Ainlay Talks On Common Market At Lions Club

CHARLES W. AINLAY

Charles W. Ainlay, Republican Congressional Candidate, will speak to the Culver Lions Club this evening at 6:30, on the subject of the European Common Market.

Ainlay will relate his observations made during a trip to Europe this past summer as one of the American Bar Association delegates to the International Bar Conference in Edinburgh, Scotland.

The Goshen attorney visited London, Berlin, Brussels, Hamburg, and Geneva before returning home. His conferences included sessions with members of the Executive Committee of the Common Market at its headquarters in Brussels.

The Lions will meet at the Lions Den at 6:30. Mr. Ainlay's address will follow the dinner hour and the regular business session. Lion J. T. Stinchcomb, program chairman, urges all Lions to attend and get first hand information on the Common Market and how it can affect the United States and its people.

Snyder Downtown Drycleaning Shop To Have Opening

It was bound to happen in Culver, and it has. The Grand Opening of Downtown Westinghouse Laundromat Drycleaning store at 120 E. Madison will take place on Oct. 12 and 13 at 6 a.m. to 12-midnight.

According to Paul T. Snyder, there will be a free and unusual demonstration. Homemakers in our community will be invited to bring their personal drycleaning and see for themselves how professionally they can dryclean all garments and household items except those for which laundering is obviously preferable or those for which professional finishing is recommended. Each homemaker will be entitled to one free load of drycleaning.

With the opening of Mr. Snyder's new Westinghouse drycleaning store, the age of do-it-yourself drycleaning has begun. We are told that the remarkable new Westinghouse machines will dryclean a load for only $1.50. The load can be comprised of 11 ladies' dresses or 10 ladies' skirts or 32 ladies' blouses or 6 men's slacks or 9 children's coats or 4 pair of unlined drapes, etc., etc., or any combination of the above. The machine will dryclean such household items as sofa slipcovers, bedspreads and shag rugs. The new Westinghouse Drycleaners are also perfect for wash-and-wear clothes.

C of C Hears Dave Orr Of Bell Telephone

The Culver-Union Township Chamber of Commerce met for their regular monthly noon luncheon meeting last Monday at the Culver Inn. E. Wayne Mattox, Chamber president, presided.

Dave Orr, of Indiana Bell Telephone Co., South Bend district, gave a short talk on proposed changes to be made in the Culver area. Mr. Orr stated the changes would insure better service. The details of the program will not be made public until a date has been set for the changes to take place. The Citizen will have a full report on those when officially released.

Other matters taken up by the Chamber members concerned a road sign to be placed at the intersection of State Highways 110 and 17, giving information that Culver was a short distance from this intersection. At present, Warsaw and Plymouth are the only towns mentioned. The Chamber went on record to present a resolution to the County Commissioners to change the speed limits on West Shore Drive. Summer traffic congestion caused by the loading and unloading of boat trailers demands the lowering of speed limits in this area. Committee on Christmas decorations made a report, which was approved by the Chamber.

W. O. Osborn Honored By Magazine

W. O. OSBORN

CHICAGO — Culver's State Exchange Bank, where a man's moral character is more important collateral than his credit rating, and the bank's president, W. O. "Will" Osborn, man behind this application of the Golden Rule to banking, receive nationwide attention in the November TOGETHER, Methodist family magazine.

In a copyrighted article, Dr. Harry W. Campbell, former pastor of Culver's First Methodist Church, Attica, Ind., calls Osborn "a Culver tradition" — and a man who has combined through the years a devout Christian spirit and a genuine interest in humanity with a business which now has assets in excess of $30 million.

Dr. Campbell recalls the time when Will Osborn made several substantial loans to a Culver man, who, when no more than a boy, helped rob the bank. In fact, Will Osborn was the man back of the action to free the gun-toting youth from prison!

Incidentally, reports Dr. Campbell, Osborn's faith and judgment that the man was worth helping and saving has been vindicated.

On the other hand, Osborn once refused an old client a short-term loan, backed by substantial collateral, because the man was notorious for underpaying his employees. In the eyes of Culver's bank the moral risk of unfairness overbalanced the collateral, writes Dr. Campbell.

Osborn and the Culver bank see to it that their own 50 employees are happy. The bank has the latest labor-saving electronic equipment housed in bright quarters recently remodeled at a cost of $400,000. Salaries are good, and each year everyone receives a bonus, sharing the bank's annual earnings on an equal footing with the stockholders, Dr. Campbell says.

Free lunches are provided for employees, and there is a paneled community room in the basement that seats 200. The basement door is open almost every night and almost every night there's a meeting of some civic or farm organization. The room is also equipped with a sound projector available to all, complete with vice-president to operate it.

"As a minister whose itineracy has made him familiar with more than one community," comments Dr. Campbell, "I am impressed by this bank's role as the pulsing heart of a community — a community where a good man's word makes him as good as any other man."

It is what we learn after we think we know it all that counts. — Abe Martin.

Juniors Present "Jump Over The Moon" Oct. 19

Three-Act Comedy Promises Big Hit

Eleven juniors are diligently rehearsing for two hours each evening their class play, "Jump Over The Moon," a three-act farce by Vera and Ken Tarpley which they will present Friday evening, Oct. 19, at 8 p.m. in the Culver Community Building.

The production is a humorous portrayal of the escapades of the Parker family — mother, father, a college daughter, and a teen-age son — portrayed by Beverly Barshes, David Frain, Pam Phelps and Bob Carter, respectively, after they adopt a chimpanzee to give mother a second career and to help Pam have a project for her college psychology class taught by professor Jim Jones.

Father who doesn't learn of the new project until deliveryman Charles Snyder arrives with a playpen and a tricycle soon feels neglected by his wife, gets bitten by "The Chimp," and starts feeling sorry for himself. He soon forgets himself, when Lucy Osborn, an ambitious club woman and her secretary, Karen McDonald, arrive to urge him to be a candidate for mayor on the W.P.S.A.C.P.I. (Women's Progressive Society for the Advancement of Culture and Prevention of Indolence) ticket.

Bob Carter, the high school senior son, isn't too interested in the chimpanzee but he keeps things lively about the home by trying to date two girls, Sharon McGaffey and Janeen Scruggs. Tom Yocom, Pam's boy friend who thinks more of cows and pigs than of Pam, complicates things by joining with David in trying to get rid of "The Chimp." Pam hypnotizes her father and boy friend and wills them to be chimps. Then the fun really begins.

The class started its ticket sales campaign last Friday with Ann Wagoner, class treasurer, as chairman. Four teams headed by Tom Schmidt, Diana Boots, Martha McAllister, and Sam Lowry are trying to break the school record for total class play sales of $557.70 set by last year's junior class.

For an evening of relaxation be at the Culver Community Building, Friday evening, Oct. 19, at 8 p.m.

Mental Health Coffees Set For October 24

At Culver Inn, M&M, Coffee Shop

The date for the annual Mental Health Coffees, sponsored by the Tri Kappas, has been set for Wednesday, Oct. 24. These Coffees will be held this year at the M & M Restaurant, The Culver Inn, and the Coffee Shop from 9 to 11 a.m. in the case of the two restaurants, and 9 to 11:30 at The Culver Inn.

These places of business have kindly consented to share their facilities and their hospitality for this worthwhile cause.

The M & M and The Culver Inn have been the scenes of these Coffees in the past, but this is the first year for the Coffee Shop. Let's give them all a big turn-out!

Proceeds from these Coffees are used locally for the benefit of our own Marshall County citizens and toward lending a helping hand in any way necessary to the Four-County Mental Health Clinic at Warsaw. One channel for local assistance is through a rehabilitation fund from which loans or outright gifts are made to Marshall County patients ready to leave Norman A. Beatty Memorial Hospital. This is a much-needed assistance which enables each patient to live and pay his own way while he is getting on his feet and finding a job.

Your presence will be appreciated at one of the above Coffees. After all, who doesn't enjoy a steaming cup of delicious hot coffee served with a friendly smile and a cheerful greeting on a chilly Autumn morning?

Why not try all three Coffees?

COURTHOUSE WILL CLOSE FRIDAY, OCT. 12

The Marshall County Courthouse will be closed on Friday, Oct. 12, in commemoration of Discovery Day, it was announced today by Glendyn C. Albright, Marshall County Auditor.

Babson Discusses The Making Of Wills

Making A Will Is Good Investment

Babson Park, Mass. — It is the personal duty of every adult man and woman to make a will. Most people realize this basically, and yet I am constantly surprised by the number of intelligent folk who "just don't get around to it." Nobody likes to think about death, and still one cannot look at the daily newspapers without realizing how many reach an untimely end through automobile smashups and other hazards of civilization. You may live to a very ripe old age, but you might die tomorrow. Let me tell you why I think it is all-important to protect your estate by a will, whatever your age.

Select Your Own Executor
A will gives you the opportunity of choosing in advance a friendly executor rather than having some judge appoint an acquaintance of his with whom you might not be satisfied. If you die intestate and the court has to disburse your estate, it can run up a lot of costs, including the necessity for a bond. Most of these costs can be avoided by making your will and appointing your own executor. Under some circumstances, your executor can give your beneficiaries securities or property at a fair value instead of cash.

Your own executor, also, can use discretionary powers that a court appointee would not possess. He can, for example, decide what property to sell, and follow out the directions in your will as to the disposition of certain articles of clothing, furniture, etc. to definite friends or relatives. He can do the things that you want done in the way that you would do them yourself, without litigation fears. Your estate may be saved thousands of dollars because your executor can be given time through your will to use his best judgment and consult with other people, and thus avoid liquidating your assets hurriedly or during a time of depression.

Wills Permit Special Provisions
Only through a will can you arrange to leave money in trust so that the bereaved can have the full income for life and then have the principal go to the children or other chosen people. You can, if you wish, distribute your property in unequal amounts among your heirs where the need of some may be greater than that of others. It should be clearly recognized, too, that it could take two years or more for a court-appointed executor to settle your affairs, and your heirs might have little or nothing to live on during this period. An executor can be authorized in your will to disburse a certain amount each month to your wife, for instance, pending final settlement. This can be increased if there is illness or unexpected trouble. Changes in your will can be made by you at any time by adding proper codicils which your lawyer will advise you on.

Most people have favorite churches and charities that they intend to remember, but these organizations will receive nothing unless there is a will. Every man and woman should leave something to his or her church, especially since religion is still the only hope for our unsettled and disturbed world. Practically everything of value that we have — democracy, schools, hospitals, personal freedom — we owe to the work of the church. So don't forget your church in your will.

Reputable Lawyer Important

I urge you not to try to make your own will to save a few dollars. Find a reputable lawyer, give him a complete list of the gifts you want to make, and designate whom you want for an executor. Any good lawyer (he should be a resident of your state) will be able to put your wishes into clear legal shape. He will tell you to have the will signed by three witnesses who watch you affix your signature; preferably witnesses should not include those mentioned in the document. He will explain any technicalities to you, particularly as to the laws in your state.

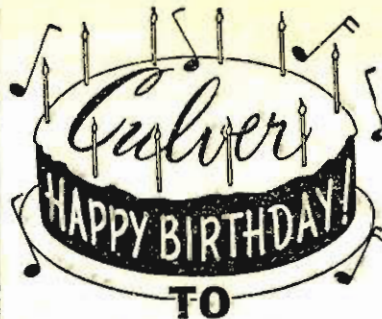

It is a good idea to have at least three carbon copies of your will so that your suggested executor can familiarize himself with your intentions. One can be put in your safe-deposit box for your own personal reference, and one can remain with your lawyer. The original should be left with your bank and a receipt therefor obtained. Even if you have not very much money at this time, you should make a will. It will turn out to be a fine investment for you.

Sister-In-Law Of Adrizn Snapp Wins Top Yearly Award

Mrs. Willard (Emily) Snapp, of Warsaw, a sister-in-law of Mr. Adrizn Snapp, of Culver, was named the "Woman of the Year" at a dinner meeting held recently by the Warsaw Chamber of Commerce. The winners, who were selected by the Chamber of Commerce, were presented with beautiful plaques, commemorating the selection.

Demonstrating new '63 Chevrolet truck features the hard way!

When we came to a river we got wet. This river bed was paved with rocks the size of melons. What a test for new light- and heavy-duty suspension systems this was!

Conventional light-duty units have coil-spring independent front suspension —easier on truck, load and driver.

Users of new conventional medium- and heavy-duty units who have to operate in close quarters are going to like the narrower front ends (up to 7 inches).

New engines, suspensions, frames and narrower front ends show their stuff on Mexico's tough Baja Run!

With months of proving-ground tests under their belts, why did new Chevrolet trucks take on the rugged Baja (bah'hah) Peninsula?

This is the toughest line of trucks Chevrolet has ever built. Sending them over the most punishing terrain in North America (a road totally unlike the fine highways on the Mexican mainland) was double proof of this fact. Frames, engines, suspension systems were subjected to stresses far greater than trucks normally encounter. You can be sure that trucks that can handle this kind of beating can handle any kind of work.

TOWN PARK REFORESTED BY LON HISSONG AND CULVER CITY CLUB

One of the projects sponsored and financed during 1961 by the Culver City Club was the reforestation of our local Town Park. Our locality has suffered keenly from the dreaded Dutch Elm Tree Disease which has taken its toll of our stately elm trees, and no where is it more noticeable than in our lakeside park area where the lack of shade trees has changed the park's appearance so greatly.

The shade trees were generously donated by Lon Hissong, through the efforts of Whitney Kline, and the Culver City Club hired the nurseryman who did the planting of these much-needed replacements.

The public owes a debt of gratitude to Mr. Hissong, Mr. Kline, and this community conscious Culver City Club for their desire to restore natural beauty to our Culver Town Park.

CMA Eagles Defeat Bishop Luers High School By 21-6

Revenge is sweet but short for Culver Military Academy's football squad, which goes against one of its toughest opponents of the season Friday night at Penn High School.

The 7:30 p.m. game at Mishawaka will match Culver's 2-1 record against undefeated Penn in a contest that Eagle Coach Russ Oliver feels will be tougher than the South Bend John Adams game, which the Academy lost 25-12. Penn defeated Culver last year 12-0.

From a revenge standpoint, the Eagles had their moment of glory Saturday when they paid back in full a debt owed Bishop Luers High School. Before a homecoming crowd, Luers was convincingly trounced here 21-6 as the Academy sought to avenge a 47-13 defeat at Fort Wayne last year. The Eagles had golden opportunities to score two more touchdowns against Luers but fumbled twice inside the five-yard-line. They held the visitors to a minus-8 yards from scrimmage on the ground, and a tough defense did not permit a Luers first down.

Culver jumped away to a 9-0 first period lead on a safety and a 24-yard run by quarterback Joe Williamson, who was the key man in the Eagle offense with two other scoring plays. The safety resulted from a bad pass from center on a Luers punting situation at the 10. The ball landed in the Culver end zone for an automatic two points.

A 25-yard play gave Luers its only touchdown in the second period. Though Culver was within reach despite its domination of play during most of the game, the game was not decided until two Culver TDs in the fourth quarter. Williamson flipped two passes to Chris Hinkle (seven yards) and Dick Swennumson (37 yards) to decide the issue. Art Miller kicked one placement.

Culver's cross country team lost to tough West Lafayette in a halftime meet, 22-35. In one other meet last week, the distance team finished seventh in the Hobart Invitational, an improvement of some six places over last year's event.

Cadet Talent Review To Be Staged At CMA

There will be 10 acts and 15 students included in the review. The first of its type to be held at Culver in recent years, acts will range from folk singing groups and recitation to a classical piano solo and a magician. All of the cadets took part in auditions conducted by Martin and other members of the Academy faculty. No admission charge will be made.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY THE PRESS CLUB OF CULVER HIGH SCHOOL

Fall Workshop Held At Argos

By Janet Beck
Friday, Sept. 28, the Marshall County Teachers Association held their annual Fall Workshop at Argos. The Marshall County teachers from Argos, Tyner, West, and Culver were registered and served coffee.

At 9:15 the teachers attended the general session held in the gymnasium. President Harold Muncie called the 1962 Workshop to order.

The pledge to the flag was led by Jerry Gates, the Argos student Council president.

Francis Ott from Tyner gave the invocation.

Gerald Hess, principal at Argos, welcomed the county teachers to the workshop.

A vocal ensemble from Argos directed by Ann Bigley provided music for the teachers.

Following the vocal ensemble, County Superintendent Frank McLane discussed the amount of excellent material available to boys and girls of today. He challenged the teachers to do a better job than they had ever done before in instructing their students. After finishing his excellent talk, he was given a standing ovation for his years of service.

The business meeting was next on the day's schedule. During this meeting, action was taken to cover the possibilities of dissolving the Marshall County Teachers Association. Special speaker, Borden Purcell, from the Indiana State Teachers Association, gave the address.

The teachers were then divided into various departments according to their fields. The grade school teachers met in the gymnasium under the direction of Arthur Brock and Alice McLane, Chairman Bonnie Gardner was in charge of the home economics department. In the mathematics and science department, Bernard Stukenborg was chairman.

Other chairmen were as follows: Hal Paffer, social studies; Gene Cooper, agriculture; Lowell Flitter, industrial arts; Violet Overmyer, English; Carl Doherty, music; and Ruth Shanks, commerce. Kenneth Cole, Culver principal, gave a talk to the English department.

After the various departmental meetings the teachers were served lunch in the school cafeteria.

Following lunch, there was a general session in the gymnasium. The Argos music department directed by Carl Doherty provided instrumental music. Ruth Early, a representative of the Pilot-News, spoke at the meeting. During this session, the new officers were elected, and the new teachers were introduced by the principals.

The teachers were divided into two groups. The grade school teachers met in the music room. Betty Bryant from the Culver Military Academy was the guest speaker.

The teachers of grades seven through twelve met in the gymnasium. They had a panel discussion on the "Drop-Out Problem." James Wynson, Argos; Claude York, Tyner; Reed Kepler, Culver; Robert East, West; and Jack Miller, Culver, composed the panel.

The main purpose of the Marshall County Teacher's Workshop is an important one. This gathering together of all of the Marshall County teachers gives each of them the chance to exchange ideas.

Teachers, as well as students, need to continue to be educated and learn modern methods of education. This is the purpose of the annual Fall Workshop.

Next Sunday attend the Church of your faith.

Band Officers Elected

By Jeanne Adams
Another National "Twirl-a-Thon" was held at the Union Township School on Sept. 22. This event was sanctioned by the Union Township National Baton Twirling Association. There were four girls from Culver entered.

Susan Thews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Thews, won ninth place in the Advanced Class for age 12. These girls will be attending the second session of the Spring field "Twirl-a-Thon" later in the year. The contest director is Mrs. Ben Thielbor.

The band officers have been elected for the coming year. The president of the Senior Band is Thad Overmyer. The other officers are Jim Boswell, vice-president; Sharon Norris, secretary-treasurer; Wade Logan, uniform captain; and Carol Overmyer, student director.

The Junior Band officers are Lynne Andrews, president; Lyn Mackey, vice-president; and Cheryl Zink, secretary-treasurer.

The Senior Band is getting a little music appreciation from records. They have heard piccolo, flute, and trumpet. Mr. Hambrook hopes to go through all the instrument families before the year is over.

Mr. Hambrook would like to thank the school officials for enlarging his office, and building some much needed shelves for music. Also, Mr. Hambrook would like to thank Larry Fisher, Doug Kosterman, and John Behmer for repairing the many old and battered instrument cases.

The Senior Band uniforms will be assigned within the next few weeks.

Osborn and Beck Are "Pilot" Reporters

Each year the co-editors of the "Schoolbell" choose one person from each press club staff to report news to the Plymouth Pilot-News. Lucy Osborn and Janet Beck are the reporters who were selected.

The co-editors Charlene Lucas and Cheryl Dillon, Lucy, Janet, Jack Miller, sponsor of the Press Club; and Kenneth Cole, principal, were guests of the Plymouth Pilot-News at a dinner meeting held at the Warana in Plymouth.

Mrs. Eugene Chipman was the guest speaker for the evening. She gave an informal talk on school newspapers and school news articles. She presented examples of common errors students make in their writing and ways of correcting these errors.

Entertainment was provided by Johnny Keek who played several numbers on the banjo. Everyone present surely enjoyed his lively and unusual program.

Mrs. Ruth Early, school editor, informed the reporters of the policies for the school page. She distributed the supplies and told each school and reporter the tentative date on which they would visit the newspaper. Everyone present was then introduced.

Representatives from Plymouth, Argos, Bourbon, Bremen, Tyner, West High, LaPaz, Grovertown, Tippecanoe, and Walkerton were also in attendance at this meeting. M. R. Robinson, former teacher and sponsor of the Press Club at Culver, was a special guest.

The first school page is scheduled to appear Oct. 12.

FIRE DEPARTMENT calls should be made to Viking 2-2121. Note this number near your home phone.

Grade Students Keep Busy

By Peggy Herr and Sharon McDonald

In Mrs. Keyser's first grade, they are studying the phonic sound of "s." The students are scouring magazines for pictures representing this sound. They are now enjoying their first reading book after having taken a reading readiness test. Marla Quivey is now back after a seige of mumps. Angela Warren had a birthday on Oct. 5.

Mrs. Barton's first grade is busy learning to read. Wednesday, they made sacks in which to carry home their papers.

Miss Page and her students would like to thank all the parents who visited their room the night of visitation. Also, they would like to thank Mrs. Hurt and her son for the picture cards, costume dolls, and other items representing life in India and Spain.

Two students in Mrs. Allen's second grade class, John Gunder and Debra Sue Baker, had birthdays on Sept. 26. Lewis Howard has come to Mrs. Allen's class from Washington Township. Doug Odle brought a salamander to class for everyone to see.

Mrs. Carter's third grade student, Robert Cromley, told the class that he will be soon moving to Iowa. The class is starting an Indian collection, and one student has brought six ears of beautifully colored Indian corn. In science, they are studying the care of pets, and are reading "Ab, the Cave Man." Mrs. Carter's class enjoyed their three-day vacation last week.

In Mr. Horban's fourth grade room, Kent Lucas supplied an answer to the question, "Do objects float better in fresh water or in very salty water?" by his experiment in science class. Tuesday, the class enjoyed playing the game "Three-Deep" with their teacher. Every Monday morning, Angela Liette will lead the class in the pledge of allegiance to our flag. The class had the opportunity to see what a one dollar gold piece looks like when Mrs. Venzel brought one to school.

Mrs. Alice Keller's fourth grade class has been studying Ferdinand Magellan and his trip around the world. In science, they are learning about what makes things move. Several of the children have conducted experiments and demonstrations for the class.

Do not be offended if some of the youngsters in Mr. Vondra's fifth grade class ask, "What are you doing to stay healthy and clean?" They are studying about bacteria and molds, and how to keep our foods safe from them.

Indians Win County Baseball Title

By Greg Dawson
Culver's baseball team came from behind to defeat Bourbon, 5-4, in the county championship game played at Bourbon Monday evening.

The usual steady pitching performance by Sam Lowry enabled the Indians to dethrone last year's fall baseball champs, and beat them for the fifth time in six games during the past summer and fall seasons. The championship game was, by far, one of the best games played.

Bourbon took an early first inning lead of one run, increasing it to two in the second. However, Culver came forward with a three-run rally in the bottom half of the third. It was started with a single from Rick Ervin, a double by Lowry, and then Paul White came through with a three-run homer. Although it took clutch pitching and a good defense to stop the Bourbon attack, Culver retained the lead. This victory made Culver's fall baseball record 8 and 1.

During the past summer and fall baseball seasons you have heard a lot about the hitting and pitching of county teams. Culver, undoubtedly, has these two valuable factors, as well as one of the best defensive teams in county play. More than once their defensive plays have won games. Culver was particularly fortunate to have a fine defensive shortstop, Jim Boswell, and first baseman, Ervin.

At the end of the season, Jim Lewis had the highest batting average, .429, while Ervin was credited with the most runs batted in.

We can be proud of this fine baseball team and the fine leadership of Coach Gene Crosley.

Marshall County Building & Loan Association

201 N. MICHIGAN ST. PLYMOUTH
D. L. McKESSON, Secretary

By Carmen Greiter, Diana Boots, and Janet Rosebaum

"One of these nights, I have got to get some sleep." First period teachers have probably heard this comment many times as students sleepily stumble into their morning class. Our C.H.S. students seem to be managing to keep busy. As one student stated, "We have homework and tests to do as work. For enjoyment, we have homework and tests. We have homework and tests for relaxation. And, if you can not find anything to do in your spare time, there are always tests and homework!" Of course, it isn't quite that bad. Culver students do carry on an active social life.

The Sunshine initiation was held last Thursday evening in the bank lounge. Our Sunbeams can really do the Bunny Hop. If you ever want to hear the Sunshine song, call on Lonnie Darosei and Susannah Spencer. They are really great!

There seem to be a lot of comments flying through the air. The seniors can tell you why. Senior picture proofs have been delivered.

Judy Kimmel, why were you so over-joyed this weekend? It couldn't be because Chuck Reed came home for the weekend, could it? You have never seen a girl with so many smiles.

The fancy of all our braves and maidens seems to be turning to thoughts of love. The ones that have been affected by this are Gloria Baker and Pat Dwyer, Sharon McDonald and Ron Mendenhall, Bev Barshes and Bob White, and Diana Tanner and Charlie Earlich. Could it be that only the juniors are being affected by this? (We doubt it. The seniors seem to be doing all right, also.)

We hear that Mr. Cole was rather disgusted with the co-editors and Plymouth Pilot reporters after their dinner in Plymouth. Gee, it is too bad you missed out on the banana splits, Mr. Cole, but we bet that apple you got from the table decorations was very tasty! Mr. Robinson attended this Plymouth Pilot dinner as a special guest. It was good to see you again, Mr. Robinson.

Everyone is leaving Culver for some reason. Most of the seniors have good reasons for being away. They are visiting different colleges trying to find the school of their choice. But we do not think that is the intention of Carol Overmyer and Cheryl Dillon. After all, girls, Wabash is a boys' school!

The juniors have also started planning for their dances after the home basketball games. Pam Phelps and Sam Lowry were chosen for the cheerleading committee.

There are quite a few exciting events on the calendar for everyone to look forward to in the near future. The girls are anxiously awaiting the cheerleading tryouts. You can see many of them practicing jumps in the gym any time of the day. We wish all you brave girls good luck!

This is the time when all writers must lay down their pencils and say good-by. We will see you all next week — we hope.

Likes and Dislikes

Scholarship Offered By Navy

Applications are now available for the Navy's annual competitive examination for its nationwide Regular NROTC college training program, according to a recent announcement by the Department of the Navy. The mental examination is scheduled for Dec. 8, and is open to all high school seniors and graduates who can qualify.

Eligible young men may earn a commission in the Regular Navy or Marine Corps through the Regular NROTC. Upon receipt of a baccalaureate degree and completion of naval science training, NROTC students are appointed as career officers in the Navy or Marine Corps.

Our modern Navy presents the young officer with many interesting and challenging duty assignments on, in, or over the sea. Possible billets include duty in submarines or naval aviation, duty aboard ships in the technical fields of nucleonics, electronics or engineering, or duty with the Staff Corps of the Navy.

The Marine Corps presents other varied facts of naval life.

Male citizens of the United States who are sincerely interested in careers in the naval service and who have reached the 17th anniversary of birth and have not reached their 21st birthday by June 30, 1963, are eligible to apply for this program. Those contemplating a college course which takes five years to complete must have reached their 20th birthday by June 30, 1963. Persons attaining a qualifying score will be given the Navy's rigid midshipman physical examination next February.

Young men selected for the program will enroll in one of the 52 colleges of their choice where a Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps unit is located.

The Regular NROTC is maintained for one purpose — to train and educate young men for ultimate commissioning as career officers in the Navy and Marine Corps. For those selected, all tuition, fees, and books, plus an annual retainer pay of $600 will be furnished by the Navy for a period of not more than four years. The fifth year of a five-year course must be at the midshipman's own expense. In addition to the normal college curriculum, midshipmen in the Regular NROTC will study a planned course in naval science subjects and spend part of three summers on training cruises with various Fleet units.

The deadline date for receipt of applications is Nov. 16, 1962. Applications are available from Jack Miller, Director of Guidance here in Culver High School, Mr. Miller has been provided with specific information concerning the NROTC program and will furnish informational bulletins to any interested student or person.

Seniors Make $4,000 Magazine Subscription Goal

By Sheila Fish

Although battling some tired feet and a few empty gas tanks, our seniors made their goal! The class, as a whole, took in $4,111.95 on their magazine drive. Nick Knoerzer's team was the winner of the class's private little contest by collecting $1,172.45. The top salesman was Cheryl Dillon, who sold $260.34 worth of magazine and Citizen subscriptions.

The seniors have received their picture proofs, and are now busy trying to decide which pose would be the best for that "certain special someone."

The seniors have also received their annual invitation to visit the Culver City Club.

The juniors have been busy with their play rehearsals. They are working hard to make their play the best one yet. Tom Schmidt, Martha McAllister, Bob Carter, and Diane Boots were chosen team captains for ticket sales.

The freshmen and sophomores held class meetings Friday. At this time two members of each class were chosen to help select this year's cheerleaders. Sue Cole and Dave Lemar will represent the sophomores; Mark Lowry and Pam Fish, the freshman class. The subject of class projects was discussed at both meetings. The sophomores decided to rake leaves and alternate fudge sales with the freshman.

"Horn Of Plenty" In Making

By Kay Thomas

For the interest of the high school, the Art Department will display many different and unusual works this year. In the near future, a bulletin board will be placed in the proper location.

The art classes are continuing to develop their skill of shading and making still-life drawings in charcoal and pencil. For the month of November, a still-life drawing will be displayed for all to see. The theme of this color picture will be "Horn of Plenty."

Capehart (Rep.-Indiana) recently announced Meadowlark Lemon, great basketball star and ace showman of the world-traveling Harlem Globetrotters, as the recipient of the first Thomas C. Capehart Memorial Trophy as the American athlete who contributed the most overseas in 1962 towards international good will relations on behalf of his country.

In announcing the result of the first award in memory of his son who died with his wife in a Jamaica air crash in 1960, the senator revealed that he has a committee of sports figures who each year will recommend to him the athlete to receive the trophy. Lemon, indicated Senator Capehart, won on his performances touring throughout the world with the Globetrotters. He is an idol in many countries on all six continents.

"I couldn't be more pleased with the selection of Meadowlark Lemon to receive the first trophy bearing my beloved son's name," Senator Capehart said in making the presentation to the celebrated athlete in the presence of Owner-Coach Abe Saperstein of the Globetrotters, Olympic track immortal Jesse Owens and other prominent sports personages.

"I have met Meadowlark before and know him to be a wonderful young man, as well as an outstanding athlete. But, like most Hoosiers, I am a basketball fan of the first water and it's nice that the initial presentation of the trophy is to a cager."

Capehart on several occasions has taken the floor of the United States Senate on basketball discussions where he felt the prestige of the United States might have suffered by faulty handling in international competition, such as the fiasco of the United States losing with a poorly-assembled team in an important world tournament won by Russia several years ago in South America.

As a member of the important United States Senate foreign relations committee — one reason why he set up the award — the senator knows the value of good relationship through sports with other countries. An Indiana farmer in his early years, he rose to industrial heights before entering politics to serve his country. He has represented Indiana for 18 years in the United States Senate, the longest in Hoosier history.

Farm Poll Shows Freeman Doing Poor Job

Most Illinois and Indiana farmers agree that Orville Freeman is doing a poor job as secretary of agriculture.

This is the opinion expressed by a representative sample of more than 2,000 farmers polled in September by Prairie Farmer, America's oldest farm paper. Only 10.6 per cent feel that Freeman is doing a good job; 30.0 per cent say he is doing a fair job; and 46.5 think he is doing a poor job.

They have a better opinion of the job being done by President John F. Kennedy. Most of them feel that he is doing a good-to-fair job but 29 per cent of Illinois and Indiana farmers polled thought he was doing a poor job. Here are the results of the questions: On the whole, do you think that Orville L. Freeman is doing a good, fair, or poor job as secretary of agriculture?

(Figures are in percentages)

Farmers were also asked to express their preferences in both Illinois' and Indiana's crucial senatorial elections. In answer to the question "If the election for U.S. senator were held today, how would you vote?" Everett M. Dirksen, the incumbent Republican senate minority leader, polled 54.6 per cent of the Illinois votes. His Democratic opponent Sidney R. Yates got 22.8 per cent of the

Ainlay Attacks Farm Bill — Calls For Less Controls

Republican Congressional Candidate Charles W. Ainlay said last Monday that the Kennedy-Freeman Farm proposals and the bill which the Democratically-controlled Congress passed comprise a complete botch of the farm program. He said proposals of jail sentences for farmers should alert farmers to the ultimate intentions of Washington bureaucrats.

Ainlay spoke at a Republican rally held at Pinola Grange near LaPorte.

The G.O.P. candidate said even the Democrat's own former Secretary of Agriculture, Clinton Anderson, called the recently adopted farm bill the worst piece of farm legislation he had ever seen.

Ainlay said the original Administration farm bill which was only narrowly defeated in the House of Representatives was the most revolutionary and radical proposal in farm legislation ever advanced by a President of the United States. "The President asked Congress to completely surrender its legislative duties and responsibilities by delegating to the Department of Agriculture the authority to write and enforce complex control and subsidy legislation for every single farm commodity produced in America."

Ainlay said.

"The farm bill finally adopted has a delayed fuse for farmers," Ainlay said. "After 1964 the 15 acre marketing quota exemption and the 30 acre wheat for feed exemption are both repealed and all small wheat farmers will be brought under strict new controls that are extremely unfair," Ainlay continued. He said, "All this Administration has offered the farmer is more controls and more controls."

Ainlay said that Section 440 of H.R. 10010, the Administration farm bill, proposed sentences in Federal penitentiaries for dairy farmers who didn't keep records the way Orville Freeman wanted them to.

"A proposal to imprison a dairy farmer in a federal penitentiary for failure to keep a record or for refusing to let a Federal official snoop about his personal records or any other material deemed relevant by the Secretary would seem preposterous had it not been recommended by the President of the United States," Ainlay said.

"The Democrat Congressman from our District has supported these Administration proposals every step of the way," Ainlay charged. "He voted for the first farm bill which other Democrats helped defeat and he voted for the bill finally adopted," Ainlay said.

"I believe we should get the government out of the farm business as quickly as possible," Ainlay said. He said he believed the farmer should be returned to his rightful place in the free enterprise system.

"All the years of government red tape and control certainly haven't helped the farmer," Ainlay asserted. "I believe we should move gradually but steadily away from farm controls and subsidies," Ainlay concluded.

DID KENNEDY PAY OFF DOUGLAS?

President Kennedy gave Hoosier Republicans one of their best campaign issues last week when he sided with Senator Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) and refused to give White House approval to the planned Indiana port on Lake Michigan.

Republicans, led by Lieutenant Governor Richard O. Ristine, grabbed the ball quickly and accused the President of blocking the port as a payoff to Douglas and the Chicago Democrat politicians who delivered Chicago to Mr. Kennedy in 1960.

"We'd rather have the port than this campaign issue," Ristine said. But you can bet the Republicans will make hay from the Kennedy blunder because nearly 100 per cent of the state's population is for the port.

To the working man, the port means 100,000 additional jobs to the state in a few short years.

And to the business man, the port means untold new industry and commerce.

Heretofore, the port has been a non-partisan issue. But the President is the one who turned it into a political hassle.

Mr. Kennedy was trounced in Indiana two years ago by more than 200,000 votes. His payoff to Douglas isn't expected to improve that situation any two years from now. — Indianapolis Star.

Senator Douglas' trumped up slogan "Save The Dunes" is nothing more than an effort to arouse public opinion in favor of a national park to be located in an area where none is necessary and natural beauty does not warrant it — all in the hopes that by doing so, it would block Indiana industrial progress and remove any competition to Chicago port business. Douglas would have everyone believe that those not agreeing with his thinly veiled crusade are all out of step in preserving our natural beauty spots.

The area in question has had tons of the dunes removed for fill purposes, the most of it going to build Chicago beaches. He says nothing of saving the dunes on the Michigan side of the lake. In view of the area in question, in comparison to Michigan dunes, one can only assume there is an under-the-table reason, which Douglas refuses to mention.

Indiana will have their port if they have to build it without Federal aid. If that be the case, all Hoosiers should back this movement to insure industrial and economic growth so vital to our State.

 This correlative citation will be among those read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (p. 303): "When the evidence before the material senses yielded to spiritual sense, the apostle declared that nothing could alienate him from God, from the sweet sense and presence of Life and

Short of the Goal
 Larry is a fullback. You ought to see him finding those holes in the line . . . driving off tackle . . . slashing through the secondary. Oh, Larry has scored a dozen touchdowns!

But he can't kick an extra-point! The cross-bar is too high, the goal posts are too far away.

Just give Larry a year or two—with lots of practice. Then we'll win those close ones . . . 7-6 . . . 14-13 . . . 21-20!

Never worry about failure when its cause is being overcome. Don't lower the goal . . . keep trying. Grow stronger. You'll reach it!

That's one of the lessons of life that Larry has learned on Sundays when he goes to church with his family . . . one of many lessons that help us achieve our best every day of the week.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

HOMER CAPEHART'S FARM, BUSINESS AND SENATORIAL ACHIEVEMENTS REFLECT LONG EXPERIENCE IN EACH

By Paul M. Riddick — Retired Editor Lagrange Standard

Horatio Alger would not have had to draw on his imagination in the least to have written a top hit story on the life of United States Senator Homer E. Capehart of Indiana, a stalwart figure in the industrial world as well as in national and international affairs.

For, Homer Capehart occupies a position of special importance in Washington, where he is in his 18th year, as the outstanding example of a much needed type of statesmanship, the solid farmer-businessman in government.

Former Senator Forrest Donnell, of Missouri, was exactly right when he nominated Senator Capehart as the TOP Self-made man in Washington.

Born in a two-room cabin, the son of a poor tenant farmer on a small Indiana farm, experiencing poverty, hard toil, disappointments and setbacks in his struggle to rise, Homer Capehart followed a course to ultimate triumph which is a challenge to American youth—a demonstration of how grit and determination can win against odds.

Years of struggle produced a man with deep, understanding sympathy for the problems of every man, woman and child, and the backbone to stand staunchly for his conviction that the American system of government is our greatest asset.

HOMER STARTED EARLY

Two stories about the very young lad, Homer Capehart, are prophetic of his success.

As a small boy, he organized a business enterprise, a creamery route. He lined up patrons and hauled their milk to the creamery in the farm wagon.

And, in those same years, his mother complained that Homer wouldn't come to supper until every last calf and pig was fed and settled for the night.

Other fragments of the story of his boyhood explain the building of his forthright character. Although the Capehart home was humble indeed, it was a home where example and teaching were the best. As in the case of Abe Lincoln, the boy, who was and remains Homer's idol, a saintly mother had a major part in the guidance of the children. Family prayer and grace at the table were regular family practices. So was attendance at the nearby church, where the mother played the organ and led the choir.

There was good family stock on both sides. The Capehart ancestors freed their slaves in North Carolina and moved to slave-free Indiana. Ministers and other solid citizens were the rule among the forebears.

THE CAPEHART CREED

Life among people who knew privation and toil, and Homer's own years of struggle, laid the foundation for the "Capehart Creed" which, as described by the late Senator Kenneth Wherry, of Nebraska, sums up the American way of life:

I want to retain that form of government under which the farm boy of today becomes the farm owner of tomorrow; under which the laborer of today becomes the successful businessman of tomorrow; under which the poor immigrant of today may become the prominent citizen of tomorrow.

As a young lad, Homer trudged often through the snow to the one-room schoolhouse where he received his early education. To high school, he drove a rather broken-down little cart behind a rather broken-down horse on a twelve-mile round trip each day.

His teachers and schoolmates remember him as a spirited and popular lad, above average as a student, although they hardly envisioned him as a future leader in the Senate of the United States.

FARMER-SALESMAN

The youth's interests, on leaving school, centered on the farm, with one month in the business world as an employee of the J. I. Case Company.

Then, a spark was kindled in his mind by a letter painting a glowing picture of the world of salesmanship in which Homer Capehart was to climb mountains. The letter, from the Rumford Baking Powder Company, promised an "attractive sales position." So, Homer began knocking on doors and offering each housewife a pound of baking powder, with the choice of a biscuit cutter, a mixing spoon or a cook-book as a premium.

He immediately began to out-sell his companion salesmen with a compelling sales talk on the merits of the free biscuit cutter, mixing spoon and cook-book, which wound up with the sale of the baking powder. Thus began the fabulous career of Capehart the Salesman.

FIRST DAVIESS VOLUNTEER

Something happened in the spring of 1917 which diverted young Capehart. In April, war was declared on Germany. The first volunteer in Daviess county was a farm lad named Homer Capehart. Twenty days later, he and 11 others were off to training camp. Twenty-seven months later he was discharged as a sergeant.

In the absence of an immediate sales position, he took an unattractive place behind the counter of a small restaurant. Then, he returned to the farm.

But, the seed of salesmanship was well planted and shortly began a sales career which covered nine years and nine states. He sold milking machines in Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska with the usual Capehart effectiveness. (But he stoutly denies an oft-told tale that one of the machines went to an old man with a single cow.)

Five demonstration meetings in five different counties in five days was his organization plan. Good organizer? Well, as he grew, he later set up 21 big sales conventions in 21 cities 6,000 miles apart in 25 days.

After several years with the J. I. Case Company, young Capehart and a partner formed an advertising agency at Green Bay, Wis. It was there that he was married to Miss Irma Mueller, a school teacher and secretary. The first years of marriage were marked by financial struggle. They lived in five cities in five years but then this display of the stuff which makes winners brought his appointment as salesmanager of the Holcomb & Hoke Manufacturing Company at Indianapolis.

CAPEHART AT HUNTINGTON, FT. WAYNE, INDIANAPOLIS

Senator Capehart's real climb to fame started at Huntington. In a five-room cottage, he started the project which was to make him the father of the automatic phonograph industry and a leader in the radio and television business. Eventually, the small Huntington firm became the great Capehart Corporation, of Ft. Wayne. Then came the vice-presidency and general managership of the Wurlitzer Company; the Packard musical instrument company at Ft. Wayne and Indianapolis.

World War II demands diverted the Packard Company to military supplies. Under Capehart management, the firm won five Navy "E" Awards.

GOOD LABOR RELATIONS

With memories of his own

Homer E. Capehart

toil and sweat stamped into his consciousness, Capehart from the beginning was more than considerate of his employees and labor relations in his plants have been outstanding.

The Packard Manufacturing Company at Indianapolis later was headed by his son, Thomas C. Capehart, until a tragic plane crash in Jamaica claimed the lives of both Tom and his wife. A second son, H. Earl Capehart, Jr., is an Indianapolis attorney. A daughter, Mrs. James C. Pearson, Jr., lives at Chevy Chase, Md.

Retaining always his interest in farming, Senator Capehart acquired about 2,000 acres of the fine land of his boyhood home, Daviess County. His farm, his extremely active control of it, his livestock and his crops give him the "dirt farmer" status of which he is so proud. Ask almost anybody at Indiana livestock sales barns or elevators. They know him personally, because he does a lot of personal buying and selling.

Senator Capehart's organizing ability brought repeated requests from civic and political organizations. He directed the organization of the famous Wendell L. Willkie presidential nomination ceremonies at Elwood, Indiana. He became Navy Day chairman for Indiana and his organization plan was adopted nationwide. The V.F.W. cited him as the outstanding civilian leader of patriotic projects in the nation.

CAPEHART CORNFIELD CONFERENCE

But, the project that sent up a skyrocket which drew nationwide attention to Capehart the organizer was his "Republican Cornfield Conference" at his farm on August 27, 1938. Nothing like it had before been seen in political rally organization. From all over the nation came 11,250 automobiles, 110 buses and numerous special trains bringing 55,000 interested people to jam 40 tents, eat all they wanted and listen to nationally prominent speakers.

INDIANA'S FAVORITE SON

In 1939, Indiana's Republican editors nominated him as the state's favorite son candidate for President of the United States. Capehart became Seventh District Republican Chairman and, in 1944, won election to the Senate without having sought any other elective public office. To do so, he defeated the Democratic "champ"—ex-Governor Henry F. Schricker.

Capehart's smiling countenance was everywhere in Indiana, campaigning as few had ever done before. He is said to have shaken hands with more than 250,000 voters. He frankly asked them to vote for him and a majority did.

It has been said that his campaign speeches then did not show the polish of some others, but he drove home solid and sensible arguments. The late Col. Robert McCormick of the Chicago Tribune called him a man of the hour needed in public life.

WINS AGAIN—AND AGAIN

Senator Capehart was re-elected in 1950 and 1956, each time with increasing margins. No other man ever had been honored with three successive elected terms as United States Senator from Indiana. Independent observers will tell you this year's election probably will increase that record.

As a Senator, Capehart is recognized as a leading champion of "The American Way," arch foe of socialistic trends and wasteful spending in government.

The course of history might have been different had his proposals on foreign aid and farm legislation been followed. He would have limited foreign aid to a strictly loan basis and vested control of military aid in the hands of our own military men.

The Capehart farm background and experience taught him that a minimum of government in farming is best for the farmer in the long run. He says the farmer should be allowed to produce all he can but that the government's responsibility is to conduct a vast program of research to develop new uses of and markets for farm products.

Such a program, he argues quite logically, will assure the farmer a ready market for everything he produces, create hundreds of thousands of new jobs, eliminate government surpluses which cost more than a million dollars a day just for storage and depress farm prices, and take government out of the farming business.

The Senate of the United States has agreed with him and passed the Capehart Farm Research Bill. The House of Representatives should do so in this session.

CAPEHART MILITARY HOUSING

A recognized leader in all housing fields, and author of a good many housing bills, his Capehart Military Housing plan is best known because it bears his name officially and is known and admired by hundreds of thousands of service men and women.

Again, it is the sound Capehart economic approach which produced the plan through private enterprise rather than direct government expenditure.

In this and many other ways, Senator Capehart has sought to bring the nation's spending within its income. As he said to the Senate:

"Why can we not, in connection with the very first bill to come before the Senate, say to ourselves—'Let us use our very best judgment in seeing if we cannot eliminate a great many expenditures without crippling or hindering any essential program, giving us a balanced budget? If we cannot live within a balanced budget now, when can we hope to do so?'"

INTERNATIONAL GOOD WILL

Senator Capehart's work in promoting trade and cordial relations with the Latin American nations is of special note. As chairman of the Senate Committee on Banking and Currency in 1953, he led a group from government and business on a Latin American tour which covered 21,000 miles, covered 15 nations, and included 63 conferences with government officials and 93 meetings with Latin American businessmen. In 1957, he again covered 8 Latin American countries.

His work in this field not only has brought increased prestige at home but Latin American ambassadors honored Senator and Mrs. Capehart at a Washington reception which Washington newspapers described as "the most elaborate that has ever been given in Washington for a Senator." The Paraguayan government decorated him, and named a street in the capital "Homer E. Capehart Avenue."

COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN

Senator Capehart's service on the Banking and Currency Committee, including his chairmanship, has been outstanding. He has worked hard, too, on such committees as Foreign Relations, Government Operations, Interstate and Foreign Commerce, and the Joint Committee on Defense Production.

"FATHER" OF SMALL BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

He is known as the father of the Small Business Administration, which has assisted so many small businesses in Indiana and throughout the United States.

He directed a thorough house-cleaning investigation of the Federal Housing Administration. His sound economic approach is ever evident.

Thus, it is not surprising that the Chicago Tribune said of him editorially:

"Mr. Capehart has refused to fall for socialistic mirages and has consistently striven to keep enterprise free, as the best means of assuring prosperity for everybody. . . . The business judgment he brings to debate and roll call provide valuable balance to the judgment of the Senate as a whole."

INDIANA'S MAN OF ENERGY

The nation as well as Indiana has benefited from all of these achievements.

For Indiana, Senator Capehart has performed like a real, devoted Hoosier.

A great many Indiana manufacturers and the people who work for them know how strenuously he has fought to get for them a goodly share of the vast government contracts awarded around the clock.

Indiana flood control funds are a fetish with him. In his more than 17 years in the Senate, the state has received more and more of the funds necessary to protect Indiana's exposed areas from the ravages of flood, probably the most in Hoosier history.

He fought like a tiger to locate the Army's Finance Center, with its thousands of employees, in Indianapolis.

The Bunker Hill Air Force base, near Peru was a project with him. That brought millions of dollars to Indiana.

The Census Bureau operation at Jeffersonville was another Capehart project. There again, jobs and dollars.

Many miles of Interstate highway allocated to Indiana can be traced to his efforts.

Hospital loans and grants and a myriad of other projects probably wouldn't have gone to Indiana except for Capehart.

The same is true of airport facilities, from Indianapolis through the rest of the state.

In all of these, he helped and received help from Indiana House members.

This is all a part of the Capehart philosophy that one of the most important functions of a member of the Congress is to create jobs. To that principle he is dedicated.

Add to these his work on welfare cases, military service cases, etc., etc., and it becomes apparent why:

It has been well said of him that Homer Capehart is Indiana's man of energy.
