Types Of Pinball Machines Now Ruled Illegal

Acting Superintendent Arthur R. Raney, Jr., of the Indiana State Police announced today that in accordance with Official Opinion No. 32 of Attorney General John J. Dillon, all pinball machines which contain a free game indicator will be considered as gambling devices.

"The real point at issue", Raney said, "was whether or not the free-game indicator contained on many pinball machines is a 'recorder', as that term is used in the law. The Indiana Statute outlaws pinball machines which award anything other than an immediate and 'unrecorded' right to 'replay.'"

Attorney General Dillon's opinion further indicated that if the free-game indicator or recording meter is removed or "truly made inoperable so that free games cannot be actually recorded", the pinball machine would not be unlawful. But the Opinion also stated that attempts to camouflage the meter so that it would no longer be visible to the player, while still recording free games won, would not render the machine legal.

Acting Superintendent Raney indicated that copies of the Official Opinion would be forwarded to Chiefs of Police, Sheriffs and Town Marshals, who have the same jurisdiction as State Police to enforce the gambling laws of the state.

"Any person possessing a pinball machine with a free-game indicator is subject to arrest for the possession of a gambling device," Raney said, "and such a pinball machine may be seized and destroyed as contraband, subject to court order."

Travelers should have worldwide insurance against thefts, advises the Allstate Motor Club. Modern policies protect against loss while away, as well as at home. I know from personal experience how important such coverage is, since Son No. 1 had a valuable camera taken from his car on a visit to Mexico City, and Son No. 2 lost two expensive cameras in San Francisco.

On The Right Tack

by Evelyn Stofer

The annual Maxinkuckee Yacht Club awards banquet was held Sunday evening at the Culver Inn, and was an enjoyable climax to an excellent season of racing. Commodore Rupert Esser should be proud of his successful term of office as the 1968 racing season was a good racing season as can be remembered.

After a delicious dinner, the Junior Fleet advisor, Rupert Esser, made the presentation of the Sailfish and Skylark awards. Joe Schaub was awarded the season's championship for his performance in the Sailfish and Diane Thomas was awarded the runner up trophy. A newcomer to Skylark racing, Steve Muehlhausen was presented with the season's championship trophy which was an outstanding accomplishment for a new sailor. Jeff Michels finished second in the season's standing for the runner-up trophy.

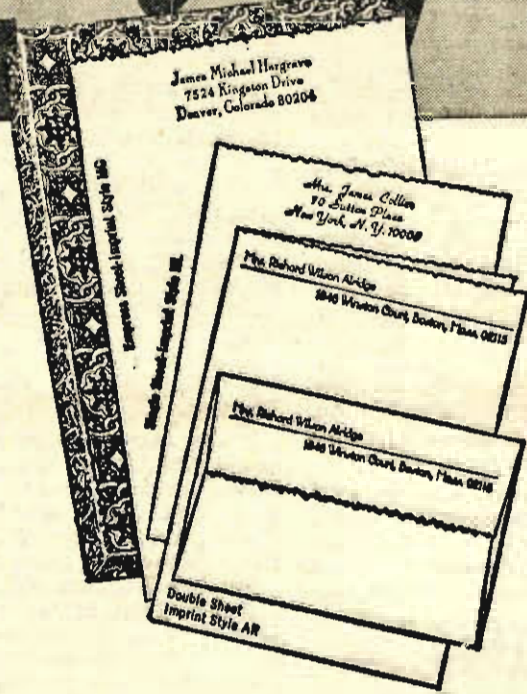

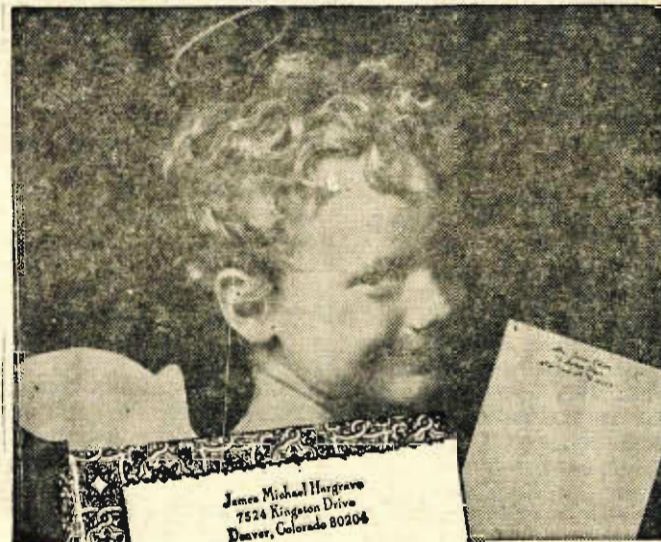

Awards were then made to the senior fleet for their season's efforts. Bruce Moore was awarded the season's championship for his efforts in the Sunday's series. Bill Furry was given the trophy for runner up. The Saturday series championship went to Charles Roth and David Moore received the runner-up trophy. Special awards were given to Bill Furry, winning the Ford Memorial Trophy, Bruce Moore, the Hendrix Memorial Trophy, Bob Hollowell, the Bliss Memorial Trophy, David Moore, the Roth Trophy, and Fritz Muehlhausen, the Gates Sportsmanship Trophy. Awards were also presented to Bruce Moore for winning the Moonlight Races. The Best Girl Crew award went to Susie Furry for her efforts in Folly V while Best Boy Crew went to Phil Frington for his contribution to the winning ways of Cricket. Trophies were also presented to Ceci Hollowell, Joe Lysell and Don Spear for their winning scores in the Golf Tournament.

After the presentation of a large table full of beautiful trophies, the nominating committee made its report and a careful deliberation presented the following slate of officers for general approval: Robert Hollowell, Sr. Commodore Emeritus; Charles Roth, Commodore; Robert Bolton, Vice-Commodore; Peter Trone, Rear Commodore, and Alan Becker, Secretary-Treasurer. These officers will take the reins of the Yacht Club and read it through another successful season.

This week end saw the National Regatta for Skylarks held here at Lake Maxinkuckee. Boats from as far away as New Jersey competed and we can be proud of the showing made by members of our Junior Fleet. Members of the Junior Fleet came within a hair's breath of winning this regatta and among the first six places there were four Maxinkuckee Juniors. This is an excellent record and all of us can be proud of our Juniors and their leaders who made this fine showing possible.

The race is on! Both major parties have now had their political conventions and selected their candidates and after viewing a considerable amount of the two functions, a thought creeps into our mind concerning the actions and displays of people such as this that are to decide the important subject of who will run for president.

Much more entered in other than the actions of the delegates and convention officials that almost makes us wonder what we are really coming to in this "great" country of ours.

To begin with, the supposedly nature adults that were at these two conventions were something else. The Republican convention was marked most with mockery as demonstrations and speeches wasted time like you couldn't imagine. Whether the fact that TV cameras are all over the place has anything to do with it or not isn't known, but this was classified as probably the most boring thing to hit television since the test patterns.

At the more recent Democratic convention, action went the other way. Between the excitement at the convention, and the trouble outside and downtown Chicago, it is only to be said that this definitely wasn't dull. Riots, marches, charges of police brutality and so forth sprung from the demonstrations that injured hundreds and put some gory scenes on TV for the people to witness at one time or another during the four day coverage.

The actions of the delegates at this convention put some spice into the program for a convention that basically had the candidate chosen before it started. The tremendous efforts to get another candidate rather than Humphrey, proved futile, but interesting to watch. Even the credentials and platform issues were exciting, but nothing to match what was to come later outside of the amphitheatre with the Hippies, Xippies or just plain nuts.

It is known that the trouble was stirred up by others than the youthful demonstrators that were seen on the tube. Strong accusations were delivered that declared that communists were behind the anti Vietnam demonstrations that found police freely using their clubs and weapons to stop the demonstrators. This provided the food for thought that came from many about police brutality and so forth.

We, for one, have to stand up and be counted in those who backed mayor Daley. He caused comment all over the nation earlier this year when he stated that he wanted police to shoot to kill arsonists and shoot to maim looters as trouble once again broke out. He also had Chicago fortified for any trouble that could arise during the convention and after one bloody night, it was obvious that the demonstrators knew Chicago meant business at this time. Mayor Daley wasn't going to have any serious problems if he could help it.

Many criticized the man, but if the past two years haven't proven to people that the only way this kind of stuff can be stopped is to show this type of person who is boss, who knows what can stop it. It might have been bad at the time, but stopping such demonstrations before thousands and thousands of dollars worth of property could be destroyed and lives were to be taken, was well worth the action that put a halt to the demonstrations.

The United States of America is at a turning point. In the next months or years, a turn to be made one way or the other. Some where, some time, a little respect is going to have to be shown by this class of people who want everything given them and more. Regardless of race or creed, the white are just as guilty as the black in these situations. Protesting and demonstrating against anything and everything displays a good case of stupidity. If these people aren't happy and satisfied in our land, let them go someplace else. Let them make it on their own for a while instead of giving and giving. They don't seem to accept the government that takes care of them and expenses to another part of the world would be cheaper than them here.

The Democratic convention wasn't the only one with trouble. During the Republican convention in Miami, race trouble stirred up in that city and several were killed not too many miles from their convention center. Whether it be racial or otherwise, feelings are at fever pitch now and serious trouble could develop almost anytime and anywhere.

The next couple of months should be interesting. The race is on and with such comes promises, pleas and statements that can be encouraging or discouraging. At any rate, we know it is Nixon and Humphrey in the main ring with Wallace and who knows how many others waiting to get a crack at it also. The election of 1968 may be one of the most important of all times in the United States and who ever comes out of this one will have to be a strong-willed man who will not only talk about these problems, but strive to the greatest extent of his ability to see that some favorable action follows.

CULVER COMMENTS

This week's lesson will be on mending and patching. Before you start it will be well worth your time to see how it is done by professionals. Just look at the streets of Culver and you will see an example of patching and appliqueing second to none. In fact it reminds me of a little old quiltmaker gone berserk. We shouldn't needle them though — they seem to be doing their best.

Were some of you wondering whether or not you had paid your water bill last week? Without any notice at all the water was turned off at 10:00 p.m. two nights in a row. If this keeps on I suggest you folks plan your bath earlier in the evening or face isolation in a crowd the next day. You also might be wise to keep emergency water ration in the refrigerator. One woman reported that she had to thaw out ice cubes to clean up her husband when he came home from work. Look at the bright side — think of all that money you saved on this months water bill.

While we're on the subject of water, let's talk about our beautiful new water tower. One charming lady in town has suggested that the powers-that-be might purchase some of those large brightly colored flower decals and slap them on the tower. I like the idea — just picture this flower power tower if you will and think of the beauty and fame it would bring to our little town. It's just one more method in our unending search for ways to make Culver a fun city.

One gentleman has suggested that this paper needs more active news coverage. We are grateful for his criticism but would like to explain our problem. It's not that we aren't active — it's that our news is too active. For example: when the attempted bank robbery occurred, the news immediately sent to South Bend; our police news fled to Plymouth; and if the Beach Lodge Robbery is ever solved, Huntley and Brinkley will probably be the first to get that news too.

NOBODY EVER TELLS US DEPT. — The Town Board meeting was not held Monday evening because of Labor Day. A notice to this effect could have conceivably been put in the Citizen but we're always the last to know. Do you suppose someone's trying to tell us something?

School has started! To the teachers and students of the community may I express my sympathy. To the desperate parents who have run out of ways to keep the kids amused, my congratulations.

Can You Draw This Design,
 Without lifting the pencil from the paper, crossing a line, or going over a line twice?

YES, it can be done, but like a great many other tricks it appears very difficult until you know how. To prove that it can be done, take your pencil and start at dot 1 and draw to dot 2, and so on, and the line you make will show you the correct solution.

Voice Of The People

The Cry Is, "Tell Us When The Water Will Be Shut Off."

A local citizen decided to take a survey concerning the water shut-off at 1 p.m. without a public announcement. The biggest remark was "Why can't we be told when the water is going to be turned off?" One hundred per cent agreed on that question. Every person commented that if there wasn't time to put a notice in the paper, at least a public address system could make the announcement around town.

The question asked was: "What do you think of the water being shut off at 10 p.m. without any warning?"

A man remarked, "I was just ready to take a bath and found out the water was shut off." A working mother commented, "I was still washing clothes and had dirty dishes to wash yet. Some of the children were getting ready for bed and all at once... no water."

A local teenager said disgustedly, "I was running water in the bath tub to take a bath and get ready for work in the morning and all at once the water went off. That ended the bath for that night. Then the same thing happened again the next night. Also, my mother was using her washing machine for laundry because she is gone all day working. Was she disgusted!"

A local man got buckets of water from a farm home and heated the water for the family baths.

A frantic mother of a bride trying to scrub floors and get many things washed and ready for a wedding found herself in the same situation... no water. Her family got her some water from an old well so she could heat water and finish scrubbing floors.

PLEASE, just let the public know when the water will be turned off!

Continuing our discussion of sidewalks, one apparent item that should be brought to attention is the lack of a sidewalk in front of many properties.

That sidewalks are a necessity in all towns and cities cannot be denied; although some big city subdivisions are being drawn up without them, I feel that this is a wrong that will have to be corrected. Really the situation that I am speaking of is a street where some property owners have their sidewalks in, while others do not.

College Avenue is an obvious example. A pedestrian can start walking on either end of College on a sidewalk, but before going very far this sidewalk ends abruptly. So said pedestrian crosses the street to the sidewalk on the other side, but then that sidewalk soon runs out. In desperation the walker does the only thing left to do which is to walk in the street, taking his chances with motorized traffic.

This is bad enough for adults, but the real seriousness of the matter is that school children use College in going to and from school. You can find them everywhere on the street and you can't even advise them how much safer they would be on the sidewalk when the sidewalk does not exist.

Of course College Avenue is not the only street where sidewalks are missing, you can find this situation all over town, as well as in other towns.

For those who will cry out against the cost of this property improvement, let it be said; every prospective buyer of town property knows that he is required to meet the cost of specified improvements and sidewalks are the first on the list. Also it can be said that long term loans for this type of improvement are easy to obtain.

But regardless of money costs, the loss of one life or the crippling of one child would be the most costly of all.

Let there be light

No one enjoys stumbling around in the dark... but that's probably the way most of us feel sometimes. The Bible tells of men whose lives were illumined by spiritual light which guided them to higher achievements.

This light of spiritual understanding is still present to enlighten our lives today, to make living a joyous experience.

You are invited to come to this lecture by Edward C. Williams, C.S.B., a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship. Mr. Williams will cite specific instances of the way in which people today are being guided and transformed by God's clear spiritual direction. Admission is free. All are welcome.

"So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them."
 This verse from Genesis is included in the Lesson Sermon to be read this Sunday in Christian Science churches around the world. The subject is "Man". Related passages from the denominational textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, includes the following: "Man understands spiritual existence in proportion as his treasures of Truth and Love and enlarged. Mortals must gravitate Godward, their affections and aims grow spiritual, they must near the broader interpretations of being, and gain some proper sense of the infinite, in order that sin and mortality may be put off."

 "This scientific sense of being, forsaking matter for Spirit, by no means suggests man's absorption into Deity and the loss of his identity, but confers upon man enlarged individually, a wider sphere of thought and action, a more expansion love, a higher and more permanent peace."
 Services at First Church of Christ, Scientist, 628 So. Michigan, Plymouth, begin at 10:30 a. m.

Shape Up Your Muffins With Blueberries

Here we go round the blueberry season, and our advice to muffin makers is to bake them with fresh blueberries for fruitful delights.

Blueberries are in abundant supply during July. Cultivated in North Carolina, New Jersey and Michigan, blueberry harvests are on the increase each year and have reached a current yield of some 35 million pounds.

Take advantage of the fresh blueberry season. If you store the berries in the refrigerator and wash just before using, they'll keep from a week to 10 days.

Our muffins—with blueberries spilling through them—are fun to make and a wholesome treat for the family.

FRESH BLUEBERRY MUFFINS

Wash 1 cup fresh blueberries. Drain on absorbent paper. Sift together 2 cups flour, ¾ cup sugar, 3 teaspoons baking powder and 1 teaspoon salt into a mixing bowl. Beat 1 egg slightly; mix in 1 cup milk and 6 tablespoons salad oil. Make a well in center of dry ingredients; pour in milk mixture. Stir quickly just until dry ingredients are moistened. Quickly stir in blueberries. Turn batter into well-greased 2½-inch muffin cups. (Cups should be ¾ full). Bake in 425°F. oven 25 minutes. Remove muffins from cups while hot. Makes about 14 muffins.

Time To Sow
Grass Seed

Fall is generally considered the best time for starting a new lawn, or improving existing ones, reminds W. H. Daniel, Purdue University turf specialist.

Plant bluegrass varieties in sunny areas. Merion and Windsor are well-adapted to northern Indiana conditions. Delta has performed well in mid-Indiana.

Newport, Park and Common are used as parts of blends. Most companies have blends of bluegrasses already formulated.

Red fescue is often included for shade areas. Ryegrass may be included for quick cover. Most lawns end up being bluegrass. Seed rates of 2-3 pounds per 1,000 square feet are ample.

Where bare spots are larger than your hand, add seed to existing lawns. Consider one pound of seed, one pound of fertilizer mixed with one bushel of soil. Add a handful of this to each bare spot, then scratch with a rake.

Where a 40 per cent stand of good grass exists, consider overseeding at light rates, one pound or less, then scratch thin spot, then hand-water to force all seed against soil. Early fall planting permits the seedling to become well-established before winter.

Fertilization in late August and early September encourages permanent grass recovery from competition, disease and insect damage. One pound actual nitrogen for each 1,000 square feet is standard. Fertilizing twice a year—around Labor Day and about Easter is minimum for good bluegrass. Watering once a week during dry periods should be adequate for most lawns.

Numerous mechanical thinning machines are available for service or rent which permit cutting out excess thatch, old crabgrass and dense turf so that young seedlings and new fall growth have more room. Their use is often combined with overseeding where needed.

Most mischievous youngsters soon learn that soft soap is the best thing to apply when they get a dirty look.
