Town Adopts New Water Rates For Culver

A proposed new schedule of rates and changes for water was adopted by the Culver Town Board at a special meeting Friday, Dec. 22. The new schedule is a part of the planned water-works improvement program.

With all members present and two new members sitting in, the board adopted Ordinances 20 and 203. Ordinance 202 authorizes the sale of Revenue Bonds to finance the cost of the proposed improvements which include new water tank, new mains, a new water treatment plant and a new well.

Ordinance 203, as passed, establishes the new rates. The new rates per calendar quarters are:

First 6,000 gallons, $1.40 per 1,000 gallons; next 14,000 gallons, $1.20 per thousand; next 80,000 gallons, $1.00 per thousand; next 200,000 gallons, 80 cents per thousand; next 300,000 gallons, 60 cents per thousand, and over 600,000 gallons, 40 cents per thousand.

In addition to the new rates new quarterly minimum charges were established ranging from a \$8.40 per quarter charge for $\frac{1}{8}$ to $\frac{3}{4}$ inch connection.

The board also passed a resolution authorizing town attorney John Downer to prepare and file a petition with the Public Service Commission of Indiana for the approval of the new rates and for permission to sell the bonds.

Increased Mail Rates In Effect On January 7th

Increased rates for all class except parcel post and international mail will go into effect January 7. Postmaster E. W. Mattox reminded postal customers.

"Even with the new rates of six cents for first class and ten cents for air mail, postal service is still a real bargain," the postmaster declared. "For six cents you can send a letter to any of the 50 states, to U.S. territory or possession, to Canada or Mexico, or to American servicemen anywhere in the world."

He pointed out that the new rate for post cards will be five cents; air mail cards will be eight cents. The added cent in the letter rate is a 20 per cent increase compared to a 24 per cent boost in the rates for newspapers and magazines and a 34 per cent hike in advertising circulars, "occupant" mail, and other material in the 3rd class.

Under the new rate structure all first class over 13 ounces and air mail over 7 ounces will be merged into a single category similar in price to the present air parcel post. These heavier pieces will be delivered by the fastest available means of transportation. This new rate structure will mean a reduction of postage on some parcels.

Another rate change affecting the general public is the increase from four to six cents for unsealed greeting cards up to two ounces.

"There will be no change in the charges for special delivery, special handling, registered, certified, COD or insured mail." Since these higher rates will go into effect January 7 also on all categories of 2nd class mail, bulk rate 3rd class and educational materials of 2nd class mail, bulk rate 3rd class and educational materials, mailers using these classes should contact the local Post Office.

Approval Given To Organization Of School District

Approval of the organization of schools for the 1968-69 school year in the 157 square mile school district which includes four corner townships here in four counties has been tentatively approved by the Board of School Trustees of the Culver Community Schools Corporation this week.

Based upon recent studies by the Education Department of Purdue University and a recommendation by the school administration, the three high schools of the district, grades 9-12, at Aubbeenaubee, Monterey, and Culver will be unified at the beginning of the 1968-69 school year. It is hoped that the building now under construction will be ready to serve the unified unit.

The reorganization tentatively provides for grades K-8 at Aubbeenaubee, Monterey and Culver. Departmentalization of grades six through eight will be carried out in the mid-school area. The unified high school administrative organization will provide 510 students with 32 teaching stations; the K-8 unit at the Culver school for 785 pupils, 31 teachers; the K-3, Aubbeenaubee, 194 pupils, and Monterey, 140 pupils, 18 teachers.

Administrative units will provide for a principal at the unified high school and the K-8 Culver center, and the Aubbeenaubee-Monterey Schools will be directed by one principal.

Give Progress Report On Culver School

During my short stay as Clerk of the Works while Mr. Cummins was sick, I have been asked about several phases of the new school building and site. I have checked plans and specifications very closely. There have been some mistakes which is to be expected on a building of that size and with the weather being against the progress. I feel we have been delayed thirty days because of the rainy weather.

The grading hasn't been done and the parking lot rough-graded. The storm sewer for the building is 90 per cent finished. The storm drain tile out to Road 17 is 80 per cent finished. The masonry work is 80 per cent finished and the terrazzo floor work is 60 per cent done. The quarry tile for the kitchen is here but not laid. The block and brick work is as good as average but is always cleaned before the job is finished. The cement floors are about 25 per cent finished. The underground plumbing is 95 percent finished and the electricity about 55 per cent completed. The sheet metal work is about 50 per cent completed and the heating about 55 per cent done.

Three engines provide the electricity and the exhaust from these engines will heat the building to 10 degrees above zero outside temperature. If more heat is needed, a boiler comes on which will furnish more heat. This heat should be much cheaper than the old type heat.

I have checked with the engineer, Mr. Jackson, and he thinks a young man with mechanical knowledge can operate this plant. He does not have to have a college degree. Mr. Jackson would be willing to interview interested parties at the board meetings.

This school was incorporated to the town of Culver for two reasons, protection and insurance rates. I think it would be nice if the town could see fit to put lights at the entrance to the school. These lights would be used only when the parking lot is in use.

I have been approached by several people about the continuation of the sidewalk from the present school to the new school. This is a matter for the town board and the school to look after. I believe this to be the best site for this building — close to the present school and close to city water and city sewer.

As far as I can see, this building will be equipped so the children can get the education that is needed today.

The next two months the progress will be slow. I do not see any reason, however, this building will not be finished by Aug. 15, 1968, if all the tradesmen carry out their part and I believe they will.

Without the help of the local bank and the holding corporation, school. These lights would be this school could not have been built. I believe it would be nice if we would all pitch in and help the school board get this school finished for the fall of 1968.

I wish to thank the school board, the holding corporation, Mr. Rust and the architect's office for their prompt decisions on the questions I have asked.

Wayne Ven Ehr Editors note: The vacancy of Supervisor of Total Energy has been filled and no applications will be required.

Mt. Hope

A Twelfth Night service for the Mt. Santa Grove Parish will be held at this place next Sunday evening at 7:30. Each family is asked to bring their discarded Christmas tree and the tree burning will be held in the corn field just south of the church.

The WSCS meeting scheduled to be held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Van Meter this week, has been postponed to Wednesday evening Jan. 10, due to illness in the home.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mathias of Bloomington, Ill., were luncheon guests in the Guy Davis home Saturday. They moved here for the funeral service of Mr. Mathias uncle, Ora Marsh, which was held at the Burton Church with burial at Rochester Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Davis entertained at a luncheon party Saturday evening, Dec. 23 honoring the 25th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Don Davis and the 15th anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Winn. The actual anniversary date for Mr. and Mrs. Davis is Jan. 23. A jolly good time was enjoyed when old snapshot pictures which included the wedding pictures of each couple was projected on the screen. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Don Davis, Kent and Diane; Mr. and Mrs. Ned Davis of West Lafayette; Charles Taylor of Fort Dix, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Winn and family; Mr. and Mrs. Whitney Kline; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Davis Linda and Kathy of Grove City, Ohio; and Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Davis, Paul and Eldonna. A family dinner and gift exchange was enjoyed on Sunday in the Guy Davis home.

Local friends received a Christmas letter from Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Cavander of Fort Wayne which said that a 9 lb. 6 oz. baby boy had been born to them July 28 and that he was named Rodney Wayne. Besides their two older daughters, Phyllis and Elaine, the Cavanders now have three little boys, Allen age 4; Lawrence age 2; and now little Rodney.

Mrs. Peterson complained to her doctor that her bill was too high.

"Don't forget," the doctor reminded her "that I made 11 visits to Johnny when he had the Johnny when he had the measles."

"And don't you forget," she replied, "that Johnny made you a lot of money by giving the measles to the whole fourth grade."

Dr. Ernest Norris Now Retired

Dr. Ernest Norris of Eastmore has announced that he has retired from the practice of medicine as of the first of the year. Dr. Norris, who has been a physician for 37½ years, graduated from Indiana University in 1930. He came to Culver in 1956 from Middlebury, Indiana on a semi-retired basis.

He firmly believes that everyone should develop not one, but a number of interests to carry in his retirement years. Dr. Norris says, "I intend to get a kick out of my retirement years." With this thought in mind he has for some years been active in the Indiana Recording Club, whose membership numbers around 380 people from all over the United States. Tape recording as Dr. Norris uses it, is an occupation that can be carried in advancing years by almost anyone. While he does correspond by tape with people in all walks of life, he especially enjoys recording with the blind. He has found that although talking books are available to these sightless persons they are far more interested in hearing from everyday people and learning of their activities, families, hopes, and frustrations.

His communications with 25 persons in this country and a few in England, New Zealand and Scotland and has even learned to write in braille in order to label his tapes for them. He and Mrs. Norris share other hobbies such as bird-watching and photography and these sometimes overlap since they have a collection of bird slides and recorded calls of each bird. They are planning a trip to northern Arizona this spring to an area that is well-known to bird watchers as a favorite resting place for migratory birds during North from Mexico. Dr. Norris will take his portable tape recorder so that he may describe the beauty of the desert and the sounds of the wildlife for his friends.

He and his wife, Mary Lois, of course, continue to live in the home they now occupy. This home has several cottages that are rented during the summer season, and is part of the farm purchased by his grandfather in 1900.

History is another of this interesting man's hobbies and he has preserved and had published many of his ancestors' letters. Dr. Norris gave a speech a year ago to the Elkhart Lions Club concerning his tape recording hobby and especially trying to interest more people in helping to brighten the lives of the blind. In his talk he used a quotation by Oliver Goldsmith that we think pertains to the doctor himself; "The greatest object in the universe is a good man struggling with an adversity; yet there is a still greater which is the good man that comes to relieve it."

If anyone is interested in the Recording Club, taping with the blind or overseas veterans, Dr. Norris will be happy to give them additional information.

You Are In The Battle Too!

The human being is a funny person. They don't like to be told what to do . . . they don't like to admit to wrongs . . . they almost accept a challenge in a situation where they are restricted in their actions.

Tell a person he is wrong and watch. Maybe it wouldn't be right then, but they resent this to the extent of almost anger. Give them a challenge by saying they can't do something and automatically they set out to prove they can. This drive in a person can be seen in many ways.

The new year of 1968 is here. With it, we get a clean start in many fashions even though life continues day-to-day as always. Many things start over. We make resolutions to try and correct faults . . . knowing darn well that many will not be kept for a matter of more than days.

This is all and good in many respects. Many a resolution for the new year has one objective that many other sources fall in, that being getting you to admit that you are subject to habits which possible aren't the best for you or for others. But whether you realize it or not, you have admitted to a fault whether it be big or small. You have told yourself you know better, but when correcting this is turned over to will power, you start to slip again.

This occurs in many different ways. The most common is habits most people have . . . eating too much . . . smoking, either moderately or to excess . . . maybe it's a small problem with drinking . . . it could be bad habits formed at home that you know are inconveniencing to others . . . it could be different habits you formed that hinder your work or recreation. Whatever it is, you have admitted them and for a short while are aware of your shortcomings.

One of the worst of these affects not only you, but your family and many other people. This is bad habits formed in driving. Maybe it means little to you, but the facts and figures bear this out. No one likes to be told they are a bad driver, in fact, this probably as good a way to start an argument as there is. Maybe you are accused of excessive speed . . . driving too fast for road conditions . . . following a car too closely . . . disregarding a stop sign at this corner because you know you can make an intersection . . . or any number of other things.

In 1967 there were many people who just made a mistake that might have made a thousand times before . . . but this once was the one that made the difference. Figures, which will be corrected or added to slightly as time goes by, shows a death rate for Indiana in 1967 as approximately 1550. This is a lot of people. We can name towns in our immediate vicinity that this would include every person if fate would so desire. Add to this, the hundreds of thousands that suffered bodily injury or property damage in 1967 just due to that simple little mistake that for this one time resulted in an accident.

It is easy to form bad habits in driving. It is hard to correct them once they are made and something that many people will never admit or correct. Driving is a full time job when you are exercising this privilege. The closer you can come to giving this job 100 per cent effort, the closer you can come to avoiding an accident that may take a life or cause serious injury to someone. It might be property damage, but you feel the pinch after you report this to an insurance company.

Increase these figures for Indiana to a national basis and you have a terrific figure. Over 50,000 annually are being killed in a war that we don't even recognize . . . the war on our highways. Project this into the injury department or the property damage and the figures are staggering.

If you ever have admitted a fault of your own, this is a good place to start and continue to pay attention to this fact. It would be nice again if the highways of our land could take on the beautiful aspect of peace and safety again instead of the blood red color of red smeared with white crosses and black tire streaks . . . many which ended very abruptly against something else. Winning this war is as much your job and mine as anyone's and we are all evil war mongers when we do not abide by the rules of the road and common sense.

Fifteen Scouts and five adult leaders of Troop 190 traveled to Camp Tamarack near Jones, Mich. last week end. The scouts had to keep fore burning in the fireplace at all times as it was the only means of heat.

All the boys had a great time sledding and tobogganning on the hills. They also did some skating in Wood Lake.

The four patrols took turns preparing the meals and serving on clean-up details. At a camp fire program in the evening the scouts were treated to a cracker barrel.

In the true spirit of scouting, by mixing work and play, all scouts had a fine winter outing experience.

Prayer

"Pray at all times in the spirit, with all prayer and supplication. To that end keep alert with all perseverance, making supplication for all the saints."

—Ephesians 6:18

Do not believe that God is dead. Without God, you cannot justify the wonders of the universe. In birth, in life, and in death, God is always near.

Pray, not because you have a specific need, but because God is there. Pray in thanksgiving, as well as in supplication. Persist in prayer. Open your heart to God's ever-presence.

Remember God, every moment of your waking days, and you will know that God is with you in every way.

USDA Helps You Choose Eggs By Grade And Size

It's often not true that the bigger the egg the better... if you think that size alone is the determining factor. Size has nothing to do with the quality of an egg, for size and quality are not related. Large or small eggs may be either high or low in quality.

That's why grading experts of the U.S. Departments of Agriculture Consumer and Marketing Service grade eggs for quality, and check them for size. Officially graded cartons of eggs carry the USDA shield, which indicates both grade (quality) and size.

Size is based on a minimum weight per dozen of eggs. The sizes consumers find most frequently are Extra Large (27 oz.), Large (24 oz.) and Medium (21 oz.). Sizes seen less often are Jumbo (30 oz.), Small (18 oz.), and Peewee (15 oz.).

USDA consumer grades for egg quality are U.S. Grade AA (or Fresh Fancy), A and B. The higher quality eggs, AA and A, when broken out have a round, firm yolk and a high, thick white. These eggs are good for all purposes, especially for frying or poaching where appearance is important. Quality B eggs may have a slightly flattened yolk and a small amount of thick white. These eggs are suitable for general cooking and baking purposes.

Let the USDA grade mark on cartons (or on the tape which seals the carton) help you choose the size and quality eggs you want. Remember, not all eggs are Federally graded because grading is a voluntary, not compulsory, program of the Consumer and Marketing Service. Handlers and processors must request and pay for this grading service if they wish to use it.

Brunch With A French Flair

Add a touch of France to your next brunch with Quiche (pronounced "keesch") Lorraine, a French inspired, open-faced, main-dish pie.

The classic French recipe for Quiche Lorraine called for a round shell of puff or pastry filled with eggs, cream and bacon or smoked ham bits.

The variation of Quiche Lorraine suggested below provides a zesty balance of sausage or bacon, cheese and eggs accented with onion and nutmeg. The ingredients can be quickly processed with the aid of an electric blender.

QUICHE LORRAINE

- | | |
|---|---|
| 1 lb. pork sausage meat, crisply fried and crumbled, or | 1/2 lb. Swiss cheese, cubed |
| 3/4 lb. sliced bacon crisply fried and crumbled | 1 tablespoon flour |
| 1 medium onion, cut in eighths | 4 eggs |
| 2 tablespoons meat drippings | 1-1/2 cups light cream or evaporated milk |
| | 1/2 teaspoon salt |
| | 1/4 teaspoon pepper |
| | 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg |

Heat oven to 375°. Set aside 1/4 cup of crumbled sausage or bacon. Sprinkle remainder in pie shell. Put onion into Osterizer blender container, cover with water and turn control to Hi (Chop) and Off two or three times to coarsely chop onion. Drain well and saute in meat drippings until transparent. Put 1/2 cup of cheese cubes into blender container, cover and process at Hi (Grate) until finely grated. Empty into mixing bowl and repeat process until all cheese is grated. Sprinkle flour over cheese and toss well. Cover meat with cheese. Put remaining ingredients into blender container, cover and process at Lo (Whip) until thoroughly blended. Pour over cheese, sprinkle reserved meat on top and bake 35-45 minutes, or until silver knife inserted near center comes out clean. Yield: 4-6 servings.

SPACECRAFT STILL NEED HUMAN PILOT

MAN's reliability, versatility and ingenuity make him impossible to replace on board both aircraft and spacecraft in the foreseeable future, reports Robert G. Loewy, director of the University of Rochester Space Science Center. He says that "man's reliability is worth the price of providing a habitable compartment with its life support system, instruments and manual controls, in preference to the alternative cost of increased communications and computing, and automatic, sensing, switching, and duplication required to obtain an equivalent level of reliability."

RECONDENSING carbon dioxide before it is used provides a constant supply of saturated and subcooled liquid at the point of application, reports Cardox, Chicago. Pressure in a bulk storage tank fills the recondensing system's receiving unit with both gaseous and liquid carbon dioxide, dropping the pressure in the receiver and drawing liquid carbon dioxide into it from the higher pressure storage tank. At the same time, the liquid carbon dioxide is subcooled by a thermostatic balancing control.

BY SPOILING FOOD, common bacteria probably have saved many people from food poisoning. The reason for this apparent incongruity, a University of Wisconsin bacteriologist may inhibit the growth of other, more toxic organisms.

A CORNELL UNIVERSITY sociologist says he has evolved a way "to plug" the "brain drain" by converting human behavior patterns into mathematical terms and feeding them into a computer. He says his method will help government and academic planners predict the migration habits of scientists and technicians. By knowing this in advance, planners can take steps to keep their scientists and technicians from moving to other positions.

IF PSYCHIATRISTS are right, the emphasis in the word "asthma" should be on "ma." They say that mothers are a primary cause of childhood asthma. Something in the mother's personality sets off the child's dark, hidden fears and anxieties, reports the American Medical Association. This in turn produces allergic reactions in the child which constrict the bronchial tubes and make breathing difficult or even painful.

HOLLOW HAIRS in its waterproof coat provide the reindeer with a veritable life jacket. The hairs are filled with air and help keep the reindeer buoyant. It is one of the best of hoofed swimmers.

COOL-HEADED COWS GIVE MORE MILK

COOL-HEADED COWS give more milk, the United States Department of Agriculture reports. In tests, cows gave 15 to 20 per cent more milk when their heads were held in enclosures cooled to 60 degrees than when they were housed in an 85-degree barn. Reduced cost is the main reason for cooling only cows' heads and necks to reduce milk production losses in hot weather. Most dairymen hesitate to air condition their barns of high installation, operating and maintenance costs.

STORING FRESH WATER by

"injecting" it through wells into subsurface rocks is being tested by hydrologists of the Geological Survey, Department of the Interior and the city of Norfolk, Va. If successful, the method of underground water storage may have far-reaching applications in many coastal areas where surface storage is difficult or expensive. Hydrologists admit that experiments involving techniques for storing fresh water underground are not new. This test, however, will be the first time that large amounts of water will have been involved. Researchers hope that hundreds of millions of gallons of fresh water will be stored underground and held "in reserve" for several years.

CHROME PIGMENTS are now being manufactured in Huntington, W.Va., adding to the list of colors produced in the Ohio River town. The Holland-Suco Color Company, which has a plant in Huntington, has begun production of primrose chrome yellow and soon will be producing a full range of chrome pigments. The chrome operation has been moved from Brooklyn, N.Y.

AN OPTICAL OBSERVATORY costing $575,000 will be built by the University of Michigan at Peach Mountain, 15 miles northwest of Ann Arbor. Its 48-inch telescope will provide more observation opportunities, and, like the present telescope on the central campus, will be designed for stellar observations, specifically the measurement of the stars. The telescope will be equipped with a special spectrograph and photoelectric cells to translate light waves of stars into electrical impulses for computer analysis. Equipment for taking conventional photographs will also be built in.

GENERAL AVIATION is on the increase, according to the Federal Aviation Administration. Non-airline pilots last year flew 104,706 airplanes a record 3.3 billion miles in 21 million hours. They consumed 512 million gallons of gasoline and jet fuel.

Questions On Selective Service

Set out below, according to Colonel Robert K. Custer, State Director of the Indiana Selective Service System, are questions most frequently asked of the Selective Service System along with appropriate answers.

Question: My classification of I-A has now gone forward on appeal. Can I be ordered to report for induction before the Appeal acts on my case?

Answer: No. An Order to Report for Induction will not be issued either during the period afforded a registrant to take an appeal or during the period an appeal is pending.

Question: What is the minimum time I have after I receive my "Order to Report for Induction" before I must report?

Answer: Selective Service regulations provide that the date specified for reporting for induction shall be at least 10 days after the date on which the Order to Report for Induction (SSS Form 252) is mailed to the registrant by his local board.

Question: Can an Order to Report for Induction ever be postponed by my local board, and if so, for what reasons?

Answer: The local board may postpone an Order to Report for Induction in case of the death of a member of the registrant's immediate family, serious illness of the registrant or other extreme emergency beyond the registrant's control.

Fruit-Flavored Duo Of Frozen Desserts

Lemon Velvet and Frozen Tutti-Frutti, both made with PET Evaporated Milk, whipped so it triples in volume, are temptingly cool and tangy. They are quick and easy treasures for livening the dessert scene at your house.

Slow Moving Vehicles Require Emblem In State

Indiana State Police Superintendent Robert A. O'Neal today issued a reminder that on January 1, 1968 a new traffic law affecting the operation of slow moving vehicles will become effective.

The law, will apply only to vehicles which do not, under ordinary circumstances, travel on the highways in excess of 25 miles per hour, requires the display of a triangular slow moving vehicle emblem visible from the rear. The emblem must be mounted as near as is practicable to the center of the rear of the vehicle at an approximate height of from 3 to 5 feet from the ground. In addition to the slow moving vehicle emblem, all vehicles which do not ordinarily travel in excess of 25 miles per hour must display a red or amber flashing light showing to the rear when using the highways at night. This flashing light is to be mounted as low as practicable but not higher than 8 feet from ground level. Double-faced flashing lamps are permissible provided they display only amber to the front.

Standards and specifications for the design, materials and mounting of the slow moving vehicle emblem are to be published by the Office of Traffic Safety after January 1, 1968. "Floyd Kline, Sr., Director of the Office of Traffic Safety, has assured us that any emblem S.A.E. or A.S.A.E. approval will qualify under the new specification," O'Neal stated.

"As our highways become increasingly more crowded, laws such as this one become an absolute necessity," he said. "We hope that the motoring public will become acquainted with the hazard that the slow moving vehicle emblem and the flashing light represents and adjust their driving habits accordingly."

"Slow Poke" Drivers Target Of New Law

"Slow poke" drivers on Indiana highways will be receiving special attention as the result of action by the 1967 General Assembly. The past Legislature enacted a requirement that slow drivers must pull over to allow faster moving traffic to pass, according to Albert E. Huber, executive director of the Indiana

Traffic Safety Council. The new law, now in effect, requires that a person shall not drive at such a slow speed as to impede or block the normal movement of traffic, except when reduced speed is necessary for safety in compliance with the law.

Any driver who is driving such a slow speed that three or more vehicles are blocked and cannot pass, shall give the right of way at the earliest opportunity to allow the blocked vehicles to pass.

A person convicted of violating the new law may be assessed up to $100 in fines and 10 days in jail for the first offense and a considerably heavier penalty for second and third convictions for the same offense.

"You are considered a 'slow poke' driver when you cause a line of traffic to build up behind you mile after mile," Huber stated, "and such drivers often create very hazardous conditions. Regular use of your rearview mirror is the best way to determine when you are traveling too slow for the other traffic."

The State Safety Council stated that strict enforcement of the new law will assist in reducing the number of accidents that occur when other drivers become impatient and take foolish chances in passing a slow driver. The council also feels that adherence to the new law will help reduce traffic congestion caused when long lines of traffic build up behind slow moving vehicles.
