Brilliant Phi Beta Kappa Girl, Often Naked, Became "Diana of the Dunes"

FOR AGES I've itched to unearth the real story of Diana, a strange and idyllic gal who once roamed Indiana's wild, secluded dunes along Lake Michigan — often naked.

There are two ways to get such a story — dig it yourself the hard way, or find someone who has already sifted truth from legend and fact from fancy.

I FOUND JOAN JANDA. Most people who hunt historical oddities are sedate and elderly. Joan is 26, a pert, pretty Hobart teacher whose specialty is remedial reading. She's as energetic and modern as an atom bomb — scarcely the type to prowling the past.

"What put you on Diana's trail?" I asked. "A summer job — and a careless statement," laughed Joan.

DURING COLLEGE, Joan worked one summer in the Gary library's history section. One day, filing old clippings, she read some stories about Diana with mild interest.

Three years later, idly listening to a radio interview about the dune country, she heard a so-called authority shrug off a question about Diana like this: "Oh — she was just a legend!"

"She was not a legend — she was a real person," snapped Joan. "By golly, I'll prove it."

THAT SUMMER Joan did. She searched library and newspaper files. She quizzed old timers who remembered Diana, visited Diana's haunts and her now-neglected grave in Oak Hill Cemetery. Bit by patient bit she put together the strange, pathetic story of a strange, pathetic woman.

ALICE GRAY, daughter of a prominent Chicago doctor, grew up in a comfortable, cultured home. She had a sister and two brothers, and theirs was a normal, happy family.

A brilliant girl, Alice was graduated from the University of Chicago and even made Phi Beta Kappa. Some reports say she traveled and studied in Europe two years before taking a secretarial job.

Alice was small, shapely and lithe. She had visited the Dunes, and loved nature. In 1915, in her early 20s, the inner Alice grew troubled and discontented. She hated the city and the sham of the social world.

No one is sure why. Some blame it on a shattering love affair. In an early interview, Alice put it like this:

"I wanted a life of my own — a free life. The life of a salary earner in the cities is slavery, a constant fight to live. Here life is so different. My salary when I worked was nothing extraordinary, but here I have lived all

Herman Knoerzer Dead At 38 In Truck Accident

Culver Man In Highway Tragedy

HERMAN A. KNOERZER Had Planned To Take Position Locally

Herman A. Knoerzer, age 38, Route 2, Culver, was killed at 4:50 a.m., July 12, in an accident which occurred on U.S. 41 near Lowell in Lake County.

The semi tractor he was driving struck the rear of a truck driven by Donald Humes, 37, of Route 1, Fort Payne, Ala., causing huge steel coils to shift forward, crushing Knoerzer in the cab which immediately caught fire.

He had been a driver for Steel Transport Inc. of Chicago only a few months, and had resigned his job, effective last weekend, to work as a mechanic for Snyder Motor Sales of Culver.

World War II Veteran Was Born In Hammond Herman Arthur Knoerzer was born Sept. 28, 1922. He moved with his family to Rensselaer when a small child, attended school there, graduating from high school. He served in the Army during World War II for about three years, nine months of which he spent overseas in the European Theater.

On April 27, 1944, he was married to Miss Joan Drudge of Jasper County, who survives him. They moved to Culver from the Winamac area in 1953.

Other survivors are two sons, Nick and Richard, both at home; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman N. Knoerzer, Rensselaer; two brothers, Alfred, Indianapolis, and James, Rensselaer; five sisters, Mrs. Marjorie Wagner, Crown Point; Miss Bobbette Knoerzer, San Diego, Calif.; Mrs. Rose Marie Barrientos, Van Wert, Ohio; Mrs. Sylvia Sanders, Michigan City; and Mrs. Mildred Whitcraft, Rensselaer.

Operated Marathon Station Mr. Knoerzer was a member of St. Mary's of the Lake Catholic Church, the Culver American Legion Post, and the Culver V.F.W. Post. He operated the Marathon service station at the corner of Main and Jefferson Streets for a number of years and later headed the service department at the former Snyder Chevrolet Sales.

Funeral services were held at 9 a.m. Saturday at St. Mary's of the Lake Church with the pastor, Rev. Joseph A. Lenk, officiating. Pallbearers were Roy D. Price, Richard Woodward, Everett Martin, Joseph Hartman, Robert Wynn, and Robert Hall. Burial was at Mount Calvary Catholic Cemetery at Rensselaer.

The Easterday Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements where the Rosary was recited at 8 p.m. Friday.

Three Culver High School Teachers Resign

Eugene Benedict, Trustee of The Culver-Union Township School, announces the resignation of three of the school's fine teachers. The three who have recently tendered their resignations are Robert Boyd, the popular young band director; Nancy Flites who had just finished in fine style her first year as home economics teacher; and Sandra Keyser, a highly competent first grade teacher.

Mr. Boyd put his case fairly when he stated that he simply bumped into a job that was too good for him to turn down; hence, Salem High School, Salem, Indiana, has gained at Culver's expense. Both Mrs. Keyser and Mrs. Flites tendered their resignations for family reasons.

It goes without saying that these three fine members of the school faculty will be missed by the students, the other members of the faculty, and certainly by the parents of the community.

C. of C. Pier Now Marked By New Sign

The Chamber of Commerce courtesy pier is now well marked by a new sign for lake residents and visitors who wish to shop by boat.

The pier is located at the West end of the Town Park near Bill Anderson's piers, near the Washington Street viaduct.

Many people have asked for such a service in the past, so the Chamber recognized the need about three years ago and constructed this 12-section pier.

The Chamber urges anyone to make use of it free of charge when shopping in Culver and asks your cooperation in docking there only for the time necessary to shop.

Next to the Churches a newspaper is a town's most valuable asset. — Roger W. Babson.

SUGGESTS DIRECTIONAL SIGNS AT JUNCTION OF HIGHWAYS 110 AND 117

A longtime East Shore Drive summer resident, a modest person who shuns publicity, has made the suggestion that Culver officials have signs placed at the intersection of Roads 110 and 117, southeast of town, to guide strangers to Culver, East Shore Drive, and the Culver Military Academy.

She states that a great many summer residents and patrons of the Academy come to Culver via that route and are confused as there are no signs to mark the way.

High Calling Of Our Younger Generation

The lofty ideals of the Christian religion which have raised the standards of civilization during the past 2000 years, have no appeal to the leaders of Communist countries. Force, not faith, appeals to these dictators, who are trying to turn the world around and lead it back to paganism.

The western world has before it the task of defending itself from the evils of the red conquest without sinking to the level of its opponents on the stage of the twentieth century.

We need a revival of the tenets of religion and of education in the highest and best sense.

The west must be strong in spirit as well as in arms. Western man desires to build a splendid temple of freedom in which all human beings can find sanctuary from oppression and the blight of totalitarianism.

The Communist leaders look upon the people as pawns. They are not given free choice. They are not allowed to use the democratic processes.

The free world and the Communist bloc face each other across a great divide. It is the high calling of our generation to demonstrate to our younger generation that right is mightier than all the hosts of error.

It is our privilege to prove that the race is going forward and not backward.

Retreat is death — death of the spirit, death of the lofty ideals, death of all the brightest dreams of man throughout his long and eventful history.

We cannot and will not retreat.

"Of Thee I Sing" Begins Two-Week Run At Playhouse

Musical Comedy Is Smash Hit!

"Of Thee I Sing," George Gerahwin's Pulitzer Prize winning musical comedy opened a two-week run Tuesday night at Maxinkuckee Playhouse with an unusually receptive audience on hand to watch this musical ribbing of American politics.

Martha Garner Is Guest Actress
Martha Garner returns to the Playhouse for her second guest appearance of the season to portray the Southern belle, Diana Devereaux. Her performance is witty and delightful.

Maxinkuckee audience favorite Bob Moak is seen as the shy and rather ineffectual vice-president Alexander Throttlebottom. As always, his performance was enjoyable.

Playhouse set designer Bill Akin steps before the footlights to give sparkling life to a Southern senator, while John Hess appears as a politician from the wild West. Paul Rutledge is the talkative Senator Fulton, and Dan Weaver and Diane Turner are seen as his cohorts.

Ernie Hill Featured Dancer
Ernie Hill is featured in a special dance number that is a highlight in the Maxinkuckee Playhouse production. "Of Thee I Sing." Marie Mastruserio is also featured in several of the numbers that make this show one of America's favorites.

Vaughn McBride is featured as the French Ambassador who journeys to Washington to demand justice and Irene Myers is seen as the White House guide. Brent Brafford and David Stearns have roles as political reporters covering the election events.

"Of Thee I Sing" includes such musical favorites as "Love Is Sweeping the Country," "Who Cares," and "Wintergreen for President." Also included in the successful Maxinkuckee Playhouse production of the show are "Strike Up the Band" and "Someone To Watch Over Me."

Patriotic Settings By Akin

"Hoosier At Large"

winter and summer on my last paycheck. I buy only bread and salt.

WHATEVER HER real reasons, Alice fled civilization and came to the then-wild dunes east of Gary in the fall of 1915 with the clothes she wore, a glass, knife, spoon, blanket, and two guns.

For a few days the sky was her roof, the sand her bed. Then she found an abandoned fisherman's shack and moved in. She fashioned some "furniture" of driftwood, added a few utensils and philosophical books, and spent the winter in seclusion and meditation.

ALICE GRAY'S troubles began when spring awakened the dunes and warmed Lake Michigan. She loved to swim. Each morning she biked to the beach, shed her clothes and plunged in.

Emerging, she disported nymph-like on the beach until dry, or sunbathed awhile — a nude-bronzed goddess.

Inevitably, Miller fishermen soon clustered off Alice's beach. Their wives got wise and one marched righteously to the hussy's hermit shack to protest.

GUN IN HAND, Alice warned her away.

In time, fishwife gossip reached Chicago papers, Alice's retreat soon crawled with reporters. She talked to one, pleading to be understood and left alone.

That story, in which she told why she came to the dunes, was sympathetic. The others — mostly made-up hokum — appalled this shy, sensitive girl. They had her flitting nymph-like and naked through woods and dale.

They put words in her mouth.

and love affairs in her past — and they tagged her with a name she never shed, Diana of the Dunes.

WORSE, THESE STORIES lured peckers and curiosity seekers — and more reporters. Diana's life became a hell of dodging and hiding.

Gradually this early uproar subsided, World War I flamed, and Diana was forgotten. That suited her perfectly. She swam (still nude), roamed the dunes, studied nature, meditated and, with dogs and guns, guarded her privacy.

To buy essentials, she sold wild berries. Her clothes, when she wore clothes, were crude but serviceable. Most of her trips to town were made for food and library books. Among people, she was shy and reserved.

But she wasn't earthy, mean, or halmy. Those who knew her remember Diana's pleasant, melodious voice, her invariable courtesy, her gentle manner.

THOSE WERE DIANA'S few happy years.

Then she found a mate, and together they became embroiled in a murder and tragic violence.

We'll tell you about it in next week's Culver Citizen.

Real Estate Now Fastest Growing Industry

Motels Becoming "Big Business"

By ROGER W. BABSON
 No. 1 U. S. Economist

Babson Park, Mass. — Let's discuss the fabulous motel industry this week. Perhaps it continues to be America's fastest growing industry from a money-invested standpoint; but the number of new individual motels declined in 1960.

Roger W. Babson

Motels are becoming "big business" and from an investment standpoint may now be classified with hotels. Motels, now, are hotels laid on their sides!

Let me venture to say that real estate has become our fastest growing industry.

Sir Isaac Newton's Law

The first English translation of Sir Isaac Newton's Law of Action and Reaction — upon which the theory of the Economic Cycle and the business of most investment counseling are based — was made in 1729.

In those days, this cycle practically applied only to gold and real estate. The price of gold has since become controlled by the Federal Government; but the cycle theory still applies to real estate.

I personally believe that we may have passed the peak of the present real estate cycle.

Of course, the general condition of business always has a profound effect on the real estate situation — housing in particular.

No Economic Boom Probable

Since I fear that no great economic boom is now probable, the immediate future of real estate must depend upon other factors. One of these is the availability and cost of money. Another is the cost of new building. Neither of these factors is now helpful to real estate.

Regularity Of Cycles

Another thing to remember is that the regularity and balance of cycles in real estate activity are especially pronounced. Upward and downward swings tend to match, in both intensity and duration.

But according to Sir Isaac Newton's Law, it is the product of the intensity and duration which must ultimately balance.

As the intensity of the recent real estate boom has been rather magnified, then the duration of the following slump may be greater than expected. This is contrary to most reasoning, but this is Newton's Law.

Overextension and retrenchment are psychological human forces which cannot be measured.

Another human factor is the large number of people reaching the age of 20, which means more marriages. This will call for more rented houses and small apartments.

The big home buying age is 30-35. The percentage of Americans reaching these ages has begun to decline.

Home Ownership Growing

There is, however, a growing trend toward home ownership, especially homes in the suburbs. This figure is now 60%. Hence, rental price rises have fallen below the cost-of-living advance.

Foreclosures have been increasing in certain new subdivisions. Office buildings continue in demand, with vacancies of not over 2%.

Higher Income For Farmer
 Since the Kennedy Administration's policies should result in higher income for the farmer, I expect a further rise in farm land prices — especially land near cities, both large and small.

The old advice: "Buy by the acre and sell by the foot" is still good.

Also remember that each city is growing fastest in some one direction — it may be "east" or "west" or "south."

Before speculating in vacant land, there are certain facts you should get:

Determine the current land values and prices in the area, tax rates, and appraisal methods, new roads and highways approved for construction (as well as those in the proposal stage), all pertinent construction plans by Government and private enterprise, the growth rate in the area as compared with other sections of the country.

You must guess: The length of time before land appreciation will take place, the possibility of being isolated by highways not yet proposed, the danger of sharp tax-rate boosts, the future cost of utilities, likelihood of industrial expansions, and future prospects for existing industries.

In Summary: Real estate investment at this time can still be sound — particularly in relation to many other profit ventures — but the absence of any evidence of a great new boom makes it more important than ever for you to select your vacant-land investment with great care.

Final Thought: Remember how fast interest and taxes pile up!

Brenda Lee At Indiana Beach Saturday, July 22

Brenda Lee, "Television's Biggest Little Star," will make her debut on Lake Shafer near Monticello, Ind., in the Indiana Beach Ballroom, Saturday, July 22.

Behind the voice and photogenic charm of Brenda Lee, is a personality as bewitching as it is genuine. Although this brown-eyed, brown-haired little mite stands just a shade over four feet tall, she sings in a voice that is surprisingly deep and husky for one so young and possesses a volume and intensity that has amazed and pleased millions of TV viewers who have seen her.

Although her frequent TV appearances on the Perry Como and Steve Allen shows, and her hit recordings make her a sought-after celebrity wherever she appears, she insists on being considered as one of her own age group, and resents anyone's attempts to lionize her. Her earnings run into six digits a year, but her spending money is limited to $2.50 per week with the remainder going into a savings account to fulfill her ambition to become a doctor when she is grown up.

Being one of the biggest attractions at Indiana Beach this summer the management anticipates a record breaking crowd. She will put on two shows with the accompaniment of the Dick Halleman Orchestra now playing nightly in the resort ballroom.

 The vital importance of the inspired Word of the Bible will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Truth."
 From Romans this passage will be read (15): "For whatsoever things were written aforetime were written for our learning, that we through patience and comfort of the scriptures might have hope."
 Correlative citations will include the first tenet of Christian Science: "As adherents of Truth, we take the inspired Word of the Bible as our sufficient guide to eternal life" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, P. 497).
 The Golden Text is from Psalm 27: "I will praise thee, O Lord, among the people: I will sing unto thee among the nations. For thy mercy is great unto the heavens, and thy truth unto the clouds."

 The campers followed a full schedule during the week, starting at 8:15 each morning and extending into late afternoon. However, some time was allotted each day for organized and impromptu social and recreational activities. They lived in the residence halls on the campus under adult supervision.
 Culver students enrolled in this camp, with their assignments, were Larry R. Linhart, Rt. 2 (Cornet, Meurer Concert Band) and Carol L. Overmyer (Bass Clarinet, Meurer Concert Band).

BASS LAKE RE-STOCKED WITH 32,000 BASS
 If only 10 per cent of them survive the rigors of churning propellers and the vigor of other carnivorous fish, there should be enough large mouth bass in Bass Lake next year to provide loads of fun for better anglers.
 The Indiana Department of Conservation re-stocked the lake on Friday, July 7, with 32,000 little fish, releasing them in several different spots about the shoreline.
 The bass were of fingerling size, and were obtained from federal fish hatcheries for release in Indiana waters. Bass Lake was one of the primary beneficiaries of the current shipment. — The Starke County Democrat.

Indians Defeat Tippey For Eighth Win

By EARL D. MISHLER
The Culver Indians rallied for three runs in the sixth inning Monday evening to defeat Tippecanoe here, 10 to 7. The victory was Culver's eighth in ten games and solidified their hold on second place in the Marshall County league.

Sam Lowry, pitching 2 1/2 innings in relief of starter Jim Carter, blanked the visitors over that span and received credit for his fifth victory of the season. Tippey had jumped off to a 4-0 lead after two innings, but the big bats of Coach Gene Crosley's side exploded for five runs in the third. The Police Dogs tied the score in the fifth at 7-7, but Lowry came in to quickly shut off the rally.

Singles by Carter, Lowry, and Paul White, plus two Tippey errors and Rick Ervin's second sacrifice fly gave Culver the winning runs in the sixth.

Lowry also led the offense with 3 for 4, while White had 2 for 4 and 3 RBI's.

No home games are left on the schedule, although two road games and two make-up games remain before the playoffs. Culver has an excellent chance to qualify for the playoffs which are open to the top four teams in the County standings.

PAUL SWEARINGEN REPORTS MARSHALL COUNTY BOND SALES

A report to Paul Swearingen, chairman of the Marshall County U. S. Savings-Bonds Committee, reveals that the county's Savings Bonds sales for June were $42,540.00 compared with $46,672.00 for the corresponding month of 1960. Sales for the State continued to show increases over a year ago, June's state sales being $10,132,828 and $9,757,008 for June of last year — an increase of 3.9 per cent.

Forty-eight of Indiana's ninety-two counties reported increased Savings Bonds sales for June. A study of county sales fails to disclose a trend between the farming and industrial communities as both classifications participated in the gain and loss columns.

Culver Chapter Of Tri Kappa Sorority Announces Eleven New Members

Tri Kappa Sorority met at the home of Mrs. Walter J. Muehlhausen, 2002 East Shore Drive, Monday evening.

Formal initiation was held for the 11 new members of Epsilon Nu Chapter. Six of them were daughters of members: Susana Moore Bolton, Mrs. Margaret Ann (Middleton) Curtis, Kathleen Kranning, Susan Muehlhausen, Barbara Jane Rust, and Mary Esther Todd.

Other new members are Mesdames Fred E. Adams, Charles W. Crowe, Joseph N. Clyne, James Piersol, and Maurice E. Nelson.

Mrs. Lester C. Snyder and her co-chairman, Mrs. Orville Phelps, had charge of the impressive ritualistic initiation rites, assisted by Mrs. Clarence Bair, Mrs. George Ogden, Mrs. Walter J. Muehlhausen, and Mrs. Chester W. Cleveland.

Throughout the attractive Muehlhausen home arrangements of white carnations and white gladioli were used most effectively. Delicious refreshments were served from an oval table covered with a handsome lace cloth centered with a beautiful crystal and silver centerpiece filled with all white mums, carnations, and gladioli. Two tall silver candelabras completed this most effective and lovely table setting.

Mrs. March W. Haynes presided at the silver coffee service. Assisting the hostesses were Mrs. Melvyn A. Estey, chairman; Mrs. Robert Bolton Jr., Mrs. John W. Henderson, Mrs. Frank M. Dryson, and Mrs. J. Dick Newman.

Mrs. Robert Rust and Mrs. Claude E. Zetty provided the music during the evening.

Many Tri Kappa Visitors
Out-of-town Tri Kappas attending were: Mrs. John Ward, Elwood; Mrs. Harrison A. Smitson, Tipton; Mrs. Robert J. McCutchan, Lebanon; Mrs. Wade C. Harrison, Attica; Mrs. Milton Bishop and Mrs. Henry Wolfe, Logansport; and Mrs. Henry Trueblood of Kokomo, who is the house guest of Mrs. Haynes.

A short business meeting was held after the initiation. It was announced that the benefit bridge party, held on July 12 at four of the members' homes had been well attended and the sorority wishes to thank all who helped to make this bridge benefit a financial success.

Benefit Bridge Party Aug. 9
Another benefit bridge party will take place on Wednesday, Aug. 9; likewise in four of the members' homes. Tickets are available from all local members as well as at The Citizen office.

The statewide organization conducts charitable and scholastic projects in addition to its social activities. Mrs. C. Glenn Coolman is president of the local chapter.

Visits 94-Year-Old Great Uncle and Other Relatives In Pennsylvania

Chester W. Cleveland spent three days last week with relatives in Edinboro and nearby McKean, Pa. Highlight of his visit was again seeing his paternal great uncle, Frank E. Lamson, a remarkable man of 94 whose family founded McKean 109 years ago. Mr. Lamson will be the oldest person in McKean's centennial parade on July 27.

The Citizen's publisher also visited Mr. Lamson's daughter, Elsie, and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Carl McWilliams, in Edinboro. Mr. McWilliams is the new Republican mayor of that city.

Edinboro is the site of a fast growing new state university, a former normal school which was attended by Mr. Cleveland's grandmother, Mrs. Charles S. Cleveland, late Plymouth resident.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

His Father Founded This Newspaper 67 Years Ago
1005 N. Howard St., Glendale, Calif.

Editor, CITIZEN:
That was a most interesting map that Arthur W. O'Keefe, president of the Marshall County Historical Society, sent you stating that Culver was once called Geneva. I had never heard of Geneva. I did know Uniontown, Marmont, Culver City, then Culver.

I also noted in this week's paper that on July 13 The Citizen was 67 years old. And I am happy to say that you have made a great weekly out of the old Marmont Herald that my father, George E. Nearpass II, founded 67 years ago.

Sorry to read of the death of Richard K. Behmer. I knew him for years.

BOB MOAK IS SUPERB IN PLAYHOUSE ROLE

We would like again to pay tribute to the astounding versatility of BOB MOAK, MAXINKUCKEE Playhouse star. His performance as Ayako Asano, a Japanese captain of industry, in last week's play, "A Majority Of One," was flawless! Dorothy Kornmann as Mrs. Jacoby, the feminine lead, was also outstanding in her exacting role.

Mr. and Mrs. Gunnard Newburg and Eileen Quinn of South Bend were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Amold.
