Civil Defense Program For Culver Is Explained By County Director

Procedures involved in implementing a Civil Defense program, including emergency food and hospital supplies, were described to director, at a meeting Monday night, April 11, at the Town Hall. Members of the Town Board, school officials, and others attended the meeting.

Holderead told how rations for emergency use and first-aid supplies may be obtained without cost after appropriate locations have been designated and approved by Civil Defense officials. He described how these storage facilities are already in use at the Culver Military Academy and at Donaldson.

He said that while Culver school had previously been found inadequate as a Civil Defense emergency shelter, that requirements have since been relaxed, and it is possible that the school could now gain approval.

Holderead described how equipment such as emergency standby electric generators, tornado warning sirens, radio equipment, and other CD equipment may be obtained at special prices, and by matching local funds to Civil Defense grants. He said Plymouth has recently installed new radio equipment and Bremen has ordered a new warning siren capable of being heard over a radius of five miles.

Holderead said recent volunteer training programs, including new self-help medical instruction programs, are proving popular. He said Plymouth now has 44 trained, uniformed Civil Defense volunteers. He said the Plymouth radio station has been granted FCC approval to operate beyond its regular daily schedule, and would transmit Civil Defense information in the event of a tornado or other emergency. He emphasized the need for families to have battery-powered transistor radios.

Among those attending the meeting were Town Board Members Wilfred (Bud) Craft, Ted Ervin, and Edgar Shaw; school officials Shelton Kaiser, Frank McLane and Robert Rust; Roy Nicodemus of the Culver Jaycees; Frank Setzler of the Chamber of Commerce and Lake Maxinkuckee Assn.; Fire Chief Dave Burns and other firemen; and Police Chief Don Mikeseil.

School Board Lists Teacher Salary Schedule

In its Monday evening meeting, the Board of School Trustees of Culver Community Schools reviewed with Superintendent Frank McLane and Superintendent-elect Robert Rust the credentials of candidates for the position as principal of Culver High School. From the numerous applicants, the Board selected five for interviews during the next week. It is the desire of the school officials that the selection of the new principal may be made during the next ten days.

The school officials also discussed with Jack Miller and John Nelson, representatives of the local school corporation teachers, the proposed salary schedule which would become effective on January 1, 1967. Before making a decision, the School Board reviewed a summary of new salary schedules which have been adopted recently by almost fifty school corporations. Superintendent Frank McLane explained that many School Boards were using the cost-of-living increase of 3.2% which had been cited by President Johnson as a base for salary adjustments.

After studying the many new schedules of other corporations, the School Board and teacher representatives agreed on a schedule which would become effective on January 1, 1967. The new scale will provide for a salary of $5500 for a beginning teacher with a bachelor's degree. The maximum salary for a teacher with four years of training will reach $7250 in eleven years. The 1967 schedule for teachers with five years of training will start at $5700 and reach $9000 for twenty years of teaching experience. Since the contracted salaries for next year will be based partially on the 1966 schedule now in effect, the maximum salary for teachers with four years of training will be $7161 and that for teachers with five years of train-

Cynthia Allen Awarded Coveted I.U. Fellowship

Miss Cynthia Allen has been awarded a fellowship by the Experienced Teacher Fellowship Program for graduate study at Indiana University during the year 1966-67 and in Mexico City during the summer of 1967.

Through a grant from the U. S. Office of Education, Indiana University offered 10 fellowships each in Spanish and French to applicants from the entire United States. Eligibility was limited to those language teachers with at least three years of experience. The program is designed to lead to the degree of Master of Arts for Teachers (M.A.T.).

The purpose of the program as outlined by Congress is to improve the quality of education in foreign languages in the secondary schools by improving the skills of teachers. For this reason, it is required that the fellowship holder agree to return to the school system from which he came. The Board of Education of Culver Community Schools has granted Miss Allen a year's leave of absence. She will return to teaching at Culver High School in the fall of 1967.

Miss Allen is a 1957 graduate of Culver High School and received her B.A. degree in Spanish from Indiana University in 1961. She spent a year as a university student in Lima, Peru and later was a Peace Corps Volunteer in Bolivia, and Argentina. She has taught Spanish in the Culver and Leiters Ford high schools for two years.

Steno Sue stalled her car at a traffic light one wet winter day. While she was trying every way she could think of to get it started, the man behind her sounded his horn incessantly. Finally, Sue got out and walked back to the other car.

"I'm awfully sorry, Sir," Sue said sweetly, "but I just can't get my car started. If you'll go and start it for me, I'll stay here and lean on your horn!"

Two dog-owners were talking about the intelligence of their pets. "The brightest dog I ever owned," said one, "was a great Dane that used to play cards. He was a whiz at poker, but finally a friend complained about him and I had him shot."

"You had him shot, a bright dog like that? A dog like that would be worth a million dollars." "Had to," said the ex-owner. "We caught him using marked cards."

Going into the psychiatrist's office, the obviously healthy and wealthy bachelor slumped in his chair and groaned: "Doctor, I have two Cadillacs and a yacht, and the most beautiful girl in the world lives right next door. But I'm depressed."

"Why should you be depressed?" asked the psychiatrist. "You seem to have everything. You should be happy."

"You don't understand, doc," the man said. "I just lost my driving license, I get seasick and the girl next door is married."

"Who Said Small-Change?"

Do you have any idea how much $40,722 coins — half-dollars, quarters, dimes, nickels and pennies weigh? Three tons! ($21,400 . . . a wish to be sure!)

Standing atop a heap of these coins — part of the three tons of money — taken from the wishing well of Luray Caverns, Va., and given to the annual Easter Seal for Crippled Children and Adults Campaign of the National Society four-year-old Alan Nagao, 1966 National Easter Seal Child, flashes a smile of delight.

Daughter: "Mom, what sort of a husband should I look for?"

Mother: "Never mind that stuff! You look for a good single man!"

Mother's reply to her daughter's questions on the subject of matrimony: "You'd better ask your father's advice. He made a much smarter marriage than I did."

"Sing-Out '66" Musical Program At CMA To Mark May 1 Loyalty Day

"Sing-Out '66," a patriotic musical program presented by 135 young singers and dancers, will be given at Culver Military Academy at 2 p.m. on Sunday, May 1, as a special observance of Loyalty Day in Marshall County.

Major General Delmar T. Spivey, USAF (Ret.), superintendent of Culver said the program is a project being undertaken by the Academy and others in Marshall County. Loyalty Day came into being several years ago as a counter-measure to May 1 demonstrations in Communist countries behind the Iron Curtain.

"It is appropriate," General Spivey said, "to be able to bring this program to Marshall County in a year in which Indiana is celebrating its 150th anniversary. The Academy is extending an invitation to all Marshall County residents — and particularly the school children — to attend a program which, through entertainment, emphasizes youth speaking out patriotically about our country."

The Academy will build a special stage in the vicinity of its Riding Hall so that "Sing-Out '66" may be presented outdoors. Additional bleachers will also be set up to accommodate the crowd. General Spivey said special invitations are being sent through Marshall County public schools and area churches. There is no admission charge.

In the event of bad weather, the program will be held in Eugene C. Eppley Auditorium and preference for seating will go first to Marshall County and Academy students.

"Sing-Out '66" is a program being sent throughout the U.S. and several foreign countries by the Moral Re-Armament Association. Among its 135 performers are young people from American and foreign campuses. The program had its beginnings two years ago when thousands of students from 150 colleges, 300 high schools, and 51 countries got together for a conference at Michigan's Isle of Mackinac, according to MRA, "demonstrate how man can be modernized in his aims and motives."

From this conference came the musical group that has been touring the country for two years. The stars and producers of "Sing-Out '66" are a California duo known as the Colwell Brothers, whose aim it is to "shake the conscience of the American people awake." Through its music, skits, and dance segments, the program will ask such vital questions as: "Which Way America?" "Is freedom really free?" "What color is God's skin?"

Its tone is summed up on what the Colwells state as: "The world knows what the young Chinese live for. They know what the Russians live for. They have not been very clear what young Americans live for."

"We are out to show the world that free men and women can be the most convinced, most enthusiastic, in fact the most revolutionary people on earth. We want to see people rise up out of their rocking chairs of cynicism and complacency and ride with us whole-hog for tomorrow."

Save those shoeboxes. There's no limit to how children can use them.

The shoebox is a big help for school projects, for instance. A youngster sets the box on its side, facing him, and inside it can create a historical scene. He draws a background in the interior with crayon. In the foreground go props and figures — dimestore toys work well and so do cut-outs and sketches.

Is he studying jungle life? He draws thick foliage in the box. In the foreground go small jungle animals, and perhaps a watering hole made with pocket mirror and green clay. Is his subject the Stone Age? He colors the inside of the box like a cave. A central fire on the floor can be made with small twigs and red and gold tissue paper. Paper figures can be taped around the fire, busy making spears or pounding skins. The Lewis and Clark expedition calls for a mountain-and-forest background, toy canoes and other props. Or the shoebox can show the world of Marco Polo, Columbus or Magellan.

"Shoebox projects help a child learn to research," points out H. M. Benstead, Jr., editorial director of Whitman Publishing Company, Racine, Wis. "Often the work is required by a teacher. Then the child gets curious about costumes, weapons, ways of transportation. He wants to look things up. Many low-cost children's books cover history events and are a good supplement to school materials and library books."

Rainy days can also see shoeboxes used in many forms. Little girls can decorate shoebox rooms and combine them into a dollhouse. Boys can turn shoeboxes into service stations.

You may have to shoo them away from this work when bedtime comes.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Clifton were Easter Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Donovan Clifton and family in Culver.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Castleman and family spent Easter Sunday at a family gathering in the home of Mrs. Mary Castleman in Argos. Larry Castleman of Portland, Oregon, arrived Tuesday to spend several weeks vacation here. Mrs. Castleman will arrive by plane this Saturday.

Sunday afternoon visitors in the Frank Cowen home were Mr. and Mrs. Sam Baker and family of Shipshewana, Mrs. Harold Staley, Mrs. George Staley, and Mrs. Albert Roose of Plymouth, and local family members.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY THE PRESS CLUB OF CULVER HIGH SCHOOL

Well, here we are back at the gossip corner. Everybody is anxiously waiting to read the "goodies" and hoping they didn't get in. Hold your breath a little longer - here goes.

It seems the choicest bit was all about the Senior Trip. There's quite a few pictures going around. HMMM, pretty interesting. Anyone for blackmail? Speaking of blackmail, Cindee, how did Coach Crosley like the picture of Marsh and George? It was also passed around that the Seniors met someone named Ralph. Tell us more about it, gang.

Last weekend must have been pretty wild. There were quite a few kids who found their way to the "Black Light" at Rochester. Here's a tip for those steadies who are always trying to find some place new to take their girls. It is really neat, and a nice place.

There were some who made it to Plymouth too. (And South Bend) But, Pam, why wouldn't you take off your coat at Snyder's? Cindee had a rough time at Snyder's too. She still swears the guy in the next car stole her eke. What is it with these Seniors?

Only 37 more days until graduation we are told by those Seniors who can't wait. Bet there are a few Juniors who sure aren't counting the days! Cheer up girls, it happens every year and they all manage to live through it somehow.

Speaking of Juniors, we hear play practices aren't going very well. Don't get too discouraged Mr. Lawson and Mr. Fullman. There is always next year's class. While we're spreading our joy, let's do our bit for Paula, the student director. Don't take it too hard, everybody has a flop once in awhile. And you can blame yours on the cast!

Paula, how about letting your secret out? There are plenty of girls here who would appreciate it. Do you have a magnet that draws tough boys or something? Whatever it was, it sure worked in South Bend!

What's that vaguely familiar odor? Cigarette smoke? Oh, it's just Patti McCombs at play practice. Don't worry, she'll learn in time for the play - maybe.

Blackbirds don't go!

It looks like Marsh will be learning a new art soon, too. George has decided to teach her a little about drags. Then when he drags, she can be pit-man.

Here's a tip on how to earn some fast money. Be sure Susie D. waits on you at the root beer stand. She always gives back a little extra change, right Mike E.?

Say, didn't somebody say candy was nix in the auditorium at CMA? Then what were Norma, Debbie, Maryann, and Pam doing with suckers - suckers!!? Say, how was the "scenery"?

Some of you can breath a sigh of relief now. But(don't count your blessing too soon. There's always next week's teepee, and the next, and the next, . . .

The Shadow Strikes Again

By Pam Fish

This week's victim of the shadow is one of Culvers popular Seniors, whom I'll call Miss X for now.

Miss X arrived at school on this particular morning and spent the time until the bell rang upstairs talking to her friends. About one minute before the last bell was to ring, she ran down to the second floor to her World History class. (She likes to challenge herself and tries to make it in one minute.) My spies informed me that she was very intent in listening to Mr. Lawson this period.

Second period was spent in Econ. class, where she answered a few questions, and spent the rest of the time listening to Mr. Lawson. Third period Miss X has study hall. This is the one period she looks forward to; she sometimes gets an extra wink of sleep if it's not too noisy. Fourth period she goes to Math class where she sits and takes notes the whole period.

Miss X eats lunch in the cafeteria and afterwards roams the hall's looking for trouble and excitement. Often times she's the cause of the excitement, but we try to humor her. Fifth period she has chemistry and once again she sits and takes notes. Sixth period comes English class where she talks all the time; she kind of lets off steam in here. Seventh period she usually goes to the library to talk, I mean to study - Oh well, she goes to the library. After that she returns to her locker for her coat and books and hurriedly makes her way to the bus.

Our victim this week was the famous Sheryl Fisher but never fear - "The next time the shadow strikes it may strike Y-O-U.

"How far down do you want to sit?" asked the usher.

"All the way," answered the Little Old Lady. "I'm very tired."

Mentone Band Entertains

By Carin Manchester

On Thursday, April 14, the Culver High School students were honored to have the Mentone High School Band perform an hour concert in the gymnasium.

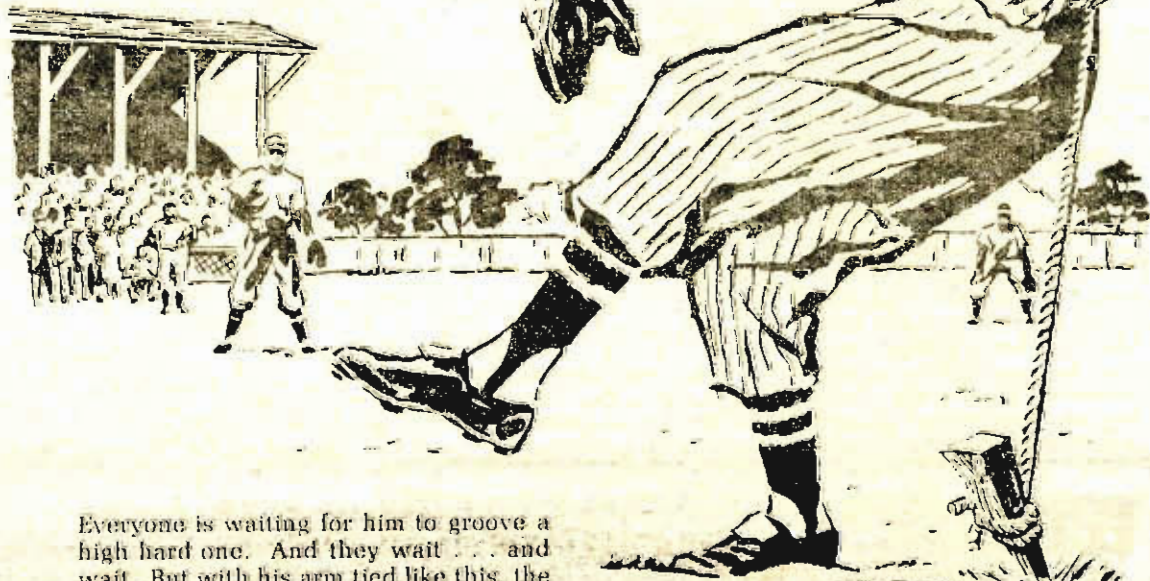

Mr. Kenneth Bush, a 1949 graduate of Culver High School, directed the band.

The program began with the band playing "Badinage for Brasses," a Harold Walter number. Other songs were: "Maximkuckee Overture," "Night Beat," "Exodus," "Rhythm in Blues," and the final number was "Overture International." Also featured in this program was a trombone trio playing "Trombrero," a drum trio with sandpaper blocks playing "Sandpaper Ballet," and three vocal pieces. There was a Freshman triple trio singing "Skip to My Lou, a Junior triple trio singing "I Left My Heart in San Francisco," and the Mellodears singing a barber shop song, "Basen Street Blues."

EYEGLASS EMERGENCY

If you wear glasses, you have a built-in emergency fire starter. Glass works as a magnifying glass, will focus sun's rays to set tinder smoldering.

It doesn't make sense in business, either!

Everyone is waiting for him to groove a high hard one. And they wait . . . and wait. But with his arm tied like this, the pitcher is useless.

What's the result of this kind of foolishness? Neither team gains a victory. The competition . . . and the enjoyment by fans and players . . . comes to a halt. They's no ball game.

Of course, you'd never see this happen. It doesn't make sense. Still, similar forces are at work in the field of business . . . trying to tie up the most important member of the business team - profit.

How? By putting a limit on profits, by soaking them up in taxes, by having you believe that profit is somehow undemocratic.

Yet nothing is more democratic, because profit—like a pitcher—works for the entire team.

It creates new jobs and makes existing jobs stronger. (Only a profitable company can keep people on the payroll.)

It encourages people to invest their savings in new factories, new research and invention.

It is the incentive to turn out improved products that serve the public better. (And you are the public . . . only companies that please you can earn a profit.)

In short, profit—like a good pitcher—delivers the goods for every member of the team. Profit is the good right arm of our economic system.

How much profit do companies make? America's 500 largest industrial manufacturers average only 6¢ profit per dollar of sales. To the extent this can be improved, it will better serve the lives of all of us.

Indiana Bell Mails New Phone Directories

Numbers Listed In Seven Figures

Indiana Bell has mailed new telephone directories, listing numbers in modern seven-figure style, to its customers in the Culver area, said Gerald A. Edwards, manager.

The "VI 2" prefix for Culver telephone numbers has been replaced by "842" as this area joins a gradual nationwide changeover to All-Number Calling. ANC will accommodate growth and the resultant need for thousands of new numbers well into the next century.

Edwards reminded telephone users that the adoption of seven-figure numbers will not change dialing habits.

"The VI in present numbers is being replaced by the numerals associated with the same holes on the dial, and the five figures remain the same," he said. "So the dial pulls required to ring a local telephone will be unchanged."

Edwards said more than half the phones in the United States and Canada already have been assigned the seven-figure telephone numbers. The compelling reason for ANC, he said, is that telephone companies are running out of numbers, and the new numbering system makes almost half again as many available.

The cover of the new directory features Indiana's official sesquicentennial seal against a predominantly green background. The telephone company presented an award for design of the official seal and plans to reproduce it on most 1966 directory covers.

Edwards called attention to the directory's introductory pages, which have been "newly designed to make them more readable and to facilitate quick reference."

Emergency numbers are listed on the inside front cover, together with spaces where personal medical numbers can be recorded. The inside back cover contains space to write numbers frequently called.

The introductory pages contain area codes for use in speeding long distance calls, and a chart listing typical long distance rates.

When the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, a reporter asked them, "To what do you attribute your 50 years of successful married life?"

"The formula," said Ford, "is the same formula I have always used in making cars — just stick to one model."

When a man went to apply for a life insurance policy, the agent inquired, "Do you drive a car?"

"No," replied the applicant. "Do you fly?"

"No."

"I'm sorry," said the agent, "we no longer insure pedestrians."

Wife: "I saw you winking at a girl on the corner today."

Husband: "I wasn't winking. It was windy and something got in my eye."

Wife: "Yes, and she got in your car, too!"

Jaycees To Co-Sponsor Loyalty Day Sing-Out

The Culver Jaycees met Thursday evening, April 14, at the Eagles Lodge with Vice-President Bob Kline leading the discussion. President Roy Niedemus was unable to be there, for he and Jaycees Ed Krull and Larry Salyer, were in Angola attending the Region B elections.

William Martin, Culver Military Academy Theatrical Director, was a guest at the meeting and offered a project for the Jaycees to co-sponsor with the Academy, in which a "Loyalty Day Sing-Out" program would be promoted. The project was approved by the Jaycee membership, with Bill Snyder and Ron Tusing appointed co-chairmen; the Jaycees will promote the event and encourage area children and their parents to attend the "Sing-Out". On May 1st, Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m., the CMA Riding Hall Area will be the location featuring 150 College and High School students from around the world; the students will present a program consisting of American folksongs and a Patriotic musical theme.

The Loyalty Day Program is being used throughout the United States, as a positive step by America, to counter-measure the May 1st Anti-USA demonstrations by the Communists. The Nationwide tour is sponsored by the Moral Re-Armament Association, whose International headquarters is located on Mackinac Island, Mich. The Loyalty Day Sing-Out" strengthens our Faith in the American way of life by honoring the ideas and principles of our Republic, re-affirming our Youth in the Heritage of freedom in America's system of Capitalism and Free Enterprise.

The Jaycees voted to continue their support of the Culver Little League program and are presently working out the details for the coming season.

Roger Wise, chairman of the Jaycee-McGill Welcoming Dinner, reported that a commemorative magazine honoring McGill's to the Culver Community, will be published in the next few weeks. The dinner will be held at the Culver Inn on Saturday evening, May 21.

Bob Kline, chairman of the nominating committee for 1966-67 officers, reports that his group will meet on April 18 and present their suggestions to the Jaycee membership.

A suburban grandmother's heart momentarily leaped up the other evening when she heard her grandson — a ten-year-old apprentice demon and non-intellectual — whistling Mendelssohn's "Spring Song" as he did his nightly minimum of homework. She asked where he had learned the music. "That?" he said. "That's just what they play on television whenever someone gets bopped on the head."

The Rare Breed

THE STRONGEST FORCE in the world is an idea. But in the Texas of 1884, the idea that any other kind of cattle but raw-boned longhorns could survive on the open range, was considered a joke. Yet a lovely, genteel Englishwoman came into the Texas wilds with just such a vision — and her prize Hereford bull, Vindicator.

RUGGED, LUSTY, BRAWLING men owned the land, bulldogged and branded the cattle. And they fought this indomitable woman every inch of the way. Crossbreed her "hornless Hereford hound" with a vicious longhorn? Impossible! A tough, two-fisted trailboss laughed loudest and longest. Yet later he was the first to fight for her and champion the cause of the new, "rare breed."

THESE TWO UNCONQUERABLE people are portrayed by James Stewart and Maureen O'Hara in Universal's "The Rare Breed" — a sprawling saga of young love and romance, of cattle barons, cavalier rogues, and unyielding heroes. Stomping across the screen in fiery color, thunders this fascinating true adventure that contributed to the fabulous destiny of the American West. As Miss O'Hara's daughter, lovely Juliet Mills, sister of the celebrated Hayley, lends tender youth to the unfolding drama.

Most of today's favorite games trace their roots back to antiquity.

Checkers, for instance, was played in Egypt in the days of the early Pharaohs, and the boards used then were quite similar to those we use today. The game — known as draughts in England — is popular in every English-speaking country and has a number of global variations including Spanish Checkers and Turkish Checkers.

Chess has been ascribed to many old civilizations, but some scholars date it as originating in India during or before the 7th century. Probably from there it spread to Persia, Arabia and Western Europe.

Marble games were probably brought to Britain centuries ago by Roman legions.

Dice and playing cards, too, have been in use for thousands of years.

"Many games have proved their popularity over the centuries and are still in demand," reminds Mary Hill, an editor with Whitman Publishing Company of Racine, Wis. "There are also fresh approaches to keep players alert and games unpredictable. Focus is a variation on checkers, but it requires a special board and is more difficult. A game called Phalanx is basically a chess operation but is played in terms of ancient warfare by moving units of Alexander's army — it's popular with high-schoolers and parents. For the youngsters there is a new boxed combination called Three Marble Games. Children never tire of shooting marbles, trying to line them in rows, or moving them across barriers."

Winter months often see an upsurge in game playing. Early man, when he felt sociable and wanted a game break, had to use sticks, stones and carvings. Luckily, today's equipment is colorful, not costly, and widely available at local stores. Our setting is contemporary, but we still derive pleasure from games as old as time.

A mild-mannered minister accepted the call to a church in a community where many residents bred and raced horses. A few weeks later he was asked to invite the prayers of the congregation for Lucy Gray. Willingly and gladly he did so for three weeks. On the fourth Sunday the parishioner who had made the request informed him that the prayers were no longer necessary.

"Why?" asked the good minister with an anxious look. "Is she dead?"

"Oh, no," replied the horse breeder. "She won her race."

Preacher (at close of sermon to one of his deacons, half asleep): "We'll now have a few minutes of prayer. Deacon Brown, will you lead?"

Deacon Brown: "Lead? I just dealt."

There are still a few things you can get for a dollar, like nickels, dimes, and quarters.

Sesquicentennial 5c Stamp Sales Began April 16

Corydon, the site of Indiana's first capitol, was again bustling with activity as it hosted the First Day Sales of Indiana's Sesquicentennial Stamp April 16.

The Corydon post office hired extra employees to handle the mail requesting cancellations, stamps, and first-day covers. Governor Branigin acted as official host to various governmental officials who attended. A luncheon was served in the Corydon High School Gym.

The stamp design was first unveiled on January 21, 1966 by Postmaster General Lawrence O'Brien at a ceremony attended by members of Indiana's Congressional Delegation.

The stamp is the official emblem of the Sesquicentennial Commission - vertical in blue, yellow and brown. To the bottom is a map of the state in blue into which is inset the Indiana torch and a cluster of 19 brown stars. Above the map, in a brown circle, appears in blue "Sesquicentennial 1816-1966." Bisecting the circle horizontally is "Indiana" in white, above which appears a white outline of the old capitol building at Corydon. At the bottom of the

"Bluejackets" To Give Two CMA Performances

Fifty sailors comprising the Bluejacket Chorus from Great Lakes Naval Training Center will sing in two performances April 30 and May 1 at Culver Military Academy.

The famous singing group from the world's largest naval training center will give a brief concert in the Eugene C. Eppley Auditorium at 7:15 p.m. prior to the Academy's usual Saturday evening movie April 30. The sailors also are scheduled to sing during 10:30 a.m. chapel services Sunday when Capt. Robert F. McComas, Ninth Naval District chaplain, delivers a guest sermon. The public is invited to attend chapel services.

All Bluejacket Chorus members are volunteers. Some are recruits, others are men from Navy service schools and the Naval administrative command at Great Lakes. The chorus has appeared on numerous television shows and is heard on many radio stations throughout the country.

Director of the Bluejacket Chorus is E. D. Sandager, the only full-time civilian choir director of the U.S. Navy. Sandager formerly was bass soloist with the famous Concordia College Choir.

Captain McComas has served as Ninth District chaplain on the staff of Rear Admiral H. A. Yeager since 1964. He served in the Pacific during World War II and participated in 10 engagements with enemy forces including the occupation of the Gilbert Islands. Among his other contributions to the Navy's religious program, Captain McComas in 1955 established the first permanent chapel aboard a combat vessel, the U.S.S. Kearsarge.

INDIANA CELEBRATES 150TH BIRTHDAY

Washington, District of Columbia—April 19, 1816.

President Madison today signed into law an Act enabling the people of the Indiana Territory to form a constitution and state government, thereby qualifying for eventual admission into the Union.

Territorial Delegate to Congress, Jonathan Jennings, announced that the next step toward full statehood will be the election of delegates to attend the constitutional convention which will be held at the territorial capital of Corydon on the second Monday of June next.

The necessity for continuing spiritual growth to realize eternal life is a central theme of this Sunday's service at all Christian Science churches. Subject of the Bible Lesson is "Probation After Death." The Golden Text is from James: "Let patience have her perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing."

Readings to be presented along with the Bible include these lines from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Individuals are consistent who, watching and praying, can run, and not be weary; . . . walk, and not faint."

who gain good rapidly and hold their position, or attain slowly and yield not to discouragement.
God requires perfection, but not until the battle between Spirit and flesh fought and the victory won."

FROZEN MILK

Campers freeze milk in cartons for long trips into the bush. Keeps other supplies cold and can be drunk as it thaws. If flavor is flat, blow air bubbles through.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4)
For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Strange how a landscape sets the imagination to work. Right now, looking at this scene, I can imagine all sorts of things.

Winged steeds riding to heavy music . . . pioneers in the wilderness . . . castles on the cliffs . . . boating at high speeds.

Look at the magic that enables the lake to mirror the rocky mountain peak and the heavens! The vastness and stillness of the scene sets my mind to wondering about time and space and things I will never understand.

But in standing here and wondering so, I feel like I've been near God.

There is a place where I can find Him always—in Church. Will you come with me?

A naughty little girl was put in a clothes closet for punishment. For 15 minutes there wasn't a sound. Finally the stern, but anxious, mother opened the door and peered inside. "What are you doing in there?" she asked. From the darkness came the emphatic answer, "I'm thpittin' on your new hat, I'm thpittin' on your new dretth, I'm thpittin' on your new thatin slippers and—and—" There was a breathless pause. "And what?" cried the mother. Came the voice of vengeance. "Now I'm waitin' for more thpit!"

"Fat men are usually very trustworthy," said one employer to another.
 "Oh, they find it difficult to stoop to anything low!"

National Library Week, April 17-23, Now In Progress

This is National Library Week. The situation of libraries in America is critical, a situation especially shameful at this time when there is an all out drive to raise the educational standards of our country.

Should public libraries be the neglected stepchild of the educational family, forced to live on substandard means from what amounts to charity level support, unable to serve the best interests of their communities?

How does the Culver Public Library measure up to national standards?

Libraries serving communities of 5000-50,000 population require a minimum of two books per capita, whichever is greater. The Culver Public Library has 10,578 volumes, or 3 books per capita.

One full-time staff member should be the minimum for each 2500 persons in the area served. Our library has 2 staff members to serve 3469 people.

Even the smallest public libraries should be open a minimum of 15 hours a week, including some evening hours. In the population range of 5000-10,000, the library should be open 30-45 hours per week. Libraries serving populations over 25,000 should be open 60 hours or more a week. The Culver Public Library is open 44 hours each week.

Libraries are truly the means toward the full pursuit of life, liberty and happiness; they are keys to cultural and economic opportunity, essential for the development of an informed, creative citizenry capable of making the many choices and complex decisions that confront our society today.

National Library Week will serve the public well only insofar as it becomes a tool, a focal point for a year round effort to advance the public library in our community. Don't take the library for granted. Twenty-seven million Americans are without one.

We can serve our country by helping ourselves have the best public library possible — and we will be the ultimate beneficiaries.

Ask the librarian what you can do to help. The need is urgent.

To delve briefly into the past, however, Indiana has had a long and sometimes glorious history as a leader in the public library field. From the time the founders of the state recognized the importance of public libraries by providing for their establishment in the original constitution of 1816, through the golden age of Carnegie libraries when Indiana was granted the mixed blessing of more of the distinctive buildings than any other state, to the present, libraries have charted a bumpy course of progress.

Today Indiana, with every other state, is caught in a tremendous revolution. Rural areas are becoming cities, and even in the wide-open midwest great urban complexes are sprawling across the landscape. Schools, municipal governments and labor markets are all undergoing re-organization and transformation.

Libraries are no exception. What was once considered a book collection for a town to take pride in, open to the public a few hours a week and presided over by a benevolent autocrat, today is not enough. Instead of guardians for books and documents, libraries have become spirited institutions offering a wide variety of materials and services, as important to their communities as schools and other government agencies.

Public libraries are tax-supported municipal or county institutions. They are governed by boards of trustees appointed by public officials. These boards have extensive powers, including the right to levy taxes, float bonds, condemn property, enter into contracts, sue in court, as well as to carry out the functions and policies generally ascribed to such a board.

The members of the Culver Public Library Board are conscientious citizens devoting much time and energy for the good of the whole community by serving in this capacity. They are Jesse Sims, president; Mrs. Chester Cleveland, vice-president; Mrs. Raymond Manis, secretary; Peter Trone, treasurer; Mrs. Hampton Boswell, Robert Lawrence, Mrs. Robert Curtis, and Jane Scruggs, ex officio.

In Indiana, three members of a library board are appointed by the judge of the county circuit court; two are appointed by the town or county civil authority, depending on which area the library serves; and two are appointed by the school board. Each appointment is for a four year term and may be renewed three times. Library boards meet monthly and at other times when necessary. Their meetings are open to the public.

Library boards define the policy of the library, support the librarian and staff in the execution of policy, and try to keep alert to the possibilities of improving service, especially through inter-library co-operation.

The board must provide a sound budget with adequate funds for the administration of the library. It is the business of the board to spend money wisely, not to save it — the board controls public money to be spent upon public business to meet a public demand, and this money must be sufficient to produce satisfactory library service.

The trustee's job is not an easy one, but for the dedicated public servant who serves his community in this capacity, the satisfaction of providing the best library service possible is reward enough.

Inviting a friend to his wedding anniversary party, the Scotsman said, "We're on the 5th floor, Apartment B. Just touch the button with your elbow."

Friend: "Why must I use my elbow?"

Scotsman: "Well hoot, mon, you won't be coming empty-handed, will you?"

Sesquicentennial Medallions Go On Sale This Month

The Indiana Sesquicentennial Commission has announced that its official medallion was put on sale as of the middle of April.

The medallion, designed by Warner Williams, Artist-in-Residence at Culver Military Academy, is manufactured by the Medallic Art Company and is being distributed by member banks of the Indiana Bankers Association. The design is, in part, original — the reverse side features the seal of the state of Indiana but an original design on the obverse side shows a pioneer cabin denoting early statehood against a skyline representing industry — progress over 150 years. Across the top is written STATE OF INDIANA, at the sides 1816 and 1966, SES-QUICENTENNIAL at the bottom and showing four tulips at the sides representing the official tree of the state of Indiana.

The medallions, cast in bronze and silver, are available in four issues of three sizes — a silver 2 1/2" retailing for $25.00, a silver 1 3/4" for $10.00, a bronze 2 1/2" for $4.00, and a small 1 1/2" bronze for $1.00.

The silver, being registered, will be limited in supply; the bronze will be unlimited. There will be a total of 2,000 large and 10,000 small silver medallions struck; banks and their branches will, at their option, receive two large and ten of the small silver each. After June 1, 1966, the Sesquicentennial Commission office will sell those silver medallions not taken up by banks — to be sold on a first-come, first-serve basis, limited to one per purchaser. Out-of-state and in-state mail orders will be made through the Sesquicentennial Commission after June 1, 1966. All profits made on the sale of the medallions will return to the general fund of the state of Indiana.

Two Indiana Men Win Top Honors In Canoe Race

Two Indiana men walked off with top honors in the third annual Culver Military Academy 60-mile canoe race, but for the first time Academy cadets finished as prize-winners.

The awarding of prizes to four Academy students was a far cry from three years ago when history teacher William Garrison proposed the idea of a gruelling race down the Tippecanoe River. Then, the Culver cadets came off with a slightly less than distinguished record as 10 crews failed to finish the 60-mile course.

Promising to make up for their showing, the Academy students came back last year with 31 teams and all but two finished. Furthermore, one team finished sixteenth in a big field. But last weekend the additional training given the students over the past three years began to pay off as the four boys took home first place trophies.

The winning cadets in the junior division's silver medal flight were Thomas Hauser and Charles McQuaid, who ran the course in nine hours, 54 minutes. In another junior division flight, cadets Nixen Lauridsen and Charles Lewis also finished first with a time of 11 hours, 15 minutes.

The overall race winners, however, were Dr. Lewis Runnels, Burlington, Ind., and Robert Demoret, Crawfordsville, who traveled the distance from Leeters Ford to Buffalo in a time of seven hours, 41 minutes, 10 seconds to take the championship flight in the senior division.

Other winners were: Senior division, gold medal flight — Nathaniel Bird and Stanley Webster, Chicago, (time: 9:45.55).

Junior Division: Championship flight, Mike and Steve Ausley, St. Charles, Ill. (time: 8:55); gold medal flight, Jay Freeman and Bill Roush, Cincinnati, (time: 9:59.03).

Mixed Doubles Division, championship flight: Belinda Wilkens, Linden, Ind., and Bruce Runnels, Darlington, Ind. (time for 30 miles: 4:46.50).

Father-Son Division, championship flight: Scott Gallagher and Wilbert Brink, Cincinnati (time for 30 miles: 4:43.23).

A special trophy provided by the State Exchange Bank to the residents of Marshall County finishing in the highest position was won by Academy mathematics instructor Myron Benner and his son John.

A couple was parked in lovers' lane, but the girl refused to kiss the boy until he drove to another spot a mile or so away.

Puzzled, the lad asked: "What was that all about?"

Shyly she replied: "It's just that I don't believe in love at first site."

How did the Smith wedding go off?

Fine, until the parson asked the bride if she'd obey her husband.

What happened then?

She replied, "Do you think I'm crazy?" and the groom who was in a sort of daze, replied, "I do."

MEDICARE

"Anyone who will be 65 in or before July of 1966 should be coming into the social security office now if they wish the full protection of medicare when it goes into effect on July 1st," says Mr. Charles E. Burke, social security district manager in South Bend. "This is true even if you may be continuing in full time employment or if you have never worked under social security."

There is a 7-month enrollment period during which a person reaching 65 may sign up for medical insurance under medicare. This period includes the month of his birth, the 3 months before, and the 3 months after his birthdate. "However," Burke cautioned, "the protection of medicare can begin with the month you are 65 only if you have signed up for it before that month." If a person waits to enroll until his birth month or the 3 months after, his coverage is not effective in the month of his birthday. Delay in filing can delay the effective protection as 6 months past 65. Delay past the 7-month enrollment period may result in a higher premium and cause loss of insurance protection for as long as two years until the next general enrollment period.

"The enrollment period applies only to medicare supplementary medical insurance which covers doctors' fees, home health services, diagnostic and other medical services," Mr. Burke pointed out. The cost is $3 a month, with the Federal Government contributing a like amount. An application for hospital insurance, which is the other half of the medicare health insurance package, is effective with the month in which you reach 65.

Medicare is available to people 65 and over even though they continue to work and do not receive regular monthly benefits. Signing for medicare at 65 will have no adverse effect on your social security cash payments, no matter how much time may pass between your signing for medicare and drawing monthly payments. Money earned after 65 will still be considered in computing monthly benefit payments. "A good rule to remember," Burke concluded, "is: See the social security people two or three months before you reach 65. This will guarantee you full coverage under medicare beginning with the month you are 65 and will also safeguard cash payments which may be due you. The social security office in South Bend, Indiana is located at 335 N. Lafayette Blvd. The phone number is 233-7147."

NO-RUST HINGES

Iron hinges rust quickly when used around water on bait boxes and such. And brass is expensive. Use strips of rubber tire instead. Secure with round-headed brass screws and washers. Tire will bend easily and last long.
