Babson Discusses Diversification

"Don't Put Eggs In One Basket"

Babson Park, Mass. — I am taking a month's vacation in the fair city in which I was born, namely, Gloucester, Massachusetts. As I sit on my piazza and watch the beautiful but vacant harbor, which, when I was a boy was full of fishing vessels, I reminisce concerning the industrial changes of the past fifty years.

THE FISHING BUSINESS

This continues to be a prominent industry; but has gone through great changes. Once most of the fish was dried out of doors in the sun and either cut up and sold in little wooden boxes, or else exported in bulk. Fish was also sold throughout the country (chiefly by the Frank E. Davis Company) pickled in tubs, and by other concerns cooked in cans. Everything from fishballs to confectionery was tried out by the fish companies. Finally, Clarence Birdseye invented the quick-freeze industry which resulted in the employment of a large number of people in the filleting and packing of fish for storage in large freezers.

My guess is that someday much of this work will be eliminated and the entire fish will be ground. The Interior Department tells me that whereas the "fillet" now sold contains only 60% of the food value of a fish, the rest going to the chickens, this ground fish would contain 100% of the goodness. In this connection, it is interesting to note that doctors are prescribing fish diets for those with heart trouble. I believe in the future of the fish industry, but feel that great revolutionary changes are ahead. Already many of the leading fish concerns of my boyhood have gone through bankruptcy for refusing to adapt themselves quickly to future changes.

THE GRANITE INDUSTRY

The most profitable industry in Cape Ann, in these days, was the granite industry. There were six large quarries in operation and Cape Ann owners were shipping granite for building purposes, and for paving the streets of large cities. Then two unforeseen events happened which caused the stocks of these granite companies to decline suddenly from over $100 a share to $5 a share. The largest shipper of granite was the Rockport Granite Company which finally went into bankruptcy.

These two unforeseen events were (1) the development of the automobile, which demanded that the paving stones be covered with asphalt, and (2) the invention of cement, which became a great building factor. Those who had invested in the granite business suffered severe losses. The people who suffered included the best families of Gloucester and Rockport — and even the banks.

MERCHANDISING AND TRADING

Another branch of the Babson family was engaged in the sailing of three-masted ships "around the Horn" to China and/or across the Atlantic Ocean, and "around the Cape of Good Hope" to India and the East Indies. Those were great days before there were any lighthouses, or radios, or weather reports. The story of my family written on a book entitled "The Sea Made Men." They would anchor their vessels at certain points and row ashore and trade for all kinds of natural resources. After establishing a reputation with the natives for honesty, my Gloucester ancestors had sort of a monopoly of the business and it was very profitable. It makes me feel bad to see that China has temporarily gone Communist and, with the exception of Hong Kong, we have no connection

Culver C of C Will Fete New Teachers

The Culver Chamber of Commerce will fete the new teachers coming into the Culver City Schools and the Culver Military Academy on Monday, Sept. 17 at 7 p.m. at the Culver Inn. The teachers and their husbands or wives, will be guests of the Chamber. The program will be a dinner meeting.

The program following the dinner, which has been planned by the Chamber's program chairman, Col. W. E. Covington, Jr., includes the introduction of the new teachers. Following this part of the program, Chamber members and guests will have the pleasure of hearing Dr. Alex Jardine, Superintendent of the South Bend Public Schools, as he addresses the group. Wayne Mattox, Chamber of Commerce president, will act as master of ceremonies. The dinner meeting and program is open to the public. However, Chamber members and the public must make reservations with the manager of the Culver Inn by Monday, Sept. 10, in order to be served.

New teachers of the Culver City Schools are: Helen Friesen, Ronald Garber, Arlene Sellers, Robert Horban, George Vondra, Jean Schricker, Calvin Revis, Adam Wagner, Jack P. Miller, Joseph Zellers, Carolyn Sue Reynolds, Delbert Smith, Ernest Dillman, Larry Crabb, Carolyn Klize, and Gary Unruh. Principal Kenneth L. Cole will introduce the teachers of Culver City Schools.

Corrected List Of Donors To Fishing Derby

Due to an oversight, the names of The Kelly Shop and the Easterday Funeral Homes were omitted from the list of donors of prizes used in the fishing derby held by the Maxinkuckee Fish and Game Club, recently.

The club and the Culver Citizen wish to take this opportunity to apologize for the error.

When steamships were used, the China trade moved to our larger American cities such as New York, Philadelphia, and New Orleans. However, the Babson family continued in the merchandising business. My father, Nathaniel Babson, was the leading storekeeper in Gloucester, and at his suggestion the family acquired control over two hundred variety stores which have now become the profitable McCrory chain.

The moral of this story is the importance of DIVERSIFICATION. The families who put all their money into the fishing business have largely gone broke; the families who put their money in the granite business were forced into bankruptcy; the families who refused to change from the sailing ships for steamships have about held their own. So I urge today, diversification. Do not put all your eggs into one basket! Have them in a few different baskets, but carefully watch each basket and be willing to quickly realize coming events.

Culver Public Library Has Film Service

The Culver Public Library is now a member of the Indiana Film circuit and will receive approximately 16 films each month, September through June, for loan to responsible persons in the community. The films will be loaned without charge to adult library patrons.

The public is invited to look over the lists of films and make use of them in program planning and for educational and recreational purposes. It's hoped the films will be used extensively and therefore the public is urged to make reserve bookings as soon as it is known when the films will be needed.

The loan period will be limited to three days, unless a longer period has been requested. It is necessary for the film to be returned at the time agreed upon in order that other persons may use it at the requested time.

A 16mm. sound projector is needed for these films, and requires an experienced projectionist to run the film. Detailed instructions are to be found in each film and the library asks that these be carefully read and followed. The Culver schools have trained projectionists, a list of these persons is available at the library.

Additional copies of the monthly package lists with film annotations are available at the library. If any person or organization would like a list, it will be mailed on request. Announcement of the new films will also be made in the Culver Citizen each month.

The Library plans to have a showing of these films in the library auditorium the first Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m., and first Monday evening at 8 p.m., of each month when the new films arrive. Plan now to join sessions. Best use can be made of the films only when they are known to be suitable for the purpose involved. The library board has hired Scott Geiselman to care for the films and help with the previewing.

Due to the Labor Day weekend the previews will be delayed one week. The dates for the showings will be Saturday afternoon, Sept. 8 at 2 p.m., and Monday evening, Sept. 10, at 8 p.m.

Fire Destroys The Huge Barn On Goodman Farm

A fire, which completely destroyed the large barn on the Everett Goodman farm, about 4½ miles southeast of Culver last Thursday afternoon, was believed to have started from spontaneous combustion. The Culver Fire Department received the call about 2:10 p.m. The fire was discovered by Dennis Martin, who was helping his father, Everett Martin, clean a small building near the barn. Goodman had been at the barn about noon, but had gone to the field to work, when he heard Martin call out the barn was afire. The fire started in the north end of the barn.

There were 3000 bales of hay and 3000 bales of straw stored in the barn. The week before Goodman had put several tons of chopped hay on top of the stored bales. All equipment with the exception of an air compressor used to operate a milking machine, was removed. The barn usually held about 35 head of cattle, but at the time of the fire only one bull was in the barn and he was taken out, before the flames reached the lower part.

This is the third barn to be destroyed on the Goodman farm. The first was in 1945 when it was destroyed by fire. Again five years later a tornado completely destroyed that one. The one destroyed Thursday was erected after the one destroyed by the tornado. It was 35x55 feet with a 30 x 50 foot shed attached.

Fireman from Aubbeenaubee Twp., Fulton county and Monterey community fire departments assisted the Culver department. Water was sprayed on surrounding buildings and field for a period of two hours and stood by until all danger of the fire spreading was over.

The building and contents were partially covered, by insurance, Goodman said.

The Culver Fire Department was called out again Friday afternoon about 2:25 p.m. to the Culver Military Academy. Fire of an undisclosed origin was discovered in the furniture storage room of the Service Department Building. Two mattresses were discovered, smoldering. Culver firemen removed them to the outside, where the fire was extinguished.

There was no damage to the building or other contents. The two mattresses were totally destroyed.

County Republican Chairman Asks For Poster Removal

Howard Menser, Marshall County Republican Chairman, states that, in behalf of the Marshall County Republican Central Committee:

"I am requesting that all Republican county candidates refrain from the utilization of posters on trees, telephone poles, light poles, or fences on our public highways, as a means of advertising their candidacy for public office, and request that party workers remove all Republican county candidate signs which may already be distributed.

This policy will remain in effect until such time as and only if the opposition candidates forces a resumption of the practice."

Indiana Bell's Long Distance Rates Explained

Indiana Bell president, Roy C. Echols, today made the following statement on the proposed intrastate long distance rate reductions:

"Judge Stanley, chairman of the Public Service Commission, sometime ago raised the question of why Hoosiers have to pay more in some cases to talk to each other within the state than they have to pay to talk the same distance on calls going outside the state. Several conferences have been held with the Commission on this matter over the past few months.

"Generally, this situation has existed for many years, not only in Indiana but in most states, because of the relatively greater handling costs on shorter calls. Many of our expenses on long distance calls are the same whether they travel only a few miles or much longer distances.

"Now, increased long distance calling within Indiana, together with technological improvements in our business, plus our proposal to establish more uniform charges for miscellaneous telephone services, offer this opportunity to eliminate practically all these rate differences on daytime station-to-station calling.

"We think they should be able to talk with each other as often as they want at rates that are as reasonable as possible. This was our objective in 1958 when we inaugurated special night rates permitting people to talk twice as long for the same price on calls after 9 p.m. between any two Indiana points.

"The move toward uniformity on intrastate and interstate long distance rates, which will save Hoosiers about $1,500,000 a year in long distance charges, must be accompanied by more uniformity in our charges for miscellaneous services throughout the state. The proposed schedules for such services are not new. They are already in effect or are approved to go into effect in October for over half our customers, including the customers in the Indianapolis metropolitan area, Greenfield, Danville, Noblesville, Fairland, New Albany, Jeffersonville, Hartford City, South Bend, Mishawaka, and Osceola.

"Most business and residence users make intrastate long distance calls and the reduced rates for these will more than offset any changes in rates for extensions, key telephones, and a few other special business services.

"We estimate the proposed miscellaneous service schedules will increase monthly charges for extensions, key telephones and the other services about $500,000 a year."

NO CHECK GRABBER — The Newton County Enterprise tells of a Kentland man, Charles Tuberty, who went to Rochester, Minn., for a checkup at the Mayo Clinic. Dining one morning in a hotel restaurant Tuberty was asked by a waitress if he would mind sharing his table with another man. "Not at all," said Tuberty, "if the guy picks up his own check." Tuberty's table companion turned out to be Jack Benny of TV fame. Tuberty reported no struggle with the reputedly close-fisted comedian over the check but he describes Benny as a "nice individual."

Maxinkuckee Yacht Club News

By Peg Clyne
 For most summer residents, Labor Day weekend is composed of packing boxes, last swims, fond good-byes and general confusion.

It was a busy one for sailors, too, starting with the Junior Fleet race Saturday morning. This was the longest race of the season, on a triangular course, and with a nice breeze, Rick Baxter came in first, with Stevie Speer a close second and Jeff Grundt right behind for third place. Scott Zacharias was fourth and Susan Goldstein came in fifth. This is Scott's and Susan's first year sailing and they are enthusiastic new members of the Junior Fleet.

The Senior Fleet race on Sunday started very slowly, with practically no wind and for the first time this summer most of the boats were towed to the starting line, but it picked up halfway through the race so that there was pretty brisk competition. Coleman Hicks of Indianapolis won first place. Bud Suverkrup of Columbus, Ind. was second and Pete Trone, Culver, was third.

On Monday the ten coveted skippers lined up for the Bliss Trophy race which is always the last race of the summer regatta. The race was long because the wind dropped off after the start. Later, black clouds appeared in the Northeast and the finish was pretty exciting with the freshening breeze. Tom Heckel, who seems to have had a magic touch on the tiller this summer, was a few times, to come in first. Jerome Zechiel was second, with Bob Hollowell a close third.

Next Saturday evening, everyone will gather on the Culver Inn lawn for the last cocktail party of the season, followed by the award dinner held in the dining room at the Inn.

See you there?
 Use a minimum of furniture for permanent seating outdoors, and add pillows and folding chairs for guests, suggest home furnishings specialists at Purdue University.

Cut extra wide seam allowances on fabrics that ravel, advise Purdue University clothing specialists. Some fabrics with special finishes may tear easily, so cut corners and slashes with care.

John E. Taylor Takes Texas Girl
As Bride In July 4 Ceremony

MR. AND MRS. JOHN E. TAYLOR

Announcement is made of the July 4th wedding of John E. Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Taylor, 304 Lake St., Culver, to Miss Carmen Rivera, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe A. Rivera, Sr., 1730 Morales St., Corpus Christi, Texas.

The wedding and reception took place at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Andrew Martinez, 4118 Vestal St., Corpus Christi.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor length, full pleated white silk dress, styled with a bodice of Spanish lace. A crown of orange blossoms held her illusion veil and she carried a crescent bouquet of white feathered carnations centered with a white orchid.

Attending the couple were Mr.

and Mrs. Herbert Hernandez. Mrs. Hernandez was attired in a street length dress of embroidered peau de soie. Fred Overmyer of Corpus Christi served as usher.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Rivera chose a street length green silk dress and she wore a corsage of white carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for approximately 40 guests. A three-tier wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, centered the lace covered refreshment table.

After a wedding trip to Great Falls, Mont., the couple are at home at K Apt., Apt. 5, 446 S. Lexington, Corpus Christi, Texas.

The bride is a 1960 graduate of Roy Miller High School, Corpus Christi, and was employed by Suburban Cleaners in Corpus Christi.

The bridegroom is a 1960 grad-

Rex Mawhorter Retires As CMA Postmaster

After 43 years of service, Rex Mawhorter, has retired from his duties, as postmaster, of the Culver Military Academy effective Aug. 31. He recently was honored by a dinner and theatre party by his co-workers, to celebrate the event.

Mawhorter came to the Academy in 1919. He says that he started working for Col. Henderson as clerk in the QM. Col. Henderson came to the Academy the same year as Mawhorter. He then went to work at the YMCA Canteen. After that he was offered the postmaster's job and he has held that position ever since.

During the time he has been postmaster the Academy post office location has been changed several times. It was first set up in Main barracks, then shifted from the former language building now the QM, to East barracks, to the Administration building, to the Canteen to North barracks and then to its present position in the basement of the Humanities Building.

Through the years he has developed a memory that is hard to fool. One time two elderly gentlemen stepped to his window to say hello. They had graduated the first year Rex was at the Academy. As they began talking to Rex, he told them their names, room numbers and home towns.

On his retirement, Aug. 31, he plans to visit his daughter in San Diego, Calif. for six months. The new tentative postmaster is Harold Scott of Monterey.

Sonic "Boom" Explained By Air Force

To many people, startled by its abrupt sound, the sonic "boom" seems a noisy and unnecessary nuisance.

Unlike most nuisances, however, the sonic "boom" is unavoidable, and it is a sound that we may have to live with for quite some time.

Simply stated, the sonic "boom" is man-made thunder. There is nothing mysterious about it. Basically, sound is wave lengths at various pressures hitting the ear, and result from any surge of energy. When an airplane exceeds the speed of sound, sound waves are swept back from them at sharp angles until they form a cone shaped funnel. Here is the making of a sonic "boom." Anyone in the path of the cone's high pressure air will hear the sound as the cone passes over him. This sound is a sharp crack, which sounds like a thunderclap. This, essentially, is all there is to the sonic "boom."

Why do we have these "booms" in the Culver area? This area lies in the path used by aircraft, flying at supersonic speeds, in realistic training which crews must have if they are to attain top proficiency for possible combat.

Despite some thoughts to the contrary, sonic "booms" are not caused by "aerial hot-rodgers" at play, but by mature, dedicated air crews seriously studying their war-time jobs.

The better these men are prepared to perform their duty in time of war, the stronger is this nation's deterrent force — the force that prevents any country from attacking the United States.

The sonic "boom" first came to the armed services when aircraft began flying faster than the speed of sound. Today, sonic "booms" are created by aircraft of all the armed services.

Why do we have these "booms" at night? The military services are not manned or equipped to fly sufficient missions to provide adequate training if confined to daylight hours only. A maximum number of air crews must be trained within a given time. Time is something we can't spare in these unsettled days. However, the Air Force has stated they will make every effort to notify news media in advance of booms, and try to keep them to a minimum.

Is there any way to muffle sonic "booms?" This subject is under study by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, but as yet, there is apparently no solution. There may never be. Sonic "booms" are characteristic of supersonic missions flown for very serious reasons. They go with the airplane.

Will sonic "booms" injure people? According to all known authority, sonic "boom" pressure is never strong enough to injure a person. The noise, when unexpected, startles but cannot injure. The pressure we feel from "booms" are approximately three pounds per square foot, about three times that of a thunderclap.

Will sonic "booms" cause structural damage to homes and buildings? According to scientists and engineers at Wright

Air Development Center, they CANNOT crack foundation walls or cause roofs to buckle or crack. They CANNOT do any structural damage, but under some circumstances can damage improperly installed glass panes.

Tests have shown the "booms" are not strong enough to structurally damage the flimsiest chicken coop.

Will we continue to have these "booms" in the future? Yes. There will probably be more of these for we are in the supersonic age of highspeed flight. As we get more and more airplanes of this type, we will get more booms. Certainly we would not want to equip our armed services with supersonic aircraft and then forbid the pilots to fly at these speeds. They must know how their aircraft performs under all conditions in case they are to be used some day against the enemy. The sonic "boom" is part of a new noise we must accept as part of freedom's price.

Can we learn to live with this new sound? Certainly. Earlier locomotives stampeded cattle; the first automobile caused horses to run away. A shrill and sudden whistle or loud "boo" can make any of us jump. It's the unexpected that startles. When you hear the "booms," breathe a little prayer for the crews flying them for our round-the-clock protection. Be glad they are our planes causing the "booms," for they are the new sound of security for us all.

Under wartime conditions, bombs would not be dropped on deserts and isolated areas. This is why these crews, flying at supersonic speeds, don't practice over uninhabited areas.

Our crews must have realistic targets on which to practice to attain maximum training benefits. However, routes to and from target areas are planned as much as possible over uninhabited areas.

About 30 cities, many of them major metropolitan areas, will be used as targets in simulated bombing raids carried out at supersonic speeds. The cities are chosen for excellent reasons that have to do with their terrain, climate and the physical characteristics of major structures, rivers, harbors, and the like.

It will not always be the same 30 cities. In each practice target area there will be installed a Radar Bomb-Scoring Site. The sites are moved from city to city as the exercises necessitate.

In most cases there will be ample notice to the public, via newspaper and radio, of impending exercises. The residents will be told approximately when missions will be flown and assured that the noise will be no more than a short nuisance, not a menace to lives and property.

The "boom" problem is not going to remain forever restricted to the military. The nation's airlines are giving it more and more attention as the transport designers turn from their first subsonic jets to the idea of a Mach 2 or Mach 3 passenger liner.

In recent years, U. S. Air Force records show, most of the people made unhappy to one degree or another by sonic "booms" have assumed that they are not necessary. Probably because of the way they were introduced to the subject, with air show demonstrations and newspaper pictures showing aircraft in a steep dive, they believe sonic "booms" are caused by aerial "hot-rodgers" and "clowns" in cockpits.

Sonic "booms" are characteristics of supersonic missions flown for serious reasons. They are unavoidable. They are the Sound of Security.

I. U. Dean Shaffer Defends College Fraternity System

"The taxpayers of the state of Indiana can be thankful for the college fraternity and sorority system," Dean Robert H. Shaffer of Indiana University at Bloomington, Ind. said yesterday. "Fraternities and sororities at Indiana University house about 6,000 students — nearly one half of the students body — who would have to be provided living quarters financed by the university," Dean Shaffer, who is dean of students at the university, said. "In view of the severe financial problems, the addition of even a small amount of money for construction of dormitories would be disastrous."

Under the leadership of Shaffer, Indiana University has been a national good example of the mutual gains to be realized from the university's encouragement of the college fraternity system. "We do not hide the fact that we profit from a strong fraternity-sorority tradition," the dean continued. "Our office records show there is no substantial difference between the morals, department or scholarship of the members of our college social organizations and those who live in college or town housing. As a matter of fact, in recent years the fraternities have bettered the all-men's average. The sororities have always been very high in scholarship. There is very little significant conflict between the so-called 'independent' student and the 'organized' or fraternity housed student. We find any conflict which does exist is generally exaggerated for personal and individual reasons or parental prejudice. I can say this is not a serious problem here."

Taking care not to assume control of the fraternity and sorority internal organizations, Shaffer has instituted a plan which has been adopted as an official program, to assist fraternities to strengthen financial, organizational and moral standards. University property has been provided some social organizations under a very legal and definitive contract which allows the fraternity or sorority independent ownership and responsibility as well as freedom from university control.

"Our university would lose a great deal," Shaffer said. "If we had to give up our fraternity and sorority system. The character of our campus, our curricula and our students would inevitably change. Some might say the change was favorable, others would disapprove, but one thing is certain — such a change would not be compatible with the traditions and the customs of Indiana University."

The dean said other college administrators are finding that popular trends among university officials are toward the encouragement of fraternities and sororities. "This represents a change in thinking," he said. "Not all administrators, by any means, have reconsidered the formerly popular theory that fraternities should be discouraged, but many have. They have found that running a university is not the same — nor as successful — after the fraternities are gone. The problems reach into every part of college administration — financial, campus stability, organization, supervision, scholarship — and are often insurmountable."

Prepare hot breads outdoors on the grill by threading pre-baked buttered bread or rolls on skewers and toasting over hot coals, suggest food specialists at Purdue University. Or wrap breads in foil and heat on the edge of the coals.

If plant materials are to function as walls for a patio or yard, place them on the sides of the areas, urge Purdue University landscape architects. This eliminates shrubs, flower beds, rock gardens, etc., scattered haphazardly in the middle of the lawn.

 The indestructible relationship of God and man will be emphasized at Christian Science church services Sunday.

Scriptural selections in the Lesson-Sermon of "Man" include the following verse (Psalm 18): "It is God that girdeth me with strength, and maketh my way perfect."

A citation to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states (p. 470): "The relations of God and man, divine Principle and idea, are indestructible in Science; and Science knows no lapse from nor return to harmony, but holds the divine order of spiritual law, in which God and all that He created are perfect and eternal, to have remained unchanged in its eternal history."

SUSIE'S IDEAS

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
 The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Please go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Do you suppose Susie wants an addition for her doll family? Or ice cream and cake for supper tonight? Or a new pair of fancy black patent-leather shoes?

I'm Susie's mother, but I wouldn't know! You'd have to have seven league boots to keep pace with her active little mind!

For instance, she'd overheard us discussing our new family policy of having a suggestion box. Susie was determined to get into the act too. It is typical of her, typical of our family. We enjoy doing things together. We believe in unity in work, in play, and in prayer.

We center our family activities about the Church. The children go to Church School—Susie can hardly wait for each Sunday morning—and my husband is active in the Men's Club. I am president of the woman's group in our parish. Yet—it does take a lot of time and effort. But I am never happier than when I am doing church work, because I know how truly worthwhile it is.

Don't forget that your church needs workers too! Just as you need the Church!

The morning program of the 42nd annual Purdue University Swine Day, which was held at the Experimental Swine Feeding Unit, included discussions of experimental results concerned with the feeding value of stored corn, vitamin A supplementation, feed additives, level of salt for a fortified soy supplement, a comparison of supplements for free choice finishing swine and individual stall feeding for sows.

An exhibit, summarizing a "Starling-Feed Contamination Study" conducted in Indiana by W. F. Gusey of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, suggested strongly that there is a link between the presence of starlings and the occurrence of TGE in swine herds.

Results for feeding aged corn showed no significant difference of gains for pigs receiving corn aged from 1953, 1957 and 1961 crops; however, growth rate was significantly increased with the addition of 400 IU of vitamin A per pound of ration to the pigs fed on concrete. Pigs on concrete lots grew faster than the pigs on pasture but the mixed feed cost was somewhat less for the pasture fed pigs.

The level of salt in the fortified soy supplement did not alter supplement or corn consumption, rate of gain or cost of gains. Results showed that hogs did not overeat the supplement which was fed in the meal form, and feed costs per pound of gain were under 8¢ for pigs within a week of market weight. This illustrates the economy of free choice feeding as well as that of the fortified soy supplement.

Effect of certain combinations of feed additives on growing-finishing swine showed that aureomycin, penicillin, sulfamethazine and sulfaethoxy-pyridazine caused no significant change in daily gain of the pigs from weaning to market weight. However, all feed additives resulted in some improvement in feed efficiency ranging from 2.5 to 6.8 per cent, and feed cost per hundred pounds gain was less on all additive treatments than on the control lots.

Form of feed for growing-finishing pigs showed those pigs receiving the complete mixed ration in the dry meal form gained eight per cent faster than pigs receiving the pelleted feed and seven per cent faster than those fed the slurry mixture of two parts water to one part meal. Pigs fed shelled corn and soy supplement free choice gained significantly slower than the pigs receiving the dry meal but made more economical gains.

Effects of energy intake, haylage and free-choice supplement on the reproductive performance of gilts showed that gilts on the reduced energy intake farrowed smaller pigs but weaned an average of 8.2 pigs averaging 34 pounds, while the gilts on the higher energy level during gestation weaned 7.8 pigs weighing an average of 32 pounds. The inclusion of 50 per cent of sun-cured alfalfa meal with a 38 per cent protein supplement did not control supplement to the desired two pounds per day. Reports showed that haylage appears to have promise as a good gestation feed but further study is needed to determine the proper supplementation of this feed for gilts. Results showed that pigs fed the fortified soy supplement containing 20 per cent meat and bone scraps and 10 per cent alfalfa meal gained faster than pigs fed either the fortified soybean meal or Purdue supplement 5. Experiments also showed that pigs from the line breed cross gained faster and made more economical gains than those from either of the other breeding groups. Also, pigs did not overeat on any of the supplements fed.

During the afternoon program, Dr. H. W. Jones, Purdue animal scientist, discussed the management and operation of three separate swine units and the necessity of the different units due to the many functions which these herds must fulfill. Five different breeds are maintained primarily for teaching purposes on the School of Agriculture farm, two inbred lines are maintained for breeding studies on one of the Experiment Station farms and a cross-breeding program is practiced at the Experiment Station's Swine Feeding Unit.

William Rothenberger, Frankfurt stock farmer, presented an illustrated discussion on "Considerations in Moving Swine Operations from Pasture to Concrete." Some of the points to consider were: most confinement systems require some land for manure disposal; large capital outlay for confinement operations is questionable with the production of less than 500-750 head per year; nutrition becomes highly technical on concrete; disease incidence is greater on concrete but easier to detect and treat; and confinement cannot be justified by labor savings alone as labor makes up only a small portion of the total cost of production.

In conclusion, Rothenberger pointed out that most failures in confinement raising of hogs can be attributed to a breakdown of management as a higher level of management is required on concrete than on pasture.

Dr. C. B. Cox, Armour and Company, Chicago, challenged the swine producers in his talk entitled "Marketing Our Pork." He stated that during the past ten years there has actually been little change in the weight of pigs or the amount of lard marketed and that there is a big job ahead to maintain or increase the present demand for pork.

Dr. Cox suggested the following possibilities for improving the market for pork: orient production, marketing, processing and retailing toward consumer desires rather than producer and processor wishes; encourage the development and adoption of cost reducing techniques in the production area so pork will be able to compete on the market as a consumer item; and recognize that the name pork represents many different images to the consumer. There is a need for merchandising branded items and named items such as ham and bacon differently from fresh meat items.

Dr. A. H. Jensen, University of Illinois animal scientist, concluded the afternoon program with an informative presentation on "Slotted Floors and Space Requirements for Swine." He observed that slotted floors are an aid to but not a substitute for good management. Reasonable crowding is necessary on slotted floors to keep manure worked through the slots and animals clean. Studies at the University of Illinois showed, however, that extreme crowding can markedly reduce growth rate. Pigs having 4, 6½ or 8 square feet of floor space per pig gained at similar rates to 120 pounds. However, those having only 4 square feet gained significantly slower than the pigs with more space as their weight increased. In Illinois tests, concrete slats proved superior to fir timber slats in durability and ease of cleaning. Quarry screen resulted in injury to feet and legs of animals over 100 pounds in weight.

Dr. Jensen also noted that increased ventilation may be necessary to remove odors in tightly enclosed buildings when manure is allowed to accumulate under the slats.

Indians Topple Aubbee For Second Victory

The Culver Indians scored their second victory of the young fall season last Wednesday night with an 8-0 decision over Aubbee-naubbee Township on the local diamond.

Junior righthander Sam Lowry hurled a 3-hit shutout against the Braves. He walked two and struck out seven. This was the second straight Culver shutout as Paul Liette had blanked Richland Center last week on one hit.

Culver opened the scoring with four runs in the first inning, taking advantage of loser Joe Holcomb's wildness and a costly throwing error. The Indians added another run in the second, then exploded for three runs on four hits in the fourth. Holcomb, a hard-throwing righthander, allowed only six Culver hits, none exceptionally hard-hit. However, the lanky junior walked seven, hit one man, and was given little defensive support on the crucial plays.

Andy Lowry, catching in place of vacationing Paul White, led the Culver attack with two hits. The red-headed freshman also drove in two runs.

The county season opens Monday night when hard-hitting Bourbon visits Culver. The Comets are the leading threat to Culver's bid for the fall title. As you know, the Indians beat Bourbon for the summer County championship. Box score:

Indiana Waterfowl Season Set

Setting an open season for the hunting of a diminishing duck population becomes more of a problem each year.

The numbers of adult ducks and coots returning to the breeding population being 17% below that of 1961. While habitat conditions during May and June were somewhat improved over 1961, especially in the Dakotas, Minnesota, northern Saskatchewan, northern Manitoba, and Ontario, these improvements in local areas will not offset the continued lack of satisfactory production from the majority of the important breeding areas in the Canadian prairies. Production surveys indicate that total production from this year's reduced breeding population will be below that of 1961, which was the poorest recorded prior to this year. The breeding population of black ducks, the major species in eastern Canada and in the Atlantic Flyway, continues to remain at the low ebb which has prevailed for the past five years. The mallard breeding population index is now 38% below average, 57% below the peak of 1958, and 30% below the 1961 level. The combined effect of these factors indicate a moderate decline in flights to the Mississippi Flyway as compared to last year.

The Indiana Department of Conservation was permitted to choose for ducks and coots a 25-day continuous season or a 23-day split season, between the framework dates of Oct. 12th and Dec. 30th. The 25-day season, less Sundays, beginning at noon C.S.T. on Nov. 2nd and continuing to and including Nov. 26th, was chosen.

It was felt that in setting the season of these dates that there would be some opportunity to hunt the wood duck before it leaves the state and, also, give considerable opportunity to hunt the much restricted mallard and black duck. The wood duck population seems to be up somewhat in Mississippi Flyway states this year.

The daily bag limit will be two (2) with a possession of four (4) ducks; and a daily bag and possession limit of six (6) coots.

The daily bag limit may not include more of the following species than: (a) 1 mallard or 1 black duck; (b) 2 wood ducks; (c) 1 hooded merganser. The possession limit may not include more of the following species than: (a) 2 mallard or black ducks, singly or in the aggregate of both kinds; (b) 2 wood ducks; (c) 1 hooded merganser.

In addition to other bag and possession limits, 2 additional scaup ducks are allowed in the daily bag limit and 4 additional scaup ducks are allowed in the possession limit.

No open season is prescribed for the taking of canvasback and redhead ducks in any Flyway.

The framework for the goose season is Oct. 1, 1962, to Jan. 13, 1963, with the privilege of a total of 60 days shooting and a bag and possession limit of five (5) geese.

The daily bag and possession limits may not include, in the alternative, more than: (a) 2 Canada geese or subspecies; (b) 2 whitefronted geese; or (c) 1 Canada 1 goose or subspecies and 1 white-fronted goose.

The goose season in Indiana will be from Oct. 20th to Dec. 18th. Goose and duck shooting hours are from sunrise to sunset, except, that on the opening day of the duck season, the shooting begins at noon.

Other migratory birds on which the season has been set are: woodcock — Oct. 16th to Nov. 24th, with a bag limit of 4, and 8 in possession; Wilson Snipe — Oct. 16th to Nov. 14th, with a bag limit of 3, and 8 in possession; and Rails and Gallinules — Sept. 1st to Oct. 20th, with a bag and possession limit of 25 Sora rails. Other rails and gallinules, singly or in the aggregate, 15 bag and possession limit.

Notice Of Public Hearing On 1962 Game Seasons

There will be a public hearing on Monday, Sept. 10, for the purpose of setting the 1962 regulations on upland game according to word received today from the Department of Conservation. The discussion will take place at 10 a.m. in Room 602, State Office Building, Indianapolis.

The season and bag limits being proposed are as follows:

Pheasant: Nov. 10-30 with 2 cocks per day and 4 in possession after the second day.

Quail: Nov. 10 - Dec. 20 with a daily bag of 10 and possession of 20.

Hungarian Partridge: Nov. 10 - Dec. 20; 5 per day and 10 in possession.

SCHOOL MENU

By Carolyn Reynolds and Ann Waite

(Beginning Monday, Sept. 10) Monday, S m o k e d sausage, sweet potatoes, carrot sticks, wax beans, apple sauce, bread, butter, and milk.

Tuesday: Barbecued hamburger on bun, corn, potato salad, cake with cherry sauce, and milk.

Wednesday: Ham and beans, corn bread, cole slaw, sliced tomatoes, cookie, and milk.

Thursday: Creamed turkey on biscuit, peas, lettuce salad, apricots, bread, butter, and milk.

Friday: Tuna casserole, spinach, perfection salad, apple sauce dessert, bread, butter, and milk.

"Have a peanut?"

"No, thanks, they're fattening."

"Don't be silly. Why should they be fattening?"

"I'm just going by what I see. Peanuts are all I've seen an elephant eating."

Rabbit: Nov. 10, 1962 - Jan. 10, 1963; 5 per day and 10 in possession.

The season will not open until 8 a.m. (C.S.T.) on the first day.

Research biologists for the Division of Fish and Game are predicting only a moderately fair season with some locally good hunting. Pheasant reproduction this spring was not up to expectations according to the annual survey made by the State's rural letter carriers. The survey indicated that quail and rabbit numbers are about the same as last year.

A canoe trip-overnight campout was held Saturday and Sunday with 17 Boy Scouts attending. The trip began at the new State Road 17 bridge on the Tippecanoe River and ended at the city park in Winamac.

No meeting was held Monday. Next Monday, Sept. 10, is the start of a new program year. This meeting is important. A uniform inspection will be held and patrols are to turn in their patrol cook kits and wash buckets at this meeting. Support your patrol — attend in full uniform.

Canoe classes will be held at Allen's at 6:30 on Wednesday.

A district Camp-O-Ree will be held Friday and Saturday, Sept. 21 and 22. Conduct patrol meetings to plan for this highlight of the fall season.

"I've decided to call the baby Euphrosyne," said the young mother.

The tactful father, not expressing his dislike of the name, replied, "Splendid. That was the name of the first girl I ever loved."

There was a brief silence, then the wife said, "I've changed my mind. We'll call her Elizabeth."

TEACH CHILDREN RULES TO LIVE BY

Whether your children walk . . . ride . . . or climb on a bus to get to school, give them a set of safety rules to live by.

Knowing where and how to cross the street or road is important for children who walk to school. After seeing that the way is clear, they should walk — not run — across the street.

Children who obey authority — whether it's a school patrolman, policeman or bus driver — are most likely to return home unharmed.

Where there are no sidewalks, children should walk on the left-hand shoulder of the road so that they can see oncoming cars. A bright jacket or cap will help drivers see them.

Bicycle riders must not only obey traffic signs but must be ready to give way to thoughtless or careless drivers. Bicyclists should keep close to the edge of the street.

Children who ride a school bus should follow two rules. Obey the driver and be careful of traffic when entering or leaving the bus.
