Expect Historic Highs In Retail Buying In 1962

Workers' Earnings Climbing Steadily

By ROGER W. BABSON

No. 11 U. S. Economist
Babson Park, Mass. — In my 1962 annual forecast for readers
I predicted that retail trade will set fresh records during the new year. Not all economists are of of the same mind on this matter, so I would like to point out my reasons for expecting historic highs in retail buying in 1962. Retail-ers from the largest to the smallest, from the big cities to the tiny hamlets, could be affected by the developing trend.

Roger W. Babson

Money In Buyers' Hands

First off, it should be emphasized that workers' earnings have been climbing steadily ever since the depression of the 1930's, with only an occasional temporary cor-The gains over the past ten years have been continuously gratifying, bringing up the standard of living for the country as a whole. More and more peo-ple bave had enough money to put aside in bank accounts, in-surance, mutual funds, and other forms of investment.

Since the beginning of 1952, average weekly earnings as well as average hourly earnings have risen over 40%. Even after tax deductions, the basic condition and morale of the wage earner has been steadily on the rise. To demonstrate that the uptrend is still strong, it should be noted that over the past twelve months hourly earnings have gone up 4%, and weekly earnings 7%. The rate, as you can see, is still The rate, as you can see, is still very healthy.

Earnings Vs. Living Costs

The importance of the great boost in earnings is highlighted by the fact that, during the same period of time, the retail price of goods and services has edged up-ward at a far less rapid pace. The consumer price index of the Labor Department has, in fact, risen only a moderate 13% during the past ten years. Over the past twelve months the gain has amounted to only 1%, a far cry from the 7% rise in weekly earnings mentioned above.

I am proud indeed of our manufacturers and merchants who have thus succeeded in holding prices down while wages have ly seeking new raises and more costly fringe benefits. But I am confident that astute tradesmen will be able to hold their heads above water successfully in 1962, - at least partly because of the tremendous retail turnover that I anticipate.

Labor Force Expanding

The labor force has been grow-ing steadily, and the families of that force are the nation's buyers. While the unemployment problem has been a serious headache for the Administration. has not affected selling seriously, except in a few one-industry localities such as, for instance, coalmining centers. Detroit can be badly hurt during a recession or at model-changing time, but employees laid off over the longer term can gradually be absorbed by other industries spreading out into previously all-auto sections. The eighth Indiana contract for a federally-sponsored survey to determine immediate fallout shelter protection was awarded to a South Bend firm in Louisville. Ky., on Monday, according to an announcement by Col. James L. Lewis, U. S. Army Corps of En-

The survey and marking program, to be conducted by the firm of Charles W. Cole and Sons, will include Marshall and St. Joseph counties. Survey work on the first phase of the three-part program will begin within the next few days, with completion expected in approximately nine weeks.

The state is divided into 16 areas for survey purposes, each area containing approximately 300,000 residents. Contracts for the remaining eight areas are expected to be let by the end of January. In order to submit a contract estimate, a private architectural or engineering firm must have personnel trained by the Federal Government in survey techniques at one of a number of two-week training sessions throughout the country. The training program began in Octo-ber and will continue through May.

Surveyed during the first phase of the program will be public buildings and private dwellings of multiple-family size.

MY VISIT By Bonnie Parker

"In the classical and romanticist trend of the literature studied this English 11 composition uses the background of the Latin courses with Mrs. Johnson to cre-ate its mood."

Will lead my steps aright.

William Cullen Bryant. At last we had arrived. Our journey was a long and tedious one and at times we feared we could not make it. We had lost our way many times, but always a helping hand guided us back on the path to the lower world, the kingdom of Pluto.

I had decided to visit Perse-phone, and by the help of Hermes, I had arrived. After a short rest, I talked to the god of the Underworld, Pluto himself, and asked his permission to speak to Perse-phone. It being winter, I had had to descend to the lower world to find Persephone. When the king had questioned me as to my Intentions and I had answered him, he agreed to let me talk with the Queen of the Underworld.

When I had explained that I had a theme to compose and should like her opinion on it she was very cooperative and decided at once to help me. I asked her, "Do you really believe that Zeus their compinetent God, guides (their omnipotent God) guides

"Yes," she answered quite senely. "He sent Hermes down here for me when Demeter, my mother, was grieving for me and had let the truitful world grow desolute. If he hadn't sent her here, I dread to think of what would have happened to the upper world with its beautiful flowers and trees, and its peoples. Pluto needed me and Demeter needed me. He guided my steps. He helped to bring about this com-promise."

Since the excitement and the journey had fatigued me, and the unusual circumstance of seeing a visitor from the upper world had drained Persephone of her strength, we decided to end our conversation. If one who loved the upper world as well as she can have faith in her god, I, who do not have to retire to the lower world for a portion of the year, each year of my life, can certainly believe in our God. 1 left Persephone with many regrets. She is right, God does guide our steps, for He guided me to her

Suspect Keeps Shadow Busy

By Barbara Hatten The shadow this week is on the trail of a very busy and active Junior girl.

When she arrived at school, my suspect went directly to the study hall where she diligently studied all period.

With the ringing of the bell to end first period, she was seen rushing toward the Home Economics Room, where she worked on the hem of her formal. I should say that she worked be-tween gabbing with the other girls and showing her home project to Mrs. Cast. Third period had her studying very hard, only this time in Honor Study Hall. say that she studied all period, but she did most of the period.

During fourth period, she listened attentively to Mr. Stukenborg as he explained something new in Advanced Algebra.

Rush! Rush! Rush! This is all she ever does, for, this time when the bell rang, she was heading for the cafeteria with her shadow not very far behind.

When she reported for her fifth period class, which is history, she received the results of her exam, and then traveled to the library to work on a biography.

Sixth period she was again in the Home Economic Room, only this time she was there to help Mrs. Cast with the seventh grade English class, with Mr. Graham lecturing on Thoreau, in her seventh period class, and again she listened attentively.

Eighth period we find her in the music building exercising her vocal cords with the rest of the mixed choir.

The last I saw of my suspect was when she grabbed her books and ran to catch her bus.

Well, this ends the busy day of this active Junior girl. In case you haven't guessed who it is. Bonnie Good was my suspect who kept me on my toes keeping up with her.

Just one word of caution ware, for next week The Shadow may be following you.

Hey, Robbie Ogden, what's this I hear about Thad Overmyer wanting to give away free punch at the Junior dance.

Many Projects In Grade Rooms

BY Carmen Gretter and B. J. Lawrance

It seems the grade school children are going to be in high school sooner than we think, heeveryhody is having birthday.

In the second grade Amy Jo Riester had a hirthday and in the third grade Diana Crabb. We can't forget that in the fourth grade Perry White, David White, and Pamela Scott had birthdays.

in Mrs. Allen's second grade the students are so thrilled with the snow that they are drawing very attractive snow pictures. This might be because every youngster cujoys playing in the snow. Just wait until they get older! The second grade wishes Gary Strang a speedy recovery from his illness.

Mrs. Carter's third grade is also making winter scenes to pin up in their room. Shirli Chisholm used her intelligence to win a spelldown, and should be very proud of herself. We hope there isn't an epidemic going around, but Charles Pennington is also absent.

Mrs. Alice Keller's pupils are studying about the people of the Sahara Desert in their social studies. They are also working hard to finish the first 72 pages of their arithmetic work books. Joseph Haron was the first one to complete his and correct any mistakes he had made. This is really quite an achievement. Competition runs high!

while in health they are studying about carbobydrates and pro-teins. Teri Cromiey has made tests with liturus paper. We may have a future chemist right in the sixth grade! Mr. Smith has brought a white mouse to school, but to the students' dismay, the mouse sleeps most of the time. Mr. Smith has counted the mouse's breaths and found that there are 128 breaths per minute

This week our roving reporters went out in search of the ideal C.H.S. searched all four of the upper grades, but there were so many cligible males that it made it very difficult. Of course there were certain qualifications. Mr. C.H.S. was to be about five foot, eleven inches tall, and have brown eyes, brown hair and a good physique.

As you know, there are very few males who suit this description perfectly.

Finally they narrowed it down to three. One was chosen Mr. C.H.S. and the other two were close runners up.

The finalists were: Don Miller, Chuck Reed, and Larry Miller.
And now the choice was up to the students - female students.
These three were watched carefully for three days. Finally.

after much consideration, Chuck Reed, a senior, was chosen as Mr. C.H.S. Larry Miller was first runner up and Don Miller second runner up.

Our congratulations to Chuck, Larry, and Don.

Holbrook's "Mark Twain Tonight" Coming Saturday To Eppley Theatre

A 1942 graduate of Culver Military Academy returns to campus Saturday night in the role of one of America's great humorists. HAL HOLBROOK, who was introduced to the theater as a cadet at Culver, will present his now famed portrayal of "Mark Twain Tonight!", in an 8:15 p.m. performance in the Eugene C. Eppley Auditorium.

Although a stage production at Culver is not a new experience for Holbrook, it will be the first opportunity for him to work in the Eppley Auditorium, which was completed in 1959. After a series of student productions under the direction of Dr. Charles C. Mather, his former drama instructor, Holbrook appeared twice in the 1950s at Culver as a professional entertainer on the make-shift stage of the Recreation Building. Saturday's performance will be the first time he will present his Mark Twain re-creation in full for a Culver audience. For 22 weeks during the 1959-60 season Holbrook's "Mark Twain Tonight!" was the outstanding off-Broadway hit in New York, and it might have run for a year longer had not prior commitments on the part of its star and sole performer prevented his remaining longer in New York.

A Perfected Performance

Holbrook has spent years per-fecting his performance as Mark Twain, visiting friends of the author, studying photographs of Twain in his seventies, making every effort to keep his impersonation as accurate as indefatigable research can make it. Every word that he speaks onstage is Twain's. Every gesture is genuine, according to the best recollection of people who knew the celebrated humorist or attended one of his

During the course of each evening's performance, Holbrook profrom the humorous-profound observations that were the author's trademark to selections from "Huckleberry Finn" and reminiscences of a rich, full, and zestful life.

Acclaimed By New York Critics "Mark Twain Tonight!" opened at the 41st Street Theatre on April 6, 1959, and proceeded to win rave notices from all seven New York critics. The New York Times described it as "an extraordinary show . . . everything about the evening is perfect." The Herald-Tribune hailed it as "rich, robust and mightily entertaining." And the Mirror called it "spellbinding." Within a week after the opening performances after the opening, performances were sold out months ahead.

During the course of the past year, Hal Holbrook has toured been recorded in two best-selling Columbia Record albums and celebrated in his book, "Mark Twain Tonight! — An Actor's Portrait."

The performance will be attended by Culver's corps of cadets, the faculty, and the general public. Tickets are still available, and telephone or mail reserva-tions may be made by contacting William J. Martin, director of William J. Conflicting demands of every-day living can be resolved through spiritual understanding of God as divine Life.

This is a theme of the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Life" which is to be read at Christian Science services Sunday.

Selections from the Bible will "I delight to do thy will, O my God: yea, thy law is within my heart." include this verse from Psalm 40:

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this citation will be read (p. 184): "Truth. Life, and Love are the only legitimate and eternal demands on man, and they are spiritual lawgivers enforcing obedience through divine statutes. The Golden Text is from John

"This is life eternal, that they might know thee the ouly true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent."

Even the jobless rate, which has been hovering around 7% for about a year, has suddenly begun to move lower, and now stands, seasonally corrected, at 6.1%. Government economists are re-fleeting more optimism. One in-sider, in fact, recently estimated that the unemployment rate may be down to 4.5% or even less by year's end. At any rate, the current course of employment is now strongly upward, the trend for unemployment gradually lower. Buying Psychology Powerful

Bourbon Comets Win Championship

By EARL MISHLER

Bourbon's Comets survived a dirst round scare from Tyner Friday night and went on the next day to rack up the Marshall County Tourney Championship. Coach Dick Campbell's boys had no trouble downing defending champs Bremen, 68-41, in the citle tilt Saturday evening.

Culver's Indians opened the tourney with a 72-53 victory over hapless West Township, With se-nior forward Jim Carter racking up 28 points, Coach Gene Crostey's squad used the fast break as their main offensive weapon. West Township, who was led by Jim Muday with 16 points, stayed with Culver until the third quar-ter, in which Carter poured in 11 points to lead Culver out of danger. Tom Boswell added 15 points to the attack.

Bremen, however, made only 17 of 33 free throws. Bob Forsythe led Bremen with 14 points, while Terry Thompson hit 21 for the losers.

Bourbon Defeats Tyner Friday night's first game saw Bourbon streak to a 37-25 half-time lead against the Tyner Redmen. But a second half rally, led by Rex Stull and Chuck Creech put Tyner back in the game, Chris Booz' jump shot in the last minute sent the Comets Tippecanoe's scrappy Dogs defeated LaPaz 63-53 Friday night. Sophomore forward Bob Trowbridge led the Tippey attack with 18 points, including ten in the fourth quarter, during which Tippey raced away from the cold-shooting Vikings. LaPaz, who played without 6'3" soph center Don Balka, was led by Mike Wynn with 21 points.

Indians Lose To Bremen
On Saturday's first semi-final game, Culver and Bremen staged a great battle of tight zone de-fenses. The Lions covered Cul-ver's leading threat, Jim Carter, extremely well, as the 6'0" sen-ior tallied only four points. The Indians trailed by only four points after three periods, but points after three periods, but Culver made too many last quarter mistakes. Tom Boswell was Culver's only scoring threat all afternoon, getting 20 points. However, it wasn't enough, as the Indians fell, 51-38. Bremen's sophomore forward Buzz Anglin led the Lions with 14 points. Culver, who faces LaPaz next Saturday at Plymouth, now has a 2-10 record.

The Comets' sec-ond string played most of the game, after Coach Campbell's rat stringers had run up point lead in the second quarter. Chris Booz again led the winners with 15 points, while Richard Anders and Steve Shively had 13 apiece. Billy Robinson led the losers with 20 points, but the Police Dogs were simply outclassed.

Three out of four Culver Military Academy teams came up with victories last weekend, but the Eagle basketball team suffer-ed its third defeat of the season at South Bend St. Joseph, 64-50.

How REMCs provide electric service at reasonable cost

Many people wonder how REMCs can provide an electric service that is so dependable, yet so reasonable in cost.

Obviously, it's much farther between REMC meters, than between meters in town. REMCs average a few homes per mile of line -electric meters in the city are usually 40 or 50 feet apart, often less

This means that utilities serving cities have much less work, and a much lower investment, in connecting to and servicing their customers. Despite this, many REMCs provide electricity to rural Indiana at a rate that is comparable to that charged in neighboring cities. In no instance is there more than a modest difference in rate.

REMC rates are kept low because this business is owned, operated and controlled by its consumer-members. REMC expenses are held to a minimum . . . rates are just high enough to operate the REMCs in a business-like manner including loan repayments and/or patronage refunds. REMCs were organized for one reason—to provide dependable electricity to the rural community . . . at the lowest prac-

REMCs are locally owned and operated, keeping local wealth at home.
