Band Students To Have Annual

This year the Culver High School Band students will undertake the selling of magazines in an effort to raise money for band uniforms.

Charles Byfield, band director, has set a tentative date of Sept. 13 for the young musicians to sart their sales. The drive will last two weeks and the students hope to add substanually to the uniform fund.

They will offer a great variety of magazines, renewals as well as new subscriptions. The Reader's Digest has been added to their list and the Culver Citizen will again be offered. This plan has the approval of the school and the Band Parents Organization. If you have any magazines you wish to :enew, please wait for one of the students to call at your home.

Band uniforms are never purchased with school funds so it is necessary for the members to riase the money themselves.

Mr. Byfield would also like to express his thanks to the community for the cooperation received during the Old Fashioned Days Festival.

Winners of the U.S. Savings Bonds at that time were: $100.00 bond - Carol Overmyer; $50.00 bond - Keith Thomas; $25.00 bond Richard Bush. Mr. Bush donated his bond to the uniform fund.

Steve Kelly Beats The Heat

Since the weather is not exactly of the comfortable nature, perhaps we should all try to beat the heat the way Steven Kelly chose to do.

Steve, 17 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Kelly of Culver, swam the length o' Lake Maxinkuckee from the Culver Beach Lodge to the Culver Boat Company on Wednesday, the 14th of August. According to local authorities, this is approximately 2% miles. The swim took just two hours and three minutes.

Steve is the senior life guard at the Culver Town Park, so inexperienced swimmers that wish to try this way of getting cool are recommended to take along their water wings.

CULVER TOWN BOARD NEWS

Due to a lack of impending problems, the public Town Board meeting was of short duration.

In clearing up old business the board reported that the place-ment of the sidewalk to the new school had been agreed upon to the satisfaction of all parties involved. The matter of stop signs at the post office corner is still being investigated by he board. The board signed the dedcation of the streets in the newly annexed Houghton addition to the town.

Ver] McFeely reminded the board that no provisions had been made for a light to be placed on the top of the new water tower or for painting the name of the town on it. The board will look into this and provide for said light and lettering.

Mr. McFeely also reported that a new unit had been placed in the sewage lift-pump and asked the board for permission to buy bearings and a shaft to repair the old unit so that it might be used as a standby in case of future trouble. The board so approved.

Sue Mattox asked approval to experiment with aluminum sulphate (alum) in an e fort to improve the efficency of the sewage plant. The addition of large amounts of the alum will hold down the sludge and cut down the organic matter that has been turned out after processing, Mrs. Mattox, who has been studying the problem at great length, feels that this is the least expensive method and feels that since it has been successful in other areas, it is worth trying here. She added that the alum itself will not be harmful to streams. Board member, Esther Powers, recommended that the plan be tried on a trail basis.

Post, and was a former member of the Second Presbyterian Church in Indianapolis.

His wife, Ethel Bender Hippensteel, preceded him in death in 1956. In 1961 he married Faith Engle, widow of Dr. David Engle of Tucson, Arizona. Private funeral funeral services will be held at the Shirley Funeral Home at 10 a.m. on Thursday, August 22 with Father Ross, chaplain of the Indiana University Base Hospital No. 32, officiating.

Any remembrances may be made to the donor's favorite charity or to The Indiana University Medical School Foundation, a fund for needy medical students.

That is the competition of young boys representing their respective schools in inter-school competition.

EVERYONE LIKES TO SEE a winner. But winning at the high school level is second to the other aspects of the game. Fans are important in high school as a good turnout of fans gives all the athletes something extra to strive for in their competition. Whether it be the schoolmat: that sit in the cheering section or the parents of those competing, the alumni or just interested people who like to watch good. clean athletic events, they all add something to the game.

WINNING WILL NEVER take the place of good clean competition on the field of play. In college there is a much greater commercial aspect to the game. The recruiting practices make these participants almost professionals. In the professional ranks it is a job Sooner or later, that day comes, the day when a woman feels she's changing. It's not a good feeling either. And she could use a good old-fashioned medicine then.

.... either produce or you look for something else. In high school it is different. A win over a rival school means more than almost anything to a boy whether he is a first string haltback or a reserve on the bask-thall team. A team win is something that the athletes and fans alike share in the enjoyment of, and yet if victory eludes that team on that particular night, the knowledge of giving your best in the effort of play makes it all worthwhile.

TRUE FANS BACK A TEAM. Many back a winner. Those who wouldn't spend the time to go to a game when a team is losing, doesn't rate the title of being called a fan. Jumping on the bandwagon one year for a winner and off the next when the team is losing, dosn't show much respect for the fan can add a lot to the school spirit and also to performance of the teams. Plan to be a fan of your school this year.

the street or road; the driver cannot be held responsible unless there is proof that the accident was intentional.

If you do hit an animal, first, find out if it is dead. If so, try to locate the owner or notify the owner or notify the law enforcement agency. Leaving an animal on the highway is a safety hazard; a collision could occur when another car swerves to avoid the animal.

Prompt medical treatment often can save an animal's life. The best way you can help an injured annual is to take it to a veterinarian immediately. If you can't do this yourself, call a law enforcement officer to help you.

Animals often bite when in pain. So, be sure to muzzle the injured animal if you intend to pick it up. Simplest way to apply a muzzle is to put a soft rope or cloth on the bridge of the chin, and tie the rope behind the animal's nose, cross it under the cars. Then, take the injured animal to the nearest animal hospital or veterinarian.

In some states, a person failing to offer aid to an animal injured by himself or an unknown person is guilty of a misdereanor. Although this is not the case in Indiana, it is something to remember if you are driving in other states this summer.

The letters from these domestic snipers, unsigned of course, have sparked a reaction from Mrs. Reeves that has been applauded by people all over the country; some letters of encouragement have arrived at Reeves' household from the other mothers of Vietnam war casualties. One of the sniper letters enclosed a pamphlet which bore "Which Would You the title, Rather Have, A Live Son Or A Dead Hero?"

Mrs. Reeves answered clearly -she would rather see her soldier son dead than a member of any of the anti-war groups which have been taunting her through the mails.

One of the most successful of the many social functions in the chronicles Schools SHITIMET was the barn dance given by Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Culver to the cadets of the institution on Saturday and Monday nights, under the chaperonage of the faculty.

A young steamboat, six feet in length, that sails boldly out into the Lake by its own power has been one of the amusements of the Lake View guest this month. It was built and the engine installed by Sam Lambert, 14. wother of A. W. Lamber, C.M.A. 105.

usual for this time of year. streets and the lake. But, then, you've heard all this before.

Nothing new ever seems to happen. You take the El Rancho Theatre for example. Everytime we have a godly amount of precipitation you can see Evert Hoesel out at the curb, wading through the gushing water trying to unplug the outlet. 'People who hate changes get a feeling of security just watching this fight against the elements that Mr. Hoesel has been waging for years and years and years

It's a cinch that this will probably continue for many more years so don't plan to tell your grandchildeen about the good old days when you had to remove your shoes to get to your car. The grandchildren will probably be doing the same thing. This time there was one added attraction, no one could park accoss the street from the theatre due to a little excavating work that has been going on. The street. is already forn up - couldn't they put in a pipe or tile or add another manhole or something? Oh well! the wheels of government turn slowly. Almost to a standstill you might say.

Something new IS going on in Culver and I'm most curious. Increasing numbers of citizens are to be seen vigorously sweeping the streets in front of their homes and businesses. Is this a new form of exercise or are they simply trying to get rid of the dirt. In short, is it too much waste or too much waist?

POLITICS IN THE NUDE-It is with great anticipation that we await the outcome of the Nudists of America's political convention. One can almost guess what their platform will be. 1. Everyone will have the right to bare arms. 2. The federal government must be stripped of its overwhelming powers. 3. Complete exposure of the Ku Klux Klan, 4. The American public will be given all the naked facts. This will presumably be called the Nude Drul. Suggested slogan - Vote for our candidate, "He isn't hiding anything!" You prepared will be governed serviced They this convention on T.V. don't want any coverage although undoubtedly we will be seeing more of their candidate than the Post.

You've heard of tennis etbow? Ask Ron Tusing about his box elbow.

One of my more ardent critics has stated that this column has about as much importance as a gnat on an elephant's posterior. So I'm a gnat - now just who does he have in mind for the other part?

Danish Boy Attends Culver Woodcraft Camp

There's a new accent among the broad, Midwestern drawls at Cuiver's Woodcraft Camp. It belongs to a Danish boy, Leif Thomsen, 15, who was given a trip to the United States and a chance to attend an American camp.

Leif, is at Culver under the sponsorship of Mr. and Mrs. Niels Nielsen of Danville, Ill., whose son, Peter, is a Woodcrafter.

The Nielsens met Leif only two months ago while visiting his village of Skagen, Denmark. There they learned that his father had died five years earlier,

Jannie May 0000000 always fresh. 680068 KITCHEN FRESH CULVER CANDY

leaving his widow to support Leif on a small pension,

The Nielsens found an intelligent and alert youngster and sought to bring him to the United States for the summer. Through the co-operation of Culver Woodcraft directors, Scandinavian Airlines and the American Embassy in Copenhag2n, they were able to do so.

At Culver, Lief has been under the wing of Maj. Steven M. Dick-haus, director of the Woodcraft Scouting program. Dickhaus has been assisting Leif in adjusting to a new country and a new language. When Leif arrived in U.S. July 4, he knew little the English but his vocabulary has now increased to include words like root beer, hot dogs, and "Bonnie and Clyde."

His first few days at Culver were different because of this language barrier, but, as he learns more American-ese, he is able to participate more fully in Culver's activities.

Leif is considered a special student because he lives with Maj. Dickhaus and the Scouting staff, instead of the younger Woodcrafters. But the campers have made Leif feel very much at home. He has participated in many of the camp's programs, and his favorites include spellings, soccer and Indian dancing.

Denmark has few camps and even fewer overnight camps, so this has been Leif's first opportunity to live away from home.

Leif's future plans are indefinite, but the Nielsens are hoping to enroll Leif as a fulltime foreign student in the Danville (Ill.) High School. To complete the picture, the Nielsens are searching for a Danville familiy with a 15-year-old son so that both Leif and the host family will further benefit from the experiment.

Science Museum And Laboratory At Woodcraft Camp

Natural science students returned to the Culver Woodcraft Camp this summer to find a twostory science museum and laboratory furnished and ready for use.

Every Woodcrafter, aged 91/2 to 13½, must enroll in nature studies, but, until this summer, the base for their studies has been a small log cabin.

The 70 by 32-foot museum was built during the winter to house the camp's collections of artifacts, fossils, preserved animals, butterflies, Indian crafs and a new laboratory with a capacity for 48 young scientists.

Built into the side of a hill in the center of the camp, the $118,000 A-frame was constructed and furnished by eight donors,

The Spencer T. and Ann W. Olin Foundation of St. Louis, Mo., gave the display cases and laboratory equipment, and their son, S. Truman, a 1942 Summer graduate, also contributed.

The museum was built with gifts from three other summer Schools alumni, R. Norman Baxter, Robert G. Friedman and Peirce Ward; William Griffiths, a Culver father; Ralph L. Smith, an advisory director of the Culver Educational Foundation; and the Monarch Motor Co, of Indianapolis.

The next stage of Culver's Woodcraft construction program includes plans for an arts and crafts and Indian crafts building, 12 open-air classrooms and an amphitheater. Construction will begin as soon as funds are available.

Registration for Culver Military Academy's first alumni family camp, Aug. 18 through Aug. 25, has exceeded early estimates, and 180 alumni and their families from 11 states will return to see Culver and use its faclities.

Now Possible To Shrink Hemorrhoids

And Promptly Stop Itching, Relieve Pain In Most Cases.

Science has found a medication with the ability, in most cases-to relieve pain, itching and shrink hemorrhoids. In case after case doctors proved, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction took place. The secret is Preparation soothes irrit hata sues and helps prevent further infection. Just ask for Preparation H Ointment or Suppositories.

An outgrowth of last year's Black Troop Reunion at the close of the Culver Summer Schools, the idea developed to permit more alumni to reacquaint themselves with Culver after Summer Schools commencement, Aug. 17.

Regular Summer Schools staff members will assist in activities but alumni' will be able to plan their own schedules from the offerings.

Facilities will be open for golf, tennis, swimming, sailing and riding, and instruction will be offered in water skiing, Scuba diving and computer math. A special program of activities is being planned for the children.

Families will be housed in individual Woodcraft Camp cabins, and unmarried alumni will stay in cabins, grouped by classes.

John L. Babcock, a Culver alumnus and faculty member, will direct the alumni family camp.
