Truth Of Johnny Appleseed Stranger Than His Legend

ONE OF INDIANA'S strangest pioneers is buried in Fort Wayne's ancient Archer graveyard.

It's a small plot, circled by an old iron fence and topped by a modest inscription. I stood there, munching an apple and pondering the curious life of the quaint, gentle wanderer whose dust was beneath my feet.

He was born John Chapman, but a zealous, lifelong crusade gave him the name we know — Johnny Appleseed.

Legend and song have pictured Johnny as a queer little man who scurried about the wild frontier, planting apple trees wherever he paused.

The truth, as sifted from legend, is stranger still — and does Johnny more justice.

BORN SEPT. 26, 1774, in Springfield, Mass., Johnny was apprenticed as a boy to a big orchardist where he learned apple culture.

There's evidence he attended Harvard before intense religious fervor drove him into the wilderness with two objectives — to preach and to plant apple trees.

Johnny was incredibly hardy. He wandered the wilderness alone — unarmed, ill-clad, barefoot, heavily burdened. His mush pan was his hat.

He was also incredibly gentle and so loved all living things that he considered even tree pruning cruel. He killed no game, ate only vegetables. Each fall he rounded up abandoned old, lame, or broken-down horses and sheltered them during the winter.

ONCE HE PUT OUT his camp fire and slept in the cold because the flames drew and killed mosquitoes. Another time, although painfully stung, he delicately removed a wasp from his leg and released it, saying:

"It didn't hurt me. It wouldn't be right to kill the poor thing."

Always eager to relieve suffering, he gathered herbs and concocted medicines. Indians called him a great doctor, and even during the bitter War of 1812, when most red men fought savagely for the British, Johnny Appleseed walked the wilderness unarmed.

Because he did, he became a sort of unmounted Paul Revere, warning settlers of approaching Indian dangers.

ALTHOUGH ECCENTRIC in many ways, Johnny was far from

Will Smith Brings Historical Item To The Citizen

William E. Smith, 1034 West Shore Drive, Culver, brought a very old and interesting document, which he has kept for nearly 60 years, to the attention of The Citizen recently.

It is a telegraphic order dated Sept. 19, 1901, from the office of the superintendent of the Terre Haute and Logansport Railway Company, for which Mr. Smith was telegrapher at the time, with the following message:

"On account of President McKinley's funeral, today all trains and yard engineers, regardless of location at 1:30 p.m. will come to a full stop and stand motionless for ten (10) minutes."

The order is signed by Mr. Smith, three conductors, and three engineers of three separate trains. It carries the admonition that each conductor and engineer must have a copy of the order.

William McKinley, our 24th president, was shot Sept. 4, 1901 by an assassin, Leon Czolgosz, six months after beginning his second term of office. He died at the age of 58, on Sept. 14 and was buried as the telegram states, on Sept. 19, in Canton, Ohio.

Citizen Will Be Published A Day Early Next Week

In order that our readers may receive next week's issue of The Culver Citizen before Thanksgiving, rather than after the holiday on Friday, this newspaper will be published and mailed next Tuesday afternoon for Wednesday morning delivery.

Therefore, our deadline for advertising or news stories for next week's Citizen will be 9 a.m. Tuesday morning.

LANDSCAPE CHANGES AT CULVER POST OFFICE

The large elm trees that have graced the Culver Post Office for so many years and added so much to the peaceful beauty of the Colonial styled red brick building have given way to a strange new appearance.

Their removal was the result of the dread elm disease which has destroyed so many of the town's oldest and most graceful trees. Culverites find it very difficult to adjust to their absence.

A new sidewalk has been laid in front of the Post Office and a wide approach walk has been put down from the street to the sidewalk.

The ads tell us we aren't really up to date unless we have a second car, a second TV, a second vacuum cleaner, even a second house. And obviously we're going to need a second mortgage, too. — Changing Times.

Town Board Hears Request To Repeal Zoning Ordinance

Petition Lists 328 Signatures

A regular meeting of the Culver Town Board on Monday, Nov. 6, was attended by an unusually large number of local residents. Seventy-six persons in all filled the small meeting room to capacity; most of them seemed to have come to support a movement to repeal the Zoning Ordinance for the Town of Culver and contiguous territory, which went into effect on Dec. 21, 1959, as one of the final acts of the last previous Town Board.

Following the formal opening of the meeting of the three-man board, Chairman A. R. McKesson invited the attending visitors to bring up any matter which they had come to propose or discuss. Dr. Ernest Norris initiated an appeal by presenting the board a petition, signed by 323 local property owners, calling for repeal of the Zoning Ordinance. The petition was read aloud by Dr. Norris, who then added remarks expressing his own reasons for favoring the proposed repeal. Willard Zechiel, local farm owner, also presented his arguments favoring discontinuance of the zoning regulations.

Considerable discussion then followed, during the course of which it was conceded that a final decision regarding continuance or repeal of the Zoning Ordinance rested with the Town Board, but that any change or repeal of the Ordinance must first be passed upon by the Zoning Board set up by the Zoning Ordinance.

A motion was then made by Dr. Norris, requesting that the petition be acted upon through the proper channels, and that a decision be promissed by the Town Board within the next 60 days. Chairman McKesson promised those present that such a decision would be forthcoming within the period specified. This statement seemed to satisfy the visitors present, most of whom left the meeting following a short discussion of the Culver-versus-school time difference situation, and a campaign for clean-up of business district alleys by the merchants.

Visitors to Culver judge it largely by the people they meet here. What do you do to make Culver more attractive to visitors and newcomers?

Mr. W. O. Osborn, president of The State Exchange Bank, Culver, announced today that Ronald A. McKee, Assistant Cashier, is a prize winner in the nation-wide "Bankers Aweigh" Contest sponsored by American Express Company.

Mr. McKee won the second prize in competition with bank executives and employees throughout the United States and Canada. The award, a set of Wins United Luggage plus $300 in American Express Travelers Cheques and $100 for a vacation wardrobe at the store of his choice, was presented to him at the bank Monday by Mr. Osborn with a message of congratulations from James A. Henderson, vice-president of American Express.

The prize awarded to Mr. McKee was based on his entry in the contest to select an original name for the symbolic "Travelers Cheque Family" used to promote safety in money-handling habits of the public.

According to recent surveys, Americans lose nearly a billion dollars in cash each year due to personal carelessness. Mr. McKee said banks advocate the use of travelers cheques by people away from home to safeguard vacation or business travel funds.

Mr. McKee resides at Route 1, Culver, and is married and has a 2½ year-old daughter. He has been with The State Exchange Bank since 1951.

Former Residents Benefactors Of Eastern Hospital

Mr. and Mrs. Carson C. Potter of Pottstown, Pa., former area residents, recently presented a $20,000 gift to the Pottstown Hospital to be used to complete the air conditioning of some 37 patients' rooms of the hospital.

Mr. Potter, who was born at Hamlet, Ind., near Knox, is president of the Lincoln Underwear Mills, Inc., located in Pottstown at Evans and Water Streets.

Mrs. Potter, the former Ethel Edgington of the Culver-Delong area, is a sister of Mrs. E. C. Leininger of Delong and Chicago and an aunt of Harry Edgington and Mrs. George Hopple, both of Culver. She completed two terms as president of the hospital auxiliary in June and also served several years as chairman of the Montgomery County Federation of Women's Clubs.

The gift, one of the largest individual ones in the hospital's history, came after Mrs. Potter's hospitalization on Oct. 4 following an accident on the farm where they raise prize Herefords. For many years they have been most generous to the Pottstown Hospital.

The Potters live at Wilson Ave. and Burdian Dr. and raise their prize cattle at "Brookside" farm just north of Sunnybrook.

The coming Thanksgiving holiday finds the Potters planning a trip to Illinois and Indiana. They will visit the George Hopple home on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 25 and 26.

Attend G.O.P. Spectacular At Indianapolis

Former vice-president Richard M. Nixon received a rousing standing ovation last night at Indianapolis' Coliseum from a near capacity crowd.

Introduced by Indiana's senator Homer E. Capehart, Nixon's brief but inspiring speech emphasized our "need to win" instead of a "just not to lose" attitude toward the Communist threat that faces our country.

Vaughn Monroe emceed the show and introduced the 60 entertainers including the Lennon Sisters, Charlie Weaver, the Manhattan Rockets, and Arthur Godfrey on his famous Palamino stallion, Goldie.

Two bus loads of Marshall County Republicans attended including Donald Osborn, Homer Kemple, Mrs. Wilber Taylor, Mrs. Orville Phelps, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Price from Culver.

A river becomes crooked because it follows the line of least resistance. Don't let that happen in your life. Attend the church of your choice each week — the effort will be worth it and the time well spent.

"Richard III"
Well Portrayed
At Eppley

By RICHARD HEATER
With a feeling of hesitant expectation, the audience awaited the University Players' production of Shakespeare's "Richard III" at Eppley Auditorium, Culver Military Academy, last Friday. Suddenly, the lights dimmed. War drums rumbled in the background. The curtain opened. There against a background of Gothic arches stood Richard of Gloucester portrayed by John Starrs. It was as though the audience had suddenly been transported 400 years back in time to the turbulent years of England's War of Roses. Shakespeare's "Richard III" is a somewhat distorted historical account of the rise of Richard of Gloucester to the throne of England. The play concerns itself entirely with the intrigues and treachery developed by Richard to gain the throne for himself. The viewer catches the tone of the play in the opening moments. Richard, appearing alone at the opening of the play, delivers a long dissertation on what he plans to accomplish. In concluding his speech Richard utters the fateful words, "I am determined to prove a villain." With this statement the mood of the play is clearly established. The consequent action revolves around Richard's villainous deeds.

The role of Richard was aptly portrayed. Through careful development of Richard's character, Mr. Starrs was able to illustrate the subtlety with which Richard contrived to secure the throne. Here was a unique character. While feigning friendship he would plot behind one's back to have him murdered. Starrs, especially in the tower scene with Clarence, did an excellent job of portraying "False Richard."

In addition to Starrs, whose portrayal of Richard was excellent, there were two other actors who should be cited for fine performances. Nicholas Bedessem as the fawning, greedy Buckingham, and David Little as George of Clarence, especially in Clarence's moving death scene, should both be commended.

As unfamiliar as this viewer is with the production of Shakespearean drama, he was, nevertheless, greatly impressed with the presentation. Richard III proved to be a truly enlightening and entertaining evening.

Richard Heater is attending Culver on a scholarship from the Falcon Foundation and The Culver Education Foundation. He is a member of the Honors English section, and is from Chatham, N. J.)

Great Lakes, Ill. — Donald E. Herr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard R. Herr of Route 2, Culver, is undergoing recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

The nine-week basic course includes classroom instruction in various naval subjects, military etiquette, drill, physical fitness, swimming and survival, first aid, shipboard safety precautions and security duty.

Throughout the training, recruits receive specialized counseling to determine which of the 67 Navy job specialties they will enter. Upon graduation, the new bluejackets will report to a navy school for further instruction or to a ship or shore station for on-the-job training.

BIG SHARE — The new Motor Truck Facts published by the Automobile Manufacturers Association reports that special truck taxes paid in 1960 amounted to about $3,000,000,000. Although trucks number only one-sixth of all registered vehicles, they contribute one-third of all special motor vehicle taxes.

Boonville sisters, Karen Jo and Debby Payne, gave a "Beat the Heat" party, a feature of which was a snowball fight. Last winter, when Boonville had a big snow, the Payne sisters conceived the party. They shoveled up a lot of snow and put it in the family's deep freeze. When it came time for the party, they fashioned snowballs. They even had enough snow to build a snow man but it didn't last long.

FRIED CHICKEN WITH CREAM GRAVY

2 (2 1/2-3 1/2 lb.) frying chickens cut in serving pieces

Flour

Salt and pepper to taste

2 Tbsp. butter or margarine

BENEATH THE HOOSIER STATE

CERAMICS INDUSTRY
DEPENDS ON ANCIENT MUDS

250 MILLION
YEARS AGO

TODAY

Geology Dept. and State Geological Survey at I.U.

Indiana's ceramics industry relies primarily on clays and shales found in the coal-bearing rocks of the southwestern part of the state. These clays and shales were formed millions of years ago, when the sea flooded Indiana many times. Streams carried muds and silts to the sea, and in time these formed shale. At times when the sea withdrew, the shale was exposed to weathering and was transformed to clay. The clay served as soil for the lush vegetation which was the raw material for coal. Later inundations by the sea left more mud layers which turned into shale on top of the plant debris which became coal. Studies by the State Geological Survey and the associated Indiana University Department of Geology help the Hoosier ceramics industry develop new sources of clay and shale. The industry's products, such as bricks and drainage and building tiles, sell for almost 30 million dollars annually.

Varied Reports From The Grades

By Susan Ruhnnow and Janet Heiser

Kindergarten — Mrs. Melton: Margaret Massa's mother gave a birthday party to the afternoon class. Robert Wayne Yeazel and Michael Jones furnished suckers for the morning class. One little fellow was telling the class about his new puppy. He was at a loss as just what the dog really looked like, until he hit upon the "101 Dalmation" idea. So he happily described the puppy as a Dogmation. There was great excitement due to their pictures. The children seem to be very pleased with themselves! Brent Lindvall treated the afternoon group to gingerbread men cookies.

Miss Page — Second Grade: Jeffery Reeves celebrated his birthday Monday. The class is talking of Indiana and pilgrims. They have also started their 3rd unit in reading.

Mrs. McLane — Second Grade: For the week ending Nov. 3 all the students received stars in spelling! Let's keep up the good work. Each student is to make a place card of a balanced lunch.

Mrs. Allen — Second Grade: Debra Shidler is home from the hospital. We are sorry to report several students have been absent due to colds. They are now studying Indian life and are in the process of making an Indian scene.

Mrs. Carter — Third Grade: Shirli Chisholm brought her pet hamster to school. When the students approached his cage he tried to hide from them under some paper. The class is starting a wood collection. Danny Artist will celebrate his 8th birthday, Thursday. In spelling they are learning how to arrange the list alphabetically. In arithmetic they are adding and subtracting three figure numbers. In health they are studying the different kinds of body cells and the protein foods.

Mrs. Keller — Fourth Grade: We are learning to do long division. We all know our 4's in multiplication. Joseph Reinhold had a birthday party at school Nov. 1. He was nine. Craig Gunder had a birthday Nov. 10. Craig was ten. We all enjoyed these parties very much.

Mr. Weaver — Fifth Grade: Mr. Weaver and his family were involved in an auto accident on the way home from his extension class in South Bend. He was unable to be at school Nov. 9 and 10, but has now returned.

"We're from Culver, couldn't be prouder." Congratulations boys on the great game you played against the Aubbee Braves last Friday night. The fans sure have high hopes for you, after seeing the way you played. We feel the fans should be commended too - with the kind of backing the Indians have, they can't help but come out on top.

We have seven really elite sophomore girls in school. Imagine - riding in a limosene just to get to their leaf raking job.

"Oh, yours are really good." "May I have one?" Yes, the underclass pictures have arrived and everyone is scurrying about trading pictures with friends. The seniors are looking forward to the arrival of their pictures on Nov. 30.

Looking through the halls it seems like spring has already sprung with all these signs of love walking around. Among the many couples are Bonnie Parker and Wade Logan, Linda Behmer and Jerry Nelson, and Barbara Overmyer and Tom Yocom.

Several of the senior girls think a collection should be taken up to send one of our outstanding senior boys to beauty school - we hear he is especially talented at hair styling. He is already practicing under the title "Confairs by Pete."

Margo Overmyer seemed to be very busy while one of our marines was home on leave, just ask her and she'll flash a grin and Bob Kerrigan's ring. Congratulations, Margo!

Many strange things seem to be happening in the cafeteria - straws just crumple up before your eyes. You don't dare turn around or the food disappears, and no matter how hard you try, you can never get it back. Puzzling, huh?

It looked like some of the senior girls were in training for track the way they were running down the street the other day. Upon further investigation we found out that due to "unforeseen difficulties" Mary Jane Guise's car failed to start. You'll all be

Music Groups Prepare For Christmas Concert

By Bonnie Parker

The members of the music department have been busily preparing for the forthcoming Christmas concert, Dec. 3. Both sections of the choir have been combined for the rehearsal of the program. Featured on the agenda will be the junior band, senior band, and high school mixed chorus. The highlights of the program will be a piano and organ duet and well known arias from the Messiah.

Activity pictures have been taken of all the musical organizations, including the twirlers and Pep band.

The twirlers have had their uniforms issued and have regular practices on Tuesday.

Lana Berger was unanimously voted the girl who used the most kleenex in one day. That's quite a feat, Lana.

Say Mr. Lawson, we understand you have been having lengthy discussions with your first period civics class about the population increase in Indiana. Could there be anything personal connected with this subject?

The camp fires are growing dim, and I'm not able to make out any more signals, so we'll just have to wait until next week. So long. . .

Boosters Club Is Formed

By Vicki Lyons and Linda Shock

The theme of the Sunshine meeting Nov. 8 was "My Decra-scope." Bonnie Good was chairman of the committee in charge. Each of the members of her committee picked a Zodiac symbol of some Sunshine members. It was a very interesting and amusing program since one of the committee's victims was the Sunshine sponsor, Miss Shanks. After the program, there was a discussion led by the financial committee on various money making projects. It was decided that the Sunshine girls will again sell candy.

The officers of Hi-Y and Sunshine held a combined meeting on Nov. 7 to make plans for the Snowball Hop to be held on Dec. 22.

A meeting of the Boosters Club was held on Oct. 31, for all those students in the upper four grades interested in organizing and joining a Boosters Club. The ideas and principles of such an organization were given by Mrs. Cast and the varsity cheerleaders.

Another meeting will be held in the near future to begin operation of such a club. The main object of such a club is to create enthusiasm so let's all join and boost our school spirit to the top, and keep it there!

This article is dedicated to the many parents who read our school paper. We know you parents are all interested in what your child is learning in school, so we are going to try to help you find out a little more on this subject. We are going to take you into one of the classes and let you see just what is going on. Which class are we going to investigate?

Since every student is required to take three years of English in high school, let's visit one of Mr. William Graham's classes. Mr. Graham has a way of making his classes different, amusing, and very interesting. As most of the students will tell you, Mr. Graham's classes are not a breeze, but ask almost anyone what his favorite class is and you can be quite sure a large number of his students will answer English without much hesitation.

First, let's take a look around this popular classroom on the top floor of the C.H.S. building. You are bound to find it fascinating. On the two bulletin boards you will see various drawings and pictures pertaining to the many subjects being studied. Most of these exhibits have been drawn and made by Mr. Graham himself. (He's quite an artist!) You will notice the "quotation of the week" printed in bright pink letters on the blackboard, the book of the week" posted on one wall, the record player and many records, a few novels for us to read, a group of college pennants above the bulletin board, the Purdue University sticker above the door (Mr. Graham's most prized possession (?), and many other pictures and decorations can be seen else where in the room. These things are seen and enjoyed by the students every day.

At the beginning of the class, Mr. Graham calls the roll and everyone answers with a rousing "Here, sir!" (Unless of course you are absent.) On this particular day Mr. Graham looked at his class and commented, "You all look eager and intelligent. (Choke!) Let's have a test!"

The test covered two stories written by one of the earlier American authors, Washington Irving, and the new vocabulary connected with these stories. Do all of you know what the words ostentation, sycophant, or precipitate mean? If not, don't feel badly, most of us didn't either! We learned fast though, believe me.

After the test, the class started a discussion on the homework for the day. We were to have begun a paragraph on the subject of "Humanitarianism" - - Ooops! Someone forgot to do his homework? For shame. Mr. Graham then reminded this student of the importance of improving his grade by giving us one of his familiar sayings. Quote, "It's a proven fact that many famous people got bad grades in school. But since none of us can count on being famous, we'd better work and settle for the high grades!" Unquote. (It's something to consider!)

The class then got back to the subject at hand. A few interesting points were brought by the class, but the discussion was interrupted by the bell ending the class period.

Well, are these things similar to some of the things you parents studied in school? If not, don't think much of it. It's a changing, modern world your children are living in. A new interesting, challenging world. Ask your child about it, I'm sure he'll agree.

Meet The Faculty!

By Beverly Barshes
"Meeting Your Faculty" is one method of meeting some of our most outstanding teachers in Culver Elementary Schools.

As I began my search towards the elementary building I came across an attractive second grade teacher who I discovered was Mrs. Carl Sherrill. She has brown hair and brown eyes and stands at 5 foot 6 inches tall. She was born in Rineyville, Kentucky in the year of . . . well, like most women, that seems to always remain a secret. Mrs. Sherrill attended both grade school and high school in Rineyville, which of course is her home town. After graduating from high school, she attended Western Kentucky State College and graduated with promise of being a successful teacher.

She is married to Mr. Carl Sherrill, who is on our faculty too. They have two children, 10 and 12 years of age.

Before coming to Culver, Mrs. Sherrill taught at North Bend, but then joined our own faculty after the Starke county school was closed.

Her favorite food is everything in general and her favorite color is blue. My next question was what her pet peeve was and her only reply was, "Nothing in particular. I suppose I'd leave that up to other people to decide, because they're the ones that judge me and know what they are."

Then as I closed my questioning, I asked the most familiar question that everyone always asks, and that was: If she enjoyed teaching. And her final answer to my line of questions was, "I love it very much!"

So ends my discussion with just one of our faculty members and it proves that our teachers are truly wonderful people and next we'll introduce another teacher of Culver's own faculty.

Soph Benefit Show Nov. 15-16

By Christine Hand and Bonnie Saft

The Freshmen were kept busy last week taking the Iowa Development Tests. Our freshmen basketball games will be starting soon. We hope to have a good team this year and wish them good luck. We have been alternating with the sophomores in our fudge sales.

The sophomores have been raking leaves and have been doing very well. So don't forget if you want your leaves raked call one of the following people: Sam Lowry, Janet Beck, Betty Everett, or Lucy Osborn. We had our first fudge sale two weeks ago and will have another this week. So don't forget to buy some good sophomore fudge this Friday. We have set the date for our show. It will be Nov. 15 and 16, Wednesday and Thursday, at the El Rancho Theatre. The shows are "The Wonderful World of Jules Verne" and "Bimbo the Great." You can purchase your tickets from any sophomore or at the door. We hope to see you there.

The juniors are waiting anxiously for their class rings, which are expected to come within the next week. They have been making plans for the dances after the home basketball games. The class made a tremendous profit on the play. They came out with $535.97 clear profit. So, the class set a new record for junior plays. Barbara Hatten was top seller with $30.75 and Frank Keiser was next with $30.25. Larry Miller's team came in first, selling $204.25 worth of tickets.

The senior class seems to be very busy making and painting their cords for the coming basketball games. The class received the itinerary for the trip to New York and Washington, which all are anxiously awaiting. Also, they are getting ready for the selling of the concessions at all the home games. All are reminded to make use of the coke machine in the gymnasium.

In seventh grade English we have been writing limericks. Here is an example written by Loretta Berger:

There was a young girl in our class
Who feared that she never would pass.

She studied each night
With all of her might

And wound up the head of her class.

Students Depict How They'd Teach

By Thad Overmyer, Sharon McGaffey and Janeen Scruggs

You have often heard a student mutter in anger, "If I were the teacher I'd . . ." Well, this week we decided to ask some of the students just what they would do if they could be the teacher for a day.

Beverly-Barshes: Bawl out the poor little innocent kids all day long.

Judy Kimmel: Act superior, and bawl out everybody.

Pat Kline: Have a grand ole time!

Frank Keiser: Go have a coke with Mr. Graham.

Mike Overmyer: Have order in the classroom for a change.

Linda Kose: I'd give the job of Schoolbell editor to Mr. Lawson. The same night he had to type up the assignments he would have to prepare for a civics test and write a paper on a political cartoon, plus a few other "minor" studies.

Barbara Overmyer: Expel all of the teachers.

John Benedict: Knock a few punk kids in the head.

Jim Carter: Quit school.

Tom Yocom: Quit and get a decent job before I went crazy.

Phil Grotter: Order the sophomores and juniors to donate all their money to the senior class.

Margo Overmyer: Demand order and respect from the students because without these a teacher will be unable to teach and the students will be unable to learn.

Mary Jane Guise: Demand more pay!

Martha McAllister: Close down

Thumbnail Sketch Of Senior Girl

By Mimi Fisher

The sun, which seems to pale as winter draws close, does not cast a definite shadow over our school, instead, our ace reporter changes her line of duty and conducts an interview with one of Culver High's charming, intelligent, talented, and vivacious senior girls.

She likes: Classical and jazzy music . . . fried chicken . . . autumn . . . to drive a straight shift car . . . the color red . . . French . . . to play the piano (when in the mood) . . . Indiana University . . . boys . . . basketball . . . boys . . . pestering Jim Carter in English class.

She dislikes: To hear people pop their gum . . . school . . . riding in windowless cars . . . the time situation . . . people who constantly borrow pencils and don't return them . . . cliques.

One more hint: You should see her head turn at the mention of one word - - Pete! Yep! She is none other than Lana Berger. What would we do without her? Or maybe the question should be, what should we do with her?

the school.

Pat Hicks: I would demand that the students be allowed to wear sports wear, slacks, etc. any time they wanted to. (Also get rid of the teachers with old-fashioned ideas - about girls and boys.)

Janet Logan: I would demand attention in the class room.

IT'S UP TO YOU

By

Howard E. Kershner, L.H.D.

PRESIDENT Kennedy has appointed Joseph Charles Swidler and Howard Morgan to vacancies on the Federal Power Commission. The former is the new chairman. Both are believers in the principles of Federal power. Public power advocates are now believed to be in control of the Federal Power Commission.

Swidler was Dr. Kershner formerly general counsel for the Tennessee Valley Authority and according to the KNOXVILLE JOURNAL, January 28, 1961, was discharged for objectionable activities against one of TVA's present directors, Arnold R. Jones.

Morgan was formerly Democratic State Chairman of Oregon and is a protege of Senator Wayne Morse. On four separate occasions he filled out Federal job applications ignoring the fact that he has two arrests for assault and for larceny on his police record.

Morgan said he denied the arrests to save the Federal Bureau of Investigation two to four weeks of needless investigation. Asked by Senator Scott if he were serious, he replied: "I am not being facetious about this matter." Even so, the Senate committee approved Morgan.

Apple Butter Making At Burr Oak

Apple butter making has pretty much gone the way of the one horse sleigh, changing the straw in the straw ticks, and trimming the wicks of the kerosene lamps.

However, around Burr Oak this is not the case. There, come October, this little community is abuzz with activity preparing for this big event, the yearly money-making project of the local E.U.B. Church.

Through the years, this interesting process has drawn many visitors and customers from surrounding areas and even out-of-state.

This year three 12-hour days, plus many hours of preparation, were spent in the actual production of this commodity with the result of 220 gallons of delicious dark brown old-fashioned apple butter.

The Citizen is indebted to Mrs. K. Earnest of Argos for supplying the above pictures.

TOOTH SAVERS — A group of dentists in Sullivan have banded together to make protective mouthpieces for every member of the Sullivan High School football team. The mouthpieces, if purchased, would cost about $5 each. Thus the dentists by their contribution have saved the athletic fund about $350. It's only a guess as to how many teeth they have saved.

TAKE A SHRIMP TIP FROM CHINA: SERVE IT SWEET AND SOUR

When looking for intriguingly different ways to serve shrimp, there's no better place to turn than China. For hundreds of years the Chinese have been eating exotic shrimp dishes, and their shrimp recipes are now world famous. Just taste the popular Oriental ingredients—crisp green pepper, spicy ginger, zippy soy sauce—blended with the highly regarded flavor of shrimp, and you'll know why. The pungent Chinese Shrimp, known in the Orient for centuries has been adapted by the Shrimp Association of the Americas for preparing in home kitchens.

CHINESE SHRIMP

1 pound shrimp, fresh or frozen, or 1 (8 oz. or 10 oz.) pkg. peeled & deveined shrimp
1/4 cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup vinegar
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
1 No. 2 can pineapple chunks drained (reserve syrup)
1 green pepper, cut in strips
1 medium onion, cut in rings

Clean shrimp and cook them by boiling in salted water 3 to 5 minutes. Mix together in saucepan brown sugar, cornstarch and salt. Add vinegar, soy sauce, ginger and syrup drained from canned pineapple. Cook this mixture until slightly thick, stirring constantly. Add green pepper strips, onion rings and pineapple chunks and cook 2 or 3 minutes. Just before serving, add shrimp and bring to boil, stirring constantly. Serve with hot rice. Makes four servings.

NIPSCO Property Tax Amounts To Almost $4 Million

"Payment of almost $4 million ($3,953,434.32) in real estate and personal property taxes this week by Northern Indiana Public Service Company raised the firm's total contribution toward the successful operation of Indiana schools, cities, towns, and counties for the year to almost eight million dollars," Dean H. Mitchell, president of NIPSCO, said today.

"The November installment of $3,953,434.32, added to the spring payment of $3,953,430.42, brings the company's total state and local property tax bill for 1961 to $7,906,864.74," Mitchell said, "making NIPSCO one of the largest single tax payers in the state of Indiana."

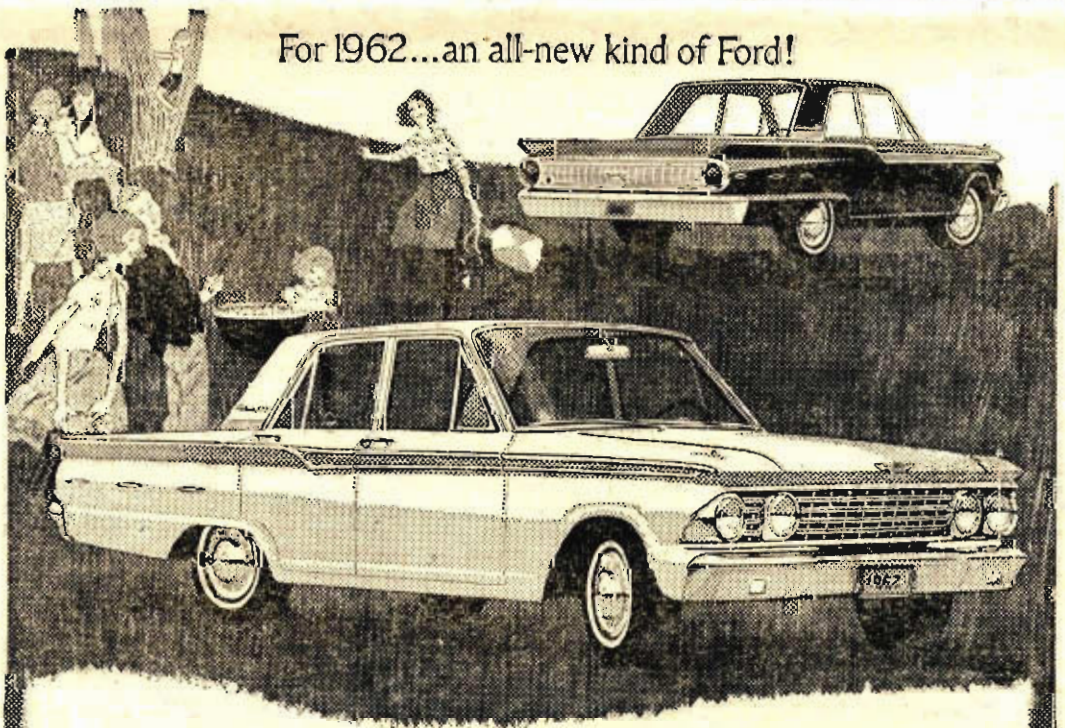

The company's tax payments this year are $677,697.28 higher than in 1960.

John E. Nickloff, Plymouth district manager, said that total local taxes paid by the utility in the Plymouth area in 1961 amounted to $274,544.00, of which $69,623.18 went to Starke County; $27,940.30 to Fulton County; and $176,980.52 to Marshall County. The city of Plymouth received $91,621.80; the city of Rochester, $12,675.28; and Knox received $13,620.42.

Tax payment checks were sent to NIPSCO district managers well ahead of the Nov. 6 deadline to make sure county treasurers received them in plenty of time.

STILL GOING STRONG—When Bill Brooks, Lafayette Journal and Courier columnist, dug up a story about a Rensselaer great-grandmother who, in her 70s, still bowls regularly and makes some good scores he thought he had a story that couldn't be topped. But not long after its publication he was informed that a former Lafayette man, Frank Fowler, now 89 and a great-grandfather, is also a regular bowler has had a respectable average of 145-150. The elderly kegler, now living in Salt Lake City, Utah, bowls three or four times a week. The Rensselaer woman bowler is Mrs. Merle Ross.

For 1962...an all-new kind of Ford!

the car that's just right for just about everybody
right between Galaxie and Falcon

You've never seen anything like it, because there's never been anything like it... until today. On the outside the new Ford Fairlane 500 measures a quick 197 inches from stem to stern. A good foot shorter than the cars from which it borrowed its name, it calls the snugest parking places home. At the same time, on the inside the new Fairlane 500 is every inch as big as some of the bigger Fords ever built.

The new Fairlane 500 is priced way under previous Fairlanes; it is well under many compacts. But Fairlane economy doesn't stop with a pretty price tag. It runs to amazing gas savings—with either the world's first economy V-8 or the nickel-horsing Fairlane Six. And routine service has been reduced to a minimum—80,000 miles on many items, only twice a year or 6,000 miles on the rest. And it adjusts its own brakes.

UNICEF

Editor, CITIZEN:

The enclosed article taken from the editorial page of the Indianapolis Star has me rather confused. Each year the Scouts, the schools, the Churches, and The Citizen encourage our children to collect for UNICEF.

We have been led to believe that UNICEF is a truly helpful organization and I have been glad to give my children permission to take part in this program and to contribute to it myself.

The enclosed article however certainly refutes all that we have told our children about UNICEF and tells us that we have actually been supporting a communist dominated group.

Have we all been wrong?

PHYLLIS MARS

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article, to which Mrs. Mars refers, was taken from the Oct. 24th issue of The Indianapolis Star:

By Harry T. Everingham
"Mrs. Frances G. writes: 'Every year at Halloween the UNICEF organization (which stands for 'United Nations' International Children's Emergency Fund') asks the churches to send our children from door to door, trick-or-treat, to collect money for UNICEF.'

"Then this organization comes back again, between Halloween and Christmas, and tries to sell us internationalist Christmas cards, which have no reference to Christ and no religious significance whatever. Please tell us, what is this UNICEF organization, so that we'll know what we are dealing with."

"Dear Mrs. G.: UNICEF is not an international children's emergency fund in the sense that it would like to have us believe, because UNICEF renders no direct service to children or to mothers. UNICEF does not get much international co-operation. It draws nearly 80 per cent of its money from the United States. Communist Russia pays only 1 per cent of the cost of UNICEF and all Communist countries require that their donations must be used in their own country. Nevertheless, 3 cents out of every 4 cents contributed to UNICEF by Americans are spent by UNICEF in Communist countries.

"The first chairman of UNICEF was a Communist from Poland. At least one-fourth of the members of the U. S. Committee for UNICEF (sponsors of the UNICEF trick-or-treat drive) have records of affiliation with Communist-front organizations.

"I have not seen the UNICEF Christmas cards this year, but in previous years many of the artists who drew these cards were people who had Communist-front affiliations and records. This means that they are atheists, so why should they put any religious meaning into the Christmas cards they draw, much less make them symbolic of Christ, whose birthday we celebrate at Christmas?"

Editor's Note: The following article from the Nov. 9 issue of the South Bend Tribune was enclosed with Mrs. Lottie Reed's letter to the Editor:

SOUTH BEND DRIVER HURT IN PLYMOUTH

PLYMOUTH — "Mrs. Helene Newberg, 50, 4315 W. Ford St., South Bend, suffered cuts and bruises in a two-car collision at 9:45 p.m. Wednesday on Ind. 17, 2½ miles west of Plymouth.

"Deputy Sheriff Harold King said Mrs. Newberg's eastbound car collided with a westbound vehicle driven by Larry Weaver, 23, of 417 Liberty St., Culver.

"King said the accident occurred when Mrs. Newberg swerved to the left to avoid another westbound car that was passing the Weaver car. The other car did not stop."

Editor, CITIZEN:

No doubt you saw this item in the Nov. 9 issue of the South Bend Tribune.

However, it does not give complete details. Two boys were in the third car, that quickly drove away from the scene of the accident. They had been driving parallel with Mr. Weaver's car for some time, not allowing him to either fall behind or drive ahead of them. They would only laugh at him and continue to stay beside him.

When Mrs. Newberg's car appeared from the opposite direction, Mr. Weaver tried to get ahead of the boys, thinking they would surely fall in behind him, allowing the car to pass, but they did not. Mrs. Newberg panicked when she saw both pairs of headlights, and drove directly in front of the Weaver car causing a head on collision. The boys sped away from the scene of the accident, not even having the courtesy to see if they could be of help.

WAGON MASTER Jack Ratliff halts his mule-drawn covered wagon for rest near Tracy, Mo. He has traveled like this in all 48 continental states since a doctor told him 20 years ago to get plenty of fresh air because of a lung condition. In "high gear" the bearded wanderer averages about 2½ miles per hour with dogs, cats and goats as his companions.

BEACH ball crowns lively midwesterner, Barbara Cooper, as she leaps for joy. The pretty water skier had just received word she had won the jumping championship at the national water ski tournament in Texas.

ORBIT EARS—Looking like giant outdoor versions of familiar indoor television antenna, huge "ears" like these will help 18 tracking stations maintain constant contact with America's first astronaut to go into orbit. Checking radar complex is G. R. White, Project Mercury manager for The Bendix Corp.

Both cars were demolished, and it is a mystery that all four occupants were not killed. They were taken by ambulance to the Plymouth Hospital for treatment, and later Mrs. Newberg was taken to the South Bend hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Weaver were both cut and bruised and are suffering from multiple injuries and shock. Their six-month-old baby daughter was found unconscious, under the dash board. She had a concussion and numerous cuts and bruises on her face. She has two black eyes, and is a pathetic sight. We are hoping and praying she will have no lasting injuries from this terrible accident.

I am Mrs. Weaver's grandmother and am writing to you, hoping that you may write an editorial in your paper about such dangerous teen-age pranks. Perhaps these boys will read it and realize the needless suffering they have caused.

I understand that this sort of thing has been going on around Culver and Plymouth of late. It should be stopped before some one is killed or has to suffer life long injuries.

Mr. Weaver is a 5th grade teacher in Culver Public school.

"Hoosier At Large"

swacked when it came to apples. Contrary to popular belief, he didn't scatter his hard-fetched seeds willy-nilly. He planted them in shrewdly chosen, carefully tended nurseries — then sold young trees to the settlers.

Although he never pressed debtors and wanted little for himself, he was a fairly good business man. He had to be to buy and transport seeds and establish new nurseries as he pushed across Ohio into Indiana, pursuing the frontier.

No one knows how many thousand apple trees Johnny planted. He was in Ohio 37 years before coming to Indiana's Fort Wayne area in 1838 — always planting and preaching.

Hoosier settlers badly needed Johnny's apple trees, and he prospered. But he never abandoned his ragged raiment, nor stopped preaching.

ONE WINTRY MARCH day in 1845 Johnny heard that cattle had invaded one of his nurseries 20 miles away. Although past 70, he set off afoot to save his beloved apple trees.

That evening, cold and exhausted, he staggered to the cabin of William Worth, a former Ohio friend. Worth fed Johnny bread and milk.

That night Johnny led the Worth family in worship. Rejecting an offered bed he slept on the floor under a quilt. By morning he had pneumonia and a raging fever.

Worth summoned a doctor, but it was too late. On March 18, 1845, Johnny died. He was laid to rest in the David Archer family's burying ground. Friend added a headstone, later lost to the passing years.

JOHNNY'S ESTATE PAPERS still on file in Allen County, show that at his death he owned two nurseries, one with 15,000 apple trees, the other with 2,000. He also had a few tracts of land.

But relatives were hard to find. It took 11 years to settle Johnny's estate — and by then it was wholly gobbled by legal vulture and court costs.

What happened to the estate means nothing, Johnny wouldn't have cared. He fulfilled his life goals.

But I suspect Johnny might be sad about one thing I noticed at his grave. There's no apple tree.

So I gouged into the core of the apple I was munching and pushed the seeds into the ground. I hope they grow . . .

The availability here and now of the healing power of the Christ, Truth, will be stressed at Christian Science church services this Sunday.

Luke's account of the healing by Christ Jesus of the "woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself" is included in the Scriptural readings. "Soul and Body" is the subject of the lesson-Sermon.

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this passage will be read: "God will heal the sick through man, whenever man is governed by God. Truth casts out error now as surely as it did nineteen centuries ago. All of Truth is not understood; hence its healing power is not fully demonstrated" (p 495).

The Golden Text is from Psalm 90: "Lord, thou hast been our dwelling place in all generations . . . Let thy work appear unto thy servants, and thy glory unto their children."

HOOSIER HAPPENINGS

By Harold Hanson

PEEK HITS PEAK — The year book of Marion County's Pike Township High School was entitled "Pike's Peek." It was judged first in its class of some 3,000 publications in a competition conducted by Intercollegiate Press with headquarters at Mission, Kansas.

GIVE 'EM TIME — The Delphi Citizen reports that Mrs. John I. Bowman, viewing exhibits at the Delphi pet show, was perplexed by one of them. She asked the exhibitor, young Johnny Myers, what it was. "They're frogs," said Johnny. "But I don't see any frogs," Mrs. Bowman told the boy. "Well, they will be," said Johnny, "they're tadpoles now."

PIANO YIELDS RELIC — A Boonville man, Fred McNeely, examining the interior of an old piano he had purchased, found in it a yellowing pamphlet entitled "Brother Johnathan." According to the masthead, the pamphlet was a twice-a-year publication, July 4th and Christmas, put out by a New York firm, Wilson and Company. It carried advertisements listing books available from various publishing companies. The issue found by McNeely was dated July 4, 1846, and its editorial content consisted principally of stories about wars and famous military men, all illustrated by hand drawn sketches. McNeely turned the pamphlet over to The Boonville Standard for examination.

CONFUSING — After many conferences and some legal maneuvers a joint school board was selected to serve in College Corner, a town that sits astride the Indiana-Ohio border and whose boundaries lie within Union County in Indiana and Preble and Butler Counties in Ohio. Residents of the town seem satisfied with a solution that gives seven board memberships to Indians and five to Ohioans. Everett E. Potts, as the chief executive of the College Corner schools will have the title of superintendent in Ohio and in Indiana, he will be the school principal. A board member said: "We'll have a superintendent and a half."

Why not clip this and send to a serviceman or other displaced Hoosier?

ROCKY HOBBY — A Warren County couple, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hurych of Williamsport, having reached retirement age, have taken up the collection of rocks as a hobby. The Williamsport Pioneer says Hurych has shown some skill as an amateur lapidary and has turned some mere rocks into fine pieces of custom jewelry for women and cuff links for men. Hurych says of his hobby: "It's fascinating and it's fun. I heartily recommend it to anyone over 70."

MOBILE HOOSIER FARMERS — The Automobile Manufacturers Association in its 1961 edition of Motor Truck Facts reports that Indiana farmers with 140,276 cars ranks eighth among all states in this respect, and ranks tenth in the number of trucks with 68,151. That is 26.7 per cent. of all Hoosier truck registrations.

SHE'S A CHAMP — A 15-year-old cow on the Boone County farm of Ray Bottema has set a record by producing more than 300,000 pounds of milk during her life time. According to the official testing program of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America, the cow, during her career has produced 300,531 pounds of milk and is the first 300,000 pound producer in the association's history. At the association's headquarters in Brattleboro, Vt., it was announced that she is the nation's all-time top milk cow regardless of age, breed or milking frequency. The cow is officially registered as Zeldenrut Pontiac Korndyke 264-9438 (EX).

MEMORIES — There was a lot of reminiscing in Flora about the excitement of the "good old days" when, one afternoon, a runaway horse bolted through the business district of the Carroll County town and five stray cows strolled up Main Street past the office of The Hoosier Democrat. The horse had bolted from a buggy from which a farmer was selling fresh vegetables. The cows had wandered away from a sale barn where a gate was left unlocked.

Indians Lose Heartbreaker To North Miami

Play Tyner There Friday Night

By EARL D. MISHLER

The basketball game at Tyner, scheduled for Friday night, Nov. 17, will start with the B team game at 7:00 p.m. (EST) followed by the varsity game at 8:15 (EST).

The Culver Indians became North Miami's first basketball victims in their brief history as a school Friday night, bowing in a 55-52 heartbreaker on the winner's home floor.

Culver started fast, jumping to a 15-4 first quarter lead, behind the scoring and rebounding of senior John Benedict, playing center for the first time since his sophomore year on the B team. But the hosts, led by speedy guard Jerry Miller, gradually whittled away the Indians' lead. With the aid of several missed free throws by the visitors, the Warriors had cut the lead to 23-21 by half-time.

For the second week in a row, fouls took a heavy toll on the Indians' front line in the second half. In addition, Tom Boswell suffered a cut eyelid in the third quarter. However, Culver was able to hold a 40-35 third quarter margin, with Benedict still leading the way.

The fourth quarter was a saw-saw battle all the way until North Miami center Terry Truix swished four free throws in the waning seconds to offset some fine clutch scoring by Culver.

Benedict's 22 points and 15 rebounds easily led both clubs, while Carl Miller, Truex, and Jerry Miller led the winners with 16, 14 and 12 points respectively. Boswell and Paul White backed Benedict with eight points apiece.

Culver's B-Team put on a stirring fourth quarter rally, but fell short, 32-28 against an older and taller North Miami team. The Papooses were led by Frank Ikert who had 13 points, including 10 in the final period. Byron Pites with 10 points, led the winners, who at one point had a 20-4 lead.

Academy Sports

Culver Military Academy began to look to the winter sports of basketball, swimming, wrestling, and polo today with the close of a 4-3-1 football season last Saturday.

For Coach Russ Oliver, a season-ending 27-20 defeat at Schlarmann (Danville, Ill.) did not destroy chances for his 18th winning grid season in 22 years. Schlarmann went into the game with a 6-2 record and a several-touchdown favorite. The Eagles, bolstered by an impressive victory over Bloomington University School the week before, made a battle of it before they ran out of time.

Schlarmann scored in every quarter and led all the way. But based mainly on a passing attack that accumulated 213 yards on 13 completions, Culver kept the Illinois eleven within reach. Bill Borkenstein, the team's leading scorer, recorded all 20 points for the Academy in a scoring dual with Schlarmann's Dave Mayoras.

Mayoras participated in three of Schlarmann's four touchdowns. He fired a five-yard pass to John James for the first TD, and then kicked the extra point. But Borkenstein made it 7-6 on a four-yard run. Mayoras struck back with two more touchdowns in the third and fourth quarters to run the score to 21-6, but Borkenstein kept Culver in the game with two TDs in the fourth period. Tom Grites scored Schlarmann's other touchdown.

The Academy will open the winter sports season when the basketball team goes into action Dec. 1 at home against Howe Military Academy.
