Prof. Leitsch is giving lessons on the piano to Otto Stahl. The professor is a painstaking teacher and a musician of the finest tone and deserves the patronage of the people of Culver City and vicinity. He makes a special study of piano and organ tuning, and also repairs and cleans same.

We called upon Mr. James South last Saturday, and was shown some of the blooded stock on his splendid farm. Among the number of fine animals in the cattle and horse line he had on exhibition was a colt sired by "Eginhard", the famous German coach stallion which is owned by a stock company. This colt is indeed a beauty, and has no superior and few equals in Indiana. We understand that Mr. South exhibit this magnificent specimen of horseflesh at our next fair, and as there will be a number of his brothers and sisters with him on exhibition, all of which are beauties, it will speak volumes in praise of the sire. This only exemplifies the fact that blood will tell and that it pays to infuse the best blood possible in our stock, as it not only enhances the value but is more saleable at good round prices.

THE MODEL SUNDAY SCHOOL.

The Model Sunday School is not that which has the largest membership, the finest house and best equipments. It is that which is best adapted to the wants of the community in which it exists, and which best accomplishes the ends for which the Sunday school is intended.
The model Sunday school is, therefore, not in the city. Many of the best schools are in small towns and country neighborhoods.
Indeed, any congregation may have what is in most respects a model school. No one school can have all that is good in Sunday-school work. Each must select for itself that which suits it best. There are a few things which are indispensable and which every school should have. These things, too, are within the reach of almost every school in the land.

I give below what I consider necessary to the model school. Each superintendent will find much else that he can use to advantage:

1. THE PLACE.—There must be a suitable room. It is much better that this be built purposely for the school. If this cannot be afforded, the audience room of the church can be arranged so as to answer the purpose quite well; the seats should be moveable, so that they can be gathered together for the classes. There should be a separate room for the primary department. This is most necessary. No primary class can be successfully taught in the same room with the rest of the school.
There must be no compromise on this question. Every congregation that is able to build a church at all is able to add a room for the primary class. This room, being small and easily warmed, will be useful for other purposes, such as missionary meetings, prayer meetings, etc., and will really be a source of economy. However simple the furniture may be there are a few things that must not be omitted.
Among these are the organ, the song books, and last but not least, the Bible.
The music should be made one of the chief features of the program. In order that it may be good and attractive there must be an organ to support the voices, and the whole school must be supplied with books.
Those in charge of the school should realize that it is just as necessary to provide these as to provide seats and fuel. Care should be used in selecting the music books. The best cost no more than the poorest. Shaped notes should be avoided, as it is usually only inferior music that is so printed. Bibles should also be on hand to used for reference when they are needed.

2. THE MEMBERSHIP.—No school is a model unless it includes alike the old and the young, the rich and the poor, the learned and the unlearned, the wise and the simple.

3. THE SUPERINTENDENT.—The first officer of the school, and the one on whom rests the greatest responsibility, is the superintendent. His selection must depend solely upon his fitness for the place.
Administrative ability, energy, tact, good judgment, and devotion to the work are among his chief qualifications. With a good superintendent the school is sure of success.

4. THE SUPERINTENDENT'S ASSISTANT.— Good assistance for the superintendent is of the utmost importance. The number of persons required will depend somewhat on the size and character of the school. There is first the assistant superintendent. His chief work will be to look after certain little details in the management. He should be a good hand-shaker. While the superintendent is engaged at the desk, he can welcome pupils, receive visitors, and attend to the wants of teachers and pupils generally. In the superintendent's absence, he takes his place. The secretary is the next officer in importance. He should be promptly at his post, and do his work accurately and well. The duties of the librarian and treasurer are sufficiently indicated by the names. In small schools the secretary may be at the same time librarian and treasurer. Lastly, the pastor of the church can do more perhaps than anyone else in keeping up the interest in the school among the church members at home.

5. THE TEACHER.—After all, the real character of Sunday-school work depends on the teacher. No rule for selecting teachers can be given. The best way is to try them. When the superintendent sees that a teacher is not succeeding with a class he should not hesitate to remove him at once. Give him another class and he may do well. There are two general principles which should guide in assigning teachers to classes. In the first place, the teachers should possess some sort of superiority over the members of the class. This superiority may be in his age, his education, his knowledge of the Bible, his apt-ness to teach, or his Christian character.

In the second place, there must not be too great a disparity between the teacher and his class. Young teachers for young people, older teachers for older people, is the rule. The superiority commands respect, the nearness elicits sympathy. If the distance is too great, sympathy fails and respect gives place for awe.

CLASSIFICATION.—The school may best be classified into advanced, intermediate, and primary. The separation of the first two divisions is often not necessary. The third, as stated above, should always have a place to itself. The classes, however, must be carefully graded. No pupil should be allowed to remain in a class not suited to his or her stage of advancement.

7. THE LITERATURE.—The text-book of the Sunday-school is the Bible. It should always occupy the first place, and nothing should be allowed to displace it. At the same time all the teachers and pupils should be supplied at the expense of the school with the best of lesson helps. Other literature in the form of books and papers may be used at discretion.

8. ORDER OF EXERCISE.—This should be varied from time to time. There are certain features, however, which it should invariably include. These are singing, reading, Scripture, prayer, lesson, collection, and report; the singing should be distributed. The Scripture may be read by the superintendent, or in concert, or re-sponsively. Assigned portions of Scripture may be recited in concert from time to time. Review questions from the desk, talks, and map exercises will give variety to the program.

9. MINOR POINTS.—In the model school the session begins promptly on time and teachers and pupils are all in their places.
The interest during the hour should never be allowed to lag. Everything should be flexible. Each service should be shortened or lengthened as the interest may indicate and the occasion demand. Let all be ready to return again the next Sunday.

10. ADJUNCTS.—No school will attain its maximum of usefulness if it confines its work to the school hour. There must be an all-week work. There must be diligent preparation on the part of the teachers, and new teachers must be trained so as to be ready to take the vacant places. These ends are reached through the normal class and the teachers' meeting.

11. HOME DEPARTMENT.—Sickness and family cares keep many people at home who would be glad to have the advantages of the Sunday-school. The home class supplies their wants. A few adjacent families meet at one house on Sunday afternoon with one of the teachers from the school and study the lesson of the day together. Their names are enrolled and they are counted as a part of the general school.

This is the model. And yet there are few schools in town or country that might not approximate it very closely if their officers and members were but willing to give to the work the proper thought, time, money, and energy. FRANK C. BAKER.

The Board of Directors of the Maxenkuckee Agricultural Association is hereby notified to meet at the fair grounds, next Monday afternoon, May 25, at 2 o'clock sharp. It is highly necessary that all be present as business of grave importance must be attended to. Do not fail to attend, as the success of our next fair depends upon your presence.

Geo. NEARHASS, Sec'y.

The Republican county convention will convene at Plymouth June 11th. At that time we expect that Dr. O. A. Rea will be nominated as representative. It will only be a just recognition of his worth and loyalty to the party. In this section of the county, Dr. Rea will need no trumpet sounds proclaiming him a man of integrity and ability, as his friends upon both sides of the political fence can be counted by the hundreds. That he is a scholarly gentleman and thoroughly qualified to fill any office within the gift of the people is a well-known fact. He is firmly imbued with the principle that the people should be represented instead of the politician or bloated monopoly. In fact Dr. Rea will make a model representative, and every act performed in this line of duty will honor his constituency.

CULVER ACADEMY NEWS NOTES.

Under the Able Management of Special Scribes of the Above Institution

Lieut. Purinton was on the sick list Monday.

Cadets Thompson and Kelly were very brave boys on Saturday. They took the sail boat and went about two hundred yards from the pier and turned around to come back, when they saw the steamer coming with a load of young ladies. They were going to show what fine sailors they were by making a nice steamboat landing, but to their great dismay they went over. The sail hit Kelly on the head and put him under, but he was very active and got out all O. K. Thompson made a lunge for the pier but did not get it. They both waded to the pier feeling very cheap amid the great cries of the young people on the boat. Thompson was so excited that he did not know enough to pick his cap out of the water. He is now minus a cap.
Probably these two young sports will not try to show off before a crowd of young ladies again, at least it is hoped so.

Cadet Goodman, who has been home for about three weeks, returned on Monday. We were indeed glad to see his smiling face among us again.

Sergt. Kidd received a letter one day last week stating that his sister was very ill and calling him home at once. We sympathize with him in his trouble.

Lieut. Braden made quite a mash on one of the young ladies Saturday and could not leave her long enough to come home to supper, so brought her along. We thought that Braden could not blush, but when he came walking into the dining-room he was blushing, a thing which surprised all the cadets.

Cadets Culver, Braden and Dozier took dinner with the Sigma Nu fraternity of Purdue University Saturday. They say that Culver was so bashful that he could hardly eat his dinner. Every time a young lady would pass him anything, he would say, "No thank you I have plenty."

The Purdue faculty took dinner with us on Saturday.

Lieuts. Purinton and Culver are beginning to make preparations to ride to St. Louis on their horses in June. No doubt they will wish that they had gone on the train before they get very far. They expect to leave on the morning of June 13th.

Cadet Thompson was running around with very sporty looking gloves, a cane and a four-inch collar on Saturday. Some one should have taken the collar off and put a cuff on him in place of it.

The measurements of the cadets were taken on Monday to see who had improved the most this year.
The one that has improved the most gets a gold medal. We will know who the lucky one is next week.

We will now have dress parade every eve at 5:45, except Sundays when it will be at 5:15.

Sturday, May 23d, 1896, the Athletes of Culver Military Academy will go to South Bend to contest for Field Day honors with the South Bend High school. The contests will be as follows:

One hundred yard dash.
Throwing base ball.
Running broad jump.
Quarter mile bicycle race.
120-yard hurdle race.
Putting 12-pound shot.
Half-mile run.
Standing broad jump.
220-yard dash.
Mile bicycle race.
Running high jump.
Throwing 12-pound hammer.
220-yard hurdle race.
Running hop, step, and jump.
One mile run.

The following cadets will endeavor to win the prize for C. M. A.: Braden, Cowman, Holtzinger, Hedges, Dozier, Culver, Stern, Kidd, Thompson and Fisk.

A full account of field day will appear in our next.

REVIEW OF THEIR WORK AT WASHINGTON.

Detailed Proceedings of Senate and House—Bills Passed or Introduced in Either Branch—Questions of Moment to the Country at Large.

The Legislative Grind.

The House Friday voted to give each member $100 a month for recess clerk hire. A bill was passed to appropriate $5,000 for the deportation of the Canadian refugee Cree Indians from the State of Montana.

In the Senate Monday the Santa Monica deep water harbor fraud was debated most of the afternoon. The heat was so terrific that early adjournment was taken.

The work of the House Tuesday was confined to preparations to oust Mr. Downing, the only Democrat in the Illinois delegation. Mr. Moody, Republican, of Massachusetts, presented the minority committee report, stating that Downing was fairly elected.

Because of opposition by Mr. Moody of Massachusetts and Mr. Daizell of Pennsylvania, both Republicans, the House Wednesday reconsidered its action of unseating Mr. Downing.

The Senate was occupied Thursday with discussion of the Dupont contest case and immigration matters. The House devoted the whole day to private pension bills.

LULLABY.

Good-night! Good-night! An angel's wings are shading Softly the weary world, and slumber creeps Around us, and our little ones are fading;

Sleep, darling, sleep! for thee no care is waiting; Thy life not yet through tangled paths shall toil; No weariness, no bitter woe of hating, Shall the bright gladness of thy spirit soil.

Good-night! Good-night! The day of toil is ended, Heaven clasps its loved one to its breast again; The hand that through the light has helped and tended

A COWARD AND A HERO.

It was the 16th of December before Son-Tay. For two days we had splashed in the mire of the rice fields, the water up to our knees. I knew well we should get used to it, but it was worrying, all the same. Nevertheless, we marched steadily on, as regular and attentive as if we were on drill.

I told you this is true, I am an old trump; I have been nine years in the service, and six with the rank of sergeant, and the number of young soldiers I have trained and commanded "right about face" is incalculable, but never have I seen men march like these, shoulder to shoulder, as exact as if drawn by a line; and that, I tell you, in two feet of mud. Saprissi! but it was superb.

Letters! Now, I ask you was this a good time to distribute letters? There they were running like so many madmen. I was the only one to remain tranquil. It is true, I have no one to write to me, no family, no friends, nobody—all alone in the world like an old bear. Heaven help me!

News from home, Jacques?" Jacques is the sergeant of my company. I am chief of the first section, he of the second. A handsome young fellow, with a bright, boyish face, a beardless chin, and cheeks as smooth as a girl's.

"What has she written to you, Jacques? What says my fair lady?" He turned to me without a smile, and gravely said: "I have no lady friend, Bertrand. It is from my mother." "Ah!" I felt as if I had made a fool of myself, and said no more.

That was my opinion, as I have already said. It was not good to allow them to break ranks, the scamps; they ask nothing better. But out of politeness to Jacques I said, "It is always pleasant to receive good news from home, no matter where. I hope you had nothing disagreeable." Jacques shook his head.

That was all. Master Jacques was not talkative this morning. His eyes were fixed on the horizon far away, where there was nothing to be seen but a bit of blue sky. I wondered what he could see over there.

"Forward, march!" I repeat at last. "Forward, march!" for my section. Jacques, no doubt, was still dreaming, and did not hear the command, for I heard the Lieutenant behind me say, "Ah, well, Sergeant Jacques, lagging behind already!"

When, behold, we were again commanded to halt. The Captain stepped in front of the ranks, and demanded, in a low voice—the same, it was distinctly understood—"A sub-officer willing to undertake a secret and dangerous mission."

"Not you, Bertrand. I know you well, and when I want you I will find you out. Just be kind enough to remain quiet." You see, some officers will not grant you the least favor. Then I said to myself, "This is just the thing for Jacques."

The Captain seemed to be of the same opinion, for he stepped exactly in front of him, and repeated under his nose, "A sub-officer willing to undertake a dangerous mission."

Well, we set off again; there was no lagging behind this time. About 250 metres from the walls the scoundrels gave us a broadcast in the face. Saprissi! how it rained. The balls fell to the right, to the left, in the rice fields, making a "flic-floc" as they struck the water.

However, it could not continue in this way. The bugle sounded the charge. Saprissi! That music always sends a shiver of gale through me. Behold us running with fixed bayonets, like madmen! But as I have already noticed the gateway of the citadel opened upon a high embankment, scarcely three metres wide, to enter that we must climb the narrow ascent, and push in two by two under a terrible fire, and that, too through a palisade of bamboo which the rascals had constructed to bar the way, already narrow enough.

This time it was serious. No time to hesitate; all those who climbed there were sure of certain death. I think the Captain must have retained some spite against Jacques, for he turned to him and said: "Go up there, sir, and tear away that bamboo."

Heaven what a sight! They were all left there, all my comrades—Jacques among the number, but he was the last. Just as the work was finished a ball struck him between the eyes. As he raised his arms to shout a great "Hurrah!" he fell dead, face foremost.

Upon my word, there was only one letter, the one he had received that morning. Nothing else. Ah, blood of blood! what a letter. He was right, poor boy. One ought not to receive a letter like that just before a battle. As for me, I cried like a baby, and was scarcely able to read it for the tears in my eyes.

"New, my precious Jacques, take care of yourself for my sake. Remember you are all I have in this world, and if anything should happen to you, I would surely go mad. It is true the time passes very wearily when one is waiting; but I try to be patient, to forget the present, and only think of the future when you will return. Above all things, my precious boy, be prudent. Do whatever you are commanded to do, like a brave soldier, but do not expose yourself unnecessarily. I forbid you. No, no, my darling Jacques, I forbid you nothing. I implore you before entering on any engagement, to think of your mother, who is always thinking of you, and do not risk too much. Promise me this, will you not? And, remember, a man is not a coward because he loves his mother."

The letter fell from my hands. I understood all now. He had thought of his mother, the brave boy, and waited until he was directly commanded to go. And, no doubt, that morning, when he was looking far away to that bit of blue sky, where there was nothing to be seen, he was thinking of his mother, and of that promise he had sworn to keep.

And that is why Sergeant Jacques, who died like a hero, with his face to the enemy, was considered a coward twice in one day.—From the French in Tit Bits.

Artificial Production of Crystals. At Hot Springs, Ark., clear rolled pebbles found on the banks of the Ouachita are often sold. These are more highly prized than the quartz crystals, as the fancy prevails that they cut clearer gems. The scarcity of these and the demand for them has led to their artificial production, by putting the crystal into a box which is kept revolving a few days by water power.

Many localities in Colorado furnish fine specimens; and along the New Jersey coast and Long Branch, Atlantic City, Cape May and other places transparent pebbles are found in the sand, and are sought after by the visitors, who often have them cut as souvenirs. At such places the local lapidaries have been known to substitute for pebbles from the beach foreign cut quartz, cairngorm, topaz, crocidolite, Ceylon moonstone and even glass, obtaining twice the value of the foreign gem for the supposed cutting. Sometimes even the stones found by the visitors are exchanged for cut ones from Bohemia, Oldenburg and the Jura. Cutting is done abroad on so large a scale and by labor so poorly paid that the cut stones can be delivered in this country at one-tenth of the price of cutting here, as the rock-crystal itself has but little value.

China. "There is wealth enough in China to develop the resources of the empire, but lack of mutual confidence keeps the requisite capital out of sight. There is learning enough in China for all necessities. There is no lack of talents of every kind. But without mutual confidence, founded on genuine sincerity, all this is unavailing for the regeneration of the realm."

Princeton University is to have a new library building to cost $500,000.

THE PROHIBITIONISTS.

Possible Candidates of That Party for the Presidency. The Prohibitionists of this country are looking forward with considerable interest to the national convention of that party, which will be held in Machinery Hall, Pittsburg, Pa., May 27. Delegates to the number of 900 or 1,000 will be present.

JOSHUA LEVERING.

There is a split in the party this year which promises to increase as the date of the convention approaches. The split is on the financial question, as are the splits in the older parties. The party is divided into "narrow-gauge" and "broad-gauge" Prohibitionists, the former favoring a single issue—Prohibition pure and simple—as the policy of the party, while the "broad-gauge" people consist largely of free silver advocates, who contend that the platform should cover all the leading political issues.

The two men who lead respectively the "narrow-gauge" and the "broad-gauge" advocates are John G. Woolley, of Chicago, and John T. St. John, ex-Governor of Kansas. Mr. Woolley is widely known as an earnest worker in the ranks of the Christian Endeavorers, and as an accomplished orator. Every reader, it is probable, has a general acquaintance with the career of Mr. St. John. Both these gentlemen have declined in advance a possible nomination for the presidency.

HANCOCK STATUE IS UNVEILED.

President Cleveland and Senator Palmer Eulogize His Services.

The heroic equestrian statue of Gen. Winfield S. Hancock, erected at 7th street and Pennsylvania avenue, Washington, in accordance with a resolution of Congress, and at an expenditure of $50,000, was unveiled Tuesday—the anniversary of his victory at Spottsylvania Court House—in the presence of an immense throng, which included President Cleveland, Vice President Stevenson and representatives of the Supreme Court, the diplomatic corps, both bodies of Congress and army veterans and colleagues of the late General. The unveiling was preceded by a military demonstration. Four companies of artillery, marching as infantry; four companies of marines, with the Marine Band; Light Battery C, Third Artillery; a squadron from the Sixth Cavalry, the full district militia and numerous military organizations, including the Second Army Corps, at the head of which Gen. Hancock achieved his greatest victories, participated in the parade. Brigadier General Brooke, commanding the Department of the Dakotas, U. S. A., was the grand marshal of the day.

The exercises opened with a prayer by Right Rev. James Y. Satterlee, Bishop of Washington. Then President Cleveland made a brief address, delivering a glowing eulogy on the services of the late warrior. He was followed by Senator John M. Palmer, of Illinois, major general of United States volunteers during the war, who spoke feelingly and at great length of his departed companion in arms. A salute was fired as the unveiling of the statue took place.

INDIANA INCIDENTS.

RECORD OF EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK.

Man and Woman Married in England Years Ago Meet Again—Mrs. Jones of Indianapolis Arouses the Ire of Judge Cox.

Romantic Affair.

Judge Marbro, of Kentucky, was standing on the platform of the Big Four station at Fowler Thursday when the Chicago limited pulled in. In the parlor car sat a lady whom he thought he knew. He approached her and they recognized one another immediately. It was his wife, whom he married twenty years ago in England. She was the daughter of Lord Lindsley. Her father was so opposed to the marriage that he induced her to leave him about six months after they were married. She relented and decided to return to her husband, but was informed and made to believe that Marbro was dead. Marbro, incensed at his wife's supposed infidelity, came to America. He was shortly afterward informed that she had secured a divorce from him. In a few months after their separation a son was born to Mrs. Marbro. He is now in the English navy. On the death of Lord Lindsley Mrs. Marbro fell heir to $3,000,000 in estates and money. She has since married and has three children by the second union. She was en route to visit a sister in San Francisco. Judge Marbro is very wealthy. He is also married. He accompanied his wife of former years to Chicago.

Little Children Made Defendants.

An unusual scene was witnessed in court at Indianapolis Saturday, when the officers brought in Annie Toner, Alice Eggerfield and Willie Eggerfield, 2, 3 and 5 years of age. As the children were brought forward Judge Cox looked in open amazement, and asked if they were the defendants. He was informed that such was the case. Seizing the affidavit he found the name of Mrs. Jonas as the plaintiff. He asked her to come forward immediately. She came to the desk, carrying a few sticks, which she claimed had been thrown at her and on account of which she expected to have the little ones fined. Judge Cox looked at her for a moment, and then said severely: "Madam, this case will be dismissed on motion of the prosecutor. I think it is an outrage for anyone, and especially a woman, to have babies like these brought into a police court. There is no occasion for such an act, and I hereby discharge them." Mrs. Jonas was accompanied by seven women, who were to act as witnesses, and presumably to claim the usual witness fee of $1 apiece.

Will Await Fuller's Release.

J. W. Fuller, the noted forger, who was arrested and convicted at Richmond nearly three years ago, will be released from the southern prison June 15. The Philadelphia officers have notified the prison officials that they will be here with a requisition for him at that time. Fuller made a specialty of swindling banks, and it is said that he succeeded in getting money in nearly every city in the country. The sheriff of Wayne County has received a letter from Chief of Police Linden of Philadelphia, stating that he will send a couple of officers who intend to stay with him from the time he leaves the prison until the law gives them the right to seize him as their prisoner.

All Over the State.

The drouth in southern Indiana is becoming serious.

Henry Akers, near Windfall, was kicked to death by a colt which he was trying to halter.

The School Furniture Company at Wash, which failed in September, will go into a receiver's hands.

Elvin Heck, of Shelbyville, is missing, and members of his family report that he will not return. Recently he married Miss Mae Treadway, daughter of a farmer in Bartholomew County, and an accomplished and beautiful young woman. It was a runaway match, the parents of the bride opposing it. Thirteen days later the young bridegroom closed out his business affairs and disappeared, although his wife's parents had become reconciled to the match.

Dallas Baker, aged 19, and Thomas Ryan, aged 23, of Adrian, Mich., boarded a Chicago and Grand Trunk west-bound freight train at Vicksburg, Mich., and when about five miles east of South Bend were approached by two tramps, John Moore and John Cramer. Moore held a revolver on them while Cramer robbed them. After the robbery Moore passed his revolver to Cramer and conducted Ryan to the end of the car, where he made him jump, although the train was running at full speed. Baker sprang upon Cramer and secured the revolver. His first shot was at Cramer, whom he struck in the right side, inflicting a bad wound. The next was at Moore, who disappeared over the cars. When the train reached South Bend Moore and Cramer were captured. Cramer was sent to the hospital and will probably die. Moore is from Evansville, Ind., and Cramer said he lived in New York.

A stranger, supposed to be an attorney named John H. Wilson, aged 73, died at the Columbus hospital Thursday night. On his body, strapped in a belt next to his person, was $9,240 in molded and molded bills, and $1,625 in gold. He is supposed to be from Huntington, Clarksburg or Fairmont, Va. Telegrams were sent to notify the relatives, but in each case the telegraph operator answered no such persons could be found. An attorney, Jim Jones, of Nashville, Brown County, where Wilson owns 160 acres of timber land and two sawmills, came with letters of administration on Wilson's estate and took charge of the money. A telegram received from the postmaster of Pomeroy, O., says Wilson was known there years ago as a leather dealer.

INDIANA VETERANS.

MEET IN ANNUAL ENCAMPMENT AT SOUTH BEND.

Have a Grand Parade and Three Rousing Campfires—Comrade Caylor Chosen Commander—Lew Wallace Attends—Richmond Gets the Next.

Indiana Grand Army.

The seventeenth annual encampment of the Indiana Department, G. A. R., was held at South Bend Wednesday and Thursday, and it was one of the most notable events in the history of the organization.

The opening session was called to order by Department Commander Shively, who made a short address. The response was to have been made by Mayor Schafer, but owing to his unavoidable absence J. B. Stoll responded in behalf of the citizens of the G. A. R. committee.

The session adjourned at the close of Commander Shively's address for dinner and the parade, which was one of the greatest affairs ever seen in South Bend.

EX-COMMANDER H. B. SHIVELY.

and at one place 3,000 school children, dressed in white, sang patriotic songs and waved American flags.

At the close of the parade the executive session of the G. A. R. was resumed and matters pertaining to the department in general were considered.

The Campfires.

Three camp fires were held in the evening. One at Turner Hall was presided over by Commander Shively, another at the Third Regiment armory by Past Department Commander A. O. Marsh of Winchester.

Following is the program observed at the Turner Hall camp fire:

Final—Bugle calls, tattoo, taps, Knightsdown Band Buglers
The seventeenth annual encampment of the G. A. R. was also the occasion of the conventions of the Indiana Department, W. R. C., and the Indiana Department, Ladies of the G. A. R.

Business of the Meeting.

The business session was held Thursday. Assistant Adjutant General Smock's report showed the total membership in good standing at the close of last year was 20,952, against 21,918 at the close of the preceding year.

Relief was extended to 350 comrades during the year and to 285 other veterans. The amount thus expended was $3,678.17. The number of posts in good standing in the State Dec. 31, 1895, was 504, a loss of four.

MRS. CRISLER.

Posts were disbanded during the year as follows: Eugene, Monroe City, Wolcottville, Burlington, Mooney, Orland, Birdseye, Summitville, Land Mestlin, North Indianapolis, Mount Auburn, Eminence.

During the year $5,000 was turned over to the soldiers' home committee, reducing the assets to $5,349.96.

Receipts for the year were $5,537.45, which, with cash on hand a year ago, amount to $6,952.34. Expenditures for the past year were $5,213 of department proper, and $60.36 by the orphans' home committee and $124.49 by the soldiers' home committee.

Election of Officers.

H. M. Caylor, of Noblesville, was unanimously elected department commander; Elmer Crockett, South Bend, senior vice-commander; John G. Harrison, of Converse, junior vice-commander; Dr. J. H. Rerick, Lagrange, medical director; Rev. R. J. Parrett, Frankfort, chaplain; R. S. Robertson, Fort Wayne; Benn Starr, Richmond; H. B. Snyder, Indianapolis; C. B. Brodrick, Elkhart, and J. W. Senior, Madison, council of administration.

There are many very active contests for those offices not filled. An attempt to reconsider a resolution adopted recognizing the ladies of the G. A. R. as an aid failed.

Comrade Caylor.

The election of H. M. Caylor, of Noblesville, was virtually a foregone conclusion. Although he made no active campaign for the honor, yet the fact that he was defeated on two former occasions won him the sympathy of scores of veterans.

Work of the Ladies.

The Women's Relief Corps elected officers as follows:

- President—Mary A. Sims.
Senior Vice-President—Mrs. Molly Kelly, South Bend.
Junior Vice-President—Mrs. Anna Kidder, Goshen.
Treasurer—Mrs. Kate Campbell, Frankfort.
Chaplain—Mrs. Margaret Eddy, Michigan City.
Delegate to National Convention—Mrs. Julia A. Smith, South Bend.
Alternate—Mrs. Maggie Deacon, New Carlisle.
To Mrs. Raugh, retiring president of the Ladies of the G. A. R., was presented a silver water set.

Mrs. Eliza J. Crisler.

"Mrs. Eliza J. Crisler, of Greensburg, retiring president of the W. R. C., has led the van in organizing the work of patriotic teaching in Indiana, and she has been the pioneer among the W. R. C. organizers the country over," says the National Tribune.

Speedy Justice in Kentucky.

Scott Jackson was found guilty at Newport, Ky., of the murder of Pearl Bryan and his punishment was fixed at death. The jury entered and was ordered to remain standing.

Immediately there was an uproar. Several persons clapped their hands in approval, despite the judge's warning. Sheriff Plummer rapped for order and the officers fiercely jumped to their feet to find the offenders, but no attention was paid to them.

Jackson was seen in his cell shortly after his removal from the court room. There he showed the first signs of weakening. His face was blanched and pinched and his voice husky.

HEART DISEASE FROM CHILDHOOD.

From the Journal, Quincy, Ill.
Paul Gross, of 624 South Third street, Quincy, Ill., is well known to many of the Journal readers. He is twenty-nine years old, was born and almost raised in Quincy. At present he is watchman on the "People's" ferryboat.

Many who have known Paul since infancy know that he has been near death's door several times. Seeing him strong and vigorous, the writer asked him the other evening what physician had cured him. His reply astonished us. This is what he said:

"Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are my doctor. They beat all the physicians in the country."

When asked if he would object to the Journal publishing an account of his case, Mr. Gross replied:

"Not a bit. I would be glad if you would tell what Pink Pills did for me—it might be the means of relieving others who suffer as I suffered."

"I had heart disease; of course, you know that. When a child I had palpitation of the heart, and in after years all the complications that heart disease produces. At first the palpitations were not serious, for they would last only a few seconds, but as I grew older the palpitations gradually grew worse until they would completely prostrate me. These palpitations would sometimes last thirty minutes, the blood would rush to my head and I would become so dizzy and my sight become so dimmed that I could not define any object before me. I could hardly get my breath, and it seemed to me that my heart would burst. At times I thought that I was dying. When my heart failed to do its work properly my blood became impure and that caused other troubles."

"I doctored with first one physician and then another, but the doctors only aggravated the disease. One day, two years ago, I saw an article concerning Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in a newspaper, and I made up my mind to try them—I thank the Lord that I did. I took three boxes of the Pink Pills. They not only relieved me, but completely stopped the palpitations and restored me to a state of general health of which I was proud."

"I believed that I was entirely cured, but after about eighteen months I noticed a slight fullness of the heart. I at once got a box of the Pink Pills which effectually removed this trouble, and I firmly believe that had I taken six boxes of the pills instead of three in the first place, I would never have experienced this 'fullness.' Many times have I thanked God for having directed Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to me, for they restored me to health—and health has brought me happiness."

"As a blood purifier and as a tonic, I know of nothing that can equal these pills. You can say in the Journal that Paul Gross desires all people to try Pink Pills, for I would be glad if others could be blessed as I have been blessed."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effect of a grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, all forms of weakness either in male or female, and all diseases resulting from vitiated humors in the blood. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing Dr. Williams' Med. Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

Handy Feet.

It is well known that persons who have had the misfortune to lose their arms, or even to be born without them, have been able to use their feet so cleverly as, in the course of time, hardly to miss their limbs. Apart from such cases, however, some races of mankind can employ their feet as nimbly almost as they can their hands. In China boatmen may be seen rowing with their feet; in Bengal weavers can weave with their feet; and in other parts of India women and children catch flies and mosquitoes with their feet.

Probably the largest casting ever made in the country was turned out recently at a foundry in Pittsfield, Mass. It was a plate for the Berkshire Glass Works, weighing 0,000 pounds, was fourteen feet long, forty-four inches wide and five inches thick.

BACKACHE.

A Very Significant Indication of Organic Derangement.

The back, "the mainspring of woman's organism," quickly calls attention to trouble by aching. It tells with other symptoms, such as nervousness, head-ache, pains in loins, and weight in lower part of body, blues and "all gone" feeling, that nature requires assistance, and at once.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for twenty years has been the one and only effective remedy in such cases. It speedily removes the cause and effectually restores the organs to a healthy and normal condition. Mrs. Pinkham cheerfully answers all letters from ailing women who require advice, without charge. Thousands of cases like this are recorded.

"I have taken one-half dozen bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has relieved me from all pain. I cannot tell you the agony I endured for years; pains in my back (Oh, the backache was dreadful!) and bearing-down pains in the abdomen extending down into my limbs; head-ache and nausea, and very painful menstruations. I had grown very thin, a mere shadow of my former self. Now I am without a single pain and am gaining in flesh rapidly."—MATTIE GLENN, 1561 Dudley St., Cincinnati.

DEATH CLAIMS SIXTY

NORTHEAST TEXAS SWEEP BY AN AWFUL STORM.

Victims at Sherman Number Sixty—Over Fifty Houses Dashed in Ruins Upon the Occupants—Other Towns Suffer Severely in Life and Property.

Ruin at Sherman.

The city of Sherman, Texas, is a hospital and the dead, unidentified and ail, will reach something like sixty persons. About 4:15 Friday afternoon a storm cloud came with a mighty roar and from the southwest could be seen flying timbers and houses. The death-dealing storm struck the west portion of the city, coming up a ravine and Post Oak creek, crossing a portion of the cemetery. For half a mile along the creek there were negro homes mostly. No fewer than twenty or thirty people were killed outright along the creek and scores were injured. Some were crushed under falling buildings, struck with flying timbers and a few men were found in the creek drowned. At one place in the country a child was found in a tree. In another a woman was blown half a mile from home. The city received a shower of ruins, mud and sand where the storm did not strike. For hours vehicles were coming in with the dead and the people were busy in assisting the wounded and preparing the dead for burial. The Sherman court house was insufficient to hold the dead and wounded.

Came Without Warning.

The storm struck Sherman without warning on the southwest corner of the city and cleared a path 100 yards wide along the west end of the town. The negro part of the town suffered the most severely. There are probably thirty negroes killed. Ten bodies were picked up in Post Oak creek. The flood of rain which attended the storm was severe. The town was a mass of mud and floating ruins.

Terrific Force of Storm.

From the point where it seems to have first descended to where it suddenly arose from the ground, just north of the city, it left terrific marks of its passage, not a house in its pathway escaping, not a tree or a shrub left standing of that is not twisted and torn out of shape. Fences are gone. The iron bridge on Houston street was completely wrecked and blown away, notwithstanding its hundreds of thousands of pounds of steel and material. The number of persons wounded will reach not less than 100. At least fifty houses were totally wrecked, most of them cottages, except in Fairview and Washington avenues, where the handsome residences of L. F. Ely, Captain J. C. Stalter, Mrs. Pat Mattingly and James Falls also succumbed. The loss will reach at least $150,000, and but little, if any, of it was covered by cyclone insurance.

Caring for the Injured.

The Mayor called a mass meeting, and everything was done for the homeless and injured. Physicians came from Denison to assist. Two thousand dollars was raised at the court house in a few minutes. A permanent relief committee, consisting of C. H. Smith, C. B. Randall, C. B. Dorchester and Col. George Murphy, was organized and will take cash donations. Denison responded nobly, nurses and physicians from that city rendering great assistance. All railroads running into the city placed special trains at the disposal of the local authorities and brought help from all neighboring cities.

Other Towns Suffer.

At Carpenter's Bluff on Red river it is reported that six persons were hurt, five seriously. Buildings and other structures in the way were demolished. At Howe the path of the cyclone was a quarter of a mile wide. Tea farm houses and as many barns were wrecked. Eight persons were killed outright and many injured. Bark was ripped from trees and much stock was killed. Six persons were injured, one of them fatally, near Mound Ridge. At Gribble Springs four persons were killed and five others fatally wounded. The property damage is great. At Justin, one was killed and seventeen hurt.

Storm in Pennsylvania.

Smithton, Pa., a mining town on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, was visited by a wind storm and cloudburst Friday afternoon. Three bridges were wrecked completely and 100 miners who were at work were compelled to flee for their lives. The loss is estimated at between $50,000 and $75,000.

Fatal Fire at McDonald.

A fire entailing the loss of two lives in the Cadamire family, and the probable fatal burning of five children occurred at McDonald, Pa., Friday. The cause of the sad tragedy was the fatal oil can, the contents of which the mother was using to hasten the fire in the kitchen stove. She was just in the act of pouring the oil in the stove, when a terrific explosion followed, and in a flash the entire room was like a roaring furnace.

Disaster on the St. Paul.

A wreck occurred on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road Friday evening two miles south of Waldo, Wis., in which three train men were killed and two seriously injured. The time freight, which leaves Green Bay at 6:30 p. m., pulls through Waldo at the rate of about thirty-five miles an hour, and when it struck the pile of ties with which train wreckers had obstructed the track it was completely wrecked, demolishing the engine and derailing most of the cars. This is the culmination of a number of attempts to wreck the time freight, the passenger trains not having been molested, and seems to point to an organized gang of train wreckers who have a grudge against the St. Paul road, as the wrecking is evidently not done for mercenary purposes.

RIPANS TABULES

Mr. J. T. Jones, who lives in Sharpsburg, Ky., in an interview with Mr. J. C. Nelson, editor and proprietor of the Bath County World, published at Sharpsburg, Ky., on the 24th of May, 1895, said: "I attribute all disorders of the system to the stomach; when the stomach is all right, we are well and happy. For a long time I suffered from the worst form of habitual constipation. Sleeplessness and nervousness set in, and at times I was so melancholy and out of sorts that life was a burden. An advertisement in our local paper induced me to give Ripans Tabules a trial. I did so. The first box made a decided change for the better, and six boxes have completely cured me. I can say for Ripans Tabules, it is, in my opinion, the best medicine for constipation on earth. It accomplished for me what all other remedies failed to do. I am all right now—sleep well and life is worth living. I believe the Tabules put my stomach in shape, and the stomach did the rest. My general health is better than it was for years previous."

Local one fare Sunday excursion tickets are on sale between all stations on the Nickel Plate Road—one day limits. 45-82.

E. B. Vanschoiack has been making decided improvements in his store, and the most noticeable is a fine double deck show case, which is filled to overflowing with every conceivable novelty.

The first excursion of the season to the shores of Lake Maxenkuckee, came over the Wabash and Vandalia lines on Saturday last, and was given under the auspices of Purdue University of Lafayette. About 150 were present, and although the weather was not very propitious for the occasion, all seemed to enjoy themselves. The occasional showers somewhat marred the pleasure of the boating parties, but between these occasional they managed to get a tour of the lake on the steamers. In the afternoon dancing was held in the spacious and most complete dining room of the Colonade, and on every hand gallant young men were seen filling up the spaces of their programs with the names of the young ladies who were to be their partners in tripping the light fantastic to the sweet strains of music of Prof. Ohlsen's orchestra, who accompanied the party from Lafayette. After supper the tables were cleared and dancing once more indulged in until the bell of the locomotive attached to the train was to bear them home, announced that it was time to start, and at 10 o'clock p. m. it moved off having on board one of the happiest and jolliest parties that ever graced a college of learning. Mr. L. W. Cissel, who by the way is a member of the printing fraternity, acted as floor manager, and called off the numbers in a very precise and satisfactory manner. The ever genial and courteous host and hostess of the Colonade, Mr. and Mrs. Postlewaite, did everything in their power to make their stay pleasant, and there is no doubt but that the above hostelry will receive the patronage, on all occasions, it Will people never learn that a "cold" is an accident to be dreaded, and that when it occurs treatment should be promptly applied? There is no knowing where the trouble will lead; and while complete recovery is the rule, the exceptions are terribly frequent, and thousands upon thousands of fatal illnesses occur every year ushered in by a little injudicious exposure and seemingly trifling symptoms. Beyond this, there are today countless invalids who can trace their complaints to "colds," which at the time of occurrence gave no concern, and were therefore neglected.—When troubled with a cold use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is prompt and effectual. 25 and 50 cent bottles. CULVER CITY DRUG STORE.

All last winter Mr. Geo. A. Mills of Lebanon, Conn., was badly afflicted with rheumatism. At times it was so severe that he could not stand up straight, but was drawn over on one side. "I tried different remedies without receiving relief," he says, "until about six months ago I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. After using it for three days my rheumatism was gone and has not returned since." Culver City Drug Store.
