Do You Remember 'Way Back When?'

Do you remember this small frame building, pictured above, which was the Culver Depot over 50 years ago? Even though small, it was a busy place in those days when trains were our chief mode of transportation.

Loaned to The Citizen by Mrs. Letty Overmyer, the above picture was taken from a postcard which was dated Dec., 1913.

Indians Earn 9th In Row; Host New Paris

By EARL MISHLER

Culver's Indians coasted to their ninth straight victory last Friday, stopping the host Argos Dragons, 78-54. The triumph gave the Tribe a season's record of 13-2, setting the stage for next week's titanic struggle against powerful New Paris.

The Indians wasted no time in gaining the upper hand at Argos. Polishing up on their full court press, Culver raced to a 21-11 lead. Featuring the attack were ball-handling, defense and excellent teamwork, as time and time again the Tribesman, high in the air for a jump shot, would feed off to the open man under the basket. Rugged Dave Lemar controlled his share and more of the bankboard in the first quarter before being rested.

Coch Geno Crosley, satisfied with the press, dropped his boys out of it in the second period. This fact plus cold Culver shooting enabled Argos to pull within eight points at half-time, 34-26.

But the outcome was decided quickly once the second half began, as the Tribe began to sizzle on all cylinders. A 27-point third period set the stage for frequent substitutions on both sides in the final stanza. Once the Indians had piled up an insurmountable lead, the game turned into a rowdy, foul-marred fracas, typical of Argos-Culver battles in recent years.

Despite an evening of sheer frustration, Sam Lowry hit his game average on the nose with 21 points, moving into the Marshall County scoring lead ahead of LaPaz's Don Balka. Questionable "travelling" calls by the officials cost Sam Lowry three more baskets, and the 5' 10" senior forward as usual drew many fouls which were not called. Lemar hit 13 and hackcourt stars Jim Boswell and Paul White added 12 points apiece. Charles Redinger was the only Argos threat, hitting 24 points, mostly on long set shots.

Fans, get your tickets now for Friday night's game. New Paris' Cubs are 14-1 and latched onto the Elkhart County title two weeks ago. Their only loss came in a double overtime against Goshen and they bring an eight-game win streak to challenge Culver's nine-game streak. Both teams are billed as good defensive clubs, as both coaches are apt to use "matching" zone defenses. The game should be a battle between Culver's shooting and New Paris' superior rebounding. It promises to be the most important game on the local floor in many moons.

Coach John Bottorff's B-Team defeated Argos 37-26, behind sophomore guard Danny Haene's 13 points. The win was number nine for the Paposos who have lost five. One more victory will give the Baby Tribe another winning season. Last year's B-Team had the first plus .500 mark in over a decade. Box Score:

Green Thumb Tips

Seeds to sow upon the snow include those of such annual flowers as poppies and cornflowers and one vegetable—spinach. Of course the spinach won't be planted in a neat row, but what difference does that make if you have extra-early greens to eat?

January is a good month to make flower boxes—window, patio, porch or balcony, whichever is most useful for your garden. Make them of a rot-resistant wood like redwood if you do not wish to keep them painted, and be sure to provide holes in the bottom for water drainage.

Have you ever sat down with yourself and made an honest evaluation of your previous season's garden? It's more satisfactory than making New Year's resolutions, for you get results. Which types of flowers or vegetables grew best for you? Which do you want to grow again and which not? Where are the places in your garden that need pepping up with colorful blooms? These are the kinds of questions you should ask yourself.

Then read the seed catalogs, now arriving, for suggestions to help you have a finer garden this year.

Want to keep children occupied and happy? Let them mix wild bird seed with peanut butter and put dabs of the mixture on the scales of a pine cone of the open type, like that of a white pine. Closed cones will open speedily if placed on top of a heated radiator or in a warm oven. Hang cones from tree branches and watch the birds come.

Satisfaction is practically guaranteed the gardener who orders disease-resistant varieties of both vegetables and flowers. These varieties are plainly described in the catalogs as having been bred to ignore many plant troubles.

Poor Man's Orchid, properly named Schizanthus (pronounced Sky-zan'-thus) is an easily grown annual flower that makes beautiful summer corsages. Flower colors are white through shades of cream and pink to crimson and mauve.

NO BOUNCE — The Scottsburg school superintendent, Merrill Scott, became suspicious of the basketball floor in the high school gymnasium. Investigating with a hammer and chisel he found it infested with termites. Said Scott: "They laughed at me last year when I told them the basketball didn't bounce right, but I'm an ex-coach and I knew something was wrong."

PLANTING FRUIT TREES

Of all the different kinds of fruit trees homeowners can plant, dwarfed apple trees are probably the best for home planting, say Purdue University extension horticulturists.

Apples are hardier than most fruit trees. And dwarfed ones are smaller than standard size and thus easier to prune, spray and care for. They also bear fruit at a younger age.

Dwarfed apple trees are obtained by grafting the desired variety onto a special rootstock. The horticulturists recommend East Malling IX or Mailing Merton 106 rootstocks. They are designated EM IX or MM 106 in catalogs and should be ordered as such.

You can have them delivered for early spring planting. Plant at least two varieties for cross pollination.

A word of caution: Before you plant any fruit trees, even the easy to care for dwarfed apple, think about and be prepared to care for them properly. You'll have to spray and prune them regularly. Commercial growers often spray 12 to 15 times each growing season.

The stethoscope was invented by a French physician, Rene T. H. Laennec, in 1816, reports World Book Encyclopedia.

CLOTHING FOR THE PRESCHOOLER

Want to make your toddler as comfortable as possible? Help him learn to dress himself? Provide him with appropriate clothes that are easy to put on, easy to take off and fun to wear.

Clothing plays an important role in helping children become happy independent adults. An understanding of children's rate of growth and development can help mothers when selecting children's clothing and teaching them to dress themselves.

To aid mothers with this process, Purdue University has published "Clothing for the Preschooler," a booklet discussing children's growth and development from 18 months to five years. The booklet describes children's needs in clothing, sizing, self-help features, safety features, care and steps in dressing.

Indiana residents may obtain a free copy of "Clothing for the Preschooler," Mimeo HE-367, from their county Extension office or from the Agricultural Publications Office, AES Building, Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind. 47907.

OVEREATING DISEASE OF LAMBS

Dr. F. A. Hall, Purdue University extension veterinarian, warns owners to look out for the hazards of "overeating disease" in lambs.

This condition kills hundreds of lambs each year. Usually it strikes the healthiest, fastest growing ones in the flock.

Young animals which apparently will be normal at night may be found dead the following morning. Affected animals may be listless, go off feed and show nervous symptoms with possible paralysis.

A toxin, produced by a germ within the digestive tract of the lamb, causes the disease. Young stock on full feed are the most susceptible.

Having a veterinarian vaccinate lambs against the disease a few days before they are put on full feed is effective insurance. If the disease appears, its control depends upon the reduction of feed, especially grain; a veterinarian should be called to help reduce death losses, Dr. Hall says.

Home management specialists at Purdue University recommend cleaning and defrosting your home freezer once a year.

TUBELESS — An electric organ in a church in Middletown (Henry County) was recently stripped of its 11 tubes. Church officials said they would be willing to forgive and forget if the guilty person or persons returned the tubes as it would cost about $30 to replace them and the church was operating on a limited budget.

Friday, Jan 31, is the last day for filing applications for 1963 marketing year payments under the National Wool Act, growers were reminded today. The applications cover wool and lamb marketings during the 9-month period April 1, through Dec. 31, 1963.

Later marketings will be eligible for program payments for the 1964 marketing year which began the first of the year. Beginning with 1964, the wool marketing year will be for 12 months, coinciding with the calendar year.

The Chairman pointed out that, since the 1963 Program Year ended 3 months earlier than in previous years, the 1963 payments likely will begin in April instead of late summer.

Chairman Price reminded growers that the purpose of the National Wool Act — enacted in 1954 — was to encourage the domestic production of wool. The authorized program provided for incentive payments on shorn wool and unshorn lambs (and on mohair, if needed), based on a percentage of each producer's cash returns from sales. The percentage is that required to raise the National average price received by all producers for shorn wool up to the announced incentive price. (The incentive price for 1964 has been announced at 62 cents per pound — continuing the level in effect since the beginning of the program in 1955.)

It is particularly important, Mr. Price explained, that growers sell their shorn wool for the highest price possible and that they obtain complete sales records. The payments are based on a percentage of the price each grower receives — as indicated in the sales records — rather than on a flat cents-per-pound rate. So the higher the price received by the individual grower, the bigger his incentive payment will be.

In other words, the Chairman declared, the incentive payment does not make up the difference for a poor selling job. A good job of selling actually can mean extra dollars to the grower.

PRODUCTION REPORT
 Registered Holstein cows from this area are prominently mentioned in an official production testing report received today from Holstein-Friesian Association Association of America headquarters at Brattleboro, Vermont.

Culver Dictator Dean Kathy 3975342, a seven-year-old, produced 16,569 pounds of milk and 675 pounds of butterfat in 344 days. Culver Dictator Eden Gloria 3914701, an eight-year-old, had 18,316 pounds of milk and 674 pounds of butterfat in 354 days. Culver Lad Dictator Edith 4742-377, a four-year-old, had 15,404 pounds of milk and 661 pounds of butterfat in 309 days. Culver Lad Dictator Mae 4610331, a four-year-old, had 15,236 pounds of milk and 659 pounds of butterfat in 333 days. All are owned by John A. Newman and Sons, Culver.

According to the national Holstein organization, the new production figures compare to an annual output of 7,211 pounds of milk and 270 pounds of butterfat by the average U. S. dairy cow.

Purdue University supervised the weighing and testing of the Holstein records as part of the breed's nation-wide herd testing programs.

Should Teenagers Own Cars?

By Shari Croy and Judy Price
In recent years teenagers have been given more freedom and more privileges. Among these privileges is ownership of cars. In some areas this causes quite a problem. Here are the opinions of some of Culver's students on this situation.

Charles Snyder — If they do not need the money for important things like college and can keep grades comparable to their ability, it's all right.

Suzy Spencer — Yes, if teenagers can keep up their grades.

Dick Knoerzer — Yes, that way you can visit your girl friend in the country!!

Doug Lindvall — Yes, as far as I'm concerned, because I think it would be neat.

Paul Saft — No, I think while in high school, owning a car lowers grades.

Peg Herr — Sure, if you have the money to buy it! I don't.

Jan Parker — Sure if they know what they are getting.

Nora Sheppard — Yes, if they pay for it with their own money because when its your own money being used you are more careful how you run it.

Carolyn Snyder — If you are capable of taking the responsibilities.

Carolyn Saft — I'm all for it — especially Corvairs!!!

Jeanne Adams — If their grades are high enough and they are mature enough to handle the responsibilities, then I think they are ready to have a car of their own.

Beth Sperry — It's okay if you have a part-time job and pay all the expenses on a car.

David Frain — I have one, but feel now, no, you need lots of money and it lowers your grades.

Mike Eustis — I think it's all right, because sometimes you can't depend on someone else to take you everywhere and it's good for lots of reasons.

Shari Croy — Yes, you have to have your own responsibilities sometime in life and it's better to begin while you are young enough to realize what responsibilities are. If you have the money, why not!!

Larry Banks — I think a car is okay for a teenager, if his grades are good, and if he is capable.

Rex Crump — Yes, if they can afford one!

Suzi Overmyer — Yes, especially Chevies.

Valerie Gunder — If a teenager can keep up his grades and also maintain the car out of his money.

Diane Nelson — I don't see anything wrong with having a car if they can keep their grades up and stay out of trouble.

Gloria Baker — Yes, I feel it is okay, but you must be able to meet payments and most of all know how to manage money.

Vicki Lyons — I think owning a car, depends on how mature the person is himself, if he can have a car and take care of it, and also he should not let the car interfere with school work.

Mr. Lawson — I don't feel that students should own automobiles.

Mr. Crabb — Not until they're old enough to drive!

Tom Yocom — I don't see why not, since it isn't legally possible until you're sixteen that is.

Suzanne Ayres — Yes, if you know how to drive them well and if you have the right attitude towards responsibilities.

Dick McCracken — Sure it's all right, even though I don't have one.

Jim Hopple — Yes, if you are

Senior Class To Present Play

By Martha McAllister and Bonnie Saft

The senior class of Culver High School is proud to announce the renovation of an old tradition — a Senior Play. Not being done for several years, it seems like a new idea to the students at CHS. This three-act comedy entitled "Clementine," is dramatized by Anne Coulter Martens and William Davidson from the book by Peggy Goodin, and will be directed by Mr. Latham Lawson and Mr. Larry Crabb. The production will be presented on Saturday evening, Feb. 15, at 8 p.m. in the Community Building.

The production is a humorous portrayal of the adventures of "almost sixteen-year-old" Clementine Kelley, an impish tomboy with no desire to grow up, played by Sharon McGaffey. Gerald Kelley, played by Dave Frain, is running for re-election to the office of mayor of Hooterville. Miss Prunella Pringle, a seemingly crabby old woman, played by Carole Barton, plans to give Mayor Kelley difficulties. Bertha, a helpful and efficient housekeeper, is played by Bonnie Saft. Mrs. Kelley, played by Sharon Eustis, tries to help Clementine through her problems while her friends Cathy, Jane Ann, Hank, Pete, and Slim create new difficulties for Clem. These parts will be played by Lucy Osborn, Martha McAllister, Larry Linhart, Tom Schmidt, and Jim Jones.

When Clem needs advice, the handy man, Abe Carter, played by Ed Matson, is always on the spot, and when Clem decides to take up dramatics, Ann McNeil, portrayed by Janeen Scruggs, proves to be quite essential.

The ticket sales will soon be under way, so be sure to take advantage of this opportunity to see an outstanding achievement. See you at the play!!!

Fifth Graders Write Poetry

GINGER
By Susan Sbei
Ginger is a scallywag,
Ginger is a pup,
He got into a cellar-way
And ate the sausage up.
He got into a rabbit-hole
And carried off a shoe.
There's hardly any naughty trick
That Ginger doesn't do.

THE SCIENTIST
By David Williams
He isn't the mad bushy-haired

But sometimes a calm man with a handsome look,
He doesn't mix chemicals and stir them all day,
But he calculates figures and equations they say,
He sometimes uses a lab, he'll agree,
But not the type you see on TV,
He isn't the absent-minded old man,
He can remember just as well as you can,
And he doesn't live in a haunted
old place,
For he likes to live at a science

So here you can see what the sci-

And he isn't the guy on that TV

Beware of the seniors! They're learning how to become very shrewd business men (and women). But, personally, if I had $5,000, I wouldn't put it into the stock market. Oh, well, everyone to their own taste.

We have noticed lately that Sharon McGaffey has not been keeping in character while not at play practice. Clementine is not supposed to like the boys!

Which way is east? Now where am I supposed to go? Oh dear, I forgot my two sharpened pencils. Are you sure you're in the right room? Tick — Tick — Tick — Stop! Now everyone turn his paper in and . . . These are just a few of the many comments heard by CHS students and teachers as the new system of giving and taking final exams got under way. Although there was much excitement about the new system, many sighs of relief were heard when it was all over. Just think, kids, four and a half more months and we can try it again! Ugh!!

Speaking about trying things again, we like the new trend the Indians have started. Victory! Victory! Victory! Keep it up boys. We like it! We like it!

Hey, Sharon McGaffey! Do you always wear rings that are too big for your finger? And, we didn't know your initials were J.W. Congratulations. Who's the lucky guy? (As if we didn't know!)

Lights! Silence! Action! Cut! Stay in character. The senior class production of "Clementine" is now being put into shape. We'll leave it up to you as to what kind of shape!

Mr. Lawson and Mr. Crabb must have been born "directors," but at the rate the cast is going, they'll soon look the part — bald!

Boy, some people around here just can't read! The sign said "Park and Shop," not "Park or Shop." We think a certain guy needs help — or does he?!!

Geel! Another Romeo. Gosh, Sam, how were you able to keep it a secret for so long. You say that's the tenth letter from her. Wow! She asked you to stay for a party after the dance and you turned her down? Oh, training rules. Yep, gotta keep those training rules. You say her name is Judy? She's from Bremen? Oh no, girls, competition! Looks like another war.

Hey, Tom Yocom, how does it feel to be the only boy permitted to eat with all those girls living in Erickson Hall at Indiana State?!! What's your secret?

Don't get excited Janet Beck. Mr. Miller doesn't really need his Boy, we've heard of some lame excuses in our time, but this one takes the cake! Can you imagine anyone getting stuck in a snow drift in 50-degree weather!! Come on, Martha, surely you can do better than that.

Would someone please tell Mr. Lawson the difference between a swimming pool and a gym floor? It seems that at play practice he got a little confused and tried to do a back-flip off the stage! That's all right, Mr. Lawson, we understand, but be careful or you might "obliterate" yourself.

It sure is nice to know that some of "our" boys are so hospitable to CHS visitors. But, really boys, you don't have to work so hard at it! However, next time we need a welcoming committee, we'll call on Bob Carter, Doug Lindvall, Dick Mackey and maybe Jim Boswell, too!

Thunder . . . thunder . . . flash . . . flash . . . We knew the basketball team was "hot," but not this! Oh, you say you're just making practical use of your physics. It seems that after practice they tried to make it rain in the dressing room. Formula: steam (from hot showers) and a cold air mass (from sub-zero weather outside.) Only remember those dust particles next time, then maybe it'll work!!

Patty Ogden . . . why is it that you suddenly object to directing the band? You certainly didn't put much UMPH into it!! That's what you get for wearing one of those safety-pinned skirts.

Paul White doesn't seem to have much luck with driving around the lake. Between snow banks and trains, he's had quite a bit of trouble, but we don't think he minds!!

Effects Of Supreme Court Decisions

By Betty Riccardi

(EDITORS' NOTE: The following is a theme submitted to Mr. Latham Lawson for his civics course.)

During recent years decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States have focused upon two issues of great significance to the American people. Neither we nor the Supreme Court have reached definite conclusions to these problems. The first I shall discuss is a relatively new issue. It concerns the position of minority groups.

What are the rights of these groups? How many concessions must we make to people who are different from us? How many liberties should exist for groups whose interests or ideals conflict with those of most Americans? The Supreme Court is trying to answer these questions. So are the American people. But answers acceptable to all or nearly all remain to be discovered.

An obvious example of the problems of majority opinion versus minority belief is the case of prayer in public schools. To protect the religious freedom of Unitarians, Orthodox Jews, secular humanists and atheists who felt such prayer was wrong, the Supreme Court forbade religious activity in public schools. Many people oppose the decision itself. But the precedent it sets could bring on a flood of foolish or even dangerous complaints by minority groups wishing to inflict their views upon larger numbers of people.

Another case which presents a great problem is that of a teacher whose school board has dismissed him for alleged holding and teaching communist beliefs. The Supreme Court ruled against the school board, preventing arbitrary censorship of teachers' political views. Yet if the school cannot dismiss a teacher with unacceptable beliefs, what protection exists for students and the community?

The second issue which must be resolved is that of the powers and limitations of the national government. How far does the authority of the federal government extend over local governments when the rights of individuals are concerned? The famous case of School v. Brown, which outlawed segregation in public schools, began as a dispute over individual rights, but since the federal government acted to enforce the ruling further arguments have arisen over the right of government to assume such a position. We still see the effects of this conflict.

The federal government has intervened in another way in Wisconsin. There the state legislature refused to reapportion according to law. The attorney general of Wisconsin carried a suit to the Supreme Court. The legislature was asked to enact reapportionment laws, and when it failed to do so the federal government forced an investigation of the Wisconsin legislative districts. This action could have greater impact than might at first be evident. Should national government interfere with internal affairs of the states?

The issues of minority rights and federal intervention are not easily solved. The Supreme Court may never find a satisfactory answer to the specific problems. But by bringing these issues to the attention of American citizens the Supreme Court may achieve success. Public awareness of the viewpoint of others and concern for the rights of all people promote co-operation, which in turn will help the people themselves to develop satisfactory agreement. This solution through self-government is the most desirable, for it is by participation in government that we realize the purpose of America. The Supreme Court can help us to achieve this goal.

Art Students Busy

By Ann Wagoner

The art students have been kept very busy with their latest project, making clay pots. Each art student has had to make a slab pot, a coil pot, and an imprint pot.

In order to make a slab pot, a student takes clay and rolls it out. He then cuts out the bottom and sides of the pot according to the size and shape he wishes the object to be. He crosshatches the top of the bottom piece and the bottom of the sides, which helps the clay fit together. He then smooths the object down with a wet sponge and lets the clay dry.

After the pot is completed, the article is glazed and is ready to be fired in the kiln. After the pot has been fired, engobe glaze is put on it. This glaze soaks into the clay and cracks the clay when the glaze dries, making a nice design in the clay.

Coil pots are made in much the same manner only long coils of clay are used for the sides in place of the cut-out sides.

To make the imprint pot, the students had to mix half sand and half clay in order to make a mold. They then put the clay on top of the mold and towel to make the imprint pot. The remaining steps are identical to those of the coil and slab pots.

During the next six weeks, the students will be working with water colors, another very interesting project.

SPORT NEWS

By Shelia Fish and Darlene Taylor

The Culver Indians are enjoying one of their most successful basketball seasons in years. They added another victory to the score on Friday when they won a well-played, hard fought game against the Triton Trojans.

The great success of the team is due a great deal to the hard work, honest effort, and real co-operation the boys have shown all season long. Few people realize how much work and time is put into making a team a good one. The boys must be willing to put many long hours into nightly practice and they must be able to work together and co-operate with each other. Our team has what it takes.

But a good team needs a good coach. A team is no better than the coach who guides it. He must have a keen interest in the sport and a thorough knowledge of it. The coach's job is a tough one. He must spend many long hours with the team teaching and guiding and perfecting each member of the team so that they function effectively and co-operatively together. Coaches Crosley and Bottorff are that kind of men. They put forth more time and effort than most of us realize and we owe a great deal of the season's success to them and their efforts. We would like to thank Mr. Crosley and Mr. Bottorff for their hard work and effort, and congratulate the teams on the fine work they have shown this season. Keep up the good work!

Semester Exam Schedule Revised

By Ray Thomas

My name — N.E. Student. I reported to school at about 8:05, Thursday morning, Jan. 16, to face a day filled with examinations. I slowly trudged to the gymnasium where my first test took place. Although exams are not usually described as being "great," I must say that this year's exam schedule was set up excellently. Almost all junior high and high school students taking a specific course took that exam together as a whole. Most of the exams took place in the gymnasium where tables were set up. Another good point I noticed about this year's system was the time factor. Somehow time seemed more plentiful than when I had taken exams in the past.

The second hour of that day I had no tests scheduled, so I went to my home room to study. Here was another thing I liked about the exam system — there were no classes as such on exam days. All persons not taking an examination reported to their home room to do a little last-minute reviewing or just to relax.

Third and fourth hours I was again in the gymnasium writing away, and taxing my brain. Many teachers supervised while students took exams. Mr. Crabb and other members of the faculty clearly announced the directions for each test, corrections to be made, and how much time we were given for the test.

After a much-needed lunch, I again had a study period. At this time I found out that a teacher's committee had painstakingly taken hours making up the examination schedule. To arrange the schedule so that there would be very few conflicts was a difficult task for the teachers. But finally, all angles were worked out and a green printed sheet of the schedule was handed out to each student. The teacher's committee consisted of Miss Shanks, Mr. Dillman, Mrs. Kline, Mr. Hughey, Mrs. Hughes, and Mr. Crabb.

Sixth hour found me in the library vigorously concentrating on my next-to-the-last test for that day. Seventh hour I reported to the cafeteria along with 46 other long-faced friends. Sixty minutes later and — hurrah! my examinations were over for Thursday, Jan. 16.

I breathed a sigh of relief knowing that that day's labor was finished, but I knew there was yet half of the following day in which to finish my first-semester tests.

So, you see, although examinations are not considered pleasant, this year, through a well-planned program and faculty supervision (along with student cooperation), exams ran much smoother and less complicated.

P.S. The previous-mentioned fact does not mean that the exams themselves were any easier (they weren't!) nor does it guarantee each student a desirable score!

GRADE SCHOOL NEWS

By Linda Shock and Susan Helber

Mrs. Melton — Kindergarten: Jeffery Carter served candy bars to the class to celebrate his birthday on Jan. 21.

Mrs. Keyser — First Grade: We are happy to welcome Jeff Garbison who came to us from Knox. However, we are sorry that Diane Ross will be leaving us and moving to Hartford City.

We have finished our "Tag" books and are now working in the next phonics book, "Dot and Jim." We are also working for stars in library reading. Randy Thomas treated the class to candy bars on his birthday, Jan. 10.

Mrs. McLane — First Grade: In reading, one of the groups in our room has finished the primer, "Little White House." For our science class, we are making a rock collection. Some of the children have tried to dissolve sugar, salt, and flour in water. We have also been discussing the earth and our solar system.

Mrs. Allen — Second Grade: Randy Overmyer had a birthday which he celebrated with us on Jan. 21. Paul Wojtowicz has returned from a trip to California, and has told us many interesting things about his trip. He also brought us some green apple candy. We are now reading circus stories and making circus wagons this week.

Miss Page — Second Grade: Georgia Thompson has moved to South Bend, where she will attend the Studebaker School. Sandy Newman was eight years old Jan. 23.

We are also reading circus stories this week, and our new story book is called "Around the Corner."

Mr. Prettinger — Fifth Grade: The girls' "Yankee" baseball team defeated the boys' "Dodgers" team 7 to 6 in spelling on Friday. Lynne Langlois celebrated her tenth birthday Thursday by treating the class to candy bars.

SOMETHING MISSING — In her "Talk Of The Town" column in The Nappanee Advance-News, Betty Johnson published a recipe for pumpkin cake. In the next edition of the newspaper she had this notice in her column: "Judging from all the phone calls I received from most experienced cooks realized immediately that the main ingredient was missing from the recipe for pumpkin cake. If you will add two cups of pumpkin and three teaspoons of cinnamon to your list of ingredients it should produce good results."

The United States Air Force Academy

By Larry Linhart

The United States Air Force Academy is located ten miles north of Colorado Springs, Colo., in a picturesque setting at the foothills of the Rampart Range of the Rocky Mountains. The Academy site embraces a 17,900 acre tract of mesas and valleys extending from the rugged Ramparts.

The Academy's mission is to provide instruction, experience, and motivation to each cadet so that he will graduate with the knowledge, character, and qualities of leadership essential to his progressive development as a career officer in the United States Air Force.

To be eligible for appointment to the Air Force Academy, a young man must be at least 17 and not yet 22 years of age on July 1 of the year he will enter the Academy. He must be a male citizen of the United States, have good moral character, and never have been married. Applications for nomination should be made a year in advance of entering the Academy. A class is admitted late in June each year.

The Air Force Academy is a product of the aerospace age. Its curriculum is keyed to the needs and problems of the Air Force in these challenging times. The Air Force officer of today and tomorrow will face many demands upon his imagination, resources, and talents. To prepare the cadet for such diversified experiences, the Air Force Academy provides a broad, balanced education based upon the attainment of an accredited Bachelor of Science degree.

Academic course work is conducted from August through May during each of the four years as a cadet. The course of study is based on Air Force requirements and geared for flexibility to keep pace with the changing times. The latest curricular change reflects the increasing emphasis on space, incorporating space technology as an applied science taught by the nation's first undergraduate department of astronautics.

In keeping with its modern trends, the Air Force Academy was first among the service academies to adopt a curriculum enrichment program. This program encourages cadets to go as far and as fast as they can academically. They are given credit for previous college-level courses, may take courses at an accelerated rate, and add courses beyond the prescribed curriculum. Cadets who concentrate their enrichment courses may obtain a major in a subject area. Those who have the ability may take courses beyond the requirements for a major and accumulate credit toward a master's degree.

The curriculum is not an end within itself, but rather a foundation for future development in the career of an Air Force officer. It is based on the need to educate the cadet generally to become a professional officer, not to train him for a specific Air Force career field. Specialization is the responsibility of technical and professional schools after the cadet graduates from the Academy.

Eight years ago there was one automobile in town, now there are 30; there were three residences heated by furnaces, today there are about 30, and gas-lighted homes have increased in about the same proportion; there are 12 more business places now than eight years ago; and the annual Academy payroll has now reached $92,000.

If you can read the following paragraph without mistakes in 15 seconds, your diction is well above average and you should make a good radio announcer:

"I bought a batch of baking powder and baked a batch of biscuits. I brought a big basket of biscuits back to the bakery and baked a basket of big biscuits. Then I took the big basket of biscuits and the basket of big biscuits and mixed the big biscuits with the basket of biscuits that was next to the big basket and put a bunch of biscuits from the basket into a box. Then I took the box of mixed biscuits and I brought the basket of biscuits and the biscuit mixer and the biscuit basket and the box of mixed biscuits and the biscuit mixer back to the bakery and opened a can of sardines."

How a doughnut brought success to America's best-loved clown!

RICHARD BERNARD SKELTON, BORN, 1913, VINNENNES, INDIANA

Watch the "Red Skelton Show" on CBS-TV

HE WALKED ALONE that night through the streets of Montreal. He was lost in thought. And the thoughts weren't good.

Things were going from bad to worse for the husky redhead. His comedy act just wasn't doing well. Audiences were skimpy, and lukewarm. He'd have to move on. But where? And how? He was almost broke.

He saw a coffee stand and went in for a cup. As he sipped, he cast an eye down the counter. And there he saw a doughnut dunker! Clumsy, careless—but completely determined. The redhead watched—fascinated. "This could be it," he thought. And it was!

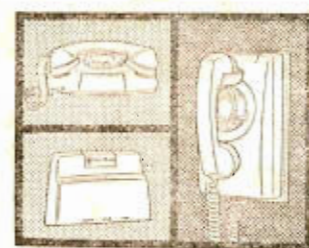

Red Skelton's genius for pantomime, his instinct for comic exaggeration, turned that evening's incident into his hilarious "doughnut dunker routine." He soon was booked into the New York bigtime. Then came radio and movies. And his greatest triumph, television.

Today, millions forget their troubles as they laugh at the antics of this gifted clown on TV. And this has been the goal of Red Skelton since his boyhood days in Vincennes. "We're all put on earth for a purpose, and mine is to make people laugh."

"The Red Skelton Show," or any other network TV show, is viewed here through the use of many Indiana Bell facilities. In fact, the first public demonstration of television was made by the Bell System back in 1927!

Today, many Bell System technical achievements are vital to television broadcasting: the coaxial cable, the coast-to-coast microwave radio relay system and the electronic transistor, for example!

And now—Telstar! A revolutionary advance which has proven world-wide telecasting is possible by means of space satellites. And the best is yet to come.

Camp For Girl Scouts Being Constructed

Northern Indiana Girl Scout Council, comprised of Marshall, St. Joseph, Starke and LaPorte Counties, will soon have their own established camp. The new camp, which is in the construction stage, is located northeast of LaPorte and six miles from Three Oaks, Mich. The camp, which will be used year-round for all Girl Scouts of this Council, is located on 156 acres and when finished, will accommodate 200 Girl Scout campers in 2-week sessions all summer long. A 3 1/2 acre lake has been dug and is now filling up to be ready for week-end campouts this year. The camp is named the Soni Springs Girl Scout Camp. Soni stands for "Scout of Northern Indiana."

The goal of having two units which will house 32 girls each for two-week sessions all summer long in 1965 is the hope of those who are connected with the Girl Scout movement. Soni Springs is open to a parents who have girls in Scouts and girls who want to join the Girl Scout movement. Girls who have reached a certain age may join the Brownies, Junior, Cadet or Senior Scouts. The new camp will allow more Girl Scouts the opportunity to learn more about camping, swimming, boating, canoeing, wildlife study and the ability to earn their badges and to show perfection in the different phases of Girl Scouting.

A map of the proposed Girl Scout Established Camp can now be seen in the window of the Spencer Plumbing and Heating firm, in downtown Culver. Those wishing to visit the camp may get directions from Larry Welsh, Route 2, Culver.

In the past the Girl Scout Council has been renting the Boy Scout Camp at Camp Tamarack near Jones, Mich. The camp could only be rented for two weeks which limited the number of girls attending the summer camping program. Soni Springs will eliminate that bottleneck in the Girl Scout program.

The construction of the camp is being financed from the sale of Girl Scout Cookies. The local Girl Scout Cookie Sale will be conducted Feb. 14 through Feb. 28, when orders will be taken for cookies and nuts. The local Girl Scouts will call a "four door" for orders during those dates. Help the girls to build their own Girl Scout Camp by placing your order with them when they call. Your help will give more girls the opportunity to enjoy a well instructed two weeks camping to their own camp.

Waterfowl Census Released By Conservation Dept.

Through the combined efforts of the divisions of Fish and Game and Enforcement, the Indiana Department of Conservation conducted its annual waterfowl census early in January.

In conducting the census, waterfowl experts evaluate weather, water and food conditions over the state and analyze unusual concentrations in specific areas. As a result of an unusually cold mid-December more birds were found to have moved farther south than normal, but by the first week in January and milder weather the ducks and geese had returned to their more normal environment.

The survey is conducted through the concentrated use of manpower in the field using airplanes and cars, but much of the work must still be done by men afoot. The appraisers are trained to accurately judge large numbers of wildlife under the most adverse conditions and almost at a glance.

The report indicates that this year's Mallard population in Indiana to be 59,251 and is the most numerous species. The Black duck numbered 7,192 and a variety of other species brought the total to 57,583. Of the 1,694 Canada Geese found in the state, Hovey Lake was home to 1500.

The survey group indicated that feed areas are good with adequate food available for the birds present at this time. In conducting the survey 4,633 miles of waterfowl habitat were viewed.

FARM DOGS VALUABLE

Farm dogs are valuable assets to the farming operation and should have the best possible care, says Dr. F. A. Hall, Purdue University extension veterinarian. If a dog is to become and remain an asset, it must be properly trained and kept healthy.

Training requires time, patience and understanding. A dog, like a person, learns for itself every day that it lives and works. It will watch the owner day after day and soon it will begin to help in several ways. During this time, patience is essential and can mean the difference between a poor, mediocre, or good assistant to its owner. An untrained, or poorly trained dog, has little value on a farm, and under most circumstances is a liability rather than an asset.

Dogs should be trained not to roam because a "tramp" can bring diseases home to his owner's family and livestock. They can be spreaders of TGE, leptospirosis, brucellosis, rabies, ringworm and other diseases of livestock and humans. Dr. Hall says that dogs which remain at home have little chance to carry and introduce disease.

A dog must be healthy to do good work. Table scraps alone are inadequate for the growth and maintenance of a working farm dog. Most of the commercially prepared dog feeds on the market are completely balanced rations. Sick dogs should be taken immediately to a veterinarian.

Home remedies advised by well-meaning friends and neighbors can result in the loss of a valuable farm hand. Veterinarians should be consulted about vaccinations, worming and diet. Every precaution should be taken to insure the usefulness of the most inexpensive labor on modern farms, Dr. Hall adds.

PREVENT FALLS

Falls account for nearly 30 per cent of all accidents to Indiana farm people and for 53 per cent of the accidents resulting in fractures. Yet many of the things that cause falls are so common that we come in close contact with them every day without recognizing them as hazards.

F. R. Willsey, Purdue University safety specialist, suggests that every family should set aside a specific time to check their surroundings for unsafe conditions and themselves for unsafe methods.

Stair steps should be exactly alike in any particular flight of stairs. A 7-inch riser and an 11-inch tread are considered best.

Handrails should be sturdy and well placed.

Stairways and landings should not be used for storage.

Weak or broken ladders and steps should be repaired.

Light switches should be conveniently placed and bulbs should be sufficiently bright to illuminate hazards.

Stumbling hazards should be searched for wherever they may occur.

On stairways, things should not be carried in the hand next to the handrail or in such a way as to obstruct vision.

Ladders should not be used unless the footing is firm.

Sufficient headroom should be available for safe passage through openings.

In some cases people simply need to learn to live safely with hazards that seem impractical to correct.

Let's Keep It A GOOD SOCIETY

We Americans are still, despite our problems, a very fortunate people.

We live well, on the whole. Better than any other nation, as a matter of fact. We're able to afford many conveniences and luxuries, and to take care of our health and educational needs.

This is so because we are a hard-working people, and have been blessed with the freedom to use our energy and imagination in making the most of our opportunities.

But listen to all the arguments made for federal aid to cover every conceivable situation, one might well get the impression of an America made up largely of the poor, sick and uneducated; the undernourished and the unemployed.

Certainly we have these problems. Most of them can best be dealt with by community or state action, and by individual action as well.

Encouraging the federal government to step into every difficulty could make us all, eventually, helpless dependents upon federal welfarism — in our jobs, our business, and in our personal lives.

It would be a strange kind of dependency, too. For it is we, the people, who supply the very funds — the tax revenues — that are being used to make us dependent!

IT FIGURES — Two small boys entered a grocery store in the Bartholomew County town of Hope. Strolling up to the candy counter one asked for 24 pieces of penny bubble gum. He handed the grocer a quarter and got a penny in change which he passed to his companion who then ordered one stick of the gum. Between them they got a quarter's worth of gum without paying the sales tax. The grocer said that as the boys were leaving one pointed to his head and said, "Brains."

Editor, CITIZEN:

"To drink or not to drink" is not the issue, nor is it a controversy between "wets" and "drys". The issue is, or was until the hearing on January 16, whether or not the taverns should be allowed to sell liquor by the drink to the general public of our town and "from miles around".

The people who think that it is discriminatory, inconsistent, and hypocritical to deny this permission to the taverns should ask the men who represent the people of Indiana in the State House why they passed laws which permit some stores to sell liquor by the bottle and private clubs to sell it by the drink without getting the approval of the Town Board.

Obviously it is the laws which discriminate or make a distinction. Our lawmakers knew that it would make a difference if public taverns could also bypass the Town Board, at least in towns with a population of less than 5,000.

The intention of the State Senators and Representatives was obviously to prevent such consumption of liquor in public taverns if the Town Board members, who are supposed to reflect the will of the people of the town, are opposed.

The major issue now is this: did the members of the previous Town Board reflect the will of the people when they passed Ordinance 177? If they thought they did, why did they pass it in apparent secrecy?

Even the people who would like to have the Ordinance remain in effect certainly cannot, as citizens of a democracy, condone the way in which it was passed. To accept this Ordinance on the grounds that they agree with what it proposes — without considering the questionable manner of its passing — is to set a precedent that could be highly dangerous and have serious results in the future.

Respectfully,
SAM H. ALLEN

In defense of the Culver-Union Township Council of Churches, I would like to state some facts.

The Township Council is an organization affiliated with the County, State, and National Councils of Churches. In our township, the following eight churches are represented: Burr Oak Church of God, Burr Oak E.U.B., Culver E.U.B., Culver Methodist, Grace United Church of Christ, Hibbard E.U.B., Maxinkuckee Methodist, and Mt. Hope Methodist. Each church is represented on the Council by its minister, the Sunday school superintendent, a representative of the women's organization, and two other members selected to represent the congregation. Each year, in addition to the regular meetings for its members, the Council promotes and directs seven community worship services: the Reformation service, World Community Day, the Thanksgiving service, World Day of Prayer, the Good Friday service, the Easter sunrise service, and the May Fellowship meeting. In addition the Council sponsors the Good Friday dinner, the Youth Banquet, and a series of breakfasts for young people during Lent. The purpose of the Council, as stated in the preamble of its constitution, is "to achieve more effectively, to set more clearly before the world our unity of aim, to attain a more complete cooperation among ourselves in matters of common interest, and to make manifest before the world that love of Christ which must characterize all Christian endeavor."

At the hearing on Jan. 16 not one of the speakers taking part in the remonstrance acted as an official representative of his or her church. It was not necessary for them to do so because I, as president of the Township Council of Churches, was selected as spokesman for all eight churches. At our regularly scheduled meeting on January 10, the motion to oppose the liquor license applications had been passed unanimously.

Mr. Ted Hayes, the representative of the State Alcoholic Beverage Commission on the Marshall County Alcoholic Beverage Board, stated that the petition favoring the license applications had a total of 66 signatures. The people present could see the dramatic contrast between the three pages containing those signatures and the stack we presented containing 485 signatures.

Since remonstrances, including petitions, are granted by law, obviously the will of the people is considered important. We have sponsored the remonstrance and taken legal action because of our concern, not only about the further availability of liquor, but also about integrity in local government. We believe that an elected body in a democracy must reflect the will of the people.

THE SHOES FIT—An Indianapolis youth, 17-year-old Bill Hoyt Jr., while vacationing with his parents in South Dakota, got a free pair of shoes and a job offer because of the size of his feet. Lowell Nussbaum, Indianapolis Star columnist, got the story through the Custer County Chronicle of Custer, S.D. The Hoyt family, according to the story, heard that a store in Custer had in stock a pair of 15 1/2 size shoes for which no buyer had been found and had offered them free to anyone who could wear them. Young Bill tried them on and they were his when they fit him perfectly. The job? It was a facetious offer from a Forest Service ranger to help stamp out forest fires.

Our Mightiest Hour

Rockets have a certain thrust — and no more. Nuclear bombs have a certain explosive force — and no more. Every powerful device on which man depends for military defense or scientific advance is limited in its energy.

But FAITH has no limits. It turns with trusting eyes to the Almighty, whose power is infinite, whose love is everlasting. It is constantly confident and courageous — because its resources cannot be exhausted.

In perilous times a great nation always finds its might in spiritual resources. And today, significantly, one of the essential elements of survival in which our stockpile dwarfs the Russians is FAITH. Khrushchev has no secret installation to match the thrust and force generated in the souls of our people by our hundreds of thousands of churches.

Think on these things as we worship together next Sunday morning . . . our mightiest hour!

DRIVER ATTITUDES FOR HIGHWAY SAFETY

Even if she doesn't do the driving, a wife and mother can increase her family's safety during an auto trip, says Mrs. Martha Holst, Purdue University extension supervisor.

The physical and emotional condition in which drivers leave their homes may determine whether they will be able to avert traffic accidents, she points out.

Homemakers who will be traveling by car with their families should realize the importance of driver attitudes. Emotional factors are one of the major reasons for the carelessness that causes most accidents. The driver who becomes excited, frustrated, impatient, angry and inconsiderate is accident-prone.

Help insure a safe trip by making it a happy trip, suggests Mrs. Holst, representative of the Indiana Farm Safety Council. Try to see that the family begins and continues the drive in a cheerful frame of mind. Arrange to leave in ample time so there will be no temptation to speed. Road conditions may demand even lower speeds than usual.

Plan a good night's sleep before the trip so there will be less danger of the driver's becoming drowsy on the road.

Drivers with a healthy attitude will be less apt to make such errors as passing on hills and curves, following too closely behind other vehicles, disregarding stop signs and failing to slow down at intersections.

DELAYED ACTION — When a sow on the Clinton County farm of Bernard Stowers gave birth to four pigs it appeared that would be the litter. But five days later the sow made a nest and began having pigs again. This time the litter contained 13 pigs. Three of the first litter died but ten of the second lived. A veterinarian, Dr. Rollo Greer, told The Sheridan News that such an occurrence is very unusual and was more unusual because so many of the second litter survived.

Babson Urges Support For Independent Co's.

Small Businesses Grow Into Giants

Babson Park, Mass. — When you are looking for a share in a good business venture, don't bypass the possibilities among the "independent" firms. In my years of counseling, I have many times pointed out that there are more hidden opportunities for sound profits among independents than is generally recognized.

Roger W. Babson

Big Business vs. Independents
I believe that the future of our country depends to a considerable extent on "encouragement of the independents in all lines of endeavor. Some investors buy only "blue chip" stocks, or perhaps just those in the Dow-Jones Industrial group. But, in a sense, such investors are "cutting their own throats" by contributing only to the already established concerns.

In fact, it is to the interest of our system of democratic free enterprise to support smaller companies, — for a number of valid reasons. For one thing, competition of a healthy sort can be fostered only in a climate where the independent is not overwhelmed and blotted out by the giants. During the birth of the electronics industry, many firms now leaders in our nation first saw the light of day in somebody's garage or in a make-shift laboratory in somebody's attic.

Many Improvements From Small Companies

An amazing number of products now known throughout the world were the brainchildren, originally, of small independents. Here are a few items which were invented and first marketed by such establishments: Penicillin, colored motion pictures, electric light bulbs, automobiles, long-playing records, instant coffee, fountain pens, frozen foods, zippers, toasters, hearing aids, vacuum cleaners, irons, Kodak — and Polaroid — cameras, electric heating pads, radios, flashlights, paper towels, and a great galaxy of household appliances. Then, in most instances, the big companies came along and swallowed them up, along with their markets.

It is still tough sledding for the small pioneers. For instance, magazine, radio, and TV advertising rates are the same for the smalls as they are for the giants. It is easy to see how this handicaps the independents in their efforts to raise capital and to sell their names and products. There is no question, either, but that bigness creates power and a kind of bureaucracy that breed a difficult climate for the smalls to weather.

A Good Place To Invest

It is always worth while, when you have funds to place, to look into the prospects for some of your local enterprises, such as banks and chain stores. When considering income, safety, and growth possibilities, I can think of few better opportunities than the telephone company that serves your locality. For years I have recommended to readers that they invest in their local telephone company, whether it be a Bell or an independent.

If you are not served by a Bell or independent unit, you can always buy into the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, which supplies the whole country — including Bell and the independents — with long-distance coverage. The telephone industry has been one of the fastest-growing of them all, and I expect still further expansion in this field as our population fans out. Also, innovations that mean more efficient service, more time savings, and more convenience will be constantly developed over coming years.

A Final Word For Independents

It should be kept in mind that while the big Bell companies serve most of the large cities, the independent phone companies serve nearly twice as many individual communities. Most of these firms are locally owned and contribute directly to economic welfare of their areas. They have a built-in monopoly for their districts which almost no other industries possess. For the reasons given above, my investment sense has always drawn me toward the independents. But be careful . . . investigate before you take any action!

Do not forget Sunday School services each Sunday at 10 a.m. Attendance last Sunday was 59.

Mrs. Paul R. Winn returned home Thursday after undergoing surgery at Community Hospital in Indianapolis and spending a few days convalescing in the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Houglund.

BUSY BEES — From some source Mary "Bunch" Francis, The Westville Indicator's columnist, gathered some statistics on how much work bees do to produce a single pound of clover honey. She says: "To make a pound of clover honey, bees must take the nectar from 62,000 clover blossoms, and to do this requires 2,750,000 visits to the blossoms." The columnist then added this observation: "When you think how far these bees sometimes have to fly in search of clover fields you get some idea of how hard they work."

"Here I've been roasting over a hot stove," cried Bridget to Mike upon his return from work. "While you've been passing the day in a nice cool sewer."

Academy Sports

Coach Colin Stetson's wrestling team added a new laurel to its record Saturday when it won its own Culver Military Academy invitational tournament edging out New Haven and Penn high schools, and Howe Military School.

The invitational was the first of its kind at the Academy and ended up in a relatively close battle between the cadet and New Haven wrestling teams. The Eagles won out with 105 points, New Haven was second with 91, Penn was third with 66, and Howe finished last with 49 points.

Individual championships were won by several of Culver's top wrestlers, but the tournament ended up in unusual defeats for at least two cadets, Dave Miller and Chris Hinkle. Miller was pinned for the first time in three years and Hinkle, a heavyweight wrestler for the first time this year, was pinned by a man he defeated earlier this year. The pin snapped Hinkle's record of seven straight victories.

Culver wrestlers who won championships — were Mike Schrage, 114 pounds; Wendell Jacobs, 129 pounds; Mike Thrower, 156 pounds; and Andy Carson, 167 pounds. Ten Academy wrestlers reached the tournament finals.

In other sports, the Academy swimming team won its eighth meet in 10 starts, convincingly whipping Bloomington University High School, 65-30, in the Indiana University pool. Meanwhile, the varsity basketball team dropped its ninth defeat in 11 starts, 90-76, at Bloomington University High School. In a four-team freshman tournament conducted at the Academy, Culver's cadet frosh squad won a 59-51 decision over Monterey in the finals.

This weekend the basketball team goes to South Bend St. Joseph's for an 8 p.m. game Friday night and is host to Argos High School in a 6:15 p.m. game Saturday.

ITSY BITSY — Small boys and politicians both are inclined to use the word "little" says Richard Mayer Jr., The North Vernon Sun editor. Says Mayer: "The boy does it when he goes into the kitchen to cut himself a 'little' piece of cake. The politician does it when he talks about the need for a 'little' increase in taxes."

Conservation Dept. Urges Early Boat Registration

The Enforcement Division of the Indiana Department of Conservation announced recently that 1964 boat registrations are now being accepted in the central office in Indianapolis.

The three-year three-dollar registration is a requirement of operating a boat on Indiana lakes and waterways and water-recreation enthusiasts should register their craft early to avoid delays most prevalent during the spring and summer rush season.

Applications for registration can be picked up at most boat dealers, marinas, liveries or from any Conservation Officer. They should be completed in detail and sent with a check or money order for three-dollars to: Indiana Dept. of Conservation

Room 605
 State Office Building
 Indianapolis, Indiana

Please do not send stamps or cash and allow a week for processing. As applications are received, an acknowledgement receipt is sent by return mail that will allow you to operate a boat until your registration arrives, or for 21 days, whichever comes first.

A few moments spent on your favorite sport now could save you several days when you want your registration the most. Take advantage of the season and get your application for boat registration in early.
