"HOOSIER AT LARGE"

The Remarkable Woman Behind Warsaw's Medical Center: Hazel Jameson Murphy

ONE DAY a new salesman called at Warsaw's Murphy Medical Center — a modern, immaculate 70-bed hospital — and asked to see the president, H. J. Murphy.

Directed to the second floor, he found Murphy's small, plain office empty. Nearby an energetic, middle-aged woman was vigorously scrubbing

"Excuse me, ma'm," said the salesman. "Is Mr. Murphy around — or did he leave?"

The plump, motherly "cleaning" woman smiled faintly and twinkle glowed in her expressive brown eyes.

"We have no Mister Murphy," she said gently. "Will I do? I'm I. J. Murphy!"

TO THE SALESMAN, the spectacle of a hospital president scrubbing walls was slightly flabbergasting — but to the townsfolk who know and love her Hazel Jameson Murphy's inconspicuous toil was an old, old story — and the essence of what fulfilled an impossible dream in the face of incredible difficulties.

BEHIND WARSAW'S fine hospital lurks a moving story — but one that couldn't be obtained from Mrs. Murphy, whose inspiring life wrote it. A friend summed it up like this:

"She's shy, reserved, and genuinely modest. She'll duck the story ... or disclaim credit. Get the facts from her friends."

In and near Warsaw, Hazel Murphy's friends are legion so the facts weren't hard to assemble.

FRUSTRATION and sorrow stalked Hazel's early life. Born in Warsaw near the century's turn, he grew up with a yearning to be a nurse — but lacked funds for training after high school.

Then an early marriage failed, left with toddlers June and Joyce to raise, Hazel began working in the early '20s in Dr. Sam Murphy's small, seven-bed hospital in a converted dwelling on respect Hill.

There, at last, Hazel found her niche. Dr. Sam, a dedicated perfectionist, was a crusty, demanding martinet. But he was also a fine physician, superb surgeon — and great teacher.

IN TIME, HAZEL became Dr. Murphy's surgical nurse, Jill-of-all-trades and sturdy right arm. He scrubbed, cleaned, kept books, hired and trained personnel, bought supplies and attended to myriad other details.

The hit musical comedy will be presented in the Eugene C. Eppley Auditorium and tickets are available to the public at $1 each for all of the 8:15 p.m. performances.

Huge Cast Of 56

To fill out the cast that numbers 56, Bill Martin is working with nine Culver youngsters who help make up the singing and dancing chorus. They are: Pat Lutz, Judy Kimmel, Margo Overmyer, Betty Zechiel, Mary Jane Guise, Linda Kose, Lucy Osborn, Cathy Carrothers, and Donna Kay Dawson. Karen Nichols of Plymouth and Bonnie Bollini and Cathy Vorm of North Judson also perform as dancers.

A 22-piece orchestra, conducted by Col. Edward Tilden Payson, includes members of the South Bend Symphony and the cadet band. Virginia Bays has choreographed a half dozen exciting dance numbers and Claude Zetty has served as vocal director.

Lawrence BeBout Revives Interest In CMA Rowing

Crew Star Here 40 Years Ago

What makes a man assume the position of coaching a sport he gave up almost 40 years ago?

Lawrence E. BeBout, who rowed on Culver Military Academy's first crew in 1921 and returned this Spring as coach, says the answer may be one understood only by members of the rowing fraternity.

"In college, crew is one of the most coveted varsity letters," says Larry BeBout. "A school will give out at the end of the year nine varsity letters, nine junior varsity letters, and nine freshmen numerals. That's all — no substitutes. So you don't see many crew letters on campus. I wanted to make sure that the Culver boys interested in going on to college crew have a chance to win those coveted letters."

The whole matter of having Larry BeBout double as the Academy's director of purchases and 1961 crew coach began last summer during a picnic.

Rear Admiral John W. Bays and Captain Robert Bolton, both members of the Academy staff, remarked to Mr. BeBout that Culver needed a crew coach for next year; someone with experience. Wouldn't BeBout consider it?

"I rowed at Culver in 1921 in the first year of crew when our shell was made from pressed paper," remarked BeBout. "I haven't rowed since 1925 in college."

Admiral Bays, who attended Culver with BeBout, remembered that when Syracuse rowed against the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis in 1924, one of the crew members in the Orange boat was his old classmate from Culver. He insisted, but still BeBout balked, pointing out that rowing had changed since 1925 and it wasn't fair to the boys to make him the coach.

"Then one day two cadets came into my office," relates BeBout. "It was Spring and the crews were just beginning to work out. They wanted to know if I knew of anyone who might fill the job" (Continued on Page 2)

Plan Commission Reviews Building Permit Situation

Property Owners Must Take Heed

By PETER D. TRONE

Secretary, Plan Commission

Now that the building season has arrived, the Culver Town Plan Commission is asking the cooperation of all property owners and contractors in conforming to the requirements of the various ordinances applying to planning and zoning.

Particularly important is the necessity to consult the Building Commissioner prior to beginning any construction of new buildings or structures of any kind, except for strictly agricultural uses.

Building Permits Cost $5

Building permits must be obtained before any work is started. Permits for construction of a principal building cost $10, and those for accessory buildings or alteration of existing buildings are $5.

The Building Commissioner will check the proposed use of the structure to see that it conforms with the zoning district in which it is located. He will also verify the setback measurements, the area of the building, and other pertinent requirements.

Boswell Is President

Hampton Boswell, Commission president, says that the plan group is pleased with the fine cooperation of the public, and particularly with the local contractors. Maps and copies of the ordinances are available for inspection at the Town Hall, and at the office of the secretary, Peter D. Trone, 120 North Main Street.

For permits the Building Commissioner Ernest W. Carter, 412 Lake Street, should be contacted.

Commission Members Listed

The Plan Commission has jurisdiction over the entire Lake area and land north and west of Culver, as well as in town.

The group meets the third Tuesday of each month, and other members are Mrs. Jean Williams, A. R. McKesson, Donald Mikesell, John W. Bays, Donald Osborn, Bernard Busart, and Hugo Anderson.

Charles Rhodes Buys Deckard's Big Super Market

James E. McCombs Store Manager

One of the most important transactions in Culver's business history of the past decade took place last week with the purchase of Deckard's Super Market on East Jefferson Street by Charles Rhodes of Mishawaka for an undisclosed sum.

Mr. Rhodes is the successful operator of the chain of Park 'N Shop super markets in South Bend and Mishawaka.

He has already taken possession of his new Culver store of which James E. McCombs of Mishawaka is manager. Another Mishawaka man, Ray Banazak, is in charge of the super market's large meat department.

Roy Deckard, a resident of Kewanee, opened the super market here seven years ago. Through the years Mr. Deckard has won a wide reputation throughout Northern Indiana as a retail merchandising genius.

Deckard's Super Market has attracted customers to Culver from a wide radius including all of Marshall, Starke, Pulaski, and Fulton Counties.

Big Newspaper Advertiser

Mr. Deckard attributes a great deal of his success through consistent and large use of newspaper advertising space announcing the weekly bargains to be found at his establishment. Deckard's full-page advertisements have appeared regularly without a break in each issue of The Culver Citizen for the past seven years and during the past two years the store's same full-page ad was inserted in The Cryer, a weekly supplement to The Citizen, which is circulated among more than 5,000 rural residents and post office boxholders in this four-county area.

A Knox man, who works in Chicago Heights, recently told The Citizen that he not only banks in Culver but that he could save more than $10 a week here on his grocery bill.

Next week The Citizen hopes that photographs of Messrs. Rhodes, McCombs, and Banazak will be available for their further introduction to our community to (Continued on Page 11)

Daniel Miller, Father Of Mrs. Weirick, Dies

Daniel W. Miller, father of Mrs. Erma Weirick of Culver, died at 3:45 p.m. Saturday in South Bend Osteopathic Hospital after a year's illness.

Mr. Miller was born on Dec. 3, 1877, in Elkhart County and was married on Dec. 25, 1898, to Bertha C. Pippenger. He was a former resident of Tyner and Plymouth and a member of the Tyner Odd Fellows Lodge.

Survivors, in addition to Mrs. Weirick, are his wife; two other daughters, Mrs. Goldie Schoemaker, of Tucson, Ariz., and Mrs. Lila Strang, of Plymouth; two sons, Earl Miller, of Stillwell, and Dr. Welcome Miller, of LaPorte; a brother, Asa Miller, of Williamsport, O.; two sisters, Mrs. Lavina Ganger, of Mexico, and Mrs. Susie Lee, of Walla Walla, Wash.; eight grandchildren, and 13 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Tyner Evangelical United Brethren Church, which he attended. Rev. John Davis officiated and burial was in the Tyner Cemetery. The Van Gilder Funeral Home in Plymouth was in charge of arrangements.

BeBout Academy Rowing Coach

as coach, and I suspected that Captain Bolton put them up to it." That same afternoon Larry BeBout called Admiral Bays and accepted.

Almost immediately he jumped into the job of catching up on all the new methods of rowing. Larry headed for Syracuse, N. Y., to spend a day at his Alma Mater with Coach Loren W. Schoel, the man who directed America's championship crew in the last Pan-American games. He observed the Syracuse teams working out in their indoor crew tank, and he talked with other members of Schoel's staff.

Since his return, BeBout has read and re-read the written word on crew to the point that he qualifies as one of Culver's most enthusiastic coaches in many years. For two months he has gone out on Lake Maxinkuckee each day to direct the Academy crews as they work out on an average of six miles daily.

Last Saturday, all of it paid off when Culver's three boats swept two races from Chicago's Weber High School, a team that had beaten the Eagles last year.

But there was more to the victory than winning a race. There is a higher purpose in BeBout's return to crew and it became evident when Weber Coach William Ostendorf, observing the Culver boat as it left the pier, remarked: "That's the first Eastern stroke I've seen in a long time. I see you make your boys stretch out."

"This was my purpose in taking the job as coach," says Larry. "I want our boys to go to college and demonstrate that they know something about rowing. Hundreds of boys turn out at the start of the season and they are lopped off by the dozens — it doesn't take long for a college coach to know if a boy can row. I really feel my job is to give our kids enough knowledge that they have at least a 50-50 chance of making it in college."

SOUTH BEND MAN FINED FOR BOATING VIOLATION

Thomas D. Hazen, 28, of South Bend was arrested by Marshall County Conservation Officer Don Wainwright while boating on Lake Maxinkuckee.

Hazen was ticketed on a charge of having no life preservers in the boat. Wainwright said that there were other passengers in the boat.

Hazen will appear in Justice of Peace Clyde Shively's court in Culver at a later date.

Banks Give Cash Awards For Miss Plymouth Contest

The banks of Marshall County have joined sponsorship and will give cash awards in the amount of $400 to the Miss Plymouth contest as announced today by George Schrickler, a awards committee chairman. $250 will be given to Miss Plymouth, $75 to the first runner-up, $25 to the second, third, and fourth runner-ups.

The banks participating in this combined effort are the State Exchange Bank, Culver and Argos; Farmers State Bank, LaPaz; The First State Bank, Bourbon; Bremen State Bank, Bremen; and the Marshall County Trust and Savings Bank, Plymouth.

In announcing joint sponsorship of the award money being given by the local banks and their organizations, Schrickler pointed out that awarding such a prize to the local contest winners was in keeping with the spirit of recognition of the part women are playing in the progress of virtually every field of endeavor.

"The typical girl," he said, "is not simply the most beautiful, but the girl with talent and ambition to match her God-given beauty. We feel that making it possible for a Marshall County girl to forward her ambition and pursue her chosen career is the finest recognition we can give our local women."

Phyllis Marie Zartman
And Robert L. Calhoun
Are Married In LaPaz

Miss Phyllis Marie Zartman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean L. Zartman, Rural Route, Plymouth, became the bride of Robert Loren Calhoun, son of Mrs. Edith Calhoun, 617 Pearl St., Culver, and the late William Calhoun, at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, April 23, in the Church of God, LaPaz.

The Rev. William Cole of LaPaz officiated for the double-ring ceremony in an atmosphere of candlelight before an altar decorated with bouquets of white gladioli interspersed with palms.

A prelude of nuptial music was played by Mrs. Harley Schaefer, organist. She accompanied Roy Reed, of LaPaz who sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because" preceding the ceremony and "The Wedding Prayer" as the couple knelt for prayer.

Miss Zartman was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was fashioned with a lace bodice which topped a full skirt of alternating ruffles of lace and pleated tulle. The long sleeves tapered to bridal points over her hands. Sequins trimmed the Sabrina neckline. Her only jewelry was a small heart necklace, a gift of the bridegroom. A crown of orange blossoms and pearls held in place her fingertip veil. She carried pink roses on a white Bible.

Attending her sister as maid of honor was Miss Carol Zartman. Miss Lorna Dinkledine, Route 1, Plymouth, was bridesmaid. They were identically attired in ballerine gowns of sheer white nylon embroidered with cascades of aqua flowers. The dresses, styled with scoop necklines and short sleeves, were accented by cummerbunds of aqua taffeta. Their short veils were attached to small pearl tiaras. They carried colonial bouquets of white carnations centered with pink roses.

Richard Calhoun, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Seating the guests in pews, marked with white bows and greenery, were Ernest Zartman, brother of the bride and Leo Figg, Route 1, Plymouth.

The bride's mother chose a beige sheath dress complemented by beige and brown accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Calhoun wore a blue sheath dress with white accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations and pink roses.

A reception for approximately 175 guests was held in the lounge of the Farmers' State Bank, LaPaz.

Mrs. Danny Young and Miss Anita Young, both of Bourbon, and Mrs. Eugene Baughman of Walkerton presided over the reception table.

The table, decorated with pink candles, was centered by a four-tier cake decorated with pink roses and topped with a miniature bridal couple.

Miss Jo Ann Wicks of LaPaz registered the guests who were present from Rochester, Loganport, Akron, South Bend, Bourbon, Argos, Walkerton, Indianapolis, and Culver.

The misses, Jane McCollough of LaPaz and Jayne Lehman, Plymouth, assisted with the gifts. For her going-away ensemble, the bride chose a gray and white pin-striped suit with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

The bride, a 1958 graduate of LaPaz High School is presently employed by the Farmers' State Bank, LaPaz.

A 1955 graduate of Culver High School, the bridegroom was employed at the same bank prior to entering the armed forces in December of last year. He is stationed at Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas.

Friendship Gardens At Michigan City Open Sunday, May 7

Michigan City, Ind. — The International Friendship gardens will open officially Sunday, May 7.

That's the word from Mrs. Sadie Ehret, gardens manager and sister of the Stauffer brothers, who founded the gardens.

"Because of the early spring," said Mrs. Ehret, "we're opening the gardens a week earlier than Mother's Day. For 25 years in the past, Mother's Day has been the official opening day.

"This year, however, flowers are coming along early despite the two days' snow storm. The real early tulips are already in bloom. The others come along later.

Thousands Of Tulips

"Thousands of tulips will be in bloom by May 7 to welcome visitors to the gardens. People need the freshness of spring flowers in our gardens to remind them the long winter is over."

Lawns in the gardens are rich and velvety because of the spring sun and rain. Trees are in bud. They include every tree native to this area — for tree lovers to admire, like Joyce Kilmer's believers.

Musicals will be presented as usual this year on the island stage. Indications are for a colorful year.

"I thank everyone for their patronage last season," said Mrs. Ehret, "and I hope they will see fit to visit me again. Some people have brought their mothers on Mother's day for 20 years.

THE GIFT that lasts for 365 happy days — a year's subscription to The Culver Citizen. Gift cards are FREE. Only $4 in Indiana; $4.50 out of state.

Spring Leave In Greece

By MELVYN A. ESTEY
Culver Military Academy

Thirteen days in Greece constituted the fulfillment of a long-time dream for one instructor and a sudden and most welcome opportunity for sixteen cadets.

Upon arrival in New York we had the better part of a day free before our plane took off. We took advantage of this situation to pay a visit to the United Nations Building. For most of the cadets this was a new experience and helped create the proper mood for foreign travel.

At Idlewild Airport our total party of one hundred and fifty-two persons assembled, we boarded a Boeing Jet 707, cruised at about 540 miles per hour at 38,000 feet and arrived in Brussels 7½ hours later. After a few hours delay, we left Brussels for Athens, a flight lasting 3½ hours.

Time and space will not permit any detailed account of our experience in Greece where we visited an undetermined number of special buildings, monuments, museums etc. spread over approximately 21 different modern and ancient cities on the mainland and six islands.

Ancient Greece was the focus of our interest mixed as it is in some cases with modern cities such as Athens.

The first real highlight of our experience in Greece consisted of a visit to the Acropolis at Athens, a most impressive spectacle as one approaches the city and one which inspires awe and wonder as one walks through the Propylaea and onto the rocky, slippery hilltop amidst the magnificent ruins of the Parthenon, the Temple of Wingless Victory and Erechthelon with its famous Caryatids better known to Americans as the Porch of Maidens. Here, we learned that Lord Elgin, the well known British archeologist, who moved many fine examples of Greek art to the British museum. Is, for this reason, held in rather low esteem by our very competent Greek guides.

If one can tear his eyes away from the wonders on the Acropolis itself, one can see close under the walls the Theatre of Dionysos, the Stoa of Eumenes, the Odeion of Herod Atticus, the Agora, the Theseion, the Monument of Lysicrates, popularly known because of its shape as Diogenes Lantern and in the distance the impressive columns of the Temple of Olympian Zeus near Hadrian's Arch. This list, by no means complete, gives some indication of the multitude of interesting sights in this small area. While one has a comprehensive view of the city from the Acropolis, a more impressive view of the ancient and modern city is available from the top of the Lycabette, a higher hill with a small crest located outside the business district.

At the cost of denying space to other objects of interest I must point out our very good fortune in that we were in Athens during the full moon and a clear night. Thus, we were privileged to inspect the Acropolis by moonlight, a truly unforgettable experience.

Our bus trip to Delphi over precipitous mountains with narrow roads unprotected by guard rails made it easy for us to believe the guide who said that in the old days the Greeks came to this ancient holy site by boat. Travel through these mountains in the old days was virtually impossible and, of course, tediously slow.

Here, in a beautiful mountain setting too grand for words to describe and nestled under the bare, towering rocky height of Mount Parnassos we find the sanctuary of Delphi. Nowhere else was there brought more vividly to my mind the three fold purpose of the ancient Greek sanctuaries. In close proximity we find the ruins of the stadium which indicated ancient concern for physical fitness, the theatre, which served actually as a site for adult education through drama, and other oratorical presentations, and the Temple of Pythian Apollo dedicated to the spiritual needs of man.

Modern archeologists have been able to determine to their satisfaction the spot where the virgin priestess, the Pythia, presumably under the influence of fumes from the earth uttered the incoherent words translated by priests into prophecies for the benefit of petitioning pilgrims. Despite excavations, archeologists have discovered no likely source of underground fumes and suggest that some form of incense may have been used to put the priestess into a trance.

Delphi, more than a religious center, concerned itself with education, literature, art, trade and politics. A slight stretch of the imagination can reveal Delphi to us as a miniature United Nations. Here the twelve members of the Amphiktyonic League, consisting of cities located between Mount Olympus and the Gulf of Corinth, took a solemn oath to respect each other's cities. Later, the league expanded and representatives from member states met here in the spring and the fall to discuss current problems of general concern. Here, many powerful cities maintained treasury buildings — the Treasury of Athens is now the best preserved of these buildings.

What else does one think of while drinking in the glories of ancient Greece? While examining the many beautiful acropolises dominating the Greek countryside, it occurred to me that, after all, their basic purpose was protection. Briefly, I thought of American hilltops crowned by radar towers. The purpose may be the same but the contrast is appalling. I prefer the glories of Greece and can hardly wait to return.

SOME 3,700,000 U. S. workers are now holding down two full-time jobs.

REMC's are community builders!

Like most other businesses, rural electric cooperatives have trained employees — to build and maintain power lines, drive trucks, answer telephones, figure payrolls and taxes. All REMC employees are local people, working and buying in their home communities.

817 employees earn $4,071,209.00 annually, working for REMC's here in Indiana. They use their earnings to buy food, clothing and homes from merchants on Main Street. They support their communities by giving time, energy and money to churches, schools and civic organizations.

REMC power brings business to Main Street. Research done by a leading farm publication shows that Indiana farm families plan to purchase the following electric appliances in 1961:

9,000 clothes dryers	6,300 coffee pots
15,000 washers	7,000 ranges
7,000 vacuum cleaners	8,500 TV sets
9,000 refrigerators	6,500 irons
3,500 mixers	7,000 fry pans
3,000 radios	7,000 freezers

And these figures do not include purchases planned by suburbanites.

As rural people increase their use of electricity, new jobs are created and new income put into circulation.

Crops, Livestock, Men and Women, Need Phosphate

Farmers Advised To Buy Stock

By ROGER W. BABSON
No. 1 U.S. Economist

Babson Park, Mass. — Every time it rains, anywhere, the water washes out much of the soil's goodness. It seeps through the ground to the rivers, and thence to the sea. As a result the ocean is constantly getting richer and the land is getting poorer.

During millions (or billions) of years this has been taking place. A small bay (now a part of West Central Florida) became a great chemical caldron. Here were "cooked" certain clays, chemicals, and the countless bones of animals, from microscopic arthropods and fish to great mammals including elephants and mastodons and even huge whales.

"Cooked" Millions Of Years
The final result of the chemical reaction from these millions of years of "cooking" is what we now call "phosphate."

When mixed with the nitrogen of the air and the potash of the ocean this phosphate is able to replace the "goodness" of the soil which has been washed out.

Hence, has followed the mining of Florida phosphate. With the addition of nitrogen and potash this mixture is sold as "fertilizer." Originally this fertilizer was sold only for use on the old farms and plantations of our 13 original states.

For years the lands of the Midwest continued to have enough "goodness" to raise crops without fertilizers; but now the demand for this Florida fertilizer is gradually extending westward toward the Rocky Mountains.

It has been found that this phosphate is essential not only to crops, plants, and livestock, but also to men and women.

A man weighing 150 pounds must have within him 1½ pounds of phosphate in order to keep in good health.

A pregnant woman is very dependent upon phosphate in order to assure her baby good bones and teeth. Such a woman knows that otherwise the unborn child is robbing the mother's teeth, causing decay. In fact, children living near the phosphate mines have no cavities in their teeth.

Furthermore, the fluorine which great cities are now adding to their drinking water comes from Florida phosphate.

Today phosphate is in demand not only for fertilizer; but also as additives for over 100 different foods.

Baking powder, prepared flour, table salt, water softeners — and even tooth paste and the head of the common match.

Industrially, phosphate finds its way into many diversified industries; in the making of aluminum, steel, and textiles; as an additive for gasoline and motor oils; also in the manufacture of photographic film and thousands of other products.

Certainly we could buy no orange juice until phosphate was fed to the trees.

As a result the phosphate industry has grown from a $100,000 business 75 years ago to a more than $100 million operation annually today, employing thousands of workers.

Although some phosphate is found in Tennessee and in Utah, and foreign countries, yet two-thirds of the world's supply now comes from Florida.

Phosphate Firms Listed
I understand that the original company is the American Agricultural Chemical Co., which was started by the father of the industry, Peter B. Bradley of New England; next we find the International Minerals & Chemical Co., which has been developed by Louis Ware and his able son Thomas.

Among the other eight are the Virginia-Carolina Chemical, the American Cyanamid, and the Davison plants now operated by W. R. Grace & Co., as well as the large packers such as Swift, Armour, and others.

Not only is phosphate essential to life of all kinds, but it is the basis of a growing business.

An increased demand for fertilizer should continue almost forever. The Florida supply should last 80 years.

A Good Investment
Every farmer who uses fertilizer may well buy a few shares of the stock of one of these listed companies. See your broker or local banker for price, dividend, etc. Incidentally, phosphates should be one of the very best hedges against inflation.

CLASSIFIED AD IN CITIZEN BRINGS GENEROUS REPLY FROM POLITICAL LEADER

Several weeks ago The Citizen's publisher inserted the following classified ad in this Independent Republican newspaper:

"LOST. Tie clasp in shape of Indiana. Treasured because it was a personal gift from Alex M. Campbell, Democratic national committeeman from Indiana."

The beautiful tie clasp has arrived safely and we thank our good friend for his generosity and also for again demonstrating the pulling power of the want ads in this newspaper.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

A "Tidy" Problem

Red Dolan dropped by the Widow Parker's last week to drive her to the depot. She was leaving on her annual month-long visit with her sister.

"Land sakes the folks in this town are nice," she said. "You're the fourth person that's offered me a ride today and I've already arranged to go with Mrs. Phillips. But, Red, there is one thing you can do for me."

"You name it," says Red. "Well," she replied, "in some diplomatic way would you let my nice friends know they won't do me a favor if they come in and house-clean for me. They did last year and it took me three days to get things back to rights."

From where I sit, some folks start out with good intentions and end up interfering. We may not agree with the way our friends fix up their homes and they may not agree with our preference for beer with meals, but these are choices we each have a right to make. Respect for them is the biggest "favor" of all.

Dining Hall At Academy Again Makes Headlines

Campus Landmark 50 Years Old

(Typographical errors in last week's paper apparently caused by type lice, since nobody would admit responsibility, caused this historical item on page 1 to become badly garbled. It is reprinted this week at the request of a reader who attended the notable event 50 years ago.)

The "Way Back When" column of many Hoosier newspapers during the past few days have carried a Culver item of 50 years ago which should be of great interest locally.

Typical is this April 15, 1911 item reprinted in The Indianapolis Times:

"Governor and Mrs. Thomas R. Marshall and Meredith Nicholson were in Culver where the Governor delivered an address at the dedication of the new mess hall at Culver Military Academy."

Last week's Citizen published this April 20, 1911 item:

"Easter weekend, which included the opening of the new $125,000 mess hall, brought great crowds to the Academy."

Colorful Governor Here

It will be recalled that Tom Marshall later became Vice-President of the United States under President Woodrow Wilson. The colorful Columbia City lawyer is well remembered for his classic remark: "What this country needs most is a good 5-cent cigar."

Famous Author Also Present

Meredith Nicholson became one of Indiana's famous literary giants and one of his best-sellers, "The House of A Thousand Candles," was written right here on the East Shore of Lake Maxinkuckee.

$1 Million Cost Today?

It is estimated that the 50-year-old building, now referred to as the dining hall on the campus, would today cost at least $1 million to construct.

HERMAN H. YOUNG IN CAR-TRUCK ACCIDENT MONDAY AFTERNOON

The Marshall County sheriff's department investigated a car-truck accident at 3:15 p.m. Monday, May 1, at the west edge of Plymouth on U.S. 30.

According to Deputy Sheriff Deane Baker, the operator of the 2½ ton truck, Herman H. Young, 65, of Route 2, Culver was attempting to make a left-hand turn into a private drive, when a car operated by G. P. Lawson, 37, of Crown Point, started to pass the truck. The auto struck the left side of the truck.

Baker said that Lawson failed to see the left turn signal of the truck. No one was injured. Estimated damage to the truck was listed at $400 and $200 to the car.

ACADEMY FLEET OF TRUCKS TAKING ON ACADEMY COLORS

As part of "Operation Facelift," employees of the Motor Pool are painting the Academy's fleet of trucks.

Gone are the tired-green and Army-brown of yesteryear. Instead, most of the Academy vehicles are being painted the Culver colors of maroon and white. Bumps and scrapes are being removed as part of the rejuvenation effort by Motor Pool employees John Ely and Bill Wagoner.

Ely says nine vehicles have been completed and possibly 11 more will be finished by sometime in May.

The purposes — better maintenance and to make all Academy-owned vehicles look alike.

INEVITABLY, HAZEL and Sam fell in love and were married — after the death of Dr. Murphy's mother, a stern, possessive woman who had been loathe to relinquish her son while alive.

Inevitably, too, Hazel and Sam came to share an ambitious dream as growth bulged their tiny old hospital on Prospect Hill "Some day," said Dr. Sam, "we'll erect a superb, ultra-modern medical center, equipped with the best of everything. We can build it in stages . . ."

THE DAY FOR the first stage arrived in 1939. On a big site with ample room for expansion, a 25-bed hospital was started. Typically, Sam poured virtually all his resources into the structure — about $300,000.

The strain of building atop a staggering practice took its toll. In 1940, Dr. Murphy went to the famed Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minnesota, left most of an ulcerous stomach, and brought home an idea.

"SURGERY at Mayo's is terrific," said Dr. Sam. "We're going to change our plans and copy it exactly in our own hospital."

Which they did . . .
A year later the first stage of their dream was completed and Hazel and Sam toiled hard and happily in the sparkling new hospital . . . unaware of dark days that lurked ahead.

NIPSCO Tax To Marshall County Totals $88,490

A spring tax installment of almost $4 million ($3,952,430.42) in real estate and personal property taxes was paid last week by Northern Indiana Public Service Company as its contribution toward the continued successful operation of schools, cities, and towns throughout the northern third of the state, including Culver, Dean H. Mitchell, NIPSCO president, has revealed.

"The payment represents an increase of $338,846.69 over last year's installment," Mitchell said, "making us one of the largest single taxpayers in the state of Indiana."

John E. Nickoloff, Plymouth district manager, said that local taxes paid by the utility in the Plymouth area amounted to $137,272.00 of which $34,811.59 went to Starke County; $13,970.15 went to Fulton County; and $88,490.26 went to Marshall County. The city of Plymouth received $45,810.90; the city of Knox received $6,810.21; and the city of Rochester received $6,337.64.

NIPSCO tax checks were sent to local district managers well ahead of the tax payment deadline to make sure county treasurers received them in plenty of time.

Fire Extensively Damages Home Of J. Richard Behmer

Fire of undetermined origin caused extensive damage to the farm home of the J. Richard Behmer family located on West 14th B. Road, five miles northeast of Culver at 12:26 p.m. Wednesday, April 26.

Mrs. Behmer said she was working in the kitchen when she heard a noise and went outside to investigate. She said the entire roof at the east end of the frame house was ablaze.

After notifying the Culver fire department, she called her husband who was working at a neighbor's farm. The Behmers, with the help of several neighbors, were able to remove all of the furniture from the downstairs before the fire department arrived. The blaze gutted four rooms upstairs and destroyed clothing, and bedroom furniture.

Fire Chief Dave Burns said the fire was out of control when the trucks of the Culver Volunteer Fire Department arrived and the blaze had spread through the roof and walls of the structure. The loss was covered by insurance.

Academy Sports

Culver Military Academy's two-mile relay team established a record at the Delphi Relays, the Eagle crew opened its season on a successful note, and Coach Ery Nelson's golf team gave the Notre Dame Freshmen a tight match before losing 10-8.

Those were the results of week-end sports activity at the Academy where wet grounds forced postponement of a baseball game and tennis match with St. John's Military Academy.

Culver finished third in the Delphi Relays behind Fort Wayne South Side and Hobart. But Coach Norman Miner and his team were elated over Culver's time of 8:28.2 that erased six-year-old record in the two-mile event. Marion did an 8:29.0 in 1955.

The Eagles were paced in the record-setting event by co-captain Edward Hayward, who established a 15-yard lead when he ran his best time of 2:02.6 for the first half mile. This time is believed to be one of the fastest run in Indiana this year. John Wheat, Frank Parker and co-captain Dick Tucker maintained the lead set for them to finish with approximately a 15-yard victory over South Side and Hobart.

The Academy crew gave new coach Lawrence E. BeBout a clean sweep in his first meet by defeating Weber High School of Chicago over the mile-long Lake Maxinkuckee course. The varsity teams also closed out Weber in a reserve race.

At South Bend, the Eagle golfers were placed by Jeff Steinberg's 78 and came close to defeating the Notre Dame freshmen. Other Culver winners were Ralph Lindgren, Bob Horton and Glenn Rogers.

This weekend the Culver crew is at Lafayette to race the Purdue freshmen, the golf and baseball teams are at Griffith High School, and the track team hosts Napoleon High at Culver.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

One of the major headline making issues on Capitol Hill is to raise the minimum wage to $1.25 per hour and include under the law retail and service trade workers.

There are many facets to this issue, but with the great American sin of over-simplification, probably nurtured by the fact in Western horse operas, there is always a "good guy" and a "bad guy," the antis and pros of this measure are tagged in two categories. Those opposed are die hard reactionaries trying to drag America backward. Those supporting are liberal progressives seeking to move America forward. Obviously, neither position is completely right.

The nation's independent businessmen, voting through the National Federation of Independent Business, have opposed raising, or extending scope, of minimum wage law.

By and large, the reasoning appears to be, what good can be accomplished except perhaps in a few very isolated instances. For example, what family can lead the abundant life if paid only $1.25 for a 40 hour week. Or again, who can hire reliable help at $1.25 per hour today. Thus, what good would be accomplished?

On the other hand, recognizing there may be some isolated instances of very low paid labor, is it wise to burn down the barn to destroy a few rats?

A far greater consideration is tied up with the growing problem that is somewhat loosely termed juvenile delinquency.

It is natural for youth to have energy. It is also natural to a large segment of youth to use up some of that energy in doing something they feel useful. For example, a large part of the men now engaged in the communications industry in some phase started out doing part time work in a print shop, washing up presses. Many men in all walks of life today first learned feeling of having their own pocket money, first learned good work habits, doing odd jobs around garages, stores, shops, other enterprises.

Actually, nobody is born with good work habits. This is something that must be learned. A youth who grows up without learning good work habits runs the danger of being fit only to be a bum or a bureaucrat.

But many businessmen report they do not feel they can give odd jobs to what could be enterprising youth even at the present minimum wage level of $1 per hour, to say nothing of all the forms that have to be filled with bureaucrats.

Businessmen report they have jobs that boys, or even severely handicapped people could perform if they could legally pay at a rate commensurate with the lack of work experience. But when faced with paying even $1 per hour, they are better off paying $2 per hour to casual adult laborer who knows how to work with minimum of supervision. Thus, raising the minimum wages promises to accomplish little, if any good, but a vast amount of harm to nation's most valuable asset . . . it's youth.
