Kalman Blaho, Famed Canoeist, Dies At Age 46

Memorial services were held Monday, Sept. 26, for Kalman Blaho, internationally known athlete and a member of the Culver Military Academy physical development staff.

Blaho, 46, died at 2 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 24, at Parkview Hospital, Plymouth, after suffering a heart attack Sept. 14. He joined the Culver staff last February and was in charge of the Academy's canoeing program.

The native-born Hungarian was known throughout the world as one of the foremost authorities in the sport of canoe racing. Blaho was at one time selected as Hungary's most outstanding athlete for proficiency in 11 sports, but he left his country in 1957 after the Hungarian Revolt. He became coach of the Italian Olympic canoe teams and a professor of physical education at the University of Rome between 1957 and 1965, when he and his wife Margo, a well known European basketball player, came to the U.S. Although Blaho wanted to retire when he came to the United States, canoeists urged him to stay in coaching.

Blaho was selected almost immediately by the Olympic Development Committee to give canoe clinics throughout the U.S. in 1965. One of the clinics was given at the Academy, which led to his appointment to the Culver staff last February. Two months later he was named national canoe coach — the first in history — by the American Canoe Association and he took the U.S. team to the world championships in East Berlin last month. As he predicted prior to the world championships, the U.S. team was badly beaten by European teams though the American girls fared relatively well.

Prior to the world championships, Blaho took a team of Culver winter school students to the national championships at New Rochelle, N.Y. There, with little background in Olympic-style racing, the Culver squad placed first in junior competition in the war canoe event.

Blaho was stricken with a heart attack Sept. 14 while making plans for the North American canoe championships held Sept. 17-18 on Lake Maxinkuckee. Together with Max Wentz, of the Academy's boat department, and Director of Athletics Chester Marshall, he had laid out the Olympic-style course and made other arrangements for the competition between U.S. and Canadian teams. The American team, beaten all but one of the previous 13 years of the North American event, for the first time tied the Canadians.

In Monday's services held in Memorial Chapel, Major General Delmar T. Spivey, USAF (ret.), superintendent, held up Blaho as an example of dedication. He said that although Blaho had not served the Academy over a long period of time, his intense commitment to his work and his determination in athletics as a method of building men "has served as an inspiration to all who knew him."

Blaho was born in Szabadzialas, Hungary, April 3, 1920, to Steve and Rozalia Bogner Blaho. He and his wife, who survives, resided at 681 East Shore Drive, Culver.

The Easterday-Bonine Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

4-H Goes To Town

This year the Marshall County 4-H Program was expanded to include 37 different projects with over 50 project areas available to members. These new projects are designed to appeal to both town and country since little or no land is required. These changes have been made in keeping with the trend since 1946 as "4-H Goes to Town."

4-H in Marshall County has "gone to town" in terms of enrollment. In 1946, 612 members were enrolled in 972 projects, an average of 1.5 projects per member, and had completed an average of almost 3 years of club work.

By 1966, however, 1,109 members are enrolled in 2,782 projects and have completed an average of almost four years of club work.

The 4-H Program has really "Gone to town" with projects since 1946. Twenty-eight project areas have been added that appeal to non-farm members. This has resulted in a shift in enrollment until 60% of the members now live in town. Compare this to 1946 when 72% of the members lived on farms. In 1946 the Kathy Tasch, chaplain; Karen Banks, drill leader; Sara Hoesel, love; Linda Shirrell, religion; Vicki Clifton, nature; Mary Ann Lewis, immortality; Nancy Overmyer, fidelity; Mary Beth Ives, patriotism; and Mary Ann Easterday, service.

Also to be installed are Karen Dehne, confidential observer; Debbie Triplet, outer observer; Linda Miller, musician; Norma Davis, choir director; Susan Thews, prompter; Karen Stevenson, Hoosier Promise reporter; Paula Haenes, historian; and Vicki McKianey, rose lecturer.

Mrs. Judson Dillon will be choir mother for the Assembly.

Rev. Carl Q. Baker, minister of the Culver Methodist Church, will provide the Assembly with a talk further explaining Miss McAllister's motto.

Following the installation, a reception in Miss McAllister's honor will be held and refreshments will be served.

The installation is public and all are cordially invited to attend.

main projects were centered around agricultural production and homemaking with 94% of the project enrollment. This year 39% of the enrollment was in projects added since 1946.

Projects added since 1946 include crafts, health, personality improvement, beekeeping, electric, home grounds improvement, photography, tractor maintenance, woodworking and horse and pony. The most recent additions are the flower, weeds, geology, and dog obedience projects. Even though these last four were added this year, they already account for 5% of the total enrollment.

With more projects appealing to non-farm youth on the way progress will continue as "4-H Goes to Town."

The accused had been duly convicted when it was proved on further evidence that he actually had been in prison at the time the act was committed.

"Why didn't you say so?" demanded the judge.

"Well," said the prisoner apologetically, "I was afraid of prejudicing the jury against me."

Culver Jaycees Make Donation For Fire Truck Radio

The Culver Jaycees, led by President Jerry Wyman, met Thursday evening, Sept. 22, at the Eagles Lodge.

Lance Overmyer, representing the Culver Fire Department, asked that the Jaycees consider a donation toward the purchase of a radio for the fire truck and the membership voted to give $300.

Eddie Amond, Jaycee Publicity Director, commented that the radio will cost $1100; already $900 has been raised by equal donations of $300 from The State Exchange Bank and the Culver Military Academy.

Don Muehlhausen will serve as chairman for a Jaycee sponsored benefit Fireman's Ball to be held in November.

President Wyman reported that the Jaycee-McGill Trade School Scholarship winner, Chip Wallstead, is now in training at the Howard Sams Technical Institute in Indianapolis.

Park Committee Chairman, Rev. Carl Baker, said that a Park and Recreation Board Resolution has been presented to the various Culver organizations. The resolution requests that the Culver Town Board create a Department of Parks and Recreation.

Co-Chairmen Ron Tusing and Don Muehlhausen, said that a constitution has been presented to the Jaycees from a group of high school students, asking support in establishing a Teen Center.

Secretary Latham Lawson and President Wyman will attend the Government Affairs School in South Bend, Oct. 22-23; the workshop activities improve Jaycee consciousness and knowledge of Government activities.

The Jaycees heard a report of a successful float representation at the Plymouth Sesquicentennial parade during Labor Day. President Wyman, Mick McCombs, Dick Gunder and their wives spearheaded this project.

A membership dinner will be held on Oct. 13 at the Eagles Lodge, at 6:30 p.m.; Dave Feagler and Don Muehlhausen, board members of the Marshall-Starke Development Center, will present a short program.

New Faculty Appointments At Academy

Leo K. Cohen, a June graduate of the Yale Drama School, has been appointed director of theater at Culver Military Academy.

Cohen replaces William J. Martin, who became Culver's first full-time director of theater with the construction of the Eugene C. Eppley Auditorium in 1959. Martin has joined the drama department at the University of New Mexico.

A native of Jersey City, N.J., Cohen majored in biology at St. Lawrence University but went into theater work as part of the Master of Fine Arts program at Yale, which he attended on scholarship. Cohen won the thirteenth annual Samuel French playwriting competition and has written and directed a series of other plays.

As director of theater, Cohen will supervise student and faculty productions, book professional shows for the Academy's annual Concert-Theater Series, and administer the Culver-established Program for Education in the Performing Arts, which offers Marshall County public school children an opportunity to attend legitimate theater productions at Culver free of charge.

Announcement of Cohen's appointment was made along with three others. Robert L. Kamrow was appointed choirmaster and assistant instructor in music. Mrs. Bertha L. Jones becomes assistant librarian, and Lt. Col. Alan G. Cornett was named an assistant commandant and manager of the Academy's uniform shop.

Kamrow has taught music in Michigan public schools at Dearborn and Waterford Township since 1960. He was also choir director at Good Hope Lutheran Church, Garden City, Mich., until his appointment as choirmaster during the last session of the Culver Summer Schools. Kamrow is from Fargo, N.D., and did his undergraduate work at Minot (N.D.) State College and Marquette College, St. Paul, Minn. He has a master's degree in music from Southern Methodist University.

Mrs. Jones attended the College of Wooster, Ohio, the Carnegie Library School, and has a master's degree in library science from the University of Pittsburgh. Her husband Jack T. Jones is a native of Culver.

Col. Cornett brings to Culver nearly 24 years of service in the U.S. Army. He served in Japan, and Germany and has won the Bronze Star among other citations.

October 10-15 Is Proclaimed Zip Code Week

Residents in Culver will be offered an opportunity to Zip Code their mailing lists during October. Postmaster E.W. Mattox announced today.

often, but for which individuals do not know the proper Zip Codes. "This is a good time to get the Zip Codes missing from your lists," Postmaster Mattox noted. "This Christmas, Zip Code will be as important as shopping and mailing early for the efficient and on time delivery of the record-breaking avalanche of mail expected in the pre-holiday weeks."

After filling in the street number, city and state, the cards are to be mailed back to the postmaster. Post office personnel will add proper Zip Codes and return the cards to the sender. President Johnson has proclaimed October 10-15 as "Zip Code Week" to promote greater usage of Zip Code. Addresses which cannot be Zip Coded because of insufficient or improper addresses will be forwarded to the city indicated on the card, if legible, and the codes will be added there.

Only addresses, not names of correspondents, should be listed on the cards, the postmaster said. Zip Codes represent delivery areas for the postal service, not individuals.

During the summer, "a dry run" of the Zip A LIST project was conducted in Columbus, Ohio and Richmond, Virginia. Information gained from these tests is being incorporated in the national program.

Keeping The Balance

By Elaine Kaiser

Editor's note: The following is one of the themes which was handed into Mr. Lawson for Civics. The basis for the Seniors' theme was "What is the Purpose of America?". This theme was submitted by Elaine Kaiser and reveals what she thinks the purpose of America is. She received an A on the following:

The united colonies entered and fought the American Revolution for one reason. They had no intention of breaking away from England; they just wanted to have a voice in their government. An idea such as this was not a novelty. The working class in England had revolted earlier for this very reason with not much luck. The colonists did win the war, surprisingly enough to all nations watching. It was now their task to establish a form of government in which all men would be free. This freedom, won through sacrifice and hardship, takes as much effort to keep as it did to win.

Men from every state in the union assembled to write the Constitution. This great charter has been the foundation of America's government ever since. "To form a more perfect Union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity," is the reason given in the Preamble of the Constitution for its writing. The American people are working towards these goals. This is America's purpose.

Since our Constitution was written, the country has undergone a great many changes. No more do we ride to church in horse-drawn buggies, but we now arrive in high fashion in our 1966 model car. The population of this nation has moved from quaint farms where our ancestors had their beginning to densely populated cities. These cities, being some of the largest in the world, produce numbers of luxury items that only Americans enjoy. America has not always been a leader among nations as she is today. This came only after many hard years of labor. A Civil War, world wars, depressions, and riots have also made their imprint on the young America.

Through times of plenty and times of want the purpose in American hearts has changed little. It has broadened out to encompass not only our growing nation but other nations as well. We would hope that some day our nation can achieve not only peace and justice at home but can assist other nations to obtain their goals for themselves. In this world we can not concern ourselves with only our problems; we must be an interested and helpful neighbor.

Our goals are set and achieving them is our dream — a dream that may be a long time in coming. People are only human; disagreements and mistaken ideas are only natural. It is easy to begin to think that our standard of living is our just reward and hard to remember to "promote general welfare." It is easy to slip from freedom to license, thinking our desires are not to be hampered, and hard to strive for the blessings of liberty. To keep creating the atmosphere of proper balance among the many interests pulling in all directions so that each individual can develop to his full potential is our goal. This purpose will never be fulfilled.

Interview

By Cheryl Zink

This year Culver High School has as its new principal a very qualified and intelligent man, Mr. Charles Bernhardt. Mr. Bernhardt was Plymouth High School's assistant principal last year, and was formerly principal at Richland Center. Having lived in the Culver area for the past 25 years, he graduated from Letters Ford. He attended Ball State University and received his Bachelor's and Masters Degrees there. He later did advanced post-graduate work at both Ball State and Indiana Universities. During World War II he was in the United States Navy where he served as signalman in the Asiatic Pacific. He has also traveled extensively throughout the United States, Canada, and Mexico.

After college graduation, Mr. Bernhardt started his teaching career with the intention of going into engineering after the first five years. However, finding great personal satisfaction in teaching, he decided to continue with this vocation. He enjoys water skiing and fishing at his home residence, 2546 East Shore Drive, where he and Mrs. Bernhardt, Donabelle, have lived for the past 14 years. They have two children, Debbie who is nine, and Doug, five.

Mr. Bernhardt feels that Culver is highly rated academically, and that there is excellent school spirit. When asked if he would like to see any particular innovations at CHS, he replied,

"I feel we have an obligation to all students, not just those students who intend to go on to college. I would like to see more done in school for those people who will go directly into technical or service areas."

We are very fortunate to have Mr. Bernhardt as our principal. On behalf of the Student Body, I sincerely welcome you, Mr. Bernhardt, to Culver High School.

Cross Country

By Bob Vondra

The Indians ran against the Mentone cross country team last Friday, Sept. 15, and beat them by a 20-39 score. The first seven runners for Culver were:

Paul Hatten 10:23
Gary Davis 10:28
Terry Clifton 10:31
Tom Overmyer 10:41
Kerry Haenes 10:45
Tom Hoesek 10:47
Andy Tarquino 11:04

Neither rain nor cold temperatures keep a Culver runner from his appointed rounds, as was demonstrated in Culver's first home meet on Tuesday, Sept. 20. Culver went on to their fourth and fifth victories by winning over Argos and Knox, 15 to 60 and 67.

If you missed the schedule for Culver's cross country meets last week, the schedule is as follows: Sept. 26 LaVille (H)
Oct. 3 Caston (H)
Oct. 7 County
Oct. 11 Oregon Davis (H)
Oct. 13 Knox (H)
Oct. 15 Shortridge Invitational
Oct. 18 North Judson (H)
Oct. 21 Sectional

All home meets will start at 4:30, just off of the high school track. Please come out and show your school spirit.

Sunshine Initiation

By Lyn Mackey

Linda Baker called the initiation to order and then welcomed the candidates and their mothers. After singing the Sunshine Song the initiation was begun. Karen Stevenson recited a poem entitled "Others." Patty Overmyer then sang "My Task", accompanied by Brenda McAllister.

After the formal initiation, Linda called a few of the new members to the front. Those who were called were on report for not knowing the creed or song. Their punishment was to do the Bunny Hop around the room, while they hummed to themselves. What a sight!

The next day, Thursday, was to be the informal initiation for all new Sunshine members. On this happy occasion they were to wear one of their father's shoes and one of his socks. Also to round out their appearance, they were to wear clothes of contrasting colors, or stripes and plaids. Last but not least, they had to be errand-girls for any upperclass Sunshine member.

Linda then cordially invited everyone to remain for refreshments afterwards.

Television brings a dilemma for young couple — whether to watch wrestling or try a few holds themselves.

Roving Reporter

This week the Roving Reporter decided to find out just what the girls of Culver High School thought a gentleman was. Some opinions follow.

Linda Reinhold: To me a gentleman is unique. There would be no one like him. (that's because everyone is unique!) He is a person who picks things up for girls, when they drop something, opens doors for them, including school building doors. He has polite manners and is considerate of the person he is helping. I can say there aren't very many gentlemen around, but thanks for the ones that are!

Anonymous: A guy who knows what a lady is and acts as if he knows!

Bonnie Robinette: Someone who, in the mad dash between classes, doesn't bump against you, wedging you into your locker so that you are stuck.

Janet Helber: A guy who will help you pick up your books without kicking them.

Linda McAllister: A gentleman is a boy or man who has good manners and a polite form of speech. May I add there aren't too many!

Me: Nice.

Norma D.: My idea of a gentleman is someone understanding and sweet... like John Milner.

Kathy Taseh: FREDDY!!!

Anonymous: Someone who treats you like a gentlewoman.

Brenda McAllister: When I think of a gentleman I think of a mature boy who doesn't try constantly to impress other boys in immature ways. Also, a boy who believes in lady's first. It is too bad they are so few and far between, because they are really appreciated.

May Kozlowski: My idea of a gentleman is Geoffrey Chaucer's Knight.

Patti McCombs: It is a boy who shows consideration, respect and does it because he wants to. Most of the boys here at Culver do a pretty good job at it.

Elaine Epley: A boy who has manners and respect for others.

Mary had a little lamb,
His hair was white as heck,
And everywhere that Mary went
The poor sap signed the check.

Teachers — New and Old

By May Kozlowski and Elaine Kaiser

It seems that Ball State and Indiana State produce the best teachers. From our Social Science Department we have Mrs. Linda Ulrich. Mrs. Ulrich graduated from Tipton High School where she had grown up. She attended Butler for two years then transferred to Ball State where she graduated. Her major was Social Science. After graduating she taught at Tipton for one year then she came to Culver. Last year she taught at Kokomo. Now Mrs. Ulrich is back with us, and it is our pleasure to have her. She says she likes Culver because of the lake and the people.

Some of her extra curricular activities in college were: The Historical Society, Women's Recreation Association, and Women on Campus. "Glad to see you back, Mrs. Ulrich."

This year our Industrial Art Department is divided between two men. Mr. Dillingham and Mr. Gangloff. Mr. Gangloff grew up and graduated from West High. He attended Indiana State University where he majored in Industrial Arts and minored in P.E. He belonged to the Industrial Arts Association. Mr. Gangloff has had the experience of teaching his trade and also working at it. He taught for three years at Triton and one year at South Bend Central.

The other half of our Shop Department is run by Mr. Tim Dillingham. He grew up and attended the Bourbon High School. He graduated from Ball State with a major in Industrial Art. Among his favorite sports are swimming and tennis.

This year we have a student teacher from Ball State. Her name is Phyllis Shaffer. Miss Shaffer graduated from Aubrey High School. This summer she worked as a bookkeeper at the Culver Inn. She will be here until Nov. 18. Miss Shaffer is currently student teaching in Office Practice and Typing. She is also helping in Sunshine. Next spring she will graduate from Ball State where she is a member of SEA and is the Vice-President of Phi Beta Lambda.

Miss Asay, our new Art teacher, graduated from Indiana State where she was in Kappa Pi, an honor sorority. She has a license to teach Driver's Education. This summer she opened mail at the Columbia Record Club. In her spare time she likes to paint, read, swim and enjoys archery. She says she likes Culver because it is small and gives the teacher a chance to know all her students.

She: "I'm so discouraged. Everything I do seems to be wrong."

He: "What are you doing tonight?"

Bits and Pieces

I am the reporter this week and in my numerous journeys through the halls (I'm disguised as a caterpillar, to avoid suspicion), I have heard various bits and pieces of news that I thought might be of interest to the public. BITS AND PIECES!!

As I crawled into first period study hall I was almost stepped on by all the people on their way to the pencil sharpener. It must be a new fad, right Elaine???

I was continuing across the study hall floor when all of a sudden a yellow flash caught my eye. I know it must be thrilling to have a yellow???, but do you have to show it off in study hall, N.D.???

I spent the rest of the morning just listening to various gossipers, and these are some of their bits:

Patti Mc., who was that guy you were with Saturday night at Tom and George's party? He surely is cute.

Suzi R. seems to have gotten a phone call from Creva Point. But she can't remember what she talked about. Come now, his voice can't be that hypnotic!

Mike S., what are you doing seventh period, these days? Oh,

Anyone have any old MAD magazines they don't want anymore? If you do, contact Mr. Hughey, it seems he craves them???

Wow, Corky, do you have any more cousins like Miskey??

Boy, Terry C., it seems as though you were a nice guy last Saturday night. (???)

I was almost crushed by someone with a large economy size cast on their foot, as I crawled the halls of CHS. What's the idea Maryann, trying to get out of gym?

Must be something wrong with Karen S., seems she can't stay on her feet these days, especially in Algebra.

The Senior play is finally under way. Good Luck to all.

A few days ago, I was passing the second period study hall when I smelled. . . could it be a garlic pickle?

My, My, the halls sure are bright and sunny with all the new sunbeams walking around. Hope you had fun at initiation!

The halls are awfully deserted without Bob Crow around. Hurry back, Bob, cuz we miss you.

Well, I've heard an awful lot about the CROSS COUNTRY team. Good work fellows, you are doing great!

I just overheard some Juniors talking. I definitely think they would like to be mentioned in here, so . . . JUNIORS ARE GREATER THAN . . . would you believe sophomores?

Well, I'd better hit the roads. Toots. See y'all later.

An American soldier stationed in Alaska made acquaintance with an Eskimo who talked strangely:

"Eek squeeeek, pffppkes, phss, zih zih, zing szz, ginp." Then this conglomeration of noises would be followed by perfectly understand-able English.

"Where did you learn to speak English?" the puzzled soldier ask-ed, then was amazed to hear the Eskimo's reply:

"Eek, squeeeek, phftzz, phss, zih zih, szz, ginp—from your short-wave radio stations."

THE SAFETY SENTRY

BY JANE DAVIS

Sentry Insurance

First Aid Safety

If it hasn't happened to you in the first two-thirds of the year, statistics say it will probably occur in the remaining four months—you will be called on to render first aid in an emergency.

Whether you render effective aid may depend on your basic first aid knowledge. Sentry Insurance offers four suggestions to help you render first aid properly.

- Never move an injured person unless it is absolutely necessary, such as impending danger of fire or traffic. Motion may compound injuries already present and cause new complications.
- Attend to first things first. If the victim ceases to breathe or slips into shock, it is imperative that you administer mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and shock aid before proceeding to ease other, lesser injuries.
- Know the symptoms of shock and how to treat it. If shock has not yet immobilized the victim, anticipate it and be prepared to move quickly. Shock is the single greatest cause of death among accident victims.
- Call for professional medical help immediately. No matter how qualified you are to render first aid, you are not a doctor. Any injury serious enough to warrant first aid is certainly serious enough to warrant the immediate attention of a doctor.

It's not often that your actions can save a person's life, so be prepared to offer effective first aid whenever you are called upon.

MEDICARE

Every month, 120,000 Americans reach the age of 65. The soon-to-be-65's are asking these days, "When is the best time for me to sign up for medicare?"

The answer, according to Charles E. Burke, Social Security District Manager, is that they should sign up two or three months before they reach 65.

If they wait until the month they reach 65 or the following 3 months, their hospital insurance protection under medicare may begin right away, but their coverage under the voluntary doctor bill insurance cannot start until 1 to 3 months after they sign up for it.

Mr. Burke explained that the medicare law provides a 7-month initial enrollment period for the voluntary doctor bill insurance part of the program. This period begins with the 3rd month before the person is 65, includes the month in which he reaches 65, and ends with the 3rd month thereafter.

"The best time to enroll," Mr. Burke said, "is in one of the 3 months before you reach 65. If you do so, your protection can start with the month of your 65th birthday. Waiting until that month to sign up will mean the coverage can't start until the following month. And enrollment in one of 3 months after the month you are 65 can mean a delay of up to 3 months in the start of your protection."

He further explained that failure to sign up during the 7-month initial enrollment period may mean that the individual will have to wait until the next general enrollment period. This is always the last three months of odd-numbered years. But even then, the older person will have to wait until the following July for the protection to start, and the premium payments will be 10 percent higher.

"This matter of a delayed start in protection could have serious consequences if the individual had high medical expenses meanwhile," he pointed out. The voluntary medical insurance part of medicare covers doctor bills for home, office, and hospital visits, surgeons' fees, and a wide variety of other medical expenses in and out of the hospital.

Hospital insurance coverage begins with the month a person reaches 65, providing he applies to establish his eligibility no later than 12 months following that month, Mr. Burke said. Like social security cash benefits, hospital insurance payments are retroactive for up to 12 months. There is no such retroactive payment under the medical insurance part of medicare, Mr. Burke emphasized.

For people who were 65 or over before March 1, 1966, the medicare law set a general enrollment period that began September 1, 1965, and ended May 31, 1966, during which they could sign up for the voluntary doctor bill insurance to supplement their basic hospital insurance under medicare. Nine out of ten elderly people enrolled for this supplementary protection.

Since May 31, Mr. Burke said, almost 40 percent of those applying to enroll in the medical insurance applied too late to have their coverage start as soon as they reached 65.

About 8 percent had waited until the month of their 65th birthday; 24 percent until one of the 3 months following that month - but still within the 7-month enrollment period. Five percent did not apply until after the end of their enrollment period and will not have another chance to enroll until the next general enrollment period, October 1, to December 31, 1967.

Invited to tarry for a session at a tavern, a henpecked husband expressed his regret: "I can't, got to go home and explain to my wife." "Explain what?" the bachelor asked.
"How the heck do I know," said the other wearily, "I'm not home yet."

Before the trial started, a judge was attempting to talk a couple out of filing for divorce. He asked the woman: "Why do you wish to divorce your husband?"

"Because of several trifles," she replied.

"Well, that's hardly enough to grant you a divorce," the jurist observed somewhat harshly.

"It'll be enough," the woman replied confidently, "when I give you the names of the women I was trifling with."

Life is just an eternal struggle to keep one's earning capacity up to one's yearning capacity.

A lawyer defended a burglar and won an acquittal. The burglar was very happy, and promised the lawyer, "I'll drop in on you sometime."

"That's fine," said the lawyer. "Er—in the daytime, of course."

Shop Foreman: "Pat, your nose is suspiciously rosy this morning. What makes it so red?"

Pat: "Sure 'tis the reflection of me soul, blushing with pride at my ability to mind me own business."

SLAVERY IN INDIANA

By Luther M. Feeger

(Reprinted from The Palladium-Item, Richmond, 6-22-56)

Slavery and involuntary servitude were prohibited by the Ordinance of 1787. Determined efforts were made by pro-slavery groups in Vincennes and other settlements of Indiana Territory to legalize the holding of Negroes and mulattoes.

Slavery existed among the French in Knox County before and after the adoption of the Ordinance of 1787. Early settlers in areas south of present U.S. 40 had come from Virginia, Kentucky, the Carolinas and other southern regions.

They were friendly to slavery. There were 135 slaves in Indiana Territory in 1800. Of this number 28 were in Knox County.

A modified form of slavery existed in Indiana Territory when John Smith and Jeremiah Cox arrived on the site of Richmand in 1806.

In a convention held at Vincennes, Dec. 20, 1802, the proslavery group petitioned the congress for a suspension of the antislavery clause of the Ordinance of 1787. Gov. William Henry Harrison presided over the convention. The congress turned down the petition.

Governor Harrison, generally regarded as friendly to slavery, and the territorial judges in 1803 adopted a section of the Virginia slave law by which Negroes and mulattoes could be held in bondage during lifetime.

An act passed by the territorial legislature in 1805 provided that slaves could be brought into Indiana. They had to be taken before a county court within 30 days and given a chance to enter into a contract to serve their masters for a definite number of years.

If the Negroes and mulattoes refused to enter into an agreement, their master had to remove them from the State. This usually resulted in the sale of the slave on the southern market.

The male children of the bonded persons had to serve until they were 30 years old and females until they were 28.

Other legislation in 1806 and 1807 strengthened the control over the slaves.

These laws were repealed by legislative action in 1810, primarily due to the power which the White-water delegation had gained in the legislature.

In the period in which Smith and Cox were clearing their land on the site of Richmond, the question of taxes on slaves and "men of color" was in the public mind.

In a discussion of local and personal property taxes in the pioneer period, Andrew Young in his "History of Wayne County" comments:

"And what is, perhaps, not generally known, there were for a few years, taxes on slaves and men of color."

References in the county commissioners court and in the U. S. census reports of 1820 and 1830, as well as a definite statement in neighboring Franklin County indicate inferentially that owners of slaves may have paid taxes on this form of property in Wayne County.

In the Wayne County commissioners' records, Dec. 12, 1813, is an entry showing that County Treasurer William Seare turned over $419.02 in receipts, including "Negroes, $20."

The treasurer's report for 1814 showed an entry "Slaves, $28"; and "Persons of Color, $12"; and the 1818 report has an entry of "Slaves, $20, and Men of Color, $15."

The "Franklin County History" says that this county (Franklin) scheduled slaves for taxation as late as 1817. "listing them for $3 each."

Franklin County did not return slaves in the 1810 or 1820 census, but, says the Franklin County History, "the extract from the commissioners' record of Franklin County proved conclusively that slaves were held here (Franklin County)."

Maybe Franklin County, recognizing slaves as property, collected taxes on them from their owners, but purposely failed to report them as slaves to the census enumerators.

The 1820 census reports 66 free Negroes and no slaves in Wayne County.

Florence S. Hellman, chief bibliographer of the Liberty of the Congress, in a letter to the writer of this column in 1940, said:

"No slaves are indicated in Wayne County in 1830, and only three slaves in the state of Indiana."

On eight pages of Volume 6 of the census report of 1820 for the district of Indiana are found Wayne County entries under the following heads:

Number slaves; Age of slaves; Home of

Under the heading "Home of," indicating where 45 "slaves" were living are the following names:

James Black, Toney Overman, John Gay, Dave Porter, Peter Weaver, William Clark, Edward Starbuck, A. Turner, Rebecca Clawson, Henry Bowman, Michael Fase, Jacob Ladd, Spencer Force.

Whether the headings refer to slaves, freed slaves, or Negroes is not clear.

Academy Sports

Culver Military Academy's football Eagles travel to Lafayette Central Catholic Friday night with a victory feather in their war bonnet. After their season-opening 20-7 win over Bremen last Saturday, the Eagles are ready to attack the fast, hard-hitting Lafayette team.

Since last year's first confrontation with Central Catholic ended in a tie, 7-7, the Eagles are returning with a score to settle. Lafayette is already 4 and 1 in its season. Their line falls in the 185 to 195-pound category, and scouts report that the team has a good quarterback.

After a few bumps and bruises, captain Al Kuchar and his teammates emerged from the Bremen game virtually untouched by injury as they enter their second contest.

Spence Dickinson, the Academy's 5'9", 160-pound left half-back from Franklin, Tenn., completed two touchdowns, in the second and fourth quarters, to lead the scoring. Dickinson caught a 33-yard screen pass from Dave Rafe for his first score and ran 38 yards for his second touchdown.

Chuck Borton plunged seven yards in the first quarter to open Culver scoring and Paul Gift tallied two field goals to complete the Academy's scoring.

Jud Robinett hurled a 23-yard pass to Mike Jones in the fourth quarter to complete the only Bremen touchdown. Cliff Collins' kick was good, to give Bremen its seven points.

Half time feature of the Bremen game was a cross country meet between Culver and Millersburg. The Academy ran away with its third race of the season for a 3-0 record. Score of the meet was Culver 18, Millersburg 38.

Doug Scholz came in first with a 10:27 for the nearly-two-mile run, bettering his first time of the season by 18 seconds. He has led all runners in all three meets. Other Academy winners were Joe Cummings second with 10:34, John Chipman third with 10:46, and Chuck McNagy fifth with 10:59. Millersburg's John Leer came in fourth with a time of 10:54.

Lady traveler (to porter): "Do you have a ladies' waiting room?"

Porter: "No, ma'am, but we got a room for ladies who can't wait."

Gossip is like mud thrown against a clean wall. It may not stick but it leaves a mark.

A dock hand went to his doctor and complained of a pain in his leg.

After one glance at the leg the doctor asked the patient: "How long have you been walking around in this condition?"

Dock hand: "Two weeks."

Doctor: "For heaven's sake, man, you have a broken leg! Why didn't you come to me sooner?"

Dock hand: "Well, doc, I would have, but every time I say something is wrong with me my wife says I have to give up drinking."
