CULVER, INDIANA, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 12, 1964

TEN CENTS

LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY

... It Must Be THE LAKE WATER

By Bob Kyle

Ring the bells and call the people,
Shout the truth
from every steeple.

WITH THAT NOTE Lake Water is being resumed as a public service to the columns of The Citizen after a lapse of several years.

Lake Water is offering to write of the happenings about Culver, to report the meetings of four local taxing units which are becoming more complex yearly — the Town Trustees and third Monday night meetings, the Culver Community Schools corporation the first Monday of each month, the Culver-Union Township Library Board and the Township Trustee and board of advisors which meet periodically.

The life of a small community depends on the information given its citizens, which can only be achieved through the local newspaper. Weekly newspapers have come on hard times due to the lack of local advertising support, and in this vicinity alone there are several weekly newspapers that can be bought because they are no longer profitable and the owner must concentrate on job printing instead of news for a livelihood. Consequently few of them any longer serve a civic function.

There are a few exceptions: Ned Gorrell's Pulaski County Journal (Winamac), the newest weekly in Indiana and Lucius Baeb's revival of the rip-roaring Virginia City (Nev.) Territorial Enterprise, where Mark Twain once worked, and a few others are filling great public needs. Most of the others are pretty awful.

So henceforth this column will go forward weekly whenever possible, reporting the news objectively and fairly.

If you have any news fire it in. We're shunning crusades, petty quarrels, stuffed-shirtism and big-shottery. We'll just print and report the news for your edification.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT of Lake White of Covington, that he will be the sixth candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor has quite a significance here. His wife was Margaret Zechiel, daughter of Mrs. Jerome Zechiel, Sr., Lake Shore Drive. Immediately some of the old-fashioned Hoosier politicians wanted to know, "Who is Lake White?" He is a most able lawyer as persons hereabouts who know him know; he was an I.U. student-buddy of Governor Welsh, and he has added more new life to Indiana education than anyone in our times, as a member of the State Commission on General Education. The politicians will find out soon enough that Lake White carries quite a wallop.

"A Folk and Jazz Wing Ding" To Be Held At Eppley Auditorium

NINA SIMONE

Culver Military Academy will join with the Ford Motor Company in sponsoring a concert, "A Folk and Jazz Wing Ding," to be held in the Eugene C. Eppley Auditorium at 8:15 p.m. Friday, Feb. 21.

Featured performers will be Nina Simone and her quartet and Herbie Mann and his Afro-Cuban quintet.

This concert is one of a series of performances being made at colleges throughout the nation as a presentation of the "Ford Caravan of Music." Also featured on the program at Culver will be Ron Eliran, a young Israeli singer who has developed into a major satirist, and the Moonshiners, three young college men who comprise a new singing group in the folk field.

Miss Simone, well-known vocalist and pianist, first came into the public eye in 1959. A record album, "The Amazing World of Nina Simone" led to appearances in Carnegie Hall, the Hollywood Bowl, and on television, where she appeared most recently in the network show "Hootenanny." She has recorded more than a dozen albums since 1959 and is a regular performer at folk festivals and leading night clubs.

Herbie Mann, a leading modern jazz flutist, was chosen by the State Department to tour Africa as part of the Cultural Exchange Program. His 17-week tour of 15 African nations was regarded as a success. In 1961 while on a South American tour, Mann listened to young Brazilian composers who were writing and playing the Bossa Nova. Much of the music from these trips has been incorporated into the repertoire of Mann and his quintet. He has recorded more than 25 albums.

As an additional feature of the concert, 50 record albums will be given away as door prizes. Tickets are on sale at the Academy and area Ford dealers.

Culver Firemen Make Two Runs And One Rescue

The Culver Fire Department was called to the home of Carl Vergin, located on Vergin Road north of Culver, Wednesday, Feb. 5, about 2:25 p.m. to extinguish a grass fire. The burning grass was endangering the homestead. No damage was done.

Culver firemen made another run Thursday, Feb. 6, at noon, to the Academy shore to rescue a large black dog from the icy waters of the lake. The dog, a household pet of Tony Leon, of the Academy Public Relations staff, fell into the open water and could not get out. Firemen launched the rescue boat and pulled the nearly exhausted dog from the water. After emergency treatment at the city pump house, the dog appeared no worse off from his icy bath. He had been in the water nearly an hour when rescued.

Monday, Feb. 10, at 1:10 p.m. Culver firemen were again called out for a grass fire. A field on the Art Gentry farm north of State Road 10 and west of Culver was on fire. No damage was done.

Adm. W. C. Mott To Speak At C.M.A. Friday

Rear Admiral William C. Mott, an aide to two presidents and currently judge advocate general of the U. S. Navy, will speak on the subject "The Making of Presidential Decisions," before students at Culver Military Academy at 10:10 a.m., Friday, Feb. 14.

Admiral Mott, aide to Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman, will speak in the Eugene C. Eppley Auditorium. There is no admission charge and the public is invited to attend.

Nominated by President Dwight D. Eisenhower for the position of judge advocate general of the Navy, Admiral Mott was confirmed by the Senate in August, 1960, and is completing a four-year term. In addition to serving as aide to two presidents, he was also aide to two chairmen of the joint chiefs of staff (Radford and Twining). He has represented the U. S. at many conferences abroad and has first-hand experience in negotiating with the Communists.

After several years of private practice of law, he returned to the Navy during World War II and participated in such combat operations as the Marianas, Iwo Jima, and Okinawa. He has been decorated for action in combat including the Legion of Merit for producing and supervising two major amphibious operations at Iwo Jima and Okinawa.

"It's Girl Scout Cookie Time"

Girl Scouts of the Northern Indiana Girl Scout Council are once again ready to say "It's Girl Scout Cookie Time". These words have become almost a slogan for Girl Scouts in the community at this time of year according to Mrs. Latham Lawson, Culver's Neighborhood Cookies Chairman.

This once a year area wide sale of good cookies by the Girl Scouts is for a very worthwhile project; namely the camping program. Profit earned supports the camping program in three ways: (1) for the maintenance and improvements of our camps — day, established and troop camping; (2) for development of our recently purchased resident campsites; (3) for camp operating expenses.

Mrs. Lawson, announced that this year's sale will be an Advanced Order Sale. Barry's cookies will be sold in five varieties: Four Flavor Sandwich Creams, Chocolate and Vanilla Creams, Scout-tos, Mints, and Savannahs. The Girl Scouts will be taking orders from Feb. 14 to 24. They will contact their family, friends and neighbors.

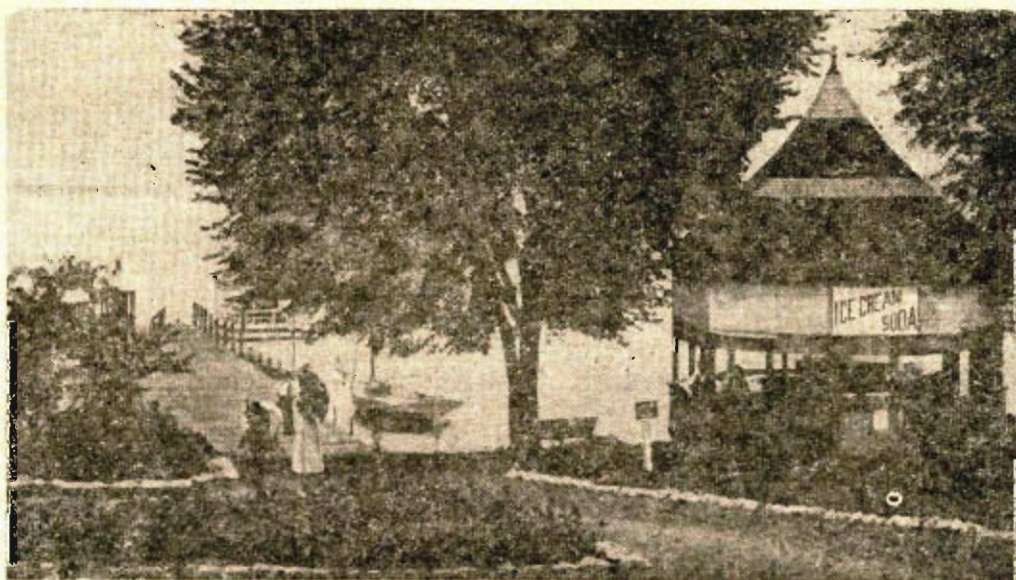

Each girl selling cookies will not only help the camping program with the 16 cents per box profit, but will earn two cents for her troop's treasury.

Do You Remember The "Roundhouse" In The Park?

Pictured above is the Depot Pier and the old "Roundhouse," at the Vandalla Park, now the Culver Town Park, as it appeared many years ago. The "Roundhouse," where ice cream, soda, and candy were sold, was always a popular spot with the youngsters as many of us can remember.

Babson Forecasts Seventy-Five Years Hence

Fantastic Changes Will Be Made

Babson Park, Mass. — I have a friend in Lake Wales, Florida, Mrs. William Jones, who specializes in authentic antiques. Some time ago she gave me a book, which I have just finished looking over. It is entitled "The History of Mankind," and was printed many, many years ago before the time of photography.

How Our Ancestors Lived Years Ago

Roger W. Babson

The book first impressed me with the great courage of the people of long ago days, when very few of the commodities which we think important today. The skins of animals provided clothing to keep people warm day and night. They cut down their own nearby trees to provide heat. Their only need was for food; and the essentials for producing food are seed to grow it and offspring to continue the harvesting of it . . . both of which the people provided.

Their idea of the function of government was to educate and to protect people from sickness. Hospitals were almost non-existent, and people sent to one were treated as if they were in a house of correction. As time went on, families gradually started to unite into groups, thus marking perhaps the beginnings of the United Nations Organization, which I feel sure is here to stay.

Investing Seventy-Five Years Hence

This book also suggests how the sun, the moon, and the stars were sufficient to give free light, heat, and someday perhaps free power to everybody. As I go out at night and look at the heavens I am impressed with the fact that the sun is today the source of everything, including food; but that some day the moon and the stars will likewise play a great role in the lives of those on this planet. This is why so many are intelligently interested in the study of space. We surely will reach the moon before seventy-five years of exploration.

Basing the future on the past, I should say that within seventy-five years there may be no stock exchange, and even "over the counter" trading may be forbidden. I hope I am wrong; but I feel that almost everyone may be working for the government under some sort of socialistic system. This would not provide opportunity for investment, other than in the form of buildings. These would be primarily for the education and health of the people. It is quite likely that employment will come from three sources: (1) government, requiring personnel to run it; (2) education, calling for teachers and doctors; and (3) constructive, creating demand for those who have a trade.

Value Of Municipal Bonds

How will these buildings be financed? My guess today would be that the community would issue so-called "municipal bonds" to provide the funds necessary to build schools, hospitals, and other community facilities. These bonds would be sold to the people; they would pay a very low interest rate; and would be perfectly safe. They would be redeemed gradually through taxation. Whether we are living under socialism or communism or some other "ism," taxes will be unavoidable.

In short, municipal bonds may be the safest investment even today. I do not mean that there are not other safe investments, but I should place municipal bonds used for buildings as the most acceptable. Toll road bonds may be all right for a reasonable time into the future, but ultimately all highways will be free of tolls.

What About Religion?

This book shows clearly that religion in many of its primitive forms was a kind of "magic." There gradually followed the rise of many different denominations. Along the way — between the "quackery" with which it started and the several hundred church denominations we have acquired today — there developed what is called "theology." Let me make it clear that I believe in one God and one Church; but it is the family and home which must establish this faith — it cannot be left to legislation or church organization. Let me add, in closing, that I feel the future must depend also on courage and self-control such as marked the pioneers of old. We do not have to fight wild men for our very existence; we do have other things which take courage. — God will help us to succeed.

Mrs. Mario Jones and Miss Edna Henning were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Starr on Sunday. Afternoon callers were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Starr — sons of Bremen, and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis D. Starr and children of Lowell, Ind.

Carly Overmyer was a Sunday dinner guest of his grandmother, Mrs. Trula McKee.

Faculty Members of the Culver Military Academy Faculty will perform with the Recording Trust Fund Quartet in an "Evening of Chamber Music" to which the public is invited free of charge on Thursday, Feb. 13. The 8 p.m. concert is in the Music and Art Building at the Academy. Edward Payson (left) is a regular member of the quartet, while Martin Uebel and Milford Myhre will supplement the group for the Thursday concert here.

Librarian Attends Indiana Film Circuit Meeting

Mrs. Norman Scruggs, Culver librarian, and Scott Geiselman of the audio-visual department of the local Library, attended the Indiana Film Circuit meeting held at the Union Building at the Indiana University Medical Center in Indianapolis on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Feb. 6, 7, and 8.

Ed Hayward, head librarian of Hammond, is the 1964 president of the Indiana Film Circuit which has two meetings each year, one at the State Convention which is a business meeting to discuss problems and accept new members, and the February business meeting which includes a two-hour workshop and viewing of films for purchase.

Each film viewed is run for a length of five minutes or more with each library represented allowed one vote as to first, second, or third purchase. Films chosen are suitable for classrooms of all ages and subjects, clubs and local organizations, church meetings, and use in the home.

This particular selection of films showed an increased interest in works of art and a desire to learn more of foreign countries. From the 155 films available 57 were chosen for purchase, with six replacements of worn-out films. Three alternates were also selected. The films range in price from $75 to $300 with the less expensive ones being in black and white and the costlier films in color. Three of the films are to be on a free loan basis.

Mr. Geiselman, who attended the meeting with Mrs. Scruggs, helped with the movie projectors. Culver has become a pioneer in the audio-visual field in library work as the local library was the first in Indiana to establish student employment in connection with local schools. This work was previously done by the librarian and now with student help the librarian has more time for other duties. Since this was reported at the 1963 meeting other cities have been making use of this plan. Some of the cities now using this plan, and finding it very satisfactory, are Logansport, South Bend, Kokomo, and Muncie.

The Culver Library Board members, Mrs. Scruggs, and Mr. Geiselman are presently selecting a new movie projector and a meeting will be held within the next ten days to make the selection after a demonstration of new projectors.

Maxinkuckee Fish And Game Club Elects Officers

The Maxinkuckee Fish and Game Club met last Wednesday evening, Feb. 5, at the Ralph Neidlinger Club House on State Road 17 and held their annual election of officers. About 25 members attended.

Those elected to serve during 1964 were: George Depoy, as president; Ralph Neidlinger, vice president; Dave Osborn, secretary-treasurer; Frank Sperry and Ted Strang, board of directors; and Wilbur Geiselman as delegate and Carl Foust as alternate delegate to the County I.C.C.I. Council.

During the business session, members voted to add an amendment to the Constitution, which, when passed at the next monthly meeting, March 4, will change the quorum necessary to be present in order to legally conduct the club's business. Included also in the motion was the number of members present to legally conduct business when special meetings are called for emergency action.

The 1964 membership drive is being conducted by the Club and from reports of the membership committee new interest is being shown in the Club's activities. Taken under advisement was the proposal that conservation clubs of Marshall County combine together in an effort to build a permanent structure at the County 4-H Fairgrounds in Argos to be used for conservation displays during the Fair.

William C. Oberlin, a former resident of Culver and a DePauw University junior, will make an on-the-spot study of the U.S. Government during the next four months as a participant in DePauw's Washington Semester Plan.

The off-campus semester is a series of additional credit-earning seminars and individual projects in which students analyze government at close range.

The seminars include field trips and consultation with officials as well as evaluation sessions led by instructors from the American University, where he will be in residence while in the District of Columbia.

Oberlin is one of six DePauw juniors selected for this program, and is also the recipient of the "Angel Flight" Scholarship awarded annually to the "Most Outstanding Third Year AFROTC Student" at DePauw.

The son of William W. and Rose-Marie Oberlin, he attended the grade and junior high schools of Culver and was graduated from Culver Military Academy in 1961. An affiliate of Sigma Nu fraternity, he also is a member of the professional SDX and ADS societies.

Mrs. Charles N. Cowen, 425 College Avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Ben W. Oberlin, 850 West Shore Drive, are resident grandparents of Bill, who is preparing for a career in Law and Political Science.

Seniors Receive Band Sweaters

By Bonnie Saft

On Friday, Jan. 21, the students of the upper six grades at C.H.S. were called to the gym by three short bells for a combined special school convocation and pep session. Among those students who were to be honored were the members of the Senior Class who are members of the Senior Band.

The long awaited sweaters were presented to each student individually by the band director, Harry Fouts. Those receiving sweaters were: Lucy Osborn, Ned Davis, Beverly Barshes, Carole Barton, Janet Beck, Martha McAllister, Sharon Norris, Ann Wagoner, and Greg Yapp.

Lucy Osborn, who started playing her flute in the 7th grade, has been a member of the Senior Band for three years and has first chair in her section. Ned Davis, also a first chair holder, started on his cornet eight years ago and has been in Senior Band all four years of high school. Beverly Barshes, Carole Barton, Janet Beck, Martha McAllister, and Sharon Norris, all from the clarinet section, also received their band sweaters. Beverly has been playing for eight years and this year she is head drum major. Carole has been a member of the band for three years. Janet started in the 5th grade and has continued to complete her Senior year in band. Another majorette with the band is Martha. Playing the clarinet since the 5th grade she received her well deserved sweater, too. Sharon, who now has first chair in the clarinet section, has played for eight years also.

Ann Wagoner, the only female member of the trombone section and holder of the first chair of that section, has, like most of her fellow classmates, played since the fifth grade. The last student recognized was Greg Yapp who played a sousaphone in the band for three years.

Mr. Miller then asked Vicki Lyons to come before the student body. Vicki was recognized as the Betty Crocker's Homemaker Award recipient from C.H.S. Vicki, who has been taking home economics for the last three years, received a letter and pin from Betty Crocker. Each year this award is given to a member of the Senior Class who is taking home economics.

and LUCY OSBORN

Mr. Miller also had the honor of recognizing Lucy Osborn and Betty Ricciardi who have qualified and been selected to take a scholarship test given by the National Honor Society.

CATHY CARROTHERS and
MARY ANN PAUL
To Attend Library Workshop

In June, Cathy Carrothers and Mary Ann Paul will attend the student library workshop to be held on the campus of Indiana University. These girls will have their expenses of room and board paid for by the town library.

Before the pep session was under way, a member of the varsity basketball team was recognized. Sam Lowry was recognized for being one of the top four boys in the state of Indiana, 3rd Congressional District, considered for the United States Military Academy at West Point, New York.

Our congratulations are extended to all these honored students.

Linda Shock: Look out, New York here I come!

John Milner: I wouldn't if I were you.

Gregg Anderson: I'd say my thoughts are worth more than a penny.

Lynn Piccuch: I'd know better than to accept.

Larry Garbison: Look out Bass Lake, here I come!

Phillip Richardson: My thoughts are too good to buy.

Diary Of A Ghost!!!!

One spooky evening in February, the Apparition of Airport Road was discovered by and (the names have been withheld to protect the innocent). Suddenly the Airport Road became a popular spot, not for the conventional reasons, but for a new sport — ghost-hunting!

One of our first groups of explorers ventured to the haunted area, Tuesday, Feb. 4. These brave and daring young men were very brave and daring until they heard a scream.

"Did you hear that?"

"Yeah, did you?"

"Yeah, let's get out of here!"

It didn't take them long to view the situation, discuss the pros and cons, take a vote, and depart, rather rapidly, one might say!

Our second group of adventurers who dared to defy the unknown consisted of the cast of the senior play. Other than members of the cast knocking on windows of each other's cars, screaming, and honking, all was quiet.

It seems that on the next evening some of the fearless youths had a bit of difficulty. One managed to get completely stuck. The others took the hint and parked their cars at the entrance. Then they came ghost-hunting on foot, a much more risky sport.

Some sport-loving ghost-hunters beat them to the draw though. Armed with chains to rattle, white sheets for disguises, and a good scream, a few boys came to have some fun. Needless to say, there were a few thoroughly frightened kids who made a hurried departure on hearing these talented noise-makers. Everybody got into the act, including the police who came to break up the "party."

In conclusion, remember the comment: "The goblins'll get ya' if you don't watch out!" ... and if the goblins don't somebody else will!

Senior Play Approaches

By Janet Branaman

The big night is fast approaching for the seniors who are fervently rehearsing their play. They would like to extend a hearty invitation to the Culver community for their production of "Clemantine." The performance is scheduled for Saturday night, Feb. 15, at 8 p.m. in the Culver Community Building. Forget your troubles, come to the gym, and enjoy a very interesting performance.

The seniors are also starting to make plans for their trip to Washington, D.C., and New York City. Excitement is mounting fast as the seniors patiently wait for the 38 remaining days to pass.

The junior class has been discussing possibilities for a prom theme. As of last Friday, no themes have been chosen, but the juniors are doing their best to select the "best theme ever."

The sophomore class is very proud of the profits made on the movie that they sponsored. They have also been selling fudge every other Friday, alternating with the freshmen.

Although the freshmen have no other projects, they have been doing very well on their fudge sales. They have been studying extra hard these past three weeks, as have all other classes, in hopes of starting out the new semester on the right foot — by getting better grades.

COUNTY NOMENCLATURE

The name of the Delaware tribe of Indians, which had occupied much of the territory, was given to Delaware County when it was organized in 1827. The county seat, Muncie, was named for Chief Muncie of the Delaware tribe. It was originally called Muncietown.

Just because it's nice weather outside is no reason to get spring fever! It seems as though everyone at ole CHS has been feeling pretty chipper this last week. There's even a little man flying around with bows and arrows. Jim Roswell and Suzi Overmyer are hitting it off quite nicely. . . and the Junior Dance. . . Patti McCombs and Jane Ives were quite anxious to dance with Dave Lemar. Gee, I wonder. . .

If anyone sees Paul White walking around pulling up his pants legs, think nothing of it. He's only trying to show off his sexy shaved leg. WOW!

. . . B-A-S-K-E-T-S. Baskets! Baskets! Yes, sirrr CRASH! Yes, friends, cheerleading is a hazardous pastime — especially for Kathy Easterday. She was energetically leading a pep yell and her enthusiasm got her to jumping up and down — and she broke the chair she was standing on. Please, girls, let's stay off the chairs. They do cost money you know.

Attention! Linda Shock is now the proud owner of 18 happy (?) birthdays. She's very excited because she can now apply to her local draft board!

Yes, sirr! Culver High sure is proud of its basketball team! The boys are now sporting a flashy 14-2 record with the latest victory over New Paris. We are really proud of you guys. You played a real great game and kept "Humpty Dumpty" happily — and safely on his wall. We loyal fans think your absolutely "GRRRRRRRRreat!!!"

Gee, Ned — Hey, Wanda — those are really cool shirts you have. Green & Black! Gee, I wish I had a shirt like that — CRASH! BANG! THUD! I'm sorry Wanda, I didn't mean it that way.

Hey, Bob C., who scratched you? . . . A dog? . . . AW come on now Bob. You must have a pretty big dog there. Not everybody's dog can scratch somebody's face!

While we're on the subject of dogs, if anyone would like to make a home for a cute puppy, please see Lonnie Darocsi.

What's that thing? up there on the flagpole?! Oh, it's only THE PRESIDENT of the Flagpole Sitters Society. January 29th was Flagpole Sitters Day. If anyone would like to join please see Wanda — WATCH OUT! Shock, she'll be in the local hospital. (She just fell off her perch!)

Our Guidance Counselor

By Susan Helber

Quite a few problems arise in our school during the course of a school year. Mr. Miller's job is to help students solve their problems and no student should hesitate to seek his help.

The files in his office contain everyone's records, including the I.Q. tests we've taken every three years. By comparing our grades with our I.Q. Mr. Miller can tell us whether we're working to the extent of our capabilities or not. If we're not, something is wrong and he proceeds to find the conflict.

Possibly a student's problem is a teacher-student conflict, emotional problem, or problem at home. Conferences held with the student, teacher, and parents are a start to clearing things up. Teachers also talk to Mr. Miller when they have difficulty understanding a student.

His main task is to encourage students to help themselves and arrive at their own solution to problems. He guides everyone differently. No two personalities are alike, therefore, it's not possible to have cut and dried answers of personal difficulties. "We could be wrong," he states. This is why it is best to guide the student towards arriving at his own solution.

The shelves in Mr. Miller's office contain books on teenage problems, vocational guides, and pamphlets on almost any college. He'll gladly loan you an occupational guidance booklet to help you plan your future.

You'll find on his desk the results of the Interest Inventory Test recently taken by the freshmen class. He is busy ordering pins for the awards day in the spring. Lying there also are two scholarships to be awarded and a new student's record to file. His work isn't done when the bell rings. He has a lot of work to do before you can see the top of his desk.

ART NEWS

By Cheryl Harmon

The art department is currently involved with several art mediums.

The seventh and eighth grades are approaching the problem of color and perspective, while the high school classes are directing their talents in water color and oil painting. Others are still working with ceramics.

The water colors used are tempera and regular water colors from tubes, which are being used on stretched water color paper mounted on frames. The first lesson is color wash, then advancing to wet brush and dry brush techniques.

Chalk drawings and the development of perspective drawings will soon be displayed in the school.

We shall have no better conditions in the future if we are satisfied with all those which we have at present.

GRADE SCHOOL NEWS

By Darlene Taylor and Sheila Fisher

First Grade — Mrs. McLane. We were sorry to lose Greg Heise this week as he left Friday for Illinois. February birthdays are: Gloria Garbison, Bruce Osborn and John Salyer.

Second Grade — Mrs. Allen. Brent Lindvall was eight on Feb. 8. Richard Cole had a birthday on Feb. 9. We have a display of various grain seeds now, and we have also been studying things from which plants start.

Miss Page: Wayne Yeazel was eight years old on Jan. 31. Georgia Thompson has moved to South Bend, and Coleen Hallinan's family has decided to stay in Arizona. Due to these losses, we now have 29 students in our room. Some of the boys in our room are now old enough to join cub scouts. We will read about all kinds of airplanes in our next reading unit. We have just finished stories about "All Around the City." In arithmetic we have all said our easy addition combinations. Several students have said the easy subtraction combinations. Wayne Yeazel is now recuperating from a tonsillectomy.

Third Grade — Mrs. Carter. We are discussing articles about the great men of our country whose birthdays come in February. We are going to draw scenes of Lincoln's boyhood Thursday. In the spellbound Leslie Prouty and Sylvia Williams tied.

We are ready to start adding three figure numbers. Several children have made book reports.

Third grade — Miss Henning. Paul Bennett had a birthday party last Friday, Jan. 31, and he was nine years old. He brought ice cream bars, capenakes, and fudge for us. Jim Schlach also had a birthday Jan. 29 and for his treat he brought each of us a candy bar. We are going to decorate paper sacks for Valentine's Day, and each person will be able to put Valentines in his friend's sack.

Fourth grade — Mrs. Keller. Our perfect spellers for this six weeks are Denise Crosley, Pamela Hartz, Billy Herrmann, Martin Napierkowski, and Douglas George. Winners in the spelling match were Susan Napier, Tim Overmyer, Amy Riestler, Jack Walters, Pamela Hartz, Denise Crosley, and William Herrmann. We have all learned our 6's. We walked an "arithmetic tightrope" while learning our 6's. Some pupils said them in 14 seconds. In health, we have started a contest to see who can have the nicest fingernails by spring vacation. Of our 27 pupils, 29 have chewed or broken nails.

We have a new girl in our room by the name of Josephine Richardson from Ohio. We are glad to welcome her to our room. In social studies we are divided into five groups. Each group is making a large picture of the Peru Indians. These pictures show the Indians' way of living.

Mr. Horban: Carol Dehne, Jill Wallstead, and Jane Harrison were the first to pass the good handwriting test and get their names on the honor roll. Our class received one new student by the name of Hene Richardson.

Student Teacher Interviewed

By Martha McAllister

As you have undoubtedly noticed, there has been a new face wandering the halls of C.H.S. lately. This mystery guest is 5'9", has dark brown hair and eyes, dark brown too! He is a student teacher of social geography, U.S. History, and Economics. In case you haven't guessed, he goes by the name of Hal Menser. Oct. 15, 1942, the world faced a crisis, for in Argos, Ind., on this day, Mr. Menser was born!! A few years later, he was joined by two sisters who are now 18 and 20.

When Mr. Menser was old enough, he attended grade school and high school at Tippecanoe where, in high school, he was a member of the varsity basketball team for four years. Our hero must have been quite a star in his youth for he was selected for the all-county and all-sectional teams for two years. When asked what his favorite subjects were in high school, his first reply was — you guessed it — girls!! We're glad to see he's normal! But seriously he did enjoy social studies more than his other subjects.

Manchester College, in North Manchester, was the place Mr. Menser chose to continue his education. He is now a senior and will be graduated in June.

To get an inside view of Mr. Menser's personality, he was asked several questions concerning his favorites, hobbies, and pet peeves. Immediately he replied that his favorite food is T-Bone steak! His hobbies are hunting, fishing, and most sports in general. Mr. Menser's favorite song is "Theme from a Summer Place" but he enjoys all kinds of music, especially popular, and he likes to dance! When asked about his pet peeves, he had to concentrate for a while. He finally replied that he doesn't get aggravated easily however he has two small peeves. Kids that have new cars and tear them apart, and people with no sense of humor or too much sense of humor. On the whole, he seems to be very congenial and easy to get along with.

As for a few of his personal opinions, he was asked if he felt a teenager should own his own automobile in high school to which he replied, "Yea, if they are able to provide for all the expenses." Although he did go steady in high school, he feels now that it is unwise.

Mr. Menser thinks very highly of C.H.S. He stated that it is one of the finest high schools a teacher could ask for and that the faculty is excellent. The co-operation between students and faculty is also very commendable.

In closing, we would like to extend a warm welcome to Mr. Menser with hopes that he will be here for a long time and wish him luck in the future!

after bowling, beer is a natural

After you've bowled a game or two, or when you're winding up the evening at the neighborhood bowling center, it's good to relax with friends and compare scores. What better way to add to the sport and the sociableness than with a refreshing glass of beer? However you take your fun—skiing, skating, or at your ease in the game room—beer always makes a welcome addition to the party.

Your familiar glass of beer is also a pleasurable reminder that we live in a land of personal freedom—and that our right to enjoy beer and ale, if we so desire, is just one, but an important one, of those personal freedoms.

In Indiana...beer goes with fun, with relaxation

UNITED STATES BREWERS ASSOCIATION, INC.

Editor, CITIZEN:

(Editor's Note: Thomas R. Walker, Culver Military Academy English Instructor, is now in Greece on a Fulbright Scholarship. His wife, Charlotte, son, Craig, and daughter, Wendy, are in Greece with him. The following letter was written from Anatolia College, Thessaloniki, Greece, by Mrs. Walker to Mrs. C. W. Cleveland and is printed in its entirety.)

"First of all — a Happy New Year to everyone — or as the Greeks say, (transliterated) 'Xronia Pola,' a pleasant, warm, friendly greeting which still echoes up and down the street as people pass by. The New Year is 'seen in' by playing cards as tremendous amounts of 'mezezes,' or snacks, are consumed along with the National Drink, 'ouzo,' until 4 a.m. — or later — on January 1. At midnight the New Year's bread, with a coin for good luck baked inside, is cut with great ceremony; a wedge from the round sweet bread for each person in the house, and one for the house, too. Nearly everyone makes his own and takes the loaves, properly risen, to the baker to finish the job, since most people don't have ovens. Our landlady gave us one, although we could have bought one; this was special. Also, anyone who calls at your home is given wine and a coin on that day. I was sick with a cold, but the children went downstairs to wish the Brantzos' Happy New Year and Mati made them drink a tiny bit of wine. Quite an adventure for them!

Tom was away from Thessaloniki over the Holidays. We wrote earlier that he planned to be in Bethlehem on Christmas Eve, but that was when he was planning his own itinerary, which came to no good end. Finally, he dropped those plans and joined the 'Wagon-Lits Cooks' Tour, and was happy that he had.

He left Athens Dec. 21 and returned, thoroughly and pleasantly exhausted, on Jan. 6. His tour began in Cairo (my 9-day tour of the Holy Land and Egypt ended there); consequently Christmas Eve was spent far away, in more ways than one, from Bethlehem — at Luxor, Egypt. From the marvelous relief of a hotel, the Winter Palace, left over from the days of the English, one gazes across the Nile (it isn't blue or green — it's mud-colored, and quite a shock to our romantic, finger-dipping mental pictures!) to the famed 'Valley of the Kings,' or Thebes, or 'Mall of the Dead,' where the magnificent tombs were discovered. Around the hill from there is the Temple of Hat-shep-sut and the Tombs of the Nobles. Save for good old Hat-shep-sut's Temple, a gigantic structure which is now being put back together on the upper levels after being covered by sand for centuries, all the tombs are underground. The colors are simply unbelievable in the wall paintings. Thanks to the good sealing techniques, even of the grave robbers, and the dry desert air and soil, these 3,000-5,000-year-old paintings are as fresh as yesterday's work.

Our guide (Tom had his son, who was good, but can't hope to match his father!) was such an excellent teacher that, after a while, several of us held up the progress by stopping to read the hieroglyphs! Ahoudhi, the guide, belongs at Stratford, doing Shakespeare, and when not acting, should be teaching — anything! He's been at the 'guide business' for 40 years and was present at the openings of several tombs. He knew how to make the past come alive — richly.

We stopped for lunch in the valley near the Tombs of the Nobles and met there, face to face, a life none of us had imagined: people were 'living' in adobe huts or caves, natural or dug out, in absolute filth, depending on the tourist for 'back-sheesh' or leftover food, both of which, when given, caused a scramble between the receiver and non-receiver. Adults tried to take food from hungry, dirty, fly-ridden children! Oh! A rude awakening; not at all like the romantic pictures one sees in the travel folders! This was true of all of Egypt. Beauty and putrid poverty mixed together everywhere! Progress is an unknown word there. And Nassar doesn't seem to be doing much about it. He is closing even the tourist of-least Egyptian-run. No foreigners, with ideas of lifting mankind up to the level of man rather than pigs, for him! Simply appalling! All the more dismaying when we approach countries we visit with a desire to judge them not, but to accept them on their own standards. In Egypt our desire, or will — what have you — completely collapsed, and we found ourselves critics rather than guests. With an effort, we remember the above mentioned magnificence and try to forget the rest.

On Christmas Day Tom was at Aswan Dam, but did not get on up the Nile (remember that it flows 'backwards') to Abu Simbel. However, he brought good news: it will be many years yet before the dam is finished and the reservoir floods those tremendous carvings, and surely by then something will have been resolved concerning their preservation!

In Cairo we both went to the Museum, of course, for too short a time as one could spend days there pouring over antiquities. The brilliance of King Tut's treasures was overwhelming! Gold and rare woods and jewels! Ah! Almost impossible to believe that so much 'stuff' was in that little tomb. That was a long-standing dream realized, seeing that. Also, the mummies had a weird fascination about them. There's a whole room full of them, plus an overflow of Neolithic 'basket cases' in another room. One of the VIPs, Dynasty-style, who, I hope, doesn't look 'natural' now, had a club foot. For an old fellow of around 2,500 years old, he's well-preserved!

There's a moral or ethical point to the business — and that's exactly what it is, a business — of opening tombs. These people were put away carefully and more or less reverently, provisioned with all their worldly goods, since at that time they had not learned the phrase, 'you can't take it with you!' They were well-equipped for their next life, which they supposed, as do we, was Eternity. Tombs were hidden, sealed cleverly, and a curse was put on anyone who disturbed the tomb. That was their means of saying 'RIP', (rest in peace). But — this peace was not to be, long before the archaeologists appeared. We condemn the grave robbers, not because they opened the tombs — here our ethics begin to go out the window — but because they took away, or crushed, or at least destroyed, what WE now would like to have. We rationalize, and correctly, that we have learned much about history, have filled great gaps in our knowledge of other civilizations, as a result of disturbing the ancient's peace, and the grave robbers (say this with a dreadful timbre in the voice) have deprived us of the filling for even more holes in history. Rather a sticky wicket, eh?

I almost lost Tom at Jerusalem, although at the time I didn't know it, thank goodness! Their flight from Cairo to Jerusalem was a very rough one, 'turbulence,' plus snow which was reaching the blinding storm stage as they came down to land. The pilot, on his first try, overshot the field and shot abruptly straight up to miss the hill at the end of the runway. 'We were on our heads,' Tom remembered with a shudder. One girl fainted dead away — lucky soul — and they brought her around after they finally landed on the second go. Plus all the usual crash equipment which was on-the-ready, there was a Catholic priest there to administer Communion to the passengers, though for a while everyone thought it would be last rites!

Somehow, our Bible readings and teachings didn't prepare either of us for what we found in the Holy Land — weather, the people, the Holy Sites. As in so many things, we clutched a large measure of pre-conceived ideas, mental pictures, without a tangible hook to hang them on. It's human — and wrong. I believe both of us would go there again, should go there again. Tom tramped through slushy snow along the Way of the Cross; I jumped puddles, caught in a downpour without rain gear. My memory of the Via Dolorosa is a feeling of guilt; most of the time my mind was on how wet I was getting. Yet perhaps the guilt sensation, regardless of the wet, was not so wrong, although it wasn't what I expected to feel. One can't help expecting certain things. Neither of us had pictured rain or snow, but sun, all the brighter because of the darkness to follow. Besides the elements, we had to dodge cars and donkeys and peddlars trying the age-old hifing of tourists.

We began at the beginning, reasonably enough, at the Chapel of Flagellation, the Ecco Homo, present street and marked by the games played by the waiting Roman soldiers. This was in a Catholic Monastery and was simple and beautiful and moving. But — when we reached the rambling old Church of the Holy Sepulchre I was reminded of Christ in the Temple — never mind that! The altar and mosaic of the 'Nailing on the Cross' was, again, simple and beautiful, but five feet away, at the traditional site of Calvary, in Greek Orthodox territory, and we had to look hard through the lanterns and glass and marble to find the place where the Cross was stuck into the ground. There was a Papa selling candles there and flashbulbs were popping. I almost heard the Roman soldiers playing at dice. I'll admit that we're not used to so much decoration in church, and we're allowing ourselves to judge, with closed minds. Very bad. As a matter of fact, the Greek churches here are beautiful and interesting, but there in the Holy Sepulchre Church and also at the Church of the Nativity, in Bethlehem, the real meanings are hidden, or at least obscured, by so much glitter. We revert to our pre-conceived ideas which are more real, closer to the truth, I'm sure.

For both of us, Gethsemane was the high point with its lovely OLD olive trees, its serenity and its beautiful, simple Church of All Nations, which is built over the Rock of Agony. There one is caught, and held, by a force outside himself, in breathless awe and sorrow, and yet, jubilation. Something has remained there as nowhere else.

We stood at the site of Old Jericho, New Jericho and Elisha's Well at our backs, a splash of green in the brown country, with the Mount of Temptation across the plain in the 'high hills of Judea' in front of us. At our feet was a neolithic watchtower 7,000 years old, beneath seven layers of seven towns, one of them being Joshua's triumph, Jericho. One can understand vividly why this spot was a battleground — it's the only green spot, i.e., water supply, for mile upon dry mile, even more important in the past than now with rapid transportation. Jericho is one town which claims longest continual habitation. Byblos, in Lebanon, and Damascus are others. All have a great deal to offer in ruins or Mosques (the head of John the Baptist is in the Omayyad Mosque in Damascus) and respectable pieces of history.

Jordan is a progressive country, latching onto modern methods and ways while the people are anachronistically walking about in the same kind of dress they wore in Christ's time! Tom inquired of his guide what the economy of the country is. 'U.S. aid,' replied the man. 'Well, what does the U.S. get in return?' questioned Tom. 'Jordan's democracy and independence,' said the guide succinctly. After seeing what's happening in Syria and Egypt, we say, 'Long live U.S. aid!' . . .

Beirut, Lebanon, is one of the most modern cities in this part of the world. It's a rival to Palm Beach along the sea drive lined with gorgeous new hotels and chic shops. Everyone liked it. Didn't see Danny Thomas, but he has a few cousins there, I think!

The food, really a major item, was best here. Oh, to retrace some steps, back to Tom's New Year's eve. He was in Amman, Jordan's capital, in a nightclub. (The floor shows here are fabulous!) sitting across a shared table from the belly-dancer who was star of the show! Before and after the show, the girl came to sit with a very distinguished-looking gentleman. Tom was surprised, well, startled, to find that she spoke perfect English, she was Greek (and one doesn't expect a Greek to dance that way!), was educated, and was very sweet, polite, and refined! Whew! All these didn't go with yet another pre-conception!

Since I had a cold, I was in bed not seeing the New Year in in quite as gay a fashion, though when all the whistles and fire-crackers went off at midnight, I was awakened, murmured to the darkness, 'Habby Doo Year,' and went back to sleep. Some celebration, eh?

Christmas Eve had been different. Always on Christmas Eve the President of the College and his wife invite all the Americans and some of the Greek administrators for dinner, gift exchange, and carol singing, with children adding their own unplanned performances! There were 44 of us that night. The next day, the remaining, unattached Americans — the children and I fit that description perfectly — were invited for turkey and all the trimmings. The maids had the day off, of course, so it was a pitch-in as far as preparation went. Such fun, with a big kitchen full of cooks, pretty plates of food, delicious aromas and chitter-chatter. It filled a day which otherwise would have been kind of lonesome.

We are still receiving Christmas cards from all our dear friends in Culver. They're simply stacked up and each one helped so much and was so welcome. Thanks to you all! Special thanks to the dear soul who sent a lovely card with a nice note, but was in such a hurry for us to receive the card that there was no name or return address! Craig and Wendy enjoyed hearing from their friends, whom they miss very much, and have read and reread the cards and letters, just as their parents have done!

Craig, who is in fourth grade in the States, is now doing fifth grade work, as the whole class is doing. Wendy, in second grade, is partly second, partly third. The classes at Pinewood are very small so that they can move along at great speed. Both are taking French, which is begun in the second grade here. They like it so much that they hope to continue when they come home. Both have Greek playmates who speak little or no English, but they seem to understand each other well enough — children have their own language, you know — that they play together well. An added note to all peanut butter-loving Culverites: One can't buy peanut butter here so we must make our own. It's all crunchy-style, I'm afraid, but it's peanut butter!

The first of February we move from the foot of the mountain, in Harilaon, up to the college, where we'll have an unobstructed view of Mt. Olympus, the city of Thessaloniki and its lovely bay. The view is framed by the famous tall, slender, dark-green Greek cypresses. Quite breath-taking. Ah, This country has a way of burrowing under your skin. I've taken quite enough of everyone's time for now. How I wish I could answer everyone individually, but it would be only repetition with no progress. Our thoughts are trying to reach you. Know that!

Sincerely,
CHARLOTTE WALKER

The full meaning of Sunday School teaching apparently does not sink in all at once. One youngster was overheard saying to a playmate: 'Share — share like the Bible says or I'll hit you on the head.'

Academy Sports

Culver Military Academy's successful swimming team bid farewell to 12 seniors, but there's no mistaking the fact that the Eagle's don't expect to suffer much from the loss.

Coach Frank Walaitis' men closed out an 11-3 season Saturday with an easy 67-28 triumph over Danville (Ill.) High School. The interesting aspect of the meet was that while the competition was a finale for a dozen seniors, Danville was being clobbered mostly by the juniors and sophomores on Walaitis' squad. Of the seven individual events won by the Academy, six of them were won by juniors and sophomores. Senior back stroker Tom Cullison was the only graduating member of the squad to score a first place.

Leading the list of returning lettermen for next year will be three of the area's top performers, free styler Bob Lamoreaux, diver Clyde Alexander, and butterflyer Fred Schlicher. To ease up on Danville Saturday, Coach Walaitis juggled his lineup and didn't use Alexander in the official diving competition nor did Schlicher swim one of his specialties.

Culver's three defeats in swimming this year came from a trio of the state's best teams, South Bend Adams and Central, and Kokomo.

In another varsity engagement last weekend, the basketball squad edged out Park School of Indianapolis, 47-42, by freezing the ball during the last 2½ minutes Friday night. The Eagles trailed at the end of the first three quarters but pulled ahead at the opening of the fourth. With little more than three minutes left, Culver began freezing the ball and did manage to retain it for the final 2½ minutes.

SCHOOL PHOBIA

GOING to school is recognized as one of the crisis points in life. Some children suffer from what is called school phobia. In certain cases this phobia amounts almost to panic. Although the child often is unable to give a reason for his fear, he may believe, or confirm the suggestion that there is some particular teacher or subject that he is afraid of.

This aversion to school may be manifested by physical nausea, often accompanied by vomiting, which disappears when he is permitted to be absent from school that day. However, he feels sick again the next morning at school time, and possibly on succeeding mornings, until it is accepted that the child is unable to attend school.

Many parents justify their child's absence from school by fitting the symptoms to a medical setting even though the doctor's examination shows no physical ailment.

In some cases the cause is traceable to the personality of the parent. Some parents desire that the child continue to remain their baby, and the child's school phobia satisfies the longing in the mother who can hardly bear to let the child go from her side.

In many cases of school phobia, encouragement and reassurance are sufficient to overcome this problem, but in certain cases psychiatric help is indicated.

MY UPSIDE DOWN PRAYER

I'll never forget the first time I saw a harp. I was walking by a music store with my mother and it was there in the window, tall and golden. I knew, then and there, that I wanted to be a harpist.

But, my heart sank, for I knew my parents could afford neither the instrument nor the lessons. I started to pray every night to God to send me a harp.

Nothing happened. My small spirit rebelled, and I blurted out to my Sunday School teacher that my prayer hadn't been answered. My teacher was a wonderful woman. She just said, "You've been going about this in the wrong way, Ann. You've been demanding something of God. Don't you think it would be better if you asked His?"

Her quiet words made an impression. The tenor of my prayers changed. And the teachings of the Church meant more to me than ever.

Well — in time, I did become a harpist. Recently, I played my first concert. And as the great, golden instrument came to life beneath my fingers I hoped that the angels, too, were smiling.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL - ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The Chicago Motor Club reminds drivers that following the vehicle ahead too closely leaves little room for safety. The recommended following distance under ideal driving conditions is one car length for every 10 miles an hour of speed. If roads are slippery, traffic is heavy, or visibility is poor, a much greater distance is required for maximum safety.

The W.S.C.S. held its regular meeting Wednesday evening in home of Mrs. Ernest Brockey with a good attendance. The subject, "The Church Speaks or Dies," from the "Know Your Church" block of lessons, was given by Mrs. Wayne Kline and was followed by an interesting discussion. An invitation was read from the Culver society to attend their meeting on March 12 which is a part of the district visitation program.

SCHOOLBELL

Fads and Fashions

By Cathy Carrothers

The process of choosing a career and college is one of the major contributing factors in your life. When you have finally decided on a school, you encounter the question of where to live — in a fraternity house, in a sorority house, in a dormitory, or off campus. Only you can answer this question, for you are the one who knows what you want from college — a college education or social life. As in any field of work or schooling, you can expect to receive no more than what you put into your work.

Most of Indiana's four-year colleges and universities prefer that you live on campus during your first year. This narrows the field to fraternity and sorority houses or to dormitories.

Perhaps you are interested in pledging a fraternity or sorority. If you are a boy, you choose the fraternity you wish to live in the summer or fall before entering the school. In the event that you are accepted, you will be able to live in the fraternity house for the rest of your college career. However, if you are a girl, you must live in a dormitory for one-half or sometimes the entire freshman year before being able to pledge a sorority.

Before choosing the house you desire to live in, you should consider the academic standards and social level of each house. If the level of society is much higher or differs from what you are used to, you may find yourself spending more time trying to keep up socially instead of spending this time studying.

If you are the type of person who prefers to be around more people, there is really no need to join a fraternity or sorority. Socially you will be just as happy, if not happier, in the dormitories.

We should remember that we are all members of society, and this society and its environment will greatly affect our work. Upon entering college it is important that we select the proper housing that will best fit our personality and character. This will be the key that will unlock the door of happiness and success.

NEWLY MARRIED VETERANS SHOULD CHANGE INSURANCE BENEFICIARY

Veterans who have just married — don't forget to change your insurance beneficiary.

New wives of veterans, see that your husband makes that change. Otherwise, as in the case of one veteran, his bride of a year got nothing. His wealthy sister got $10,000.

C. J. Bochiechio, the Veterans Administration Regional Office Manager for Indiana, warned newly married veterans today that VA can pay insurance claims only to the beneficiary named by the veteran. Each year a number of cases are developed in which the widow, some with children, must see their husband's insurance go to beneficiaries he had named years ago and had forgotten to change.

The most common reasons for obsolete listings of beneficiaries include marriages, remarriages, divorces and deaths, Mr. Bochiechio explained.

If the veteran has forgotten his old beneficiary listing, VA will help by sending him a microfilm copy of the old listing as well as a new beneficiary designation to be filled in with up-to-date information. All the veteran has to do is write the VA office to which he sends his insurance payments, being careful to give his full name and policy number. If he wishes to change beneficiaries, he should list both the old and the new.

You're only young once. After that it takes another excuse.

1964-FEED GRAIN SIGNUP UNDER WAY

The signup for the 1964 Feed Grain Program now is under way in the ASCS County Office, Carl Price, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, announced today. The signup period started Feb. 10 and will continue through March 27.

The 1964 Program will be more attractive to many producers than the 1963 Program, but basically the program will be about the same, the Chairman explained. It will be available for the three feed grains: corn, barley, and grain sorghum, and participation will be entirely voluntary although price-support eligibility for the three crops will depend on such grower participation.

Two major improvements in the 1964 Feed Grain Program, as compared with previous programs, are: (1) A producer may divert as much as 50 percent of his feed grain base acreage (this was 40 percent in 1963), and those who divert 40 percent or more of their base acreage will receive diversion payments at the maximum rate for all acres diverted. (The maximum acreage diversion will continue to be 25 acres if this is more than 50 percent of the base.)

Two rates of diversion payment will be offered, but the higher rate should apply to more acres under the 1964 Program: The minimum rate is again based upon one-fifth of the county's total price-support rate; the maximum or higher rate is based on one-half of the support rate. If the operator signs up to divert 40 percent or more of his feed grain base, the higher rate will apply to all the acreage diverted. If less than 40 percent is diverted, the minimum rate will apply to 20 per cent of the acreage diverted and the higher rate to the acreage between 20 and 40 percent.

Farmers who take part in the program will be eligible for diversion and price-support payments; and for price-support loans on their entire 1964 production of the three grains. The price-support payment will be made to all participants in the program who plant the feed grains for harvest, and they will be made regardless of the use made of the grain. The producer may sell the grain or feed it if he wishes and still receive the payment.

Applications to take part in the 1964 Feed Grain Program may be filed in the Marshall County ASCS Office from Mondays through Fridays at any time between the hours of 7:45 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

SELF-EMPLOYED PERSONS MUST BRING TAX FORMS TO GET SOCIAL SECURITY

"Many self-employed persons are unwittingly delaying their claims for social security payments," said Mr. Cornelius R. Schafer, District Manager of the South Bend Social Security office. This happens when the self-employed person does not bring his federal income tax return for the previous year with him when he visits our office to apply for his social security.

Give your attorney, accountant, or whoever prepares your tax returns advance notice of your intention to retire and apply for social security, and ask him to prepare an extra copy of your Schedule C, or if your business is a partnership, ask him for an extra copy of form 1065 and Schedule C. These extra copies will be kept with your claim.

Also bring the receipt showing payment of the tax to Internal Revenue Service. The receipt and the rest of the tax return will be given back to you for your own records.

Anyone who has worked as an employee should bring W-2 form (withholding tax statement) from each employer for whom he has worked in the year preceding his retirement date. The W-2 form will be returned to you.

"Time will be saved too," Mr. Schafer said. "If all applicants will bring proof of marriage, divorce if any, and date of birth of spouse and of minor or disabled children as well as their social security numbers."

By furnishing all information that might have a bearing on his claim, the applicant helps himself first and also helps the social security office in getting his social security check to him as promptly as possible.

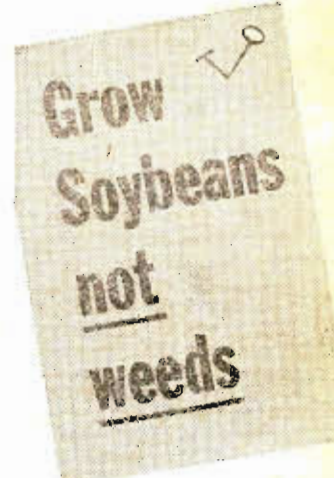

The office serving this district is at 335 N. Lafayette Blvd., South Bend, Ind., and it is open Monday through Friday from 8:45 a.m. to 4:45 p.m.

A comedian claims that only one out of three murderers in this country gets caught while nine out of ten double-parkers get caught. That, he claims, is why so many take a chance on committing murder.

A Scotsman thought the best way of saving money was to put a penny in a money box every time he kissed his wife. This he did faithfully for the entire year. Then he opened the box and out came not only pennies but sixpences, shillings, and half crowns. He was amazed and asked his wife how she accounted for it. "We-el, Jock," she replied, "it's not every mon that's as stingy as you be."

Pioneer, Winamac Deal Indians Double Defeat

Winning Streak Stopped At Ten

By EARL D. MISHLER

That loud hissing noise you may have heard over the weekend was the air escaping from the Culver Indians' basketball bubble which was rudely ruptured in two places by Pioneer and Winamac. The rugged Panthers ended Culver's ten-game win streak at Royal Center, 58-50, Friday night and the Pulaski County Indians upset the Tribe on their home floor Saturday, 80-65.

At Royal Center, the Indians started fast behind senior star Sam Lowry. With the 5' 10" forward tallying eight points, Culver held a 15-10 first quarter lead. But Pioneer, losers only once in 17 games, began to roll behind the bruising defense and board play of monsters Ed Schmaltz and Rick Morphet. The Panthers tallied 19 points to Culver's six in the second period to take a 29-21 halftime lead.

The second half was played on even terms, but the Indians could never get closer than seven points. The Culver offense was not as patient as the hosts, who worked the ball endlessly with their patented "bounce-pass" strategy. Lowry led the Tribe with 15 points and Jim Boswell added 10. Schmaltz and Morphet led Pioneer, now 16-1, with 16 and 13 points, respectively, while 5' 8" quarterback Glenn Minks contributed 12.

The loss to the highly-rated Panthers was nothing to be ashamed of, but Saturday's game was different. Winamac beat the Tribe at their own game — shooting. Led by junior guard Jim Lebo the visitors raced to an 18-14 lead after eight minutes.

The winners continued to fire long-range shots over the hosts' usually dependable zone defense. Reserves Jim Getz and Jim Lincoln led the attack in the second period which ended 37-32. Only Dave Lemar's 12 points and numerous rebounds kept the local Indians close.

Twice in the third stanza Coach Gene Crosby's gang whittled the deficit to three points but never got any closer. Boswell began hitting his patented outside shot but the rest of the offense sputtered. It was all over when Lowry, who had just begun to find the range after a dismal three quarters, fouled out early in the final period.

Adding to Culver's woes was their poor free-throw shooting, notably in the first half when we hit only 6 of 15.

Boswell, unerring in the second half, finished with 21 markers, while Lemar cooled off in the second half and wound up with 14. Everybody was hitting well for Winamac, now 10-7, but Getz and Mike Miller, the only senior of value on their roster, led with 17 apiece. Lebo and Lincoln clipped in with 14 and 13, respectively.

It should be noted that when a team plays as tough a schedule as Culver does, it is almost inevitable to avoid disasters like last weekend. The Tribe's 14-4 record still marks them as the odds-on favorite in this month's Sectional at Plymouth.

Culver's B-Team met similar fates, dropping two more decisions. Pioneer eased to a 43-29 victory, and the flashy Winamac B-Squad scored a 62-48 triumph. In Saturday's game 6' 1" sophomore Andy Lowry showed his finest form of the year with 16 points and, as usual, gobs of rebounds. Paul Liette added 13 from his newly-assigned guard position. Coach John Bottorff's Papooses are now 9-8 and must win at least one of their two remaining games for a winning season.

Huge and rugged Lakeville represents the next roadblock to the Indian express, which we hope has been only temporarily derailed. The game Friday will be played at Bremen. Box Scores:
