TEN CENTS

"HOOSIER AT LARGE"

By Al Spiers

Jack and Jackie Isley,
An Unusual Hoosier
Husband-and-Wife Team

IN THIS leisure-loving age when so many expect life to be served up on a golden platter, it's refreshing to meet dauntless go-it-alones like Jack and Jackie Isley.

AL SPIERS

Life has already tested this energetic, unafraid husband-wife team with formidable setbacks — a flood, the army, and a whopping steel plant that may turn the fruits of their toil into a king-size white elephant.

But the Isleys haven't flinched — and aren't likely to.

"If this roof falls on our heads, we'll just have to raise another one," said Jackie, a tall trim, dark-haired gal who is pretty even in pigtails and slacks. "Heck, we can always get easy, eight-hour jobs. But that wouldn't be fun. We like to work hard... for ourselves!"

JACK ISLEY, whose dad, Mickey, is a popular band leader and mill worker, started working for himself while still in high school at Gary. By graduation, he'd converted hustle, toil and profits into a well-equipped machine shop in the family garage.

Thereafter, Jack worked days in an industrial machine shop — and nights in his own. In 1951, he married Jacquelyn, a utility secretary. After honeymooning, they settled in a small apartment, eyed the future and agreed on a starting goal — a full-time machine shop of their own.

Jack, who liked boating, found and bought a one-acre site fronting Burns Ditch, alongside Joe Sablotney's Portage Boat Yard.

SHORT OF CAPITAL, they had to start with just a basement level that would house the shop and tiny, temporary living quarters.

"Later," said Jack, "we'll add

Academy's New Movie Impressive Production

Maj. Gen. Delmar T. Spivey, in charge of the Lions Club program last Wednesday night, sprung a delightful surprise on a good crowd — a preview of Culver Military Academy's new sound motion picture of Winter School activities. Col. John W. Henderson ran the projector.

It is a truly magnificent production, worthy of a Hollywood trademark, and was produced by Russell R. Benson of Indianapolis.

When additional prints of the movie, entitled "Education for Responsibility," are available about March 1 every church and club and school in the Culver area ought to arrange for a free showing. Applications should be submitted to the CMA Public Relations Department for the attention of Robert Matson, director.

As an added treat for the Culver Lions, the Blue Notes, an excellent singing group of 14 cadets, appeared under the direction of Claude N. Zetty. Bob Glaze was a featured singer.

THREE-INCH SNOW HITS CULVER AREA

Registration Of All Motorboats Now Required

State Fee Is $3 For Three Years

Rules and regulations governing the registration of all motorboats in Indiana have been approved by Kenneth Marlin, director of the Indiana Department of Conservation.

The approved rules and regulations are in compliance with the Motorboat Registration Law passed by the 1959 General Assembly, which complies with the Federal Bonner Act. This registration will be honored in some 30 other states that have a similar registration law.

The adoption of the rules and regulations followed a public hearing in the director's office on Dec. 3. They became effective on Jan. 1, 1960.

All motorboats over six (6) horse power, which means any boat propelled or operated by mechanical means, must be registered. The enactment of the law was placed in the hands of the Enforcement Division of the Indiana Department of Conservation by the contents of the new law. All motorboats must after January 1960 carry an identification number, which has been allocated to the owner by the Enforcement Division.

Enables Identification

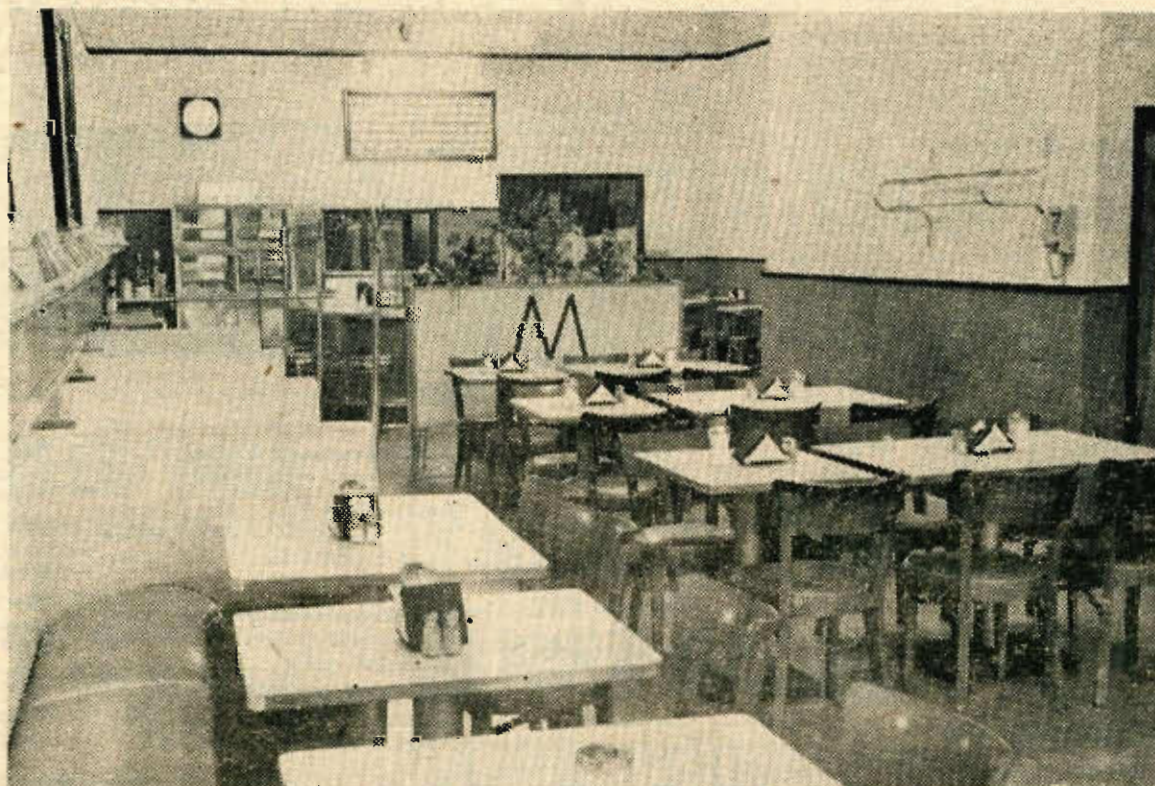

Mr. Marlin stated, "The motorboat law will be an aid to the motorboat owner in many ways. It will enable the boat to be identified in case of theft and also if breaking from its moorings and lost."

"As a safety measure those boats which are in violation of safety rules can also be easily identified," he added.

The rules and regulations also provide for the reporting of motorboat accidents similar to the same rule that governs highway accidents.

The fee for registering motorboats is $3 for three years. Applications with the accompanying fee are to be mailed to the Enforcement Division, Indiana Department of Conservation, 311 W. Washington St., Indianapolis, Ind. Applications can be secured at County Clerk offices, sporting good stores, boat stores, or by sending in to the above address. Also all hunting and fishing branches will have applications.

Navy Chaplain Orville Westlund Making His Mark

(The Citizen is greatly indebted to Chaplain Allen E. Bray, USNR, of the Culver Military Academy, for this interesting clipping from The Navy Times of Dec. 16 about Navy Chaplain Orville Westlund, popular former pastor of the Burr Oak Church of God.)

CAMP PENDLETON, CALIF. — When Navy Chaplain Lt. O. A. Westlund joined the 1st Pioneer Battalion he set off a chain reaction of "firsts."

This is the first time in more than three years the Pioneers have had the services of their own chaplain; for Lt. Westlund this marks his first tour of duty since attending chaplain's school at Newport, R. I., and he has his own chapel in the headquarters area, the first time one has been available at Camp Talega.

The engineering talents of the Pioneers are being put to good use converting a quonset hut into a permanent chapel. A cross and steeple have already been built and mounted on the roof. The interior has been partitioned off, separating the main chapel from Lt. Westlund's office.

Although straight back chairs are being used now, Lt. Westlund hopes to have conventional pews constructed in the near future. The floor of the chapel proper will be laid with asphalt tile this month.

Lt. Westlund said he plans to have the chapel ready for formal dedication ceremonies in January.

Town's Schools, Churches, People Very Important

Wishes Henry Ford Were Alive Today

BABSON PARK, MASS. — There are various tests for selecting the right city to buy land for a new supermarket or apartment house or merely for an investment.

One test is population growth; others are the tax rate, water supply, and — very important — the condition of the schools, the churches, and the character of the people.

Roger W. Babson

A Period Of Prosperity

Although we are now in a period of prosperity with wealth increasing rapidly, yet we are not using this wealth to improve our daily living.

We certainly have not provided the mobility for our citizens which good business and good health deserve. Our street car lines are going into bankruptcy; our railroads are giving up passenger business; our roads are overcrowded with private cars and trucks.

Therefore, people are moving to the suburbs while still working in the cities, creating an impasse in mobility within the cities.

All of the above means that the best cities in which to invest money are those which have widened their roads, provided ample parking space, and are making trucks deliver and pick up at night.

Although our present prosperity is due largely to the automobile, it is this very industry which is revolutionizing our cities, and crumbling real estate values.

Paging Henry Ford

We owe much to Henry Ford, but I wish he were alive today to help us out of this dilemma.

The automobile has given us new freedom; but, paradoxically, this industry to which we owe so much is also threatening to strangle us all and make us live and work in city caves.

Yet the biggest part of the transportation program has barely started. The huge road-building program will not only change the faces of all cities, but will set the location for new cities. These may be very long and narrow, with very wide streets for autos. In the rear may be streets meant wholly for trucks to pick up and deliver merchandise; while our sidewalks will have two stories and our stores two "ground floors."

No city should be blamed for getting into the present messy condition. The New England locality in which I am writing this column had its streets laid out by cows 300 years ago. These cow-paths were gradually widened for ox wagons, then for horse-and-buggies.

Today's Problem Inherited

Most cities have inherited today's problem. But oddly enough most city residents do not own autos or get very upset about the congestion, so city planners find it hard to get recommendations adopted.

It is hopeful that cities are beginning to study the traffic problem and are employing traffic engineers.

Newspapers are joining the demand for a solution which will restore the prestige of their cities and not leave them manufacturing, business, and living slums.

Aware Of Water Pollution
Cities have long been conscious of water pollution, and most cities have pure water today.

Some are concerned about air pollution but are just awakening to the importance of proper zoning, and the development of parks, forests, and conservation projects.

Although we have only 60 people per square mile, compared with Japan's 620, yet traffic conditions in Japan today are better than in the U. S.

Better living and transportation conditions would justify increasing taxes. People would accept a higher tax if they got more for their money.

In view of all this, the wise investor in real estate is giving much more attention to traffic conditions, parking space, and road control.

Decline In House Values
When one builds a new home, the value of the house declines from year to year; but if the city has proper traffic control, the value of the land will increase year by year.

This is something city newspapers as well as real estate agents should emphasize. I believe in reviving the old city centers, with proper traffic regulations. The new shopping centers may be fads which are now at their zenith.

Chambers of Commerce, Boards of Trade, and Merchants Associations should therefore give their primary thought to improving the transportation and parking facilities of their cities. They should remember that their task is not to keep things as they are, but to forge ahead and prepare for the great changes which are already in progress.

Small Business Gets Attention At I. U. Center

Owners and operators of small businesses will be interested in a series of 14 meetings which the Indiana University South Bend-Mishawaka Center will conduct in South Bend beginning today.

The meetings will be devoted to a program to improve the management skills of owners of operators of small businesses, Dr. Jack Detzler, director of the I.U. Center, said.

The South Bend Chamber of Commerce is cooperating in the program, for which the instructor will be Charles R. Hammersmith, senior accountant with the comptroller's staff of the Associates Investment Company, South Bend.

The instructor will supplement his own teaching with talks by expert resource persons in this area and from the University's Bloomington campus and with class discussions.

At the opening meeting the management process will be studied. The meetings will continue weekly on Wednesday evenings at 7 o'clock in Central High School through March 23. They will resume on the same basis April 27 after a three-week interval and continue through May 18. The opening meeting will be a dinner.

Many Topics Covered

Among the topics to be covered will be small business environment; working capital management; sources of funds and financial organization; interpretation of financial statements as a basis of management and action; markets and problems of growth; competition, market mix and pricing; location, building, equipment and layout; selecting, developing and motivating personnel; promotion; financial controls, and personal objectives, and the adjustment to the small business situation.

The small business program is the latest one developed by the Management Leadership Program of the Indiana University School of Business, headed by Prof. W. L. Haeblerle. It was developed in cooperation with the U.S. Small Business Administration and a State advisory board.

Further information is available at the I.U. Center Office, Central High School, South Bend.

The Culver Inn Again Rated High By Duncan Hines

Roy H. Park of Ithaca, New York, business associate and traveling companion of the late Duncan Hines, who has succeeded him as editor-in-chief of the perennially best-selling Duncan Hines books, "Adventures in Good Eating," "Lodging for a Night," and "Vacation Guide" — all publications of the Duncan Hines Institute.

ITHACA, N. Y. — The Culver Inn at Culver, Ind., has received national recognition in the new 1960 edition of the Duncan Hines Travel Book "Lodging for a Night" just published, according to an announcement from Roy H. Park, editor-in-chief of the Duncan Hines Institute here, publisher of the travel books.

The Culver Inn is one of 5,200 lodging places in North America "Recommended by Duncan Hines." Other Duncan Hines books are the companion Travel Book "Adventures in Good Eating," also newly republished in its 25th anniversary edition, and the Duncan Hines guide to resorts and vacation spots, "Vacation Guide."

"This edition celebrates the silver anniversary of the first Duncan Hines travel book," Park stated. "The 1935 edition of 'Adventures in Good Eating' launched a new and unique publishing venture, one that has pioneered in upgrading the standards of service offered the American traveler."

HAWKINS COURT

Hawk was a fowl in the air
But in our Court were other kinds of Byrds

In the center there were Fish
The other corner was a Jack
God saw fit to take the Fishers
But Ca-me a-Bell to fill our wishes

The Good Book says two shall be toiling in the field
One shall be taken, the other left

So just across the Plymouth way
The Weavers came awhile to stay

Doing acts of kindness day by day
We none see eye to eye

But look up and live to be friends always.

Brademas Narrates TV Program On Methodism

New York, N. Y. — Participating in a recent special nation-wide television program, marking the 175th anniversary of the beginnings of the Methodist Church in America, was Third District Congressman John Brademas of South Bend. The half-hour program, entitled, "The People Called Methodists," was seen over most CBS stations. It was one of the "Lamp Unto My Feet" series, a weekly program on religion in contemporary life.

Brademas, right, a Methodist layman, and Methodist Bishop Donald Harvey Tippet, left, of San Francisco, were narrators of the program, which traced the origins of Methodism in the United States as well as certain aspects of the life of John Wesley. They are seen standing in front of an oil portrait of Francis Asbury, first Methodist Bishop in America.

Vacation Over, Grades Are Busy

By PAT VAN SCHOLACK, LILA BEAN, and
LINDA GIBBONS

Mrs. Melton, Kindergarten: After a happy vacation our kindergarten has returned full of enthusiasm. The children want to thank the parents who contributed candy, cookies, popcorn balls for our parties. Mrs. DeWitt and Mrs. McKee helped serve during the morning session. "Thank you," Mrs. Plante made little favors for each one of the children.

Miss Whan, First Grade: The children all had a nice vacation; Melinda Kuhn spent her's in Florida, and Frances Wilson was in California. Mark Heiser, however, was in the hospital Christmas week and has not yet returned to school. This week we began our social studies book and are talking about home and family. The children are excited about beginning a new numbers book and learning to add.

Miss Fitterling, First Grade: The following children had birthdays over the vacation: Mary Wieringa, Gary Yeazel, Steven Rreitz, Diana Crabbs, Larry Peters. We had toy day at school. We each brought one present we had received at Christmas. We have finished our first number work book, and are on our second unit in reading.

Mrs. Allen, Second Grade: We had a happy Christmas. We enjoyed our caroling through the halls. We hope you all have a Happy New Year. Julie Ann Cleveland has moved to California. We had Toy Day on Tuesday. Many interesting toys were brought to school. We enjoyed seeing and playing with them.

Mrs. Carter, Third Grade: We are reviewing spelling so we will be ready for semester tests next week. In history we are studying about the silk worm and how it makes silk. In English we are reviewing letter writing. Marilyn Vander Meade is back from Florida.

Mrs. Helen Keller, Third Grade: One of the stories in reading was "The Lark and Her Young Ones," an Aesop Fable. The class found 28 other Aesop fables and read them to the class. Dec. 19 was Joe Wolf's birthday. Dec. 21 was Vaughn Kepler's birthday. In the afternoon, Mrs. Kepler brought ice cream and treated the whole room. Then we played games and sang birthday songs. We celebrated Mary Jean DeWitt's with a Game Party on Jan. 6.

Mrs. Alice Keller, Fourth Grade: We are reading the last of our stories in reading for this semester. It is the Steadfast Tin Soldier. We are all happy to be back from a nice vacation.

Miss Mahan, Fourth Grade: Carla Morgan has left our fourth grade. She moved to Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. We are doing some reviewing for our semester exams. We still have some work to do.

The girls gave the room a lovely Christmas party. Besides the gift exchange, they served cookies and ice cream. The cookies especially were delicious. We are working especially hard on spelling and tables this month.

Mrs. Epley, Fifth Grade: Several weeks ago the boys and girls wrote limericks for an English assignment. Several of them are printed below.

Linda Dinsmore:

There once was a boy, years ago
Who had plenty of lawns to mow.
He got too much clever
In his neighbors lawn mower
And now he has no lawns to mow.

Brenda McAllister:

There once was a girl named Mary
Who thought she ate a blueberry
Last night we cried
Because she died
And that was the end of poor Mary.

Lynda Baker:

I went to the moon
With a loony platoon
Which was really bound for Mars
But instead of a planet
She landed on Janet
And bumped her so hard she saw stars.

Tony Mars:

There once was a boy on Mars
Who tried to smoke cigars
He smoked two or three
And fell on his knee
And now he is looking at stars.

Claudia DePoy:

There was a boy in our room
Who was always acting "a goon"
When the fellow was through
He went to the zoo
And now he is called a baboon.

Marilee Herrmann:

There is a boy named Steve
Who the teacher would never believe.
He was sent to the hall
And there he did bawl
Until he had permission to leave.

Cathy Welsh:

There once was a man named Norman
He bought some pants and he wore 'em
He bent down to laugh
And felt a cold draft
And knew right away he had tore 'em.

George Dugan:

There once was a boy named Joe
Who liked to shoot quite low
He had a good gun
But he shot just for fun
'Til the day he shot off his toe.

Mrs. Lawson, Fifth Grade: Allen Bray, Tina Ferrier, and Susan Burbank have all had birthdays in the past few days. Everyone reports a very nice Christmas and many students are wearing pretty new dresses and shirts. We've finished a chapter in science on prehistoric animals. Mike Krug brought some pictures of dinosaurs and Suzanne Overmyer brought a book about them. It has been a very interesting unit.

Art Students Work On Masks

By ANNE BEHNER

The High School art class has started preliminary sketches for their project in masks. Each student chose a word, such as Fire, Greed, Envy, Sorrow; or one of the four seasons. These words are being interpreted into masks that clearly show the characteristics of the words. Fire has a hair-do of sweeping flames; the colors are yellow, red and orange. Envy, with a thin face and sly looking eyes is done in green. Spring is a charming girl, in soft colors, with hair decorated with a sprig of newly opened leaves. Many of these interpretations are very interesting. The next step has not been decided, but perhaps some will be done in cut paper; some in papier-mache, and some in paint.

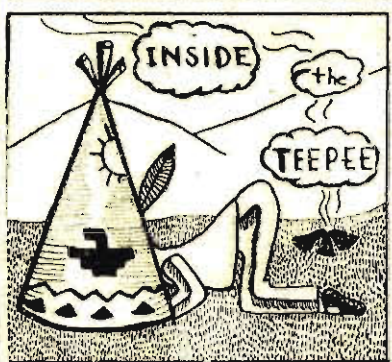

Sometime soon the class will start their work in clay. All are looking forward to this activity.

Dr. and Mrs. H. Vaughn Scott of Fort Wayne were weekend visitors of Dr. Scott's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Scott.

As we saunter down the halls of our teepees, we glance at the trophy case, and sigh, for our shiny shoe (horseshoe, that is) is absent from its usual resting place. The horseshoe may again take its place among the "medals of markmanship" won by tribes of the teepee. In the County Tourney we must subdue the Bremen Lions and make them relinquish the shoe.

In preparation for the tourney, the Pep Club members practiced hand motions; pom-poms and posters were made; war bonnets (two feathers) were donned by the cheering section and above all, our Indians really had their hearts set at playing real ball — and their ankles, huh, Boob?

The Junior Dance was a lot of fun after the game. A cake was auctioned off by "our man" Stan and was bought by Big Chief Ives. Entertainment was several songs by Betty Kose, Lana Berger, and Sandra Fisher.

Either the floor was slippery, he's afraid of mice or else Stan Curtis really has a crush on Joyce Morrison! You see, he fell for her in the band building the other day! It was all too romantic, he came sliding into the band building... oh well, we know you've been busy Stan. As a matter of fact, the whole Tomahawk Staff has been in a whirl. "Who's the girl with the glasses, the fourth from the left?" "What's a good caption for this picture?" "School was let out... dismissed." "How's this Indian?" "There are more cokes." These are a few of the comments spoken at Mr. Graham's house last weekend. Four typewriters were clicking (as were brains), the Kingston Trio was playing, hamburgers were frying and a third of the Tomahawk was completed and sent to the printer.

A few more clever comments were overheard in the halls and classrooms the week of exams. "I still don't know the ratio of white to red corpuscles." "Our test was one of those horrible Purdue tests." "I hope she grades on the curve." "Don't bother to call me tonight, I have three exams to cram for." Here's a different one, "Don't think, it doesn't help!"

Yes, around our teepee for the teachers. It's another day, another dollar. For the students, it's another zero!

Question and answer for the week: Are you satisfied in whatever you're doing? Do you ever have the urge to do something different? Would you like to try something new? If so... try arsenic!

Still on the morbid side: Stop! Get rid of all the discomforts of a cold, the nagging headaches, the post nasal drip... cut off your head!

Flash! Maiden sporting foreign head. Translation: Margo Overmyer is going steady with Jack Witham from Hammond.

Speaking of going steady, Lana Berger sported eight rings at once, (just for one period, though.)

Who are the noon hour sleuths Gene and Elouise?

Mr. Hand's new theme song is, "I'm forever blowing bubbles."

Johanna Hughes had a big sappy blast last Saturday night. Many tears were shed at the farewell party for Penny Downs who will move to a new reservation soon. We all hope that she will not forget her paleface friends in Culver.

That's all this week. Tune in next week for the tourney goings-on!

Two Groups Prepare For Tourney Activity

By SHARON BAKER
AND MIMI FISHER

The Sunshine girls gave their extra time last week to help make pom-poms and feathers for the tourney.

The members of Pep Club have their maroon and white mitts now. All of the members were glad when they finally arrived before the tourney. The tourney was the first chance for them to wear them. On Jan. 30 the Pep Club will sit in a block for a home game.

AND ANNE OSBORN

Kindergarten: Mrs. Melton — Susan Wilson has returned from a trip to California and Mexico. David Dawson has come back from a vacation in Florida. They have many interesting stories to share with us. We have a collection of shells and a horseshoe crab shell. Jeffery Evans gave the afternoon group a party to celebrate his birthday. The children are to have a vacation Friday, Jan. 15.

First Grade: Miss Whan — Melinda Kuhn brought us a jar of salt water from the Gulf of Mexico and everyone tasted it! Frances Wilson and Rodney Stubbs have both turned seven, and their mothers brought refreshments.

Second Grade: Mrs. Allen — Eva Kay McCarty was eight years old Jan. 5; she was sick at home so we made her birthday cards. David White was eight Jan. 7 and his mother had a party for the class. Robby Bolton, Lisa Strugell and David Martin have missed no spelling words this semester.

Miss Page — Pamela Scott was eight years old Jan. 10 and we helped her celebrate it last Friday. We are ready to start the last unit in our readers. We are Neighbors.

Keller — During the third six weeks period the following children had perfect spelling records: Cindy Barr, Peggy Burtucci, Vicki Jo Clifton, Mary Jean DeWitt, Greg Everett, Steve Kelly, Carole Kline, Marcus Matson, Terry Powers, Terry Reynolds, Carl Strang, Janet Zeebich, and Norma Davis. Those who have had a perfect spelling record for the 18 weeks are: Mary Jean DeWitt, Steve Kelly, Carole Kline, Carl Strang, Janet Zeebich and Bea Napier.

Mrs. Carter — Our class had 100% attendance last week, which made us very happy. We had "Toy Day" last Friday, when we brought one of our Christmas toys to school. We will be ready to start in our new readers Friday. They are entitled, "Friends Far and Near."

Fifth Grade: Mrs. Lawson — In the past few days two members of our class, Allen Bray and Tina Ferrier, had birthdays. In Science, we are studying about the weather; we have started keeping a weather chart. This week Susan Burbank, Phillip Scruggs and Johnny Milner are keeping it.

Shadow Reports On Cheerleader

By JUDY LOWRY

The Shadow this week is following just one step behind a Culver High cheerleader, Susie Medbourn. For a look at her eventful life, we will begin when Susie arrived at school bright-eyed, refreshed, and ready for a full day of work. She comes running into Civics one minute before the bell rings (she informs us that she got up at twenty minutes 'til eight and the bus comes at ten minutes 'til eight.) with not a worry in the world except for the coming exams. In Civics, she enters into an interesting discussion about political parties. She asked about ten questions, which she can now add to her book of answers Buzz... In the short five-minute period, Susie finds time to squeeze in a joke to some friends at her locker and she's off to study hall. Here, she studied for her Spanish exam and studied an article from a Reader's Digest for Speech. Now, it's time for World History, one of her favorite subjects. Here our subject is all ears as the topic of heading is discussed. She asks five questions on the subject. Is she trying to get the technique? Watch... No, she just wanted to know about a king who cut off his wife's head.

Well, so much for that as Susie marches off to Speech class where she reads her article before the class. It sure had a lot of numbers in it.

The next thing I hear from my subject is the regular noon-time cry, "Boy, I'm starved!" Her conversation at lunch is centered mostly around books and book reports.

After lunch, like a good Senior should, Susie travels down to the recreation room. Then it's back to work, as she settled down to work on the final part of an English exam. She didn't think it was so very hard.

She then went to Spanish and enjoyed her favorite pastime — writing on the blackboard. Of course, there is a good reason for it, review for a Spanish exam. After Spanish comes the last period of the day. Our subject has to walk through the band building where she sings her lungs out until dismissal. So ends a typical day in the life of Susan Medbourn. A last minute reminder: Be careful what you say and do. The Shadow may be following you!

It is surprising how much activity follows the addition of any pretty young thing to a business staff.

Writes Inspiring Hymn On Flag

BY MARIZETTA ROBINSON
This is an English 11 theme which we feel is excellent. We would like to share it with you.

Old Glory
When someone talks about "Old Glory," or "the Stars and Stripes," does it mean anything to you? It means something to me. I see a flag, I see not just a flag, and old flag, but our flag, I see red and white stripes, thirteen of them; a field of blue, on which rest forty-nine (soon to be fifty) stars; and I hear, in the distance, the sound of bugles and the roll of drums. Those stars and stripes make up our country's flag. What do they stand for? What does our flag mean?

Speaking specifically, it is made up of symbols. The thirteen stripes stand for the original thirteen colonies, which became the states. Once, the alternate blue and white meant that we were separate and sovereign, but united to make a firm whole. The stars on a field of blue represent the states in the union, each which stands alone, and yet together. The three colors were explained in a song as "red for the blood they shed," or courage, and blue for loyalty." It says that blue is "for purity," or justice. Speaking more broadly, our flag represents freedom and democracy. For many years and through many wars, our flag has been the symbol of hope and courage. "Through the rockets' red glare," Old Glory was still there. She still stands, and America is still a free nation.

If Americans ever stop looking at the flag, or if the flag no longer means anything to us, then part of America is lost. And we cannot have bettered ourselves in the process. In view of what a flag means, it stands to reason that America should, in each event, no longer be a free, independent nation.

"But," people say, "don't let's be so serious about it. If we aren't careful here, we'll be raving about patriotism and honor and ideals. Ideals are out of style these days. Let's be realistic." All right, let's have a closer look at it, then. What's wrong with being loyal to your country? Isn't being patriotic. What's wrong with it? What's wrong with honor and ideals? They have inspired many people to do great things.

I say let's keep our ideals. Let's love our flag, and not be ashamed of doing it because it's not a recent mode. Let's continue to be a free nation, and let us cultivate patriotism. After all, we could love our nation. There's no fuss being made about lack of it; that perhaps with dint of blood and decent luck, we'll remember that we're supposed to be loyal to our nation.

I say let's remember our flag, and may Old Glory always wave over the land of the free and the home of the brave!

Interview With Mrs. Edith Strait

BY ROCELLE GOOD
Our faculty guest this week is Mrs. Edith Strait, our Home Economics teacher. Mrs. Strait, to us girls of C.H.S., is someone very special. If you have any problem, she is there to help. For this reason, I have asked to interview her as Teacher of the Week.

Mrs. Strait was born in Walled Lake, Michigan and attended a high school, Walled Lake High School, and Pontiac High School. Her favorite subject in school was English. When asked what she remembered most about high school, she replied, "My typing instructor who could spot an error clear across the room." After finishing high school, she attended college at Albion and then Purdue.

Mrs. Strait's favorite foods are roast pork, apple salad and mince pie, but necessarily served together. Her favorite sport is football. She also loves golf. Her hobbies are reading, embroidering, golf, gardening with flowers only, and watching football games.

When asked if she could have anything she wanted, what would she choose, Mrs. Strait replied, "Continued good health."

My next question was who was her favorite celebrity. Her answer was, "Truman!"

Mrs. Strait's pet peeve is "People who can't or won't think and plan ahead of time!"

I am sure that by now, we all feel that we know Mrs. Strait a little better.

Leap Year Poses Problems For The Girls

BY SUSAN MEDBOURN AND MARY JANE GUNSE

Well gals, this is your big chance! For three years, you have been complaining, "Oh I wish I were a boy! This waiting around just kills me! Boys sure are lucky!" Now you don't have to wait. No more lingering in the house beside the telephone, no more required flirting. All you have to do is ASK them and here's how:

"Johnny, ah-h-h-h, I was wondering if . . . ah-h-h-h."

"Well, what do you want?"

"Oh, I was just wondering if you got your Plane Geometry done, that's all."

So what if you can't sputter it all out the first time? This is your big chance. You've got the rest of today and tomorrow. After all, the dance isn't for two days yet. You've got plenty of time.

"Johnny, I want to talk to you."

"Yeah, whatta ya want?"

"Will . . . (gulp) . . . will you go to the dance with me?"

"Huh?"

Oh-h-h, how can I ever get up enough nerve to ask him again?

"I said, 'Will you go to the dance with me, Friday night?'"

"Well, I'll have to let you know later. I'm not sure if Dad wants me to help him. I'll let you know tomorrow."

Oh, gosh, what if he says no? I'll just die! What'll I say if he doesn't go? What will I say if he does?

"Hey!"

Oh, hi Johnny."

"I can go."

"Oh."

"Well, guess I'll see you next period. Bye."

He's going! He's going! I rush to the gang. He's going everybody, isn't that just wonderful?

"Oh neat! How'd you ever do it?"

"I don't know, but I sure am glad I'm not a boy! I'd faint if I had to do the asking all the time!"

The Sophomore class plans to sponsor another movie in the future but no definite date has been set.

The Freshmen class held a fudge sale last Friday. From the looks of all the satisfied faces, everyone enjoyed the fudge. The fudge sales are not only filling the students' stomachs with fudge but also the Freshmen treasury with money.

They must also show that their background will enable them to maintain simple records of accounts or that it has given them a knowledge of postal procedures.

Applicants must take a written test. Those who pass will be assigned final ratings on the basis of this test and on their experience, and fitness for the position. They must have resided within the delivery of the office for one year immediately preceding the closing date of the examination. In addition, they must have reached their 18th birthday on the closing date for acceptance of applications. Persons over 70 years of age cannot be appointed.

Complete information about the examination requirements and instructions for filing applications may be obtained at the post office for which this examination is being announced. Application forms must be filed with the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C. and must be received or postmarked not later than the closing date.

Editor, CITIZEN:

In an unguarded moment last night I happened to read the "Hoosier at Large" column in The Citizen of January 13 and having another unguarded moment to spare, I am constrained to reflect thereon.

Spare me a little time and perhaps a few inches of space in your next issue of The Citizen while I indulge in a little audible cogitation.

I cannot discern — pictures are deceiving — whether Al Spiers is a wise man or a fool. A snap judgment would lead me to conclude he is a very modest man. He has so much to be modest about!

This blurb about "hard-heads" and "egg-heads" is the kind of "Jack Horner" performance that would satisfy only a "soft head." "See what a good boy am I!"

If Mr. Spiers would take a little time out from floating such frivolous flotsam on the sea of folly to do a little reading, he might save himself and the innocent readers of his famous column from misconceptions. Someone said with more than a modicum of wisdom: "It is better to keep one's mouth shut and be thought a fool than to open it and remove all doubt."

Reflect a moment! Thomas Jefferson was, according to the definition implied, an "egg-head." He was no leader, of course. Too, too intelligent!

John Adams, Alexander Hamilton, John Quincy Adams were intellectual giants.

A mere sampling more, for as old Polonius said, "Since brevity is the soul of wit, I will be brief."

Grover Cleveland was an intellectual near-great; Woodrow Wilson was unquestionably a "two-yolked egg-head;" and Franklin D. Roosevelt was certainly not ashamed to wear his Phi Beta Kappa key.*

What specious reasoning is it that would lead any sane mind to arrive at the conclusion that a high I.Q. is a detriment to leadership?

A strange age this is that we have entered. It is the age of the common man, no doubt — the all-too-common man. Its one distinguishing feature must be an age of triumph — the triumph of mediocrity.

No wonder George Orwell concluded "All men are created equal, but some are more equal than others."

Move over, "egg-heads," for "soft-heads" say the "hard-heads" will lead you!

Where? Ask Al Spiers.

The Week With Governor Handley

Predicts Decade Of Prosperity For Indiana

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 4 — A decade of progress and prosperity was forecast for Indiana today by Governor Harold W. Handley, "provided that we hold the line on state taxes and do something immediately about broadening the base of local taxation."

Governor Handley noted that industrial plant capacity is being increased in Indiana more rapidly than in any other state, measured by productive potential compared with population.

"With a population 18% more than 9 years ago — which is more of an increase than the national average — it will become increasingly important for any state and community to provide new job opportunities for its citizens," Governor Handley said.

"These new industrial facilities make certain that we are going to have high level business activity in Indiana. Our central geographical location, the adequate supply of skilled labor trained in our fine schools, and our comparatively low state taxes — the result of administrative frugality and Indiana's famous no-debt policy — have brought these factories here.

Alarmed About Property Taxes

"And we intend to keep them, and get more. But it is alarming that local property taxes have almost doubled in the last decade. Property owners cannot be compelled to continue to shoulder this load when there are thousands of others who, through no fault of their own, are not paying local taxes.

"The 1957 Legislature, on my recommendation, ended the evasion of state gross income taxes by transients and others. The payroll deduction device is netting $10 million each year, which has enabled us to repeal all except one penny of the state property tax.

"However, rising costs of local government — particularly for education and welfare — have in numerous communities absorbed this state property tax repeal and have pushed rates to their highest levels.

"Local taxes in Indiana in 1960 will be more than $43 million greater than in 1959.

"Therefore, I am urging the 1961 Legislature to give prime consideration to local tax reform. At my request, the State Tax Study Commission is preparing a detailed proposal to broaden the local tax base.

"We are not advocating more total local taxes. But we are insisting that local property taxes be relieved."

1,065 Miles Of New Roads

The U.S. Department of Commerce reports that Indiana has completed 1,065 miles of primary, secondary, and urban highways since July, 1953.

The construction includes 284 bridges as of Nov. 30. The total cost has been $169,621,000.

"This certainly refutes the weather the Rio Grande Valley is growing rapidly as a winter resort. The Tourist Club here has a membership of over 360, and it is one of the smaller clubs.

The Valley Chamber of Commerce estimates the tourist business in excess of 30 million dollars.

Give my regards to all the charges of those who persist in claiming for political purposes that Indiana is not building new highways." Governor Handley said. "Of course such statistics are really unnecessary proof, for all any Hoosier needs do is to drive in any direction and he will see many miles of highway construction and improvement.

"The Washington report includes the fact that we have completed more than 13 miles of ultra-modern highway and 40 new bridges in the interstate program. This is slow work because we are compelled to acquire new right-of-way throughout and because we concentrated our attention and money during the first 2 years on farm-to-market and intra-state roads.

Interstate Highway Program

"We have under construction 126 more miles of interstate highway, and 105 bridges. Also, engineering plans are being prepared and right-of-way is being bought for still other interstate projects.

"The Washington report also notes that we are building 313 more miles of non-interstate highways, and have 89 more bridges under way.

"Meanwhile, maintenance of existing highways and continued bridge widening is in progress in almost every county."

Governor Handley also noted today that the new 3% permissive rate is in effect for Indiana bank depositors.

"Hoosiers should have every reasonable opportunity to invest their money at going interest rates," Governor Handley said. "This encourages family thrift, helps apply the brake to inflation, and keeps this Indiana money here in Indiana, where it can be used to further enrich our economic activity."

Notable Good Will Mission

Governor Handley returned home from a 14-day good will mission to Japan and the Philippines on Dec. 31. The flight, which was privately financed, took him and the Executive Committee of the Indiana Lincoln Foundation around the world as they described the formative years from 7 to 21 spent by Abraham Lincoln in Indiana.

Final Year As Governor

The Governor was with his family at his Indianapolis home throughout the Christmas and New Year holidays. He returned to his State House desk Dec. 22, and said that he faces the fourth and final year of his administration "with great expectations for Hoosier prosperity and with well-founded hopes for our nation's security."

"Let us all pray," Governor Handley said, "that the United States of America will be permitted to enjoy that progress which can only be attained when there is peace."

Jehovah's Witnesses Attend Regional Convention In Gary

Jehovah's Witnesses from this area returned from their 3-day Bible convention in Gary this past weekend. The program was climaxed by the timely Bible discourse, "When Is God's Will To Be Done On Earth?" Peter D'Mura, New York minister, delivered the talk.

D'Mura brought his audience of 1803 to attention when he stated: "Every sane-thinking person must readily admit the need for God's will to be done earthwide. In view of mounting world woes it is extremely vital for all persons to consider the authoritative words of the Bible."

With optimism, D'Mura then urged his audience to study the scriptures. "Study the Bible and here you will find the assurance that God's will is to be done on earth thus assuring you of a paradise forever."

Short talks concluded the gathering with delegates returning home determined to share their Christian fellowship.

"However, rising costs of local government — particularly for education and welfare — have in numerous communities absorbed this state property tax repeal and have pushed rates to their highest levels.

"Local taxes in Indiana in 1960 will be more than $43 million greater than in 1959.

"Therefore, I am urging the 1961 Legislature to give prime consideration to local tax reform. At my request, the State Tax Study Commission is preparing a detailed proposal to broaden the local tax base.

"We are not advocating more total local taxes. But we are insisting that local property taxes be relieved."

1,065 Miles Of New Roads

The U.S. Department of Commerce reports that Indiana has completed 1,065 miles of primary, secondary, and urban highways since July, 1954.

The construction includes 284 bridges as of Nov. 30. The total cost has been $109,621,000.

"This certainly refutes the weather the Rio Grande Valley is growing rapidly as a winter resort. The Tourist Club here has a membership of over 300, and it is one of the smaller clubs.

The Valley Chamber of Commerce estimates the tourist business in excels of 30 million dollars.

Give my regards to all the Citizen group. Will see you all sometime in April.

EARL and DEE FOREMAN

charges of those who persist in claiming for political purposes that Indiana is not building new highways," Governor Handley said. "Of course such statistics are really unnecessary proof, for all any Hoosier needs do is to drive in any direction and he will see many miles of highway construction and improvement.

"The Washington report includes the fact that we have completed more than 13 miles of ultra-modern highway and 49 new bridges in the interstate program. This is slow work because we are compelled to acquire new right-of-way throughout and because we concentrated our attention and money during the first 2 years on farm-to-market and intra-state roads.

Interstate Highway Program

"We have under construction 126 more miles of interstate highway, and 105 bridges. Also, engineering plans are being prepared and right-of-way is being bought for still other interstate projects.

"The Washington report also notes that we are building 313 more miles of non-interstate highways, and have 89 more bridges under way.

"Meanwhile, maintenance of existing highways and continued bridge widening is in progress in almost every county."

Governor Handley also noted today that the new 3% permissive rate is in effect for Indiana bank depositors.

"Hoosiers should have every reasonable opportunity to invest their money at going interest rates," Governor Handley said.

"This encourages family thrift, helps apply the brake to inflation, and keeps this Indiana money here in Indiana, where it can be used to further enrich our economic activity."

Notable Good Will Mission

Governor Handley returned home from a 14-day good will mission to Japan and the Philippines on Dec. 31. The flight, which was privately financed, took him and the Executive Committee of the Indiana Lincoln Foundation around the world as they described the formative years from 7 to 21 spent by Abraham Lincoln in Indiana.

Final Year As Governor

The Governor was with his family at his Indianapolis home throughout the Christmas and New Year holidays. He returned to his State House desk Dec. 22, and said that he faces the fourth and final year of his administration "with great expectations for Hoosier prosperity and with well-founded hopes for our nation's security.

"Let us all pray," Governor Handley said, "that the United States of America will be permitted to enjoy that progress which can only be attained when there is peace."

ACADEMY SPORTS

Cadet Wrestlers Win Fifth
Straight 48 To 8

Culver Military Academy wrestlers won their fifth straight meet
Saturday by downing Washington-
Clay 48-8.

Earlier last week the Eagle team topped Washington, 29-23, and Penn, 33-17.

The Culver team has suffered only one loss this season: the opening meet against Penn High School.

The Culver team plays host to John Adams at 4:30 today in the Recreation Building. Saturday at 2 p.m. the team will meet Merrill-ville High School, also in the Recreation Building.

Nine of the 12 Culver first stringers pinned their Washington-Clay opponents, with a tenth winning on decision.

Against Penn, four Culver men succeeded in pinning their men, while another three won on decision and two wrestled to a draw.

The Washington High School match hung in the balance until the heavyweight bout. With Culver ahead 24-23 at that point,
CMA heavyweight Burr Cain pinned his opponent in 1:11 of the match for the team victory.

Three other Culver men pinned their opponents, and three won on decision.

Danville, Ill., Ends Cadets
Basketball Team's 5-Game Winning Streak — and How!
Danville, Ill. — Culver Military Academy had its five game basketball winning streak ended as Danville Schlarmann High School overwhelmed the Eagles,
60-31 Saturday night.

Using a fast break which paralyzed the Culver defense, Schlarm-man dropped in 22 points before Culver could score at all. The first quarter ended with Schlarm-man ahead, 28-3, and Danville held a third period margin of 19 points.

Top scorer in the game was Schlarmann's Paul Spisak, with 23 points. Paul Schukdt led the Culver attack with 10.

Fellows Watch Out; It's Leap Year Again!

It's Leap Year again . . . and you can blame the Scots for declaring it open season on bachelors.

They probably saw the custom of letting a woman pop the question as a way to put money in the treasury and take spinsters off the welfare rolls.

According to the research of World Book Encyclopedia, Scotland is said to have decreed in 1288 that ladies "of bothe highe and lowe estate" shall have the privilege of proposing during leap years.

Men Subject To Fine
If a man refused the offer, he was fined as much as one pound
... unless he could show that another woman had a prior claim on his affections.

The ladies, however, had to give fair warning that they were out to catch a man. If the edge of a scarlet flannel petticoat wasn't clearly visible, a man was absolved from paying the forfeit.

France reportedly passed a similar law, and the ladies of Florence and Genoa are said to have been given the privilege before
Columbus sailed to America.

The gallant English supposedly didn't need a law to make them give the fair but single sex a break. But they backed up the custom by depriving a man of benefit of clerger if he scoffed at a leap year proposal.

Even if he didn't hurt a lady's feelings, he was obliged to present her with a silk gown . . . as a consolation prize.

Several New Books Have Been Donated To The Library

Karl Foreman has presented the Culver Public Library with several new mystery books. Due to Mr.
Foreman's recent contribution and his past generosity, this section of the library has grown considerably in the past years.

Robert Matson of the Academy has given a copy of the latest history of this locality, Colonel Ma-ther's "History of the Culver Military Academy." It is a popular edition and contains many interesting facts of high interest to local residents.

A memorial book from the Home Economics Club for Mrs.
Clara Bell Sanders has been received at the Library and put in circulation. "The Crown and the Cross" by Frank G. Slaughter is a fitting book dedicated to the late Mrs. Sanders, a former resident and member of the Home Economics Club.

The Library received with appreciation books from two other donors: Donald Parson and Mrs.
John S. Kittle.

A bride of three months . . .
plained to her relatives about her husband's continued drinking. "If you knew he drank, why did you marry him she was asked.

"I didn't know he drank," the girl replied, "until one night he came home sober."

Marion College Choir To Sing At Hibbard E.U.B. Church

The Marion College Choir, composed of 22 singers and its director, will present a program of sacred music at the Hibbard Evangelical United Brethren Church, Sunday evening, Jan. 24, at 7:30 p.m.

On this occasion the people of Culver and surrounding community will have the opportunity of hearing a group of singers that is recognized as one of the outstanding college musical organizations specializing in sacred song.

The program will include a wide variety of the most interesting musical selections, ranging from the beauty and simplicity of the best gospel hymns, the vigor and spontaneity of negro spirituals, to the grandeur and triumph of standard anthems.

The personnel of the choir are students selected from every department of the college and consequently is an excellent representation of the Marion College student body.

Following the program of sacred music there will be a fellowship hour of pie and coffee in the Church social rooms. The Reverend Thomas C. Rough, pastor, invites the public to attend.

Subscription Rate Of Citizen Goes Up February 1

Effective Feb. 1, 1960, The Culver Citizen will follow the rates of scores of other Hoosier and Midwest newspapers and make a slight increase in its subscription rates to partially offset the continuing higher costs of production.

It will be The Citizen's first raise in subscription rates since 1952.

Area newspapers which have recently made a similar announcement include The North Judson News, The Plymouth Pilot-News, and The Starke County Democrat at Knox.

Last year was a dismal year for U.S. small town newspapers in general. A press association survey shows that 38 per cent lost money and 65 per cent showed less profit or a higher loss. Hundreds of old established weeklies are suspending publication while desperately made mergers are being effected to save others who can no longer absorb the heavy overhead of their individual plants.

Here Are The New Rates

After Feb. 1 the new subscription rates of The Culver Citizen will be: Indiana — 1 year, $4; 2 years, $6.50. Out-of-State — 1 year, $4.50; 2 years, $7.

Subscriptions of shorter duration will be: Indiana — 6 months, $2.25; 3 months, $1.25. Out-of-State — 6 months, $2.50; 3 months, $1.50.

Save Money Now!

Subscriptions for any period in the future will be accepted up to Feb. 1 at the old rates of $3 per year or 2 years for $5 in Indiana, and $3.50 per year or 2 years for $5.50 outside of Indiana.

Single Copies Still 10 Cents

Single copies of The Citizen will remain at 10 cents. By entering a regular subscription at $4, after Feb. 1, one may still save $1.20 a year over the newsstand price.

"Hoosier At Large"

After many nights and weekends of hard work, the walls went up. Then a cruel flash flood knocked three walls down.

"Lordy what a mess!" Jackie recalled with a wry grin. "It took us weeks to clean up and start over. But the shop finally got built and equipped."

WITHIN A YEAR, they had enough business to go it alone and add three employees.

For the enterprising, energetic Isleys, 1953 was a good year. Their Vicki Lynn was born in January. The busy shop nibbled at its debts. They branched modestly into boat repairs and sales. The future looked serene.

In 1954, Uncle Sam lowered a cruel boom. Jack got a draft notice.

"It was a bolt from the blue," Jackie grimaced. "Because of an old bone ailment, he'd been 4-F. He was also a father. But the Army changed rules and we hadn't reported Vicki's birth. Pow! We'd had it!"

WHEN APPEALS failed, Jackie, her grandmother, Leota Anderson, Vicki and their dog, Shadow, went with Jack to service — leaving Jack's dad and brother Alan to keep the shop going.

"Those two tough, miserable years gave Jack an ulcer — but we survived and so did our business," smiled Jackie. "In a few months, the shop was humming busily again."

BY THE FOLLOWING August, the Isleys were ready for a bigger gamble. Borrowing heavily, they bought the adjoining Portage Boat Yard, its six acres, shops, showroom, and dwelling.

Since then they've expanded the yard's business, kept the machine shop busy, diminished debts and added a few employees — including Jack's brother, Alan.

Over the hump at last? Nope! Midwest Steel is now building a mammoth plant nearby. Other huge installations may follow. No one is sure what will happen to Burns Ditch, the aorta of Isley's boat yard.

"We'll either have a bonanza — or a colossal white elephant," said Jack, a lean, whippy six-footer with a quick, personable grin. "Only time will tell..."

If the worst happens, I'm sure the resilient, resourceful Isleys won't be crushed. They're a doughty, indomitable team — the kind of people who keep steam in America's boilers.

Get off to a good start by helping your church and actively participating in its work.

Civilized men and women support the church because the church supports civilization.

Musicians Working Toward Solo, Ensemble Contest

BY CHRIS CROY

The band members and some other music students are now preparing for the Solo and Ensemble Contest, which is coming up very soon.

The band is now working on a beautiful half-time show for the last ball game in February.

The Christmas party, especially for the choir and band members, was a huge success. The band room was decorated with the traditional tree and green and red streamers... and oh, yes, some mistletoe, too! All members who attended, brought lots of good things to eat!

Indians Lose To Bremen In County Tourney, 52-48

Defeat West and Tyner Previously

BY EARL MISHLER

Our Culver Indians finished a close second in the Marshall County Tourney last Saturday, losing the championship game to the rugged Bremen Lions, 52-48. Culver had taken advantage of their break in the pairings by easily tromping West Township, 74-47, and Tyner, 59-44, to reach the final game.

In Thursday's first game, the eventual champs from Bremen took advantage of LaPaz' sloppy passing and ball-handling to register a 53-44 victory. The Lions' efficiency at the foul line was the difference in this contest as both squads made 16 field goals, but Bremen cashed in on 21 of 28 charity tosses. County fans were given fair warning of what was to come as the victors displayed a very sticky man-for-man defense. Everett Walterhouse hit 11 of 12 free throw attempts among his 17 points to lead the Bremen cause. Ted Huber added 14 for the Lions, while Larry Chase led the Vikings with 13 markers.

In the most important game of the first round, Bourbon's Comets eliminated once-beaten Tiptecanoe, 57-52. Jumping away to a 35-23 halftime bulge, the Comets thwarted Tiptecanoe's comeback attempt in the fourth quarter to move into Saturday's semi-final round. Towering Vance Berger and Jim Rhodes led the Bourbon attack with 15 and 12 points, respectively. Veteran forward Dick Trowbridge was Tiptecanoe's leading marksman with 16 points.

Indians Beat West

Friday night's action was opened with Culver's victory over West, 74-47. For three periods, the Bulldogs refused to give up; they hung around within 8 to 10 points of the heavily favored Indians, and by the end of three quarters trailed by only 6 at 47-41. But Culver, getting their usual balanced scoring, began drawing away steadily in period number four to win going away. Five Indians hit in double figures, led by Dave Washburn's 15 and Dennis Geiger's 12. Lance Overmyer, John Benedict, and Larry Davis added 10 each. This was the first varsity action to speak of for B-Teamers Benedict and Davis, but each showed Coach Tom Benbrook that they liked first team roles. Kent Sisk and Jim McFarlin led West with 15 points each.

The only major upset of the tourney came in Friday night's second game, as Tyner shocked Argos, 51-40. The scrappy Redmen led all the way, completely dominating the taller Dragons on the boards. With sophomores and juniors galore, Tyner gives notice that they may have a powerhouse in a couple of years. Junior guard Rick Skiles hit 17 points and sophomore forward Rex Stull added 10 for the winners. Doug Stubbs was Argos' high point man with 10.

Bremen Stops Bourbon

Saturday afternoon Bremen moved into the championship tilt by stopping Bourbon, 51-44. The Lions trailed throughout the second and third periods by as much as seven points. But behind Everett Walterhouse's one-man show, they grabbed the lead in the fourth quarter, and shook off a last minute burst by the Comets. Walterhouse laid in 16 of 22 free throw tries and five fielders for 26 points. Vance Berger and Larry Summy led the losers with nine points each. Once again Bremen's outstanding defense was the key to their triumph as they held normally high-scoring Bourbon to only ten field goals.

Culver Wins Over Tyner

Culver scored another routine victory over scrappy but out-classed Tyner, 59-44. Trailing 5-4 after one period, Coach Benbrook thought he needed someone to "build a fire" on the floor. In came ex-B-Teamer Larry "Herbie" Davis. Immediately, the Indians caught fire and blitzed to a 22-17 halftime bulge. Davis and junior guard Gary Dillon continued to hit very well in the second half and Culver once again won going away. Dillon and Davis had 18 and 16 points, respectively, to lead Culver's attack, while Rick Skiles again led the Redmen with 10.

Bremen Defeats Culver

In Saturday night's title tilt, Bremen and Culver matched baskets at a furious pace, resting at halftime with the Lions leading, 29-25. During the third stanza it became a see-saw battle with the lead changing hands quite often. But Culver remained 2 points shy, 38-36, going into the final period. The Indians kept pace with Bremen but could not stop the ever-present Walterhouse. Bremen's 6-0 senior cashed 6 of 7 last period free throws, keeping his Lions out in front. With Culver trailing, 47-42, junior center Lance Overmyer hit a ten-foot jump shot. But Walterhouse hit a pair of foul shots as the game moved into the waning moments. Culver's Dennis Geiger hit 2 gift tosses but Gary Allen immediately matched them, and Duke Andrews added one more for Bremen. It was 52-46 with 4 seconds left. Dave Washburn hit two free throws to give Culver their 48 points. Walterhouse, with six fielders and 11 of 15 free throws for 23 points was Bremen's leading scorer. The Lions' star scored 66 points in the tourney, including 38 out of 49 free throw attempts. However his assault at the tourney record of 84 points, set in 1957 by Culver's Warren Curtis, fell quite short. Washburn led Culver's balanced attack with 13 points, while Geiger and Overmyer added 12 each. Our Indians actually outscored the champions from the field, but hit only 10 free throws to 18 for Bremen.

Despite the heart-breaking loss, Culver fans were very proud of

WORTH MORE BECAUSE THEY WORK MORE

Chevy's new torsion springs and Sturdi-Bilt design are changing everybody's ideas about how much work a truck can do. Last year's schedules are out—Chevrolet trucks ride faster over the rough runs to get in more trips a day! Big repair bills are no longer a problem—Chevrolet trucks soak up punishment that means downtime to other makes! And trade-in time's put off for extra thousands of miles—'60 Chevrolet trucks stay new like never before!

New Dollar-Saving Prices
Step-Vans, 4-Wheel Drives, many light-duty models with automatic transmissions—all are lower priced. Prices have also been reduced on all optional V8's.

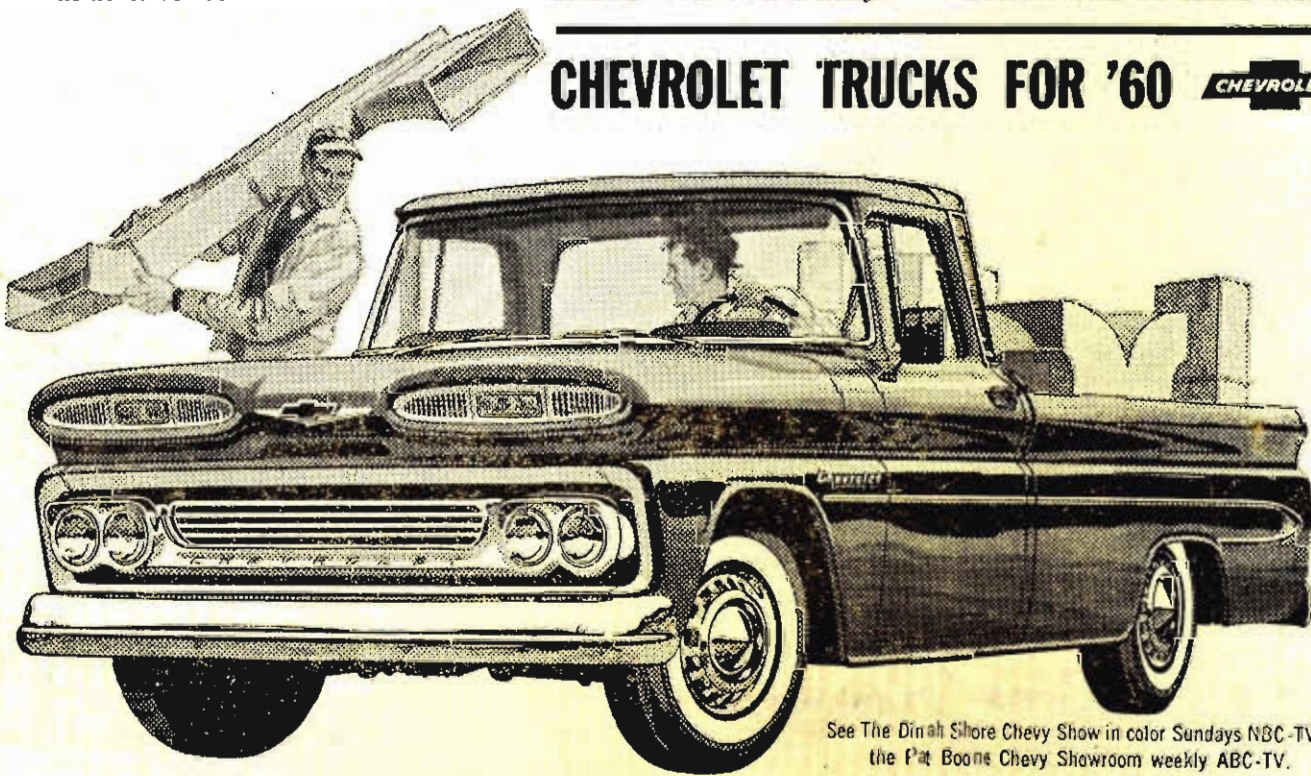

New Torsion-Spring Suspension
Eliminates I-beam shimmy and wheel fight! With torsion springs up front there's a brand-new, smoother, easier handling feel behind the wheel. New rear suspensions include wide-based coil springs in most light-duty models; tougher variable-rate leaf springs in medium- and heavy-duty models.

Electronically Balanced Wheels
Front wheels and tires are balanced at the factory. Helps make that new ride revolutionary!

New Cabs—Wider, Safer, More Comfortable
Many models are a whole 7 inches lower (without sacrificing road clearance), so it's easier to hop in and out of cabs. Still there's more space inside: more room for hats and hips, more foot room with suspended pedals. Cabs are safer, too; new build makes them 67% more rigid.

Plus Improvements All Through the Line
A new steering linkage system that cuts vibration, means better control. There's new V8 efficiency. Sixes long famous for saving. New key-turn starting. Higher, wider visibility. Talk to your Chevrolet dealer about the world's most advanced trucks.
