Culver vs CMA

May The Better Team Of Boys Win - And May We All Mind Our Manners!

Saturday night, for the first time in 24 years, Culver High School and Culver Military Academy will play a basketball game.

It is hoped that this game will mark a long overdue resumption of athletic competition between the two schools in basketball and in other sports. Whether or not this hope is realized will depend, to a large degree, on the adults of this community.

For many of the problems that have developed within interscholastic sports have happened when adults — not players — forgot they were attending a game played by, and for, high school youngsters.

The proposal to resume basketball competition after more than two decades was made by the Academy Coach Chet Marshall. Marshall believes that the Academy should play as many neighboring schools as possible, and most certainly Culver High School. Coach Gene Crosley and Principal Kenneth Cole agree, as does Superintendent Delmar Spivey, whose policy it has been to open the Academy's doors for cultural events, religious services, and other activities.

It is a foregone conclusion that a basketball game between Culver High School and the Academy will involve keen, and sometimes heated rivalry. The very basis of athletics is competition. But sportsmanship is also part of the game, and whether Mr. Cole and General Spivey can, in good conscience, sanction further competition between the schools depends upon how much sportsmanship is exercised Saturday night and in the future.

Saturday night's game offers what could be the beginning of an exciting annual event that would strengthen, rather than weaken, relations between the town and the Academy. As in South Bend, where rival schools manage to compete in the same town rather well each year, the players of both the Culver High School and Academy teams know each other and are interested in each other's basketball fortunes. But they are also out on the floor to win.

Let the players decide the outcome on the basis of ability and keen, but fair competition. The adult harbingers of doom, who gloomily look back 24 years to another era and predict monotonously that nothing but trouble can come of this, serve no good purpose, least of all the future of this community. They would be better off at home watching "Gunsmoke" on television.

In victory or defeat, school officials Cole, Spivey, Crosley and Marshall want to do this over again next year, and in the future. Give them the chance to do so by exercising wisdom and good sense. Sunday will dawn — no matter which team wins the game.

CULVER HIGH SCHOOL TO PRESENT HALF-TIME PROGRAM AT CASS GAME

This coming Tuesday, Feb. 16, the Culver High School Band will present its final performance of the current basketball season. This specially prepared show will be presented during the halftime period of the varsity basketball game which brings the Lewis Cass' Kings to the local gym in the originally-scheduled Jan. 16th game, which was postponed because of bad weather.

This interesting program will feature a precision drill entitled "Diagonal Daze," written by Frank Piersol. The show incorporates both precision drills and designs.

The Band has been working very hard on this show and it is hoped the audience will enjoy it. Also, to be performed at this half-time portion of the basketball event, is a number featuring twirlers Joyce Odle and Suzan Thews, and entitled, "Sailing, Sailing," arranged by Art Dedrick. The routine was designed by Pat Hooker and features flag twirling. These two students have also been working hard to make this show a success.

Editor, THE CITIZEN:

It has been many Maxinkuckee Moons since the spirit of Culver High has been silenced, however the past weekend is a sad situation.

Where were the cheers, cheer-block and enthusiasm of past CHS students? It is quite easy to cheer when you are leading and winning, but the team really needs those cheers of encouragement in the close and tough games, such as last weekend.

During the Pioneer game, there was disorganization in the cheer section, not only many persons missing, but no pep leading of the team when they came on the floor for the second half.

Why didn't the cheerleaders lead CHS in the school song at halftime when the Winamac band played? Especially since the cheerleaders picked up the finer points at "leaders-camp" this summer. This spirit should have come across. The team of Gene Crosley is a good ball club, let's give them the cheers and encouragement they deserve; this was badly needed during the Winamac game.

Where's the imagination and creativity of CHS? Why not write some clever words to some current tunes that aren't used by other schools? — something that can be identified with Culver and no one else.

There are only a few days left until tourney time — where is the old spirit of bygone days? Let's wake it up and cheer on the ball club. CHS has the team to "take the tourney" — come on and show Culver that CHS can give them the backing and spirit!

Indianapolis Firm Is Selected By School Board

On Monday evening the Board of School Trustees voted by majority ballot to employ the firm of Wolverton, Beam, Haller, and Associates of Indianapolis to furnish the engineering and architectural services in developing plans for a new high school. This company was responsible for this part of the work for the Ellettsville High School near Bloomington, and is at present involved in the building program for Taylor High School near Kokomo.

In other business the School Board arranged to talk with Attorney George Stevens, the legal counsel for the school corporation, regarding necessary procedures for formation of a public holding corporation. Also to be considered in this March first conference will be the steps for initiating a financing program.

The School Board approved publication of a legal notice regarding the School Board meeting of March 15th, at which time the officials will make a final decision on establishing a cumulative building fund to raise money for purchase of equipment and development of driveways and parking areas for the new high school.

Because of the resignation of Mike Pitterling as bus driver, the School Board decided to seek candidates so that a replacement may be employed in the near future. Several possibilities were mentioned, but no definite action was taken to fill this position. Interested persons should contact Superintendent Frank McLane this week.

The latter part of the meeting was devoted to a consideration of several legislative proposals which are related to transfers and school aid.

The grade school teacher as the class to list, in their opinion, the nine greatest living Americans.

After a while, she stopped one desk and asked, "Have you finished your list yet, David?" "Not yet," he answered with a worried look. "I can't decide on the shortstop."

Barbara Lee Moore and Brian Allen Linhart Wed In Academy Chapel

In a candlelight ceremony at 7:30 o'clock Saturday evening, Jan. 30, at Culver Military Academy Chapel, Miss Barbara Lee Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Kingsley Moore, Jr. of 432 Liberty Street, Culver, became the bride of Brian Allen Linhart, son of Mrs. Antal Marton of Culver and Albert Linhart, also of Culver.

Dr. Ronald Williams, pastor of the Culver Methodist Church, performed the double ring ceremony. Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a street length gown of white brocaded satin. Her shoulder-length veil was attached to a small hat of the brocaded satin and she carried a bouquet of pink roses and stephanotis.

Miss Sara Moncel of Francesville, classmate of the bride, was maid of honor and she wore royal blue brocaded satin with a matching hat and carried pink roses.

Larry Linhart served as his brother's best man.

Following the wedding, a reception for 20 guests was held in the home of the bride's parents. The refreshment table, in white and silver, featured a three-tier wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

The bride attended Culver Military Academy for two years and went to Culver High School for two years, graduating from Culver High School. She attended Indiana University, Bloomington, for three and one-half years and will be graduated from there in June after completing her 12 weeks practice teaching in the Culver Schools.

Mr. Linhart graduated from the Aubbeenaubbee High School at Letters Ford and is now employed in Culver.

Following a short wedding trip the young couple returned to Culver and are at home on Lewis Street.

Tri Kappa To Meet
 Monday, February 15
 The regular monthly meeting of the Tri Kappa Sorority will convene at 8 p.m. on Monday, Feb. 15, at the home of Mrs. Gerald J. Graham, 831 Lake Shore Drive. Assisting hostesses will be Mrs. Donald A. Davis and Mrs. J. Dick Newman.

Mrs. Thomas Houghton, 33-Year-Old Mother Of Four, To Graduate From Purdue In June

Mrs. Thomas (Katy Miner) Houghton, a homemaker to her family for the past 15½ years, will turn professional homemaker after June.

The Houghtons formerly resided at Bradley Court in Culver and Mr. Houghton was engaged in farming. The family moved to Lafayette in 1961 so Mrs. Houghton could enroll at Purdue. Mr. Houghton, a native of Culver, is the son of Mrs. Myrtle Houghton Cowen of Culver and the late Ralph Houghton.

Mrs. Houghton said she owes her college education to her family's cooperation. "Without such group approval, I never could have done it," she commented.

She explained that her two boys, Ralph, 14 and Tom, 13, as well as her husband have held down paper routes to help finance her education. (The other children are Penny 12 and Julia, 6). Her husband is employed as a small grains technician for the university's agronomy department.

Mrs. Houghton enrolled at Purdue in January, 1961, after three of the children were in school.

She will start her teaching career "hopefully in the Lafayette area" next fall although she has not yet signed for a job. Eventually she would like to teach slow learners and youngsters from low socio-economic groups and obtain a master's degree.

Her interest in home economics and Purdue dates back to 1946 when she attended the Purdue 4-H Roundup. A 1949 graduate of Bourbon High School, she was a county 4-H leader during high school days.

According to one of her Purdue academic counselors, "Mrs. Houghton has been a most enthusiastic student. Her grades have been above-average and she has worked extremely hard in all her courses."

Indications of her studiousness are the three scholarships she has maintained: an Eleanor Moore Bennett Scholarship, her sophomore and junior years, and PTA and Purdue Alumni scholarships, her junior and senior years.

Her favorite courses have been in the areas of experimental foods, child development, consumer education, and speech. Her minor area of concentration is speech and hearing therapy. She did practice teaching at Klondike School.

Although studying has "definitely limited" social activity, Mrs. Houghton has participated in the Women's Society of Christian Service of her church. She has made some extra money through sewing and baby sitting for others.

"Everybody in the family looks forward to the day when I graduate," she said. "After that we plan to take a short vacation to visit relatives in California."

The Houghtons live at 352 North Salisbury in West Lafayette.

Exchange Wedding Vows

Miss Jane Alice Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Baker, 427 Lakeview St., Culver, became the bride of Louis D. Church, son of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Church, 901 Riverside, Muncie, at 1:30 Saturday afternoon, Feb. 6, at the Culver Methodist Church.

Dr. Ronald Williams, pastor of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremony before the altar which was decorated with vases of white carnations and white stock. Mrs. Theodore L. Ervin of Culver, organist, played the nuptial music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a street-length dress of white silk bombazine, fashioned with a bateau neckline, long pointed sleeves, and a full skirt. Re-embroidered Alencon lace touched with iridescent sequins accented the fitted midriff of the dress. The bride's bouffant illusion veil fell from a small pearl crown and she carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations and sweetheart roses with white streamers.

Mrs. Elmer Wagner of Culver, as matron of honor, was gowned in blue antique pea styled with a scoop split neckline, short sleeves and a dome skirt. Her short veil was held by a crown of horsehair and seed pearls and she carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations and pink roses.

Robert McLaren of North Manchester, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, served as best man, and Leroy McGrew of Muncie, cousin of the bridegroom, was usher.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Baker chose a beige suit with matching accessories and wore a corsage of beige and brown orchids. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a gold satin dress with matching accessories and wore a corsage of beige and gold orchids.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the Warana Restaurant in Plymouth. The refreshment table was decorated with a bouquet of white carnations and the three-tier wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom, was encircled with white carnations.

Following a short wedding trip the young couple will be at home in Muncie. For going away the bride chose a black and white checked wool jumper with black accessories and wore a corsage from her bridal bouquet.

Out of town guests attending the wedding and reception were from Fort Wayne, Muncie, North Manchester and Plymouth, Ind.; and Englewood, Ohio.

The bride is a 1963 graduate of Culver High School and a graduate of the Victor Comptometer and I.B.M. School of Fort Wayne. Until her wedding she was employed at National Mills Supply, Inc., in Fort Wayne. The bridegroom was graduated from Muncie Central High School in 1962 and attended Indiana Institute of Technology of Fort Wayne. He is employed at the Merchants National Bank at Muncie.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY THE PRESS CLUB OF CULVER HIGH SCHOOL

By Pat Ogden and Donna Rogers
Fifty . . . 49 . . . 48 more days till the senior trip, and only three games to get money from their concessions. Calling all people, calling all people — the '65 seniors are making their last plea for help. HELP!!!

Steve B., you'd better stay out of the way when the cheerleaders are doing a yell. That's a pretty ugly scratch you have on your chin. Too bad we all saw what happened — if not — some pretty ugly stories could be spread about you.

Gas line freeze? Seniors are finding out that cold weather doesn't pay. A certain senior girl (name withheld by request) had car trouble and had to have Holly Thompson, Lonni and LaDonna Darosci help her push the car off the road. Then, Z-O-O-M along came a B-team ball player and in his honest (?) endeavor to get the car started — he runs the battery down. Good goin', gang, good goin'.

From some inside source we hear that Mr. Stegemoller and Mr. Harris have connections and know where they can acquire a key to one of Chicago's Playboy Clubs. Whoops! Don't get upset Mrs. S. — Mr. H. has the connections. Don't worry Mrs. H. — Mr. H. was only trying to match Mrs. S.'s story about Dugger and Snailville and Ferdinand National Park (???) and his D- in social dancing. Yuk!

Gee, Jeanne A., you could be a little more considerate of your friends. After all, five of them tried to give you a new hair style on the way to the New Paris game, and you didn't like it!

Peg H., what are you doing snatching Steve Ulery's class dues while he's in the process of giving it to Kay T.? Do you want him to pay the penalty??

Jim Boswell, where can we catch a train to Paris? For further information ask Jim.

Why was Mena Lisa surrounded by policemen when she came to the U.S.? Sue C., could it be possible that she's traveling incognito?

If you see a bright red flash swooping down the street — clear the way! It's Gale V.'s new red convertible.

Diane Nelson, who is the neat boy who has been writing you so many letters? Come on, tell us?

One of our cheerleaders had an avid watcher at the New Paris game. Who could that be Cheryl Zink?

Teddy Bear — hmmm — Who's that Linda Mc.?

Joanie Dillon, how did you find the patience to wait so many days before opening your birthday present from Hanover?

Marsha Guise is warned to put an end to those nightmares that she's been having about Diane Nelson.

Linda B., what were you doing with that cigar? You don't really eat them do you? For details ask G.W.

Wanda W. was a pretty happy gal this past weekend. Ned was home from P.U. for semester break. It was good to see many other former braves and maidens who were also home.

Speaking of Wanda — it seems she's had a little trouble in English class. Everybody keeps telling her to shut up.

Judy Price, haven't you learned to read yet? That English vocabulary word was prosecution, in case you haven't figured it out.

Pam C. says Gary Tolleston is going to beat the CMA rifle team Saturday. How does she know? Oh, Bob's on the team. That explains everything.

Debby Henderson had a phone call from a certain someone last Sunday night. Let us in on the secret Debby!

Max Conley, you don't have to tell us it's cold outside, we already know it!

Janet R., Pam C., Sharon W., and Donna R. found out just how cold it was Friday night. What were you four doing out after curfew? Oh you had a little trouble getting the car door unlocked. Why did you bother to lock it anyway?

Kathy S., you'd better brush up on reading 17th century poetry!

Happy birthday George W.! I think the whole school knew it was your birthday after the second period English class sang to you.

It's now 47 days till the senior trip. In case you're interested, the seniors want you to know that there are only 115 days till graduation. The seniors will keep counting until our next issue!

The Shadow Strikes Again

By Cheryl Zink
Here comes the victim now, wading through snow drifts on her way to school. She finally arrives, and trounces up the stairs to the third floor — (but isn't her locker on the second?) Let's see . . . first period — Typing. Oh, no, she's forgotten about the test they're having today. That's alright, there's still a few minutes left to study before the bell.

During Typing, one of her classmates asks her what the Geometry assignment was (which she discovers she hasn't done, and rushes through her typing assignment to do.) Since Typing is one of her favorite subjects, the period seems to fly, and in no time she's in Geometry, trying her best to memorize the seven theorems for angle measurements pertaining to a circle. Getting bored trying to prove how certain triangles can be equal, she hums a few bars of "I Go To Pieces," to which the radiator adds a beautiful accompaniment.

After third period study hall, Health & Safety class begins. The debates during this period are so interesting that sometimes she gets completely carried away, and the bell rings before she even realizes it. She gulps down her lunch and then goes to the study hall. (I guess she finds the study hall fascinating, because that's where she always goes in her spare time.)

It's time for Spanish, and she just makes it to her seat in time, (well . . . almost.) Today we learned how to sing "Are You Sleeping" in Spanish, and while Miss Allen was trying to teach us placement of direct objects, she persisted in humming the tune. (There's something catchy about that melody.)

Hup, two, three, four, and it's off to Band practice where the Band is getting ready for the marching program they're going to put on the night of the Cass ballgame. (Why does it seem as if everyone's out of step except her?) I guess other band members just don't know that your right foot goes forward on the first beat. Mr. Fouts helps her understand that everyone can't be perfect — (he's one of her favorite teachers.)

After Band, an English test on Julius Caesar awaits her. She eagerly answers the 50 questions, hands in her paper, and writes a note? Now, who could it be to? The bell catches her in the middle of it, and back to the band building she goes for another class with Mr. Fouts in Chorus.

And so ends another hectic day of Brenda McAllister. Beware! The next victim the shadow follows may be YOU!

Reasons To Be Proud

By Kay Thomas
Friday, Feb. 5, the high school gymnasium was again the scene of a brief awards program. Three students received recognition and our trophy case gained one new member.

Each year the history and civics students take a current events test consisting of 100 questions on a variety of subjects such as: elections, famous people in the news, newly-passed laws of Congress, sports events, and worldwide happenings. This test is provided by "Time" magazine. At the assembly, junior Lucinda Ricciardi was given an award certificate by Mr. Lawson for getting the highest score, 96 out of a possible 100. Ellen Pletka and Linda Thurin also received awards for their distinguished score of 94 each.

Mrs. Winters, head of the C.H.S. home economics department, presented senior Linda Thurin with the Betty Crocker homemaker award. To attain this honor, Linda took a general home economics test along with all other senior members of her home ec. class. She is now qualified to take part in state-wide competition.

Sophomore Bob Shirrell received an award as second place winner in his division at the Lapaz speech contest. Bob's speech was concerned with the subject "Man's Progress Toward Freedom." He was presented this award by Mr. Riester of the V.F.W.

Beaming Coach Stegemoller then presented the school with the sparkling new trophy that the B-team earned as winners of the 4-way tourney.

There was also an added attraction to the convocation as several students and faculty members took part in a hilarious skit.

Seniors Hold Class Meeting

The Busy seniors have been meeting quite often this year. Their meetings are pretty important, though, for they have had to order invitations and pictures plan the Senior trip, discuss magazine sales and many, many more such items.

Friday, Jan. 29, the seniors had another meeting. At that meeting they picked their class colors, class flower, and their class motto. After several suggestions and debating, they decided their colors would be coral and cream. The flower chosen is the coral rose. The motto wasn't as easily decided upon as the colors or flower. First, they had to come up with several ideas. After trying to decide between three or four suggestions, they came up with: "So little done; so much to do."

A HANDY NEWS BOX by The Citizen's front office door welcomes your news items for next week's paper 24 hours a day.

Let's Be Popular Or — How To Drive Teachers Nuts!

By Holly Thompson and Barb Mikesell

Several days ago, we were confronted with the task of finding out "how to be popular with teachers around C.H.S." Of course, being the kind we are, we couldn't get this done so we asked the teachers how "not" to be popular with them. While learning a few tips, we refuse to pass on to you, we came to these unbiased opinions from a variety of teachers.

Mr. Crabb says the best way to be popular with him is to hand in late sloppy assignments, talk while he or other people are talking, and most of all be sure to drop wastepaper on the floor right beside the waste-basket. He also enjoys students who hold a grudge after being disciplined and ones who won't or don't speak to him in the hall. So take heed all history students, now you know exactly what to do.

Miss Winters agrees that the student that really rates with her is the one who understands her. They bring her pretzels when she is hungry, laughs when she laughs, and turn in assignments on time. She concluded that she is just a poor misunderstood teacher, who wants to be understood.

According to Mrs. Hughes, the student popular with her is the person who puts up with her pet peeves and idiosyncrasies, laughs at her jokes, agrees with her interpretations, looks awake when he is daydreaming and brings a sparkle to her eyes rather than a pain in her neck!

Mr. Wolfe and Mr. Lawson, both seem to have the same ideas on the subject of being popular with them, because their reactions were almost alike when we asked them. Mr. Wolfe said, "Money talks!" and Mr. Lawson answered "I can be bribed; a couple of weeks ago, I would have taken my hubeaps for grades, but too late now!" But on the serious side, both seem to agree that turning in late assignments and not studying won't add any brownie points to your score.

Get out your apples, you geometry students and girls' gym class because it seems that both Miss Lindvall and Miss Overmyer fall for the apple-polishing type. It seems to us that polishing apples is a whole lot easier than learning theorems or doing push-ups — so get busy, gang!

Mrs. Smith commented that she thought she really liked all students but the one who endeared himself to her heart is the one who can say "Bonjour" with a smile, even on Monday; the one who puts his gum in the waste basket instead of the fountain; the one who picks up a bit of trash from the floor; the one who walks quietly into and out of studyhall; but oh, the one who can stop in his mad dash to another class and pick up something someone has dropped, and most of all the student who can tell her about a book he is reading. So all of you who parlez-vous francais just cut this out and tape it to your notebooks — it's worth it.

After talking to Mrs. Charlton, we came to the conclusion that the freshair fiends are the ones who rate with her (are you listening, Mark?); the ones who open all the windows in zero-degree weather. Another thing which unnerves her are the furniture movers. It seems they are never quite happy with her arrangement of the chairs.

To reach Mr. Unruh's boiling point in a hurry, just try dropping your drafting equipment in the drawing room, daydreaming in class or studyhall, or asking where something is when anyone who is even slightly observant would know. After having done all this, ask for a pass and then forget it, this will make you thoroughly unpopular with him or anyone else for that matter.

After you have tried all the little gems mentioned above and have become public menace No. 1, stand in the hall directly in front of the office and talk until after the bell rings, then rush in and ask Mrs. Warner for a pass. This will get you exactly nothing or maybe less and you lose that small bit of popularity you had and thus you will have accomplished a great day.

Oh yes, if you really feel it necessary to top off this wonderful adventure with something fab, ask Mr. Miller the same question about four times in the same day. We found this works wonders for lowering our relationship with him.

And, there you have it; you're absolutely the most unpopular person around C.H.S. which most of us achieve without even trying. We sincerely hope this small contribution to the happiness of teachers around the school will be used to the benefit of all concerned.

- Knowing that there is no worm in the apple you are eating.
- Knowing your bookkeeping figures balance.
- Knowing there is no assignment in Economics.
- Knowing that your boyfriend has a spare tire and extra gas when he takes you out.
- Knowing that the senior boys will take you off the lockers if they put you up there.

- Knowing your wrist watch isn't running backwards.
- Knowing that your tan petti-pants aren't showing.
- Knowing that the squirming thing on your neck isn't a spider.
- Knowing that Mr. Cole has hung up his paddle.
- A strong safety pin on a wrap-around skirt.
- Remembering your vocabulary word for English.
- Not going with a basketball player.
- Being able to pass a Chemistry test without crib sheets.
- Having a class ring wrapped in angora.
- Having a Kleenex when you are about to sneeze.
- Knowing you're using a Scott table napkin that won't slip off your lap when you're having dinner with your boyfriend and his family.
- Having a little black book with oodles and oodles of phone numbers.
- Knowing that you have two sharpened pencils in 4th period study hall.
- Knowing that your shoes are both the same kind.

We Want To Be Loved By You

- By Sue Cole and Darlene Taylor
- What small traits do students find in teachers? To find the answer to this question we took a poll of the student body.
- We Love Teachers Who . . . . .
- Give us all of 3 days to write a theme, yet can't seem to get it graded in a month and 1/2.
- Make us write out a paragraph of corrected sentences to change one word.
- Use grading scales so that the highest grade in class is a B-.
- Call us children just because we act like children.
- Fail us in their courses.
- Give a direct answer by beating around the bush.
- Don't know the answer to their own test so they look over everybody else's shoulders.
- Tell us to sit up straight while they sit on their desk slouched over.
- Throw pencils, step on our toes, and make wild gestures at us.
- Give us 3 hours of homework in case the other teachers forgot to assign anything.
- Ask us if we have any questions and then changes the subject before we get our hands up.
- Let us know how pleasant it is to teach by wearing a countenance suitable for a funeral march.
- Assign one lesson, talk about a second, and give a test over a third.
- Present a challenge by telling answers so we will have to look them up to make sure about the answer.
- Have no discipline so that fellow students can tell us to shut up if they don't want us participating.
- Wait until half the period is over before giving us our passes so that we can turn around and come back.
- Like variety, and so surprise us with a different answer to the same question everytime.

A Tutoring System

By Jeanne Adams

Two weeks ago the National Honor Society had a meeting, and Jim Boswell, president, proposed the idea of having a tutoring system here at Culver. In this system, the students in the NHS would tutor other students.

This program would be set up thus: Each member of the NHS would list one or two subjects in which he is particularly good, and also list the study halls that he has to give to this tutoring program. The information would be compiled into a list which would be placed at a designated place in the high school. When a student has a problem, he will refer to this list to find someone to help him. These two students will then go to an empty room and work out the problem.

During this past week, I have taken a survey of a small percentage of the student body, and from the results and inductive reasoning, I have come up with a few conclusions. Most students feel it is a good idea, but would never work.

Many of the students felt that the NHS members would not have the time since most of these students carry the heaviest load. But as one senior boy said, "If they want to help someone, they will find the time."

Another senior boy voiced a problem which might occur from this program, "Many students would take advantage of this in the wrong way. They would use the tutor for an excuse to just sit around and talk."

One teacher that I asked stated this opinion, "I believe the students are underestimating the duties of a teacher in regards to their willingness and ability to help students in the teacher's field. Students are obligated to ask for assistance and their responsibility should be used. A tutoring system could be advantageous in many respects, but I feel that too many students would abuse the privilege of working together, just so the students could get out of a class or study hall situation."

Two other teachers thought it sounded like a good idea, and one said that this program had worked in other schools.

This program is being set up on a trial basis, and if every student really works hard at making it a big success, it should be a great addition to our school.

EIGHT WEEK SUMMER COURSE OFFERED AT PURDUE

Purdue University will again offer an eight-week summer program in the life sciences for 40 high school juniors of high ability. The session will run from June 21 to Aug. 13.

This summer science training program is underwritten by a grant of $18,050 from the National Science Foundation, plus an $1,844 grant from the Purdue Research Foundation.

All Indiana high schools soon will receive application blanks and detailed information on the program, according to Dr. Dean R. Frazier, Purdue animal scientist who will direct the 1965 summer program.

Only one or two students of the top 10 per cent of any school will be accepted. The program is designed to aid in identifying such students and encouraging them to develop their talents.

Students will receive classroom and laboratory instruction, take field trips and carry out research projects under Purdue research staff members. Purdue's schools of agriculture, home economics and veterinary science and medicine will cooperate in the science training program.

 Sunday at Christian Science churches in the Bible Lesson entitled "Soul."

The Golden Text is from Psalms (99:9): "Exalt the Lord our God, and worship at his holy hill; for the Lord our God is holy."

Selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will also be heard, and will include this: "Soul has infinite resources with which to bless mankind, and happiness would be more readily attained and would be more secure in our keeping, if sought in Soul" (p. 60).

Films Available From Indiana Bell

Indiana Bell is offering schools and music groups films of three Leonard Bernstein Young People's Concerts which are being televised nationally this season.

The 16-millimeter, black and white, sound films can be obtained for use without charge through any Bell business office. Films of one of the concerts now are available and films of the other two will be a few weeks after they are televised.

The award-winning Young People's Concerts — with Bernstein narrating and conducting the New York Philharmonic — are being telecast under Bell Telephone sponsorship. They originate at the Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts in New York City.

Each concert is being filmed in two half-hour sections to more readily fit classroom schedules.

Adults as well as young people have applauded the concerts. The series features fine music played by one of the world's leading orchestras, articulately and dramatically explained by one of the world's leading conductor-pianist-composers.

The three programs are "Young Performers," "What is Sonata Form?" and "Sibelius' 100th Anniversary."

ARE YOU READY?

There can be no harmony without you! Unless everyone joins in together, determined to make this performance on life's stage the best one possible, the result will always be sour and discordant.

Perhaps, when we take an honest look at ourselves, we discover such things as temper or prejudice, jealousy or despair standing in the way of our personal happiness. And when we are unhappy, we feel out of tune with the world.

How can these miseries be overcome? God Himself will help us, if we ask Him. It is His intention that His children live in harmony and contentment, and He will show us the way.

Bring your problem to church this Sunday, and offer it to Him in prayer. He loves you greatly, He understands you perfectly, and only He can help you to regain the song of joy that belongs in your heart.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Here and There Around Our Town Of Culver

By MARGARET McDONALD

A wide variety of weather has prevailed the last two weeks in our area. Beginning Thursday, Jan. 28, Culverites shivered during a week of snow and severe cold with morning temperature readings below zero (12 degrees below zero on Ground Hog's Day, Feb. 2), with a warming trend beginning on Friday, Feb. 5.

Last Saturday brought a lovely, sunny February day to Indiana, with a high warmth of 32 degrees. Suits were the order of the day, convertible tops were down, and hyacinths were peeking several inches above ground. Kids enjoyed sidewalk surfing and hockey on ice-covered Lake Maxinkuckee.

Dense weekend fog also plagued the area surrounding the Lake because of the warm air coming into contact with the cold ice-covering.

Tuesday morning dawned dark and threatening and heavy rains fell often during the day and night.

A breath of Spring drifted into Town Wednesday morning, but I'm sure it's only a teaser, for, as the Ground Hog predicted last week, Spring is still over five weeks in the offing.

Academy Sports

Twenty-four years ago, Culver High School and Culver Military Academy met in basketball competition and the Academy Eagles — then nicknamed Maroons — won 32-27.

This series resumes Saturday for the first time since that game Dec. 7, 1940. Coach Gene Rosley's Culver High School team (12-5) will be host to Coach Chester Marshall's Eagles, who are 5-6 for the season.

Argos is the only mutual opponent both teams have played to date. C.H.S. downed the Argos quintet 76-64 and 88-65 in regularly-scheduled and Christmas holiday tournament games. The Eagles lost to Argos 55-50 two weeks ago.

Culver products Bill and Greg Osborn are probable starters for the Academy. Greg, a junior, injured his back last weekend but is expected to be at full strength Saturday. Bill, a 6-1 senior forward, is averaging 10 points a game for the Academy team and is third in this department. He finished fifth in scoring average last year after moving up from the junior varsity.

Coach Marshall, who this week said he is "happy to resume this natural rivalry against a team and coach for whom I have the highest regard," will probably start both Osborns, center Pete DePrez and forwards Paul Killian and Karl Brenkert.

Killian leads the team in scoring with a 15 point average and DePrez is right behind him at 14 points a game. Marshall will be without the services of letter-winning guards Jeff Hand and Fred Schumacher, who are ineligible for the remainder of the semester.

Available records of games between the two schools are:

	CMA	CHS
1940	32	27
1939	29	26
1938	27	29
1937	23	25
1936	38	28
1935	35	30

Both the Culver Military Academy basketball and wrestling teams registered victories Tuesday.

The ragers downed Tyner 62-56 with four men in double figures. Pete DePrez, Greg Osborn, Paul Killian and Jim Vestermark dropped in 15, 14, 13, 10 points respectively.

Culver jumped in front 12-7 in the first quarter and outscored the Tyner men in every quarter except the final.

The Eagles face Howe Military School here Friday night and travel to town for the Culver High game Saturday.

Logansport was handed its first wrestling defeat by a Culver team in at least five years, when the cadet grapplers won 26-16 bringing their record to 8-3 with only a match against Howe Military Feb. 20, left on the schedule.

Co-captain Dick Bird won his 15th consecutive match and Mike Schrage his 14th, both are undefeated. Jim Brooks won an exciting match over Dave Shoemaker, Logansport, who was Lafayette Sectional Champion.

Culver's reserves also beat Logansport. The score was 25-19.

Tuesday night's wrestling results are: CMA 26, Logansport 16; 98-lb. Cummins, (L), pinned Hill, (CMA), 2:20; 106-lb. Rodkey, (L), decision over Brown, (CMA), 3-0; 115-lb. # Pioneer, Winamac Defeat Culver In Weekend Games

Indians' Record Drops To 12-5

By EARL D. MISHLER
Winamac's powerful tribe of Indians gave Culver basketball fans an idea of what to expect in this month's Sectional tournament, as they thrashed our Tribe, 77-50, on the Winamac floor Saturday. Culver's five game win streak had been snapped Friday night on the home floor by Pioneer in a mild upset, 69-66.

The two losses dropped the CHS record to 12-5, making it necessary for them to win all three remaining games to match last year's regular season mark of 15-5.

Coach Gene Crosley's boys picked the wrong weekend to fizzle offensively. Jim Boswell, averaging 19 ppg before the week's action, got 19 points, but it took two games to do it.

Against Pioneer, Culver forgot to play defense in the first half, and only junior Bruce Lindvall's rapid-fire scoring kept the Tribe close. The half ended, 41-38, Pioneer.

Culver's matching zone finally began stopping the Panthers in the third period, during which time Bob Eustis and Jim Lewis sparked a home team rally, ending in a 59-55 lead after three quarters.

But Pioneer surged back into the lead behind three quick buckets, by 6'2" junior Craig Cress. Coach Max Eby's squad then went into a freeze, in an attempt to force Culver out of their zone. The stall not only did that, but it also slowed the Tribe's offense down to a standstill.

Trailing 65-62, Lewis hit a pair of free throws in the last minute, but on the inbounds play, Cress got loose for an easy lay-up. Boswell, taking only his second shot of the second half, bagged a 20-footer to narrow the gap to one point again. Pioneer successfully froze the ball until the Indians fouled with one second to go. L. J. Burton's two free throws extended the Panther margin of victory to farce.

B. Lindvall was the only Indian who could score consistently, as the 6'0" junior had his career high total of 21 points. Lewis added 13, while Boswell, with nine, was below double figures for the first time this season.

All five Pioneer starters, who played all the way, reached the double figure plateau. Cress led with 16, junior forward Norm Newell added 15, and the great Jim Conn had 14. Conn, a brilliant ball-handler and feeder, also did the bulk of the defensive work on Boswell. Burton scored 13 more for the Panthers, and Butch Cookerly got 11.

Saturday night the combination of Winamac's fine zone defense and the exceptionally tight-knit baskets practically made all any pretence of offense on the part of Culver's Tribe. Only late in the second half, well after the game had been decided, did the Marshall County Indians become accustomed to the goals.

After a slow first quarter, the Indians of Coach Joe Heath began scoring well over the Culver zone. Jim Lebo, a brilliant outside shooter, hit consistently from the 30-foot range. Meanwhile, the Culver shots seldom found the range, and the tight rims sent the rebounds heading downcourt. The half ended, 36-14, Winamac.

Culver managed to play the second half on fairly even terms, with the hosts, despite the absence of Boswell, who picked up four fouls in the first half. Jim fouled out shortly after returning late in the game. However, the huge deficit built up in the barren first half was too much for the Indians to overcome.

Winamac's typically well-balanced attack was led by Larry Larkin's 15 points. Lebo had 11, and high-scoring forward Jim Herrin hit 12. The Pulaski County Tribe is now 16-2, and the victory extended their win streak to eleven straight.

Lewis paced Culver's feeble attack with 13 markers, while Boswell added ten. The poor Culver shooting was exemplified by their 8 of 20 at the foul line.

The same pattern of heart-breaking loss followed by stinging defeat was experienced by the Culver B-Team. The Papooses lost a 40-26 decision to Pioneer's Panther Cubs, then were humiliated by Winamac's tall and talented B-Team, 49-25. Coach Bill Stegemoller's forces were led Friday by Ron Babcock's 14 points. Saturday Mike Eustis led with eight markers. The Papooses are now 10-7 for the season.

Saturday night Culver plays host to Culver Military Academy, then Tuesday night Coach Crosley's lads meet Lewis Cass on the home floor. The Cass game was postponed from January 16. Box scores:

Tribe Attempts To Rebound, vs. CMA and Cass

By EARL D. MISHLER
Culver's Indians, needing to win all three of their remaining games to match last year's 15-5 regular season record, will play host to Culver Military Academy Saturday night and to Lewis Cass High School next Tuesday.

Coach Chet Marshall's Eagles will carry a 4-6 season's record into the local gym for the long-awaited renewal of an ancient crosstown rivalry. An epidemic of influenza forced the cancellation of several CMA games.

Marshall's most reliable scorer this season and last has been forward Paul Killian. Pete DePrez, the Eagles starting center, is the top rebounder and second highest scorer.

A pair of local boys, Bill and Greg Osborn, will also likely be starters for CMA. The Eagles do not participate in the State tournament, being only associate members of the IHSAA.

Lewis Cass will field a tall, muscular starting lineup, likely to play a lot of offense and little defense. The Kings of Coach Joe Long have had an up-and-down season.

6'3" senior Kim Frey and 6'3" junior Roy Wagner are the Kings' top scorers and rebounders. 6'2" Mark Barker rounds out the starting front line, and five others on Longs' roster are over the 6-foot mark. Seniors Dennis Wittings and Bill Winters are the starting guards.

Culver fans are now hopeful that the Indians will be able to rebound from last week's double defeat in time to go into this month's Sectional on a three-game winning streak.

Next week the Citizen will feature the Mentone Bulldogs.
