New Tax Is Explained By Dr. Otis Bowen

Dr. Otis R. Bowen, Bremen, State Representative for Marshall County, gave a very interesting talk on the new tax laws which were enacted by the last state legislature, at the luncheon meeting of the Culver Chamber of Commerce, last Monday. Using charts to show the funds needed to operate the state government, he explained that schools, highways and health were the main departments of government which would receive the largest per cent of state income derived from the new tax set-up. Dr. Bowen also explained the basic fundamentals as to how each tax program would effect the average person.

The chamber had a set of the new tax laws, which will be turned over to the Culver library for those who wish to read the entire contents of each bill. If you should want a set for yourself, order them from the State Chamber of Commerce, Indianapolis, Ind. The two bills are H 1509 and H 1225, and cost $1.00 per set.

The chamber voted to publish a summer activities brochure for tourist information and to support the chamber's share of expense in sending three girls to Girls State at Indiana University.

May 24 & 25 Are Proclaimed As Poppy Days

Friday and Saturday, May 24 and 25, were named Poppy Days and all citizens were urged to observe these days by wearing memorial poppies in tribute to the nation's war dead in a proclamation issued today by A. R. McKesson, President of the Town Board of Trustees. The Proclamation stated:

"Remembrance of those who gave their lives in defense of our country and its freedom, being an inspiring part of our American heritage, and all of us having personal memories of young men from our city who died in war service, it is fitting that we keep those memories bright by wearing on one day of each year the Memorial Poppy. I therefore am proclaiming Friday and Saturday, May 24 and 25, 1963 to be Poppy Days in the Town of Culver and urging all citizens to observe these days by wearing the Memorial Poppy."

Academy Faculty Ladies Enjoy May Day Coffee

The ladies of the faculty of Culver Military Academy were greeted May Day morning with a Coffee at The Culver Inn, given by Mrs. Robert Rossow, Mrs. Robert Shanks, Mrs. Hilliard Walmer, and Mrs. John W. Henderson.

An old-fashioned May basket welcomed the guests on the front door, and a large white basket, filled with pastel flowers, guided them to the lobby. There the center of attraction, arranged on the lazy susan in front of the fireplace, was a Maypole with pastel ribbon streamers, topped with a cluster of pink carnations and net, and leading down to small baskets of pastel nosegays on the lower deck. The mantel was arranged as a flower garden with rows of pink tulips, pink and white geraniums and clusters of ageratum. The centerpiece was flanked on either side by serving tables draped in pink and blue organdy, which held small pastel baskets of frozen fruit, little "hot pigs in blankets" looking like small calla lilies, and cheese sticks. Coffee and pink fruit punch were served. These were headed by large baskets of pastel flowers.

After the wintry blasts of the last day of April, it was a beautiful day of bright sunshine, guests were gay, and spirits were light for the first day of May.

Culver City Club Holds Final Meeting of Season

Organ music was played by Paul White during the dinner.

Mrs. Earl Dean Overmyer, president, welcomed everyone after which Miss Lucy Osborn sang two songs, "Young and Foolish," and "Hey, There!" accompanied by Paul White.

Mrs. Phillips gave some very interesting highlights of the state convention of the Federated Clubs which she attended last week at French Lick. The thought of the month was given by Mrs. Jesse Sims, who used two selections by Edgar Guest, "How Rich Are You!" and "May Meditations."

Madrid, Spain

Friday, April 19, 1963

Editor, CITIZEN:

First real chance to get my thoughts together and write a long letter to you from Madrid! Please excuse mistakes, this seems to be a Spanish typewriter—., and ? are mixed-up. To begin with, we were set to take off from New York at 9:30 on March 29 but jet developed landing gear trouble so we deplaned and had to wait three hours for another jet to check out! Finally arrived in Rome at about three in the afternoon! My sister-in-law and her husband, Anny and Paul Hanner, were waiting. In Paul's Jag we sped off to find a gas station towards Naples and wound up touring Rome. We arrived in Naples just in time for a cocktail welcoming party they had arranged for me with a group of Paul's NATO officers . . . it was fun!

I left Naples and railed up to Rome, returning to Naples on the following Friday. Rome is a beautiful city, to say the least, rich in history and church. The people are well dressed and seem to be enjoying modern life, lots of cars (almost unbelievable) always honking, always a traffic jam and the same is true in Naples. The countryside is a rich, spring green at this time and flowers are everywhere. In Rome I met some very interesting people attached to our Embassy and services. I joined friends one night to dine in the home of a Kansas City girl who married an Italian boy. Threw my coins in the Roman fountain and returned to Naples on Friday. The following week we visited Pompeii, the city, and the beach areas. One day we also went over to Capri for the day . . . a beautiful spot. We toured over the island from end to end, had refreshments at Gracie Field's place, and lunch at a lovely English spot. The day before I left for France, I went up to see Anny and Paul's boys, John and Brent, try out for little league baseball. I was standing behind the screen and Brent was pitching, when all of a sudden, I heard a voice cry out, "Dave, what in the (&%)& are you doing here?" It was the boys' new manager, Tom King, from Wichita and a member of my wedding party and a fraternity brother. He has just been stationed over here (Navy Lieutenant) for three years. Had a nice, but too short visit with him and his wife.

Anny and Paul have a lovely apartment, very large, with high ceilings, everything in marble and Italian tile, two large baths, four bedrooms, maid's room, separate dining and living room. The front affords a lovely view of the Bay of Naples . . . I think all for less than $100 per month! One of the highlights of the trip thus far has been a tour of our Navy's powerful Enterprise aircraft carrier, which is atomic powered. We got passes while it was in port and spent two hours looking over this monster of the sea. On its flight deck you could fit out three and one-half football fields. She has four elevators which can bring up three large jets each to the flight deck. The only thing wrong with it is that it probably cost too much. I left Naples and Anny and Paul's wonderful hospitality on Good Friday via train to Rome to make connection with another train to go overnight to Nice, arriving there around noon on Saturday. The Easter traffic was streaming to Rome, as you can understand, but lots of the French and wealthy English (and there are lots, don't let anyone fool you about that) enjoy the Riviera for the holiday. Stayed at the Ruhl Hotel which is very expensive, so they told me, but I lucked out getting a room without bath (Continental style, the thing to do) for $6 per. Anyway, the only thing you have to do when you feel dirty is call the maid and ask her to drawwww your bathhhhh . . . she's back in a minute to escort you down the hall. I must tell you about the bath towels in Italy . . . they are as large as bed sheets and they do need a fabric softener over here real bad. Also, you would think they would know how to make our kind of toilet paper after all these years . . . believe me, newsprint offer. Soap is another thing, it just isn't around, not even in the deluxe hotels. If it is, it is about the size of a dime.

Back to the Riviera (Nice, Cannes, and Monaco, too), to say the least, it is very disappointing. The beach at Nice is all rocks, no sand . . . at Cannes it is better. Of course, the Mediterranean is the most gorgeous blue you ever hope to see, actually a mixture of rich blue shadings, and the flowers around Easter are in all their brilliancy. On Easter I went to the American Episcopal Church, then after to a sort of rose bowl parade, a Flower Festival which was real lovely. I will send you a post card of the church . . . looked just like back home in the States. Nice is very expensive — catering to that type of crowd. Went up to Monaco for a day, visited Le Casino and WON $1.35 after playing the wheel of fortune for two hours. Then I went up to the Palace, or the place Princess Grace calls home, looks just like out of Walt Disney's "Alice in Wonderland" production! I returned to Nice and then took the train down to Cannes, staying at the famous Carlton Hotel . . . a bit stuffy crowd, to say the least. Cannes is a far better bet than Nice for the scenery, but then again, living is more expensive than at Nice.

Last Tuesday I was returning to the hotel after a walk to pick up the New York Times, with head down (thinking, I guess) I walked by some people . . . then heard a yell and turned around and there was Uncle Ben and Edna Dean Duvall, with some friends. Quite a surprise because I had thought they were in Italy. Anyway, they were on their way home to board the U.S.S. Independence, which had arrived. We had a nice visit and Uncle Ben said, "How about coming with us to Barcelona for the day?" (The ship ports at Barcelona, Spain, for the day and then heads back to N.Y.) So, we ran down to the American Line's office and tried to get me aboard . . . only trouble was that the single night fare, with dinner included, cost $100 . . . so, I wished them "Bon Voyage" and let them set sail. I stayed overnight and then, checking the train situation — Spain has the slowest and dirtiest trains in creation, decided to fly direct to Madrid on Wednesday via Air France (Air France) as that's what the TWA pilots call the French Airline since their pilots drink wine* during a and before flights. Madrid is a charming city and the people here in the Capitol are clean, well dressed, and pleasant. The Hilton Hotel is a little bit of America over here which is sort of nice for a change of pace. This morning I took a tour to the famous Prado Art Museum and then to the Royal Palace. While the U. S. dollar goes a long way here (living is a bargain to the tourist), the economy looks pretty good.

In general, the weather has been clear but quite cool in all of these Southern locations — I would guess in the high 50s to the low 60s. This year is very unusual as Spring has been very late.

Food has been good but nothing to rave about . . . lots of veal and lamb dishes, except in a few spots which cater to Americans where the steaks have been excellent and compare very favorably to Kansas City, yet at lower prices. American cigarettes cost over $1 per pack in France and Italy, but while flying or in Spain, they run about 30¢ per pack. Haven't been sick as of yet due to food (rich) or water (haven't tried it), since everyone warns you about drinking it. Best bet at each meal is to ask for the table wine, usually inexpensive and dry. But, I have to admit I miss my milk. When thirsty, your best bet is Coca Cola . . . all you have to do to find one is turn around and there's a Coke sign. Think I will buy some of that stock in a few years when I can afford it.

Getting news from the States about one day late so it isn't hard to keep up with the White Sox scores. Let's see, what else . . . trains in Italy (the Rapidos) are fantastically fast. The average direct train from Naples to Rome makes the course in about 2 1/2 to 3 hours . . . for a little extra fare they make it in half the time. In Southern France and Italy, the building of apartments (everyone lives in an apartment) is vast . . . to keep employment up. Of course, the most notable change I see after 15 years is the vast number of cars, everyone is driving. Thought I would see lots of bikes and motor scooters but not that many. As in all the three countries I have visited so far, the hours of business, or the way we do things, is very different. Work doesn't really start until 9 a.m. and everything shuts down between 1:30 or 2 p.m. until 4 p.m. . . . Siesta time and the big meal of the day. Then they open their shops from 4 until 8 at night. Tea time is really around 6 o'clock in the evening, cocktails around 8 p.m., then to dinner, wine, desserts, (very rich, indeed) almost after midnight. Night clubs don't open until 11 o'clock in Spain, casinos in France never close, and in both Spain and France, floor shows don't start until near midnight.

Over here no one seems to talk politics except for Americans. Of course, it is our tendency to want to change things to our American way . . . but it just isn't in the cards from what I have seen. The people all over are looking for the better life (better standard of living) and in Europe they seem to be enjoying a new found prosperity, but I would say they are at least 50 years behind the average middle class living in the States. To have an American home, our abundant goods and conveniences, are things which we take for granted, but we should be reminded once in awhile to be thankful for these gifts. Everyone here is Catholic. Life is strange and it seems to get stranger every day. Someone sure created a mass of very distinct peoples.

New York Writer Records Culver Senior Trip

The 1963 Culver Community Schools Senior Class has returned from their long-anticipated class trip to New York City and Washington, D.C., with countless memories and stories to tell. A day-by-day account of their travels and experiences was published, during their absence, in The Plymouth Pilot-News.

This Senior Class again made headline news in the Sunday, May 5, issue of The Indianapolis Star in Jane Allison's column, "Hoosier In Manhattan," under the two-line head of "Culver Senior Class Has High Adventures," which follows in its entirety:

New York — There they sat. All 39 of them, tucking into Mamma Leone's veal scallopini and lasagna. Each experiencing Italian cuisine for the first time in his or her lives. Each comparing it to the hamburgers served behind at the Culver (Ind.) Bowling Alley. And each being constantly challenged by Miss Ruth Shanks, sponsor, to "try everything! Taste everything! Even if you think you won't like it, you probably will!"

They were the Culver Community Schools Senior Class, 25 of whom had started out together in the first grade.

Of the 39, 15 had never ridden on a train.

Thirty-three had never been in a stratadome car.

Thirty-two had never been to Washington, D.C.

Twenty-three had never been on a big boat.

Thirty-two had never eaten in the dining car of a train.

And only six of the 39 owned their own cars.

No wonder Mamma Leone's saltin' bocca alla Romano and chicken cacciatore, served in the arched and vaulted catacombs of the noted New York eating landmark, seemed like an adventure in derring-do.

It was indeed, one of the high spots of the momentous annual spring trip East, planned for the Culver Community School seniors, and sponsored each year for the last nine years by Miss Shanks (who must surely stand as the perfect model of what a teacher ought to be and could be) and by Principal Kenneth Cole, who likewise seemed to enjoy the high regard of his charges.

Already the group had inspected the Smithsonian Institution and the White House and Williamsburg on the Washington leg of their journey. And in their high-spirited way, had polished off the Washington Monument without benefit of elevator. Taking three steps at a time, most of them had run up the 800 and then down again, because "the elevator took several minutes" in the logical opinion of Bill

Cook, Paul Cromley and Mike Cihak.

Also, the 39 had already checked to see whether General Grant was still occupying his Tomb on Riverside Drive here in New York, and whether it was true that horses were gainfully employed in the big city. Namely, in Central Park. But for at least one, St. Patrick's Cathedral was not the total success it could have been; as Larry Miller said: "I like it OK, but it has so much stone and all in it."

Still, neither fatigue from sitting up all night on the B & O, or awe from inspecting John Glenn's "Friendship" capsule, had stilled the zest of these attractive and well behaved youngsters, for whom Charlene Lucas and Cheryl Dillon, co-editors of the "Schoolbell" paper had set the rousing key for the trip by chanting "We're on our way! We're on our way!," as the train pulled out of LaPaz.

Once, there was a brief lull at the Automat here, when it developed that Rick Ervin, Ronnie Porter, Dennis Shock and Mike Wallen had disappeared. But suddenly they reappeared again, each with a brand new 50-cent red necktie, which served to spice up the proceedings even more.

Certainly in both spirit and deed, the entire mood of the trip was positive. Or, in the words of Miss Shanks speaking to Vickie Lutz, "Yes, there are seven courses to the meal. And when the waiter asks you what you'll have, you say 'Yes!' to everything!" Linda Behmer demurred. "Miss Shanks, surely you're not required to eat it all, are you? It's just hopeless."

"Twenty lashes if you don't!" replied the indefatigable Miss Shanks, while Cheryl Dillon, Carolee Easterday, Charlene Lucas and Bonnie Good chewed on, and away.

Hours later, the group edged out of the catacombs and into the light of day. They were headed toward Rockefeller Center. And our last glimpse of them was watching Rick Ervin catch up with Tom Easterday, Nick Knoerzer, George Ogden, Carol Overmyer, Gloria Bean, and Janice Neidlinger.

"Hey! When's our next meal?" he inquired.

CARTONS KEEP FROZEN FOODS COLD

Allowing frozen foods to warm up while you defrost the refrigerator can damage the quality of the food. But simply placing the foods in a corrugated cardboard carton can prevent this damage, says Elkin Minter, Purdue University home management specialist.

She quotes tests by the U. S. Department of Agriculture showing the temperature of foods placed in a covered cardboard carton rose an average of only 3.5 degrees F. — while food packages wrapped in newspapers rose more than five degrees and unwrapped packages stacked on a table rose more than seven degrees. The temperature of frozen foods left in the ice-cube compartment during defrosting rose the most, more than eight degrees.

Shortening the time frozen foods are kept out of the refrigerator will protect their quality, too.

To speed the defrosting time, Miss Minter offers these tips:

Set a fan to blow warm air into the freezing compartment. Scrape the sides of the freezer with a rubber spatula, but don't use any kind of sharp scraper — it may damage the refrigerant pipes or lining of the case.

Put a shallow baking pan full of hot water into the freezing compartment to speed defrosting. But don't put hot water in the ice-cube trays, cautions the specialist. Hot water removes the tray finish, causing the tray to stick to the shelf.

EASY WAYS FOR HOUSEWORK

Looking for easier ways to keep house? Want to discover quicker ways of working to make your housekeeping easier?

Then try these suggestions: Keep your equipment, supplies and tools assembled in a definite place, near the spot you use them first or most often.

Avoid stooping by using a long handled brush to clean the bathtub, and a long handled dust pan to pick up sweepings.

These ideas and many more are suggested in "Easy Ways," a circular designed by Purdue University home economists to help you discover ways to simplify your household tasks — to make your work easier, faster, more efficient.

Single copies of "Easy Ways," EC 512, are free to Indiana residents. You may obtain one by writing the Agricultural Publications Office, AES Building, Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind. A post card is sufficient.

SMALL GRAIN BULLETIN

Recommended varieties of oats, wheat, barley and rye for 1963 planting in Indiana are listed in Research Bulletin 758, "Small Grain Varieties for Indiana," published by the Agricultural Experiment Station at Purdue University.

The bulletin presents yield, test weight, lodging percentage and plant height — up to 5-year averages — from 10 Indiana locations for oats, wheat, and barley. The publication tabulates the varieties recommended or acceptable. Balbo is the only rye recommended.

A copy of Research Bulletin 758, "Small Grain Varieties for Indiana," will be sent free to Indiana residents who request it by writing the Agricultural Publications Office, AES Building, Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind. (A postal card is sufficient.) Be sure to ask for the publication by number and title. Copies are also available at county extension offices.

LOTS OF MILES—Truck tractors usually operate between 60,000 and 90,000 miles in Indiana annually. Since these powerful units normally pull loaded semi-trailers, they average only from 3 to 4.5 miles per gallon of gasoline. This adds up to a lot of gasoline consumed and a big chunk of gasoline taxes going to the state of Indiana for road building and upkeep.

Jehovah's Witnesses Attend Three-Day Circuit Assembly

Mr. and Mrs. S. Spangler are among the 39 Jehovah's Witnesses from this area who have returned from a three-day circuit assembly in Mishawaka, May 3-5. Mr. Spangler who is presiding minister of the Plymouth congregation stated that more than 1000 Jehovah's Witnesses were present from 17 congregations in northern Indiana and southwest Michigan. According to Spangler, the crowds swelled to overflow capacity of 1386 Sunday afternoon when Marvin Holien, district supervisor for Jehovah's Witnesses from Brooklyn, New York spoke on the main topic of the convention, "Who Will Win the Struggle for World Supremacy?" Mr. Spangler said the Plymouth congregation will be participating in a seven-county drive in the next six months to contact some 650,000 families with a view to encouraging family Bible study. The Mishawaka meet was aimed at preparing the Witnesses for this.

RABIES CONTROL MEASURES

While rabies is present all year, it is more often seen during spring and summer. During these months children and pets are allowed more freedom and run a greater chance of exposure. Too, with more Hoosiers taking up camping, hiking and other outdoor activities, and the incidence of rabies in wildlife increasing, the possibility of persons being bitten by a rabid animal increases.

Dr. K. M. Weiland, Purdue University extension veterinarian, says more than 197 cases, most of them in dogs, were identified by laboratory tests in Indiana last year.

During the first four months of 1963, the Indiana State Board of Health reported more than 15 cases. They were diagnosed in several species — dogs, cattle, foxes and stunks.

A majority of the rabies cases has occurred in half a dozen counties and these were under quarantine as of March 31. They are Brown, Franklin, Johnson, Marion, Porter and Ripley. Vaccination clinics are being organized in most of these counties in an effort to halt the spread of the disease.

During the early stage of the disease, rabid animals roam and wander aimlessly, attacking other animals and even inanimate objects. Thus, a single rabid animal may expose many other animals and persons.

There is no cure for, or treatment successful against, rabies, Dr. Weiland says. Once the symptoms appear, death is certain. Control of the disease is dependent upon annual vaccination of pets, required by Indiana law, and control of all strays.

Stray animals should not be befriended or petted; they should be brought to the attention of the humane society or local police.

A person bitten by an animal should immediately notify health authorities or his local veterinarian so the animal can be confined and observed. In addition, the victim should immediately place himself under the care of a physician.

Rabies virus is spread through saliva which enters the body through breaks in the skin, such as bite wounds or other injuries which become contaminated by the saliva of infected animals.

If all dogs in Indiana are vaccinated annually and all strays controlled, the rate of the animal infection and human exposure can be reduced to a minimum, says Dr. Weiland.

"A delegate-at-large is a gentleman who attends the convention without his wife." — Don B. Pauschum, Pana (Ill.) News-Pamphlet.

Academy Sports

Culver Military Academy jumped on its two favorite military school opponents Saturday on one of those rare days in spring when all four Eagle teams came up with victories.

In recent years when the baseball team was having its troubles, a Saturday without one team — usually baseball — falling by the wayside was indeed rare. But baseball is on the upswing at the Academy, and Saturday was living proof as Coach Jim DeArmond's stickmen jumped on St. John's Military Academy for 9-2 and 6-2 triumphs that boosted their record to 8-3.

While the baseball team was winning, the golf and tennis teams ricked Howe Military and the Eagle crew opened its home season with a victory over Ecorse Boat Club of Detroit on Lake Maxinkuckee.

In one other event during the weekend, the track squad lost at Bremen Friday 58 1/2-50 1/2.

Academy pitchers Paul Owens and Bob Marsh posted the victories over St. John's as their teammates in each game came up with the necessary fire power at the plate. Owens had the benefit of 11 hits in the Culver batting order and he was never in trouble after Dick Swennumson evened the score at 1-1 with a leadoff home run in the first inning. The Eagles scored three more before the inning was over to put the game on ice.

Marsh, an outstanding ball player on the mound as well as at the plate, got the victory in the second game as Culver hit nine safeties. Marsh got one of the hits, but the big hitters for the day were left fielder Jerry Anderson, who went five for five, and catcher Ron Teschke, who was three for six.

In tennis, Coach Ted Clarno's netmen chalked up No. 7 as they shut out Howe, 13-10. It was the third shutout of the season, but the big match comes Thursday when the tennis team faces tough Peru in the only match the team lost last year.

The golf team, also playing at Howe, posted the Cadets 297-320 in a match in which the best four scores of each team were compared. The linksmen were impressive since all four of their scores were lower than any of the Howe totals, and it was the first time the Eagles saw the Howe course. Top four scorers were Bob Hightower, a par 71; Rick Olsen, 74; Ron Cordeau, 75; Tony Mayfield, 77.

Braving a rough lake in which races had to be shifted to a south course, the Academy crew won its first varsity match of the season. Coach Jack Anderson's heavy-weight crew defeated Ecorse with a time of 5:52, a none-too-impressive time that was caused by 15-knot headwinds just before the race began.

In other crew events Saturday, Culver finished third behind Chicago's Weber and Lane Tech high school crews in the junior varsity heavyweight event and was second to Ecorse in the lightweight event. Winning times were 5:55.3 and 5:43.4, respectively. A freshman victory went to the Culver fledglings, who defeated Ecorse with a time of 6:15.9.

With a large crowd expected for Mothers Weekend, four Academy teams will be at home Saturday. Biggest event of the day is the first annual Culver invitational golf championship, with competition among six teams. Invited are: LaPorte, Plymouth, Rensselaer, Griffith, and Niles high schools with the Academy serving as host. The baseball team is host to Gary Horace Mann School for a 1:30 p.m. doubleheader, the tennis team will meet Niles and the crew faces Parkersburg, W. Va., Catholic High School in a 1:30 p.m. race.

SHUTTERBUG — A camera enthusiast from Louisville, Ky., who came over into Indiana to take pictures of the hills created by strip mine operations in Warrick County lost his car but not his penchant for taking pictures. According to The Boonville Standard, the shutterbug, Daniel J. Zutt, parked his car atop one of the hills near Lynn and got out to take some pictures. The brakes failed to hold and the car plunged into a strip pit about 25 feet deep. Zutt took pictures of a wrecker pulling it from the pit. The car was a total loss.

May Fellowship Day Sponsored By Union Township Women

United Church women and guests of Culver and the community churches of Union Township participated in the observance of May Fellowship Day Friday, May 3, at 8 p.m. at the Evangelical United Brethren Church of Culver.

This was the third special program of the year for the United Church Women. The meeting opened with an organ prelude by Mrs. E. Duane Powers following which the hymn, "In Christ There Is No East Or West," was sung by the congregation.

The significance of May Fellowship was given by Mrs. Peter Onesti. The theme for the year was, "One Family Under God: Genuine and Full Participation." The belief in the worth of each individual person, which is basic to our Christian faith, finds expression in the functioning family. With his worth acknowledged, each member is accepted for what he is, finds a hearing for what he has to say, and is encouraged to assume his share of family responsibilities.

Responsive reading was given by Mrs. Harry Leffert followed by prayer by Rev. Walter Chisholm. As a tribute to Mother Miss Carol Heiser sang, "Little Old Lady," after which Mrs. Forrest Curtis gave a poem, "If For Girls," as a tribute to daughter. Guests for the program were Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Moyer of Goshen, Mr. Moyer, principal of Goshen Elementary Schools, showed slides of pictures he had taken over the country entitled, "The Turning Year." Rev. Harold Hohman gave the benediction.

Ushers for the evening were Mrs. Clarence Bair, Jr., Mrs. Richard Gunder, Mrs. Emil Lewis and Mrs. Bert Cramer, Jr. Mrs. Peter Onesti and Mrs. Don Davis were co-chairmen of the program, assisted by Mrs. Raymond Lowry. Mrs. Blanche Finney, chairman of the refreshment committee, was assisted by Mrs. Helen Crabb, Carl Clauson.

Mrs. Al Poppe and Mrs. Oscar Wesson presided at the tea table which was beautifully decorated in yellow and lavender with spring flowers and May baskets.

Twenty-nine Boy Scouts attended the May 6 meeting. "Spud" was the pre-opening game. The Panther Patrol conducted the opening ceremony in which announcements followed. Scoutcraft instruction was given by the Wolf Patrol on lashings with patrol corners then being held. After patrol corners "knot loop relay" was played and won by the Panther Patrol and "chain gang race" was also played and won by the Wolf Patrol. The meeting was closed with Scout Benediction. The Panther Patrol won patrol competition for the month of April.

All unsold Scout-O-Rama tickets and money must be turned in to the Scoutmaster Friday, May 10, at 6:30 p.m. at the Methodist Church. Be there!

Babson Discusses More Inflation Hedges

Some Factors Curb Inflation

Babson Park, Mass. — Several factors can help to insulate a company against the effects of inflation: — (1) GROWTH. A company experiencing rapid growth will find that its rate of business increase can lift profits at a faster pace than the rise in costs. (2) VERTICAL INDUSTRY. This includes companies in industries which are vital to the economy or to consumers and which can pass on increased costs by raising prices. (3) DIVERSIFICATION and INTEGRATION. Companies whose profits are squeezed by inflating costs can bolster their position through diversification and integration. (4) VALUABLE ASSETS. Some companies are in the enviable position of possessing assets which are vital to their principal business and also potentially valuable in other respects.

Roger W. Babson

Building Materials
Companies in the building materials field also possess inflation hedge characteristics. Their timber and minerals properties should gradually become more valuable. Population growth and migration are favorable to the building industry's future.

U. S. GYPSUM is the largest company in its field; it supplies half the domestic requirements of gypsum wallboard and plaster, and also 20% of the building industry's metal lath needs. The company also produces roofing material, siding, insulating material, and paints. Its properties include strategically located quarries and acreage.

MASONITE CORPORATION is the largest domestic producer of hardwood. It has large timber holdings in Mississippi and California. Company also derives oil revenues from its properties.

DIAMOND NATIONAL CORPORATION produces paper board, folding cartons, containers, matches, and wooden ware. It also sells lumber and building materials. Company owns 500,000 acres of timberland.

Coal Industry
This industry has been subjected to a long shakedown. Elimination of marginal producers and the shift to mechanical mining has enabled the surviving companies to emerge in a stronger position to benefit from the growth in coal consumption by steel and electric power plants. Also, research being conducted could lead to discovery of new uses for coal. In addition, many companies are diversifying into other fields.

CONSOLIDATION COAL is the largest domestic producer of bituminous coal, and has substantial coal reserves. The company is a joint owner — with Freeport Sulphur — in a potash mining venture.

EASTERN GAS and FUEL ASSOCIATES is a large bituminous coal producer, rapidly becoming a gas utility. Its wholly owned Boston Consolidated Gas is a consistently important contributor to profits. Company just recently exchanged its holdings in Norfolk and Western railway (dividends from which had provided about half of Eastern's earnings in late years) for its own shares, and also called some of its bonds. This reduced Eastern's number of outstanding common shares and simplified its capitalization. Insofar as future income is concerned, the company's coal, river barge, and other operations will from now on become far more significant than in the past.

COLUMBIA GAS SYSTEM is one of the largest gas utility systems in the country, serving the Eastern, Central, and Mid-Atlantic regions. It owns over 400,000 acres of land in the Atlantic-Appalachian region which contains large coal, oil, and gas reserves.

Chemical Companies
I believe AMERICAN AGRICULTURAL CHEMICAL is one of the oldest and largest producers and distributors of fertilizers. It also manufactures phosphoric and sulphuric acids, phosphates, and fluorides. The company owns 60,000 acres of land in Florida, underlaid by beds of phosphate rock sufficient to sustain production for 60 years.

INTERNATIONAL MINERALS AND CHEMICAL is an important producer of mixed fertilizer, and a major producer of phosphate rock. It also produces potash and phosphate-based industrial chemicals. Extensive mineral and land holdings are located in Florida, Tennessee, Idaho, New Mexico, and Canada.

Culver is Host To Soil Conservation District Leaders

Conservation of Soil and Water in Northwest Indiana received a thorough review on Tuesday evening, April 30, at Culver. Meeting in the Auditorium of The State Exchange Bank, seventy-two supervisors of the Northwest Indiana District Supervisors Association, technicians of the Soil Conservation Service of the U.S.D.A., and personnel of the Cooperating Extension Service, met in joint session to study ways and means for improved conservation of natural resources. Harold Warner, chairman of the local Marshall County Soil and Water Conservation District, reports that six action committees functioned during the evening. These committees, made up of District supervisors from eleven counties in northwest Indiana, acted on matters of concern in conservation legislation, small watershed activity for flood control and water management, and educational and information methods used and needed to inform and direct the public. Also to study needs in the field of agronomy which affect land use, public relations involved in promoting natural resource conservation, and methods of financing the operation for successful management of Soil and Water Conservation Districts.

Chairman Warner points out that the local District is affiliated with this association to permit an exchange of ideas and to review the above subjects in order to assist with an improved conservation program for this county. He emphasizes that the continuing increase in the population and social requirements of the nation shows two factors related to resource conservation as being of extreme importance. The first involves water use and future needs. Increased consumption of water per person, increased numbers of people, increasing industrial uses, and the increasing need for water associated with recreation, places greater responsibility on the local District to cooperate with the other 2,900 Districts of the Nation in an effort to promote better water management. The second involves land use. It is estimated that approximately one million acres of land each year is being taken out of production and placed in housing developments, industrial parks, roads, airports, etc. There is a growing demand to use better judgement and control in the diversion of productive land. Use of land for crop production can also be guided for more efficient utilization and conservation by use evaluation provided by Soil Conservation Service technicians of the U.S.D.A. The local District cooperates with the efforts of other organizations and agencies to promote the wise long time use of our soil and water.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

YOUR NAME IS YOUR KEY

Did you know that there are over a million different last or family names in use today? Of these the name Smith leads with 1,200,000 included in the records of the Social Security Administration. The second most popular name is Johnson with the Williams (and its variations like Williamson) third; Brown, fourth; and Jones, fifth.

In addition to these common names the records show a Mr. O boy, Mr. Hah, and Mrs. Ugh as well as Mr. X, Mr. Y, and Mr. Z.

In the records there are 500 Misers to 2700 Moneys. There are 4600 Grooms for 134 Horses. The people named Mouse outnumber the Cats more than ten to one, but there are only ten Pups. There are 5 persons named Hades, and 200 named Hell; and for 5,000 Angels there are only 55 Halos and 6,000 Harps.

The above information is given to show the big job faced by the Social Security Administration in keeping over 130 million earnings records straight. The problem is added to by employees who attempt to give their social security number from memory. One wrong number may mean that you would not get credit for your work.

You can help keep your record straight by following these simple rules:

1. Be sure you have only one social security card and that your name is correct on it.
2. Always show your social security card to your new employer and be sure he copies your name and number correctly.
3. Check your earnings record periodically to make sure it is correct. The Social Security Administration recommends you check every 3 years at least. You can secure card form OAR-7004 at your social security office to check your record.

One man saved himself and probably the Social Security Administration trouble by having "5/8" made his legal middle name. His name is now — John 5/8 Smith.

All drivers should keep pace with traffic, advises the Chicago Motor Club. The driver who goes much faster or slower than the normal flow of cars is the one who causes congestion and increases traffic hazards.

News Items About Our Academy Neighbors

(Called from the April issue of the CMA Messenger)
Betty Brown will soon become Mrs. Harley Raymond Olsen, of Honolulu, Hawaii. Until Aug. 1 Betty will stand by her duties of capably guiding coeds, teachers, and new graduates through the Academic Labyrinths; then she will be off to Honolulu to prepare for her wedding, the date of which is not yet decided. Her new home is a redwood house romantically set on a tropical mountainside overlooking the Pacific.

General and Mrs. Spivey are welcome and rested-looking faces in our midst once more, after a six-weeks rest and recuperation period for the General in Florida.

An 18-hour drive from Kingston, R.I., brought Mary and John Edgell home at the end of vacation in time for Mary to repack her bags for another trip. On April 5 she was off for Houston; on the 10th she, Mary Esther and John Platt drove, during John's vacation, to Mexico City and Acapulco. She plans to be back in Culver around the 27th. You might say this is Mary's year to travel, since they have a European tour lined out for John's sabbatical first semester next Fall.

Brian Jones, having had a taste of our South during Christmas vacation, decided to see what he could see of Mexico over the recent "break." His plane companion to Mexico City was Bob Ancira.

A "dream trip" was the way Betty Maull described the Caribbean cruise she and Charlie took during the vacation. Their docking in San Juan, the first port "out," left something to be desired, though fortunately was not an indication of the rest of the cruise: the ship ran aground! But it was a pleasant place to be detained (they saw Nat "King" Cole as part of the tour, in San Juan.) They sailed on to Nassau, then to St. Thomas, and back to Ft. Lauderdale, where they felt the results of the ships going aground when they tried to re-schedule their plane reservations. It took hours, but they finally made it. Sounds like the ideal vacation. Betty Bryant left Frank home to "batch it" while she visited in Pittsburgh with her parents and looked up old friends whom she hadn't seen for years. Mr. and Mrs. McLaughlin returned with Betty for a few days' stay and got to see grandson, Chip, who was also in and out on his vacation from Michigan State.

Rick Gimbel was treated to his first airplane ride when he and Dick flew to Ozona, Fla., to join Margaret Elliott. Ricky enjoyed it tremendously and is completely won over to flying. Dick and Ricky rode back with Margaret, who decided to end her stay earlier than she had planned. Ah, Florida! And that's how Charlie Bayless and his mother thought of Florida, too — ah! They went first to Miami, then to Ft. Lauderdale, and on to Hollywood, where they stayed for the balance of the vacation.

Authors Ray Jurgensen and Al Donnelly were invited by their publisher, Houghton-Mifflin, to attend the National Math Conference recently in Pittsburgh. Their beautiful and excellent book, Modern Geometry: Structure and Method, came out in January, just in time for use second semester. Reports on its acceptance are good — of course.

Brian Sennitt, a truly dedicated biologist on "loan," so to speak, from England for the year, planned early in his life to make a career of desert biology, but deserts are more than scarce in England. Spring vacation was Brian's first sight of the desert — but not the last, if he can help it. Thirty-eight hours of switch-driving brought him and his companion, Cadet Gary Neptune, to Tempe, Ariz., where a professor at the university gave them directions and instructions about campsites and the local flora and fauna. They camped on the edge of the Roosevelt Dam Reservoir, northeast of Phoenix, from where there could be seen a mountain which cried to be climbed. Brian has had only a taste of the desert and plans to go back there after Commencement. He wants to study the desert wild-life in early summer before he prepares to return to England, about mid-August.

The Clarnos are driving a new Rambler. They went to Maxwell AFB to visit son John and his family, then drove to Mobile along the Gulf to New Orleans, being equipped and amazed at the beauty of that area. The Faculty was represented in the Michigan Biannual Art Exhibit in South Bend throughout the month of March by Bob Bauman. It was a "jury show" and out of approximately 750 paintings submitted, only 150 were chosen for display.

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Johnson are the elated parents of a brand new son, Jay Evan, born at Plymouth Parkview Hospital on March 18.

Friendship Gardens Open 27th Season On Mother's Day

The International Friendship gardens at Michigan City will open its 27th season on Mother's Day, May 12.

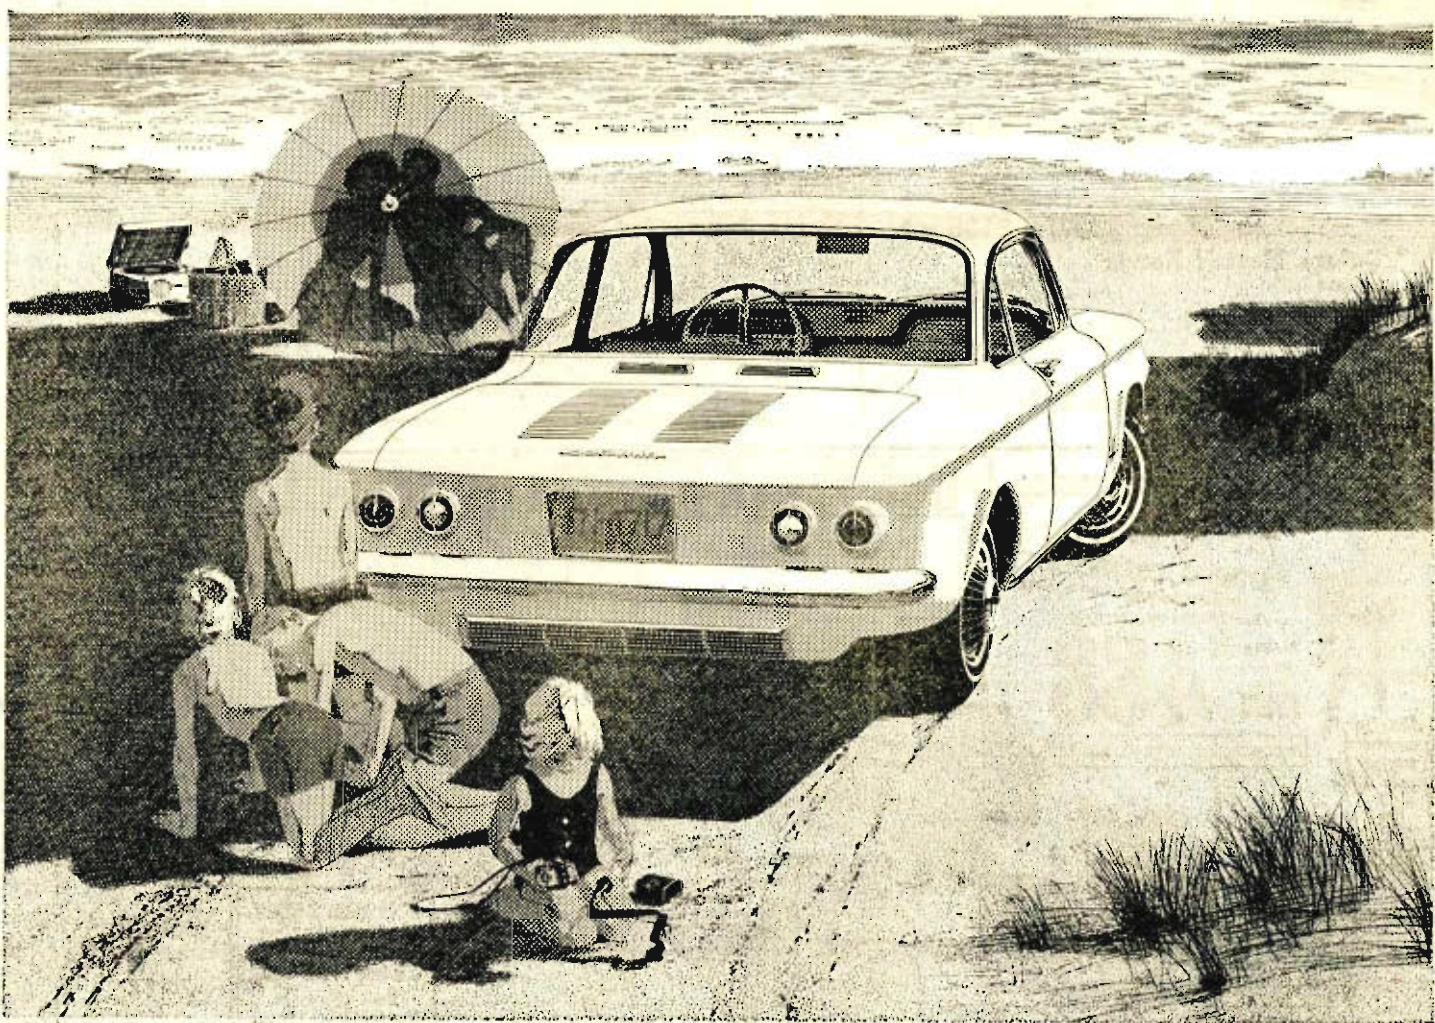

Thousands of gaily-colored tulips will be in bloom, along paths and in garden beds.

The most popular tulips — judging by requests at the gate — are the tall yellow President Kennedy tulip, the bright red General Eisenhower, and the smaller mauve tulip, the Jacqueline Kennedy.

Mrs. Sadie Stauffer Ehret, says gardeners are putting finishing touches to the gardens for the grand opening. Big lawns have been moved, the flower beds have been weeded and cultivated.

The gardens are south of US-12, and one and one-half miles east of Michigan City, at the coal chutes. Mrs. Ehret says there's plenty of free parking. The gardens are on the actual site where Father Marquette powwowed with the Indians in 1675, just 12 years short of the 300th anniversary.

ONE WORLD WATTAGE — Upon returning from a trip to Africa and a number of other foreign countries, Ed Schergens, publisher of The Tell City News, proposed that the electrical voltage in the various countries of the world be standardized. The publisher said the American made electric razor he took along on the trip would operate on only 110 volts but in many countries the only power available was 220 volts.

Corvair Monza Club Coupe

Who needs muscles?

Do you know how easy it is to take a corner with a Corvair or park one? Turn this newspaper sideways and it will give you a pretty good idea. The wheel handles just about that easily.

The Corvair's engine is in the rear, for not only greater traction, but more balanced weight distribution. And that's what makes the steering so completely effortless.

The engine is air cooled, too. No radiator. No water or antifreeze. No boiling over or freezing up to worry about. It takes the weather and the terrain as it comes.

So think about those trips to the beach this summer, those bright sunny days and balmy moonlit nights.

And besides, looking at it from a very practical point of view, it's Trade 'N' Travel time right now at your Chevrolet dealer's. He's got some beautiful buys.

But you had better hurry before somebody muscles in ahead of you. Spring's here. Summer's coming fast. And with these sporty good-looking Corvairs selling the way they are, he who hesitates will want to kick himself.
