Margo Fox Named Miss Plymouth of 1964

Judy Kimmel Is 2nd Runner-Up

Margo Ann Fox of Argos was crowned Miss Plymouth of 1964 Thursday evening as a climax to the seventh annual Miss Plymouth Pageant, sponsored by the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, in Centennial Auditorium at Plymouth.

Judy Kimmel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Kimmel, Route 1, Culver, was chosen second runner-up in the two-day competition to determine Plymouth's entry in the Miss Indiana pageant. Patricia Wilson of Bremen was first runner-up.

The three finalists were chosen Wednesday night following the evening gown, swim suit, and talent competition, but were not announced until Thursday night.

Thursday night's activity consisted of a parade from Centennial Park to the auditorium, featuring the seven contestants for the Miss Plymouth title: Miss Plymouth of 1963, Anita Stackhouse; Miss Tennessee, Martha Ellen Truett; and Miss Indiana, Marcia Jane Pinkstaff.

Bruce Saunders, South Bend radio and television personality, acted as master of ceremonies for the pageant program. All seven contestants appeared on the stage at the start of the program in evening gowns, and the three finalists were announced.

The three finalists repeated their performances in the talent competition. Miss Fox, in a Spanish costume sang "Who Shot the Hole in My Sombrero." Miss Wilson's offering was a dramatic interpretation entitled "Just Let Me Ask You, Nurse." Miss Kimmel sang her way through "Honkey Bun" from the South Pacific for her talent offering.

Preceding and following the swim suit competition were appearances and performances by Miss Tennessee and Miss Indiana.

To conclude the judging, the three finalists were asked two questions. They were: "If you were on a dinner date with a nice fellow and when he went to pay the bill he found that he had left his wallet home, what would you do?" and "What, in your opinion, does the word humility mean in connection with the Miss America Pageant?"

As Miss Plymouth, Miss Fox will receive a $250 award donated by the five Marshall County banks, and a $100 cash scholarship donated by the Pepsi-Cola Scholarship Foundation.

Miss Wilson will also receive a $100 gift from the county banks, and Miss Kimmel will get $50 from the banks.

RAYMOND MORRISON INJURED WEDNESDAY IN FREAK ACCIDENT

Raymond Morrison, well-known livestock dealer who resides on State Road 17, north of Culver, was painfully injured Wednesday afternoon while tightening the lug bolts on a gravel truck owned by Henry Haug of Plymouth. One of the bolts broke causing Mr. Morrison to fall backward in such a way as to fracture his right leg in four places. He was taken by the Van Gilder ambulance to Parkview Hospital in Plymouth for X-rays and treatment.

Although bedfast, Mr. Morrison was released to his home Monday evening where he is recuperating satisfactorily. However, it will be several months before Mr. Morrison will be up and around again. In the meantime, he will make periodic trips back to the hospital for further X-rays and check-ups.

Wind, Rain Does Heavy Damage To Culver Area

High winds of 90 mile an hour velocity, accompanied with torrential rains and hail, hit the Culver area last Friday evening about 7:15 p.m. doing several thousand dollars damage to buildings, power and telephone lines.

The storm hit just as the Culver Jaycee's street fair was getting underway for the evening's run. The high winds leveled all the concession stand tents, tearing canvas and breaking their wooden frames like matchwood. The large ferris wheel was moved about a foot from its foundation and the large steel braces were twisted. People on the ferris wheel were taken off at the first gusts. With concession merchandise being blown over the area and flying canvas and wooden braces falling, it was a miracle that no one was seriously injured. Many stands did not open on Saturday night due to the damage which could not be repaired in time.

The roof on the Three Sisters Restaurant, north of Culver on Highway 17, was completely torn off. Besides the roof, the interior was heavily damaged by water. A large grain storage bin at the Osborn Feed Store at Burr Oak was torn from its foundation and blown nearly a mile before coming to a stop.

Trees and tree limbs were torn down, some falling on cars, crushing their tops. Half the city of Culver was without electric service and many telephones were knocked out by the storm. TV antennas were toppled.

Highway crews and city street personnel worked through the night to clear roads and streets of trees and tree limbs. Many telephones were still out of order on Saturday due to the storm. Limbs and trees blown down on house roofs did some damage.

The first storm had no more than passed, giving a breathing spell to the community, when the second one hit about an hour later. The second storm contained high winds, but not as severe as the first one. Rain again came down in torrents for a short period. Rain continued throughout the night.

Register Friday For Summer Swim Classes

Swim classes will begin Friday, June 26, at 11:00 a.m. with registration at the Culver Beach Lodge. Minimum age limit will be eight years old and up for students. Classes will be divided into beginners and advanced swimmers. Classes will be held in the morning on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. The classes are free. Larry Linhart, swimming instructor, will give private lessons, if so desired.

Mr. Linhart has just returned from attending the Red Cross Aquatic School at LaGrange, where he received his water safety certificate. To pass the rigid Red Cross course, a person must be qualified in all phases of water safety. Greg Dawson, assistant life guard at the beach, will assist Larry, and guard the beach during the swim lessons.

On his first day back, Larry had the opportunity to prove what he had learned at the Red Cross Aquatic School and that his certificate for water safety was well earned. A man, connected with the Drago Shows, following doctors orders to exercise an afflicted leg by swimming, was taking advantage of the swimming area. His good leg cramped, leaving him helpless in the water. As he started down, Larry came to his rescue and pulled him out on the beach. Aside from swallowing lots of water, which Larry pumped out of his lungs, he was not harmed. There is no doubt that Larry saved the man from drowning.

C.M.A. Summer Schools To Open June 29

The sixty-third annual session of the Summer Schools operated by Culver Military Academy will get underway June 29 with an expected enrollment of 1,678 boarding students in four separate programs.

Rear Admiral John W. Bays, USN (Ret.), director of Summer Schools, said a record enrollment is expected in the four programs — 836 boys between the ages of 14 and 18 in Naval School, 660 boys ages 9½ through 13 in the Woodcraft Camp, 152 boys ages 14 to 18 in the School of Horsemanship, and 30 boys and girls ages 14 to 20 in the Theater School. In addition, approximately 65 day students — almost all of them in the Woodcraft Camp — will be enrolled.

Registration will spread over four days, starting June 29. Old Naval School midshipmen, all handsmen, and resident theater students will enroll June 29. New Midshipmen, all horsemanship students, and day theater students will register June 30. Old Woodcrafters register July 1, while new Woodcrafters will enroll July 2.

The traditional roll call of students representing each state will be called by Dean of Admissions, Frank M. Bryant.

The Culver Summer Schools program is the largest combination recreation-education program in the country. Students, who come from virtually every state and many foreign countries, enroll for eight weeks in recreation and skill courses and credit or non-credit academic courses.

FOUR-YEAR WATCHER OF GOLDWATER SEES HIM IN CURRENT OF MAINSTREAM

Editor, CITIZEN:

When a newsman, at the 1960 Republican National Convention, asked Barry Goldwater if he were not afraid that voting as he had on a certain bill might ruin his political career, he replied, "It might, but I will sleep better at night for having done so."

The words sounded more like those of a statesman than of a politician, and I have been watching him rather closely ever since. After four years of watching, I have decided that my estimate of him was right, despite the sometimes unfair, sometimes untrue, sometimes foolish things that are said about him.

Instead of being "outside the mainstream" of Republicanism, as some politicians claim, it seems to me that he is riding the very current of it, battling against the octopus of big government and trying to clear the channel of polluted practices and principles that are foreign to real Republicanism, which at its "grass roots" level, still stands for common sense conservatism and individual freedom.

Goldwater has been grossly misrepresented, even deliberately lied about. So far, however, he has not stooped to the unfair practices of some of his enemies.

He has been scoffed at as "of the horse-and-buggy era."

Does breaking the sound barrier in a jet plane sound very "horse-and-buggy-ish?"

He has been called "naive" and "dangerously irresponsible."

Would a naive man be placed on the important committees of which he is a member? Or retained by the Air Force as a major general in the Reserve?

He is said to be "anti-civil rights," yet without fanfare he has done much more for the Negro in his own state than many vociferous civil rights advocates have ever done. He knows that when we take away the rights of some, even to right the wrongs of others, that we are only "robbing Peter to pay Paul." If President, he surely would do as much for the Negroes of the nation as he has done for those in Arizona.

He is said to be against Social Security, which is gross misrepresentation. He is against Social Security becoming so burdened that it will bankrupt itself. In other words, he does not believe we should "ride a good horse to death."

It is said that he is against foreign aid, which is not entirely true. He is for a pooling of world wealth, and a lenient lending program to countries willing to help themselves. He thinks Uncle Sam has been Santa Claus long enough.

For the first time in many years, the people of this country are beginning to feel a surge of real Americanism, and confidence that America will stay America. That is why, in every state in the Union, this "grass roots" cry is going up:

We want Barry, we want Barry,

Every Tom and Dick and Harry,

Jane and John, and Sue and Sam, and Gert and Gus;

Gramps and Granny, all our cousins,

Aunts and Uncles by the dozens . . .

We want Barry, because Barry is for US!

FREEZING THE FOOD OF THE GODS

Mushrooms — called the food of the gods by ancient Romans — are non-fattening, easily digestible and rich in Vitamin B, minerals and protein, notes Miriam Eads, Purdue University food specialist.

When they are abundant, you may want to pan fry them in butter or margarine. Or, use them to dress up scrambled eggs, omelet, canned soups, welsh rare-bit, creamed ham, chicken and chipped beef, meat croquettes, patties and pies, and macaroni and spaghetti dishes.

If you wish to freeze mushrooms for future use, wash and trim off ends. If mushrooms are larger than one inch across, slice or cut them into quarters.

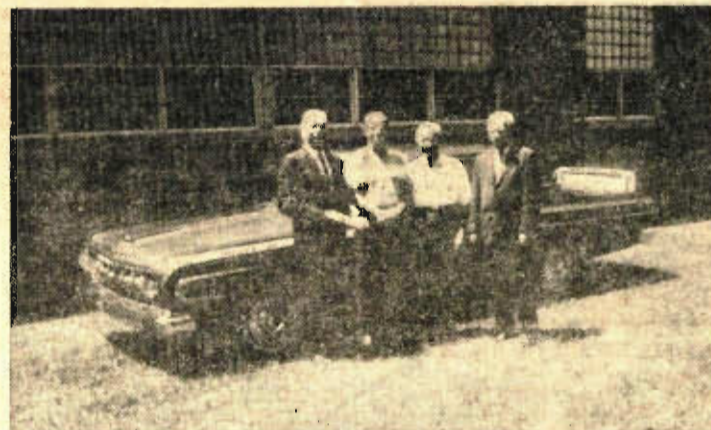

Since vegetables should be preheated before freezing, you may preheat mushrooms by steaming, or heating in a fry pan.

Local Summer Driver Education Program Enrolls 75 Students

Culver Community School Corporation's two high schools, Aubbeenaubee High School and Culver High School, have 75 students enrolled in summer driver education courses. Three driver education instructors and three automobiles are involved in the program.

Steamed mushrooms have better color if given anti-darkening treatment first. To do this, soak them for five minutes in a solution of one teaspoon lemon juice or 1½ teaspoons citric acid to a pint of water. Then steam:

Whole mushrooms (not larger than one inch across) 5 minutes. Buttons or quarter 3½ minutes. Slices 3 minutes. Cool promptly in cold water and drain.

To preheat mushrooms in a fry pan, place small quantities of mushrooms in table fat in an open fry pan. Heat until almost done. Cool in air or set pan in which mushrooms were cooked in cold water.

Pack into containers, leaving ½-inch head space. Seal and freeze.

Miss Barbara Hatten of South Bend, spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hatten.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baker of Tampa, Fla., have been guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Baker.

Mrs. E. W. Carter spent Thursday in Indianapolis visiting Mrs. Georgia Scheetz and daughter, Sarabeth.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Carter spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Bardonner at New Palestine.

CMA Featured In NipSCO Publication

Culver Military Academy was the subject of an article in the latest issue of the NIPSCO PICTURE, the employe magazine of the Northern Indiana Public Service Company.

The article features four pages of pictures and text about the nation's largest private secondary school.

Also featured in the article was Steve Stinson of Rochester, Indiana, a Culver cadet who explained why he chose to attend military school and the advantages he has gained since enrolling four years ago.

The article explained Culver's emphasis on scholastic achievement with the military aspect deemphasized, but used to supplement training and character building.

Further credit was given to General Delmar T. Spivey, superintendent of Culver, who since joining the school in 1956, has led it through a phase of development and continued growth.

The article in PICTURE is one of a series of stories about interesting people, places and things across "The Face of Northern Indiana" which have been published regularly in the employe magazine.

BUM STEER — The director of the Portland High School band, H. Paul Brown, may henceforth be slow to take directions from his wife, says The Dunkirk News and Sun. The newspaper says the Browns, motoring home to Portland after a visit in Albany, encountered weather that cut visibility almost to zero. Brown was watching for a road at which he should make a turn when his wife suddenly called out, "Here it is." Brown made a turn that sent the car into a ditch where the Browns had to leave it overnight.

Donald Carter and family will arrive Saturday for a week's visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hinkle. The Carters live in Pensacola, Fla., where Mr. Carter is a senior draftsman at Chemstrand Corp.

MISSING LETTERS — The North Vernon Plain Dealer's columnist, Ruth Smith, tells of a game she plays while on motor trips. She calls it "Missing Letters." She keeps a lookout for electric signs in which one or more letters have burned out. Some she has spotted are, "Man in the 'iddle," on a theater marquee; "Harvey's 'uto Shop," and "Save wit' Gas." She evidently failed to spot "hell Gasoline" which now and then shows up at a northside filling station in Indianapolis.

Babson Discusses Government and Business

A Reversal Of Anti-Business Tide

There have been a number of periods in our country's history when public distrust of business was strong and bitter. There was such an explosion of popular feeling against business interests during the depression of the 1930's, fanned into flame by Franklin Roosevelt's accusing implications.

I now feel that the tide is turning. It is no longer fashionable for educated men and women to lambaste business and discredit its social value. Rapidly losing ground is the old belief that business does not care about people as individuals, that business contributes little or nothing to human welfare in our present social order. The public is becoming increasingly aware of the fact that business has founded all kinds of research institutions and has heavily endowed them; that it has operated more and more for the purpose of developing better products, — and better living conditions.

It was interesting to note how our late President Kennedy grew steadily more pro-business as he became better acquainted with the attitudes of most of today's businessmen. Naturally, he realized that business, like any other human institution, was far from perfect. But it was clear that he also began to see that business was no longer heavily infected by opportunists who would exploit the many for the special benefit of the few. There were numerous indications that President Kennedy recognized that business management was further advanced than the political management that tried to regulate it.

Johnson Continuing The Trend
White President Johnson strives to build his image as a man of the people, he too obviously realizes the essential need for government to work amicably with business. It is evident that he feels business in general is a responsible force having high regard for the welfare of the individual. The next administration, which the voters will decide upon in November, will have to stay with this approach, and I believe that both the Republicans and the Democrats know this.

The marriage of business to the physical sciences brought our nation to its present high pinnacle of technological achievement. From now on, emphasis must be upon a similar union between business and the social sciences. The depression crisis of the thirties brought about a reluctant engagement between those two forces, but it was accomplished by crucial pressures rather than by mutual desire. There was still distrust, and even hostility, between the common man and the big industrial powers.

Unions Have Helped The Situation
Some of the largest and most responsible labor unions have helped bring about a closer tie between the worker and the employer, — and also between government (representing the people) and industry. Since I do not believe that our nation should be high-handedly dominated by either management or labor, I am always encouraged when I see men in high government places who want equality and justice for both sides. It is my honest opinion that whoever wins the election next November will work wholeheartedly to apply this principle.

As for business itself, it must not only keep up its vigorous interest in technological improvements, but also stress the dignity of the individual and the meaningfulness of life. Probably the most destructive influence of our industrial civilization has been its focus on materialism and the pitiful lack of religious fervor. To change this situation, the social scientists, government authorities, advertising writers, and busnessmen must all work together. The party that is carried into power by the voters next November will have a real challenge to develop the type of philosophy and the course of action that will carry us to ever-better human relations, — both within our own country and among the other nations of the world.

SOCIAL SECURITY FUNDS BALANCE SAYS REPORT

The Nation's social security system is in actuarial balance, according to the latest annual report of the Board of Trustees.

Mr. Charles E. Burke, social security district manager said today that the report just submitted to Congress shows that future income from the schedule of social security tax rates now in the law will be sufficient to pay the benefits to all present and future beneficiaries.

The Trustees are C. Douglas Dillon, Secretary of Treasury; Anthony J. Celebrezze, Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare; and W. Willard Wirtz, Secretary of Labor. Secretary Dillon is the Managing Trustee.

Mr. Burke said that the law requires the Trustees to submit a report to Congress each year on the operations and status of the funds in the previous fiscal year, the anticipated operations and status of the funds during the next five years, and the actuarial balance of the funds.

According to the Trustees, assets of the Old-Age and Survivors Insurance Trust Fund amounted to $18.9 billion at the end of fiscal year 1963. As of the same date, the Disability Insurance Trust Fund, set up in 1956 to finance the payment of monthly benefits to disabled workers and their dependents, totalled $2.4 billion.

Income to the program as a whole is expected to exceed outgo over the five fiscal years 1964 through 1968 and the combined assets of the funds are estimated to increase by about $5 billion by the end of June 1968. There will be an estimated $6.2 billion increase in the Old-Age and Survivors Insurance Trust Fund and a $1.2 billion decrease in the Dis-

Disability Insurance Trust Fund.

Benefit disbursements from the Disability Insurance Trust Fund are expected to increase as the number of beneficiaries continues to increase. But under present law, all of the increased contribution income that will flow from the two future tax rate increases scheduled in the law is allocated to the Old-Age and Survivors Insurance Trust Fund. (The rates are scheduled to increase in two steps to 4-5/8 percent each for employers and employees and to 6.9 percent for the self-employed in 1968.) The income to the Disability Insurance Trust Fund is scheduled to remain fixed at 1/2 of one percent of taxable wages and 3/8 of one percent of self-employment income, as it has been since the disability insurance part of the program was set up in 1956.

To put the disability insurance program into closer actuarial balance, the Trustees' Report recommends a small reallocation of future income between the two trust funds beginning with January 1965. The report states that if this is done, "on the basis of the present long range cost estimates, not only the program as a whole, but also each of the two subdivisions, would be in close actuarial balance . . . under conditions of actuarial balance the system will have sufficient income from contributions (based on the schedule now in the law) and from interest earned on investments to meet benefit payments and administrative expenses indefinitely into the long range future." Mr. Burke emphasized that the recommended reallocation would not affect the over-all actuarial balance of the social security program and would not require an increase in the schedule of social security tax rates now in the law.

DISCOURAGED — The editor of The Angola Herald, Mrs. Lucy Emerson, recently read a booklet on gardening that came to her desk. An article on lawn care warned of steps that should be taken to combat weeds, crab grass, sod web worms, grubs and moles. She turned to another article on rose culture which told of the threats of aphids, black-spot and mildew. Mrs. Emerson came to this conclusion: "Any optimist can be a gardener in March but only an incurable optimist can remain one through October."

 "Whoever shall not receive the kingdom of God as a little child, he shall not enter therein" (Mark 10). These words of Christ Jesus will set forth one of the major themes of the Bible Lesson to be heard Sunday at all Christian Science churches. Related readings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include these lines: "Willingness to become as a little child and to leave the old for the new, renders thought receptive of the advanced idea. Gladness to leave the false landmarks and joy to see them disappear. — this disposition helps to precipitate the ultimate harmony" (p. 323). The subject is "Christian Science."

What a shot! Photographers love to find a scene like this. Flowing water . . . a background of trees . . . a church spire in the distance . . . these always make an outstanding picture.

Wherever we travel we see Christian churches in harmonious settings, and there's a tendency to think of them as "part of the scenery."

But what an important part they are! Every one is a House of God, dedicated to His service. Every one is a community focal point, helping in a thousand ways to broaden and beautify the lives of its members. And every one is a vital link in the shining chain of Christian belief that stretches around the world.

Not far from where you live, there's a church that could give your life a new dimension. Whatever doubts and fears you may have, bring them to God in His House. You can rely on His promise that He will not leave you comfortless.

STORED FOOD PESTS ON INCREASE

Tiny crawling or flying insects that infest flour, cake mixes, and other foods stored in the home are on the increase, say Purdue University Extension entomologists.

The problem is reported to be nation-wide and many authorities believe that the increased use of dry dog foods and bird seeds have something to do with it. These items, popular with dog owners and bird lovers, are often kept in loose boxes or packages. The materials become readily infested and later the insects spread to cereal products, dried fruits, nuts and many other items kept in the kitchen cabinet.

Of course, there are other sources of infestation and in some instances, packaged food may become infested during the sometimes long interval between manufacture and sale.

Any one of several kinds of cereal feeding and related insects may cause trouble. The most common are tiny brown beetles or small buff colored moths. In either case, the larvae are worm-like, often the color of the material in which they feed, and are difficult to see.

Entomologists suggest the following ways to prevent or eliminate infestations:

- Purchase cereals and other susceptible foods in small quantities so that partly used packages are not left for long periods on the pantry shelf.
- Keep bird seeds, dog foods and other cereal products in tin or glass containers with tight fitting lids.

Clean cabinet shelves and storage spaces frequently to remove spilled foods on which the insects thrive.

If infestations are found, dispose of the contaminated material, and clean and wash cabinet shelves with soapy water. Spray lightly with a 5 per cent DDT-oil spray, allow to dry and put in new shelf papers. Do not allow the DDT to contact foods or cooking utensils.

CONTROLLING SPIDERS

Control spiders in the home with a two per cent chlordane spray, recommends Glen Lehker, Purdue University extension entomologist.

It can be applied to the point of run-off in unfinished basements, unexcavated parts of the home, around foundations and in garage breezeways.

Inside the home, the spray can be used lightly behind picture frames, around light fixtures and wherever spider webs are found.

A five or ten per cent chlordane dust, Lehker says, is also suitable for home use and is best if there is any danger that a liquid spray might harm paint or finishes.

Spider webs can best be removed with a vacuum sweeper. Simply brushing them down spreads the infestation.

Lehker explains that most spiders are completely harmless. The black widow, which can be harmful, usually does not bite unless handled or caught in clothing. It is shoe button size and has a red hour glass marking on the underside of its body.

FIRE DEPARTMENT calls should be made to Viking 2-2121. Note this number near your home phone.

ANT CONTROL IN HOMES

Host ants in the home are easily killed with either chlordane or dieldrin, says Glen Lehker, Purdue University Extension entomologist.

Exceptions may be ants that nest beneath concrete of slab-constructed houses and the large black carpenter ants which may nest in the wood itself.

Most ants live in the soil. They come inside for something to eat and have a definite "roadway" coming and going, the entomologist says. Sometimes their entrances are easy to find but in other cases the insects may enter from behind built-in cabinets or other hard to find places.

Either a 2 per cent chlordane spray or a .5 per cent dieldrin spray applied to surfaces where the ants crawl to get inside will give effective control. Both materials may be purchased in concentrated form and diluted with water to give the proper strength spray. Chlordane is normally purchased as a 45 per cent concentrate and dieldrin as an 18.6 per cent material. Follow directions on the container.

Carpenter ants and those nesting beneath concrete slabs can sometimes be controlled by persistent treatment of the areas where they are most often found. Stubborn cases may require the services of a pest control operator.

For details of ant control in homes, lawns and flower beds, see Purdue Extension Mimeo E-22, "How to Control Ants in Houses and Lawns." Single copies are free to Indiana residents from the Agricultural Publications Office, AES Building, Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind. 47907.

RESERVOIR DEVELOPMENT PUBLICATION

Indiana dam and reservoir projects may contain 100,000 acres of land by 1970. The individual property owner has a double interest in these projects. He is aware of their value to his community, but he needs to know his legal rights when his property stands in the path of such a development.

These rights and actions are presented from the property owner's standpoint in Mimeo EC-271, "Your Land and Public Reservoir Development." This Indiana Cooperative Extension publication is available to Indiana citizens without charge from the Agricultural Publications office, AES Building, Purdue University, 47-907, or from County Extension offices.

Proposed constructions and the agencies involved are summarized. Information for landowners includes planning stages, determining fair payment, property and tax provisions and reference sources.

Two disillusioned heads of high educational institutions were discussing what they would do if they had their lives to live over. "I think I'd like to run an orphanage," said one. "No parents to contend with." "I'd rather run a penitentiary," said the other. "No alumni pressure groups."

Indians Return To Form With Three Victories

Jim Weirick Gets Key Hits

By EARL D. MISHLER
Led by the steady pitching of Paul Liette and Bruce Lindvall and the clutch hitting of right-fielder Jim Weirick, the Culver Indians swept three home games last week. Coach Gene Crosley's boys ran their record to 4-1 with wins over County rival LaPaz, 7-4, Caston 5-1, and Rochester, 2-1.

Last Thursday night Culver rapped their old nemesis Dan Harbaugh for seven runs and nine hits, but needed the aid of four LaPaz errors for the victory. Liette hurled a 5-hitter, walking nobody and fanning 10 Vikes. Liette, Andy Lowry, and Jim Lewis had two hits apiece to lead the winning attack.

The following night, Lindvall scattered seven hits en route to his first high school pitching victory. Lewis bombed a triple and a single, but Weirick's second single was the big hit, coming with the bases loaded, two out in the fourth inning in a tie game. Dave Lemar duplicated Jim's 2-run single in the fifth, and rain and high winds halted the game in the sixth.

Monday night, Weirick again came to the plate with the bases loaded and two out in the fourth. This time Rochester was leading Culver, 1-0. Again the senior outfielder singled for two runs, accounting for all the game's scoring. Liette, for the third time in his career, entered the seventh inning with a no-bitter. But he failed again, as Ron Smith tripped to lead off. However, three sparkling Culver defensive plays avoided the tying run, and Paul racked up his third triumph. Box Scores:

Junior League Mauls Argos, 18-8!

Last Friday afternoon, Culver's Junior League team eased to an 18-8 victory over Argos on the local diamond. Junior righthander Mike Eustis, though not as effective as in his pitching debut when he no-hit Plymouth, hurled a steady game for his second win.

Freshman third-baseman Terry Gentry drove in 5 runs with 3-for-5, while juniors George Babchuck and Larry Washburn also contributed three hits and three RBI's apiece. The 13-15-year-olds are now 2-1.

Athletes To Meet New Scholastic Requirements

On May 23 the Athletic Council amended the Indiana High School Athletic Association Rules and By-Laws regarding the scholastic requirement for eligibility in high school athletics as follows: (Division V, Section B, Rule 1) "Each contestant must have and be maintaining for the current semester, a passing grade in each of four or more subjects requiring a minimum of twenty regular high school recitations per week, exclusive of rhetorical, physical training, military drill and deportment; in his last preceding semester in school he must also have met the same requirements throughout the entire semester . . ."

This rule is to become effective the second semester of the 1964-65 school year.

Interpretation: A student may participate during the fall semester of the 1964-65 school year while he is passing in only three subjects and having passed in three subjects during his last semester.

A student to be eligible for athletic participation during the second semester must pass in four subjects and have passing grades in four subjects for the previous semester.

Yacht Club News

By PEG CLYNE
The third and final race of the Tune-Up Series was held last Sunday on Lake Maxinkuckee. Jim Grund's and Larry Strait's boats caught the brunt of the freak storm Friday night. The hoists were extensively damaged and the boats drifted and upset. Both Jim and Larry worked all Saturday morning so they could participate in the race in the afternoon.

To recap: Jerome Zechiel won first place in the first and second races, but Ken Bateson came in second in both races which made the outcome of the third race very important in determining the Tune-Up champion.

Sunday's wind was very shifty. The race started with a good breeze, but as the wind shifted it lost momentum and at the finish line were 11 desperate skippers resisting the mad impulse to paddle a bit.

Ken Bateson got off to a good start which he kept throughout the race. The real battle was between "Zeke" Zechiel and Pete Trone for second place. They changed places several times during the last half but "Zeke" finally edged his way across the finish line in second place.

This was the most successful Tune-Up series so far, with 11 "C's" sailing each Sunday. These races were started for those skippers who had the opportunity to get their boats in the water early and who were "itching to start pitching."

The official 1964 Regatta starts next week with races every Saturday and Sunday for eight weeks.
