 different subjects.

Prof. Dwinger is a native of The Netherlands. He received his Ph.D. degree from the University of Leiden in 1938.

Taught School In Holland

During World War II he was a prisoner of the Nazis. He taught at several high schools in Holland before and after the war. Then, in 1953, he went to Indonesia as the head of the mathematics department at the University of Indonesia. He joined the Purdue faculty in 1956.

Prof. Dwinger has published several articles on problems of high school mathematics and on Boolean algebra, which is now his main field of interest.

Subscription Rate Of Citizen Goes Up February 1

Effective Feb. 1, 1960, The Culver Citizen will follow the lead of scores of other Hoosier and Midwest newspapers and make a slight increase in its subscription rates to partially offset the continuing higher costs of production.

It will be The Citizen's first raise in subscription rates since 1953.

Area newspapers which have recently made a similar announcement include The North Judson News, The Plymouth Pilot-News, and The Starke County Democrat at Knox.

Last year was a dismal year for U.S. small town newspapers in general. A press association survey shows that 38 per cent lost money and 65 per cent showed less profit or a higher loss. Hundreds of old established weeklies are suspending publication while desperately made mergers are being effected to save others who can no longer absorb the heavy overhead of their individual plants.

Here Are The New Rates

After Feb. 1 the new subscription rates of The Culver Citizen will be: Indiana — 1 year, $4; 2 years, $6.50. Out-of-State — 1 year, $4.50; 2 years, $7.

Subscriptions of shorter duration will be: Indiana — 6 months, $2.25; 3 months, $1.25. Out-of-State — 6 months, $2.50; 3 months, $1.50.

Save Money Now!

Subscriptions for any period in the future will be accepted up to Feb. 1 at the old rates of $3 per year or 2 years for $5 in Indiana, and $3.50 per year or 2 years for $5.50 outside of Indiana.

Single Copies Still 10 Cents

Single copies of The Citizen will remain at 10 cents. By entering a regular subscription at $4, after Feb. 1, one may still save $1.20 a year over the newsstand price.

Sandra Fitterling and Jack Keyser
Are Married In Grace Church Ceremony

MR. AND MRS. JACK KEYSER

Miss Sandra Fitterling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fitterling, 311 Lake Shore Drive, Culver, and Jack Keyser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Keyser, Route 2, Bremen, were united in marriage Sunday afternoon, Dec. 27, at the Grace United Church. Rev. R. A. Worthman performed the double ring ceremony before the altar which was decorated with bouquets of white China lilies. The church was decorated with baskets of red and white lilies and candelabra and the pews were marked with white satin bows, candles and greenery. Miss Margaret Swanson, organist, played the nuptial music and accompanied Miss Betty Kose who sang "With This Ring" and "The Wedding Prayer." The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of black taffeta with empire bodice and long pointed sleeves of Chantilly lace. The modified scoop neckline was traced with floral applique and accented with sequins, and a band of pleated taffeta and front bow edged the Empire bodice. The bouffant gathered skirt with full chapel train had a wide band of the lace applique extending across the front of the skirt and down each side. Her veil had blusher of silk illusion fell from a queen's crown of sequins and seed pearls. She carried a white Bible with a cascade bouquet of stephanotis and Amazon lilies with streamers of ribbon and flowers of net. Miss Barbara Osborn of Culver is maid of honor and bridesmaid is Mrs. Arthur Birk of Plymouth. They wore princess styled gowns of red velvet with banana neckline and white feather ties and white gloves. On their wrists they carried an unusual arrangement of large balls of red and white carnations made with net ruffles at the top and streamers of ribbon and ivy at the bottom. Robert Grise of Mishawaka, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, served as best man and ushers were Michael Fitterling, brother of the bride, and Richard Shene-man of Bremen. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Fitterling chose a light blue brocade sheath dress with white accessories. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a royal blue coat dress with white accessories. They each wore a corsage of white carnations. Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church social rooms. Mrs. Robert Grise, sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Roger Leed of Bremen, Mrs. Wayne Keyser of Bremen and Mrs. Warren Keyser of English presided at the refreshment table. Miss Doris Keyser was in charge of the guest book. After a wedding trip to Chicago the young couple are at home at 515-2 West Jefferson St., Culver. For going away the bride wore a blue knit suit with white accessories and a corsage of Amazon lilies. The bride is a graduate of Culver High School and Ball State Teacher's College and is teaching first grade in the Culver Elementary School. Mr. Keyser, a graduate of Bremen High School, is employed at Maron Products in Mishawaka. Out of town guests attending the wedding were from Bremen, South Bend, Chesterton, Mishawaka, English, Hammond, Shelbyville and Rochester.

The Rev. Thomas Rough, pastor of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremony and Mrs. Larry Welsh, soloist, was accompanied by Miss Shari Yocom at the piano.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a waltz length gown of white ruffled nylon net over taffeta fashioned with a strapless bodice of lace. Her fingertip veil fell from a tiara of ruffled net trimmed with sequins and she carried a white Bible and an arrangement of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Miss Sharon Spahr served as her sister's maid of honor and Richard Herr of LaPorte, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Robert Flora and Donald Herr.

Our Efficient Post Office Staff

Now that the holidays are behind us the entire community should acknowledge its deep appreciation of the exceptional service rendered by Postmaster E. Wayne Mattox and his staff in handling the unusually heavy Christmas mail.

The Citizen has been pretty critical of the U. S. Post Office Department because its service has steadily gotten worse instead of better in the face of greatly increased postage rates. Our criticism has NEVER involved our local post office which day after day goes far beyond the call of duty in behalf of all its many patrons.

Accordingly, we would like to say "Thank You" again to Postmaster Mattox and the following faithful and courteous postal employees whose names follow:

Assistant Postmaster Harold Fitterling and Clerks William Washburn, Ernest L. (Bus) Carter, and Jerry Jones — also James Jones, Christmas season clerk.

City Carriers Larry Lowry, Vern McKee, and Roger Wise.

Rural Route Carriers Hall Wilson (Route 1) and Ronald Mackey (Route 2) — also Substitute Carriers Dean Manchester on Route 1 and Tom Houghton on Route 2.

C. Arthur Reed and Earl Eckman, the custodians, also are entitled to special praise. Among many other duties they are in charge of the new $1,000 flagpole which The Citizen has not heretofore mentioned in its columns because we are still burned up over this horrible example of the Government's spending of the taxpayer's money.

Editor, CITIZEN:

Thank you for publishing our band picture on the front page of The Citizen.

Also thank you for past publicity which I did not have time to thank you for.

I'm sure your publicity helped make the Christmas concert a great success.

CADET WALAITIS IS NOW A SERGEANT IN ACADEMY CORPS

William Ralph Walaitis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank William Walaitis of Culver Military Academy, is one of the 12 cadets who recently have been promoted to the rank of sergeant.

At Culver, each cadet is enrolled in the Army Reserve Officers' Training Corps. The students are organized into companies, with the cadet officers having the primary responsibility for the enforcement of regulations and student government at the local college preparatory school.

U. S. Optimistic As We Enter Soaring 1960's

Gallup Survey Is Food For Thought

Most Americans today are fantastically optimistic about the future as the 1950's pass into history. A current mood, which may be described as relaxed, unadventurous, and satisfied, seems to permeate the entire nation, irrespective of geographic area or economic or social level.

Such were the consistent findings of a nationwide survey to determine "How America Feels as We Enter the Soaring Sixties," which has just been completed by Dr. George Gallup's Institute of Public Opinion under the sponsorship of LOOK Magazine. The results of the survey have been incorporated into a 26-page article appearing in the Jan. 5 issue of LOOK.

Labor Problem Greatest
 Next to keeping the peace, which 58% of the people named as America's No. 1 problem, labor unions were cited as the chief question for solution.

When asked to name which of three — big labor, big business, and big government — represented the greatest threat to the country, 41% designated labor, chiefly because of "too much power." By contrast, 15% named "bushiness," and 14% "government."

Surprisingly, the survey reveals a new formula for success taking shape in the minds of the public. Nearly half of the respondents rated education as the open sesame, while only a quarter gave old-fashioned hard work top billing. Less than 10% rated honesty as the prime requisite for success in life.

Defend Charles Van Doren
 This may explain why nearly three out of four Americans say that "most people" would have done what Charles Van Doren did to win $129,000. LOOK points out; and why only 19% are willing to believe that television commercials are always truthful.

The belief in education as the key to success may also explain why people generally said they wished they had had more schooling than they did; and why the majority of parents want their children to go to college, not so much to enrich their minds as because "it will make life easier for them."

Looking ahead to the next decade, 78% of those questioned were optimistic about the future, and only 15% were definitely pessimistic. The remaining 7% didn't know. A full 69% said their standard of living had improved every year, and they expected their children to live even more comfortably.

While this happy assurance of a bright future prevailed among all age, income, educational, and geographical groupings, the highest degree of optimism was found among college graduates in their 20's living out West. Less optimism was shown by Midwestern farmers 50 years of age or over, with a grade-school education.

Family Goals Cited
 One of the most notable trends emerging from the survey was the emphasis on home and family. Buying a new home, improving their present one, paying off a mortgage, sending the kids to college, were the goals most frequently cited. This home-orientation shows up regardless of age, sex, income bracket, or educational level.

A solid 75% said they were "very happy" in their home life, and put human relationships first when asked what gave them the greatest satisfaction in life. Samples of answers to the latter question were "the man I love" . . . "our four children" . . . "being a grandfather."

Why Worry About Future?
 The fact is, according to the LOOK article, Americans are not in a worrying mood. They are content with where they live and the work they are doing. Given a choice, 11% said they would move to California, and 8% to Florida; but the majority would stay put. As for work, nearly two out of three Americans say they like their jobs very much, and only one in four would care to change to another type of work.

Certain regional differences crop up in the survey, though these are less marked than might be expected. In the South, for example, there is less optimism, less interest in travel, more church-going, and a greater proportion of "don't know" answers. But the differences rarely amount to more than a few percentage points.

Interest in home building is highest in the West and lowest in the East. Also, 55% of Westerners believe their own region offers the greatest opportunities for young people, as against 42% of the Midwesterners, 39% of the Easterners, and 37% of the Southerners.

Churchgoing People
 With a few notable exceptions, the over-all picture of Americans at the threshold of the space age, as revealed in the survey, is that of a complacent, decent, church-going people, preoccupied with home and family, and optimistic about the future.

As the LOOK article points out, the basic similarities between Americans of varying age, income, and education more than outweigh the differences. "Rich or poor, egghead or blockhead, gray-beard or crewcut — they are pretty well satisfied with everything

So those behind will understand.*

*Before I pass I'll look to see
If someone else is passing me.*

*I'll always stay enough behind
The car in front for peace of mind*

It's fast enough to meet my need.*

whose cashier was Gladys Larsen, a lovely, farm-raised Nordic blonde from Ida Grove, Iowa.

Six months later Sol and Gladys wed.

FOR NINE YEARS, the Gregorys gipsied happily from booking to booking, following the sun. Then, weary of wandering, they sought a pleasant place to take root and call home.

One soft, sweet spring day a friend guided them to a 10-acre plot in then-isolated dunes near Burns Ditch. On it stood the half-finished shell of a wee cottage.

"That's for us!" said Gladys.

They bought a and, with their own hands, finished the house between Sol's bookings and Gladys' cashier and hostess job.

THAT DONE, GLADYS planted flowers galore.

"At heart, I'm a farmer and a tomboy," she laughed. "I love to get out of war paint, girdle, and shoes and dig the good earth."

GLADYS IS ALSO a handy fixer-upper. Six years ago Isley, who had a machine shop nearby, found her repairing a power mower.

"I need a machinist," said Jack. "Want the job? I'll teach you."

Gladys was dubious — but willing and apt. In jig-time, she was skillfully running Isley's lathes. In 1957, when Isley acquired the Portage Boat Yard, Gladys diversified her many chores — tending the gas dock, scraping, painting, moving, and repairing big and little craft.

"I'm really just a flunky-of-all-trades and master of none," says Gladys. "But it's fun and I keep busy when Sol is away playing an engagement."

SOL, WHO DOES his own booking, picks only the spots he wants in or near Chicago. When idle, he keeps house — partly just to kid Gladys — and cooks delectable Hawaiian or Chinese fare.

"As Mathilda, he's a whiz!" chuckled Gladys. "I think I'll keep him. Good domestics are hard to find."

So are couples happier or more ideally mated than Sol and Gladys. Although not dollar-rich, they possess a great treasure . . . a serene contented, busy way of life together.

AND IT SHOWS. At 59, Sol looks 40 and bubbles with amiable good humor. Gladys is past 40, but the only lines in her face are eye-corner laugh wrinkles.

Just plain delightful, these two — Mathilda and Mr. Gregory!

Culver Has 60 Credit Listed Businesses

Dun & Bradstreet Makes New Report

Each January business concerns in all parts of the United States receive from Dun & Bradstreet requests for their annual financial statements.

This year, these requests are being sent to approximately three million businesses — to the corner grocery store worth a few thousand dollars as well as to businesses worth millions.

The extent of business activity in Marshall County is reflected in statistics just released by the credit reporting agency. J. W. Hight, district manager at Chicago which covers this area, says that this year there will be more requests for financial statements made of business concerns, in Marshall County than ever before.

620 County Listings

The Marshall County section of the current issue of the Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book contains listings of 620 local names comprising manufacturers, wholesalers, and retailers. It does not include some of the service and professional businesses, such as barber and beauty shops, real estate and stock brokers.

Thus the figure for businesses in Marshall County would actually be higher than the 620 quoted above.

The number of listed businesses in the five largest communities in Marshall County are as follows:

Plymouth	285
Bremen	118
Bourbon	62
Culver	60
Argos	44

Mrs. Myrtle Crabb left by car Friday morning with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Snyder, Sr. and Jim for a six-week's visit with her granddaughter, Mrs. Ralph Pedersen, and family at Metairie, La.

Marshall County's REMC Will Refund Members $44,871

C. E. Robinson, manager, states that the board of directors of the Marshall County REMC has approved the refund of capital credits for the year 1950.

The distribution will amount to $44,871.72. Payments will be made to all REMC members receiving electric service from the cooperative's lines during the year 1950.

Checks will be ready for distribution at the REMC's annual meeting on March 9.

Previously the Marshall County REMC has refunded $155,684.84 to its member-users. These payments covered the years 1946 to 1949, inclusive.

Mr. Robinson stated that capital credits represent the excess amount of revenue over and above the actual cost of furnishing electric service to REMC members. Refunds have amounted to about 25% of electric service bills.

Citizen's Local Advertising Rate Hiked To 70c

Steady Customers To Get Old Price

Effective immediately the transient display advertising rate of The Culver Citizen is being increased from 60 cents to 70 cents per column inch.

It is the first increase in this newspaper's advertising rate since August, 1953 — more than six years ago.

One does not have to be an economist to know what has happened to the purchasing power of the dollar during this inflationary period. All of the materials and services that go into the production of a newspaper have skyrocketed in cost. The Citizen has no choice in the matter if it hopes to remain in business.

Regular advertisers, who support this community newspaper week after-week, will not be affected by the rate change. They will continue to be billed at 60 cents per column inch for the ads. Surely everybody will agree that they are entitled to a preferential rate.

In other words, the new 70-cent transient rate applies just to frequent advertisers — those who make use of The Citizen's substantial paid circulation cover only when the occasion demands.
