Carl Strang Receives Scouting's Highest Rank Of Eagle Scout

Scouting's highest rank was conferred upon CARL STRANG during Court of Honor ceremonies of Culver Boy Scout Troop 290 on Monday. Pictured with Carl are his very proud parents, MR. AND MRS. TED STRANG.

Carl Strang received Scouting's highest rank of Eagle Scout at Court of Honor ceremonies Monday evening, Oct. 16, at the Culver Methodist Church.

In an impressive ceremony conducted by David Smith, Menominee District Scout Executive, B.S.A., Carl was inducted into the honored circle of the Eagle rank. Mr. Smith stressed the obligations incurred in obtaining this coveted award, and then he led the candidate and all Eagles present in their oath. Carl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Strang, participated in the ceremony and presented their son with the Eagle medal and certificate.

Frank McLane, in an address to Scouts, parents and guests, related Scouting's beginnings and emphasized how Scouting helps a boy's growth by instilling character, citizenship and physical fitness. He encouraged Troop members to keep climbing the "ladder of advancement" toward Eagle Scout rank.

During the Court of Honor ceremonies, Scout leaders presented the following awards and recognitions: to Tenderfoot rank — Daniel Ruiz, James Leach, Mickey McFarland, Michael Basart, Douglas Thomas, Rodney Crosley, Cole Hickman; to Second Class rank — Michael McFarland, Douglas Snyder, Robert Babcock, Brian Crosley, Kent Lucas, Larry Babcock, Charles Wakefield; and to First Class rank — Paul Hughes, Bruce Snyder.

Fourteen Scouts received a total of 23 merit badges in 10 subject areas.

Service pins were presented as follows: one-year pins to Robert Babcock, Brian Crosley, Bryce Hinkle, Paul Hughes, Michael McFarland, David Reichley, Douglas Snyder, Robert Taber, Jack Walter; two-year pin to Gary Strang; and three-year pins to Kent Lucas and James McFarland.

Scoutmaster Paul Snyder Jr. recognized the Troop's Junior leaders and singled out the Troop's accomplishments at the Scout-O-Rama and the spring and fall Camporees.

His story is one that citizens concerned about our involvement in Vietnam should hear.

Town Board Receives Bids For Water System

Culver's Chamber of Commerce favors Eastern Standard Time for this winter by a 66-2 vote. The results of the recent poll were announced by Harold Fritz Chamber representative, during Monday's regular session of the Town Board.

In other business, the Board received bids for completion of proposed water system improvements estimated at a cost of $300,000. The Board took all of the bids under advisement. Robert Rust, superintendent of the Culver Community Schools corporation, and Charles Groce, town marshal, also discussed various items of business.

Bids for the water system improvements were accepted in five categories: general contract, mechanical contract, water mains and sewers, elevated storage tank, and deep well contract. The bids were as follows:

In the storage tank category, Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Co. bid $62,040 for a 300,000 gallon tank and $42,795 for a 150,000 gallon tank; Chicago Bridge & Iron Co. bid $58,290 and $40,430; Universal Tank and Iron Works bid $58,497 and $38,730; Globe Industrial Contractors bid $49,476 and $39,558; and W. E. Caldwell bid $66,491 and $42,410.

Bidders on the water mains and sewers were Woodruff and sons, $225,732.85, and Loitz Brothers Construction Co., $256,289.70. Lane-Northern Co. bid $16,645 for the deep well contract. Schumacher and Sons bid $65,562 for the general contract. The DeWulf Co. bid $83,000 for the mechanical contract. Russell Easterday Construction Co. was the only bidder submitting a total bid for the three categories of general, mechanical and water mains and sewers contracts. That firm's bid was $369,960.

Assisting the Board in the opening and reading of the bids were the town attorney, John Downer of Plymouth, and two representatives of Lessig and Sons, engineers for the program.

Superintendent Rust asked the Board to consider the possible temporary restriction of traffic on portions of State and College streets while students transfer from one school area to another. Rust also sought the Board's authority for installation of a sidewalk in the vicinity of the parking lot entrance near State Road 10. He noted that the School Board believes it lacked authority to handle the project.

Marshal Groce noted that a total of 14 patrolmen will be on duty at Culver for Halloween. He said that total includes six Civil Defense units who will be available for three days of patrols.

Groce asked the Board to consider the painting of street marker signs. The Board asked him to submit a list of needs that can be handled next year, since funds are insufficient at this time.

The Board approved a resolution designating the town hall as the official voting place for the Nov. 7 election. Also approved was a transfer of $5,000 of water department funds to the general fund to meet expenses for the remainder of the year. Board members noted that some of the funds were necessary because of the employment of one additional member of the police department.

The Board will meet in special session Oct. 23, to receive bids for installation of a 27-inch cement tile surface drain.

Homecoming At Academy Set For This Weekend

Several thousand parents, alumni, and guests will visit Culver Military Academy this weekend, Oct. 20-23, for homecoming, one of the most important weekends during the academic year here.

The program involves a series of academic, athletic, social, military, and alumni functions beginning Friday and concluding at noon Sunday.

Festivities begin at 8 p.m. Friday when alumni and parents join students for a pep rally leading up to Saturday's annual football game with St. John's Military Academy.

Saturday's schedule begins with a 9:30 a.m. meeting of officers of the Culver Legion, alumni organization of the Academy's winter school, who will confer with the new superintendent, Brig. Gen. John W. Dobson, USA (ret.), for the first time. At 10:30 a.m. on the Riding Hall terrace, military exhibitions will be given by the honor organizations of the artillery, infantry, and Black Horse Troop.

The football game with St. John's begins at 2:15 p.m. with a half-time cross country meet between the two schools also on the schedule. General and Mrs. Dobson will host visiting alumni at a barbecue in the Woodcraft Camp dining hall at 5:30 p.m. and the formal homecoming ball will be held at 9 p.m.

Sunday religious services are at 9:15 a.m. for members of the mounted services and their parents and at 10:30 a.m. for the infantry and band and their parents. Alumni are invited to attend either service. A mounted parade is scheduled, weather permitting, for the Riding Hall terrace at noon.

by fullback Mike Klier, a fourth-down play. With 23 seconds remaining Culver quarterback Bob Steffy was trapped in the end zone while attempting to pass.

Culver first lit the scoreboard on the last play of the first half as Paul Gift kicked a 22-yard field goal. Earlier, Culver had fashioned a 75-yard march to the Luers 10-yard line, but was forced to give up the ball on downs.

Culver's only touchdown came early in the fourth quarter, as Chip Linnemeier plunged one yard for the score following a 70-yard Culver drive. Less than four minutes later Luers scored on a 41-yard run by halfback Mike Hayes, and an intercepted Culver pass on the next series of downs led to the final Knight TD.

Paul Gift chalked up the highest rushing total (93 yards on 21 carries) of any Culver back in a single game this year. John Crimmins was the leading pass receiver with three catches of Bob Steffy passes for a total of 34 yards.

Postmaster Asks For Zip-A-List

Postmaster E. W. Mattox reported today that approximately 1,000 ZIP-A-LIST cards from all over the country have been processed at the Culver Post Office since the program started last month.

The postmaster urged local residents who haven't taken advantage of the post office's offer to provide ZIP Codes for "zip-less" addresses to do so immediately. A kit sufficient for up to eight addresses was delivered to each household in the area. If patrons have misplaced theirs or if more are needed, extra kits are available at the post office or from carriers.

All a mailer need do to obtain a Zip Code is to:

- 1 — write the "unzipped address in the proper space, including the city and state.
- 2 — write in their return address so the post office will know who should receive the completed card.
- 3 — drop in any mail box. No postage is needed.

Postmaster Mattox thanked all who have already filled in their cards and mailed them. "We are anxious to supply the ZIP Codes for all of your regularly used addresses on your mailing list," he said. "ZIP Code can mean more efficient postal service only if it is used consistently by virtually everyone in the nation. It is particularly important with the heavy mailings of the holidays fast approaching."

Senior Play, "The Glass Menagerie"

By Suzi Riester

The Senior Class of Culver High School this year has chosen for their class project the production of the Pulitzer prize-winning play, "The Glass Menagerie," by Tennessee Williams, probably America's greatest living playwright.

The play, steadily popular, was shown recently on television and is a favorite college choice, though seldom is it chosen by high schools due to its many subtleties and the fact that it's not a snappy comedy wherein an actor can stumble literally and figuratively and get a laugh for it. No, in the "Menagerie," called by Williams a "memory play," the tone is predominantly serious. There are many funny moments in it, to be sure, but the author's purpose seemed mainly to have been to create a mood, perhaps of sorrow, nostalgia, or a sense of irrevocability towards the past and the relentless pressure upon it of the moving present. The actors, consequently (four only) need to aim keenly for their effects. They are, nevertheless, optimistic, as is their director, Richard Aspen (with the directorship of many plays — serious, tragic, comic — to his credit).

The four characters, each with a great many lines to master, are Suzi Riester, playing Amanda Wingfield, the mother; Karen Stevenson playing Laura, daughter of Amanda; and Chris Kiefer, playing the would-be poet, Tom Wingfield. A "gentleman caller," an ambassador from the world of reality, enters the play towards the final scenes. He is played by Tim Frain.

Backstage or assisting in one capacity or another are the entire class (selling tickets), Susie Donnelly and LaDonna Darocsi (program and posters), Linda Fisher and Carin Manchester (make-up), Leon Sims and Terry Beck (technical directors), Lyn Mackey and Linda Reinholt (costumes), John Cook and Allen Banks (props), Gary Davis and Corky Overmyer.

The play is scheduled for Oct. 25, at 8 p.m. in the Culver High School Gymnasium. The tickets are on sale for one dollar. All proceeds will go to the Senior Class (royalty fee excepted) in support of the Senior Trip.

Teen Center

By Margaret Ruhnow, Kirk W. For the past couple of years people have been writing articles about a teen center, but so far no one has really tried to organize one. Everybody, it seems, wants one but doesn't want to pay the price. All want the center to appear out of nowhere without any effort, but such an undertaking takes time. Do the teenagers of Culver really want a place where they can go and have a good time? I don't know. Do you? It takes money to do something like that, and the money must be made or donated. Some of the students are not willing to pay for it, but what other way is there to get one? Some type of leadership must be organized as the first step toward acquiring a teen-center.

Purdue Band Day Held

By Fred May and Debbie Triplet On Saturday, October 7, the Culver High School band members, under the direction of Mr. Charles Byfield, journeyed to the Purdue Campus to participate in the annual Band Day.

After arriving, the bands assembled on the practice field to receive instructions about their half-time presentation. After rehearsing the chosen numbers, the bands were allotted an hour for lunch.

Then the bands marched over to the stadium, where they were seated by members of the Purdue All American Band. They all enjoyed watching the part-game show which consisted of the Madison Heights High School Band, (first place winner of the State Fair Band Contest), the Purdue All American Band, and the pom-pom girls and twirlers from all of the high school bands.

Purdue and Northwestern battled it out the first half, which ended with Northwestern ahead 13-6 at the close of the second quarter.

The half-time show consisted of the introduction of the fathers of Purdue football players, followed by the mass band performance of over 5,000 bandmen.

After their performance the band members either returned to the buses or watched the second half of the game. At the conclusion of the game the buses left NON-STOP for home.

We are sure that all of the band members will favorably remember this occasion.

Don't gamble that your home is safe from fire, says the National Fire Protection Association. How about those oily rags in the kitchen closet — or those old clothes and papers in the attic? One tiny, stray spark and you're out of luck — and a home. Clean up!

The smoke signals at CHS have started again. The fire is going strong and the messages are coming in loud and clear.

Scanning the halls of good old CHS we find that quite a few of the Culver Indians have been scalped. As the wise old chief would say "Ugh!"

Congratulations to Pam S. and Mary Ann L. in organizing a new club in French. We hear you have a lot of members.

Flash!! If you haven't already noticed, the root beer stand is now gone? But don't get shook. They are going to build a new one.

We hear that Susie T. was offered a blanket to keep her legs warm on band day at Purdue, but she turned the offer down. You say that it shed??? Well, Susie, at least someone thinks of you.

The Purdue Band Day was fairly successful this year except for the thunder showers which occurred every once in awhile. We hear that two fair squaws from Culver who are attending Purdue couldn't be found anywhere. We wish you'd stay put once in awhile, Patty and Susie. Patty sprained her ankle, but that didn't stop her from going anywhere.

Linda M., what happened to your wrist? Didn't know you had so much strength.

Senior Plug — Play tickets are now on sale. Buy some.

We hear that the world history class is celebrating Christmas early. They have their tests all decorated in pretty red.

The sophomores will be pretty busy for the next few weekends raking leaves. I was informed that all donations will be graciously accepted. (This has been a paid political announcement):

What's this I hear about a black and orange caterpillar joining chorus last week? Was it a soprano or a bass singer?

Pammy, don't get so flustered in world history class. It can't be that bad!

We'd like to take time out from bits and pieces of gossip to welcome Milly Nicodemus to CHS. She works in the high school office, so anyone with problems . . . just go to Milly.

Craig, what were you doing Thursday night? Was it fun?

Congratulations to Ana, Vicki Mr. and Terry B. for being invited to the Academy's homecoming.

If you heard moans and groans Tuesday afternoon, it was only because the Juniors and Seniors took their PSAT tests. Come on now, kids, it can't be all that bad . . . or can it?

Well, smoke signals are fading. This is it until the new Pow Wow. Bye.

The Shadow

By Linda Reinhold

Hi, fans. My name is Popo the Flower Bug, and I'm riding around on "Mr. Senior" (secretly hidden in the cuff of his shirt) to watch the activities in which he participates in one day.

I usually go to band with "Mr. Senior", but today I went to the gym with him because he took the PSAT test for college entrance. First Mr. Dillon called for the cafeteria count and I thought I was going to fall off. The sudden jolt of being hiked in the air made me gasp for breath; I was afraid my spying days were over. He then calmly put me down. Boy, it felt good to be on land again! The test lasted until fourth period and I got so bored watching him I decided to go for a walk. "Mr. Senior" was thinking so hard that his vibrations were making me think, and we bugs aren't supposed to think.

After my friend finished the test, he had to stay and put the tables and chairs away. Man, I really was jostled around! I fell off one time, and some elephant's foot just about stepped on me. I escaped by the hair on the back of my neck (which isn't a heck of a lot of hair!).

I then went to physics class with him where I learned more about physics than any other flower bug in my family has ever known. I can't wait to get back to tell them what I learned.

By twelve noon I was getting slightly hungry and was wondering when Mr. Hughey was going to let us go eat. Finally, he dismissed the class and I went with "Mr. Senior" to share his dinner. I must admit, the food was super compared to what I've been accustomed to eating.

After "Mr. Senior" was done, we trotted upstairs to the second floor of the building to talk to some of his fellow classmates. You can't imagine what torture I went through then! He has this terrible habit of keeping his hands in his pockets, and I almost suffocated!

Fifth period "Mr. Senior" listened attentively to Mr. Lawson discuss the happenings of the last few days of Civics. Of course, "Mr. Senior" wasn't quiet all the time; he had a remark or two to make to his neighbor.

Finally the bell rang and I went to advanced chemistry. Mr. Wolfe handed out some work papers to do and told the class that they had the rest of the hour to work on them. "Mr. Senior" got right down to the grind, and this gave me a chance to catch up on some much-needed sleep.

"Mr. Senior" then traveled to his last class, Senior English. I was getting tired sitting in his shirt cuff, so I flew to his shoe to sit a spell. Boy! Was that ever a wrong choice! I almost got knocked off and stepped on. "Mr. Senior" didn't do much this hour. He just sat and listened to Mrs. Kline explain about transformational grammar. He did have enough energy to answer a few questions and whisper something to his neighbor.

"Mr. Senior" then left class to take down the flag.

Thus ends a typical day in the life of a senior boy. This isn't an ordinary day for any senior, but for JIM TABER it could be called a special day!

Open Letter To Vietnam Servicemen

(Editor's note: The following article was written by Gary Davis as part of an assignment for Mr. Latham Lawson's Civics Class.)

Hi, Mr. American! I just have a few minutes between our civil rights marches, so I thought I would write you a letter. How is the fighting going? Have you caught any new diseases or been brainwashed lately? Everything here in the United States is just great. Two more of the large cities filed for air pollution this week.

For once in her life Mother is starting to lose a little weight. Not because she wants to, but because Father has been on strike for three weeks. All he is able to do is sit at home and collect his small strike check from the company each week.

Say, do you get any newspapers in Vietnam from back home? If you do, then you have probably already read some of the articles that say that you do not know why you are in Vietnam. Very encouraging, don't you think?

Another great thing is happening. All of the teachers in this area are on strike. I can now be in all the civil rights marches that I want. I bet you're sorry that you already have an education. I get to wait awhile for mine.

I'll bet you don't know who is getting married in December. No, not a movie star; remember, they only get divorcees. It's President Johnson's other daughter. Oh, what is her name — Lyde Bird, or something to that effect.

Here is one last remark about home. I guess our old buddy, Martin Luther King, has been thinking about running for the office of President. Yes, that way he can take the guns from the rich and give them to the poor.

Let's talk a little about you and your surroundings. I hear that you have dishpan feet. Do you honestly mean that your feet shrank from size 10½ to a size 8?

I really think some of you men deserve a medal of honor for your courage. Oh, you say you're not dead yet? Well, I guess you are not one of the privileged — yet.

From what I read in the paper, the elections in South Viet Nam went rather smoothly. They seemed to have been run honestly (for once in a life time).

I heard that there are a lot of cities leveled by our planes over there. The United States is one up on you in this area. We have had more looting, burning, and savage uproars of cities in the past week than you have had all year!

Well, soon-to-be-forgotten friends, it has been your privilege that I wrote to you. I can hear in the distance that the marchers are getting restless. There'll be a hot time in my town tonight. This teen better be getting back to the streets where I belong before I'm counted absent. If you're lucky enough, I might see some of you in 5 or 6 years. Have fun fighting the Communists as well as the diseases.

Now where did I put my torch and knife? A teen like me can't very well go into these streets unprotected.

Signed,
Tomorrow's Army

Popular Songs At C.H.S.

By Jan Price

The "Brown Eyed Girl" was walking down "Funky Broadway" one day when a weird little man danced up to her (as weird little men are known to do).

"Hey baby," he sighed. She stared at him blankly. He continued, "I Dig Rock and Roll Music."

"How can you?" she inquired. "You're nothing but a 'Little Ole Man'."

"Don't let my age fool you," said he. "At heart I belong to 'The Younger Generation'."

"Prove yourself in some way," she said. "Gimme A Little Sign."

He pulled out "The Letter" and she knew at a glance what it was. It was a poem dedicated to his childhood sweetheart, Jo. The signature at the bottom was large (a definite sign of insecurity). This man was William Craxmeier. It was an "Ode To Billie's Jo." Only one person could write such a touching dedication.

"It Must Be He!" thought she. "Soul Man!!" He acknowledged humbly. They clasped hands and disappeared into the "Purple Haze of The Rain."

Cuban Schools Described

By Ana Barrabes

The schools in Cuba on the whole, weren't too different from the ones here.

The school year started in September and lasted till June. We had Christmas vacation, but instead of having one week of free days, we had two weeks because the children did not get their presents from Santa Claus, but from the Three Kings, on January 6, so everyone was out of school until the 7th. We also got out of school on holidays.

In the cities, the children of well-to-do families attended private schools. The others, or the majority, attended regular public schools.

The children started school usually at the age of four, going to kindergarten, then to pre-primary school at the age of five, starting at the age of six, elementary school, which consisted of grades 1-6. Then we had the primary superior, grades 7-9, or the equivalent of a junior high here. From here we went on to secondary school. Some were grades 10-15, these were called institutes, but the regular secondary school included grades 10-14. From here, the next step in furthering one's education was going to college.

We had no selectivity of subjects; in other words, a student took the subjects required for that particular school year without any choice at all.

In the city school, there were two sessions, the morning classes, which were from 8 to 11 a.m., then lunch break from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. The reason for the elongated lunch break was the fact that cafeterias were not prevalent in the schools so the students went home or to town for lunch. Then afternoon classes were from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Country schools had only one session of classes. These were in the afternoon, from 12 to 4:30 p.m. In most country schools, the national government provided a free lunch or snack for the students.

This school system, of course, has long been out of existence since the Communists came to Cuba. The schools are very different now. All subjects are based on communistic ideologies and those who refuse either to teach or learn those subjects are expelled from the school and watched over constantly for a reason to throw them in jail.

The government provides for "Communist Centers of Learning", which collect children from as early an age as eight years old and train and indoctrinate them in theory and practice of Communism. These children rarely ever get to see their families, and most of them did not come voluntarily to these schools. Instead they are commanded to do so.

Thus it is from these schools that Castro hopes to turn out the future leaders of Cuba, and until these children get a chance to see that there is a better way of life and government, they will remain Communist.

MONTEREY STUDENT COUNCIL ELECTS 1967-68 OFFICERS

The Student Council of Monterey met Oct. 9, in the music room for the purpose of electing officers. Mr. Bair opened the meeting by reading the School Constitution.

The officers elected are as follows: president - Alan Kado, vice president - Dan Warkentien, secretary - Renita Woodward, treasurer - Jim Potthoff.

MONTEREY JUNIORS TAKE P.S.A.T. TESTS

The Juniors of Monterey High School succeeded in taking the P.S.A.T. Tuesday, October 10. This is a preliminary aptitude test and helps the students understand the S.A.T., which will be given next spring. A fee of one dollar was required before the test could be taken. Some of the reactions were: "Why do these tests have to be timed?", "What a test! But then, who knows maybe I'll find out something about myself that I never knew.", and "I got very tired and started to goof up everything."

MONTEREY ELECTS CHEERLEADERS

The Monterey High School cheerleaders have been elected, and the results are: Varsity - Terri Taiclet, Doris Hinderlider, Deloris Hinderlider, Linda Passmore, and Marsha Redlin. The B-team cheerleaders are Connie Ringen, Dixie Good, Renita Woodward, Bonnie Zehner, and Joyce Master.

MONTEREY SENIORS SELL "ECHO" ADS

"Why are the seniors all dressed up?", a curious freshman asked.

No wonder the underclassmen were inquisitive, for the seniors were all arrayed in their Sunday best. They were putting their best feet forward because they were going out in groups to surrounding towns for the purpose of acquiring ads for their 1967-68 annual.

After a short briefing by Mrs. Furman and Mr. Bair, they departed on their mission, which proved to be successful for after being chased into and out of offices, they finally arrived home in the afternoon with enough ads to help publish the 1967-68 Echo.

"Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him."

This verse from James is the Golden Text in this week's Lesson Sermon on "Probation After Death," to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Little Man

He stands alone, looking almost too small for the burden of those books. You watch him, and you wonder what he is thinking. But you know that if you were to ask him, he'd only look up with a little shrug and say — "Oh, nothing."

"Nothing" is so often a child's answer to the deeper questions. Perhaps a child knows instinctively that he can't hope to put into clear words all the puzzle, the confusion, the joy, sorrow, and wonder that comes with growing up. And "nothing" can become — to you — the most frustrating word in the world.

What can you do about it? You can love him, and you can help him in every way you know. You can be sure that he is given a chance to go to church with you, and to Church School. Here he will find some of the best answers of all to that long list of questions that will become longer, still, as time goes by.

The return to central standard time means darkness arrives one hour earlier. The Chicago Motor Club-AAA points out that this is of great significance to drivers because it increases motoring hazards during the late afternoon and early evening rush hour period. Keep your speed down when the sun goes down. Use extreme caution through the tricky twilight.
