89TH YEAR, NO. 46

CULVER, INDIANA, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1963

Dr. Otis Bowen Christmas Seal Chairman

DR. OTIS R. BOWEN, M.D.

Dr. Otis R. Bowen, M.D., Bremen physician, has been appointed as Christmas Seal Chairman for Marshall County for 1963. The Christmas Seal fund drive for Tuberculosis and other Respiratory Diseases will open this week with the mailing of 7,500 Christmas Seal letters in Marshall County.

Dr. Bowen, having served on the Coordination Committee for the Eradication of Tuberculosis in Indiana for the past few years, is encouraged with the thought that tuberculosis can be essentially eradicated if an all-out effort is made in this the next few years. The means for cure are present if we can only find those cases who unknowingly have and can still spread tuberculosis.

The elements of a successful eradication program includes systems for case finding, for medical treatment, for follow up of contacts and suspects, for minimizing environmental and social factors fostering the spread of tuberculosis, for reducing the reservoir of infection, for records and reports providing current information on the tuberculous patients, and a continuing systematic program for improving knowledge about tuberculosis and its control.

Our Marshall County Tuberculosis Association plays a very important part in helping to eradicate tuberculosis in our county and in the state. Our TB association was responsible this last year for TB skin testing 2,032 school children, for x-raying chests of 1,276 adults and conducting four chest clinics for anti-tuberculosis, suspects and contacts of active tuberculosis. The annual Christmas Seal Campaign finances all this.

The time is now; we have the tools to find and effectively treat tuberculosis; we need continued financial support to carry out this important program. I am confident the good people of Marshall County will supply this financial support."

Culver Firemen Make Two Runs Monday Evening

The Culver Fire Department answered a call to the Alan Tanner farm on 16C Road Monday evening about 7 p.m. REMC high tension lines had shorted catching the supporting pole on fire. Only the pole and a few feet of wire were damaged.

About 9 p.m. Monday evening the Department was called to the Puckett residence on East Washington Street. Mrs. Puckett was burning papers in a heating stove which got too hot, setting the plastic curtains on fire. The fire gutted the entire house causing approximate damage of $1,600. The house was covered by insurance. It is not known if the contents of the house has insurance coverage.

Culver and Aubree Teams Have New Uniforms & Colors

By Kenneth Cole, CHS Principal

They say that little if anything stands still or remains unchanged in this day and age. Lately this has been especially true of Indiana's schools.

That these changes, which stem from reorganization, effect almost everything connected with the schools is pointed up by the fact that in recent months some 75 high schools have changed from as many as three different athletic-garb colors to one entirely new one.

Since the new school board of the Culver Community School Corporation early stated its intent to unify the high school for the school year 1964-65, it was quite obvious that the two now existing schools, Aubree and Culver, had to do some advance thinking and planning. Both coaches, Crosley of Culver and Nelson of Aubree, stated that they needed new uniforms for the present season which fact caused the principals and coaches to meet and discuss a business-like solution to an obvious problem.

Last January, at a faculty meeting and party, the first of the discussions were held by the four-principals Olla and Cole, and Coaches Nelson and Crosley. Finally, some months later, the four directly concerned and responsible met again and decided (unanimously) that in order not to waste some $750 by buying uniforms that could not be used another year, and to get away from a battle of "Let's adopt Aubree's blue and white" or "Let's adopt Culver's maroon and white" the new athletic colors for the Culver Community High School would be jet black and burnt orange with white for trim where necessary.

It was further decided that Aubree Coach Nelson would buy a set of uniforms that would make 1964-65 "at-home" uniforms and that Coach Crosley of Culver would buy a set of uniforms that would make 1964-65 "away-from-home" uniforms.

It is the sincere wish of the present principals and coaches that all spectators go along with this change (most already have) and like or learn to like the new "burnt orange and black" which will be the new Culver Community High School colors for 1964-65.

Should any "die-hard" about that this has never been done, even at the Culver High School, take a close look at the "hand-me-down" uniforms that our junior high team is still wearing — they are Serbag's bright "red and white."

SUITS HELP SOME — Baseball suits had been ordered for the Coin-Matic team in the Chest-erfield Little League but they did not arrive in time for the team's first game and the boys, attired in blue jeans and other play clothes, lost 12-0. The uniforms came by bus only a few minutes before the team's second game and the boys hustled into them at the home of the team's sponsor, Wilfred Leach. They took to the diamond and lost again but this time only by the score of 12-2.

CHARLES VERNON GRIDLEY
BORN LOGANSPORT, INDIANA, 1843

“You may fire when you are ready, Gridley”

COMMODORE DEWEY's words carried loud and clear up to the conning tower of the American flagship, Olympia. Captain Charles Vernon Gridley, eyes riveted on the Spanish fleet, barked a command. Black smoke belched from the mouths of the big guns. Teeth-jarring roars thundered across the water. The Battle of Manila Bay had begun.

114 minutes later the shooting was all over. The proud Spanish fleet had been brought to its knees that afternoon in 1898. Not one ship escaped destruction or capture. It was one of the most complete victories in history—and without the loss of a single American sailor.

Though mortally ill at the time, Captain Gridley personally directed plans and movements during the battle. He won high praise from Dewey for his bravery and skill. But Gridley didn't live to enjoy his fame. His strength depleted by the strain of battle, he died in Japan on his way home to Logansport, Indiana.

News of Manila Bay spread quickly through the nation—thanks, in large measure, to the telephone. By the time of the Spanish-American War, it had been revolutionizing communications for over 20 years.

The progress continues today. The folks at Indiana Bell are putting the scientific inventions and innovations of the Bell Telephone Laboratories to work for you. That's why your telephone service is the finest in the world.

Calling all bathing beauties!! Hustle out of your deerskin bikini and into a figure-flattering furry coat. Indian Summer hurriedly scurried from the scene as bleak, blizzardily, "Winter Weather" made his entrance.

"California, here we come!" Hollywood, that is. The Junior Class Play, having been such a smashing success, cast members are sure they are headed straight for stardom! (?) The directors and performers have a right to be conceited about their production of "Mother Was a Freshman." Great show!

Speaking of the play, we understand the celebration afterwards at Cathy Carrothers' wigwam was quite a shindig! What with chefs Dave Lemar and Dick Mackey, (sporting aprons, no less!) in the kitchen, wouldn't it be expected for a riot to take place? Jeanne Adams and Carolyn Snyder certainly got the "doughy" end of the deal! Sausage links and roasted peanuts garnished Dave's specialty. Good, (gulp!) wasn't it kids? Talent cropped up in the most unusual places. A child prodigy, Jim Boswell, made his debut at the organ. Did you say you graduated from the "Paris Conservatory of Messing up Music"? Dancing instructors Doug Lindvall, Martha McAllister, and Jim Weirick fairly converted twisters to Big B's!!

Had it not been for the aid of Chief of Police Mikesell, Tom Yocom may have been "ice cubed" to death. Chalk up five points for Linda Nelson. Punishment is worse for a second offense, Nellie!

Mr. Cole's decree to keep choice Halloween garbage out of the school yard certainly kept the litterbugs away from the good ol' institution.

It's a known fact that Culver junior girls are no big help when it comes to mechanics in an emergency. Carolyn Snyder's daddy autos haven't helped the average any — or is it her driving which hasn't helped the average???

Maybe Bob Enstis, Dave Lemar, and Dick Kneerzer would like to describe to us the interior of their latest hideaway? What did you guys order, by the way? There were many horrified faces and agonized groans as underclassmen viewed their snapshots for this school term. Up for immediate sale: 200 Halloween inspired faces!!

Tom Yocom is receiving it from all sides. He wasn't too thrilled about having been refunded two black eyes in return for earnest effort at basketball practice. Have you another amusing shower room anecdote?

After all the controversy, Culver's enthusiastic maidens appear in their chic new black outfits for the away games. A dash of orange adds that bright touch. It's a good thing that the new basketball uniforms match, or there could be quite a few blind eyes at the ball games.

Now the secret is out: Linda Sparling has a hidden passion for filing her nails in the pencil sharpener. Care to fill anyone in on the details?

A multitude of poor, little freshmen bewilderedly escaped from Room 19 after four hours of ITED tests. Just remember, the upperclassmen have gone through all that drudgery . . . and more! See what you have to look forward to?

It's the understatement of the year to note the mad rush to moth balls and cedar chests for cozy sweaters and kneesocks! See you all — brrr — next — week — brrrr . . .

"Dear Agnus"

The following letters were written by unknown students of CHS who have a few problems on their hands. They have written to Dear Agnus asking her opinion about what should be done to solve their problems. Some of the suggestions are designed to be helpful to all teen-agers, so read carefully.

I am now going with a boy from CMA and I have found out that he also has a girl back home. Should I come right out and tell him that I know about her so we will be able to talk about it, or should I wait for him to mention her. I'm sure he likes me, but I want to know just what kind of a chance I have against her.

Undecided.

If you date a cadet, your chances are 10 to 1 that he has a girl back home. If he likes you and you like him, enjoy his company and let it go at that. Let me bring up the subject. I'm afraid that if you bring it up it will cause unnecessary friction.

Dear Agnus,

My boyfriend wants to get married as soon as I graduate. I also have a chance to go to college. What should I do?

Completely Confused

Go to college. You'll find that you'll be glad that you did. Let marriage wait. Compared to a lifetime, four years isn't such a long time.

MUSIC AND ART NEWS

The senior band has been working for two months on the Halloween parade in which they were to march. Unfortunately, (or fortunately?) the parade was rained out. The band marched for the Pep Rally on Thursday. The basketball season is a much looked-forward-to occasion, especially because the band will be playing at all home games and marching for several of them.

The Pep Band, composed of volunteers from the seniors and several others, made their first appearance of the season last Tuesday at the basketball open house. They also plan to play for the pep rally.

The junior band is working on some new scales which seem to be puzzling them. As in past years they plan to play at one home basketball game in place of the senior band. The officers, who were elected a short time ago, are: president, Stewart Lowry; vice-president, Ron Zink; and secretary-treasurer, Ruth Benner. Peggy Shei and Susie Thews were elected twirlers while Michael Wynn was chosen student director. The students are very conscientious in that they have been challenging one another almost every week. Terry Powers was victorious last week in winning the honor of head of his section.

The sixth grade band, which has just recently been organized, has 23 ambitious students. However, there seems to be an overabundance of clarinetists.

The high school choir will be featured in a Christmas concert later this year in which they will be singing a combination of Christmas songs and hymns. The boys who tried out for choir recently make such a tremendous contribution toward the singing of such songs as "Over the Rainbow," "April Love," and especially "Pick-a-little, Talk-a-little," from the Music Man.

The art students are at present working on painting and scenes. However, Mr. Smith, the art instructor, said that in a few weeks, they will begin working with ceramics. Many students are looking forward to this because it will be a new experience to them.

Teams Previewed At Open House

By Charles Snyder

Something new has been added to the calendar of athletic events at Culver High School this year. The idea is one of a basketball open house in order to give the residents of the Culver community a preview of the basketball teams before the first actual game. Culver's first open house was held on Tuesday evening, Nov. 5, in the school gymnasium. A good attendance of proud parents and classmates were on hand to watch the Culver squads scrimmage during two quarters of play for each team.

Mr. Fouts was also on hand with his pep band to give entertainment between the games. Also, the varsity cheerleaders gave a sharp appearance as they displayed their new outfits of the school's new colors of black and orange.

The first two games were played by the 7th grade and 8th grade teams. Under the supervision of their coach, Mr. Carswell, the boys display good sportsmanship and teamwork.

Next in order came the "B" team. Coached by Mr. Bottorff, the "B" team makes use of the fundamentals learned in the junior high teams by putting them in organized plays. The team showed much ability and drive which should lead them into a successful season.

The climax of the evening came as Coach Crosley's 12 varsity men came onto the floor. One team wore the new uniforms of black and orange. Although the squad was broken into two equal teams, excellent teamwork and ball-handling was obvious throughout the exhibition. The varsity team promises to have a very good shooting advantage and also showed good backboard control.

In general, all the Culver teams gave a good showing and the first Culver open house proved to be a success. The Pep Club is sponsoring a big pep rally for the players to cheer them into the season. This year's team deserves a real send-off as this could very well be Culver's year to go all the way!

A fire in the home fireplace is for watching; for safety as well as enjoyment. A fire left unattended without a proper screen may shoot sparks out into the room to land on a rug or in other flammables, the Institute for Safer Living says. Never retire for the night without seeing that the fireplace is properly screened and the fire out.

GRADE SCHOOL NEWS

By Vicki Lyons and Nora Sheppard

In Mrs. Melton's kindergarten Herbert Newman's mother brought cupcakes for their Halloween treat. In the morning class John Taylor and Susan Ross brought cookies for a treat. In the afternoon class Randy Wright and Karen Peck are new students. Brian Christopher has moved to Galveston.

Mrs. Barton's first grade had a lovely Halloween party. John Newman brought cupcakes, and Howie Babcock brought Halloween cakes to go with the cider. The children are now making turkeys from pictures of their hands. They are learning to write their numbers from 1 to 60, and in science they are hunting pictures to use for different kinds of weather.

Mrs. Keyser's second graders are very excited about getting a new reading book. They want to thank Ronald Sytsma, Elizabeth Marshall, and Sandra Nicodemus for bringing treats to our Halloween party. The goblins brought them cider and doughnuts. They had a very nice party.

Mrs. Allen's second graders enjoyed the Halloween parade and party at school. They all miss Lonnie Christopher who moved to Galveston.

Mrs. Carter's third graders have a new girl. Her name is Christine Archey who came from Michigan. Gary Butler went with his family to Santa Claus, Ind. The children in Mrs. Carter's room had a lovely Halloween party. Some of them paraded with their costumes. They had refreshments of cider, doughnuts, cookies, popcorn balls, and candy.

Miss Henning's third grade is learning their number facts that make 10, and are reviewing how to tell time on a toy clock. In English they are studying how to write reports and on Friday they will write a report in class and apply what they have learned about writing reports.

With the rainy weather, Mrs. Mishler's third graders have been finding new games to play in the room and getting out some different puzzles to put together. Everyone was quite excited about receiving his school pictures. Many pictures have been traded. Reports from Halloween seems to show that almost all had a nice time trick or treating. They received many treasures — mainly candy!

In Mrs. Keller's fourth grade science class they are studying about how children their age should behave. They have some very interesting discussions. In spelling there were 26 perfect papers, and in arithmetic they are studying their fours. Denise Crosley had a birthday Oct. 31 and treated the class. They had a good time at their Halloween party. The game committee did a very good job in choosing the contest for the class.

In Mr. Frettinger's fifth grade there was a very good Halloween party held Friday. They bobbed for apples. During the rainy season they played games during every recess. In English they are writing a story each week.

Thursday noon Leo Steffey arrived at Mr. Overstreet's sixth grade classes and showed pictures that he made while in the Air Force in Pakistan. Mr. Steffey was a pupil of Mr. Overstreet one time while he was principal at the Woodrow School in Fulton County.

Teachers Recall High School Days

By Linda Thurin and Sharon McGaffey

For this week's interview we asked the teachers what they remembered most about their high school years. The answers we received were really varied.

Mr. Kepler remembers his friends, teachers' tests, activities, parties, mischief (?), and athletic events. Those pretty well take care of most of high school life.

Mrs. Huff enjoyed her journalism course and later the Quill and Scroll organizations. The staff of her school paper was together during school and outside. She remembers the staff, the teacher, the interesting work, and the fun they had.

Back when Culver High had longer noon hours, intramural games were played in the gym. Mrs. Kline remembers these because almost everyone participated and good-natured rivalry was always developed among the teams. The games provided a good break and they helped get a lot of that "extra energy" out of the students' systems before afternoon classes.

Extra-activities were important to Miss Reynolds. Each year was more exciting because she could participate in more organizations and school activities. She remembers the day she was awarded a scholastic letter for being third in her class. She also received the Betty Crocker award for her school, and the American Legion award for the outstanding student in government. Miss Reynolds was editor of the school year book and a cast member in her junior and senior plays.

Miss Overmyer had fun running and jumping in the cafeteria and racing up and down the floor of the biology room. This may sound strange but when Miss Overmyer went to Culver the space now occupied by the kitchen, cafeteria, projection room and the biology room was the gymnasium.

Mr. Crabb remembers taking a test and scoring very high in persuasiveness and honesty. Matter of fact, he scored so high the counselor told Mr. Crabb that he had better go out and tell a few lies.

Mr. Hughey had a lot of fun when he went to school. In home economics class, the boy sitting next to Mr. Hughey, flipped a spatula of flour on their teacher. She was wearing a dark green dress that day so it showed quite well. This struck Mr. Hughey as being very funny, but he made the mistake of being the only one who laughed out loud.

Mr. Bottorff was very serious about his high school years. He studied and worked very hard so he could go to college. I might add, he had no dates and was not interested in girls during this time. He limited his dating to summers only.

CLASS NEWS

By Betty McFarland and Mary Norris

As the year goes by, the seniors are starting to plan for their big day in May. Tuesday, Nov. 5, they held a meeting in the cafeteria to select invitations and personal cards.

"Are you nervous?" "No! Are you?" These are probably only a few of the things one would have heard back stage at the Junior Class Play, "Mother Was A Freshman". The junior class would like to thank everyone for making their play a success. They have collected $765.50 so far and are hoping to have a larger amount as soon as everyone turns in his money.

Roving Reporters

By Cindy Kemple and Lois Newcomb

In this week's time span preceding this publication, we questioned the students as to their ideas on the state sales tax. The responses show that the students are both concerned about and realize their investment with the situation.

Dave Lemar: It's a pain. I'm in an extremist movement in Indiana to take pennies out of circulation.

Steve Bocock: I agree with Dave. Let them give you pennies for change, but hoard yours.

Linda Thurin: I'm agin' it.

Layne Zechiel: I don't like it. I don't like being a walking piggy bank.

Wanda Warren: When it first started I didn't think it was much, but it adds up pretty fast.

Jim Boswell: It's great. I love to buy something for a dollar and have to fiddle around with pennies.

Valerie Gunder: Other than a waste of time and money, it's O.K.

Doug Lindvall: I agree with Jim Boswell. It's great! I mean its so much fun to play around with pennies.

Linda Shock: Just like every piece of legislature, it has its bad points. For one thing, it is inconvenient, but I can see its advantages, too.

Gloria Large: We will just have to get used to it. Many other states have gotten used to it and now take it for granted.

Lonni Darocsi: I don't like it. The sales tax leaves fewer pennies for my penny collection.

Ned Davis: It is very annoying, but it must have a good reason for existing or we wouldn't have it.

Edward Ricciardi: I think that it is a mistake and that it should be revoked, because it is unfair to the different working classes.

Charles Snyder: Actually it is no different from any other tax we pay, except that it is a nuisance to figure (?? Aren't all taxes?)

Jan Scruggs: It's a nuisance, and it will become increasingly Neither rain, snow, sleet, or hail stops the ma—, oops, it's the sophomores! Yes, our mighty sophomores braved the snow (?) and rain over Teacher's Institute and the following weekend to rake leaves. Keep up the good work kids!

The freshmen, calling out their wares (fudge) in the halls, succeeded in making approximately $8 on their last fudge sale. Also, this week they took the Iowa Tests of Educational Development.

annoying if it's allowed to get out of hand.

Bob Carter: All taxes are annoying, but taxes are necessary for a democratic government.

Sharon Eustis: It's inconvenient now because we are not used to it. But, in a few years we'll pay the tax automatically and not give it a second thought. It's just getting used to it that's hard.

Lucinda Ricciardi: I think it's unnecessary. If our present taxes don't meet the state's expenditures, the expenditures should be cut.

Jim Lewis: If you ask me, it's crazy. I'm all the time carrying around a pocket full of pennies just in case I want to buy anything.

Mark Kosterman: I don't think it's too bad, because it makes me buy things that cost less than twenty-five cents.

Dan Weaver: I think it is necessary because of state spending.

Bob McFarland: I think it is very unfair, because it makes you pay taxes twice on the same dollar. Once when you earn it, and once when you spend it.

Paul White: It can be very embarrassing if you only have one dollar left and need to buy some gas. If you forget to ask for 98 cents worth instead of a dollar's worth, you're caught two cents short.

Well, it seems that the main reason Culver students don't like the tax is because of the inconvenience, but maybe time will help heal the wound.

Students Define Ideal Teacher

By Donna Rogers and Beverly Barshes

The students at Culver High School were previously asked some questions pertaining to the qualities that make up an ideal girl and how a guy should dress and act. This week, the students gave their opinions of what makes up an ideal teacher. The following article is a summary of what most of the students consider ideal characteristics of a teacher.

The majority of the students feel that a teacher should present to his class, enjoyable and informative material. If a small amount of humor is added to a teacher's lectures, it draws the attention of the student and holds his interest. When a routine class lecture comes straight from the textbook without a few added laughs, a teacher will soon discover that the class becomes bored and his students become restless. Humor adds that little "touch of gold" to a teacher's class that makes his class very enjoyable for him as well as for his students.

In order for a teacher to gain the hearts of his students as well as create a little humor in his class, a teacher will probably need a good sense of humor. There are many times that a teacher's day becomes very trying, we are quite sure. If he can meet each day with a good sense of humor, he will be able to secure the admiration of the pupils and make his own day much more pleasant.

Many students think a teacher should be able to convey his knowledge to the pupils as clearly as possible. Sometimes teachers take it for granted that a student understands the little details of a problem. However, a slow student may not quite understand the situation and he may feel inferior if he speaks up. In order to avoid later confusion and doubt, the teacher should include every detail that is necessary. This is probably one of the hardest tasks for a teacher to accomplish. The students can help a great deal by asking questions any time they do not understand a problem.

Discipline within the classroom is a very important aspect to remember. During their high school careers, students many times dislike a strict teacher. However, when they graduate, they begin to realize just how important discipline is in this great world of ours. It is at that time that the graduates wish their teachers had been a little more restrictive in the classroom. Although students very seldom show it, they actually have a great deal of respect for teachers who are able to display authority in their classes.

A very important part of education is letting students express their viewpoints on a subject. This should certainly be encouraged by the instructor, for by stimulating thinking, a student learns to form his own ideas and opinions pertaining to the material at hand. Teachers should not get angry or think a student is stupid for trying to express his own opinion. Of course, the student should realize that there is also a maximum limit to this privilege.

The last, but far from the least important of the ideals, is understanding. In this hurried world of ours, there are many times that a student has questions and problems other than those pertaining to school. An understanding teacher can help solve these problems and turn a student in the "right direction". If the students have someone other than their parents to turn to when they have a problem, they will learn to respect that person and place their trust in him. It means a great deal to a student if he can tell his problems to another person and feel confident that that person will not reveal his troubles.

As you can see, the personality of an ideal teacher is quite varied. We are proud to say that the teachers of CHS have these characteristics, making them the great instructors that they are. All hail to our faculty!

Here She Comes!

By Jeanne Adams and Pat Ogden

Here she comes! Entering study hall at 8 a.m., is a blue-eyed, five and one-half-foot tall Junior girl. Today she has chosen an interesting ensemble of a charcoal-grey sweater, red and green plaid skirt, black loafers, and bobby socks. Miss X has her dark brown locks rolled up into a half-style she had concocted, sort of a french twist and bun combined. After talking to three of her classmates, she settled down to work on history, literature, and algebra. But our victim could not keep still for long! Soon she was busily chatting to Judy Price, until Mr. Kessler informed her that she was disrupting the whole study hall. After everyone had a good laugh at Miss X's expense, she settled down to study diligently until the bell rang.

Second period, after handing out a Kleenex to Susie Spencer, she found that her notes on the Federalist Papers were not very complete. She decided she had better borrow someone's to get her through a history test next period.

At the beginning of the third period, we found Miss X studiously listening to Mr. Lawson and chewing her pencil. We hoped she had enough of her pencil left to fill in her test. She did, for she concentrated intently on the test until 10:55. Beaming with delight at Mr. Lawson's comment about the good looking girls in the play, she laid her head on her books to await the bell.

Fourth period finds Miss X fixing that concoction of hers, handing out Kleenex again, and spending most of the hour talking to Cathy Carrothers. When she was not doing all of these things, she sat with her arms crossed and chin on her books listening to Mr. Kepler talk about the periodic table. After waving and winking at a few of her classmates, she busied herself by trying to see who Pat Ogden was writing a letter to. Talking to Cathy, reading more of Pat's letter, and informing everyone that she was starved, Miss X impatiently waited for the noon bell to ring.

Our victim was all over the high school during the noon hour, so it was rather hard to keep track of her. But we managed to catch a glimpse of her laughing and talking to Bob Eastis.

During fifth period English she listened patiently most of the hour, but she did not seem to be satisfied with the grade on the theme Mrs. Kline returned. The talk of poems and their structure seemed to be quite interesting, but Miss X are you very sure you know the meaning of monometer, iambic, etc.?

Squeak! Squawk! That is right, we next encountered Miss X in the band room. Most of the period (with a few exceptions) she diligently played away at her instrument, without too many sour notes.

In the seventh period, it appeared that Miss X had a little trouble finding her homework. After checking her answers, she found that she had one wrong, so she proceeded to ask Mr. Dillman about it. The rest of the period she worked on her homework.

Eighth period she had a Tomahawk meeting. Afterwards she gathered up all her books and started home.

Thus ends a typical school day of a Junior girl. If you have not guessed by this time who this vivacious, C.H.S. girl is, she is Abigail Abbott or better known as Jane Ives.

forts of thousands of I.U. students who contribute each year to the financial success of the spring "Little 500 Weekend."

Presented by the Indiana University Foundation, the 1963-64 scholarships brings to 1,482 the total number of I.U. students given financial aid through the "Little 500" program since its inception in 1951.

THANKS VOTERS

I wish to take this opportunity to express my thanks to those who supported me in the November 5th election.

THEODORE L. ERVIN

Editor, CITIZEN:

Ever since December, 1960, when the communists, in frantic concern at the rebirth of patriotism in America, issued their Manifesto vilifying the "radical right", and thus coining this cliché, the deliberate distorting and deploring the right wing has practically become an obsession with every left wing writer, commentator, newspaper and magazine in the country.

Unfortunately, this campaign has been successful in confusing many good citizens as to who the real enemy is. Practically every person and organization that has done an effective job against the communists has been smeared by other Americans.

Have members of right wing organizations ever taken the "Fifth Amendment", or is this a privilege reserved for traitors? I cannot recall a single member of the rightist organization hiding behind the Fifth Amendment, nor had any member of a right wing organization ever been charged with or convicted of treason against the United States.

Almost without exception, however, every person convicted of treason has been a member of a "left wing" organization none of which, for some unexplained reason, have either been smeared or even referred to as radical by most present day information media.

Isn't it time for many of us to choose sides over again?

Enrollment At Ball State Mostly Hoosiers

Eighteen Indiana counties now have 100 or more students enrolled at Ball State Teachers College. The total college level enrollment for the fall quarter is 8,814 students, an increase of 5.3 per cent over last year, according to Dr. Leo M. Hauptman, registrar. In addition, there are 201 in extension or correspondence classes and 317 in special non-academic classes such as instrumental music, voice or ballet.

Ball State has students from 81 Indiana counties, 36 states and territories, and 18 foreign countries, but its enrollment is still primarily made up of Hoosier students. Indiana residents make up 95.5 per cent of the total college level enrollment and 100 per cent of the special students and extension class enrollees.

The college, now third largest in Indiana, has grown 805 per cent since September, 1945. Over 19,200 students are expected next fall, Hauptman said.

4-H KEY AWARDS

Linda Thurin and Carole Barton were among eight winners of the coveted 4-H Key award at the Starke County Achievement program on Nov. 6.

This award is based on a point system and is given in recognition of outstanding contributions to 4-H club work through the development of leadership, citizenship and community service by Purdue University and Cities Service Oil Co.

Linda also won county medals for her Home Improvement, Swine, and Junior Leader Membership projects. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Thurin, Route 1, Culver, in North Bend Township and is a Junior at Culver High School.

Carole won an electric award and a Junior Leader medal. She is the daughter of Mrs. Ruth Barton of Ora in North Bend Township and is a Senior at Culver this year.

"In the way of righteousness is life; and in the pathway thereof there is no death." This passage from Proverbs (12:28) will be read in all Christian Science churches next Sunday. The subject of the Bible Lesson is "Mortals and Immortals."

These lines from the Christian Science textbook will also be included: "It is only by acknowledging the supremacy of Spirit, which annuls the claims of matter, that mortals can lay off mortality and find the indissoluble spiritual link which establishes man forever in the divine likeness, inseparable from his creator" (Science and Health with

AMAZED...

I tell a few war stories — just like the rest. The censorship of good taste and modesty makes my experiences pretty drab. But Jerry thrills to them. He's proud of his Dad's Purple Heart!

My son would be amazed if I were to tell him the stories we never tell;
our thoughts as we hit the beach... what it was like in those jungles... what war does to its dead... and its living.

And in other ways Jerry would be amazed; for he doesn't know me as a man who prays often. He can't realize the depth of my Faith. He has never met the brave chaplain who brought me in when I was hit.

I'll never tell Jerry all of it. I don't think God wants me to!

I pray that Jerry's may be a different world. I want him to learn day by day, step by step, what his religion will mean to him!

That's why we're a church-going family!

Culver Indians Beat Aubbee But Lose To Central

Papooses Win Two Thrilling Games

By EARL D. MISHLER

The 1963-64 Culver Indians, displaying symptoms of a hard-wood Jekyll and Hyde case, split even in their first weekend of basketball action, defeating Aubbee, 77-63, Friday night, but losing to South Central, 69-50, on Saturday.

Behind a blistering offensive attack led by senior Sam Lowry, the tribe opened the season on a successful note at Aubbee. Culver hit on 34 of 62 field goal attempts for a shooting percentage of 55.

Coach Gene Crosley's fine bench was given a chance to prove itself early — and did! Twenty-two of the 77 points were scored by players not in the starting line-up. The Indians made 15 more field goals than the losing Braves, but the game was kept close by Aubbee free throws.

Lowry, deadly with his jumper from the 18-20 foot range, tallied 24 big points, while junior pivotman Bob Eustis made a sparkling Culver debut with 15 points. These two were also the Tribe's leading rebounders. Dave Lemar, after missing the first half due to an injury, poured in 11 late points to help keep the game out of Aubbee's reach.

Joe Holcomb and Terry Engle led the losers, now 0-2, with 16 and 13 points respectively, while Jim Murray and Gary Feltis added 12 apiece.

Seventy-two Culver shots flew through the South Central gymnasium atmosphere Saturday night, but a mere 18 found their mark. Compare this 25 per cent with Friday's 55 per cent, and the final scores are explained.

However, the game was much closer than the final score indicates. Culver led by as many as nine points throughout the first half, as the Satellites stayed in the game only on the fabulous scoring of senior forward, Dan Rosenbaum. After three periods, it was tied at 41-41.

Then the roof fell in! Cashing in on 18 of 19 free throw attempts, Central tallied 28 points to Culver's nine in the final stanza. Throughout the second half, the Indians were given repeated shots from relatively close range by the winners' zone defense, but none of Coach Crosley's boys, not even Lowry, could hit.

Rosenbaum hit 26 points in a great display of shooting for Central, who, as a team made 37 of 42 foul shots. Lowry's 17 led the Culver attack, which mustered only seven baskets in 46 second-half attempts.

Culver's B Team gave the fans some real excitement with a pair of heart stopping victories, 44-41 in two overtimes at Aubbee, and 46-44 over Central.

Friday night Andy Lowry's tip-in in the waning seconds of regulation time climaxed an uphill battle for the Papooses who trailed throughout the game. Paul Liette, who led all scorers with 18 points, dropped in several crucial free throws, to spearhead the overtime drive to victory.

Playing against an older, more experienced South Central squad, Coach John Hottorff's forces again trailed the entire game. But Liette again grabbed the hero's role by hitting the tying and winning baskets in the final minute of play. His 26-foot jumper with five seconds left gave the Papooses a hard-earned victory. Lowry's 13 and Liette's 12 paced the winner's attack.

Culver travels to Tyner Friday night, and opens at home a week later against Plymouth.

Academy Sports

Quarterback Lander Carter and center Ralph Dittman have been elected co-captains for the 1964 Culver Military Academy football team as the current season was officially closed with a team banquet Sunday night.

The final dinner came on a victorious note since the Eagles ended their season with a 16-6 triumph over Schlarman High School at Danville, Ill. The Schlarman victory provided Culver with its fifth triumph in eight starts this season to give Coach Russ Oliver his 19th winning season in 24 campaigns. His over-all won-lost-tied record now stands at 122-60-11.

After a bad start in the opening quarter, Culver gradually picked up steam to wear down a scrappy Schlarman club. Bolstering the Eagle eleven was a second quarter safety provided by a blocked punt by 255-pound center Mike Turnbull. But the cadets didn't move out in front until the third period when Chris Hinkle picked up the first of two touchdowns. With quarterback John Baker hitting precision passes, the Academy was set up for another TD in the fourth. Hinkle closing out his Culver career with the score.

The winter sports season officially opens Nov. 23 when the Academy wrestlers travel to Penn High School for the opening contest.

NEW CHEVELLE!

BY CHEVROLET

The kind of handling ease you'd expect in a smaller car. Come on down and drive it.

The kind of comfort you'd expect in a large interior. Come on down and sit in it.

Only a car that looks as good as this could come between Chevrolet and Chevy II. Come on down and stare at it.

New Chevelle Malibu Sport Coupe

Now—Chevy spirit in a new kind of car!

We built this one to do more than just stand around looking beautiful. Held its weight down in the 3,000-pound range. Then built four lusty engines—two sixes and two V8's—with output all the way up to 220 horses*!

And if that makes you think this is one frisky car, you've got the right idea.

You've also got a roomy car here. Yet its 115-inch wheelbase keeps it highly maneuverable in traffic and very easy to park.

With its Full Coil suspension, it's got a ride that reminds you of the Jet-smooth kind the way it muffles noise and cushions bumps.

And the fine hand of Body by Fisher craftsmen shows up beneath this one's suave good looks, too.

Sound good? There's more. Like the fact that Chevelle comes in three series with eleven models—convertibles, sport coupes, sedans, wagons, even Super Sport models with front bucket seats. Like the fact that (and see if this isn't one of the nicest surprises of all) the new Chevelle comes at an easy-to-take price!

Like to hear more? The listening's wonderful at your Chevrolet dealer's—and so's the driving.
