"Diana of the Dunes" Gets Mixed Up In A Grim, Brutal Indiana Murder

(Second Installment)

NO ONE is sure how or exactly when Diana, the nudist nymph of the Indiana dunes, was wooed and won by Paul Wilson, a towering, gangling giant of prodigious strength and volcanic temper.

As near as can be pinpointed, they began sharing a squatter's shack late in 1921, five years after Diana, whose real name was Alice Gray fled civilization for the solitary seclusion of the wild dunes along Lake Michigan.

It was a curious mating of opposites. Diana was small, lithe, dark-haired and almost dainty, despite her crude wild life. Paul was tall, angular, blond and rawboned.

Diana was a cultured, college-educated Phi Beta Kappa — gentle, sensitive, shy and reserved. Paul was scantly schooled, crude, rough and easily angered.

THEIR LOVE WAS STRANGE — but deep and enduring. It carried them with unwavering devotion through great trouble and travail.

How Paul came to Diana is a mystery. His background is shrouded and there are many versions. He was a Texas rattle-snake hunter who read about Diana, fell in love from afar and came to the dunes to win her.

HE WAS AN EX-CONVICT who hoted up in a sand cave and has met her. He was an industrial engineer who met Diana while amping, fell in love and, like his mate, forsook the material world.

Whatever Paul's origin, he was a great comfort to Diana. Tough and handy with fist or gun, he won them greater privacy. He enlarged their shack and their income by fishing and making rustic furniture of sassafras and driftwood.

Together, Paul and Diana might have settled into the secluded obscurity both wanted.

But a grim, brutal murder engulfed them — and led to violence and misery.

EARLY IN JUNE, 1922, some hikers found the gruesome remains of a man who had been trangled or clubbed and then half-cremated on the spot — not far from Diana's retreat.

"Well, I may not have the facts straight, of course, but everything else is true, By George!"

30th Anniversary For The Citizen's Dale Davis

DALE DAVIS
Tops In His Field!

Yesterday, July 25, Dale Davis celebrated his 30th anniversary on The Culver Citizen and as a member of the staff of its job printing affiliate, The Culver Press, Inc.

All of us are in complete agreement that Mr. Davis, as superintendent and shop foreman, is one of the biggest assets of this newspaper and printing establishment.

Through the years he has put "to bed" exactly 1,561 issues of The Citizen, including today's edition. That's quite an achievement in itself!

Praised By Governor
Dale is an expert in typography and as recently as last March he and his associates at The Culver Press were complimented by Governor Matthew E. Welsh who wrote, upon seeing his new oil portrait by Edmund Brucker on the front cover of the Culver-based monthly magazine, Indiana Business and Industry: "It is an excellent likeness and the printer did a fine job."

Specialist In Magazines
Today the several magazines and yearbooks printed at The Culver Press all bear evidence of his great ability and stamp of perfection in this field.

Among other things, Dale has an exceptional mechanical talent — The Culver Press in all these years has never had to call in an outsider to repair a balky Linotype or faulty printing press.

When Dale joined the staff of The Citizen 30 years ago it was located in the frame building on East Washington Street now occupied by the Ideal Cleaners and Jack's Taxi. Since 1946 he has been holding down the fort in The Culver Press's modern and well equipped building — one of the finest medium-sized plants in the State.

It is a real pleasure to be associated with this splendid gentleman in this business of making a living and we all hope that Dale will be around for at least 30 more years!

Services Held Thursday For Dr. Donald Reed

Funeral services for Dr. Donald Reed, prominent and highly respected Culver physician for nearly 30 years, who died unexpectedly just before noon on Tuesday, July 18, at his home on the Lake front, were held last Thursday at the Culver Methodist Church with Rev. Kendall E. Sands, pastor of the church, officiating. Interment was made at the Culver Masonic Cemetery.

Although Dr. Reed had been ill for some time, his death was wholly unexpected and came as

Town and Lake Losing Great Asset!

Bad News! Maxinkuckee Playhouse Is Leaving Culver For Michigan

PAUL RUTLEDGE, left, and DAVID HAGER, co-managers of that marvelous institution known as the Maxinkuckee Playhouse, after 12 successful summer seasons are pulling up stakes here to locate elsewhere where their great talents will have greater opportunities for national recognition. Mr. Rutledge, who has won a fine reputation in the drama department of the University of Cincinnati, will move his theatre operations to Southern Michigan next summer and Mr. Hager will become director of the popular Cleveland (Ohio) Playhouse where his beautiful and talented wife, Sally Noble, will continue to be a star as demonstrated here year after year. What will become of ACTOR BOB MOAK, perennial favorite among Culver theatregoers, is a matter of conjecture but most folks think he belongs on Broadway or in Hollywood.

An era, a wonderful institution, and a way of life will pass out of existence for the Culver area on Aug. 19 when the Maxinkuckee Playhouse permanently closes its doors at the end of its 12th successful season.

Paul Rutledge, owner and founder of the famed Summer Theater, has announced that this will be the final season. The Playhouse will not reopen here next year and the piece of prize property with its valuable easement to Lake Maxinkuckee will be put up for sale.

To Locate In Michigan
Attendance this season continues to rise but surveys show that the audience center is to the north with special emphasis on South Bend. Accordingly Mr. Rutledge, a real genius in his field, will open his new theater in Southern Michigan near the state line.

The Playhouse has a long and exciting history with the first theater being located on the second floor of a large green building along the East Shore (State Road 117) now used for living quarters for the summer stock company and audience lobby.

In those first days the little theater seated only 125 patrons. A row of cabins, located on the ground where the new theater now stands, was used for living quarters.

Martin Tahse and Paul Rutledge, together with the help of an old German theater couple, Mr. and Mrs. H. Pabst, first originated the theater and helped it grow.

Such memorable shows as "Life With Father" and "You Can't Take It With You" demonstrated a need for more space.

Colonel Elliott's Death Casts Pall Over Community

Distinguished Career Is Ended

Memorial services for Col. Allen R. Elliott, age 72, were conducted this morning in the Memorial Chapel at Culver Military Academy.

The well known resident of Culver, associated with Culver Military Academy as a teacher, administrator, and counselor, succumbed to a brief illness late Sunday afternoon.

Dies In South Bend
Though he had not been in robust health his passing came suddenly and unexpectedly. He had been pursuing his many interests among friends and associates as late as Saturday evening. He became quite ill early Sunday morning and in mid-afternoon was rushed to Memorial Hospital at South Bend where he passed away.

COL. ALLEN R. ELLIOTT

Gave 57 Notable Years To Culver Military Academy
Interment rites will be held at Litchfield, Ill., tomorrow. Colonel Elliott was born at Litchfield on October 7, 1888.

CMA Career Began In 1904
His long and distinguished association with Culver Military Academy began in September, 1904, when he enrolled for four years of secondary education. He was graduated in 1908 as cadet captain.

Early English Instructor
In the summer of 1910 he accepted an appointment to the Academy staff as an English instructor, serving in that capacity until leaving for World War I duty in 1917. He was commissioned a lieutenant in 1914, served as a captain, U.S. Infantry, during the war, and was promoted to major in 1918.

Long active in the U.S. Army Reserve Corps before his retirement in 1949, he was commissioned a colonel in 1931.

Returning to the Academy staff in February, 1919, he served as tactical officer-counselor and was named post adjutant in 1931. In 1936 he was named chairman of the Department of Health and Athletics; executive officer in 1938; and director of The Culver Summer Schools in 1940.

Acting Superintendent
Upon the retirement of Col. J. S. Fleet in 1943, Colonel Elliott was named acting superintendent of Culver, serving as head of the school until the return from active duty of the superintendent, the late Col. William Edward Gregory, in July, 1945.

For several years Colonel Elliott served as secretary to the board of directors of the Culver Educational Foundation and in

"Flower Drum Song" Is Final Playhouse Show

Opens Two-Week Run August 8

"Flower Drum Song," Rodgers and Hammerstein's current Broadway and road tour hit, has replaced "Anything Goes" as the hot production this season at Maxinkuckee Playhouse. Opening Tuesday, Aug. 8, it will play nightly except Mondays for two weeks.

Set in San Francisco's Chinatown, "Flower Drum Song" is a warm and glowing musical that is filled with such enchanting tunes as "Love, Look Away," "Sunday," "Grant Avenue," and "I Enjoy Being A Girl." Featuring Juanita Hall, Larry Byden, Pat Suzuki, and Miyoshi Umeki, who is remembered for her Academy Award winning performance in "Sayonara," in its original cast, "Flower Drum Song" in its Maxinkuckee Playhouse production, will feature Donna Donnelly, Dick Von Hoene, Marie Mastrucchio, Diane Turner, David Stearns, and Brent Bradford.

Bill Akin Is Set Designer
Oriental settings for this popular and lovely show will be designed by Bill Akin and will be executed by him and his staff. Costumes for the production will be created by Joan Freiden.

Still playing to capacity houses during its national tour, "Flower Drum Song" is concerned with the romantic entanglements of second generation American-Chinese, a situation that provides much humor and many beautiful moments. Its calm, touching scenes are carefully balanced by lively dance production numbers that will be choreographed by Ernestine Hill.

One Of Newest Musicals
Recently purchased for motion picture production, "Flower Drum Song" is one of the newest musicals to be produced by the summer theaters in this area. Its charm will radiate from the Maxinkuckee Playhouse beginning Aug. 8.

Tickets for the coming production of Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Flower Drum Song" can be reserved now by calling the Maxinkuckee Playhouse box office at Viking 2-2500.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sales and daughter, Melissa, of St. Ann, Mo., were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Osborn and Mrs. Kline Sales.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kizer of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., are spending Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Donald Osborn.

COL. ALLEN R. ELLIOTT
As Most Culver Citizens Will Remember Him

1958 he was named a member of the board.

Devoted To Culver Alumni

Vitaly interested in the alumni of the Academy and with wide association among former cadets, he was among those who spearheaded the movement to establish The Culver Legion, national association of former Culver students. He served as secretary-treasurer of the newly founded organization from 1931 to 1935 when he was named secretary, a position he held through 1955.

In 1953, The Culver Legion honored Colonel Elliott when they named him president emeritus.

Actively associated with many phases of administration of the Academy, he served as editor of the Culver Alumnus, quarterly magazine, for many years.

On Jan. 15, 1915, Allen R. Elliott was united in marriage to Miss Margaret Andrews of Salt Lake City, who survives with a daughter, Mrs. Richard Gimbel; and a grandson, Allen Richard Gimbel, all of Culver.

MISS MARY STAPAN RECEIVES SCHOLARSHIP

Mary Stapan, a member of the Burr Oak E.U.B. Church, has received a competitive scholarship in the amount of $250. This scholarship will renew each year, if Mary receives acceptable grades, and has a maximum value of $1,000.

Miss Stapan has chosen to attend Indiana Central College (an E.U.B. liberal arts college) in Indianapolis and will major in education for a degree in mathematics and physical science to become a teacher in these fields.

Mary was born in Chicago, Ill. and has lived in Union Township most of her life. Her residence is at the corner of State Roads 8 and 17. She attended West Township schools and graduated this Spring as salutatorian of her class. In school she participated in 4-H, Sunshine Club, Library work, and the School Chorus. Her hobbies are singing and playing her accordion.

Mary chose a small, church-related school for a balance of academic and religious training because of the more similar interests in this group, the smaller classes and more personal attention received, the greater chance to be an individual instead of a number, and because she is accustomed to a smaller school.

Mary takes an active part in the local church, having sung in the choir, held the position of Sunday School Chorister, and participates in the Youth Fellowship activities, once holding the office of president.

CMA's Moonlight Serenade Again Wonderful Treat

Rain Results In Double-Header

COL. EDWARD T. PAYSON
Creator Of Moonlight Serenade On Lake Maxinkuckee

Rain and generally foul weather cancelled Saturday night's portion of the 19th Moonlight Serenade and brought disappointment to countless numbers who had gathered in the Town Park after the Lions Club Corn Roast and along the West Shore of Lake Maxinkuckee to enjoy this truly musical highlight of the Summer season.

However, Sunday evening the O. W. Fowler set sail from the Academy pier with 55 (capacity) of the 100 regular Band members aboard under the magic baton of Col. Edward T. Payson, director of the sparkling Summer School Band of the Culver Military Academy and originator of this unique concert, and cruised the East Shore for the Sunday night schedule of the Serenade and then fulfilled the Saturday night's rained-out engagement by plying the choppy waters of the South and West Shores, the Town Park, and The Culver Inn pier.

This combined performance made a long full evening of superb and enchanting music for the Band members and their director, but was received with deep appreciation and enjoyment by those so keenly disappointed the first evening as well as those who so eagerly awaited the Sunday evening's treat.

Colonel Payson and the cadets did not arrive back at Aubbeensubbee Bay until nearly 11 p.m. We thank them again — and again!

LOCAL LAW OFFICER PRAISED BY VIOLATOR

Justice of the Peace Clyde Shively reports the following letter from Roger Dean, 2630 Ryan Drive, Indianapolis.

"It seems that I am unable to come to Culver over the weekend. Enclosed is my check in the amount of $17.00 for the fine imposed.

"Again I say that Deputy Raymond J. Ives was a gentlemen all the way in issuing this ticket. If all of our police force was of this type what a better community we would have.
"Many thanks."

AN ODDITY — Five U. S. veterans of World War I live on adjoining farms in Kelso Township, Dearborn County. They are John Bittner, Jacob Hoff, Joe Larman, George Westler and Stanley Bloom.

A CORONATION — will be the featured first act of the 1961 Indiana State Fair when a new State Fair Queen will be selected. The beauty pageant will be presented in the Coliseum, August 29 at 8 p.m. Reigning till then is lovely SHEILA WILSON, of Clinton, pictured after her win last year. Dates for the Fair are August 30—September 7.

LEATHER CRAFTSMAN — leather working tools and made one which suited him better. This gave him a start in leather working and he set up a shop in the basement of his home two miles north of Corydon. At first, he made leather purses. Then he turned to making harness and saddles. He now has a shop in Maitland, Fla., where he turns out harnesses that are widely used. He has salemen in three states who keep in contact with the drivers, trainers and owners of trotters and pacers and there is good demand for Johnson made harness.

TONY TURVY — T. Perry Wesley, editor of The Spencer Evening World, in his column, "The Editor's Corner," said subscribers who had seen a picture in the newspaper of Richard Dyer-Bennet standing on his head playing a guitar shouldn't expect the guitarist to perform in that unorthodox posture at a forthcoming concert at Indiana University. Wesley explained the picture was placed in the printing form upside down and the error was not discovered until a considerable portion of the press run had been completed.

DROP THAT HOE — Indiana farmers who have been working too hard in the fields have it all wrong. According to a recent survey by a leading farm publication, mechanization has taken over. In each of the following cases the number of farms reporting have exceeded the number of mechanized pieces of equipment on hand to work: motor trucks, 88,151 on only 76,147 farms; tractors, 225,661 plowing on 199,835 farms; 67,285 corn pickers, picking on just 62, 215 farms, etc, etc. Now all we need is a mechanized chicken.

MIDWEST OUTDOORS
BY BILL BANKS

If fishing isn't more fun for you this summer, it's not because they haven't been sitting up nights figuring out new gadgets that'll do everything but make the fish jump into your boat.

There'll be more fish to get acquainted with this summer, too, thanks to redoubled efforts of Indiana, Illinois and Iowa conservation departments to restock local lakes and streams in recent years. You can still bring home dinner for a small crowd with nothing more than a 50-cent cane pole and a can of worms. But if you yearn for the kind of underwater giants that get your picture in the paper, you might look over some of these latest developments:

An electronic "Fish Lo-K-Tor" that sends signals from a microphone under your boat, pinpoints fish on its radar-like dial. It also shows you where the shallows and dropoff are, so you can find the fish yourself.

The new SCUBA (Self-Contained, Underwater Breathing Apparatus) diving outfits, which let you jump over the side and play Sherlock Holmes with the big lunkers.

A new electric scaling wheel—cheaper than some fishing reels—that takes all the work and fuss out of cleaning fish.

A new Mercury outboard motor that takes the cusswork out of fishing. It can't shear a pin on a log or rock because it doesn't have any, and for rough bouncing over obstacles, it has a slanted lower unit. It also boasts a twist-grip throttle and shift control, all in the handle, that let you ease along a shoreline with one hand free for casting. There's your gadgets. Good fishing.

Navy Officer Fills Post At Summer School

Cdr. ROBERT LOWELL

Cdr. Robert L. Lowell, a regular U.S. Naval officer with 20 years experience, is filling the post of Professor of Naval Science at the Culver Summer Naval School.

Culver is one of four honor Naval schools in the country in which regular navy personnel are assigned during the summer months.

Commander Lowell, currently stationed as executive officer of NROTC at Purdue University, Lafayette, heads a staff of four assigned to Culver for the eight-week session. Also here on duty are Chief Quartermaster J. H. Hopkins, also of Purdue; Chief Quartermaster E. N. Wilson, of Marquette University, Milwaukee, Wis., and Chief J. R. Graham, of Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago.

A native of Bowling Green, Ohio, Commander Lowell attended Bowling Green University before receiving an appointment to the U. S. Naval Academy in 1941. He received a Bachelor of Science degree from Annapolis and went aboard the USS NORTH CAROLINA as an ensign. He served the duration of World War II as a line officer on the NORTH CAROLINA and became gunnery officer on the USS PROVIDENCE in 1947.

Commander Lowell served three years with the Bureau of Ordnance, Washington, D.C. and in August, 1948, was assigned to the Guided Missile School at Fort Bliss, Texas. In 1952, he became executive officer on the USS WITK, an experimental destroyer.

Commander Lowell fulfilled an assignment with NATO in the Mediterranean in 1954. Prior to assuming duties at Purdue, he was executive officer of the Naval Weapons Station, Yorktown, Va.

During the time they are at Culver, Commander and Mrs. Lowell will live at the East Shore Apartments. A son, Robert Jr., is enrolled in the Culver Summer Naval School. They also have two daughters. The Lowells make their home in Lafayette, Ind.

LATEST TITLES OF ROBBINS-MERRILL books, many best-sellers among them, are on sale at The Citizen office. Drop in and look them over.

SUMMER ORCHARD TOUR PLANNED

The summer orchard tour of the Indiana Horticultural Society will be held August 1 and 2 in the LaPorte area, according to P. H. Emerson, Purdue University horticulturist and Society secretary-treasurer.

During the first day the tour will include a visit to the Garwood orchard, west of LaPorte, and the second morning tour will be a visit to the Wes Williams orchard, north of LaPorte.

The Garwood orchard is devoted almost entirely to apples, while the Williams orchard is a peach orchard.

Lunch will be served at the Garwood farm, Aug. 1, and an evening banquet meeting will be held in LaPorte.

This year's tour will mark the beginning of the "Second Century of Progress" for Hoosier horticulturists and members are urged to attend.

POSTAL SERVICE — When an Elkhart County man, Milton Brown of Wakarusa, purchased a horse from a resident in the Kalamazoo, Mich., area, he neglected to ask the horse's name. When he got the horse home he was also unable to recollect the address of Frank Davis, from whom he had bought the horse. Brown wrote to the Kalamazoo postmaster asking if he could supply Davis's address. The postmaster located Davis and forwarded Brown's letter. Back came a letter from Davis telling Brown that the horse was named Star.

Poplar Grove

Attendance at Sunday services was 73. The Rev. Albert Vermillion of Darlington was the speaker and spoke on the topic "Signs of the Times." The Reverend and Mrs. Vermillion were here to attend the Mount Olive picnic which was held at the Plymouth Conservation Club-house along with our pastor, The Rev. W. Roy Kuhn, and family. Both ministers had served the Mount Olive pastorate and Reverend Vermillion began his ministry at Poplar Grove. Several Vermillion families and former members of the congregation were among those attending the Sunday service.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Johnson and daughter, Joni Jean, of Rochester spent Sunday with Eldon Cowen and girls and Mrs. Lillie Johnson.

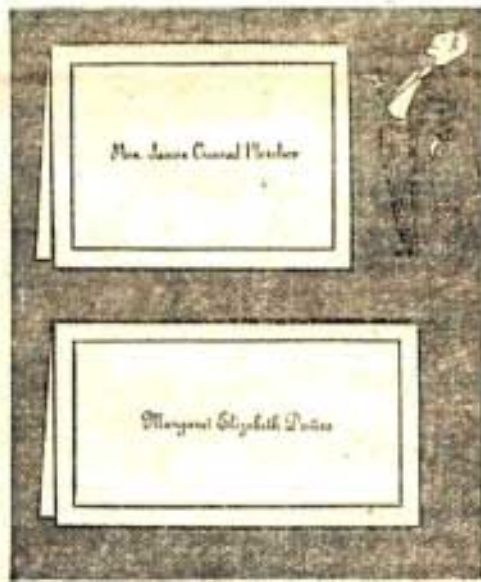

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Crawford of Cave City, New Zealand, arrived at the William Lake home on Sunday for a week's visit. Mr. and Mrs. Crawford left their New Zealand home on March 4 and have been on a world tour since that time. They were one of the families with whom the Lakes stayed when they visited in New Zealand on their 1955 tour. The Lakes and their guests attended the Lake Reunion at the Plymouth Park on Sunday.

Thursday afternoon and supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Quivey were Mr. and Mrs. Irving Snyder of Plymouth.

The Ronald Quivey home was the scene of the gathering of 88 members of the Quivey and Irwin families at a picnic on Sunday. Mrs. Ronald Quivey arranged the event as a surprise for her husband's birthday, also to mark the 85th birthday of Clarence Quivey, who was the oldest person present. John Wesley Fishburn, 3-week-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fishburn, was the youngest present. It was decided to make this an annual affair, the time and place to be named later.

GREAT PROBLEM — When Hoosier legislators passed the school reorganization law under which a number of high schools have been consolidated they probably didn't take into consideration the problem of finding nicknames for the athletic teams of the new high schools. The names of nearly all canines, felines, birds and wild beasts have already been preempted by existing schools and the new schools will have to scratch to find new nicknames for their basketball and football heroes.

C. Gordon Bell Joins Public Relations Staff

To Edit Academy Alumni Magazine

C. GORDON BELL,
New Member Of CMA
Public Relations Staff

C. Gordon Bell, a former public relations and advertising man for a New York life insurance company, has joined the public relations staff of Culver Military Academy, Maj. Gen. Delmar T. Spivey, superintendent, has announced.

Mr. Bell will serve as editor of "The Alumnus," the outstanding alumni magazine which has a circulation of 20,000; and as adviser to the staff of the "Roll Call," the Academy yearbook.

Both publications are printed locally at The Culver Press, Inc.

Bell joins a four-man public relations staff so ably directed by Robert Matson. The public relations department is responsible for dissemination of news of the Academy, supervision of student publications, editing and publishing the alumni magazine, and fund-raising activities.

New York Background

Prior to joining the Culver staff,

Bell was associated with the Home Life Insurance Co. in New York City, where he performed duties in public relations and advertising along with editing a company newspaper. He also worked for the Prudential Life Insurance Co. before going with Home Life in 1959.

Gordon Bell was born in New York City and attended Kent (Conn.) School. He received a bachelor of arts degree from Tulane University, New Orleans, La., with a major in English literature. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. G. Bell, Devils Garden Road, South Norwalk, Conn.

Bell's wife, the former Lorraine J. Baker, of Danbury, Conn., will join him in Culver late next month.

This Marvelous Book Should Be
In Every Hoosier's Library
Hurry! Hurry! Only 241 Copies Available!

SOME 120 WELL LOVED POEMS by one of the most beloved and most prolific poets in Hoosier history have been collected in this warmly received book.

The noted Hoosier educator and humorist, Barton Rees Pogue, praised the little anthology as "a most satisfying combination of humorous and serious verse." He further stated: "Broad humor in the Hoosier idiom, nostalgic recollections of 'the good old days,' sentiment about home, relatives, parents, children, all holidays, and the future life, kindly reference to Indiana and her people, a strong faith in Providence, a wholesome review of common things in our daily doings, a fine appreciation of life on the human side . . . all of these phases of experience are sympathetically reviewed in 'Indiana Homespun'."

Frank A. White some months ago devoted his widely read syndicated column, "The Hoosier Day," to Mrs. Price, who had been the staff poet for The Culver

Citizen from May 1954 until her death during 1958. He said in part: "Popularity of a beautifully printed volume of poems called 'Indiana Homespun' by Mrs. Laverne Brown Price, former schoolteacher and Plymouth (Ind.) housewife, attests to the fact that more Hoosiers than we suspect like poetry. Mrs. Price is a delightful person who has done a lot of verse writing for newspapers. The poems written by her are an open window to her soul, where you see her as a lover of birds, of the beauty, and of simple things, and as a highly skilled poet."

A Collector's Item

The author of this rapidly becoming collector's item was born at Markle, Indiana, and spent most of her unmarried life in nearby Bluffton, living on the banks of the Wabash. Through the years her work appeared in The Indianapolis News, the old Kansas City Courier, The Indianapolis Times, The Plymouth Pilot-News, and several national magazines.

GROUND-BREAKING CEREMONIES for the new library to be built at Tri-State College, Angola, Indiana, will highlight the 1961 Alumni Reunion on Saturday, Aug. 5. The library, designed to house from 40,000 to 50,000 volumes, will be built on the southeastern corner of the main campus, utilizing the terraced area to provide four levels. Estimated construction costs are $499,000. The exterior will be of smooth-faced cut Indiana limestone around the upper levels, with brick covering the exposed portion of the lower levels.

In March this year the U. S. Marine Corps added the world's largest and longest range assault transport plane, "The Hercules," to its aviation equipment.

TIME DEPOSIT — The Nashville Democrat relates the story of Harold Wright who, while plowing a field for a neighbor eight years ago, lost his billfold containing $80 and this year plowed up the missing wallet. Wright said the money, although somewhat faded, was intact but he complained it had gathered no interest.

DOUBLE BILLED — A dozen residents of Clarksville, a Clark County town, say they have observed a two-headed bird in their community. They say it has one head tilted high and another on the side of its neck. They also say it seems to eat twice as much and twice as fast as other birds with which it flocks. They have identified it as a starling.

Some say the catfish should replace the bald eagle as America's national symbol. Unlike the eagle, whose rapacious nature doesn't reflect our peaceful ways, the catfish tends to its own business in peace.

But it can fight back with its sharp spines when pushed around. It is a home-loving creature that shares the housework and baby-sitting chores with Mrs. Catfish. And then there's that wonderful contribution which this creature has made to the American Way of Life.

Fried catfish, that is. It's a delicacy fit for a king, and fetches princely prices in the snazziest restaurants on both sides of the Mississippi. So much for the sissies—now let's talk about the kind you and me prefer, the kind you catch and fry yourself.

Catfish are easily caught by still fishing on almost any type of bait. At night, they'll go for liver that's been sun-ripened several days.

The tasty channel cat ranges up to 30 pounds all down the Mississippi south of Minnesota. A 50-pounder was caught recently below the Guttenberg, Iowa dam.

The Sioux river, from near Spirit Lake, Iowa, to the Missouri and its tributary, the Little Sioux, teems with hungry, meal-sized channel cats. So does Willow Slough, Indiana, and most southern Illinois rivers.

You can get a lot more fun out of fishing next weekend by checking with the men who meet more long-range fishermen than anybody—the men who sell and service outboard motors. All Mercury outboard motor dealers, for example, have available a free booklet, "Fishing with an Outboard," that's packed with a barrelful of ways to find a fish, and where to find them.

A 50-word (or less) classified ad in The Citizen costs just 90 cents a week on either a 26 or 52 consecutive insertion contract.

A Tribute To Col. Allen R. Elliott For 57 Years He Loved The Academy

By ROBERT RUST

The stately Memorial Chapel on the campus of Culver Military Academy was never prettier than this summer morning as friends, associates, and winter and summer school students joined relatives in a beautiful tribute to Col. Allen R. Elliott, who succumbed to a brief illness late Sunday afternoon.

Chaplain Allen P. Bray III conducted the funeral services for "The Colonel" or Allen, as he was familiarly known to scores of associates and friends.

James V. Miracle's solo, the Reverend Bray's tribute, the Trooper - Midshipman - Wood-crafter flanked walk from the Chapel's great door to the lake-side campus road extending to the edge of the campus on State Road 10, represented an appropriate rite to the man whose Culver days began 57 years ago in 1904.

For the man they honored was very much a part of the life and times of Culver Military Academy. Literally his life was Culver and for 51 years he had accepted and fulfilled responsibilities, giving each everything he had in terms of leadership, devotion, and loyalty.

As we sat in the Chapel we were reminded of other years. We thought of his cadet days when the school was small in terms of facilities and enrollment, and especially of friendships formed in that early chapter of his life.

We thought of his joining the faculty in 1910 and of the long series of staff assignments; of his Army service record, and his continuing interest in civic and national affairs.

Personally we shall also remember Colonel Elliott for many things, — many little things, which it was our privilege to share, as we feel sure it was with hundreds of others, who came to know him so well.

These priceless memories include an appreciation for his dry and sometimes salty wit which was at times rapier sharp; his "down-to-earth" counsel sought and respected by so many of us; his love of music and painting; his keen appreciation of editorial comment and discussion; and a sternness generously tempered with forthright courage and understanding.

We recall, too, a Colonel Elliott, who with his lovely wife, Margaret, was a gay and most courteous host. The Elliott home was the "port-of-call" for a wide acquaintance among visitors, faculty, employees, and alumni. Had a register been kept it would undoubtedly have filled a large volume of names.

We shall never forget him as an administrator who was thorough, exacting, and gave every task careful attention. He delegated assignments, expected a good job and usually got it. We shall not forget him as a modest, quiet person who seemed to shun public attention, and with a generous amount of dignity he truly lent a professional touch to his position as a school administrator.

In his avid quest for living, — a rich life as measured in terms of attainments and friendships, Colonel Elliott lived well.

There are, indeed, many facets of Allen Elliott's career and each and all of them impart a success story. He succeeded as a teacher, as a school administrator, as a soldier, as a husband and father.

Yet most important was his success as a man. With all the problems that accompanied his varied and sometimes weighty responsibilities, with all the demands upon his time, he was never too busy to be a warm sincere friend. In that, he accomplished what many men of greater material success have failed to accomplish.

During the years in which he was associated with Culver Military Academy, it may well be said that he presided over much of the history of the school, and certainly he occupied a worthy role in its making.

General Spivey Compliments 10 Plymouth Firms

Ad In Culver Citizen Praised

These 10 Plymouth firms received the following letter from Maj. Gen. Delmar T. Spivey, superintendent of Culver Military Academy, under date of July 17:

McCord Corporation
 Liquid Gas Corporation
 Plymouth Coal & Elevator Corp.
 Marshall County REMC
 Walter Price's Sausage Kitchen
 C. W. Myers & Son
 E-Z-Flo Chemical Company
 Markley's Processing
 Culligan Soft Water Service
 Panel Craft, Inc.

"I want to compliment and congratulate you on your share in the paid advertisement on the need for instruction about the menace of Communism which appeared in The Culver Citizen on July 12, 1961.

"We must realize that the danger of this insidious philosophy is both real and immediate. We cannot escape by refusing to admit its presence or its growth. Our solemn responsibility as parents and teachers is to make our children aware of the privilege of life in this free land and the responsibility to share that privilege with all men. We must know and believe in our way of life to defeat those who would take it from us or deny its benefits to others.

"At this institution we devote a considerable amount of academic time and talent to a required course entitled "America's Democratic Heritage." I enclose a copy of this program in outline for your information. In addition, we invite outstanding leaders in the fields of business and the professions who are well versed in political understanding, to address the student body from time to time. A special section in our Memorial Library has been set apart for literature on this subject.

"We would be happy to share our insights and resources with the teachers of Marshall County and to help in any way we can to make citizens of all ages more aware of their privileges and responsibilities.

EVEN THE BARREL'S GOING!

In The Year Of Our Lord 2000

We are indebted to Senator Wallace F. Bennett of Utah for a reminder that Federal programs already authorized will cost the taxpayers a trillion dollars in the next 40 years.

A trillion, in case you'd like to break it down, is a thousand billion — $1,000,000,000,000.

There's no one on The Culver Citizen's staff who is anywhere near capable of visualizing such an amount. But one illustration may help:

In cash, it would form a stack of $1,000 bills 88,000 stories high.

Remember — our Utahn friend was speaking only of already authorized programs.

New and expanded programs could vastly increase costs.

And one thing is sure — if the welfare state philosophy continues to grow and grow, a trillion ultimately might look like petty cash. Then the value of the inflation-busted dollar will move right down toward the vanishing point — along with both security and freedom.

O. C. Gibbons. Mrs. O. C. Gibbons visited Miss Clara Gibbons Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Elnora Snyder spent Wednesday with her son Mr. and Mrs. Irving Snyder in Plymouth.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Miller and Raymond and Mrs. Snyder visited Mr. and Mrs. Don Bruce of Culver Sunday.

Wednesday lunch guests of Mrs. Jacob Lischko were her club from Bass Lake. Guests were Mrs. Marie Eckon, Mrs. Casey, Mrs. Steve Larry, Mrs. Anna Audling. Friday guests of the Lischko's were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schweidler of Idaho and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Schweidler of Culver.

Mrs. Robert Kepler was hostess to a party at her home Thursday forenoon. Guests present were Mrs. Fay Keefer, Mrs. Joan Ringler, Mrs. Letty Maise, Mrs. Edna Metheuy, Mrs. Midge Densmore, Mrs. George Hall, Mrs. Carol Hand and Mrs. Lewis.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Peer and children of Plymouth were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kepler and sons and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Kepler.

There will be no community party in August on account of the Argos Fair coming at this time.

sanding doors, Sally Noble and Tom Burke would rehearse their lines.

A Heedle Season Opening

Finally the opening night came, but as yet there was no electricity. At 8 o'clock when some of the audience members were arriving the electrical contact was made and the show went on. Those first audience members never knew what a really last minute drama had taken place.

For the past six years Paul Rutledge and David Hager have managed and directed the Playhouse. Audiences have continued to grow.

Developed Successful Actors

The name Maxinkuckoo Playhouse is now known all over the United States and is held in the highest regard in theatrical circles. Many of its former actors and actresses are following their profession with success on Broadway, in Hollywood, and on TV.

This year Bill Akin has served as co-manager with Mr. Rutledge and a new record was set when "South Pacific" played to the largest audiences ever to visit the summer theater.

The loss of the Playhouse will be tremendous to the Northern Indiana area and especially to Culver but as Paul Rutledge stated, "It is a tragedy of success."

When asked about his feelings upon deciding to leave here Rutledge told The Culver Citizen: "I will, of course, miss the unhurried way of life in Culver and will always remember with the fondest memories the many friends that we have here. The community accepted us unknown and without reference. The fact

"Flower Drum Song" Coming

To celebrate its closing production the Playhouse has secured the new Rodgers and Hammerstein hit, "Flower Drum Song." This musical will replace the originally scheduled "Anything Goes" and will run from Aug. 8 until the closing night on Aug. 19.

The Playhouse will close Saturday, Aug. 19, no performance being scheduled for Sunday, Aug. 20.

"Hoosier At Large"

Headlines flared and ugly rumors spread. Paul's trigger temper was well known. So was his great strength, his jealousy of Diana, and his dislike of strangers.

When Paul heard that Eugene Frank, a deputy sheriff employed to guard outages in the area, had talked about him, he and Diana went to Frank's house for a showdown.

THERE ARE CONFLICTING stories about what happened. This much is sure: A violent row ensued. In it, Diana's skull was fractured by a pistol butt, and Paul was shot in the foot.

Paul and Frank both were arrested. Diana went to Mercy Hospital, near death.

Next day, released on $100 bond, Paul walked home, despite a swollen foot. He found their shack had been entered and stripped of almost everything, including Diana's clothes, books, and manuscripts.

Bitter and angry, Paul blamed Frank's friends — but it could as easily have been souvere hunters, reporters, or plain thieves.

Then, while Diana hovered near death, Paul deepened the puzzling murder mystery. He told police a mad gun-crazy hermit named Burke lived in the dunes. He said Burke once came to their shack past midnight, a pistol in each hand. Awakening, Paul spoke Burke's name, asked what he wanted.

"WHEN HE REALIZED I recognized him, he fled," Paul said. "Next day I trailed him, intending to warn him. He had one bad foot that left an unusual track."

Paul said he lost the trail that time and didn't see Burke again until one moonlit night a few weeks later. Burke, he said, was crazily blazing away with two guns at his own shadow.

This was Paul's clincher: He'd found Burke's distinctive footprints near the murder scene!

TO PROVE his sincerity, Paul offered to lead police along Burke's trail — if it could be re-discovered. Police tried, but it was futile. By then the murder scene had been well trampled.

Then Paul offered a diary of Diana's telling of their activities in precise detail around the time of the murder.

All this merely complicated the mystery and raised new questions. Burke couldn't be found.

Could he have been the victim, slain by Paul? If not, who was the nameless corpse? Who killed him? Why?

The questions never were answered, largely because the body couldn't be identified. Grisly Chicago reporters gave it a real college try, though. One midnight they reopened the grave and "borrowed the skull, jaw and teeth to try for a dental identification.

THAT, TOO, FAILED — and police finally wrote off the case as beyond solution.

Frank was stripped of his deputy sheriff authority and charged with assault. His case was continued several times, then dropped. Two years later he fell from a horse, broke his neck and died.

DIANA RECOVERED and she and Paul tried anew to return to happy, secluded obscurity. It was a pathetic, futile struggle. Besides the new publicity, the talk and the dark suspicions which the murder and their fight with Frank provoked, they had an im- placable new foe — progress.

Slowly but inexorably civilization crept toward their once-wild sanctuary.

In next week's Culver Citizen: Diana's last stand.

Lawrence Hackett Dies Today At Age Of 74

LAWRENCE B. HACKETT

Lawrence B. Hackett, age 74, of 1061 West Shore Drive, died early this morning at Osteopathic Hospital in South Bend where he had been a patient for several days. He had been suffering from a severe heart condition for several weeks. Mr. Hackett was born April 2, 1887, at North Carver, Mass. At the age of six, he came to Rochester to make his home with Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Clemans. On Aug. 20, 1910, he was married to Chloe C. Barger of Leiters Ford, where they resided for eight years. They also lived in North Judson and Gary before coming to Culver 21 years ago and since that time have operated the Hackett Boat Landing on the West Shore of Lake Maxinkuckee. He had a great interest in children and will be especially missed by his many young friends. Survivors include his wife, Chloe; a daughter, Mrs. John Logan, Chesterton; a son, Dr. F. D. Hackett, Gary; eight grandchildren; and two great grandchildren. Services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Friday, July 28, at the Easterday Funeral Home where friends may call. Rev. Kendall E. Sands, pastor of the Methodist Church will officiate with burial at the I.O.O.F. Cemetery at Leiters Ford.

SERVING INDIANA — In 1920 there were 32,841 trucks registered in Indiana when all registrations totaled 333,067. Latest registration figures show 335,794 trucks serving Indiana communities and all vehicle registrations amounting to 1,986,043. This shows there are today more trucks creating income and earning power for Indiana than all vehicle registrations 40 years ago.

Summer Schools Homecoming Set For Weekend

Scores Of CMA Alumni Expected

Several hundred alumni are expected on campus this weekend, July 28-30, for the 1961 Homecoming of The Culver Summer Schools.

Registration will open Friday but a full program of activities is not scheduled to get under way until Saturday. At this time, alumni will observe or take part in many phases of the Summer Schools program. Drills and classes are open to alumni for observation, and on Saturday afternoon many alumni are expected to take part in naval and horsemanship activities.

Following an alumni dinner Saturday evening, the traditional Woodcraft Council Fire will attract many alumni guests at 7:30 p.m. A formal dance is set for 8 p.m.

Alumni Association Meeting
At 8:15 a.m. Sunday, the annual Summer Schools Alumni Association meeting will be held in the Little Theater. Alumni will attend one of two chapel services at 9:50 and 11 a.m., and the afternoon will be devoted to alumni sailing races and boat cruises around Lake Maxinkuckee. A concert featuring former bandmen will be played by the Summer Schools Band at 4 p.m. in Eppley Auditorium. Garrison Parade Sunday Homecoming will conclude with a garrison parade at 7 p.m. during which Dolphin awards will be presented. Dolphin Awards are earned by Summer Schools Alumni after performance of certain tests of skill in athletics, equitation, sailing, nature lore, and other activities.

"Of Thee I Sing" Ends Sunday At Summer Theatre

Musical Comedy Is Proving Big Hit

America's first Pulitzer Prize winning musical comedy, "Of Thee I Sing," continues its two week run at the Maxinkuckee Playhouse with Dick Von Hoene, Donna Donnelly, Martha Garner, Bob Mosk, and Vaughn McBride in the leading roles.

Scheduling its last performance of this satirical panorama of American political machines on Sunday night, the Playhouse also features director Paul Rutledge and set designer Bill Akin in primary roles. Everyone at the Playhouse, staff and actors as well, is appearing in this fulfilled musical that highlights the current season of theatrical attractions in this area. "Of Thee I Sing" includes some of the nation's favorite songs in its score. "Who Cares?", "Love Is Sweeping the Country," and "Wintergreen for President" are only a few of the memorable melodies that fill the Playhouse every night. Donna Donnelly's rendition of "Someone To Watch Over Me" and the entire cast's performance of "Strike Up the Band" are high spots in the show. Tickets for the remaining performances of "Of Thee I Sing" are still available and can be reserved by calling the Maxinkuckee Playhouse at VKing 2-2500.

Greatest Monopoly Today Is That Of Labor Unions

Supreme Court Could End It

By ROGER W. BABSON
No. 1 U. S. Economist

Babson Park, Mass. — As I study events in Wall Street, I find that the first era of speculation was in gold. This was accompanied by some speculation in Government bonds. Prices were based on mail reports from London. There were then no cables.

The Glamorous Railroad Era
Following the Civil War, from 1875 to 1900, most of the speculation was in railroad stocks. New mileage was constantly being built, due to the large immigration and cheap labor, accompanied by good crops which helped railroad earnings.

The Northern Pacific stock sold at $1,000 a share. There was much talk about railroad consolidations, and the stock market was especially bullish over a proposed merger of the Northern Pacific, Great Northern, and Burlington Railroads.

Then suddenly, the Supreme Court issued a decision preventing this consolidation. This caused a quick drop in all stocks in 1907. A member of the New York Exchange invited me to come on the floor of the Exchange and help him.

I actually saw men's hair turn gray within 48 hours!

Era Of Industrial Trusts
Following the boom in railroad stocks there developed an interest in consolidations and big trusts. This began late in the 1890's. Then were formed the Tobacco Trust, the Standard Oil Trust, and other great trusts. During these years, the New York Stock Exchange took a great interest in industrials.

It was then that Moody's Manuals and Babson's Reports were started, and investment services began to be popular.

Although the above-mentioned Supreme Court decision directly referred only to railroads, it indirectly brought an end to this Consolidation and Trust Era. Hence, the panic following affected both railroad and industrial stocks. There were no big electric utilities in those days.

The Electrical Era
The fourth era of glamour stocks centered around companies producing and distributing electricity. From 1907 to 1912 great speculation took place in these electric stocks, culminating in the 1929-1935 collapse of Electric Bond & Share.

WHO WILL BE THE LUCKY MAN?—Carl Bowman, Converse, President of the State Fair Board, selects the name of the senior high school principal who will represent his county at State Fair Teachers' Day, August 31. Assisting him is Earl J. Bailey, Lowell, Secretary-Manager. Dates for this year's Indiana State Fair are August 30 thru September 7.

The end came for this Electrical Era with the formation of the Securities & Exchange Commission. Its great powers enabled it to eliminate, rearrange, or break up any company manufacturing and distributing electricity across state lines.

Although the use of electricity has continued to increase since Thomas A. Edison made the first dynamo, yet the utilities are no longer considered glamour stocks.

The Present Space Era
I mention all these events thinking that the recent duPont — General Motors Supreme Court decision may put a damper on speculation in companies producing missiles, space capsules, and various electronic devices.

The previous Supreme Court decisions which I mentioned have been unexpected. Each has "pulled the trigger" for a change in the stock market trend. Whether this means that present bull market is now culminating no one knows, but we should always watch for the unexpected. Gold, railroads, trusts, and electricity were as glamorous in their day as space and electronics are today.

The Labor Union Era
The recent duPont — General Motors decision may bring about a reverse effect.

It may unexpectedly make Wall Street optimistic. The decision was basically against monopoly, as were the decisions of several years ago.

Yet, the greatest monopoly today is that of Labor Unions.

What if the Supreme Court should suddenly dissolve the Teamsters Union, as now operated by Hoffa, whom President Kennedy's brother, the Attorney General, knows from A to Z?

Such a decision could rule that previous Congressional legislation exempting Labor from the Anti-Trust Law is unconstitutional.

Such a decision, instead of creating a bear market, could cause the Dow-Jones Averages to go sky high.

Surely this is a possibility, and a reason why Culver Citizen readers are justified in keeping certain of their common stocks and swapping certain of the present glamour stocks for the old-fashioned blue chips.

I forecast that some day some such a decision will be rendered, followed by Congressional legislation. If Democracy is to survive and dictatorship be prevented, such a Supreme Court decision will come some day. Then, don't be short of good industrials.

Admiral Dreith To Speak Sunday At CMA Chapel

REAR ADMIRAL J. FLOYD DREITH

Rear Admiral J. Floyd Dreith, director of chaplains and deputy chief of the U.S. Navy Chaplain Corps, will speak to 1,502 students of The Culver Summer Schools during chapel services Sunday, July 30.

Admiral Dreith will deliver the sermon at Woodcraft Camp services at 10 a.m. and then address the Naval and Horseman-ship Schools at 11 a.m. The Rev. Allen F. Bray III, Academy chaplain and a member of the Navy Chaplain Corps, is in charge of the services.

Served In World War II
A Navy chaplain since 1937, Admiral Dreith has served in many parts of the world including duty in the Pacific during World War II. He first served aboard the USS ARIZONA in 1937 and five months later was transferred to the USS PENSA-COLA. He was in the Far East as chaplain on the USS BLACK HAWK and was assigned to the Naval Air Station, Seattle, Wash., prior to the outbreak of World War II.

Admiral Dreith left Seattle in March, 1943, for duty on the USS BUNKER HILL, a carrier which won the Presidential Unit Citation "for extraordinary heroism in action against the Japanese." He became executive officer of the Naval Training School for Chaplains at William and Mary College, Williamsburg, Va., and later assumed command of the school in 1945.

Since that time Admiral Dreith has served as assistant chaplain for the Twelfth Naval District at San Francisco, received graduate instruction at Union Seminary in New York City, fulfilled a tour of duty for the tenth Naval District out of San Juan, Puerto Rico, served as post chaplain at the Marine Barracks at Camp Pendleton, Calif., and as assistant for planning, Chaplains Division, Bureau of Personnel, Washington, D. C.

Joins U.S. Fleet In 1957
Admiral Dreith was ordered to sea in 1957 with the U.S. Atlantic Fleet and in 1959 reported as officer in charge, Naval School Indoctrination for Chaplains at Newport, R. I. He recently assumed duties as director of chaplains.

A native of Berthoud, Colo., Admiral Dreith was graduated from Concordia College, Oakland, Calif., an institution which later awarded him an honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity. Chaplain Dreith's official residence is in Visalia, Calif., but he is currently living in Vienna, Va.

"Pleasure Of His Company" Coming To Playhouse

Witty Comedy To Open August 1

"The Pleasure of His Company," a bright, witty, and sophisticated comedy, will open a week's run at Maxinkuckee Playhouse Tuesday, Aug. 1, at 8:30 p.m.

Centered around a playboy father's returning after 20 years for his daughter's wedding, "The Pleasure of His Company," was recently made into a motion picture that is packing theaters around the country. Pogo Poole, played in the movie by Fred Astaire and on Broadway by Cyril Ritchard, will be portrayed by Vaughn McBride who has been seen in Playhouse productions of "Look Homeward, Angel" and "Of Thee I Sing."

Marie Mastruserio will be seen as Jessica Poole, the lovely daughter portrayed in the film by Debbie Reynolds, while Diane Turner, featured in the Playhouse production of "Look Homeward, Angel," will portray the mother, Kate.

Dan Weaver In Cast
Dan Weaver, who scored a major hit with Playhouse audiences in his portrayal of Senator Lipmann in "Of Thee I Sing," will portray Kate's second husband, while Bob Moak, long-time Playhouse favorite, will be seen as Mr. Savage, the easygoing, charming grandfather. Toy, a comic and delightful housegirl employed in Jessica's home, will be portrayed by Irene Myers who was featured in "The Girls in 509" and "Look Homeward, Angel."

Wayne Gregory Is Director
The Maxinkuckee Playhouse production of "The Pleasure of His Company" will be directed by Wayne Gregory who has directed Playhouse productions in previous seasons. He is a noted director in Cincinnati and will serve as guest director for this production.

Tickets for the Maxinkuckee Playhouse production of "The Pleasure of His Company" can be reserved by calling the ticket office at Viking 2-2500.

Kenneth Paterson, New CMA Officer, Is Lions Speaker

Lt. Kenneth Paterson, who joins the Cavalry Staff at Culver Military Academy from the British Cavalry, will be a guest speaker at the Culver Lions Club meeting this evening in the Lions Den. He has served with the Queen's Guard and has many interesting things to talk on.

Lieutenant Paterson is very interested in youth and was associated with Youth Hostels in Great Britain. Youth Hostels is an organization whereby people can explore their country on horseback, foot, or bicycle under supervision of check stations. He has hopes of continuing his experience with this organization in America.

Commissioners Studying Lake Road Project

Venetian Village Area Toured

A tour of four farms and two Lake Maxinkuckee properties southeast of Culver was made recently by the Marshall County commissioners at the request of area residents to study the possibility of extending the highway from Venetian Village through to Sycamore Road and constructing a new road around the Lake.

The farms of Mrs. Edna Ross, Dr. Ernest Norris, Clarence Kline, and Lewis Witham were toured as well as the property of O. W. Macey.

Kline Requests Road
Clarence Kline made a request to the commissioners at their May meeting to extend the road from Venetian Village to Sycamore Road.

Lewis Witham of Hammond, who owns the property necessary for such a connecting road, agreed to deed the necessary land to the county provided Kline would give access for a public drive to the Lake front.

Norris Would Donate Ground
Dr. Norris has offered to give ground along the south line of his farm to the county and half the necessary footage along the east fence line, providing that Mrs. Rose gives the same footage, for a highway that would start from the Venetian Village road to the south across the property of Macey.

Macey, who is filling in the low marshland on the southeast part of the Lake for a subdivision, agreed to grant any amount of ground needed for a roadway to connect with the Norris property.

Commissioners To Study Project
Commissioner Omer Bixel said that the board of county commissioners will study the project and take action on the matter during the August meeting. He said to construct a road across the Macey and Norris property would require considerable time and money, inasmuch as a channel would be necessary on each side to raise the highway and allow the proper drainage.

The opening of Venetian Road through to Sycamore Road would be a small project, however, since it would require only a few hundred feet of new road, and would give better fire and police protection to residents in the area, according to Mr. Bixel.

Boating Time

[The Indianapolis Star Sunday Magazine]

It's time to get out in a boat again, under a friendly sky,
With a brisk breeze, a warm sun and the current flashing by,
And the sharp whacks as the bow smacks the frothy seas
asunder,
And the white wake as the swells break and are swept back under.

It's time to get out in a boat again on a Hoosier lake or stream
And cut the motor, settle back and drift along and dream,
Or rig up a casting rod and send a shiny lure winging
And thrill to the strike of a hefty pike as the reel starts singing.

Yes, it's time to get out in a boat again — to leave behind once more

The grim pace of the rat race in the city's rush and roar,
And find in the breeze and the rolling seas a neat prescription blended

For sound rest and new zest when the day's run is ended.

Since they started in business many years ago P. B. Stewart and Co. of Plymouth has provided excellent service for the hog raisers in this part of the country. This firm is a large buyer and seller of hogs and has achieved a reputation for fair and honest dealings that is unsurpassed by any other firm in a similar line of business in this part of the country.

The marketing of hogs has in recent years, become a highly specialized line of business. Different packers have different requirements and in order to be sure of receiving the greatest returns the hog producer must deal with a firm that knows when and where a particular lot of hogs will bring the most money. Because they specialize in hogs and have excellent market connections the operators of P. B. Stewart and Co. are satisfying an ever greater number of hog raisers of this part of the country.

P. B. Stewart and Co. is in business to stay and they know that only by honestly serving the hog raiser can this be accomplished. They are sincere in their efforts to serve the hog raiser and to pay the top of the market at all times.

An operation such as that carried on by P. B. Stewart and Co. is of utmost importance to the economic welfare of a stock raising country such as that covered by this newspaper. It is a business that can only be built up by the adherence to honest and straight forward business principles and were not this business conducted along these lines it would have gone by the boards long ago instead of reaching the position of prominence it now holds in the livestock industry.

The business conducted by P. B. Stewart and Co. is a very important factor in the progress and development of the livestock industry in this part of the country and in this edition devoted to the business and professional firms of Plymouth we want to compliment this firm and its operators upon the manner in which they conduct their operations. —Adv.

Marshall County Farm Bureau Co-op

"Better Farm Living Through Cooperation"
510 West Adams
Phone WEBster 6-3107

Owned by those it serves and having as its slogan, "Better farm living through Co-operation," the Marshall County Farm Bureau Co-op Ass'n. of Plymouth is daily demonstrating that when a group of people with a common purpose join together to work for the common good much more can be accomplished than is the result of the same number of people working separately.

Declining prices for farm produce and higher prices for almost everything the farmer has to buy, has brought about a squeeze that is hard to overcome. However, by providing the farmer with excellent marketing facilities for many of the products he raises and by providing him with many of the articles he needs at competitive prices the Marshall County Farm Bureau Co-op is assisting to overcome this disparity between income and outgo.

From their establishment in Plymouth the Marshall County Farm Bureau handles building supplies, fuel oil, fertilizer, tractors and farm implements, lubricants, haler twine, feed, tires, batteries, seed, plumbing and heating equipment, poultry and dairy equipment, home appliances and countless other necessary articles too numerous to mention.

Since the Marshall County Farm Bureau Co-op is owned by its members, profits earned are returned to the members in the form of patronage dividends thus accomplishing the result of selling quality merchandise at cost and achieving the aim of "Better farm living through cooperation."

In every industry and in every profession the individuals and firms that make up that industry or profession have joined together to bring about conditions that will improve the earning power of each and to increase the prestige of the group as a whole. It seems only natural and right that the farmer should, likewise, join forces with his neighbor to achieve a similar result and the Farm Bureau is his trade association formed for the same purpose as the Chamber of Commerce or any other business or professional association.

Ever since it was established the Marshall County Farm Bureau Co-op Association has aided the economic progress of the entire community by assisting the farmer to better his financial position and in this edition we are glad to compliment this organization upon its aims and achievements and we are pleased to again recommend its services. —Adv.

Savings and loan associations were first established in England as a cooperative effort to make home ownership possible for wage earners. The first association of this kind in the United States was established in 1789 at Frankford, Pa., and thrifty people who desire the greatest return on their savings coupled with safety now have some 74 billion dollars on deposit in these insured financial institutions.

To obtain the greatest return on your savings in order to keep pace with rising living costs is a problem that confronts many of us at the present time. To get the greatest return coupled with safety presents more of a problem but thousands of Indiana residents have found the answer at the Marshall County Building and Loan Ass'n. Funds deposited here serve a two fold purpose as they are largely invested in sound loans, on improved property and besides returning excellent dividends, help to build the community.

Drop in at the Marshall County Building and Loan Ass'n. in Plymouth and find out how they can help you along the road to financial independence. —Adv.

"At the Sign of the Eagle," every farmer knows there is a progressive J. I. Case dealer to serve him with one of America's outstanding lines of power farm machinery, implements, accessories and a full line of genuine J. I. Case parts.

In Plymouth this famous nationally known symbol will be found at Breeding's Farm Supply, a concern that is known throughout the entire area for quality, service, and fair dealings; where you're always welcome, and where courteous, friendly treatment is the rule and not the exception.

With the new Case-O-Matic line of tractors Breeding's Farm Supply can supply the power unit for any kind of farm and any size of farming operation. Case-O-Matic tractors feature Case-O-Matic drive, the greatest advancement in farm power in the past quarter century and they range in size from a 2-plow gasoline model to 5- and 6-plow diesels with eight or more forward speeds, power steering and dual control hydraulics.

Along with this outstanding line of Case-O-Matic tractors, Breeding's Farm Supply carries the complete line of J. I. Case farm machinery and handles New Idea corn pickers and manure spreaders and the famous Gehl line of forage harvesting and handling equipment. So, regardless of your need in equipment they are able to supply you with the machinery required for your operation.

In addition to the sale of new J. I. Case farm equipment Breeding's Farm Supply has a large and varied stock of used tractors and farm machinery of all makes which they sell at the lowest prices and on the most attractive terms possible. They pay particular attention to the used equipment end of their business and this is one place that you can buy used tractors and other farm machinery with complete confidence.

The service and parts department is another important division of Breeding's Farm Supply. Guy Breeding and his associates fully recognize the fact that when a piece of machinery is laid up for repairs it is losing money for the owner. For that reason they turn out their work with all possible speed, use genuine parts and see to it that you are satisfied with the job they do.

In this edition we want to suggest that you stop in at Breeding's Farm Supply and carefully examine the new Case-O-Matic line of tractors handled by this firm in Plymouth. —Adv.

A FISHING TIP

[From Sports Afield Magazine]
The trouble with bait is that little fish like it as well as lunkers. Here's a way to sneak it by the small fry before they have a chance to steal it. When using a mayfly larvae or similar bait, you can get it to deep water fast by hanging a fence staple on the hook. This protects the bait and a slight jerk will dislodge it when you're down where the big ones hang out.

This one's for eel fishermen. Eels are slippery and tough to unhook. Here's how. Take a regular metal bucket and run a wire across the top attaching it to the bases of the handle. Hold your eel above the bucket. When its tail touches the wire it will wrap around and hold tight. Thus, the eel will help you get out the hook. How do you get the eel loose? Just let go. He'll drop into the bucket.

307 North Center
Phone WEBster 6-2020

Cressner & Co. in Plymouth has built up an excellent business because of the fine service they have rendered in the matter of abstracts and title insurance. Fully qualified both by experience and training Cressner & Co. can quickly trace the history of any piece of property in Marshall County from government patent to the present date.

In any real estate transaction the services of an abstractor are most important and no one possessed of ordinary business acumen would think of buying real estate or granting a loan on a piece of property without an abstract that has been brought up to date. An abstract is a history and by checking it a qualified person can quickly determine as to the validity and marketability of the title. A current abstract will show any liens or encumbrances and is your assurance that the person from whom you buy has a right to sell.

A cloudy title can be the cause of a lot of worry and expense and by the employment of a competent abstract firm such as Cressner and Co. you can eliminate the necessity of you, your heirs, or assigns having to go to court at some future date to prove ownership. Many factors can cloud a title to real estate and with our complicated tax structure together with other matters incident to our personal and business affairs a current abstract is daily becoming more important. Without readily available the services of such firms as the one operated by Cressner and Co. the courts would be filled with quiet title suits and the transfer of real estate would hopelessly bog down. No one would be able to obtain a loan on property and all types of business would suffer accordingly.

It goes without saying that during the 69 years Cressner & Co. has been doing business in Marshall County its services have been most important and in this edition devoted to the leading business and professional firms of Plymouth it gives us pleasure to recommend the abstract and title service they have made available. —Adv.

Prepared by National 4-H Service Committee, Chicago

A unique privately supported aid-to-youth group, traditionally headed by the President of the United States, has just published a report covering 39 years of service to the 4-H Clubs of America. The National 4-H Service Committee headquartered in Chicago assists the Cooperative Extension Service of the USDA in maintaining and improving 4-H projects in all 50 states and Puerto Rico.

One of the committee's functions is to secure funds for awards and leader training. Today, about 60 industries and private groups contribute to specific 4-H programs. Another dozen or so provide funds for special events, a committee spokesman said. Commitments for 1961 total more than a million dollars.

Three companies, which gave financial and moral support to the fledgling 4-H Clubs four decades ago, still earmark funds to further this learn-by-doing program nationally. They are Armour, Wilson and International Harvester, according to the Committee.

Ten firms have given continuous support for 25 years or more. They are: the Cudahy Packing Company, Montgomery Ward, Sears-Roebuck Foundation, Kerr Glass, Westinghouse Educational Foundation and Livestock Conservation, Inc.

Railroad companies are the Burlington, Chicago & North Western, Santa Fe and Illinois Central.

More long-time backers of 4-H youth are: Conis & Clark Inc., Mrs. Charles R. Walgreen, Firestone, Allis-Chalmers, American Oil Foundation, Standard Oil Foundation, Standard Oil (Ky.), Standard Oil (Ohio), Sunbeam Corporation, General Motors, Carnation Company, Simpliply Patterns, American Forest Products Industries, Pure Oil Company, Conrad Hilton Hotel, Chicago Board of Trade and Cities Service Oil Company.

Business Gives Reasons

Why do these firms allocate large sums for 4-H? A look at the report reveals the following reasons given by business officials:

"We support 4-H because, like most forward-looking businesses, we have found that through cooperation with 4-H Club members and leaders, a better understanding is developed between industry and agriculture. This cannot help but strengthen and build an ever better America."

"The 4-H program emphasizes individual initiative, productive enterprise, and character development... If our contribution helps young people grow up to become more useful citizens, we feel it is a sound investment."

The record of continuous support given by industry is in itself sustaining evidence of the effectiveness of 4-H Club work in training youth for the "responsible leadership in the future," says the Committee's director, Norman C. Mindrum.

237 Scholarships

In 1960, he reports, 230 top-ranking club members received scholarships ranging from $400 to $1,600 each. Seven former 4-H'ers working in Extension were granted $3,000 fellowships for advanced study. In addition, some $140,000 was used in training more than 10,500 volunteer club leaders.

There are now 2.3 million girls and boys between the ages of 10 and 21 in 4-H. About half live in non-rural communities.

NOT FOR BIRDS — A "No Trespassing" sign on a fence around a Public Service Company transformer at Greenwood apparently meant nothing to a bird. It attempted to build a nest in the transformer. It caused a short circuit which left the city without electric service for two hours and 20 minutes. Repairmen found near the transformer a stunned bird with its tail feathers burned.

What would you say are the most beautiful words in any language?

A group of scholars, men and women who were familiar with the many tongues spoken throughout the world, were posed the same question not long ago.

Most of them assumed at the outset that "the most beautiful words" would be found in one of the Romance languages, such as French, Italian or Spanish, with their abundance of vowels.

But fortunately these linguistic experts decided also to take into account not only the sounds of words but likewise what they meant, the emotions they evoked when they were spoken, and any lingering quality of tenderness that appeared to be inherent in the very phonetics of them.

And so each of them labored long and diligently in the compiling of their candidates for the "most beautiful" honor. They wrote down many a word from their own extensive vocabularies, and repeatedly spoke them aloud. They consulted dictionaries for words to augment their own supply.

At last they got together to compare their selections. To their surprise, two words appeared most frequently on all the lists, and both of them were English — "home," and "sweet."

That lonely American composer, John Howard Payne, desolate amid the splendors of Italy, needed but few more words indeed to add to those two when, more than a century ago, he wrote the "Home, Sweet Home" that has lived so long in our hearts! —Adv.

IN SERVICE

FORT SILL, OKLA. — Cadet Richard Lee Large, Purdue University, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred L. Large, Route 2, Culver, Ind., has completed his fifth week of intensive Artillery Training at the 1961 ROTC Summer Camp at Fort Sill.

From these cadets will come the space age military leaders of tomorrow. Their training must prepare them to accept the responsibility for frequent crises created by rapid technological change and continuous diplomatic maneuvering. These men must be of the highest caliber obtainable and the university campuses throughout the nation are the sources of these potential leaders.

The ROTC cadets are the largest single source of Army officers each year and are the only source from which to draw properly qualified officers for some of our technical services.

During this week of training, the 511 cadets at Fort Sill under went individual Artillery Performance Tests designed to test the students' overall knowledge of an Artillery Unit in operation. They also spent two days in the field on overnight bivouac conducting RS-OP'S (reconnaissance, selection and occupation of Field Artillery firing position) and practicing Artillery firing.

Do You Remember 'Way Back When?'

Highlights of Culver News of 10, 20, 30, 40, and 50
Years Ago This Week

JULY 25, 1931 —

July 26 will mark the 116th anniversary of the arrival of the first permanent residents of the Lake Maxinkuckee area.

Mrs. Fidella Ann Wilfert, 82, died July 22 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Clara Stough, in Plymouth.

Miss Audrey Joyce Oberlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben W. Oberlin, and Lt. Grady Kitchens of America, Ga., were united in marriage July 16 at the Randolph Field Air Force Base chapel. Earl Misher will return to the Sprine Hospital at Oak Park, Ill., next week for therapy treatments.

Glen Snyder found a wallet in the Town Park July 18 containing $1600 in cash and checks, which was returned to its owner, E. L. Sausman of Bass Lake and Harvey, Ill.

Jerome Zechiel, who has operated the Lake Shore bowling alleys for the past five years, sold the business July 23 to George Robinson of South Bend.

JULY 23, 1941 —

Three brothers and a sister were reunited here last week after being separated for 50 years. They were Lawrence Davis, 60, Fountain, Utah; Ed Davis, 55, Ardmore, Okla.; John Davis, 67, Culver; and Mrs. Stella McGrew, 62, of the Poplar Grove neighborhood.

The Ben Oberlin stables copped five ribbons in the Gridley Horse Show Sunday at Bass Lake.

A period of 100 days without a fire set a new record here and broke a previous record by four days. A grass fire yesterday ended the fireless period.

The much needed and long delayed improvement of Road 17 from Culver to Logansport will be undertaken in 1942, it was disclosed recently.

Miss Rose Marie Cowen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cowen, became the bride of William Wallace Oberlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Oberlin, July 18 in the home of the bride's parents.

A daughter, Patricia Ann, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Brooke on July 19.

JULY 22, 1931

Mrs. Lee R. Easterday, 52, died at her home July 16 after an illness of seven years.

A financially responsible party has leased the Hayes Building and is transforming it into a modern moving picture house. It is expected that the new theatre will be open in three weeks for the presentation of sound pictures.

William O'Connor was injured in the first airplane crash ever to occur in Marshall County while taking his first ride in a plane operated by Guy Roach. Mr. O'Connor is in Parkview Hospital suffering from severe bruises.

The Kline and Shilling herd has climbed into first place in the Culver Herd Improvement Association.

Mrs. Maude Cooper, mother of Mrs. A. J. Dillon, gave a most interesting paper on Lake Maxinkuckee before the Ligonier chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution recently.

Dan Burkett of Argos and formerly of Culver has changed business relations. The firm of Burkett and Dawson has been dissolved and that of Burkett Brothers launched in which he is associated with his brother, Walter.

JULY 27, 1921 —

Three street lights are now installed on Main Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Mahler of Delong, are the parents of a 12-pound baby daughter.

Arrangements are about completed for the reception of the Tin Can Tourist campers. A 40-acre tract at the south end of the Lake has been secured and the number of campers coming is estimated at between 200 and 500.

Mary Alice and Rose Buswell are attending the older girls' conference at Lake Geneva, Wis.

Corn on high sandy land is a failure this year and corn on the lower land is in need of immediate rain. The late potato crop is generally considered past help. There will be no fruit in this area and canned fruits and vegetables will cost more than usual.

JULY 27, 1911 —

Rev. F. E. Zechiel of Marion and Rev. S. I. Zechiel of Mitchell, Kan., attended a family reunion July 26 at the home of their father, Jacob Zechiel.

An attempt to burglarize the post office was thwarted July 20 when Jesse Crabb heard noises in the night, investigated, and frightened away the would-be robbers.

Will Smith will leave next week for Lordsburg, Calif., to remain indefinitely on an orange ranch.

The excess temperature over normal thus far this year is 1,135 degrees.

Hand's Delivery Service has been improved by a new and up-to-date wagon.

The Menser Building is being remodeled for a new furniture firm.

FIRE DEPARTMENT calls should be made to Viking 2-2121. Note this number near your home phone.

Fish Derby For Young Fry Set For August 13

25 Prizes Go To Derby Winners

Children of the area are in store for some real fishing thrills Sunday, Aug. 13, when the first annual Fish Derby is held at pond number four of the Maxinkuckee Fish and Game ponds located on State Road 10 west of Culver. The affair will get under way at 1:30 that afternoon and is being sponsored by the Maxinkuckee Fish and Game Club.

Contestants will be entered in the Derby by age groups. The First Division will be composed of children who have not yet reached their sixth birthday and under. Second Division is for children from six years of age to those who are not yet nine years old, and Third Division will register children from nine years of age to and including those who are not yet 15 years of age.

Children in the First Division (not yet six years of age and under) may receive help in baiting hooks and removing fish from hooks. The other two Divisions are not to receive any help.

All fish landed must be measured and weighed by a judge to be eligible for a prize. All contestants are asked to bring their own bait, poles, and containers for fish. All fish caught may be taken home by the contestants.

A total of 25 prizes will be awarded and there will be free refreshments for all. The Marshall County emergency unit will be present, plus many judges and club members, to insure safety for everyone.

More details and prizes will be listed in The Citizen next week.

APPLICATION APPROVED TO SELL LIQUOR AND WINE

The application of Rector's Pharmacy, Inc., by Josephine J. Rector, 104 North Main St., Culver, to sell liquor and wine was approved last Thursday by the Marshall County Alcoholic Beverage Board.

By DAVID KELLY, Scribe

On Saturday, July 29, Culver Boy Scout Troop 290 is going on a canoe trip down the Tippecanoe River. They will camp out over night.

Scouts who plan on going, please contact Carl F. Foust by Thursday night. All Scouts should take a permission slip, $1.25 for food, sleeping bag or blankets, and their own personal gear. Also a sack lunch is needed for Saturday noon.

Last Monday night the Scouts went swimming to enable those who wanted to work on their swimming requirements to do so.

MRS. ELIZABETH HUBBELL MOVING TO NEW HOME AFTER TWENTY-ONE YEARS

Mrs. Elizabeth Hubbell, well known Culver resident, who has resided at the Lake Shore Apartments for 21 years, is moving next Monday to the Culver Mobile Home Park at 515 W. Jefferson St. She will have the first trailer, formerly occupied by Christine Croy. We wish Mrs. Hubbell much happiness in her new home.

Americans Wake Up Before It's Too Late

Protestants, Catholics and Jews agree that there is a just and merciful God above all human events to whom all men are responsible . . . Communism holds that there is no higher power than economic forces.

Protestants, Catholics and Jews believe in the brotherhood of all men as the Children of God . . . Communists, despite all their talk of Comradeship, believe that the only brothers are those "who have recognized the historic mission of the Proletariat." Everyone else is an enemy to be liquidated or outwitted.

Protestants, Catholics and Jews believe in the worth and dignity of every man as a free and responsible creature under God . . . Communists believe that man is a dummy who acts only in accord with his own interest.

Protestants, Catholics and Jews believe that Religion is the Way to the Highest Truth . . . Communists maintain that Religion is an Illusion and an Opiate of the People. Protestants, Catholics and Jews hold that the Example of Righteousness and Justice, set by God, should be the basis of all Human Morality . . . Communists maintain that all "Morality" should serve the Public Interest. Thus they hold that it is perfectly right to Lie, Cheat and Trick if it serves the Public Interest.

These Five Basic Points of Faith, sharply opposed to Communism could do much to Increase the Grandeur and Strength of our Generation now Growing to Maturity.
