TIME FOR DECISION AT THE POLLS

One of the noisiest and scathing political campaigns in modern history is now in its final days, and on Tuesday, Nov. 3, local citizens, together with millions of others from the state and nation will be called upon to select those who will serve the nation in the four years ahead.

For the first time in years the people will choose between two opposing political philosophies — as represented by the two major political parties and the men who seek the highest political office — the Presidency.

Riding the crest of current prosperity, the Johnson Administration is the beneficiary of traditional voter reluctance to take issue with good times, or vote against a fat pocketbook. The high plateau of material prosperity is now in its 45th month with no downturn on the immediate horizon. Everything is just fine and dandy, and you never had it so good, according to the Democrats.

On the other hand, Senator Barry Goldwater and running mate William Miller have raised disturbing storm signals that all is not well on the American scene. They have raised deeply searching questions as — Must the individual slowly but unmistakably surrender his freedom to an ever growing Federal bureaucracy whose primary concern is its own perpetuation, in return for a few morsels of Federal handouts in the name of "security."

— Has the voter grown completely callous to the "morality in government" issue, and is it no longer expected that people in public places must observe the highest ethics, that the "public office is indeed a public trust."

— Has the long-stated goal of world domination by the Communists become merely a myth, and after years of global conflict on "cold" and "hot war" fronts, has the Marxist doctrine suddenly lost its teeth; has the Kennedy-Johnson Administration neglected to be fully aware of the danger — indeed been "soft" toward Communism.

— Is the tax burden which now decrees that the working man must work one day in every three to pay his taxes indeed too heavy; should the government cease to do things for its citizens that the citizen can and should be doing for himself; should the old virtues of private incentive, thrift, respect for law and order, and helping oneself again be a part of the American way.

The Citizen believes that the issues raised by Senator Goldwater and Congressman Miller are valid condemnations of the present Democratic administration and that the best interests of the state and nation can be best served by electing the Goldwater-Miller ticket and the complete state Republican ticket headed by Ristine and Ryan.

On the county ballot, we endorse the Republican ticket excepting that we support Joseph D. Howard, M.D., Culver physician and Democrat, for the office of County Coroner.

We urge every voter to make it his first order of business to get out and vote on Tuesday, Nov. 3. Nothing should come between you and your obligation to exercise the solemn expression of free choice of who shall represent YOU in the halls of government.

Ervin Is Returned As President Of Town Board

Theodore Ervin has been re-elected to his former position of president of the Culver Town Board after he advised fellow board members that his anticipated move from Culver will not occur and he plans to maintain the family residence here.

Ervin had served as board president until Aug. 20. He resigned his post when he took employment in Pontiac, Mich. He planned to move his family to Michigan but he soon decided he wanted to remain in Culver.

He has now found a position in South Bend as instructor in the job retraining program so the board reappointed him to his former position, including the trusteeship of ward three.

No action was taken concerning the odor at the sewage plant, according to Mrs. C. B. Lennon, town clerk. The consulting engineer D. H. Lessig, Warsaw, has taken the problem under advisement and he will discuss the situation with the board at a later date.

The next regularly scheduled meeting of the Board is next Monday night, Nov. 2, at the Town Hall.

Long Campaign In Closing Stage; Voting On Tuesday

Long gruelling weeks and months of political campaigning draw to a close this weekend as county, state and national candidates await the irrevocable verdict of the voters on Election Day, Tuesday, Nov. 3.

Voters have had full exposure to the principal issues of the campaign, both at local and state as well as national level. The political pot was stirred by frequent and major forays into major Indiana cities by both Republican Senator Barry Goldwater and Congressman William Miller, and their Democratic opponents, President Johnson and Senator Hubert Humphrey. Widespread radio, TV and newspaper coverage accompanied the candidates.

Sample Ballots

As a service to residents of Culver and the surrounding area, The Citizen is publishing in this issue sample ballots containing the slates of candidates for both the Republican and the Democratic parties.

The five Union Township polling places will be open, as throughout the state, from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Locations of the polling places are given elsewhere on this page.

Voting Procedure

Voters who are unfamiliar with voting procedure are urged to read the voting instructions carefully which are posted in every polling place. Upon entering, the voter will first place his or her signature in the registration book, confirming that he or she is duly registered to vote.

The qualified voter is then given a ballot that has been initialed by the election board. He enters the voting booth and marks his ballot; then he folds the ballot and places it in the ballot box himself or hands it to a clerk who does so in his presence.

To vote the straight party ticket, an "X" is placed in the circle heading the column of party candidates desired. When voting a split ticket, the circle heading the column is not marked, and the small squares are marked opposite the names of the desired candidates.

Baby Sitting Service

The Culver Girl Scouts have volunteered their services for free baby sitting from 2 to 6 p.m. on Election Day, Nov. 3. The Cadettes and sixth-grade girls will work in teams of twos; the senior members will work singly. If necessary, transportation will be furnished for the baby sitter to and from the voter's home.

Those voters desiring this baby sitter service may engage same by calling Mrs. Jack Spencer at Viking 2-2423; Union Township Republican Headquarters, Viking 2-2052; or Viking 2-2160.

Transportation Furnished

As in the past, transportation is offered to those voters who require it by calling Union Township Republican Headquarters at Viking 2-2052.

south of Culver, was ablaze and it was feared the conflagration would spread to the Faulkner home. This fire was brought under control in due time without any damage resulting.

Area residents are cautioned to be extremely careful now as the landscape is very dry and the extra fire hazard of fallen leaves also increases the fire threat.

Voter's Choice, 1964

(Reprinted From The New York Daily News)

As the 1964 presidential campaign roars along, it becomes plainer each day that the voters this year have a choice between a really conservative candidate and a real "liberal" or radical.

This hasn't happened since 1936, when "liberal" Franklin D. Roosevelt (Dem.) ran for re-election against conservative Alf M. Landon (Rep.), and took every state save Maine and Vermont.

In 1940, '44, '48, '52, '56 and '60, the two parties' presidential candidates differed little in political philosophies.

This year, all that is changed. Senator Barry M. Goldwater of Arizona, GOP nominee, is a genuine conservative. Democratic President Lyndon B. Johnson, running for election to his first full term in the White House, is a "liberal" and, according to some, an out-and-out radical.

This is an indorsement of nobody. We're letting that ride. But we thought that in this space today we would outline what the voter will be voting for next Nov. 3, depending on which ticket gets his or her ballot.

If you vote for Barry M. Goldwater you will be voting for a man who believes the Federal government is too big and powerful for the good of the people, and is meddling too much in the lives of all of us.

Accordingly, a President Goldwater would strive to get Congress to cut back the Federal government in virtually all departments except that of defense.

Believing in sound Federal financing, a President Goldwater would be much more unhappy about Federal deficits than is President Johnson, and could be counted on to fight them.

The Goldwater foreign policy would be much like that of the Eisenhower administration when John Foster Dulles was secretary of state.

Mr. Dulles believed that, if you face up to Communists and stare them down from a position of strength, they drop whatever aggressions they may be planning against you or the free world at the moment.

Dulles proved the worth of this theory in Lebanon in 1958, when U.S. Marines deflated a Communist takeover threat; also in the Taiwan (Formosa) area, by simply refusing to abandon Chiang Kai-shek and his Nationalist Chinese to Red China.

In general, a Goldwater administration could be expected to be tough in foreign policy and stingy about domestic and foreign giveaways.

If you vote for Lyndon B. Johnson you'll be voting in favor of continuing and enlarging the welfare-state practices which began moving into Washington in President F. D. Roosevelt's first term (1933-37).

President Johnson first went to Washington as a Roosevelt New Dealer, and he hasn't ditched that philosophy.

At best, New Dealers sincerely believe that Big Government can make many more people happy and prosperous than can private enterprise and individual effort. At worst, they believe cynically in the late Harry L. Hopkins' "spend and spend, tax and tax, elect and elect."

The Johnson administration, like the Kennedy regime which it succeeded on President Kennedy's assassination, is making accommodations to and agreement with Communist governments. It feels this is the way to head off a nuclear war and eventually butter the Reds out of their generations-old determination to enslave mankind.

You'll be voting for more U.S.-Red deals if you vote for L. B. Johnson — and there will be no guarantee that he won't start huddling up to Red China if he wins next Nov. 3.

Yep, voters, there is a choice this year.

She studied in Europe in Munich, Germany, and at the academy in Vienna.

Increased Social Security Benefits For Disabled

About 122 disabled people and dependents in the South Bend area will become eligible for social security disability insurance benefits or will have benefits they are now receiving increased, according to Mr. Charles E. Burke, social security district manager in South Bend.

The benefits and increases are provided by a new amendment to the social security law which changes the rule for setting the date on which a worker's "period of disability" started.

The new law removes a time limit which went into effect in July 1962 and permits the beginning of the "period of disability" for benefit purposes to be set at the time the worker actually became disabled. The change does not liberalize the requirements of the law in any way except to permit the actual date of disability to be recognized. Mr. Burke pointed out. It affects only people who worked under social security for at least five of the ten years before they became disabled and who applied after July 2, 1962, or have not yet applied.

"We have the names and addresses of those who applied, and we either have already written to them or we will within a few days," Mr. Burke said. They do not need to take any action right away, but if they do not hear from us within two weeks they should call or write us."

"On the other hand, Mr. Burke emphasized, there may be many former workers who are now disabled but who have never asked at the social security office to find out whether they may be eligible for social security disability insurance benefits. Some people did not apply because they realized that they were not eligible since they had waited beyond the time limit for filing an application. Others may not have heard about disability benefits. We want to hear from them as soon as possible."

Increases in benefits now being paid will be retroactive to November 1963 and will be paid with the checks to be delivered early in December. People newly eligible for benefits because of the amendment will receive back payments to November 1963 if they apply before the end of November 1964.

Appreciation Day Observed By The Culver Girl Scouts

Oct. 31, the birthday of Juliette Low, founder of Girl Scouts in the United States, is being celebrated across the country as Appreciation Day. Troops are expressing their appreciation to their many friends.

Monday evening, Oct. 26, Culver Girl Scouts gathered for their annual birthday party given by their sponsors, the Maxinkuckee Junior Woman's Club. Before the festivities began the girls took the opportunity of this gathering to present several certificates of appreciation. To the Culver-Union Township United Fund a certificate was presented in appreciation of their financial support. Without this support the fine Girl Scout program would not be available. Mrs. Clarence Clarno, secretary of the United Fund accepted the award. The Maxinkuckee Junior Woman's Club was given a "Recognition of Troop Sponsorship" certificate. The loyal support of this organization has made Girl Scouting in Culver a success. These two awards were presented in the name of Girl Scouts by Junior Girl Scout, Anita Wajtowicz.

The final award was fittingly presented by Cadette Girl Scout, Jacquie Welsh to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Larry R. Welsh. Both Mr. and Mrs. Welsh have been very active in Girl Scouting, not only in Culver, but throughout the Northern Indiana Girl Scout Council of which Culver is a part. Mrs. Welsh is a leader of Cadette Troop 148 and Senior Troop 183.

She was director of the Day Camp serving the Culver area this past summer and a unit leader at the established camp. Mr. Welsh is on the Development Committee for the new camp. The Scouts and Leaders presented this certificate to the Welshes to express their thanks for all the time and devotion they have given Girl Scouting.

The Scouts wish to take this opportunity to express their thanks to all their leaders, past and present. The leader is the most important link between the girls and the Scout program. Without a leader there can be no troop. At present there is still a need for leaders at the Brownie Scout level. Approximately 50 little girls are eagerly awaiting to join scouting.

Editor, CITIZEN:

Like most of the people who have read the book "None Dare Call It Treason" by John A. Stormer, I am very much disturbed by it. I am sure that the readers of this newspaper are intelligent and reasonable enough to want to know the other side of the story in order to arrive at sound conclusions. I might add that, since I am an independent voter, I have no political axe to grind.

Because of limitations of time and space, I will confine my comments to the most important criticisms in the chapter on religion.

Mr. Stormer writes about the "much-smearred" Air Force Manual. On January 4, 1960, the United States Air Force issued a training manual for non-commissioned officers in the Air Reserves. In the section on subversion statements were made that Communists, fellow-travellers, and Communist sympathizers had successfully infiltrated into the churches of this country, that some pastors were even card-carrying Communists, and that 30 of the 95 people who were connected with the Revised Standard Version of the Bible, which was officially sponsored by the National Council of Churches, had been affiliated with pro-Communist groups.

What are the facts?

Since the Communist party abolished its membership cards at least 14 years ago, there could not possibly be any card-carrying Communist pastors; there are no cards.

An impartial investigation showed that 91, not 95 people had any connection with the Revised Standard Version. Of the 30 persons named in the Manual, only 12 were on the translation committee. Only 8 of these 12 were associated with any organization listed as subversive by a Federal agency. There is detailed proof that these men belonged to such organizations only during the period when Russia and the United States were allies.

Where did the accusations against these men originate? They came from two pamphlets written by Billy James Hargis, who belonged to the Disciples of Christ until he was dropped from its list of accredited ministers in 1957. Although Hargis is not mentioned by name in Stormer's book, his "Christian Crusade" is recommended.

These pamphlets were based on a booklet entitled "30 of the 95", by Meyers Lowman. He is head of an organization praised by John Stormer, "Circuit Riders, Inc." Even though it is composed primarily of Methodist laymen, it has been repudiated by the Methodist Church. The General Assembly of this church asks "any organization which has charges, to make them through our church courts so that a jury of peers of the accused may judge the truth or falsity of the accusation." Instead, Mr. Lowman has published the names of over 7,000 ministers and theological school professors who, according to him, have supported Communist fronts and causes. He names 90 organizations as being subversive, yet only 18 are on the Attorney General's official list and only 18 more are on the list of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. The remaining 54 are not on any Federal list. Furthermore, much of his information dates back to 1933, when Roosevelt first gave American recognition to the Communist regime in Russia. During the war years many patriotic Americans joined organizations friendly to Russia because it was one of our allies. Any one who studies the rosters of these organizations dating from 1933 to 1958, when the Cold War began, and accuses the people who belonged of having Communist leanings now, is obviously prejudiced.

Incidentally, when Robert Welch, whose John Birch Society is also recommended by Stormer, repeated the charge that about 3% of Protestant ministers are Communists or "Consymp's" in a speech in December, 1961, Methodist Bishop Richard C. Raines asked in a public statement that Mr. Welch "come forward and name them. I ought to know." To date, Welch has not responded to this challenge.

Another man whose newspaper, the "Christian Beacon", and radio program, the "Twentieth Century Reformation Hour" are recommended by Mr. Stormer, is the Reverend Carl McIntire. Formerly a minister in the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., he was tried and dismissed in 1936. He became pastor of a small Bible Presbyterian Church, a denomination which he established, in Collinswood, New Jersey. According to the New York Post "Post Daily Magazine" dated March 31, 1964, he is opposed to "racial integration, social welfare legislation, labor unions, the UN, the Catholic Church, and the National Council of Churches."

In connection with the Air Force Manual, Mr. Stormer does state that church groups protested vehemently concerning the charges, and that Congress investigated. He neglects to add that soon afterwards Defense officials apologized and withdrew the Manual.

Mr. Stormer and similar critics use as their chief sources of "documentation" quotations from one another, their own writings inserted in the Congressional Record by sympathetic Congressmen, and testimony (frequently their own) before the H.C.U.A. (House Committee on Un-American Activities).

Several quotations by J. Edgar Hoover are used in the book "None Dare Call It Treason," but here is one which is not included. "America's clergy are today doing a magnificent job . . . the overwhelming majority of our clergymen are today wholly loyal to our nation and are working to protect our freedoms. This is not the time for name-calling, for unfounded accusations or publicity-seeking charges designed to confuse, divide and weaken. The clergy of America need the full support of patriotic Americans in our common struggle against the enemy." ("Crusader" magazine, June, 1961)

John Stormer and the men he admires could fight Communism far better if instead of spreading doubt, discord, and hate, which help the Communist cause, they used the positive approach of brotherly love.

Tractors are involved in most fatal farm power accidents. Safe operation requires a competent driver and adherence to a tractor's capabilities.

Insecticides and other poisons are usually found in larger quantities around farms than in most homes, so farmers should be acutely aware of safe storage and application methods.

Use a lathered percolater brush to scrub can openers permanently attached to the wall, suggest Purdue University home management specialists.

Col. C. McKinney, Revered CMA Ex-Commandant, Dies

COL. C. F. McKINNEY

Col. Charles F. McKinney, one of the most loved and respected members of the Culver Military Academy staff for 42 years, died Tuesday, Oct. 27, at the Cardinal Nursing Home, South Bend, where he and Mrs. McKinney have lived for the past year.

Colonel McKinney was known to thousands of Culver cadets during the years he served as commandant between 1936 and 1956. Symbolic of the high regard in which he was held by Academy graduates, he was presented upon his retirement in 1956 with a scroll that read:

"As cadets we aspired to leadership, thoughtfulness, courage, and manliness. You were our exemplar. As men we are silently guided by this instilled sense of duty and honor. Knowledge made us men. You gave us knowledge. On the occasion of your retirement as commandant of cadets, we express humble thanks to the man who will continue to be our guide, inspiration, and friend."

The scroll was signed by 21 senior captains who had served under Colonel McKinney during his years as commandant.

Born in Harrison, Ark., in 1891, Colonel McKinney moved with his family to Vernon, Texas, two years later. He enrolled as a cadet at Culver in 1908 and was graduated, as the senior captain, in 1912. Colonel McKinney became commandant of cadets at Allegheny Collegiate Institute in 1914 and returned to Culver a year later as aide-to-the-commandant.

In 1915, Colonel McKinney was called to active duty as a captain in the U.S. Army. Serving in Italy during World War I, he was severely wounded by a mortar shell in September, 1918, and was removed to a French hospital in December. A year later, he miraculously recovered from his serious head wounds and returned to Culver as the commandant's aide.

Colonel McKinney's service to Culver spanned more than four decades, and the most significant part of it was those years between 1936 and 1956 when he was commandant. In a position that demanded firmness and yet understanding, he became one of the most memorable figures to his colleagues on the faculty as well as the cadets. In reference to his position as commandant, he once said:

"Psychologists recognize the necessity of making automatic early in life as many useful habits as possible. The military system of discipline and citizenship training is an ideal instrument for the accomplishment of this purpose provided it is carefully and sympathetically applied." The emphasis was on the words "carefully and sympathetically," and it was these attributes that characterized Colonel McKinney's years as commandant.

Colonel McKinney is survived by his widow, of South Bend; two children, Charles F., South Bend, and Peter S., Arlington, Mass.; and six grandchildren.

Full military services will be held at 3:30 p.m. Friday, Oct. 30, in the Memorial Chapel on the Academy campus. Rev. Allen F. Bray III, Academy chaplain, will officiate.

The W. A. Fleet American Legion Post No. 103 will conduct graveside rites at the Culver Masonic Cemetery.

Friends may call after noon on Thursday at the Easterday-Bonine Funeral Home in Culver.

THREE-YEAR RAINFALL SHORTAGE

Current shortages of rainfall over most of Indiana are only a small part of an extended period of well below normal rainfall which began about 2 1/2 years ago, points out James E. Newman, agricultural climatologist at Purdue University.

In fact, reports Newman, 1961 was the last year in which U.S. Weather Bureau records show above average rainfall for most of the state.

Normal to above normal precipitation was recorded during only four months in 1962 and four months in 1963 on a statewide basis. So far this year, only three months have recorded rainfall in excess of the long-time state average.

Newman says these alternate wet and extended dry periods have followed similar patterns for the past 30 to 32 months. For example, June, July and August averaged out on the dry side in 1962 and 1963, and will do so in 1964. But, the Julys were wet in all three years.

The autumns and winters of 1962 and 1963 were extremely dry. The three spring months over the past three years have been dry on the average, but all have recorded at least one wet month.

The climatologist feels that perhaps this consistent pattern can be attributed to influences of upper atmosphere winds — 10 to 50 miles up — which change direction less often than surface winds.

BIOCHEMISTS SEEK HELP FOR VASCULAR DISEASES

Biochemists at Purdue University are studying blood plasma from 10 animal species, including humans, to learn more about possible help for vascular diseases.

They have isolated and produced purified plasminogen, the inactive or pro-enzyme in plasma which, when activated, can dissolve blood clots. Clotting of the blood in blood vessels causes coronary thrombosis and other difficulties.

Dr. Edwin T. Mertz, Purdue biochemist and project leader in a paper presented at the annual conference of the American Society of Biological Chemists in Chicago, explains the research this way:

Plasminogen plays an important role in keeping the blood fluid in healthy, normal bodies. When tiny clots form, the plasminogen system is activated and quickly disposes of the clot before there is any trouble, Mertz says.

The research has studied acti-vators for the plasminogen — materials which activate it to form plasmin, the active enzyme which actually dissolves the clot.

If we had an excellent activator, Mertz explains, one which could perhaps be injected into a person with a coronary thrombosis, this might activate the plasminogen in the blood clot in this person. It could save his life if it dissolves the clot.

Mertz reports that streptokinase, one activator which has been used in medical practice with some success, was highly effective in plasma of humans, cats and monkeys. Another activator tested was urokinase, which is effective in 10 animal species. Thus far, however, no known activator has proved to be ideal.

In producing human plasminogen which was 95 per cent pure, the biochemists used a process of continuous flow electrophoresis.

Working with Mertz are Purdue biochemistry graduate students R. J. Wulf, J. Y. S. Chan, F. M. Holpfinger and R. J. Sperka.

Babson Discusses The Story Of Aluminum

Babson Park, Mass. — From 1825 — when aluminum was first separated by Oersted, and again by Wohler in 1827 — until 1886, the metal was a laboratory curiosity costing some $160 a pound. In that year Charles Martin Hall, then only 22 years old, discovered the first practical electrolytic method for reducing the metal.

In Its Beginning

Even as a youngster Charles Martin Hall had determined to be an inventor. While he was an undergraduate in Oberlin College, he was spurred on by a remark by Frank F. Jewett — professor of chemistry and mineralogy at Oberlin — that great benefits and financial success would come from devising a method of producing aluminum on a commercial scale. Over a span of five years he conducted hundreds of experiments. Then, on February 23, 1886, he dissolved alumina in molten cryolite in a tiny carbon crucible and passed an electric current through the solution, producing the first tiny beads of nearly pure aluminum.

As has happened in other cases, the same method was discovered in France at about the same time by another 22-year-old by the name of Paul Heroult. The commercial method of reduction of aluminum today is known as the Hall-Heroult process.

How $20,000 Started The Business

Young Hall had his troubles in expanding his discovery into a successful business. Most businessmen he approached were not interested, or offered to take all the profits and leave him only the glory. Finally a group of Pittsburgh businessmen raised the necessary $20,000 to form the Pittsburgh Reduction Company. Further difficulties were encountered in trying to sell the metal to firms that would fabricate it.

Hall and his associates learned to cast, roll, forge, draw, and stamp the metal in order to sell it as a finished product. Thus the traditional method of expanding the use of aluminum took shape as the primary manufacturer first showed the way and then passed his knowledge along to manufacturers.

Subsequent Growth

The most popular form of aluminum sold in the early years was sheet aluminum. Then around the turn of the century the extrusion process was introduced. This was to have a profound effect on fabrication of aluminum products. In the early 1900's it was realized that to increase the use of aluminum it must be strengthened. Hence methods for making aluminum alloys were introduced.

Most of the early supply of bauxite came from France. A big step forward occurred when the ore was discovered in Arkansas. Later discoveries were made in the Caribbean, in Canada, South America, and Australia. On January 1, 1907 the Pittsburgh Reduction Company changed its name to the Aluminum Company of America.

Becomes Big Business

World War I saw great growth in the uses of aluminum by both the Allies and the Germans. During the 1920's there was rapid expansion in its use for foil, auto bodies, pistons, furniture packaging, and home products. Steady growth followed in the 1930's. It took World War II, however, to produce the "Aluminum Revolution," which enabled the Allies to win final victory over Hitler's Germany.

Although more than 75 years have passed since Hall's discovery of the electrolytic method of reducing aluminum, the basic process used today is the same as that discovered in his woodshed in Oberlin. From one single plant producing 20,000 pounds of aluminum in 1889, the industry has grown to an annual capacity of nearly six billion pounds.

Billions In Ideas
All major markets greatly increased their use of aluminum in 1963, when U.S. shipments were up 11.5% to set a new record. I forecast still wider use of aluminum in container packaging and in the building and electrical industries. U.S. shipments in 1964 could easily total 7,390,000,000 pounds. And our rapidly expanding economy will use much larger amounts than that in the years immediately ahead.

ing economy will use much larger amounts than that in the years immediately ahead.

This story of the Aluminum Company of America — major factor in the aluminum success story — should encourage all young people who have an IDEA. Starting with a modest capital of $20,000 scraped together to found the company, ALCOA has multiplied that original investment a fantastic 100,000 times with gross properties valued at close to $2 billion today!

Before scrubbing brick or cement floors, rinse them off to prevent dirty water from soaking in, recommend home management specialists at Purdue University.

FALL STYLES IN MEN'S SLACKS

This fall's styles in slacks for men feature adjustable waistbands fitted closer to the natural waistline, changes in decorative detail and in the kind and placement of pockets.

Fall styles are trim but not tight in both pleatless and single-pleat styles, reports Mrs. Bonita Farmer, clothing specialist at Purdue University. The amount of taper will depend upon an individual's build and preferences.

There are fabrics and fibers to please each person's taste. Cotton is a favorite in chino and whipcord fabrics. Acrylic fibers give warmth without weight and are often blended with wool and the improved resins. Polyester fibers, often blended with wool, have built-in ease of care and resilience. Wool slacks, which may be permanently creased, provide both warmth and resilience.

In general, the specialist says, a fabric with a firm weave keeps its shape better, holds a press longer and is more desirable than a fabric with a loose weave. If you want to reduce up-keep costs, choose color mixtures rather than plain colors, dark colors rather than light.

Fabric finishes to improve wear and decrease care include moth-proofing for wools, water and soil repellency for cotton.

To look well slacks should fit smoothly and easily about the waist and hips. Select slacks that hang straight from the waist and do not sag in the seat, knees or along the length of the leg. Cuffed or cuffless, slack legs should barely brush the shoe tops. Do not select slacks that are cut so full as to appear sloppy or interfere with easy movements, cautions the specialist.

Signs of quality construction include seams that are wide and finished with stitching or seam tape; generous pockets made of closely woven fabric stitched twice with enclosed edges; and securely sewn buttons and belt loops.

Clearance Sale Of S. J. Rossa Grocery Marks End Of Era At Maxinkuckee Landing

An era in the history of Maxinkuckee Landing is coming to a close with the clearance sale of the building, merchandise, and fixtures of the S. J. Rossa Grocery, located at 1352 East Shore Drive, Culver. Their full-page ad will be noted elsewhere in this issue of The Citizen.

Pictured above are Mr. and Mrs. Rossa in front of their grocery and food market in 1932, shortly after they moved here from Milwaukee, Wis. The building remains pretty much the same today except that the roof over the gasoline pumps has been removed. The water wheel, obtained from the old Academy Homestead, continues to run as it has for years, making the red brick building more picturesque, and furnishing unmistakable identification. The original frame store building was erected in 1905 by John Bigley's father, Guy T. Bigley, and also housed the telephone exchange service. This structure was consumed by fire a short time later and the present brick edifice was erected closer to the roadway.

Supplying the area with food stuffs, drugs, hardware items, etc., the Rossas have been Standard Oil dealers for the past 32 years.

Sig Rossa and his wife, the former Juelett Sherry, say their future plans are very uncertain at this time. However, they do plan a relaxed visit with their daughter, Mrs. A. R. Barnes, and four grandchildren in St. Joe, Mich.

After the much anticipated visit, this well-known local couple hope that with their time their own now, some of their dreams will become realities.

Callers in the Frank Cowen home on Sunday were Mrs. James Ashby of South Bend and her houseguest, Mrs. Ward Bowen of Albany, N.Y., and Archie Minx of Plymouth. Mrs. Bowen is the former Lela Coleman who lived in Plymouth years ago when her father, the Rev. John Coleman, was pastor of the Wesleyan Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Russell of Oaktown were Thursday supper and overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Kepcha and Sandra. The Russells attended Institute at Ft. Wayne on Friday and spent some time with their son, Ronald Jr., and Mrs. Russell at Warsaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Blocker and family spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Snep and children at North Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. William Town and family of Bremen called at the Al Yoder and Carroll Thompson homes Sunday afternoon.

Oscar Zehner continues to improve from burns received in a combine fire on Oct. 12. Callers in the Zehner home during the week were the Rev. W. Ray Kuhn, Jerry Wilhelm, Don Swoverland, Bill Cronin, Everett Gibbons, Robert Kepler, Charles Goheen, George Hall, Otto Chesak of North Judson, Gerald Schwartz of Knox.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Zehner and family and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Zehner of Plymouth, Mr. and Mrs. Orvin Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Ringer, Mr. and Mrs. John Kepcha and Sandra, and Mrs. Dean Newcomb of Rochester. David and Vance Zehner are visiting the Harold Zehners at Plymouth and Mary Alice and Ruth Ann Zehner spent their long weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Dean Newcomb at Rochester.

INDIANA FARM LAND VALUES HIT RECORD HIGH

Indiana farm real estate values continued their upward trend through July 1, reaching a record high.

State-federal agricultural statisticians at Purdue University report that the farm real estate index stood at 120 last July 1. They used the years 1957-59 as 100.

This new peak represents an advance of two index points from the level of 118 last March 1, and a seven-point rise from the 113 figure of July 1, 1963.

The statisticians point out that the new high marks complete recovery from the minor slump of farm real estate values in 1961.

In terms of dollars and cents, the average value of Hoosier farm land per acre with buildings last March 1 amounted to $293, compared to $272 an acre March 1, 1963. Average value per farm last March 1 was $47,100.

Academy Sports

The Culver Military Academy Eagles racked up six touchdowns winning 40-13 at Delafield, Wis., Saturday, and they hope this is an omen of the 6-2 record they can register for the football season by winning the two remaining games.

Culver (4-2) faces undefeated New Carlisle in an away game Friday night at 7:30 and closes the grid campaign against West Lafayette in a home contest Saturday, Nov. 7.

New Carlisle has won six, lost none and tied two. The Eagles are one of the two remaining teams that can mar Carlisle's unbeaten record.

"You can't take an unbeaten team lightly," said Eagle Coach Russ Oliver, "and our final game isn't going to be easy either. West Lafayette has only lost one game."

The Eagle team won its fourth of the season Saturday against St. John's Military Academy at Delafield, Wis., by coming from behind in the second quarter to score 19 points.

Culver ran and passed for 463 yards while compiling 40 points via six touchdowns, a safety and two extra points.

"The ground game (254 yards) set up our passes by freeing our receivers. Twice receivers were wide open," said Coach Oliver. His team's passing attack gained 209 yards on nine of 11 completions.

Quarterback Lander Carter threw for two scores and scored another on a two-yard run. He passed to Jeff Diamond for 31 yards in the second quarter and hit Fred Schumacher in the third quarter on a 22-yard pass and run tally.

Halfback Jeff Hand took a pitchout from Carter in the final quarter and threw to John Eckert for a six-pointer. This was the second time this season this play has worked. Hand threw 35 yards to end Steve Schwaiger in the end zone for a touchdown against Habart River Forest in the opening game — won by Culver 20-7.

Other Culver scores came on a 28-yard run in the first quarter and Jack Trimble's recovery of a blocked punt in the St. John's end zone.

National Honor Society Initiation

By Jeanne Adams

To refresh your memory or to inform you, I will give you a little background on the National Honor Society.

The election of members shall be by a chapter council, consisting of the principal and four teachers.

Article VIII of the National Honor Society says that: "Initiation of those properly elected to membership shall be held before the entire student body with a fitting initiation ceremony, after which the members will be presented individually with a Pin and Certificate of Membership."

Jim Boswell, president, told of the honor bestowed upon a member of this organization. He reminded the audience that scholarship alone will not admit a student into the National Honor Society.

To introduce scholarship, represented by Joan Dillon, Jim said, "Knowledge is one great element in life which leads to the highest success.

the future. Where there is not vision, the people perish."

The gold of the sash of scholarship symbolizes the light of knowledge as it shines in the darkness of ignorance.

1. Freedom — for knowledge is truth and "the truth will make you free."

2. A Chance to Succeed — you hold your success in your willingness to learn.

3. A Place in the Future — the sky won't be your limit, but your knowledge will be.

Leadership, Jim Lewis, said that the blue of his sash represents the royal aspect of leadership. There are many ways that we as students may demonstrate leadership.

The third speaker, Jim Weirick, said that the white sash symbolizes the purity of character for which everyone in this society must strive. Knowledge may make a man ruthless, service may make him vain, leadership may make him domineering, but character will make him the richest man of all times — rich not with gold that corrupts, but rich with virtue which lasts through time and to eternity.

In your youth, character will help you through dangerous tests and remember, if you lose it, you lose your way in the great experience we call life.

"My red sash symbolizes the unselfish devotion which gives itself to the service of one's home, church, and nation," said Linda Thurin. There are many ways to give service to our school and our community. What good is scholarship if the scholar does not use his knowledge for others, what good is leadership if the leader doesn't serve his followers faithfully, and what good is character if it isn't an example

Grades Are Enjoying Autumn

By Pat Ogden

Booo-ooooo! Halloween has arrived for the children, and with it all the fun of witches, ghosts, and trick-or-treating.

Mrs. Melton, Kindergarten: We answer roll call by saying "present." Recently in answering roll call one child answered "president." Election talk?

Mrs. Barton, grade 1: We have been collecting colored leaves for science. It was interesting and fun making colored leaf prints with them.

Mrs. McLane, grade 1: Richard Jett was seven years old Oct. 16. We took a fall trip to find nuts and leaves. We are making jack-o-lanterns and cutting animals from construction paper.

Miss Page, grade 2: We have finished our second unit in reading.

Mrs. Shirrell, grade 2: Patricia Cole celebrated her birthday Oct. 20. She was eight years old.

Mrs. Carter, grade 3: Our room won first prize in the summer reading club. The first prize of $30 is to be spent for books for our room library. We are making halloween decorations for our room. We have a new boy, John Ryser, who came from Rossville, Ind.

Mrs. Hartman, grade 4: Our class has studied about the cultural differences between the main classifications of early North American Indians. The students have been collecting Indian pictures and artifacts, in addition to writing reports concerning early North American Indian culture.

Mrs. Manis, grade 6: We have memorized our third poem, "There Was an Indian." The sixth grade band has just been formed. In reading, we are studying a unit called, "Just For Fun." This unit is composed of nonsense stories which strike a light note of enjoyment and help to expand the literary interests of the children. We have studied a Finnish story about a pigheaded wife which taught the children a moral.

Mrs. Schriker, grade 6: We have made models of heating systems for science. Some of the children made models of gas heating systems, some used coal heating systems, depending on what they used at home. The children who made models are John Adams, Angela Liette, Kenny Baker, Rodney Stubbs, Mike Van Horn, Pat Walter, and Theresa Smith. David Williams constructed a thermo nuclear reactor, a heating system of the future, which submarines now use. In health we are making safety posters to put on display in the halls. There will be a contest, and the ones with the best posters will receive a prize.

An Examination

By Sue Cole

Once a year all juniors and seniors planning to further their education after graduation may take an examination to measure the basic knowledge they have acquired during school — the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test.

When the test scores arrive at the office in December, students may compare their scores with those of students all over the country. This is helpful in predicting how a student may fare in college. Perhaps the greatest aid from the PSAT is that it is very similar to the SAT which many colleges require for entry. The practice is a great help.

The test itself does not depend on the person's recall ability, but on his ability to use simple reasoning. The test consists of two parts: verbal and mathematics.

Many parts are included under the verbal section. Of these there are antonyms — 1. agile . . . (A) nimble, (B) clumsy, (C) useless, (D) timid, (E) ugly; sentence completions — 2. Where the world is going is of no particular concern to him; that it is sufficient . . . (A) flourishes, (B) acts, (C) moves, (D) grows, (E) triumphs; analogies — 3. football: sport:: (A) frame: picture, (B) clock:time, (C) gourmet:food, (D) cherry:fruit, (E) intelligence:personality; reading comprehension — a selection is printed and several questions follow.

The math section contains simple mathematical problems which can be solved by using basic principles.

All the questions are multiple choice. Each part lasts one hour. Therefore, the test itself takes two hours of work, with a break in between parts.

This test is also used in qualifying students for a number of scholarships. Culver High School students are eligible for two of these: the national Honor Society Scholarship and the Tulleride Scholarship.

Culver Indians Open Season At Home November 6 Taller Tribe Faces South Central Foe

By EARL MISHLER

With October rapidly drawing to a close, Hoosier hardwood hopefuls are heading into the last bases of practice in preparation for opening night come November.

Our own Culver Indians, depending Plymouth Sectional champions, are getting ready for their Nov. 6 debut against South Central at home.

Starting his fourth season at HS, Coach Gene Crosley has announced that eleven boys, seven seniors and four juniors, will comprise the 1964-65 Varsity. Five senior lettermen return from last year's great 18-6 team, including two-time letterwinners Jim Boswell and Dave Lemar. Doug Lindvall, Bob Eustis, and Jim Lewis also are back, each having earned one letter.

Up from last year's 9-10 B-team are seniors Jim Weirick and Paul Liette, and juniors like Eustis, Dan Haenes, Bruce Lindvall, and Andy Lowry. M. Eustis and Haenes will see action with the Papooses again this year.

It appears that Crosley has all the material needed for an even more successful season than 1963-64. Sam Lowry and Paul White will be missed, especially for their consistent outside shooting. But the possibility of lower shooting percentages should be more than compensated for by the huge increase in height and the added experience.

However, the fact remains that Plymouth Sectional winner has been able to repeat since Laz won three in a row in 1964-6. The dangers of overconfidence and complacency seem to be magnified when players get to the winning habit. In addition, Crosley must succeed in avoiding defensive collapses such as the one which cost last year's tribe three straight games in February.

As was the case last season, terrific battles are being waged in starting positions. Lemar and Boswell appear to be the only fire-fire regulars. Dave, the team's leading rebounder last year at 6'0" and 200 pounds, will move back to forward after playing center in the Sectional.

When he bears down, Lemar can be as good as they come in this area, but he has yet to prove he can play a full season of consistent basketball.

Boswell has grown to 6'1", extremely tall for a high school guard. Jim has added a jump shot to his repertoire to supplement his patented wrong-foot outside shot.

A front line battle is being waged among lettermen 6'1" D. Lindvall and 6'3" B. Eustis and newcomer Lowry. Andy, a strong 6'4" is a center, and Doug is a forward, but Bob plays either and is challenging both for the starting berths.

The guard position opposite Boswell is also wide open. 5'8" Lewis, who as a freshman once dressed for the Varsity yet has never started a game, may finally get his chance. But 6'0" junior B. Lindvall has made the transition from forward to guard, and has been impressive in early practice sessions. Ironically, Bruce last season set a modern B-Team scoring record, breaking Lewis' mark set the preceding year. In addition, 5'10" Liette is still in the running, having showed an improved shot and his typical great hustle.

All eight of these boys will see a great deal of action, and 5'11" Weirick makes a very capable ninth man. Haenes, 5'9", and 5'11" M. Eustis will see only limited Varsity action.

In short, the squad has depth, size, speed, experience, and scoring punch. The weaknesses which could easily stand in the way of a great season appear to be defense and overconfidence.

In Gene Crosley, the Tribe also has a shrewd strategist. Having had great success with such "brainstorms" as his "matching" zone defense and the unorthodox "overload" man-to-man offense, Crosley has shown indications of unveiling more new stratagems this season.

As usual the CHS schedule is extremely rugged. New opponents this year will be Culver Miltary Academy and Lewis Cass High School, replacing Lakeville and Aubbeenaubbee Township. The new consolidation of Caston will replace North Caston on the schedule.

Coaching this year's B-Team is Bill Stegemoller, who guided the Varsity cross-country to a highly successful season this fall. The Papooses may have a good season, but the fact that more older boys (in fact, seven juniors, counting Eustis and Haenes) will be playing lessons their worth in future value.

Jaycee Dance Is Successful

By Marsha Guise and Cindee Lemar

"Man, look at that wild jacket!"

"Yea, that's the Little Monster."

In case you didn't get to the dance last Friday night, these were a few of the comments heard.

The Jaycees sponsored a dance Friday, Oct. 16, for the youth of the area, in the high school gym. The D.J. Cliff Willis, is from the WTCA radio station in Plymouth. He calls himself the Little Monster, and we can easily see why after noticing the unusual jackets he wore.

One of the highlights of the evening was the snowball dance. John Milner and Suzi Overmyer led the dance, and when the Little Monster said snowball, they changed partners. Before long the floor was crowded.

Along with this, there were two dance contests. Jim Weirick and partner took the honors for the fast dance and Gary Burkett and his partner won the slow dance contest. Both couples won a record.

Along with free chips and 5¢ cokes, everyone enjoyed the hep chaperons. Ron Tusing and Joe Anderlohr really added to an enjoyable evening by dancing with a few of the girls. Right gang?

In conclusion, we'd like to thank all the Jaycees. Everyone had a really great time and we sincerely hope you have another dance in the near future.

SPORTS NEWS

By Steve Bair

On Tuesday, Oct. 13, Culver's Cross Country team ran a meet here with Oregon-Davis. Paul Hatten, running first all the way, won the race in a record tying time of ten minutes and seven seconds. George Wright was third in with a time of 10:13 and Bob Crow was seventh with a time of 10:32. Although the boys thought they had won, the meet finished in a 28 to 28 tie.

Friday, Oct. 13, Culver's Cross Country team traveled to Wabash to run in the sectional against some of the state's top teams. The boys did the best they could although they didn't finish well. Paul Hatten, our first man, placed 24th and George Wright placed 30th out of a possible 118 places.

Culver's fine Cross Country team finished with a record of 15 wins, 5 losses and 1 tie, while the baseball team finished with an 8.0 record. We would like to take this opportunity to congratulate Coaches Crosley and Stegmoller for this great fall record. Let's give them a big hand!

A Note Or Two On The Coming Basketball Season

(It's just around the corner, you know!)
By Dave Lemar

There is something about Indiana basketball which wins the emotions of players, coaches, and fans throughout the state. This particular community displayed true endorsement of our basketball team during its march to victory at the sectional and defeat at the regional last year. The enthusiasm hasn't died! Season tickets are at a premium and the school spirit hasn't subsided a bit. And rightly so. The fans expect a winner this year, and Coach Gene Crosley and his boys will do all humanly possible to bring them one. A community which owns as much basketball tradition as Culver deserves a winner.

Culver's Indians lost two of their top players last year through graduation. But we still feel that Culver's depth will be superb. Seven seniors bolster the roster, all of whom played on an undefeated freshman team. Some have played on two successful B-teams and a few played on last year's championship team. Experience will thus lead a list of positive aspects at Culver. Height and well-disciplined rebounding exercises will add assets which can make or break a team.

Cutting down opponent's shots by a dominate rebounding game is a major factor at Culver. The ability to hit the shots they get is a very strong point. Scoring, which is the most pleasing part to the average spectator, is of a quality this year which surpasses recent Culver teams.

The lost art of defense has been restored during the past three years at Culver, so we expect this factor, along with speed and ball control, to be a strong point.

On the negative side, we concede that our opposition won't be picked so we could breeze right through the season with easy victories. However, tough regular season games should make Culver a better team by tourney time.

It is almost inevitable that obstacles will develop during the coming season but Culver is a good team and we will overcome these obstacles.

OLD COW HAND — Tell City's Mayor Walter Hagedorn, was called upon recently to perform a service a bit outside his usual duties. Awakened by a commotion in front of his house he went out and found three bawling calves straying down the street. Having no cow pony he hopped in his car and set out to head them off. Patrolman Glenn Schroeder, summoned by the mayor's wife, joined the roundup and the calves were returned to the farm from which they had strayed. The City News gave complete coverage to the roundup.

Why French?

By Cheryll Zink

For hundreds of years, French has been the language used in international diplomacy. It ranks next to English as a world-wide language. Almost eighty million (80,000,000) speak it.

Characteristics of French include a clearness of style and a regular arrangement of words. Because of these features, it is ideal for diplomatic, legal, and business documents. It also serves as the official language of many countries, as well as the United Nations (UN).

Many learned scholars say that French makes up almost half of our English words. A lot of words are taken directly over into our language without spelling change. But because there are many sounds in French that are absent in our English language, it is difficult for us to speak fluent French. Here is a French patriotic poem by Louis Aragon. Do any of these words look familiar?

"Je Vous Salue, Ma France"

Je vous salue, ma France, arrachee aux fantomes!
O rendue a la paix! Vaisseau sauve des eaux . . .
Pays qui chante: Orleans, Beaungency, Vendome!
Cloches, cloches, sonnez l'angelus des oiseaux!
Je vous salue, ma France aux yeux de tourterelle,
Jamais trop mon tourment, mon amour jamais trop!
Ma France, mon ancienne et nouvelle querelle,
Sol seme de heros, ciel plein de passereaux. . .
Je vous salue, ma France, ou les vents se calmerent!
Ma France de toujours, que la geographie
Ouvre comme une paume aux souffles de la mer
Pour que l'oiseau du large y vienne et se confie!
Je vous salue, ma France, ou l'oiseau de passage,
De Lille a Roncevaux, de Brest au Mont-Cenis,
Pour la premiere fois a fait l'apprentissage
De ce qu'il peut conter d'abandonner un nid!
Patrie egalement a la colombe ou l'aigle,
De l'audace et du chant doublement habitee!
Je vous salue, ma France, ou les bles et les seigles
Murissent au soleil de la diversite. . .
Je vous salue, ma France ou le peuple est habile
A ces travaux qui font les jours emerveilles Et que vient de loin saluer dans sa ville

Paris, mon couer, trois ans vaine-ment fusille!
Heureuse et forte enfin qui por-tez pour echarpe
Cet arc-en-ciel temoin qu'il ne lonnera plus,
Liberte dont fremit le silence des harpes,
Ma France d'au dela du deluge, salut!

The Chicago Motor Club's November school safety poster message—"Keep From Between Parked Cars"—warns against a dangerous habit of children.

The space between parked cars is only inches from the flow of traffic, and a child who decides to dart out into the street from that point is at the mercy of a good set of brakes and the alertness of a surprised driver. Also, children have been known to be injured when a motorist, unaware of their presence, backs up to leave his parking space.

This month's Chicago Motor Club poster is being distributed to some 45,000 classrooms throughout the Club's territory in Illinois and Indiana.

Dr. T. W. Perry, Purdue animal scientist, will be team leader for the project, assisted by Drs. R. A. Pickett, R. B. Harrington, animal scientists, and C. L. Rhykerd, agronomist.

This research team will attempt to determine benefits of the soil-less grass compared to pasture grass, will study use of this grass as supplemental feed and will determine the possibilities of the nutritional value of discarded roughages by supplementing them with grass.

Linear programming will provide the least cost ration ingredients. Swine and sheep will be used in the early stages of the study. Small animal studies will be made concurrently.

Long range goal of the study will be the identification and isolation of "grass juice factors," which have so far evaded scientists.

Many farm accidents occur because of extra riders on farm equipment. Don't allow extra riders and don't ask to be one, caution Purdue University farm safety specialists.

TIME OUT — The umpire behind the plate in a Pee Wee League baseball game at Salem noticed a frantic signal from the little 7-year-old center fielder of the team in the field and immediately called time. The youngster, who had been gorging on soda pop between innings, ran behind the stands and the ball game was halted until he returned a few minutes later. The Salem Leader, in reporting the incident, suggested the game was "called on account of x x x" and discreetly failed to finish the sentence.

The project will be carried out by the animal sciences and agronomy departments, and Hydroponics, Inc., will furnish Purdue with a cereal grass growing unit to supply the material.

1964 CORN PRICE SUPPORT ANNOUNCED

Price-support loans for the 1964 corn crop will average $1.11 per bushel in Marshall County, Carl Price, Chairman, Marshall County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee has announced. This compares with the 1963-crop loan rate of $1.08 per bushel for the County.

The 1964 loan rate, plus a price-support payment of 15 cents a bushel, gives a total price support average rate of $1.26 per bushel for 1964-crop corn in the County. While the loan rate varies according to the grades and qualities of individual crops, the price-support payment per bushel is the same for all farms.

The average county loan rate of $1.11 per bushel is for 1964-crop corn grading No. 3, or No. 4 on the factor of test weight only but otherwise grading No. 3 except for moisture. Premiums and discounts for other grades and qualities are unchanged from those in effect in 1963.

The Chairman reminded growers that price support on the 1964 crop of corn will be available only to farmers participating in the 1964 Feed Grain Program. The Price-Support Program for corn will be carried out through farm — and warehouse — stored loans, purchases, and price-support payments. Loans will be based on eligible actual production, while the price-support payments of 15 cents per bushel will be on normal production of the harvested acres.

Application for price-support loans and purchases may be made at the ASCS County Office through May 31, 1965. Unless demand is made sooner, loans will mature on July 31, 1965.

Purdue University extension poultry scientists recommend lubrication of poultry equipment where needed on a regular maintenance schedule. This, of course, applies particularly to all motion on your farm. Better operation thus assured and the possibility of breakdowns in cold weather reduced.

A Bible Lesson on "Everlasting Punishment" will be read at all Christian Science church services this Sunday.

Golden Text: "Whom the Lord loveth he Correcteth; even as a father the son in whom he delighteth" (Prov. 3:12).

From the denominational textbook, these lines will be read: "He that touches the hem of Christ's robe and masters his mortal beliefs, animality, and hate, rejoices in the proof of healing, — in a sweet and certain sense that God is Love" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 569).

You can read many things in the human face. It is often the mirror of our emotions. It is sometimes the reflection of our character.

But almost never does the face reveal the needs of the human soul. Like some artificial mask it can look satisfied when the soul is starving. It can look calm when the soul is troubled. It can look content when the soul is restless and yearning.

How then can we read our soul's needs?

We can read them in the Bible. And in the centuries of man's universal reaching for God. In the prayers that a hundred million lips have framed. In the hymns and psalms that generations have echoed.

God alone fully understands the needs of a human soul. He who created us knows what is essential for His creatures. And when we come to His House, trying to understand these deep spiritual needs . . . all the while He is supplying them, satisfying the hunger of the soul.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL · ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

CMA Students Are Semi-Finalists For Merit Scholarships

Seven Culver Military Academy students recently were named semi-finalists in the 1964-65 Merit Scholarship competition.

The students became semi-finalists through their outstanding performance on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. This test of educational development was given in more than 17,000 high schools last March.

The seven Culver students honored for their high achievement are:

Russell C. Bjork, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carter E. Bjork, 5052 North Winchester, Chicago;

David H. Courtney, III, son of David H. Courtney, Jr., 737 South Hills Drive, Morgantown, West Va.;

Frank M. Northam, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank K. Northam, 3851 Arthington Boulevard, Indianapolis;

Leon C. Ringer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ringer, West 13th Road, Plymouth, Ind.;

Christopher W. Templeton, son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Templeton, 126 Chestnut Street, Englewood, N. J.;

Herbert A. Tripp, III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Tripp, Jr., 6500 Hudson Parkway, Cincinnati;

Jeffrey C. Watts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman S. Watts, 6325 Woodcreek Drive, Citrus Heights, Calif.

They are among 14,000 seniors throughout the country who attained Semifinalist status. The semi-finalist group is composed of the highest scoring students in each state and in United States territories. Each semi-finalist now moves a step closer to winning a four-year Merit Scholarship to the college of his choice. Semi-finalists must substantiate their qualifying test performance on a second examination, be endorsed by their schools, and fulfill certain routine requirements to become finalists. All Merit Scholars are selected from the finalist group.

In the last phase of the competition, the high school grades, creative accomplishments, leadership qualities, extracurricular activities, and school citizenship of the students will be evaluated along with their scores on the tests.

About April 28, 1965, the names of the Merit Scholars will be announced, the exact number depending on the extent of sponsor support of the Merit Program. In 1964 NMSC and sponsors together awarded about 1,625 Merit Scholarships.

Each Merit Scholarship is a four-year award to cover the undergraduate college years. The recipient's stipend is tailored to his need.

Awards may reach a maximum of $6,000 for the four years of college. For students who already possess financial resources which will enable them to attend the college of their choice, the awards are $40 for the four years. Stipends now average about $800 a year, or $3,200 for the four college years.

Postal Department Makes Plans For Christmas Mailing

Longer post office window hours, expanded delivery services and large-scale extension of the ZIP-coded parcel post speedup are planned for Christmas. Postmaster General John A. Granouski has advised local Postmaster, E. W. Mattox.

Mr. Granouski outlined to the Culver postal head, three major new steps he has taken "for the best Christmas mail service the Postal Service has ever had:"

1. Expanded post office window hours Dec. 5 to 26 as deemed necessary by the local postmaster.

2. A six-day week Dec. 7-21 for parcel post deliveries, instead of a five-day week.

3. Completion by Nov 1 of Phase III of ZIP code parcel handling at about 130 more "sectional center" post offices (strategically located mail massing points), providing faster delivery up to 24 hours or more for parcels with ZIP Code.

In Phase I and II, approximately 75 offices with receipts of $5 million annually and above, activated faster ZIP Code sorting and dispatch by Sept. 1. The 130 in Phase III includes offices with receipts of $1 to $5 million.

In addition, many other sectional center offices with smaller receipts will have the program in operation by early December, in time to help speed delivery of Christmas gifts mailed with the ZIP Code.

The Postmaster General told Mr. Mattox the Christmas plans are part of a nationwide program to bring postmasters into more responsible positions in postal management as "real partners in providing better mail service at all levels."

LUNCHEON with the President! Quite an honor for the lanky young author from Indianapolis. But, Newton Booth Tarkington took it in stride, as usual. Even when the President got mad.

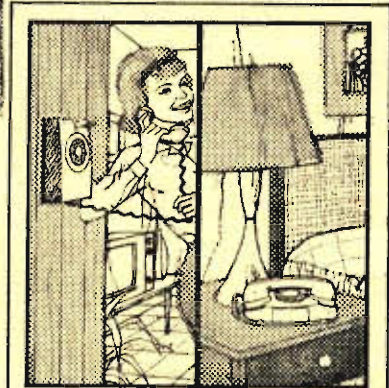

During lunch Roosevelt strongly criticized some of Tarkington's stories which exposed political skullduggery. He thought they would discourage young men from entering politics.

But "Tark" stood his ground and defended the stories so well that he won the President over. Roosevelt even wrote a public recommendation for them when they appeared later in book form (In The Arena).

At this time Tarkington was already famous as the author of The Gentleman from Indiana, his first novel, which had been an immediate best seller. This was followed by Alice Adams and The Magnificent Ambersons (both Pulitzer Prize winners), the delightful Penrod books, plus many other novels, plays and short stories.

Booth Tarkington achieved his great fame during an exciting period of Indiana history. He saw the state rise to prominence in agriculture, industry and commerce. He saw the rise of modern communications, too. Booth was just a young boy when the telephone came to his home town (1877). It soon bound the state together in a fast, dependable communication network — and linked it to the world.

Today, of course, Indiana's telephone system and service ranks with the finest in the world. And it will remain so. Thanks to the efforts of some 8,000 Indiana Bell men and women who know: good communications help make good communities.
