Michigan City Man's Diary Reveals Stories Of Golden Days Of Duck Hunting

AT 62, HARRY MORRISON of Michigan City has too much robust vigor to live in the past — but for a curious reason he can be forgiven for nostalgic longing for one fragment of the "good old days."

The reason is a long-lost, forgotten diary that popped oddly out of Harry's past and vividly revived warm memories of great wildfowl hunting that is no more.

First, some brief background:

AL SPIERS Reared in Sioux City, Iowa, Harry grew up along the Missouri and in early manhood eagerly hunted ducks with his dad and brother, Merle, when birds were so plentiful the limit was 100 a day.

EACH FALL IN the early 20s, the Morrisons hauled a mobile hunting shack to the river and duck-hunted almost daily from early October to freeze-up.

In the mid-20s, Harry left Sioux City to begin a varied, vagabondish career. Shortly later brother Merle's heart conked on a hunt. Other Morrisons died during ensuing years and when Harry settled in Michigan City and became a Hoosier a few years ago he'd lost all track of surviving kin — if any.

Last year a blind shot paid off. Harry knew Merle had left three children. He wrote to the Sioux City postmaster in search of a niece or nephew and connected with Merle Jr., who still lives there.

HAPPY REUNION correspondence ensued, and one day Merle sent Harry a frayed, faded old ledger from his Dad's effects. Among other things, it contained the Morrisons' day-to-day diary of duckhunting in 1921, 1922, and 1923. Graciously, Harry loaned me the diary, saying:

"If nothing else, it proves old-timers aren't lying when they brag about hunting in the good old days."

IT DOES, INDEED. Consider these random 1921 excerpts:

Nov. 4 — Harry, Dad, and I set out early, got good mallard shooting. Killed 59 by 10 a.m.

Nov. 12 — Ben, Bill, Harry, and I set out early, hunted out of two blinds awhile, then moved one blind back to middle of bar. Ducks flying . . . good north wind . . . killed 96 mallards.

Nov. 17 — Wind from north, spitting snow. Harry and two doctors set out early. Didn't do very well. Bill, Ben, and I moved other blind up at noon and all six of us shot in p.m. All told, killed 126 mallards.

Nov. 18 — Bill and Harry out early to make new lines for live decoys. Ben and I out at daylight. Wind from north and cloudy. Ducks flying pretty good. Killed 83 mallards.

Nov. 19 — Ben, Bill, and I to wn all day with ducks (to sell). River clogging up with ice, snow.

With the Christmas mail load hitting its peak within the next few days, Postmaster E. Wayne Mattox expressed his appreciation today for your cooperation in his annual "Mail Early For Christmas" campaign.

"While it's too late to talk about early mailing of Christmas gifts and cards," the Postmaster said, "you can avoid disappointing your friends and loved ones on Christmas Day by using Air Mail. There's still time for local deliveries, but be sure to send all Christmas cards by First Class mail, and do include your return address on all Christmas card envelopes and package labels."

Postal employees are digging in for the final drive to get everything delivered by Christmas Eve. The Post Office will remain open from 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., including Saturday.

"Now that the end of the big rush is in sight," the Postmaster said, "I want to express my thanks for the fine cooperation from our patrons. Indianapolis Paper Features Kathy Clyne

Fine Recognition Of Local Girl

A recent Sunday edition of the outstanding Indianapolis Star Magazine carried a fine feature story and pictures of Kathy Clyne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph N. Clyne, 952 West Shore Drive, Culver.

The Clynes, former residents of Indianapolis, moved to Culver in 1957 and remodeled the home where they had previously spent the summers.

Excerpts from the most interesting article follows:

"A young and pretty Indianapolis landlubber, adjusting quickly, three years ago, to a new and challenging life in the aquatic environment of Culver on Lake Maxinkuckee, has parlayed her native skill, good coaching, and a make-shift sailboat into proficient seamanship.

Captures Winslow Award

"Within two years, Kathy Clyne won the Maxinkuckee Yacht Club's coveted Winslow Award, offered to the sailor under 21 making the greatest progress in two seasons; the Pat Ward Sailfish Trophy and a cup as the runner-up in junior fleet competition — all in 1959.

Competes in Homemade Sailfish!

"What gave special emphasis to her achievements was that Kathy was competing in a homemade sailfish against fiberglass and aluminum boats with nylon and dacron sails; and her craft had a makeshift rudder, a mast held together with five hose clamps and a sail with eight patches.

First Girl To Win

"In this cheerful job she became the first girl ever to win a sailfish race conducted by the exclusive club — the first girl ever to win the junior fleet runner-up award and the second girl — the first was Eleanor F. Winslow in 1940 — to win the Winslow Award.

"Kathy plans to attend Butler University and to study physical therapy for work with handicapped children."

DECEMBER TAX DRAW CHECKS MAILED TO LOCAL UNITS

County Auditor Glendyn Albright last Thursday, Dec. 8, mailed checks to the various county units as their share in the December tax draw of taxes collected.

Several of the taxing units in the county had previously been advanced funds thus reducing the checks they will receive through the December draw.

In Union Township, with Eugene G. Benedet as trustee, the total tax draw was $88,136.04. A advance draw amounted to $60,474 and check mailed totaled $27,662.04.

The Culver Library check amounted to $1,823.01 since the advance draw of $1,000 was made from their total draw of $2,823.01.

The check to the Town of Culver amounted to $9,300.43, their total tax draw.

Dedication Of Indiana State Office Building

Company canal.

It is situated directly across Senate Avenue from the State Capitol.

Constructed principally of Indiana limestone with 2,000 windows of heat-resistant glass, the building will be more than 50% occupied by the dedication date.

Departments Already Moving In

Principal state departments which will have been transferred to the new quarters by Dec. 20 include the highway, motor vehicle bureau, revenue, state police, and public works and supply divisions.

The building, which contains more than 18 acres (816,000 square feet) of floor space, will eventually be occupied by some 50 state departments. It was needed to house the overflow of offices now quartered in the capitol and in 72 rented locations around Indianapolis.

Economies will result in consolidation of all the state offices within the one new building through centralized data processing, mailing, telephone facilities, etc. Furthermore, Indiana government spends approximately $600,000 annually for office rental which can now be applied on amortization of the $30 million State Office Building bond issue, allowing the state in time to pay for the building with its own rentals.

The movement to build an Indiana State Office Building began as early as 1909. There were various State Office Building Commissions created by the General Assembly beginning about 1940. The present commission, created by the 1957 General Assembly and provided a $50,000 appropriation, finally got the job done.

The commission got the project rolling by persuading architects and consultants to work on a contingent basis until the bond issue was sold. The $30 million in bonds, bearing a 4.225% interest rate, were marketed on Oct. 3, 1958 to an investment syndicate headed by City Securities Co. of Indianapolis and Smith, Barney & Co. of New York.

The groundbreaking was held Feb. 9, 1959 and the cornerstone laying the following Oct. 9.

Two Main Contracts Awarded

The project was divided into two main contracts. Contract for construction of the foundation in 120 days went to Darin & Armstrong of Cincinnati and Detroit and the general contract, allowing 550 days for completion, was awarded to the Virginia Engineering Co.

Look Ahead Until 1970

The building was planned to permit orderly expansion of departments through 1970. A three-story north wing was engineered for vertical expansion after that date.

Movable interior office partitions have been used to permit maximum flexibility in departmental organization. Departments having the greatest public traffic will be located on the lower floors and those with the least traffic on the upper floors.

The building has a 900-seat cafeteria in its basement.

The plaza area will include parking facilities for 1,400 automobiles.

Complementary buildings on each side include the State Library to the north and the new $3.8 million Employment Security Building on the south.

The Employment Security Building, dedicated last Aug. 16, was part of the project, but its entire cost was borne by Federal funds assigned to Indiana.

Engineers Had Tough Problems

The new office building provided engineers with some tough problems. It was necessary in clearing and preparing the site to relocate sections of the Indianapolis Water Company canal, the New York Central Railroad, and principal steam lines and gas mains serving downtown Indianapolis. Land and site-clearing together with relocation of utilities cost in excess of $4 million.

The entire project, including interest during construction, will finally cost approximately $25 million, leaving a $5 million surplus to begin early bond redemption.

Services Held Saturday For Fred Hinshaw, 72

Services for Fred Hinshaw, 72, were held at 2:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 10, at the Easterday Funeral Home with the Rev. Ray Kuhn, pastor of the Poplar Grove Methodist Church, officiating. Interment was made at the Poplar Grove Cemetery.

Mr. Hinshaw, Chauvin, Alberta, Canada, died Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 6, at the home of his brother, Robert Hinshaw, 132 S. Ohio St., Culver, where he had been visiting.

Other survivors are a son, Wendell of Chauvin, and three sisters, Mrs. Thomas Baker of Marion, Mrs. Harvey Samons of Cromwell, and Mrs. Everett Norris of Culver.

Jackson-Coton Vows Exchanged In Academy Memorial Chapel

The altar of the Culver Memorial Chapel, graced with standards of white gladioli, mums, snapdragons, and greenery flanked by palms and candelabra, formed the beautiful setting for the 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon wedding of Miss Elaine Claire Jackson, daughter of Mrs. Claire Walter Jackson of Route 2, Montpelier, Ind., and the late Colonel Jackson, to Fredrick Dale Coton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale F. Coton, 1 Kimberly Lane, Muncie, Ind.

Chaplain Allen F. Bray, III, officiated at the Episcopalian double-ring ceremony. The pews were marked with white candles, white bows, and lemon leaves. Mrs. Claude Zetty sang "O Father All-Creating" by Fetter before the procession and offered "O Jesu Joy Of Loving Hearts" by Brahms during the procession.

Given in marriage by Capt. Robert Bolton, U.S.N. (Ret.), Culver Military Academy, the bride was lovely in her ivory satin gown with chapel train, lace standing collar, and lace sleeves embroidered with pearls. Her fingertip veil fell gracefully from a pearl embroidered crown headpiece. Her bridal bouquet was fashioned of white gardenias and holly.

The bridal attendants were Miss Suzan Bolton, maid of honor; Mrs. William Strunk, matron of honor and sister of the bride; Miss Angie Vega, bridesmaid; and Miss Melinda Strunk, flower girl and niece of the bride. The attendants were gowned in dull red satin featuring fitted bodices and bell skirts. Their headresses were wreaths fashioned of holly, and each one carried white mums with holly. The flower girl wore a matching red velvet dress with a holly wreath in her hair and carried a basket of white rose petals.

Best man was Stephen Weltlich of Muncie. Ushering were John Phillips of Muncie, James Bennett, Cincinnati, cousin of the bridegroom, and Gary Coton, younger brother of the bridegroom.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Jackson selected a beige wool dress with brown accessories. The bridegroom's mother chose a blue wool dress with black accessories. Their corsages were composed of white camellias.

Beautiful arrangements of holly decorated the Culver Inn for the reception immediately following the ceremony for 175 guests. Out of town friends and relatives attending the wedding were from Detroit, Mich., Cincinnati, Ohio, Chicago, Ill., and Indianapolis and Muncie.

The new Mrs. Coton appeared in a sheath dress of coral wool with beige coat and accessories for their short wedding trip after which the couple will be at home at 501 University Ave., Muncie.

The bride is a 1958 graduate of Culver High School and a junior at Ball State Teachers College.

The bridegroom attended Ball State Teachers College and is presently employed at the Kimble Glass Company in Muncie.

Miss Bolton entertained for Miss Jackson at a miscellaneous shower on Saturday, Nov. 19, in the Bolton home with 40 guests attending.

Court of Honor

Troop 290 held a Court of Honor meeting to honor all the boys that have earned achievement or rank. The awards included year pins, merit badges, offices, perfect attendance, tenderfoot, second class, or patrol stripes.

Each patrol put on a skit on first aid, their subject during the month of November. The troop committee assisted the scout master with the program.

This program is put on for the parents of members of the troop. We were happy to see so many parents there at the meeting. For the first time almost every boy was in uniform. This is one of our main goals. Phillip Scruggs took a picture of the troop at the end of the meeting.

This was the first Court of Honor to be held for a long time. It may not have been as well performed as it could be but it certainly is a step in the right direction. We hope to improve each one as we progress.

Christmas Trees

The Christmas tree project has been very successful so far. Over the weekend the boys helped cut a truckload of new trees and at the present time there is a good selection of nice trees to choose from. Trees will be available until Dec. 24 and we have the best buy in town for $1.50.

Advertising does to business what yeast does to dough, but you have to know something about the use of both if you expect to get satisfactory results.

No State Tax Increase Under Proposed Budget

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 5 — "No state tax increase will be necessary if the 1961 Legislature stays within the proposed 1961-1963 budget," Governor Handley said here today.

"The budget is larger than ever before because a rapidly growing state has constantly increased needs," Governor Handley said.

"But as our population grows, so do the state's revenues. The new tax rates established in 1957 have been proved adequate to handle state government needs and also permit the build-up of a balance of approximately 50 million dollars in the state general fund.

"This is more than adequate to maintain the balance of 30 million which has always been considered as sufficient to meet possible emergencies.

"By utilizing the additional money above this 30-million reserve and calculating conservatively the estimated revenue of the state in the next two years, the budget committee was able to arrive at its final totals.

"Moreover, the proposed new budget continues the generous help the state has been giving to local units of Hoosier government by returning to counties and municipalities 499.2 million dollars, which amounts to 42% of the entire $1,155,428,565 budget.

Big Slice For Schools
"This local aid includes 248.4 millions proposed for local schools, 130.6 millions proposed for city streets and county roads, 14 millions of local welfare benefits, 29.4 millions for teacher retirement and social security, 14.8 millions for other county and municipal operations, 3.6 millions to pay judges' and prosecuting attorney salaries, and 1.4 millions for local hospitals.

"Our state tax system has been demonstrated to be equitable, adequate, and less of a burden on taxpayers than in almost any other state.

"It is up to the people to see that the Legislature stays within the limits which have been carefully estimated as a result of past experience. The Legislature should stand firm despite pressures for larger appropriations, regardless of who applies the pressure.

"Given such a carefully-conceived budget, the biggest problem confronting the new Legislature will be to reform county and municipal taxation.

One Soft Spot To Watch
"This is the one soft spot in Hoosier government.

"Local taxes as now constituted — relying almost entirely on the property tax — do not yield sufficient revenue for the needs of some communities, place too heavy a burden on property owners, and are unfair because all residents of a community are not required to pay for the services which they receive from local government.

"Because of this, I directed the Indiana Tax Study Commission — a bipartisan group composed of both legislators and laymen — to make a detailed study of the local tax situation, and to suggest possible ways to either supplement property taxes or plug existing loopholes.

"This report will be completed this month and given to members of the Legislature so that its members may study it and discuss it with constituents before the legislative session begins Jan. 5."

Governor Handley made similar comments Tuesday when he addressed members of the Legislature at a three-day pre-session orientation conference at the statehouse.

The Governor will make more detailed recommendations and observations to the Legislature when he addresses it just before he leaves office Jan. 8.

Governor Handley returned Monday from an official visit with 27 other American Governors to Argentina and Brazil. The trip, he said, was a major goodwill effort by our government and the governments of these two Latin American republics.

Speaks In California
Governor Handley on Thursday addressed the annual meeting of the California State Chamber of Commerce in San Francisco, explaining how debt-free Indiana continues first in the nation in new job opportunities. The Governor has made the same presentation — telling "the Indiana Story" — in key geographical centers throughout the nation.

On Saturday Governor Handley attended the famous annual Indiana Society dinner in Chicago.

Academy Sports

Play Alumni Jan. 10

The Culver Military Academy basketball team will take a 2-2 record into the 1961 portion of its cage schedule when the Eagles resume play against their alumni on Jan. 7.

The Academy dribblers rounded out their record to an even .500 last weekend when they lost successive thrillers to Crown Point here, 63-62 in overtime, and to Bloomington University School, 60-55.

In the game against Crown Point, Culver had a chance to send the game into sudden death when Captain Paul Schuldt was awarded two foul shots with one second remaining on the clock. Schuldt, the game's scoring leader with 25 points, missed only one foul in eight tries — and that was the one which prevented the tie.

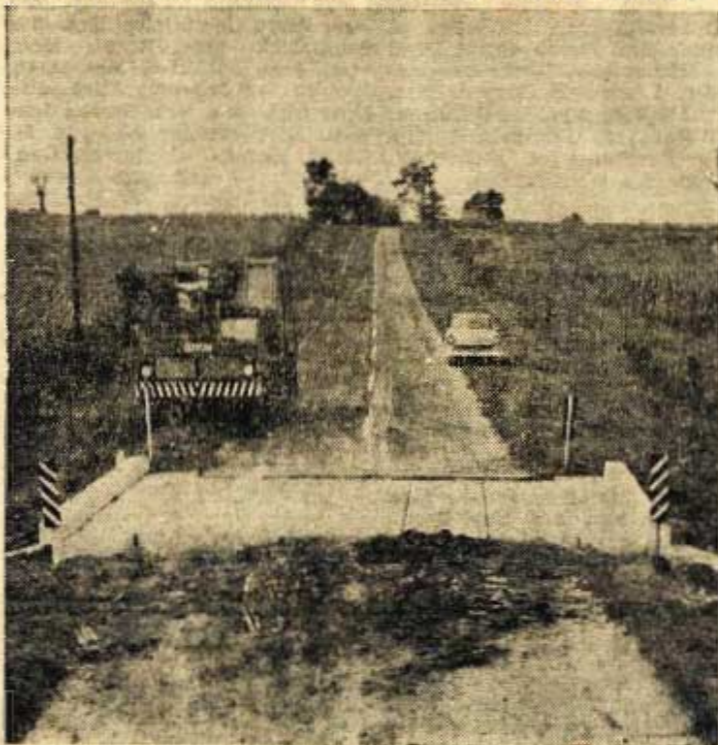

Basketball Thriller
At Bloomington, Schuldt and Dan Vance led the Academy scoring but they couldn't avert a last minute rush by University School. The score was tied at 53-all with 1½ minutes remaining before Culver fell behind. The junior varsity team lost to Crown Point, 50-45, and to Bloomington, 43-35.

Swimming Team Shines
Academy teams also were active in swimming, wrestling, and fencing. The swimming team defeated Penn High School, 63-32, as co-captain Enos Fry tied one record in the 100-yard free style, and helped the 180-yard free style relay team set a new mark at 1:15.3.

Hampered by inexperience, the Academy wrestlers were beaten by South Bend Riley, 47-3, and by Penn High School, 35-19, in their openers. Bill Butcher was the only Culver grappler to go unscathed, winning decisions in both meets.

Fencers In State Contest
Coach Elmer White's fencing team opened its season by participating in the state's first nationally-sponsored competition. The

LOCAL BRIDGE WIDENINGS SAVE LIVES

This bridge is one of 729 narrow bridges widened in the last four years by the Pre-Cast slab technique. These already-formed three-foot-wide slabs are simply dropped into place giving a wider and safer roadbed with great savings in time and money. Under today's heavy traffic of 1,650,000 registered automobiles in Indiana, plus more than 350,000 trucks and busses, these narrow bridges were once the sites of numerous accidents; Governor Harold Handley's administration made widening these accident-traps a prime order of business on all Hoosier roads. In 1957, the first year of the Handley administration, 88 of these too-narrow structures were widened; then in 1958 the figure rose to 288 widenings; in 1959 the figure was 217; and during 1960, 136 structures have been widened. Total cost is close to $2,700,000. In lives spared and vehicle damage avoided, the savings to the people of our State cannot be estimated. In addition to this pre-cast technique for simple bridge widening, complete new structures totalling more than 400 in number have been built during this same period of the Handley Administration. Total bridge expenditures in behalf of safer travel for Hoosiers during these last four years amounts to more than $78,000,000.00.

Indiana Bell To Build Addition Near Culver

Microwave Route Is Expanding

The Bell Telephone System is expanding a microwave route which crosses Northern Indiana to keep pace with growing communications demands.

Five buildings along the Hoosier portion of the coast-to-coast route will be enlarged to house additional relay equipment. Ultimately, the added facilities will provide almost 11,000 more telephone circuits across the state.

A contract for the building additions near Pleasant Lake, Albion, Atwood, and Culver was awarded to Peter Schumacher & Sons, Mishawaka, and for one near Kouts to Sumner Sollitt of Chicago. Total cost of this construction work and the equipment to be installed next year will be about $425,000.

Use Giant Antennas
The new electronic equipment will use the same giant antennas mounted on towers alongside the relay buildings to receive and transmit the additional microwave frequencies. These antenna towers originally were built four years ago.

Reinforced concrete will be used in the building additions to make them more blast resistant in the event of a national disaster. The additions will be able to withstand four times more pressure than the original structures.

Bypass The Big Cities
The microwave radio relay route, which is used to transmit television pictures as well as telephone conversations, is one of several which bypass major population centers across the nation. These routes were selected so that nationwide communications can be maintained if industrial areas ever are crippled in a national emergency.

The relay buildings are not manned except for maintenance work. Equipment inside them amplifies the microwave signals and transmits them to the next relay point.

Members of the Sunshine Class will meet Monday, Dec. 19, at the home of Mrs. Coleman Lowry for their Christmas party and gift exchange.

Culver Bible Church

"Christmas and YOGU," Culver Bible Church's 1959 Christmas program, will be repeated this year and will be presented two nights, Dec. 18 and 19, at 7:30 p.m.

This year's program, while essentially the same as last year, will be considerably revised and enlarged. The 1959 program consisted of 61 colored slides depicting the various activities of Christmas, including the traditional nativity scenes. This year there will be nearly 100 scenes.

Members of the congregation posed for the pictures. Several Culver business places served as settings for some of the pictures. Three local farms were used to photograph the nativity scenes.

The narration was tape recorded by the pastor, Maynard G. Tittle. The script was written by Mrs. Tittle.

The Dec. 19 presentation is being given in order to give to people from other churches an opportunity to see the program without having to miss their own church services.

There will be a guest speaker on Christmas Day.

Trinity Lutheran Church

On Thursday, Dec. 22, the Sunday School of Trinity Lutheran Church will present a Service of Song and Recitation titled "A Savior, Which is Christ, the Lord." The service will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Following a Lutheran tradition, the Sunday School pupils will put into words and music the story of the Birth of Christ in Bethlehem. The service will deal with the Annunciation to the Virgin Mary, the Nativity of our Lord, and the Adoration of the shepherds. The service will come to a close on a theme set by the Nunc Dimittis, the song of Simeon.

Ed Schultz, Superintendent of the Sunday School, and the staff have been preparing the program during the past weeks. Visitors and guests are welcome to attend.

Following a practice which was begun when Trinity was first organized, Rev. Delmar O. Krueger announces that the congregation will also observe Christmas Eve with a special midnight candle-light service at 11:30 p.m. This service, which ushers in the Feast of Christmas, will involve each worshiper who will hold a candle which symbolizes the arrival of Christ, the Light of the world.

On Christmas Day, the congregation will celebrate Holy Communion at the usual time of service, 9 a.m.

Burr Oak Church of God

The Burr Oak Church of God has planned a series of activities to accentuate the Christian faith in the Christmas season. The program of activities seeks to use the opportunities of fellowship, service, and worship in keeping with the Christmas spirit.

Christmas parties have been planned to bring the children of the Church School together in Christmas fellowship.

The annual Christmas program will be presented Sunday night, Dec. 18, beginning at 7:30. Each class of the Church School will participate in the program, with recitations and songs by the children, and the church choir will present a Christmas story cantata entitled, "Wonderful." A period of fellowship in the social rooms of the church, will follow the program. Music director, Mrs. Albert Overmyer, is in charge of the program and the choir is directed by Larry Norman.

A special Christmas service will be observed at the Burr Oak Church of God on Christmas Sunday. A combined Church School and worship service is planned to promote an understanding of the true meaning of Christmas. Church School superintendent, Burton Fesee, and pastor R. Warren Sorenson will conduct the service which begins at 9:45. The service will be dismissed at 11:09 a.m., to allow ample time for families to be together for annual Christmas gatherings. The public is cordially invited to share with us at the Burr Oak Church of God in each of these worship opportunities.

Grace United Church

The Christmas party of the Loyal Women's Class of the Grace United Church will be held in the church social rooms at 2 p.m. on Friday, Dec. 16.

The Advent Worship Service will be held Sunday morning, Dec. 18, and the theme of Rev. Harold W. Hohman's sermon will be, "Three Dimensions of Christmas."

On Sunday, Dec. 18, the Grace Church Choir will present the annual candlelight Christmas carol service with Mrs. Robert Rust, director, and Miss Margaret Swanson and Mrs. Judson Dillon at the organ. The processional begins at 4:30 p.m. A 30-minute meditation of Christmas organ music will precede the choral portion beginning at 4 p.m. The public is cordially invited to this vesper service.

The Crescent Class will have a Christmas potluck dinner and party in the church social rooms beginning at 5:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Dec. 21.

On Sunday, Dec. 25, at 10:30 a.m., at the Christmas morning Festal Worship Service, Miss Betty Kose will be the soloist. Rev. Hohman's sermon theme will be, "Our Christmas Needs."

Reorganization Committee Adopts Preliminary Plan

Group Sets Up School Districts

The Marshall County School Reorganization Committee Monday night by a 5-4 vote adopted a preliminary plan calling for the establishing of five school corporations in the county, including three that cross county lines.

The new school districts would be:

1. Culver Community Schools (Union, Aubbeenaubee, and North Bend Townships,) Argos, and Richland Township of Fulton County.
2. Bourbon and Tippecanoe Townships of Marshall County and Etna Township of Kosciusko County.
3. West, Polk, and North Townships, all of Marshall County.
4. Plymouth Community Schools, which would remain unchanged.
5. Bremen Public Schools and Madison Township of St. Joseph County.

Don Davis Reports

Don Davis of Culver reviewed steps taken by the Union - Aubbeenaubee - North Bend Township group in forming a Culver Community School Corporation and requested that when a preliminary plan is submitted to the state by the county committee they refer to the corporation as the Culver Community Schools.

Davis said the corporation had legally advertised and that no remonstrances had been received.

Wayne Kline of Culver added at a meeting was held with Preston Moody, Fremont, of the state commission, in regard to the consolidation of the tri-county unit. He said his group was informed that the commission would not take action on any preliminary plans being submitted now, until after the state legislature meets in January.

According to Klise, the commissioner was under the impression nothing would be changed in the Caston consolidation (including two Fulton county units) and the Fulton County Committee would have to use the alternate plan, which would release Aubbeenaubee Township to the Culver Corporation.

Others Present From Culver
Other members of the Culver group attending the meeting were Maurice Nelson, Peter Trone, and Andrew Vernum.

The County Committee will meet sometime after Christmas to work out plans on how the school boards of the various corporations will be made up.

Historical Society Needs Township History Books

According to Mrs. Norman Scruggs, Culver Librarian, the Marshall County Historical Society as well as the Fort Wayne Public Library are in dire need of copies of "One Township's Yesterdays," by Edwin R. Corwin, a history of Union Township. Both of these institutions wish to have this valuable information convenient for those interested in Indiana history.

The Fort Wayne Public Library is the largest library in the State and is fast becoming noted for its Indiana history.

Another item needed is the "History of Marshall County," by Daniel McDonald, which comes in two volumes.

If anyone has one of these copies and would care to donate it to one of these fine institutions, please contact Mrs. Scruggs. She is always glad to send any book, program, or notes of any nature to the Fort Wayne Library or the Indiana State Library. They are always appreciated and kept on record.

The latest material sent was a map of the lake, the booklet containing the history of the Grace United Church with the program for their 75th anniversary, and the Christmas program of the vesper service given at the Memorial Chapel at the Academy Dec. 11.

Mrs. Roscoe Stevens has furnished a copy of "One Township's Yesterdays" for the Plymouth Public Library. They have had it rebound in a hard back cover. The library staff is very proud of this book and were delighted to receive it as a gift.

IF 1960 CORN OUTPUT determined a state's size, Indiana would be the nation's third largest, say researchers of Cargill Hybrids, seed firm which compiled this map to illustrate state-by-state production of this year's estimated 4.18-billion bushel crop. Using the U. S. Department of Agriculture's forecast, they re-drew the national map, giving each state an area proportional to its corn production. Indiana farmers will harvest nearly 351 million bushels — 4.4 per cent of the U. S. total corn crop — and will receive nearly $355 million in payment, the seedmen predict.

Hoosier Girl Has Corn Yield Of 242 Bushels

Wins Over 1,750 in Contest

Lafayette, Ind. — Sharon Kerkhoff, 18-year-old Tippecanoe County farm girl, won the junior division of the 1960 Indiana Five-Acre Corn Growing contest with a yield of 242 bushels an acre. This is one bushel more than the previous high, set in 1954. She is the first girl to win in the 17-year history of the event. Sharon lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kerkhoff, on a 400-acre farm east of Romney. She is a junior in Southwestern High School. The new junior titleholder has been a 4-H club member seven years and the 5-acre corn plot was one of her 1960 projects.

Topped Senior Division Winner Her yield topped that of the senior division winner, J. Herbert Roadruck, White County farmer, who produced 231 bushels an acre. It also brought her membership in the exclusive "200 Bushel Club." Her father was runner-up in the senior division with a yield of 216 bushels an acre.

1,750 Hoosier Youths Compete The contest is sponsored by the Purdue agricultural extension service and the Indiana Crop Improvement Association. Nearly 1,750 farm youths competed for the title. Larry Clodfelter, Park County, won last year with a 217-bushel yield.

Sharon Kerkhoff's yield came from a 15-acre field which was in corn last year. The field was plowed last April, disced (twice), and a field cultivator and harrow were pulled ahead of the planter. The hybrid seed, Chester KB35 and DeKalb 805 Single Cross, blended for a longer pollinating season, was planted May 18. It was drilled in 38-inch rows with grains seven inches apart.

Previously in Alfalfa The field had been in alfalfa for three years prior to 1959. During this time it was heavily fertilized according to soil test recommendations. This year it was heavily manured and an application of 200 pounds of 11-48-0 an acre was applied in the row. The corn was cultivated three times, once with a rotary hoe.

Sharon, who cleared the field of rocks, helped prepare the field for planting and helped haul corn at harvest. Her 4-H achievements include winning first place in the 1960 Indiana state fair food freezing contest.

Kerkhoffs Rent Their Farm The Kerkhoffs have rented the farm for the last 19 years. They own a 32-cow Angus breeding herd and finish about 1,000 purchased feeder pigs each year. The father won the Five-Acre senior division in 1940 with a yield of 156.8 bushels an acre. In addition to Sharon, the Kerkhoffs have two other children, Martha, 13, and Jerry, 4.

'GET LOST!'

Dangerous Attack

Congressional liberals will launch an attack on the House Rules Committee in the opening days of the next Congress. Here's why:

The Rules Committee has the job of insuring an orderly flow of legislation to the House floor for action. It must choose among thousands of bills the ones worthy of House consideration.

Right now, conservatives control the committee and liberals control the House. Naturally the liberals want to change the rules in order to get their bills out of the Rules Committee as quickly and with as little trouble as possible. A simple majority in the House now can bring a bill to the floor by petition, but liberals are upset because members usually are reluctant to by-pass the committee.

Changing the rules can lead to a traffic jam of legislation on the floor during which many expensive measures can slip through without proper consideration. In the past, the actions of the Rules Committee have saved this country billions of dollars.

The powers of the Rules Committee have remained unchanged for about 50 years, although they have been under attack by first one side and then the other — always by the side with a current majority. In the last half century, every proposal for changing the operations of the committee has been shown to have disadvantages bigger than its advantages.

The changes proposed for 1961 are the same ones that have been brought up and turned down before. The reasons behind them are the same: The dominant liberals want a clearer track for railroading through their legislative program.

Hoosier Expert Pulls Practical Joke On Us

At about 11 the other night the publisher of The Culver Citizen received a long distance telephone call from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, during which the caller berated him unmercifully for a political editorial which appeared in this newspaper.

The man on the other end of the line was so brutal and offensive in his attack that it was some three or four minutes before we could get a word in edgewise.

In due course, however, Publisher Chester W. Cleveland recognized the falsetto voice of an old friend, John S. (Ole) Olsen, of the famous comedy team of Olsen & Johnson, who was recovering nicely from a near fatal automobile accident near Cedar Rapids on Oct. 28. We had promptly sent him a Western Union "get well" wire.

A Native Hoosier "Ole" Olsen, a native of Peru, Ind., is an old-hand at practical jokes as thousands of people know. It is always good to be a victim of one from such an expert.

Olsen & Johnson's theatrical partnership is approaching its 50th anniversary — by far the longest in show business. They will fill engagements at both Fort Wayne and Indianapolis in the next couple of months and plan to visit in Culver if their itineraries permits.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cooper of Evanston, Ill., were Sunday guests of Mrs. Hattie Brown. Mrs. Cooper is a niece of Mrs. Brown and she and her husband helped Mrs. Brown celebrate her recent birthday.

Roman Catholic Influence May Save Cuba

Castro Ruining A Fine Country

By ROGER W. BABSON
 No. 1 U.S. Economist
 Babson Park, Mass. — The Cuban situation has reached a point where it is affecting certain investments. Therefore, I feel that my readers are due an impartial summary of the situation.

Roger W. Babson

I have always watched Cuba critically as it is so close to Florida, where I have spent over 30 winters. I feel that the Cuban situation will come out satisfactorily due to the influence of the Catholic Church.

The Cuban people, with their Spanish blood, are emotional and enjoy political and physical fights.

People Are Emotional
 They, however, are deeply Roman Catholic in faith. Hence, there is a church safeguard which does not exist in Russia or in many of her satellites.

The Communist Government in Russia has been brutal to the Christian Church, due largely to its inheritance of the former Czarist domination which controlled and worked through the orthodox Church.

The situation in Cuba, therefore, is entirely different from the situation in Russia and its satellites.

Could Be Garden Spot
 Cuba is rich in soil, rainfall, sunshine, and warm temperatures. It could be the garden spot of the Americas; but it has been cursed by wretched and unjust government.

Castro thinks it necessary only to nationalize the farms, the businesses, banks, and the few manufacturing establishments; he seems to give no thought to marketing.

Cuba's wonderful productive conditions are of no use if her products cannot be marketed. Cuba's natural market is the United States (which Castro is abusing and doing his best to alienate).

This same trading principle is true for the countries of Central America, and even South America; they have the land but lack the fruits, coffee, and even minerals, including oil.

This is another reason why I feel investors should have the larger proportion of their common stocks in marketing — rather than in farming, mining, or manufacturing — propositions.

Whatever the future may bring as to the ownership of land or the production of crops or the extraction of minerals and oil, there should always be a field for companies engaged in the marketing of these products.

This applies to the big concerns such as Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, etc.; but especially to the large variety of chains, with their stores in all 50 states of the Union.

In Case Of World War III
 Even in case of World War III, these great marketing organizations might come through the best of all concerned.

Once Admired Castro
 When Castro, at 32 years of age, conquered Batista and his gang. I thought he was a wonderful fellow.

As long as he stuck to military warfare, he fared well; but since he has tackled economic problems, he is ruining the country.

How long he can hold out, even with Russia's blessing, no one knows. It seems he is destined to be assassinated by someone whose family he has ruined.

On the other hand, investors should realize that the world is passing through a leveling process wherein those who have not are gradually taking away from those who have.

In Russia and her satellite countries, this has been done by ruthless stealing of property. In China, goodwill is expropriated, but Mao has sometimes made payment, on his own terms, for actual property taken.

Great Britain has experimented with nationalization, and payment has been made for the coal mines, steel companies, railroads, and public utilities that were taken over.

In these United States, the labor leaders have the same goals, but they work through strikes and unfair demands.

Attacked By Heavy Taxation
 In all countries investors are being attacked either by heavy taxation or by guerrilla warfare such as is taking place in Africa.

Hence, we investors in the U.S. should be especially on the watch. With only 5 per cent of the people of this world, we have nearly half of the world's wealth.

Can this condition always continue? The leveling trend has been going on for centuries.

Though I am still hopeful as to Cuba, yet let us keep in mind this world trend.

LEO LOJEWSKI INJURED BY CORN PICKER

Leo Lojewski, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Lojewski, Route 1, Culver, received extensive bruises and lacerations to his hand when it became caught in a corn picker Sunday, Dec. 11, while working on his parents' farm.  "Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon at Christian Science church services Sunday.

Scriptural selections will include Christ Jesus' striking response to his disciples' call for help during the tempest at sea: "And his disciples came to him, and awoke him, saying, Lord, save us; we perish. And he saith unto them, Why are ye fearful, O ye of little faith? Then he arose, and rebuked the winds and the sea; and there was a great calm" (Matthew 8:25, 26).

A correlative citation to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states: "The belief that the universe, including man, is governed in general by material laws; but that occasionally Spirit sets aside these laws, — this belief belittles omnipotent wisdom, and gives to matter the precedence over Spirit" (83:16).

Distinguished Professors To Teach At CMA

Use Eppley's $1 Million Grant

Five distinguished college physics professors will teach at Culver Military Academy during the 1960-61 academic year. Maj. Gen. Delmar T. Spivey, USAF (Ret.), superintendent, announced last week.

The visiting professors program is part of the Eugene C. Eppley Endowed Chairs grant which brings to Culver outstanding teachers in the fields of mathematics, foreign languages, English, chemistry, history, and physics. The endowed chairs were created in 1957 as a result of a gift of $1 million by the Eugene C. Eppley Foundation, Omaha, Neb.

"The purpose of the Eppley chairs," General Spivey said, "is to stimulate and maintain at a high level the general quality of teaching at Culver. The new program in physics will provide our science department with an opportunity to exchange ideas with outstanding college physicists."

The college professors will be at Culver for periods of from two days to two weeks, and during their stay will take part in classroom instruction and confer with students and Academy faculty members.

The five professors and the dates when they will be at Culver: Dr. C. D. Swartz, professor of physics, Union College, Schenectady, N. Y., Dec. 15-17.

Dr. Paul Rood, chairman of the physics department, Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, Jan. 19-13.

Dr. Kenneth H. Moore, professor of physics, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y., Feb. 6 - March 11.

Dr. C. J. Overbeck, professor of physics, Northwestern University, March 20-23.

Dr. R. B. Lindsay, dean of the graduate school, Brown University, May 17-19.

Culver offers a full science program under an 11-man staff directed by Dr. George O. Johnson, holder of the Eppley Chair in Chemistry. Dr. Johnson is one of four permanent appointees to Eppley chairs. The Eppley Chair in history is appointed annually, and is currently held by Dr. Donald W. Dishrow, on leave from Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti. The visiting physics professors will fill the sixth Eppley Chair.

As part of the college preparatory program in science, Culver students take courses in elementary science, biology, chemistry, and physics. Nearly 200 seniors are enrolled in the two physics programs offered at Culver. These classes are held in the Eppley Hall of Science, completed in 1957, with instructional equipment considered outstanding in college preparatory schools.

This building, another gift from the Eppley Foundation, is devoted entirely to science. There are 22 rooms, including nine laboratories, independent project rooms, science library, recitation rooms, and a lecture hall.

"Hoosier Poppings" Column TOGETHERNESS — Voters who complain that there's not much difference between the two major political parties might have gotten the idea at Culver where the Democratic and Republican headquarters are side by side in the Amond Building on Main Street. A few scant inches separate the doors leading into the two headquarters.

ing all day. Harry, hunting alone, killed 57.

Continued cold soon choked the river and on Nov. 26, after moving their shack home, the Morrisons summed up like this:

"Hunting is over for another year. Killed somewhere between 1,800 and 1,900 ducks, 13 geese. Started with 89 live duck decoys, four geese. Finished with 49 duck decoys, two geese. Had 140 decoys at one time. . ."

ON OCT. 9, 1922, the shack was moved again to the river and a new season began. It started slowly, but soon picked up — as these entries clearly show:

Oct. 17 — Frank down at 2 a.m. We three set out at 5. Light breeze from north, birds flying early, good flight at noon. Killed 46 ducks, three geese.

Oct. 18 — I worked in town. Frank and Roy out early, killed 8 mallards, 6 redheads, 11 teal, 5 pintails.

Nov. 8 — Dad, Harry, and Bill out early. Snowed during night. Wind from northeast, lots of ducks flying. Ben and I out at noon. Great shooting. Killed 208 mallards.

Nov. 9 — Clear and cold. Took stove to blind. Harry and Bill to town and back after 10 a.m. Dad stopped by at 3:30, stayed all night. Killed 140 mallards.

THERE WERE SOME bad days, like this one late that month: "Plenty mallards flying early, but we got only one. Must be a curse on this place. All we do is lose decoys now. Lost 10 blocks in two days and have lost 24 live birds in week."

And this, noted Dec. 4: "Today is the first day we were ever skunked. We look for a flight tomorrow, though. . ."

FOUR DAYS LATER, things improved: "Harry, Frank, and I out early, crossed river through ice floes. Five honkers lit among our geese decoys — but out of range. Couldn't get a shot. Ain't it hell? Moved to mid-river, shot out of ice blind, killed 35 mallards and a bluebill. . ."

To ease the suffering of envious, present-day nimmers who must be drooling by now, let's end this on a dismal note of Snafu and suffering — as recorded Dec. 9.

"SUFFERING CATS — the river is froze and up two feet. We crossed by standing on willows, dragging a boat. Took two hours. Blocks had risen with river, but live birds tied in blind were in two feet of water. . . 15 crawled out, but 10 were pretty wet although alive. Loaded up everything and started back. Had to unload twice before reaching channel. Harry went over waders and boat had such a load we broke through the ice and had to break ice all the way back. Took two hours to reach channel, five hours to cross. Got back after dark, in awful shape. All agreed it was hardest day's work we'd ever done. Worse than skunked. Got three birds less than yesterday — lost decoys."

Indians Split Pair Of Games Over Weekend

Players Injured In Rugged Action

By EARL D. MISHLER
The Culver Indians split a pair of rugged games over the weekend, completing one of the roughest weeks of basketball action in recent years. Undefeated Knox toppled Culver here Friday night, 74-68, but Culver retaliated with a thrilling 54-53 victory at Bourbon on Saturday night.

The Redskins from Knox, in winning their 7th straight game, took advantage of Culver's ineffective zone defense to scorch the nets for three quarters. When the Indians' defense finally tightened up, Coach Tom Benbrook's forces put on a stirring fourth quarter rally, but found the lead too big to overcome.

Culver kept pace with the red-hot Starke County lads throughout the first period, and led, 20-19, at the end of the initial quarter. The visitors, however, kept hitting over the Culver zone, and took a 41-34 halftime lead. It appeared as though Knox would run away with the game, as they stretched their lead to 60-45 after three quarters. However, Culver fought back with a full court press defense that narrowed the gap to the final six points.

Knox's Danny George and Tom Wunder had 19 and 18 points respectively to lead all scorers. Culver had all five starters in double figures, led by John Benedict and Lance Overmyer, with 17 and 15 markers, respectively. Tom Boswell, Gary Dillon, and Larry Davis added, 13, 12, and 10, respectively.

Boswell was injured on the final play of the game, typical of the rugged action Culver faced all week long. Later it was learned that the junior guard had suffered a minor brain concussion.

Saturday night, the host Bourbon Comets nearly pulled a major upset in a see-saw battle in the Bourbon gymnasium. For the second straight night, the Culver zone was not hard to solve, and Bourbon grabbed early leads of 7-1 and 11-4. The Indians, who should have won easily despite Boswell's absence, regained their poise and led, 15-13, after one period, and 26-25 at halftime. Bourbon who cished in on 19 of 23 free throw attempts tied the count at 40-40 after three stanzas. Larry Davis' free throw with five seconds remaining gave the Indians a 54-51 lead, but Benedict fouled Bourbon's Chet Hall who hit two charity tosses. As Benedict raced down the floor for Dillon's long in bounds pass, he became tangled up with Bourbon's Dick Bellman, and both boys tumbled to the ground. Culver's junior forward lay stretched, face down on the floor for 10 minutes as Bourbon officials searched for a doctor. After big John was carried to the dressing room on a stretcher, the excitement continued, Tim Schaezle managed a 20-foot jump shot but missed and the horn sounded.

Benedict's injury was reported as a muscle spasm in his back which seemed to be cured about a half hour after the game. It is hoped that both Boswell and Benedict will be ready to play against Rochester next Friday.

Dillon's 21 points gained him high point honors Saturday and Benedict hit for 15. Schaezle led the losers with 13. It must also be remarked that Dillon, Culver's outstanding senior guard, has been playing with a severe cough which has kept him below par.

The Culver B-Team lost twice, 41-30 to Knox, and 45-25 to Bourbon. Rick Ervin led the Pa-pooses both games with 8 and 9 points, stretching his streak to five straight games in which he has topped Culver's scoring.

A Proverb Of Poor Richard

By Tom Boswell

Among the sayings from Benjamin Franklin's Poor Richard's Almanac, this one from the 1757 edition, "Dost thou love life? Then do not squander time, for this is the stuff life is made of," is most valuable.

This is very sound advice and I believe, one of Franklin's more precise proverbs. In this simple saying Franklin expressed a very true statement and one which, if considered deeply, may help to better one's life.

Franklin says in this old but true adage that if a person enjoys his life on earth he should not waste it but, instead, use every moment for the purpose of making it a happier and more rewarding experience. One can merely look at the lives of such people as Thomas Jefferson, Thomas Edison, and Franklin himself, and realize that these men used their time to the greatest extent, and by utilizing it they made a mark which was left for their descendants to realize and try to improve. This idea is sufficiently stated in this stanza from Henry Wadsworth Longfellow's poem "A Psalm of Life."

Lives of great men all remind us We can make our lives sublime, And, departing, leave behind us Footprints on the sands of time. So, once we have learned to use our moments here on earth to a practical use or account, we have accomplished the very thing which Franklin and Longfellow were trying to put forward in their writings.

In conclusion, I use another stanza from Longfellow's poem. Let me not in mournful numbers, Life is but a dream! For the soul that slumbers, and things are not what they seem.

This again expresses the basic idea of Franklin's aphorism: That life is entirely too short and one cannot receive full benefit from it unless he makes use of every moment which he experiences. If he does this, he will not only be happy but he will have accomplished the purpose for his life; that of bettering the world simply by his presence.

Editor's note: This theme was written by Tom Boswell for an English 11 assignment in Mr. Graham's class.

Miss Henning Is Interviewed

By Sharon Lindvall

Miss Henning was a very interesting person to interview. Upon questioning we find that she was born in Kewanna, Ind. She teaches third and fourth grades.

She graduated from Kewanna High School and then attended Taylor University, at Upland, Ind., for four years.

This is her first year of teaching. She likes very much teaching in the Culver Grade School. Her pet peeve in school is people showing off. She decided to teach school when she was a junior in high school. Her other ambition was being a secretary.

She lives in Culver during the week and goes home to Kewanna on the weekends. Her mother works at the cafeteria. Her favorite food is steak and all of the trimmings. Her favorite color is blue and her pet peeve out of school is people who are always late. She has one brother.

She thinks Culver is a very friendly town and she likes living in a small town, since she has been living in one all of her life.

Christmas Still Real, Poll Reveals

By Jean McCoige and Susie Muehlhausen

"We three kings of Orient are; bearing gifts we traverse a-far"

Remember the gifts of the three wise men? It is in that spirit today, that we give our gifts to the ones we love. We give them in the remembrance that Christ was born upon that day.

Since it is getting near Christmas, we were wondering in what spirit everyone at Culver was planning to spend Christmas. So we took a poll to see if the students and teachers of Culver thought that the true meaning of Christmas was gone.

Sixty-four per cent said no, the true meaning of Christmas is not gone. Twenty-three per cent said yes; and thirteen per cent made sort of a yes-and-no answer.

The sixty-four per cent that said no, said that the true meaning of Christmas could never be lost as long as everybody always believed in God. They also said that sometimes it was covered up by material things and some people forget the true meaning, but they agreed it was a time for giving and Christmas should be centered around the children.

The twenty-three per cent yes's said that Christmas was being commercialized too much and that everybody was thinking about presents and having a good time instead of the true meaning.

Well, we're sure you will agree with us that the true spirit of Christmas still lives in Culver, and we wish everyone a Merry Christmas!

"... Westward leading, still proceeding, Guide us to Thy perfect light."

WEATHER NOT BAD BUT KNOCK ON WOOD!

With the East and Southwest currently in the throes of the worst winter in years, subzero temperatures and extremely bad driving conditions in Central Indiana, and with a freak snowstorm and blizzard practically burying Valparaiso last week, Culver area folks ought not to be doing any complaining about the weather even if it is on the chilly side.

Get back in there and fight. Oh, Hi. I'm just trying to cheer up one of our young scholars. I mean — after all what's one grading period, duh! We can't all be brilliant all the time, I guess . . .

Sniff, Sniff (Ha-choo), oh no. If my nose doesn't deceive me, there are some tantalizing new aromas drifting around the halls from the Home Economics room. It must mean some big mystery is brewing as there's a "Keep Out" sign on the kitchen door, possibly a warning to any overly curious bystanders.

Just as a hint to anyone who has never had the experience yet, never assume anything in Mr. Lawson's math class. When multiplying feet by feet — result — square feet. By the way, how did the feet, I mean grades, come out on the test, Mr. Lawson? Since we're discussing feet, inches are equally important in "Jack Was Every Inch a Sailor." It's the delight of C.H.S. and was immensely enjoyed at the concert Sunday.

Some of our instructors, I just don't know — that Mr. Boyd — I mean what can you do after five minutes of holding one little 'ole note? Just think it might damage your young brains!

Shari Croy is to be congratulated this week as she's now going steady with Don Feece from Plymouth. Other steady couples on the "gone list" are Lila Bean and Bob Cooper, also Nancy Burns and a "friend" Richard Agee. Winamac gets more appealing all the time, right girls? That reminds me. Whatever happened to Richard's ring Nancy? Egad, you don't mean it! Not the furnace. Oh, well I always did love shoveling coal.

I was quite surprised to hear you seniors were already being measured for caps and gowns. It must have been "loads" of fun. It's just one more big moment of your senior year gone by.

Well Mr. Lawson, Sir, you did it again. This was too good to pass up. Friends, Romans, Countrymen, lend me your ears. We now have a "little White Hunter." The man downstairs really goofed the goof of the year. As it would seem to me, he leads a very adventure-some life. He speaks of Safari's and his deep love for African violets. Try a road map on your next expedition, Sir.

Which witch — oh that one! "Air filthy and fog the through hover, Fair is foul and, foul is fair." No, it really isn't a mistake in the use of the King's English. It all happened in Senior English last Wednesday when these three weird (creatures?) . . .

Talk about tired blood. You don't know the half of it until you've taken College Board Exams, then you realize you know even less! Here is a question which every "well-rounded" college bound student should be able to answer: Why did Jack hate the letter "Q"? Answer — Because his mother once got stuck in a porthole, and they couldn't push her in or pull her out.

Last Tuesday night was really a rousing one for the team, when we lost the game to the Judson Bluejays at our first away game. The Pep Club was behind them all the way, and still will be Friday night when we murder the Knox Redskins.

Miss Yocom — are lollipops really that tempting on Sunday evenings?

If you've never tasted a hot dog delicately flavored with a chocolate cookie and potato chips, immediately on top of catsup, be sure to contact Jan Scruggs. I'm sure she'll tell you there's nothing like it.

Five, four, three, two, one — blast off one Lana Berger for one evening of fun filled hours spent with your O.A.O.

If you ever get bored study the faces of people. Shari Yocom proves a terrific specimen at ball games. All that exertion is kind of hard on our tired senior structures, agreed (friend?)

Winter, snow, snowball — ah yes! Don't forget, the "Snowball Hop" is only a date away and we hope to see everyone there.

Can You Guess Mystery Guest

By Betty Zechiel

Our Mystery Guest this week is a proud Senior girl. Some of her characteristics are her brown hair, hazel eyes, and she is 5 feet, 6 1/2 inches tall. One of her favorite past times is being with a senior boy who is on the Varsity. I think most generally she may be found spending her noon hours in study hall with him. (Oh, how romantic.)

She enjoys eating strawberry shortcake. Miss X is a member of the choir and a member of pep club. She's a real fan for our school and her favorite sport is basketball (I wonder if this has anything to do with the players). If she looks a bit different the past week, it's because she recently got some new glasses. I imagine that everyone by this time can guess our mysterious senior. She is the one and only — Jean Eikenberry.

DECORATING FOR CHRISTMAS

The high school students in Art 1 and Art 2 are making stencils, wrapping paper, and are decorating the elementary and high schools with the spirit of Christmas.

Lists County Cage Standings

By Earl Mishler

We would like to correct a mistake printed in last week's Citizen. In the Culver-North Judson game, Tom Boswell's point total should have read 14 instead of 12, and Lance Overmyer's, 2 instead of 4. One of Tom's six field goals was accidentally chalked up in Lance's behalf.

Including games of Dec. 6, here are the county standings: Culver, 2-2; Tyner, 3-3; LaPaz, 2-4; Bourbon, 2-5; Bremen, Tippecanoe, and Plymouth, each 1-3; Argos, 1-5; and West Twp., 0-7. As you can see, none of Marshall County's nine teams is off to a very prolific start.

Here are the unofficial scoring leaders after Dec. 6:

	G	TP	PPG
Bill Robinson, Tippey	4	71	17.8
Glenn Starr, Plymouth	4	70	17.5
Gary Dillon, Culver	4	67	16.8
Tom Wolff, Plymouth	4	61	15.3
Jim Muday, West Twp.	7	107	15.3
Rex Stull, Tyner	6	92	15.3
Tom Whiteman, LaPaz	5	75	15.0
Kent Sisk, West Twp.	7	98	14.0
Mick Morlan, Tippey	4	55	13.8
Jim Truax, Tyner	6	81	13.5
John Benedict, Culver	4	54	13.5

On Friday afternoon the ladies entertained members of the North Judson W.S.C.S. at the church. Miss Leona Bailey of the Culver Military Academy, was the guest speaker and showed slides of her recent trip to Europe. A fellowship time and refreshments were enjoyed in the church basement following the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Goodman spent Sunday in Kokomo with Mrs. Goodman's brother, the Rev. Clifford Bryan and Mrs. Bryan and attended church services with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Davis and granddaughter, Diane Davis, were over Sunday guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Davis and daughters in Grove City, Ohio. Richard Mathias, a senior at Denison University, Granville, Ohio, was also a dinner guest in the Davis home. Grove City is located near Columbus and was in the midst of a very severe snow storm which started early Sunday morning. The Davises were delayed in starting home and then got caught in another snow storm enroute. Upon arrival home they found no snow had fallen at all in this locality.

The sister of Mrs. Rufus Jones passed away Friday morning at her home in Ohio. She was brought back to Rochester where funeral services were held Sunday afternoon.

PARKER'S BURR OAK CRITERION STUDIO
Edward T. Parker, who owns and operates the Criterion Art Studio at Burr Oak, now spends most of his time here, going into his Chicago office only about one week in six these days. Some of his humorous original Christmas, birthday, and get-well greeting cards are as good as anything in the Hallmark and Gibson lines.

Do not forget Sunday School services each Sunday at 10 a.m. There will be preaching services next Sunday following Sunday School.

The men picked the corn of the church farm project on the Merrell Murphy farm last Wednesday with an excellent yield. The ladies of the church served the annual corn bread, ham, and bean dinner in the church basement at the noon hour. Following the dinner the regular meeting of the W.S.C.S. and gift exchange was held. Mrs. Anne McIntyre gave the lesson.

Power Of Commission Excessive
The law in general has many good points, but in my opinion, the power of the state commission is excessive. It is my impression that the law must be modified either to trim or define the powers of the state commission or to permit exceptions to the law where justified. It is my belief that school reorganization should occur on a voluntary basis. The machinery for such reorganization should be present so that the school units can accomplish reorganization easily when they are ready to do so. I am not against the state commission or any other group encouraging or exerting some pressure for reorganization where they feel it is necessary, but I do not feel that units should be forced or mandated into consolidating unless there are very obvious inequities or inefficiencies proved.

Not Required To Recommend
County Committees are not required to recommend the reorganization of school districts. The law does require that the local county committee study the present organization of school corporations in the county and decide whether they are as efficient as they can be or whether reorganization is advisable. There is nothing in the law that gives anyone or any commission the right to force a county committee to recommend a change, or to force local citizens to approve a change if one is recommended.

There are two sides to any controversy. There are arguments for it and arguments against it. Such is the case with the School Reorganization Act of 1959.

The arguments for reorganization are as follows:

1. To provide a more equalized educational opportunity for public school pupils. This would be of value to the student preparing to go to college.
2. To achieve greater fairness school tax rates among the various school corporations.
3. To provide a more effective use of tax money spent for school purposes.

Arguments Voiced Against Act

While there appear to be more numerous arguments against the 1959 reorganization act than arguments for it, I believe it would be quite difficult to compare the values of any of the arguments either for or against. Some of the arguments voiced against the act are:

1. The reorganization act is based on the assumption that larger schools are more economical and efficient than the smaller schools.
2. It is difficult to identify the breaking point between efficiency and inefficiency when considering whether a school unit should have 30 students per class (120 per high school) or 85 to 90 students per class (1,000 ADA from grades 1 through 12).
3. Even if the cost were a little lower, providing educational facilities were adequate, perhaps the inhabitants of the townships might just be willing to pay for the little extra cost.
4. Community centers might be destroyed or at least shifted.
5. Tax Disputes Could Arise. Tax disputes between townships undoubtedly would arise.
6. The transportation problem would be tremendous. The "pupil miles" traveled would be increased many, many times. This represents a safety angle that must be considered. One must remember that the "pupil miles" traveled would not only be on the buses to school in the daytime, but would also be in private transportation to the many extracurricular activities of the school occurring after school hours.
7. The law itself actually requires only 120 pupils for grades 9 through 12. The state commission however, in the same law was given blanket authority to set their own minimum standards and they set them at 1,000 per school for grades 1 through 12.
8. More Disciplinary Problems? With increased size the possibility of more delinquency and disciplinary problems arise.
9. The control of the school is taken out of the sensitive hands of local people. To get an individual's complaint heard in a big highly departmentalized school would be a difficult task.
10. With increase in size there comes more teacher specialization and along with this a natural tendency for less personal interest in individual students.
11. Reorganization and consolidation of schools has been and is being accomplished without undue difficulty under previous acts of the legislature.
12. Emphasis should be placed on the excellence or quality of education rather than on the size of the unit.
13. The law is one that results in persistent needling and prodding and re-submission of plans even though they be repeatedly defeated by the local electors.

Grade School News reports

By Sherrill Edgington and Cheryl Dixon

Mrs. Keyser, First Grade — We have three children with December birthdays: Ava Gay McCarty, Lloya Morley, and David Burns. Having finished our blue story book, we are now reading an enrichment book. In science, we are experimenting with things that dissolve in water.

Mrs. McLane, First Grade — We have all joined the Library Tree reading program. Everyone has read at least one library book since school started in the fall. Many have read ten or more.

Mrs. Allen, Second Grade — We have made a weather chart. We have fun recording each day's weather. We made a "Book of Prayers" for Thanksgiving. The plants and seeds in our terrarium are growing nicely. We are making several things to decorate our room for Christmas. We are also reading Christmas stories.

Mrs. Carter, Third Grade — In social studies, we studied about the different kinds of cloth, such as: linen, rayon, nylon, wool, and silk. Some children brought samples pasted on colored posters. Our room is decorated with Christmas decorations. We have a "Little Christmas Town" in our room. Each day we open a window of one of the houses. We are also making Christmas decorations.

Mr. Weaver, Fifth Grade — For the past couple of weeks we have been busy studying for our final six weeks' tests. In science we have just finished a unit on the stars and their neighbors. We just completed a quiz over them, too.

Mr. Carr, Fifth Grade — We are going to have a Christmas party this year. We are making decorations for our room. We have committees to bring refreshments and provide entertainment. We have been bringing ornaments for the tree that we are going to have. In English, we are having book reports. Dec. 8 was Jean Gross's birthday.

COMING EVENTS

Dec. 15, (Thurs.) — Basketball, Bourbon junior high, here; freshmen at Winamac.

Dec. 16, (Fri.) — Basketball, Rochester, there.

FUTURE SCHOOL DATES

To clear up errors in the school calendar that was published soon after the opening of school two dates should be changed.

School will close for the Christmas holidays at 2:30 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 22.

There will be school all day for all students, grades 1 through 12, on April 21 when the county music festival will be held at Argos.

Eight Senior Band Members Receive Sweaters

By Jean Eikenberry and Mimi Fisher

Freshmen: We haven't won any basketball games except one and we are hoping to beat Winamac, Dec. 15. Get in there and fight. The Freshmen are working to get more kids to go on our fan bus to the ball games. One other thing we are trying to achieve is to make more money on our fudge sales than the Sophomores.

Sophomores: What an industrious class! They have reported that they made approximately $198 raking leaves. They expect to see everyone at their next movie. The date hasn't been set yet, but it should be soon after Christmas.

Juniors: There will be a Junior dance after the Knox home game Friday, Dec. 9. We've been doing great on the past dances, so everybody come and support the Juniors on this one.

Seniors: Last Sunday afternoon at the Holiday Concert the Senior members of the band were given sweaters for their work they have done in band while in high school. Those who received sweaters are: Shari Yocom, Nancy Ervin, Betty Zechiel, Jean Warner, Sam Medbourn, Jamie Piersol, Ron Kuhn, and Jerry Kimmel. Your sweaters are something to be proud of. A group taken from the choir will be singing at the Academy this Sunday evening at the Vesper Service. The public is invited.

Religion Theme Of Sunshiners

By Melissa Fisher

On Dec. 7 the Sunshine Society girls held a meeting in the high school recreation room. Carmon Greiter led the Sunshine song and Nancy Ervin, the creed.

During the short business meeting before the program, the Sunshiners decided to go Christmas caroling on Dec. 17, and to rat Wesson's for a party afterward. Merrie Kay and her Good Cheer committee gave a report on how much our Thanksgiving baskets for the elderly and invalid people were appreciated.

The Sunshine meeting centered on the topic of religion, with Carol Heiser performing a wonderful job as program chairman. As an opening to the program, Shirley Crow and Gloria Bean led the singing of "My Faith Looks up to Thee." Carol then explained the origin of different faiths and how the churches had broken down into smaller sects. Marjorie McGaffey, Gloria Bean, and Shirley Crow each read one of their favorite psalms from the Bible.

Carol conducted a stimulating panel discussion with the members of her committee. Each girl explained the beliefs and customs of several different churches. Sandra Boetsma reported and discussed the Baptists; Sheryl Hohman, the Evangelists; Sherrill Edgington, the Methodists; Barbara Hatten, the Catholics; Barbara Rosebaum, the Protestants; Janet Martin, the Lutherans; Karen Kemple, the Quakers; and Merrie Kay Stoneburner reported on the Jewish faith.

Musicians Work For Top Concert

By Charlene Lucas

"Good Heavens! Where are all these people coming from?" "Oh, there's my aunt and uncle!" "Boy, don't the boys look sharp."

These were a few of the comments I heard floating around the Senior Band as we sat waiting for our Christmas Concert to begin. This was the big day! All of us in the music department had worked many long, hard hours on our music and now the big moment was here.

I could feel the tension mounting higher and higher as we waited. Was this concert ever going to start? That question was not long in being answered. At 3:00 o'clock on the dot, the Junior Band, under Mr. Boyd's expert direction, played the first note that began the concert.

After that the feeling of nervousness I had felt around me seemed to change into one of concentration. Our main thought from then on was in giving those people the best concert we knew how. And when our last note of music had died out and the applause began I'm sure the entire music department felt the way I did. We were glad we had worked hard for this concert, and even though we were relieved when it was over, we all enjoyed every minute of it.

So as we left the gym and headed for our homes, I think I'm safe in saying that every member of our music department had the right to feel good about a job very well done!

CHRISTMAS SHOW BY BAND AT DEC. 20 GAME

By Carol Heiser

The Senior Band will march at the Walkerton vs. Culver basketball game on Dec. 20. The band will present a cute Christmas show, and everyone is urged to come and see it.

Everyone would like to congratulate the Senior Band, Junior Band, and Senior Choir on their excellent performance at the Holiday Concert. We would like to thank all who came to hear the concert. We hope to see you at the Winter Concert.
