Mr. Orla Osborn, a grandson of John Hartlerhode, came from Benton Harbor, Mich., last Friday via the bicycle, passing through South Bend, Plymouth, Marmont and Monterey, making the trip in 137½ hours including stops to rest, which amounted to 2½ hours. The wheel was geared to 76, which means that the wheel traveled 21 feet at every revolution. On his way back he visited with Wm. Foss and family two days for the purpose of fishing.

Notwithstanding that the inclemency of the weather has affected all business at the lake this year by keeping people away, the fact remains just the same that "Cottage Grove Place" has been filled to overflowing with guests from all over the United States. This fact is owing to the extreme popularity of its hostess, Mr. R. K. Lord, who could have given Delmonico lessons in his palmiest days in the catering line.

On Monday last the Plymouth band boys pitched their tents for a week's outing. In the evening, at the invitation of Capt. THE BODY RECOVERED.

The body of Wayne Wilkinson, with the circumstances of whose sad drowning ten days ago, while swimming in Pretty lake, the public is already familiar, was recovered by searchers at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

The extended search that has been necessary to effect the recovery is remarkable. Thousands of people have visited the scene of the drowning and the search has been vigorously prosecuted daily and has been engaged in by hundreds of persons anxious to reclaim its victim from the lake's cold, sparkling waters. Four men who rowed into the lake this morning, were destined to recover the long lost body and render further search unnecessary. They were Benjamin Boyer, J. Beagles, J. Smith and Alex. Foreman. The body was brought to the surface by a grappling hook in the hands of Mr. Beagles, and towed to the shore by these four men with the assistance of David Sponsler.

The body came to the surface in a remarkable state of preservation, which probably accounts in some measure for the fact that no effort, such as is ordinarily used for like purposes, had any tendency to bring it to the surface. The repeated discharge of heavy dynamite cartridges had failed to dislodge it from its resting place in the bottom of the lake. The cool, clear, pure water at the bottom of this lake seems to have acted as a preservative, for when the body was brought to the surface the skin was so perfectly preserved that the complexion was as clear as it had been in the living person. The features were perfectly preserved and those who viewed the remains shortly after recovery said the expression and appearance of the face was more like that of a person in gentle sleep than like death.

As soon as the body was laid on shore a bicyclist was dispatched to the undertaking establishment of John Bunnell, of this city, by which conveyance was furnished and the remains brought to town and embalmed. The body now lies at the undertaker's but will be removed to the family residence this evening, where it will lie till 5 o'clock Monday morning, when it will be shipped to Wayne's old home—Freemont, Indiana.

The deceased was 24 years old last December and was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wilkinson. He was a printer by trade, but had traveled some time for the Consolidated Copying Co., of Chicago, previous to coming here with his parents last January.—Plymouth Daily Independent of Saturday.

The writer has seen young girls who were just blooming into womanhood with young men that would not under any circumstances be admitted in said girls' homes. These young men do not all reside in Culver City, and are base libertines whose only aim in life is to ruin and debase any girl who has not the sense to give them a wide berth. ATTENTION, FARMERS.

Soon the time for holding the Fair will be here. We understand that a goodly number of our substantial farmers are stockholders in the Maxenkuckee Agricultural Association; and this being the case it is essential that each stockholder makes it his duty to do all in his power to make our fair a success. The idea that one man alone can maintain a deep interest in the success of the fair, while others who should be more interested in the success of the 1896 exhibition is erroneous. If every man connected with the society, instead of standing around and wondering how the fair's finances would "pan out" this year, would put their shoulder to the wheel and talk about it, work for it, and encourage their neighbors to attend, the financial part of the venture will be all right. The prospects this year for a large attendance is great notwithstanding the prevailing hard times, and we must have the co-operation of the entire association to furnish a grand agricultural exhibition, which is essential to the success of all fairs. We have the best point in the county for holding such meetings, and if a financial success this year, the future progression of the Association is assured. Last year the fair was a success, and it is bound to be this year if all as one man works for it. Hence, up and doing should be the motto. At once commence to get your exhibits ready and let us have the best you have got and plenty of it.

THIRD PARTY MEETS

PROCEEDINGS OF THE POPULIST NATIONAL CONVENTION.

Senator Butler Is Chosen Temporary Chairman—Gov. Stone Delivers Welcoming Address—Delegates Manifest Enthusiasm in Spite of the Heat.

Opening Session.

The national convention of the People's party was called to order in St. Louis shortly after noon Wednesday by Chairman Taubeneck of the national committee.

The hall in which the Populists met was the same in which the national Republican convention was held last month. There were the same arrangements as to seats. The state delegations were located in the pit, each marked by a guidon. The galleries reared themselves above the pit on all sides. The platform in front was flanked by the press benches. The decorations were not elaborate and were practically the same as those of the Republican convention. The delegates began to come in before 10 o'clock, but the spectators were slow in arriving.

Welcomed by Governor Stone.

It was just 12:37 when Chairman Taubeneck called the delegates to order. Rev.

PERMANENT CHAIRMAN ALLEN.

R. Hill Smith invoked the divine blessing, after which Gov. Stone was introduced, who, as the chief executive of Missouri, and not as a member of the Democratic national committee, made an address welcoming the People's party to St. Louis. Gov. Stone only hinted at the past differences of opinion between the Democrats and Populists, and hoped that in the future they would unite for the welfare of the country. This allusion to a Bryan endorsement set the Nebraskan's friends on the floor to cheering.

Ignatius Donnelly replied to the Governor's address in behalf of the convention. Mr. Donnelly made a "middle-of-the-road" speech, in which he mentioned the names of Lincoln, Jackson, Washington and Jefferson, thereby arousing enthusiasm. He paid an earnest tribute to the People's party, and, in brief, detailed its doctrines, which, he claimed, seek to array the people against those who would seek to deprive them of their rights. Mary Ellen Lease came into the hall as Mr. Donnelly finished his address and was greeted with cheers. She was invited to a seat on the platform.

Chairman Taubeneck announced that the national committee had named Senator Marion Butler of North Carolina by acclamation for temporary chairman. The fight which was expected on Butler's selection did not materialize. Somebody on the platform proposed three cheers for the new chairman, and they were given with a will.

Senator Butler's speech was long and his voice was not capable of penetrating the vastness of the auditorium. The delegates wanted to hear what he said, however, and regardless of the protests of the sergeant-at-arms and his assistants, ran into the aisles and crowded around the platform. The Senator closed with an ardent appeal to the convention to stand together, no matter what might be the result of its deliberations.

The only routine business transacted by the convention was the formation of the usual committee, after which an adjournment was taken until 8 o'clock. A sort of free-for-all meeting was held after the convention proper had adjourned, at which many men prominent in the party voiced their views. The meeting lasted for nearly three hours.

No Night Session.

The attempt of the convention to hold a night session was a failure. Through somebody's omission no provision was made for lighting the hall, and when the delegates and spectators assembled there the interior of the big auditorium was dark. The telegraph companies sent for a supply of tallow candles, with which they lighted the tables of their operators. They also furnished candles to the newspaper correspondents, and the flickering lights burning in the two press sections were the only illuminations in the hall. They served to throw fantastic shadows across the floor where the delegates were assembled, but were not strong enough to enable the convention to proceed with business. Chairman Butler arrived long after 8 o'clock, and announced that as no arrangement could be made at that late hour he made for light, the convention would adjourn until 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

THURSDAY.

At 10:12 the convention was called to order and at 12:42 took a recess till 3 o'clock. Shortly before 10 o'clock Senators Stewart of Nevada and Kyle of North Dakota joined Senator Allen and Gen. Field of Virginia on the platform. The tall form of "Cyclone" Davis of Texas could be seen on the floor, towering above the delegates. "Stump" Ashby of the South State, held forth from a rostrum composed of a chair. At 10:05 Senator Butler, the handsome temporary chairman, appeared on the platform. Simultaneously the band struck up "Dixie," and the delegates uncorked some of their pent-up enthusiasm. Five minutes later Chairman Butler called the convention to order and the Rev. Mr. Smith offered the invocation.

The report of the committee on credentials was called for, but no one responded, and the States were called for members of the committees on permanent organization and resolutions.

There were at times long delays and the delegates grew perceptibly impatient. The middle-of-the-roads were extremely suspicious. They intimated that it was part of the plot to defeat them.

A Dramatic Outburst.

After the announcement of the committee on permanent organization the members retired. While other announcements were being made a middle-of-the-road man attempted a demonstration. It was dramatically arranged. A squad of middle-of-the-roads suddenly plunged into the hall through the main entrance and came whooping down the center aisle. Delegate Branch bore aloft a big white banner with the inscription: "Middle-of-the-road—a straight ticket." The Texas, Georgia, Maine, Missouri and Mississippi delegations mounted their chairs and yelled. At the same time a middle-of-the-road delegate stationed in the gallery over the platform hurled out through the air about a peck of small green tickets, which broke and fell like a cloud of stage snow over the pit. The green tickets contained the following financial plank:

"We demand a national treasury note issued by the general government receivable for all public dues and a full legal tender in payment of all debts, public and private, and loaned direct to the people through postal and other governmental banks at cost, for the benefit of the people, and the purchase and coinage of such amount of gold and silver bullion, at the ratio of 16 to 1, as may be necessary to pay the debts of the Government which are made payable in coin. We demand that the volume of money shall speedily increase to an amount necessary to transact the business of the country on a cash basis."

There was a ripple of applause and a few shouts when the name of Jacob S. Coxe was announced as a member of the committee on platform from Ohio. There were also demonstrations for Gov. Holcomb of Nebraska, Gen. Weaver of Iowa and ex-Gov. Lewelling of Kansas when their names were shouted out.

Afternoon Session.

It was half an hour after the chairman had called the convention to order for the afternoon session when the committee on credentials reported. When the matter of contests had been settled New York called for the report of the committee on permanent organization. Some of the delegates wanted to adjourn until 8 o'clock, but the anti-Bryan people objected.

Senator W. V. Allen of Nebraska was named for permanent chairman by the majority of the committee on permanent organization. This was a straight out-and-out Bryan recommendation, and the Bryan delegates stood on chairs and waved hats and handkerchiefs. Then the minority report was made. It recommended James E. Campion of Maine as the permanent chairman. With a whoop and a yell Texas' 103 delegates jumped up and

TEMPORARY CHAIRMAN BUTLER.

Georgia followed, and soon the "middle-of-the-road" and anti-Bryan demonstration was in full blast. On motion the previous question on the adoption of the majority report was ordered. The call of States began in the midst of great confusion. Before it was finished darkness set in and after losing a quarter of an hour the electric lights were turned on and the roll call proceeded. Many of the States had their votes challenged, and each side watched the other closely.

The vote as announced was 758 for Allen and 564 for Campion, indicating a majority for Bryan. Instantly the convention became a mob of howling, shrieking, yelling, cheering men. The spontaneous outburst of Bryan enthusiasm put the previous anti-Bryan demonstration in the shade.

Colorado pulled its standard out of the socket and started the march around. State after State fell into line, until twenty-five States were in the procession. The excitement grew wilder and wilder every minute, men pulled off their coats and waved them frantically. Hats were thrown to the rafters and men tramped down the aisles with other men on their shoulders. The procession paraded all over the floor, and at last surrounded the Texas delegation, whose members sat silent, looking out of sullen eyes.

The "middle-of-the-road" men were game, however, for one of them carried a banner to the front, and Texas, Arkansas, Tennessee and Ohio sent their standards to re-enforce it. The excitement reached its height at this point, and several personal encounters took place. At last, after a quarter of an hour of almost riotous enthusiasm, the delegates calmed down and Senator Allen was brought to the platform. When Senator Allen appeared the Bryan men gave him three hearty cheers. He was introduced by "Cyclone" Davis and addressed the convention in a speech of considerable length. It was nearly 10 o'clock when the Senator concluded, and shortly after the convention adjourned until the following morning.

THE SILVER PARTY.

White Metal Men Hold a Convention of Their Own in St. Louis.

The delegates to the national silver convention in St. Louis were slow in assembling at the Grand Music Hall Wednesday, and there were not enough visitors to fill the galleries when J. J. Mott, chairman of the national committee, called the convention to order. He, too, was tardy, and it was long after 12 o'clock when he stepped to the platform and rapped for order. It was not surprising that the delegates, the visitors, and the chairman should have been slow in coming together. The weather was intensely hot. It was of that variety of heat that one finds in the steam room at a Turkish bath.

The hall had been attractively draped with flags and bunting, but the atmosphere was so close and hot that it was almost suffocating. When Chairman Mott came forward to call the convention to order the delegates for the moment ceased the use of fans and roused from the torpor caused by the awful heat and indulged in enthusiastic cheering. Prayer was offered, after which Miss Lillie B. Pierce, of St. Louis, read the declaration of independence. This caused another outburst of applause.

When the call for the convention had been read, Congressman Francis G. Newlands, of Nevada, was introduced by Chairman Mott as temporary chairman of the convention, and the delegates gave him a vigorous reception. In his speech he urged the silverites to support the nominee of the Democratic party.

"The Democratic party," Mr. Newlands said, "has declared for the free and unlimited coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1 without waiting for international action. Whilst it has made other declarations in its platform, it has announced that the silver question is the paramount issue of the day, and that to it all other questions are to be subordinated. It has nominated a candidate of unimpeachable character, of exalted ability, of inflexible integrity, of high purpose, who has never faltered for a moment in his devotion to the cause of bimetallism. Firm, but not headstrong; confident, but not self-sufficient; near to the people, but not demagogic; determined for reform, yet without a single incendiary speech or passionate utterance to mar his record; possessing a happy combination of the oratorical and logical qualities; young, courageous, and enthusiastic, yet deliberate and wise, he stands as the ideal candidate for a movement which, though termed a movement for reform, really means a return to the wise conservatism of our fathers."

Wm. P. St. John, of New York, was chosen for permanent chairman, and when escorted to the platform addressed the convention. What he said was quite in accord with the sentiments of the assemblage and he got several salvos of applause.

The platform declares in favor of a distinctly American financial system, opposes the single gold standard and demands the immediate return to the constititutional standard of gold and silver by the restoration by this Government, independently of any foreign power, of the unrestricted coinage of both gold and silver into standard money, at the ratio of 16 to 1, and upon terms of exact equality, as they existed prior to 1873; the silver coin to be a full legal tender equally with gold for all debts and dues, public and private, and we favor such legislation as will prevent for the future the demonetization of any kind of legal tender money by private contract. It holds that the power to control and regulate a paper currency is inseparable from the power to coin money, and hence that all currency intended to circulate as money should be issued and its volume controlled by the general government only, and should be a legal tender. The declaration unalterably opposes the issue by the United States of interest-bearing bonds in time of peace, and appeals to the people of the

BRYAN AND WATSON

These Are the Candidates of the People's Party.

WILD SCENE ENACTED

Nebraskan Carries the Convention with a Whoop.

"Boy Orator of the Platte" Is Named for President by More than Two-Thirds Majority at the Populist National Convention—His Refusal to Run Without Sewall for a Mate Is Ignored—Great Confusion Attends the Calling of the Roll.

W. J. Bryan was nominated at St. Louis Saturday afternoon by the Populists as their candidate for President of the United States.

Only two other candidates were nominated to contest the field against Bryan. One was Seymour F. Norton, a lawyer from Chicago, and the other was Gen. Coxe. The general's name was withdrawn before the balloting was begun. Eugene V. Debs would have been a candidate had he not sent a message to the convention declining to accept the nomination. The voting was all one way, and when the result was announced bedlam broke loose and pandemonium reigned for fifteen or twenty minutes. The Texas, Arkansas and Maine middle-of-the-road men, with their gaidons together, took no part in the demonstration.

Sewall Is Rejected.

At the first session Friday the anti-Sewall people moved to change the rules and make the nomination of candidate for Vice-President the first order of business, preceding the nomination for President. It was generally understood this was a test vote on the Sewall proposition, and on it the anti-Sewall people were victorious by 100 majority.

The convention met for its evening session at 6:30 o'clock and speeches nominating candidates for Vice-President were declared to be in order. Half a dozen candidates were put up. Thomas E. Watson of Georgia had the greatest number of friends. No fewer than two dozen speeches were made in his behalf. The other candidates named were Sewall, Skinner of North Carolina, Burkitt of Mississippi, Mimms of Tennessee and Even Page of Virginia. All the candidates save Sewall were from the South, there being a tacit understanding that a straight-out Populist from that section should be placed upon the ticket.

When the roll was called Arkansas started off with twenty-five votes for Watson. Mr. Patterson of Colorado cast the forty-five votes of his State for Sewall amid a round of applause from the Bryan men. Indiana gave her thirty votes to Watson. Kansas gave Sewall eighty-two of her ninety-five votes. Louisiana gave the bulk of her vote to Watson, Maryland divided her vote between Sewall and Watson. North Carolina cast her ninety-five votes for Skinner, Tennessee voted for Mimms and Texas for Burkitt. This split up the large delegations. Before the roll call was completed, however, Texas changed her vote to Watson and there were other changes in favor of the Georgian. Col. Burkitt of Mississippi went to the stand and withdrew his name. Then Mimms withdrew in Watson's favor. The Georgian already had votes enough to nominate, but the vote of Tennessee was finally transferred to his column. Some one made the motion to make the nomination unanimous and it was carried with a whoop.

Senator Allen called the convention to order at 9:35 o'clock Saturday morning. After the invocation the chairman announced that the first thing in order was the selection of members of the national committee and the committees to notify the candidates for President and Vice-President. Several resolutions were presented and referred without reading or debate.

Weaver Names Bryan.

The chairman then called for the nominations of President and Vice-President, and Judge Green of Nebraska took the stage to place Mr. Bryan in nomination. A Texas delegate interrupted with a point of order that the States must be called in alphabetical order for nominations. Judge Green was driven off the stage by the Texan's point of order. When Alabama was called Gov. Kolb yielded to Gen. Weaver of Iowa, but Col. Gaitner of Alabama got to the platform first and interjected a speech about joining the cotton fields of the South with the wheat fields of the West. At the conclusion of his remarks Gen. Weaver came forward and formally placed Mr. Bryan in nomination.

The greatest confusion prevailed, and Bryan's nomination was seconded by orators from nearly every State, and at last, after six hours of speech-making, the roll call on the ballot was reached. When Alabama, the first State, was called she divided her vote between Bryan and Norton. Arkansas gave her twenty-five votes for Bryan; Colorado, Connecticut and Delaware voted solidly for Bryan. Georgia gave five of her sixty-one votes for Norton of Illinois. As the roll call proceeded it became apparent that Bryan would be nominated before it was completed. At its conclusion the tally clerks had figured the totals, and without further delay Chairman Allen announced the official vote as: Bryan, 1,042; Norton, 21; Donnelly, 1. It was then 4:22. Someone made a motion to adjourn. The chairman put the motion and declared the convention adjourned sine die.

KENNEDY'S MEDICAL DISCOVERY.

DONALD KENNEDY, OF ROXBURY, MASS., Has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds a remedy that cures every kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple.

He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases (both thunder humor). He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston. Send postal card for book.

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the right quantity is taken.

When the lungs are affected it causes shooting pains, like needles passing through them; the same with the Liver or Bowels. This is caused by the ducts being stopped, and always disappears in a week after taking it. Read the label.

If the stomach is foul or bilious it will cause squeamish feelings at first.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it. Dose, one tablespoonful in water at bedtime. Sold by all Druggists.

MEN WHO FIGHT FIRE

HOW THEY ARE TRAINED FOR THEIR WORK.

Drilled in the Art of Scaling High Buildings—Handle Long Ladders with Wonderful Ease and Celerity—No Time Is Lost.

Powerful and Agile Athletes.

Every pipeman, engineman, and truckman in the service of the fire department of large cities is drilled weekly in the duties of a hook and ladder company. Not only the men serving on the hook and ladders know how to lower a man or woman by means of a rope from a burning building, but when a pipeman or engineman is needed he is as well trained as any to take an active part in saving life, and can do it as well as he can handle an engine or turn a hose where it does the most effective work.

Although this drill usually takes place at every hook and ladder house on some day of every week, it never ceases to be an interesting sight to the neighbors and passersby. Men and boys are never too busy to stop and watch the blue-shirted men as they nimbly run up the ladder, and then pass it on to the window above.

When Marshal Horan and Capt. Thomas O'Connor, of hook and ladder No. 6, at Chicago, gave the order for a drill one day last week four men immediately began to get themselves ready. They were Lieut. James Cunningham, John Tierney, Patrick Sullivan, and William Thompson. The first thing done by the quartet was to bring into the alley upon which the engine house is situated four long ladders. Then they all fastened a broad leather belt about their waists. These were about six inches wide, and in front had a tremendous hook of steel.

"Up you go," called Capt. O'Connor.

and the four-men pompier drill began. The sixteen-foot ladders, with which the men practice when playing that lives are to be saved and that all egress by stairs is stopped by smoke and flame, were seized as though but a featherweight. At the top of each ladder is a long iron hook. This is notched so that it will catch in any width window sill. The first man to mount fastened the ladder securely to the second story window and swiftly ran up the rounds. As soon as he reached the top he opened the big hook at his belt and snapped it about the top round. Then he put out his hands for the next ladder, and it was quickly handed up to him. This he raised high in the air, hand over hand, fastened it on the third floor window, tried its strength to see that it was secure, then quickly ran up. As he went up this he was followed up the first ladder by the second man waiting below. As he reached each floor his manoeuver was the same. When he reached the top of the second ladder the second man was at the top of the first. Both men hooked themselves safely and put out their hands for the ladder below. Quickly it was passed from the third man at the foot to the one on the top of the first ladder.

LOWERING MAN FROM A WINDOW.

By him it went to the fireman above. Then the third man ran briskly up and the fourth and last one began the mount. By the time he had reached the top of the ladder that stood firmly upon the ground his brother fireman has passed the fourth ladder to the man at the top. Here it was fastened to the summit of the tower, and the first man to mount was soon looking below to Capt. O'Connor for orders.

"All the way down!" shouted the Captain.

And without one moment for breath the descent began. Each man came down from the top of the ladder upon which he had stood, and snap went three hooks upon the round of the ladder. The ladder at the top was as a wisp of hay in the powerful arms of the man at the third floor window. He took it from its place and quickly lowered it to the man below.

"Up you go," called Capt. O'Connor.

A Veil of Mist
Rising at morning or evening from some lowlands often carries in its folds the seeds of malaria. Where malarial fever prevails no one is safe, unless protected by some efficient medicinal safeguard. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is both a protection and a remedy. No person who inhabits or sojourns in a malarial region or country should omit to procure this fortifying agent, which is also the finest known remedy for dyspepsia, constipation, kidney trouble and rheumatism.

Battle Ax PLUG

DON'T FORGET for 5 cents you get almost as much "Battle Ax" as you do of other brands for 10 cents.

DON'T FORGET that "Battle Ax" is made of the best leaf grown, and the quality cannot be improved.

DON'T FORGET, no matter how much you are charged for a small piece of other brands, the chew is no better than "Battle Ax."

DON'T FORGET, "Economy is wealth," and you want all you can get for your money. Why pay 10 cents for other brands when you can get "Battle Ax" for 5 cents?

"I like the small package of Pearline," a lady says; "it lasts two weeks and does two washings."

Then she admits that she has been using soap with her Pearline. Now this is all unnecessary. If you don't put in enough Pearline to do the work easily and alone, you bring Pearline down to the level of soap, which means hard work and rubbing. If you use enough Pearline, the soap is a needless expense, to say the least. Use Pearline alone, just as directed, and you'll have the most thoroughly economical washing.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled; if your grocer sends you an imitation, be honest—send it back.

On Saturday evening a number of young people of Long Point, chaperoned by the Misses Miller, Mering, Jones and Howe, serenaded Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Snyder. Some of the party were artists in the use of musical instruments. Music, ice cream and dancing formed the program for the fore part of the evening. An enjoyable time was spent until the "wee sma' hours" called them home to repose.

For every quarter in a man's pocket there are a dozen uses; and to use each one in such a way as to derive the greatest benefit is a question every one must solve for himself. We believe, however, that no better use could be made of one of these quarters than to exchange it for a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, a medicine that every family should be provided with. For sale at Culver City Drug Store.

Last Saturday the Republicans of Pulaski county held their county convention. The city of Winnamac was crowded to overflowing by an enthusiastic army of McKinley followers. The Monterey and two other brass bands furnished music for the occasion. At the close of the nomination rattling speeches were made by eminent speakers upon the great questions of the day, and the silver question handled without gloves. In the evening a ratification meeting was held in which McKinley and Hobart were endorsed. The republicans are confident that they can carry Pulaski county this fall, but they can tell better after the votes are counted.

The indications are that the pickle crop will be larger this year than last, although the acreage is somewhat smaller. This is certainly an industry which should be fostered and encouraged, as it is a means to bring ready money to the farmer when he is sore in need of such a commodity.

A "merry-go-round" has arrived in Culver City, and it is a good one. The owner of this amusement construction is a widow, her husband dying July 9th, 1896, leaving her a family to support and this is the only means she has to obtain a living for herself and children. Hence, our people should patronized her liberally and thus aid and encourage her in the laudable enterprise of being self-supporting.

Mr. and Mrs. Hayden Rea visited friends in Plymouth over Sunday.

Wednesday evening the sound of sweet and harmonious vocal music was wafted upon the air, and a reporter for the HERALD soon discovered that it emanated from the residence of Dr. Wiseman. It was simply the famous Wiseman family quartette singing for their own amusement, which was highly appreciated by citizens for blocks around.

Since the Pennsylvania system has assumed control of the Vandalia, it has increased the freight rates at least two per cent, which greatly adds to the burden the merchants and other business men are already carrying. Certain lumber mill men are positive that unless the old rates are restored, their mills will have to stand idle as it is impossible to ship lumber under the present freight schedule, and declare it was a sorry day for them when the road changed hands.
