Charles Groce Is Lauded At Tennessee Tech

The fine services of Charles Groce, former Culver Town Marshal, are benefiting Tennessee Technological University at Cookeville, Tennessee these days.

Groce, who is Tech's director of safety and security, and his staff were recently lauded in the University's newspaper, "The Tennessee Tech Oracle."

A staff of eight work under Groce to maintain a roving patrol of the campus twenty four hours a day. Campus policemen must maintain security at the Business Office, University Center and Cafeteria. They also register vehicles, issue temporary permits, control traffic at school functions such as ball games and commencement exercises and secure various buildings at night.

Groce has established a handbook for personnel of safety and security, which includes general instructions concerning police activities. He is presently visiting other universities in conjunction with an ASB committee to gather ideas that may be implemented at Tech.

Mr. Groce and his wife Helen live in Cookeville, close to the University's campus.

KNOW YOUR INDIANA LAW

(This is a public service article explaining in general terms a provision of Indiana law. Individuals who wish to determine the effect of any law upon their private legal affairs should consult a private attorney.)

"SMALL ESTATES DO NOT NEED PROBATE"

Indiana law provides that small estates can be settled with no court action at all.

To be "small", the value of an estate's assets may not exceed $2,000.00. The assets of an estate consist of assets held by the deceased person in his own right. What this means as a practical matter is that many estates are, by far, "small" estates because assets held by the deceased person during his life, in joint ownership with right of survivorship ownership, are not taken into consideration in determining the size of his estate. Nor is insurance on the deceased person's life (if payable to a named beneficiary and not payable to his estate) taken into consideration in determining the size of his estate.

This law becomes meaningful when you consider that most married people will have their homes and bank accounts in joint ownership that will not be taken into consideration in determining the size of their estates.

Where a deceased person's assets are found to not exceed the limit of a "small" estate, the widow is entitled to the assets, and the law provides that they shall be delivered to her upon receipt of her affidavit showing:

1. That no petition has been filed for the appointment of a personal representative of the estate (an administrator or an executor);

2. That 60 days have passed since the date of the deceased person's death, and

3. That the value of the deceased person's assets does not exceed $2,000.00.

The affidavit must be honored by delivery of property by all of the following named persons:

1. Any person owing money to the deceased person;

2. Any person having custody of any of the deceased person's property, and

3. Any person acting as registrar or transfer agent of any stock or bond or other evidence of a right in property that had belonged to the deceased person.

It must be emphasized that the preparation of the necessary

The colleges and universities of the United States are gaining the headlines day in and day out. Not because of achievements in science . . . not because of awards of grants or intensive studies along any lines . . . not because of the listing of top students whose work has been outstanding . . . not even because maybe an athletic team is outstanding and pulling attention all over the world, but because the students continually are demonstrating, protesting, holding sit-ins and even dictating to the officials what MUST happen.

This recent surge of campus trouble, stemming from ROTC programs, to tuition and from segregation to about anything you can mention, is spreading like a contagious disease. It is in all corners of the land, it is in private schools and state universities. It will soon destroy the opportunity for the many who want to use the colleges and universities as they are planned to be used.

It is about time that the institutions of higher learning grab the bull by the horns and attack this situation. Father Hesberg, of the University of Notre Dame, did just a couple of months ago and things have been quiet on that campus since. He nipped trouble in the bud when it first started and it appears that the situation is under control.

Now some others must follow this pattern. Why a college will put up with a student who is involved in such trouble is not understood, but certainly these trouble makers are hurting the chance for all to achieve their goals at these institutions. To rule with an iron fist would take care of some of this. A stronger policy and the support of the faculty and governing bodies by simply getting rid of this element would get the job done.

Now appears to be the time that this MUST be done. If the situation gets any worse, some of these schools are going to be forced to close down, depriving the high percentage of their opportunities for the ridiculous actions and demands of a radical few. It would seriously hamper the intended efforts of those who really want a college education.

Now is the time something must happen and the support of all is needed to see this approaching tragedy through.

SODBUSTER SEZ . . .

Things have been so busy 'round our place that I thought I'd never get time to set and write this piece. I started my spring plowin' and Elvira started her spring cleanin'. Whenever the bug bites her the dust flies and so do the complaints. Stuff she has lived with for a whole year just don't satisfy her when the leaves and grass turn green.

Saturday burst forth a perfect day for farm work but the ol' gal just had to git to town to spend that egg money. When we got into Culver, first thing she sees is some men bustlin' down the streets clutchin' brooms. "Some men don't mind helpin' with the cleanin'," she hinted. I patiently explained that those were Lions Club members raisin' money for their community projects by sellin' brooms and bulbs.

"Stop the car," she commanded, "I want some bulbs." Next thing I know she has pinned down a Lion and is orderin' several dozen bulbs in various colors. Yep, she thought they was the plantin' kind.

Well, I dropped her off at the hair settin' parlor and as I wondered 'round town waitin' I noticed how the street had been swept and the yaller curb paintin' had been freshened up. A bunch of fellers were gathered 'round the barber shop discussin' the matters of the day. Seems the biggest thing what happened last week concerned somethin' that didn't happen. As far as anyone can tell the town board didn't hold a secret special town board meetin' after the regular one. Folks around here figure this is a sign the town marshal hasn't discovered any more state laws to enforce.

Sunday mornin' started with some confusion. Our son, Clem and his wife Lizzie and their younguns were due for Sunday dinner and then we was all goin' to the big school dedication. I sure got off to a bad start! Elvira had remembered to set the clocks ahead but gettin' up that early was somethin' else again. If I wasn't agin the time system before I sure am now. There's somethin' wrong when a feller has to go out and wake the rooster up.

Elvira couldn't git goin' either so instead of my usual Sunday breakfast of sausage and pancakes I set down to a bowl of cold cereal. I guess it was too early for the cereal because instead of its usual snap, crackle and pop it just laid there.

After dinner we all joined the crowd at the high school and got my first look at where all that property tax money is goin'. gotta admit I was impressed the new school. Kids have got a long way since I was a young'un. Back then it was just a room, one teacher, and one o' house. We would have considered central heating in the outhouse big luxury on some of them mornins'.

The guidance offices are a swanky. In my day the o' guidance counselor we had was hickory switch. That's what guided our legs up the right path.

Almost forgot to mention! Elvira got a police band on when she was in town Saturday. Next week I'll give you all the crime reports.

The TRICK of MAKING WATER RUN UPHILL

TAKE A CANDLE ABOUT THREE INCHES LONG, LIGHT AND PLACE IN A BOWL WHICH HAS TWO INCHES OF WATER IN THE BOTTOM. PRESS A GLASS DOWN OVER THE CANDLE.

Easy Magic

WHEN you have pressed the glass down over the candle, it will burn a little smoke flicker and then go out. Slowly the water will start to rise inside the glass, until it is higher on the inside than it is on the outside. Why did the water do this? Because the candle burned up part of the air inside the glass and the water creeps up in the glass to take the place of the air.

News Tips From The Monterey Public Library

The April story hour was held on Saturday, April 20th. The children enjoyed two films: "The Smallest Elephant In the World" and "Cultivate Your Garden Birds". In keeping with the films, they colored a robin red breast and placed it on a tree. The tree has been placed in the main part of the Library for exhibit for National Library Week. Each child received a name tag, and refreshments were furnished by the birthday children and Mrs. Claire Zehner, Librarian. Mrs. Zehner told the children the story of the "Courtship of the Jenny Wren" and "The Rain Puddle". Several mothers and 37 children attended. The next story hour will be May 17th.

On Tuesday, the first and second grade students visited the Library to pick out books on various subjects. The children were accompanied by Mrs. Norris King. The third and fourth grade students also visited the Library on Tuesday, oral book reports were given by Frank Ludwig, Robert Scott, Albert Jolly, Michael Fisher, Larry Brown and David Rose. The students are traveling along on building their own library with each book they read. Each student has now given an oral book report. The children then check out books. They were accompanied by Mrs. Joy Richter.

On Sunday, the Monterey Library co-sponsored an Indian program with the Scouts of Monterey at the Monterey School building. William Graham presented a most interesting and educational program for the Scouts, which was followed by the awarding of medals for the Scouts and the Investiture ceremony for the Girl Scouts. The parents pinned the awards on their child at close of ceremony. There are 72 boys and girls in scouting at Monterey at the present time. We would like to have many more. Anyone interested in the Scouting program, please contact Don Good, scoutmaster or Mrs. Jane Reinhold, den mother. They will be very glad to assist you. Refreshments were served in the cafeteria, with the cookies being furnished by the Home Demonstration Clubs of Tippecanoe Twp. and coffee and punch by the scout leaders and committeeman. Our Boy Scouts of Troop No. 406 are led by Don Good, scoutmaster, the Cubscouts of Troop No. 3406 are led by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Humeshagen, Mr. and Mrs. Winfred Hartman, Mrs. Ralph Winters and Mr. Paul Smith. Our Girl Scouts are led by Mrs. William Richter and Mrs. Steven Reinhold. The Brownies are led by Mrs. Jane Reinhold, Mrs. Delores Zehner, Mrs. Pauline Robbins, and Mrs. Larry Dollahan. Other helpers of the Scouts are Ray Burch, William Zehner, and Jerry Eskridge. Mr. and Mrs. James Fleury are special helpers of all the scouts, especially in the Crafts division. The committeeman include John Ringen, Mrs. Claire Zehner, Mrs. Carol Eskridge, Mrs. Ted Bauer, and Mr. Ralph Winters, Mrs. Lavonne

Peterson, and Mrs. Carole Peterson. There are many more people who help and give of their time who haven't been listed above. The Boy Scouts are sponsored by the American Legion of Post No. 399 and the Girl Scouts are sponsored by the Monterey PTA.

Wrestling Card Benefits School After-Prom Party

Six man Tag Team match will headline a wrestling program at the Horse Palace Saturday night to benefit the Culver Community High School after-prom party. Tickets may be purchased from the Culver Lions Club, The Monterey Lions Club, and from the Leiters Ford business men.

In a special semi-windup Girls Tag Team match the beautiful Jean Lane has teamed up with Joan Brewer to try and check The Masked Marvels, The Vampire Lady and The She Devil. In the last contest between Jean Lane and The She Devil, Jean was defeated with a crippling hold after The She Devil pretended an injury. Later Jean stated that in their next meeting she was showing no mercy to her red clad opponent.

The wrestling Sheppards of Medaryville are going at a fast pace and got by their last match due to a disqualification to retain their Tag Team Trophy. They have teamed up with the red hot nasty Billy Howard of Milwaukee to take on Johnny Gilbert, Billy Goelz, and Dick Buddy Jacks. In Howards last appearance he went wild in the ring breaking his opponents' nose and inflicted a severe scalp laceration to win his match. Gilbert and Goelz are as tough as they come in the mat arena and this match could go either way.

The opening match will bring together the Crying Dutchmen, Kurt Von Stroheim and Karl Reicher against Ronnie Odle and Johnny Thunder for the best 2 out of 3 falls. Odle and Thunder are the least experienced contestants in this match and may have a tough time with the dutchmen.

NIPSCO Asks First General Gas Rate Increase In More Than 20 Years

Northern Indiana Public Service Company today asked the Public Service Commission of Indiana to approve a general increase in gas rates — the first since 1948 — for gas customers served by the utility in the northern third of the state.

NIPSCO (The Gas Company) has approximately 107,000 gas customers in its St. Joseph Valley and Goshen Divisions which include the South Bend, Mishawaka, Elkhart, Goshen, Plymouth and Warsaw areas. Residential customers in these districts who cook with gas and use it for automatic water heating will experience an increase of a little over 2c per day or 64c per month. Utility bills of those in the area who heat their homes with gas and also use it for cooking and water heating will go up about 5.6c per day depending on the quantity of gas used.

In a petition filed this morning by Dean H. Mitchell, NIPSCO chairman and chief executive officer, dramatically rising costs were cited as reason for the request.

"The forces of inflation — mounting prices for natural gas purchased from pipeline suppliers, higher taxes, increased wages, rising interest rates and stepped-up postage costs, plus the Federal Income Tax surcharge — have now become so great," Mitchell said, "we have been forced to ask the Commission to allow us an increase in gas rates

"For more than 20 years, NIPSCO residential gas rates have steadfastly held the line, while the price of everything else has increased, pushing the cost of living up 48%

"Throughout this period, we have been able to overcome steadily rising costs through expanded gas sales, the introduction of operating economies and the benefits of greater efficiencies. But, operating expenses have now escalated to the point where they are outrunning these savings.

"Without adequate earnings based on fair and reasonable gas rates, we cannot continue to maintain the quality of gas service our customers have known, nor can we continue the construction and expansion necessary to meet the gas needs of consumers in the communities we serve.

"If our request is granted by the Public Service Commission, it will be the first general gas rate increase for NIPSCO customers since September, 1948."

The new rates, which would affect some 407,287 gas customers of the utility, represent an increase of 9.2% or $11,904,504 in the company's total annual gas revenue.

A minimum of $2 per month will be established for all residential gas customers throughout the utility's 30-county service area.

Commercial and industrial customers will also experience an increase in accordance with their use.

In its petition to the Commission, the utility pointed out that such rate adjustment are necessary to enable the company to maintain its credit essential to the development of its gas properties of it is to keep up with the normal growth and development of the territory if it is to keep up with the normal growth and development of the territory it serves.

"We are confident," Mitchell said, "that customers in the communities we serve are anxious to "Everlasting Punishment" is the subject of Sunday's Bible Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches.

 A verse from Psalms in the Responsive Reading states: "The Lord executeth righteousness and judgement for all that are oppressed."

"Divine Love corrects and governs man. Men may pardon, but this divine Principle alone reforms the sinner." This correlative passage is from the denomination's textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy.

MAJOR POINTS AND MINOR, TOO

KILLARNEY, Ireland: This friendly and beautiful little city is a splendid headquarters for travel in Western Ireland, a gateway to the famed Ring of Kerry, a drive with some of the most spectacular scenery you will see on any trip.

But it is not the scenery that stands out in the visitor's mind. Rather the dominant reflections a tourist has after sampling Ireland's bounty are the courtesy of its people and the economy of Irish vacations.

David Gollan, a writer for The Travel Agent, recently declared that Ireland's ace card is low cost travel. This scribe certainly agrees.

MEDIEVAL TOUR

One of the intriguing travel bargains is your choice of three medieval tours at $26 each on a Shannon mini-tour. With a stopover at Shannon, arranged by Irish International Airlines at no extra cost, we had a choice of three tours: Bunnatty Castle, Dungaure Castle or Knappogue Castle. Having enjoyed Bunnatty on a previous visit to this charming isle, we settled for Knappogue — and were thoroughly delighted.

The $26 fare provides first class hotel accommodations with private bath; three full meals, including an authentic 15th Century castle banquet; a visit and tea in a thatched cottage; a drink in a country pub; and two escorted motor coach tours through the enchanting countryside.

COTTAGE TOUR

Also available was the highly-praised cottage tour, available for only $15! It provides a first class hotel, three meals and an evening of folk entertainment in a thatched cottage. Surely a bargain!

For those who want a longer tour including the medieval tour and banquet, one is available for $110, beginning in Shannon and ending in Dublin, or the other way around. It is for four days, with rooms in quality hotels, all meals, transportation by motor coach to Adare, Killarney, Macroom, Blarney Castle, Cork, Limerick and Kildare, with sightseeing and entertainment in Dublin.

On of the delights of any visit to Ireland is shopping, not only in the fabulous duty free store at Shannon Airport but also in the shops which have marvelous buys in Irish tweeds, knit sweaters and other goods.

Meanwhile, Killarney is providing a resting spot for this traveler, happily ensconced in one of the finest hotels anywhere, the Great Southern, with a huge fire in the great lobby fireplace and a glass of steaming hot Irish coffee at his elbow. Ah, perfection!

More proof of what Major Points has said many times comes from Henry Reichman, who has made millions selling promotional games to supermarkets. Giveaway games are a fraud and should be outlawed, Reichman declares. "When the final story of giveaway games will be written, it will make the '$64,000 Question' television scandal look like a church play," Reichman declares.

This writer refuses to patronize stores and gas stations which offer the gimmick contests.

Guard Fabrics Against Rain and Stains

Homemakers can now cut down on cleaning by using an easy-to-apply aerosol spray for clothing and household fabrics that locks out soil and stains before they happen.

Called Fabric Guard, the new spray is the latest development of W. J. Hagerty & Sons, Ltd., Inc., South Bend, Ind., manufacturer of specialized home care products.

The spray creates an invisible soil repellent barrier on clothes, draperies, curtains, and upholstery, but does not affect the color, feel or porosity of fabrics and will not disturb pleats or creases in apparel.

It will also restore water-repellency to rainwear, and can be used to treat car tops, golf bags, tennis racket covers, and canvas shoes, according to Mrs. Mary Gaffney, director of the Hagerty Home Care Institute.

"Used according to directions the spray will effectively protect all colorfast fabrics from such common hazards as spilled coffee, salad oil, catsup, gravy and all oily or watery marks," she said.

"The key to success is to first check garments or household fabrics for colorfastness in a small, hidden area. If the item is unharmed by water alone, it's a good candidate for fabric protection."

For best results she suggests following these simple steps for foolproof rain and stain repellency:

1. Choose a well ventilated area for applying Fabric Guard. Be sure fabric is clean and free of spots.

2. Hold container 6 to 8 inches from fabric and spray in slow, sweeping motion until "even wetness" is achieved. Be sure to overlap spray areas.

3. Pay particular attention to areas where heavy soil is most likely to occur such as cuffs and sleeves of garments, neckbands and collars and fronts of suits and lap areas of dresses and trousers. Arms and head rests of furniture should receive a thorough application.

4. After articles are sprayed, allow at least 30 minutes for thorough drying.

"Once dry, fabric protection begins immediately. To test the effectiveness of your application, simply sprinkle a few drops of water on the garment. The spilled liquid will remain surfaced in beads and can be blotted away with paper towel or tissue," Mrs. Gaffney explained. (NFS)

MOISTURE remains on surface of fabric treated with Fabric Guard and can be blotted away. (NFS)

HANDSOME FABRICS covering sofas and chairs can be easily "childproofed" by spraying with new Fabric Guard. It protects against oily and watery stains and soil. (NFS)

NEW FABRIC PROTECTOR from W. J. Hagerty & Sons Ltd., Inc., shields garments from stains and soil and also makes them water-repellent. It sprays on with ease. (NFS)
