Crowd Favors Two Health Ordinances

Approximately 70 people attended a two-hour public hearing Monday night on two proposed Marshall County public health ordinances. The meeting, scheduled for 7 p.m. at the Commissioners Room of the Marshall County Courthouse in Plymouth, was transferred to the courtroom when it became apparent that a large crowd would be present.

Commissioner Paul Stackhouse, who conducted the hearing, said his board will meet March 20 to consider selection of a date for voting on the two ordinances. He added that the board reserves the right to revoke either or both of the ordinances if they should be adopted and found unsatisfactory.

A majority of spectators indicated their approval of the two ordinances.

Proposed County Health Ordinance Seven would provide for regulating public disposal of garbage and rubbish on any land situated outside corporate limits of any municipality, requiring permits and providing penalties for violations.

Proposed County Health Ordinance Eight would provide for regulating the installation, construction, maintenance and operation of private sewage disposal systems in closely built-up areas, plus the fixing of penalties.

Dr. James Robertson, county health officer, spoke in support of the ordinance proposals. Members of the county's Board of Public Health were introduced by Stackhouse.

In a prepared statement, Dr. Robertson said "future health problems in the county can be minimized with proper regulations that can serve in terms of tax money, in terms of home ownership, as well as the protection of health and a safe water supply."

He said the State Board of Health has encouraged the development of full-time local health departments in all counties of the state, "giving the advantage of more home rule."

Several spectators, from various parts of the county, presented questions or statements for the board's consideration.

Mrs. Lois Miley, 415 Kingston Road, Plymouth, asked how the ordinances would apply to areas inside corporate limits. Dr. Robertson explained that the county proposals would not apply to areas inside corporate limits of municipalities. He said his department could ask that individual municipalities adopt the county ordinances.

Mrs. Rosemary Bergman, R. R. 5, Plymouth, asked how the ordinances would protect the public. Dr. Robertson acknowledged that the ordinances would not provide the complete answer, but added that they could also be adopted by municipalities.

Eldon McIntyre, Bourbon, asked where money would be obtained to finance costs of inspection. Dr. Robertson said inspections such as these would be considered additional duties of the full-time sanitarian. Dr. Robertson added that "permits would be involved, but not fees."

Larry Davis, Tippecanoe, asked if the "septic tank" ordinance applies to houses already existing.

Dr. Robertson said that when his department receives a com-

Culver Faculty Report Presented To Trustees

The Culver Community Schools Classroom Teachers Association seeks termination pay upon retirement based upon sick leave accumulation in an eight-point preliminary proposal presented last week.

Members of the Welfare committee of the faculty association presented their preliminary report to the Board of School Trustees for consideration.

The termination pay for retirees would take into consideration accumulated sick leave in excess of 20 days. Pay would be determined by multiplying the verified accumulated leave times the substitute teachers pay.

The proposal also requests consideration of school board policy which would encourage staff members to earn added college credit periodically. Professional negotiations, to be determined possibly by legislative action, was discussed at some length. Negotiation agreements are not to be finalized until provisions of any State negotiation law are made clear.

The Culver staff in its presentation suggested that in any negotiating agreement both parties must keep the best interests of the local school and that of the students as important objectives; that salary negotiations start each year no later than March 15; that teachers be notified on intent to retire no later than April 1; and that the Teachers Association is to be represented by the Teacher Welfare Committee and the School Board by at least four members.

While any final salary scale proposal will depend on the 1967 State Legislative minimum salary scale, the teacher committee requests consideration of a scale to provide for 4-year college graduate; 4-year plus 15 semester hours; five years; and a "Masters-in-Field" scale. Culver in past years has traditionally followed the four and five-year bracketed scales.

Members of the Welfare Committee are Philip Hughey, Jerry Wolfe, Terry Mishler, Mrs. Jeanne Epley, and Kent Perry.

School Lease- Rental Agreement Is Approved

Some 37 taxpayers attended the public hearing held by the School Board of Trustees of the Culver Community Schools Corporation last week.

Board president, Walter Johnson conducted the public meeting where consideration of the 22-year lease-rental agreement to the Holding Corporation was approved unanimously. Notice of the execution of the lease between the Culver Community Schools Building Corporation and the School Corporation was executed and is being advertised.

In other business, the school officials heard property owner inquiries concerning plans for drainage of the new 33-acre site for the new high school. Doubting that the plans for run-off surface water were adequate there was an expressed interest in a further engineers survey.

The School Board approved the recommendation under study for the past two months, to enter a contract with the Education Department at Purdue University for consultant service in building adaptation and curriculum development.

Building rehabilitation proposals including roof and ceilings, study hall floor, and guidance office of Culver high school and the west wall of the elementary building were presented. Steps will be taken to activate the roof and ceiling projects at once.

Guidelines for the recently announced Alva R. McKesson Scholarship were approved. Three scholarships valued at $300.00 each will be awarded this spring with two designated for Culver High School seniors and one for Auburnnabbee seniors.

Girl Scout Week To Be Observed March 12-18

The Girl Scouts of the Northern Indiana Girl Scout Council celebrate their 55th Birthday next week, March 12 through March 18. Brownies (ages 7 and 8); Juniors (ages 9, 10, 11); Cadettes (ages 12, 13 and 14); and Seniors (ages 15, 16, 17) all join in the week long celebration by a variety of events: birthday parties, open houses, family suppers, exhibits, and special service projects.

The Girl Scouts are also taking a first look at their new triennium theme - "Values to Hold - Worlds to Explore." The values - to seek and carry forth the highest ideals of character, conduct, patriotism, and service are as solid today as when the first Girl Scout troop of 12 girls was begun in 1912. And the worlds our three million Girl Scouts explore are endless. Tangible worlds - of home, community, nation, other cultures, other lands.

The Northern Indiana Girl Scout Council is a United Fund member agency and serves over 5,000 girls in Starke, St. Joseph, LaPorte, and Marshall Counties and has over 1,000 adult volunteers working and supporting their program.

Each Brownie and Girl Scout will attend her own Church on Girl Scout Sunday, March 12, wearing her uniform and will be seated with the other Scouts of her Church.

Please watch for the window displays down town put on by the following troops:

125 YEARS AGO IN UNION TOWNSHIP, MARSHALL COUNTY, INDIANA No. 2

From letters written between 1907 and 1917 by Lafayette Norris great, great uncle of Dr. Ernest B. Norris, East Shore Drive, Culver, Ind.

"Father bought another log house and moved it near the first house. In that house my (older) brother Ransom commenced housekeeping. He lived there that spring. I was seven. The way I know this, one day Ransom caught me up and gave me seven spanks. (Editor's note - this was 1841). I was indignant, and wanted to know what that was for. He said I was seven years old. Ransom's first house was a frame house.

I went to school a few weeks to one of mother's relatives. Whether a cousin or a nephew, I mean I went to school taught by his wife. They lived near to Eddy's Mill and she taught in her house. Eddy's Mill Pond was a large body of water and was a resort for fishing. Later I went to school to Helen Leland, who taught in one of her father's houses. She was a grand, good and intelligent young woman. I read out of the New Testament at that school. You may know that her father, Elder Leland, preached both father's and mother's funeral sermons. He was a great scholar but not a very eloquent preacher. At the time I went to Helen Leland's school they lived then not far from where Argos (Argos) is now. Later they moved to a farm about 4 miles north and a little east of our house. (Editor's note: that would be near Wolf Creek Mill). One winter he taught school in one of his own houses. That winter three of my brothers and sisters and I went to that school. Yes, and Jacob Lewis too. I am wondering if any of the Hulise family are living near their old home. Some of us going to school boarded at Mr. and Mrs. Hulise's house who lived four miles north of our home. The Hulise family were our most intimate neighbors. There were two sons, Jo and Uri and one daughter who married a man by the name of Smallwood, I think.

Brother Asa worked away from home much of the time after we moved to Indiana. Harrison did the team work. Father did much of the chopping and hoeing. I helped hoe corn when I was quite small. Father would take one row and I another then father would help me with my row. I also became quite a gardner. Let me tell you a big story. Among our different kinds of corn was a kind called Baton corn. It grew very big. I remember that one stalk measured 17 feet. It went clear across our log house that was 17 feet wide. One stalk alone grew in our garden but did not grow so tall; however, it was very stout. I remember plainly of climbing on that stalk until my feet were one foot above the ground.

One of us children's enjoyments was to go to Maxinkuckee Lake. We spent many hours on its banks or in swimming, or boat riding. Once I remember we went clear across the lake and down the outlet to the little lake. In the winter we went on the ice. I think that none of us had skates. We all learned to swim in that lake. Alena included. She use to go with the Francis girls. Of course, they had no bathing suits. They went when the boys were not there.

I used to enjoy roaming through the woods. There were lots of big snakes and wild hogs in the woods. There were also some deer and wild turkeys. Our hogs used to run in the woods. One of our neighbors saw one of our old hogs, the Canady sow, run down and kill a young fawn. Our cattle and hogs all ran at large. In the fall the old hogs would come home and bring their pigs with them. Hog stealing was one of the industries in those days. Each farmer had a peculiar mark on each hog's ear. Father's mark was a square crop on both ears of the hog. Once Canady saw some of father's hogs in (blank's) hog pen. He told (blank) that they were Norris' hogs and that he better turn them out. He did so. This hog stealing caused Ransom a noted lawsuit one time. One (blank) who lived southwest of Ransom, went to California for gold, I guess. While away his wife died and Ransom made her coffin. When (blank) come home he had much to say about the exhorbitant price Ransom charged for the coffin. Then he went at his old trade of hog stealing again. On a time he went to Plymouth on horse back with a young widow on another horse. Ransom went to Plymouth the same day and overtook them at the mill six miles north of home (probably near Wolf Creek Mill). He rode alongside in hearing of the widow and told of all of (blank's) meanness, and his hog stealing. This all in a loud voice for the widow to hear. (Blank) was awful mad and he sued Ransom for slander. Ransom hired a lawyer and in the trial it seems that he could not quite prove all the charges he made but he came so near to it that the jury brought in a verdict with damages of one mill. The judge made it payable by making it one cent and this Ransom offered to (blank) in the courtroom. He would not touch it; so the judge said "Throw it in the treasury". The law was, if the damage was less than one dollar the plaintiff had to pay the costs. So Ransom had only to pay his own lawyer.

FROZEN FOODS

MOST frozen foods have a statement on the label that says that the food should not be thawed until ready for use.

The reason is that defrosted food may develop a high concentration of bacteria if first thawed and then allowed to stand for some time before it is cooked. And unless the food is thoroughly cooked, these bacteria survive re-freezing and may cause serious illness.

Products which are particularly dangerous when thawed and then re-frozen are cream or gravy, containing stews and casseroles, uncooked vegetable mixtures, and foods which are not re-heated enough to destroy bacterial contamination.

Another good reason for keeping food cold is that thawed and re-frozen food loses much of its texture and flavor. If possible, thaw only that portion of a food package that is needed for a meal. If you must re-freeze part of the contents, be sure to cook thoroughly when you use it.

And remember: food shouldn't be wasted, but discarding small, unused portions is more sensible than running the risk of illness and possible hospitalization.

The Dress Code

By Carin Manchester

Our Student Council has been working on a dress code for all Culver High School students. Though it is not completely finished we decided to see what the students thought of a dress code in general and if they had any suggestions.

Linda McAllister: Culver High School, in my opinion, is not extreme in any dress manners and doesn't need regimentation.

Karen Bartosik: To me the styles around Culver High are not extreme at all — but I do notice a few underclassmen with dress manners that could be improved a little. I do not think we really need a "dress code" because our student body is mature enough to dress properly — but not old fashioned.

Chuck Beck: I think the majority of the kids in our school know how to dress properly. There are a lot of other schools with a lot more extreme dress, but if there is to be a dress code I definitely feel the student council should have a voice in the matter.

Linda Broeker: My feelings toward the dress code are the same as Karen Bartosik's!

Sandy Singleton: I think as long as the kids at Culver High are not too extreme in their dress, we should have just a limited code of rules. And I think most of the kids have enough sense to stay within reason!

Doug Hartz: I think that it is okay as long as they don't go to extremes on the matter.

Sylvia Roberts: I think it is okay, but as we already know everybody will wear what they want to wear, code or no code.

Patti McCombs: For the most part, these rules are not any different than the rules we have had in the past years. Except before, they weren't written down. As far as I'm concerned they are in line except for any reference to color combination. I also feel that there should be some other way of judging sweatshirts, rather than ruling all sweatshirts out of line.

Donna Grover: I feel that most of the upper classmen know how to dress right. I feel it is the underclassmen that need a little assistance.

Pam Moran: I'm for mini-skirts! Freedom is the basis for the United States Constitution. So let's keep it that way!

Vicki Smith: I think we need one — as everyone can see.

Delores Stokes: I feel that you wear what you got, and if what you have the school doesn't like let them buy you some more clothes.

Linda Fisher: A dress code will be alright if it is enforced. And I think they should add something to the code other than just dress.

Suzi Riester: I am among those who believe the dress code is really not necessary for the students of CHS. Why try to make something out of nothing??

Linda Baker: Is it really that bad at CHS?? I was not aware of the decaying standards of C.H.S.

students concerning dress. Personally, I feel it is an unnecessary step toward "rebellion" (not physical) by the students. More or less a rebellious attitude!

Bob Shirrell: I think the dress code is a good thing. But I see one possible problem: the judgment of what is "extreme" may be left solely to the school administration. The student council must have a voice in making this very important decision. If the student council doesn't get a voice, I don't think the dress code will get any support from the students.

Mayo K.: Really the majority of the kids dress decently. I do not think a dress code would do any good. Why have something that is not really needed??

EDITORIAL

By Robert Shirrell

In October, 1965, several students at the University of Michigan protested against the war in Vietnam with a sit-in at the local office of the Selective Service Board. A few weeks later 15 of the male demonstrators were reclassified 1-A by their draft boards.

When Lewis Hershey, head of Selective Serrvice System, heard of these reclassifications he approved, saying "I am one of those old-fashioned fathers who never let pity interfere with a good spanking."

But last week the U. S. Court of Appeals in New York delivered a reversal of those reclassifications. The court declared that draft boards could not punish protestors by reclassifying them 1-A.

I think this decision is most laudable. The right of students to express their opinions on important issues must not be denied because of possible change in draft status. Indeed, the right to protest without fear of unjust punishment is one of our most important democratic rights. The decision was made in the highest traditions of the Constitution, and decisions such as these are worthy of the praise of every American.

Until Then

By Cheryl Zink

Ada Barrionuevo, Culver High School's exchange student, arrived in Culver, January 4. She left for her Argentine home Mar. 3, and has asked us to publish this letter which she has written: Dear Friends,

The experience of living in your country for eight weeks, for me, was so wonderful that I will never ever forget it. Thank you all very much for everything. My family, my friends, the customs, the school, and all the people I have known here as a result of my stay will always be highly treasured in my memory. Words cannot express the feelings I have for all you, especially now that I have to leave. I want to visit this country again, so I won't say "Adios" (goodbye), but "Hasta Luego" (until then).

Curriculum Study In Progress

September 20, 1966, the Culver Community School Corporation Teachers met at 1:00 p.m. to lay the ground work for a complete curriculum re-evaluation. The purpose of this study was and is still the purpose of developing a curriculum for the school corporation which meets the needs of the school patrons and students, grades K-12.

On March 9, 1967, school will be dismissed for the Aubbeenaubee and Culver students at 11:30 a.m. All teachers grade K-12 will meet at 1:00 p.m. in the Culver High School study hall with Dr. Nicholson of Purdue University. Dr. Nicholson is a specialist in curriculum development who will guide the school faculties in the proper procedures and guidelines in curriculum development.

The new high school which is anticipated within the near future, will provide a greater course offering. This course offering should be within the realm of interest, needs, and abilities of our students.

Dr. Nicholson's supervision, under the direction of Dr. Lindley of Purdue University, will work with the Culver Community School Corporation, and its teachers in carrying out this study. With hard work, much research, and cooperation of the school patrons, present students, and past students, a complete study of curriculum needs is anticipated to be completed within a year.

National Honor Society Banquet

By Susie Thews

Thursday, March 2, 1967, the Culver City Club held a scholarship recognition dinner in the Culver Gym. The guests of honor were the 42 members of the National Honor Society. Each member was given a ceramic bell as a token to remind him of the pleasant evening.

The banquet was opened with the invocation by Rev. E. O. Routson. Patti McCombs then led the audience in the Pledge of Allegiance which was followed by the singing of America. Chuck Beck played the accompaniment.

After dinner was enjoyed by all, Miss Ruth Shanks, Culver City Club President, welcomed everyone. Patti Overmyer followed this with a response. Jerry Wolfe, sponsor, then introduced each member and his parents. Next, Robert Rust introduced the keynote speaker, Tommy Mont. Mr. Mont, the Athletic Director at DePauw University, gave a very humorous talk about DePauw's football team, how football and cheering originated and the improvements he had made in DePauw's Athletic Department. Mr. Mont closed his speech with some very sound advice for the N.H.S. members. He stated that grades alone didn't make success; one had to have discipline, desire, and loyalty.

Protect Your Children Against Measles, Says The AMA

CHICAGO—Now is the time to have your children immunized against measles if they have not already received this protection, says the American Medical Association.

Many parents are surprised to learn how dangerous this common childhood disease really is.

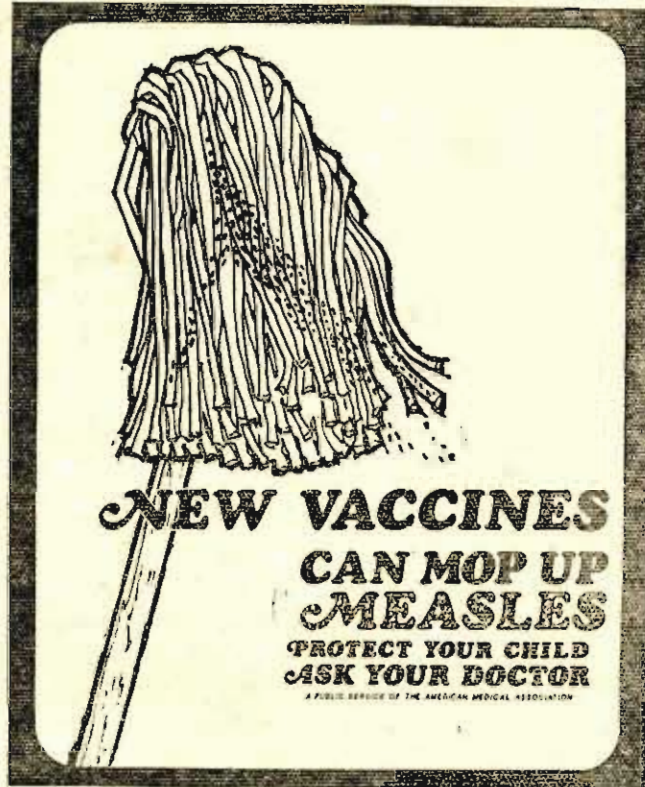

An estimated 250 American children died from measles in 1966. More than 150 suffered measles encephalitis, sometimes called sleeping sickness, or brain fever. Encephalitis frequently leaves children with permanent disabilities, including mental retardation, deafness, and blindness.

Future tragedies can be prevented, because safe and effective measles vaccines are now available. In the past four years, these vaccines have helped cut the measles death rate in half.

It's possible that measles could be eradicated in the near future if more parents protected their children with immunization.

The AMA recommends that every infant be vaccinated when he is about one year old. All children over this age who have not been vaccinated and who have not had measles, should be immunized now.

It is especially important that children in nurseries, kindergartens, and the first two grades of elementary school receive measles immunization. These youngsters have the highest risk of infection.

Measles immunization is safe, inexpensive, and easily performed. See your doctor for his recommendations.

If enough children are protected by immunization, measles will disappear. It's time to get rid of this familiar, but often dangerous, and sometimes deadly childhood disease.

The Scene

By Patti McCombs
Dave Beauchamp

I decided to do something a little different last night for entertainment, so my secretary, Miss Molly, and I went to Penny Lane. There's a real cool discotheque there called Strawberry Fields and Good Vibrations are always issuing forth. We hopped in my Hot Rod Lincoln and raced the Leader of the Laundromat and his date, Patches, Downtown. Eight Days a Week that place really goes but today the California Girls were there looking for Kicks and that place swung way out! It was Summer in the City and the Green, Green, Grass of Home was long Forgotten. The Rev. Mr. Black was there singing I'm a Believer, preaching against the Devil with a Blue Dress On, and telling us all he'd see us at Winchester Cathedral next Sunday, or was it Monday, Monday? Johnnie B. Goode jumped up on a table and asked, "Do You Believe in Magic?" "Man, I'm Hungry for a Taste of Honey. Don't shed no 99 Tears over me."

Help! Gloria! I call Your Name. That was former John attering Words of Love. Everybody was drinking Love Potion No. 9 and Bouncing in the Street. These California Dreaming people are all the same. Mr. Lonely and Michael came Daytripping in with Wooley Booley and Diane. You've heard of She, (or is it her?) the Wild Thing with the Heart of Stone. She was Just 17 and Shut Down already from that Dirty Water. Little Latin Lope Lou and Louie, Louie were asking everybody, "Do you wanna dance?" No Satisfaction was got (oh, that English), however. The only one who was crazy enough to dance to the Monkey-time was Snoopy vs the Red Baron. They had their own contest going on. Snoopy told the Red Baron, I wanna meet you, but We Gotta get out of this place. The Red Baron agreed, but told Snoopy to Get off of my Cloud: I'm not Your Stepping-stone!

Along Comes Mary doing the Hanky Panky when somebody yells Go Away Little Girl. "It's my Party," retorts Mary. "and I Feel Fine. I keep on Dancing until I Wipe Out!"

Then I spotted someone I had to talk to. "Hey Joe," I Yelled. "I Saw Her Again Yesterday." She was Twisting and Shouting to the Mashed Potato Time. Do you still Cherish her? She is sure a Cool One; a typical Sugar & Spice girl. Yeh, said Joe. I sure could use a Double Shot of My Baby's Love.

Speaking of shots, one whirled by me and I spun around. Two guys with masks were holding up my secretary. She told him, "You Are Pushing Too Hard," but all he could answer was We Ain't Got Nothing Yet. We need some Money. The Beat Goes On and I need some dough to get Sweets for My Secret. Sugar for My Honey so she'll Love Me Do. I'm sorry, I Don't Want to Spoil the Party with a stick up, but it's been a Hard Day's Night. Hey Little Girl, come on shell out.

Just Like Me they heard the sirens. I know a Place said one robber to the other. It's called the House of the Rising Sun. Too late. Batman & Robin are already on the scene in their Sidewalk Scooters. Batman, with one of his famous lines says, "I Wanna Hold Your Hand," and snags the handoffs on.

I had had enough of the Poe Side of Town and raced through the crowd with my secretary. Out On Broadway I looked at her and said, I Think We're Alone Now. From now on we'll be Elusive Butterflies and steer clear of This Old House.

A GIFT SUBSCRIPTION to The Culver Citizen, the home town paper, is enjoyed 52 weeks a year. Only $4; $4.50 out-of-state. Beautiful gift subscription card with your name thereon mailed free.

Bits and Pieces

The smoke signals are coming in with a lot of news this week. Let's stop off at the great building called "CHS" and see what is happening.

Brenda seems to like the study hall floor. What's with it Brenda?

The Junior girls seem to want to start a drama club, and consequently they were practicing at the tourney. Even a dramatics teacher from Knox wanted to know if they were in one. Leave it to the Juniors!!

May and Elaine have been giving a certain someone "lovely" looks. Boy if looks could kill...

The halls of Culver look rather empty now without Ada. A face long remembered and a person never forgotten.

Bob, why do you like to walk around with your tongue hanging out? Ask him.

The groaning from the Senior Civics class, sounds horrible when Mr. Lawson says you'll have a test - you have had it!

Diane, we hear you're having a problem getting someone's attention. Good Luck! (scream or something)

If you want to hear a "good one", ask Suzi H. how she is.

Ada, did you have a good time in Indianapolis? Tell us about it!

Did you know there was a gorilla in Chicago? If not, ask Rex and Mike about it. They'll be glad to tell you.

Suzie D. Congratulations on your new job in the cafeteria. We hope you enjoy it.

What's this I hear about a French play with a kiss at the end? Huh, Cheryl, Sand and Fred?

Congratulations to the second period studyhall. Miss Shanks (thinks you're quiet?? So we hear from Mrs. Lawson who substituted).

Cornfucious say: Do unto others as you want if you can get away with it. Corny came from CHS, you can tell.

Steve T., why are you always found out in the hall during your free period?

Many students are hoping spring vacation will not be cut short. Who wants to go to school while the mighty Seniors are in New York having fun!!

Nothing exciting has happened this week, so let's really liven up next week!!

The smoke is choking up and the news is slowly fading away from us so it's go-o-d

Ron & Rhonda

DEAR RON,

I have a problem that bothers me a lot. There is a guy who likes me and although I don't like him I think he is a nice person. He has a habit of staring at me all of the time. Everything I do, he watches. This is so annoying. What can I do?

ANNNOYED

DEAR ANNOYED,

It sounds as if you are the first girl he has ever liked and doesn't know how to tell you. Bear with the poor boy. He'll soon find that staring doesn't do the trick. Be friendly but by all means don't encourage him. It's best to try to ignore his staring and avoid him as much as possible.

SINCERELY,
RON

DEAR RHONDA,

I've always thought that during the winter months woolen skirts and sweaters with long sleeves were the accepted thing to wear. But now I see some girls at school wearing sleeveless sweaters. What is happening?

CLOTHES CONSCIOUS
DEAR CLOTHES CONSCIOUS,

The styles are changing! As you say skirts and sweaters are here to stay but the current fashion equally acceptable is the sleeveless sweaters and dresses. You'll find these quite comfortable and not really chilly.

SINCERELY,
RHONDA

DEAR RON and RHONDA,

Is it necessary to be able to dance all of the current dances for the girls to go for you? At most of the dances at school the majority of the boys just stand around and nobody seems to have any fun. What is the thing to do?

WALLFLOWER

DEAR WALLFLOWER,

You've actually answered your own question with the phrase "nobody really seems to have any fun." Suppose you stopped being a wallflower and got into the swim of things and showed everyone what a dancer is for and DANCED! Practice makes perfect so don't be afraid the first time the girls really dig the guy who even tries. In this fast moving generation it is a good idea to know the basics in social graces and one is dancing the FRUG!

SINCERELY,
RON and RHONDA

School Respect

By Virginia Shidler

Have you ever noticed how much respect the students of Culver High School have for their school? Well I have decided to take you on a quick tour through Culver High School to show you. First we walk through the doors, doesn't look too bad, just a few pieces of crumpled paper in the corners. Now we enter the halls. Most of the lockers look as though they have been beaten with a sledge hammer, books and paper are piled on top, and when there isn't paper or books on top there is usually about a half inch of dust and dirt to take their places. The walls have the remains of several posters, which have been up long past the basketball games, and pieces of tape that were never taken off after someone had torn down a poster.

Next we enter a class room. Here we find the desks, at which we spend the biggest part of our day. They look as though they have been in a contest, whose object was to see how much writing could be put on it, or how much gum could be put under it. Some of these desks are literally falling apart because of misuse and neglect. The walls, which just obtained a new coat of paint at the beginning of this school year, look as though a bunch of little children with dirty hands came in and played on them. The floor, which is swept every night, looks as though it has never been swept.

Well my tour is over, did you like what you saw? The faculty has made many efforts to keep our school in good condition, but they can not do it by themselves. They have to have the cooperation of every student, so come on kids, give them all the cooperation they need and maybe our school will look like a school instead of a mess.

The imperishability of spiritual things will be a theme of this week's Lesson-Sermon titled "Substance" to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday.

Bible references will include a verse from Psalms 125: "They that trust in the Lord shall be as Mount Zion, which cannot be removed, but abideth for ever."

FEDERAL TAX
 Q - I just filed my return, how long will it take to get my refund?
 A - It usually takes about six weeks to process a refund return that is properly made out. A refund may take longer than that if the return is filed just before the April 15 deadline.

An error on the return will also delay the refund and so will the selection of the return for a pre-refund audit. Among the most common causes of delay in receiving a refund are failure to sign returns and to give correct social security numbers.

every garment she owned and they arrived at the station loaded with baggage. "I wish," said the husband thoughtfully, "that we'd brought your piano."

"Oh, quit trying to be so funny," came his wife's frigid reply.

"I'm not trying to be funny," he said wistfully. "I left the tickets on it."

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Traffic Stopper

A neglected triangle at the intersection of two busy streets in Duluth, Minnesota was transformed into a garden spot by members of the Garden Flower Society and cooperating garden clubs.

There's nothing like a group of people working together to attract the attention of all the "sidewalk superintendents" and "highway straw bosses." When the project on which they are working is one of beautifying an area in a city, naturally it's a traffic stopper.

Such a project was carried out last summer by the Duluth, Minnesota Garden Flower Society. The area beautified was a triangle on London Road and Superior Street, a busy thoroughfare with continuous traffic.

Because the triangle had been unused for years the soil resembled a rock pile but tilling it over and over gradually brought it to plantable condition.

During a 4-day period 25 members of the Garden Flower Society, working 8 to 10 hours a day, planted 170 rose bushes, a "tree" rose, 600 petunias, 1200 lavender and white sweet alyssum plants and 1000 pansies to make the once-dingy triangle a blooming island in a sea of traffic.

Because motorists were so engrossed in the work being done, traffic signals went unheeded and traffic moved at a snail's pace. Ninety-five per cent of motorists complimented the busy workers. An estimate of the cost of their labor and materials (most donated) exceeded $600!

Garden clubs cooperating with the Garden Flower Society continued maintenance of the plants throughout the growing season so that the triangle continued to be an attractive spot. And every participant was gratified at helping transform a little plot of bare ground into one of beauty.

There will be preaching services next Sunday following Sunday School.

In spite of the heavy snow fall there was a fine attendance at the "Household and Commodity" shower for the Everett Martin Family held at this place Sunday evening. Many household and money gifts were received. The Martins lost their home and all contents by fire last week. They are temporarily residing in a furnished house in Mankinkee.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Goodman returned home Thursday after spending the winter in Texas and Florida.

The Home Builders and C.J.U. classes held their regular class meeting Thursday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Overmyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Davis motored to Michigan City Sunday morning where they attended services at the First Methodist Church. During the service a per diem (canceling rail) was presented to the church by Mrs. Herbert Lathrop of Winamac, President of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the South Bend District, and was dedicated by the Pastor, Rev. Hilton Whitaker. This gift was made possible by district officers and local societies in the district and given in Memory of Mrs. Willard (Margaret) Case who passed away suddenly a year ago and who was active in the district work of the Woman's Society.

Ted Kline young son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Kline was rushed to the Parkview Hospital, Plymouth, Thursday evening after inhaling the fumes created when he mixed solutions used for cleaning dairy equipment. He was kept under oxygen and was brought home on Saturday where he is recovering satisfactorily.

The regular meeting of the Mt.

Hope Woman's Society of Christian Service was held at the church on Wednesday evening. Members of the Hamlet society were guests, which is a part of the visitation program sponsored by the district. The Devotions were given by Mrs. Robert Kline and Mrs. Wibur McIntyre. The Mt. Hope quartet, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Winn and Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Davis favored the group with 3 special numbers. Mrs. Guy Davis gave a very interesting and comprehensive talk on "Christianity and the World Religions, the difference." Following the business meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. Robert Kline, the ladies enjoyed refreshments served from a lovely table decorated in the St. Patrick motif.

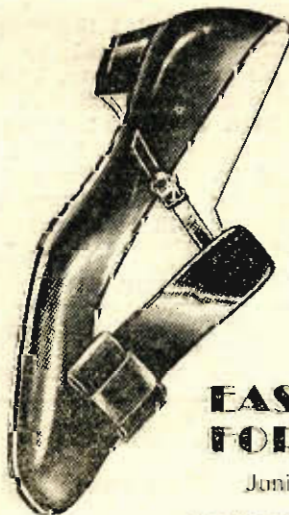

Q - Why is my wife's Social Security number so important on a joint tax return? Most of the income comes from my salary.

A - According to the law, your wife should show her account number on your joint return if she had: 1) separate gross income of $600 or more, or $1200 or more if she was 65 or more before the end of the taxable year, or 2) self-employment income, or 3) separate income, such as wages, dividends, or interest, paid to her which the payer is required to report on a return or statement of information. If the necessary account numbers are not on a return the matching can not be done, necessitating correspondence with the taxpayer. Failure to include your wife's number will delay the processing of your return and any refund due.

After saying no words for six years, the baby boy finally complained at breakfast. "Mom, the toast is burned."

His amazed mother shrieked joyfully, "Junior, you talked! How come you've never talked before?"

"Well," Junior replied calmly, "up to now the toast's been OK."
