ACCOUNT OF THE FIRE

Which Totally Destroyed the Mexico Missouri Military Academy.

At one o'clock on the morning of September 24th, the buildings of the Missouri Military Academy, situated in the southwestern portion of the city were destroyed by fire.

There were in the building about 100 boys and young men, students at the academy, besides the professors.

The fire was in full swing before the alarm was given and all egress was shut out. For this reason many were seriously burned and bruised, as they had to jump out of the window or be thrown out.

The wonder is that there were no fatalities under the circumstances, but so far no one is dead.

No one had any adequate idea of how the fire originated or the exact time it started. It is known to have first begun its work of destruction in the east wing of the main building and many circumstances seem to indicate arson. However, it may have been the work of the festive and forbidden cigarette, though this is hardly possible, for the officers in charge had just about an hour and a half before the fire burst out in all its fury, completed inspection, going into every boy's room in the entire building and satisfying himself that all was well.

The experience of one was about the experience of all—a sudden bewildering awakening to find the room filled with flame and smoke, a wild dash for life and in numerous cases a narrow escape from a horrible death.

When most of the boys in the second and third stories of the building became aware of the danger they were in, escape by the stairway was already cut off, and the only chance left them to keep from being cremated alive was to jump from the windows. This many of them did, while the more timorous held back and had to be literally thrown from the blazing rooms by their more resolute fellow students.

Many were the young heroes who proved last night what they were made of. Among these deserving especial mention was Cadet Clijton, son of the well known United States District Attorney of this city, who had the presence of mind to seize his bugle and blow the fire-call even though his room was then ablaze. Cadet W. W. Austin, of Carrollton, also will have the life-long gratitude of a number of his fellow school-mates for aiding their escape from the holocaust.

But the two probably did more than all others to save life were Capt. Glascock, an instructor in the academy from Paris, Mo., and Lieut. George Good, the United States Army officer detailed there. Capt. Glascock, though himself badly injured, ran from room to room and literally dragged out the terrified boys who, frightened out of their wits, would have remained in the building and been burned to a cinder.

Lieut. Good picked up Capt. Rolla McIntyre, who had lost consciousness from suffocation, and sprang from a third story window with him clasped in his arms. Strange to relate both Lieut. Good and Capt. McIntyre escaped uninjured.

Col. Fleet has the sympathy of the entire community in his heavy loss. It is not thought that any of the boys injured will die, although several are dangerously hurt.

Missouri Military Academy is one of the best known institutions of the kind in the state. Its building were of brick and spacious and complete, having electric lights and hot water heating. The military training was in the hands of Lieut. Good, an army officer detailed by the United States Government. The institution was established six years ago by Prof. A. F. Fleet, who has made it unusually successful.

The above is a brief synopsis of the terrible ordeal passed through by the boys now attending the Culver Military Academy, having been brought here by their beloved instructor, Col. Fleet. Lieut. Good, the commandant at the academy is the same gallant officer that performed such heroic acts upon the night of the fire as mentioned in the above extract which was clipped from the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, published Sept. 24.

Judge Winfield Speaks.

Last Saturday evening Kreuzberger's Hall was filled with citizens of Culver City and vicinity to listen to a speech delivered by Judge Winfield, of Logansport, on the issues of this campaign, from the free silver side of the fence. The house was well filled a half or three-quarters of an hour before the speaker arrived. The band entertained the audience by playing several selections.

Before the speaker began, Judge Capron gave an invitation, in behalf of the people of Rochester, to the citizens of Culver City, to attend the barbecue to be held in the former city on October 22. He said that Bryan would certainly be there and would speak in front of the court house at 9:30 a. m., the grounds having been put in a condition to accommodate 30,000 people.

After the announcement, Judge Winfield was introduced and spoke for almost two hours, and although he had been speaking that afternoon out in the rain, made a very interesting speech and was given the undivided attention of those present.

In his speech he defended the Chicago platform in every respect, and remarked that if the St. Louis platform had had a free silver plank in it, McKinley would have swept the country like wild fire.

Palmer and Buckner, the candidates on the gold democratic ticket, he said, were mere upstarts and the party they represented a decoy party.

He said that he was not seeking an office or any favor at the hands of the people.

In closing he declared that Bryan would be elected by an overwhelming majority.

A POLITICAL SERMON.

Some Sound Advice to Politicians; and Others Holding Opposite Views.

That talented young divine, Rev. Howard, delivered a sermon Sunday morning from the following text: "Is thy heart right with my heart as my heart is with thine."

He said he had been requested by members of the church, to speak upon the political issues that are at present the chief avenue of interest to the American people. He said the above text, after looking through the Bible, seemed more applicable to the subject than any other. He dwelt at length upon the fact that men during this campaign were apt to become very angry and said he had heard men, in the most violent manner, curse and swear while debating the question with their neighbors, which was wrong, and only developed a spirit of enmity which would be regretted in after years. Even if our neighbor does not hold the same political views as we do, he should, nevertheless, be treated with the utmost courtesy and allowed all the privileges of free speech and free thought, which are the right of every American citizen.

We go, he said, to a medical meeting and listen to others who have different views from our own upon the great questions brought before that body but we do not think that all doctors are fools because they do not think as we do; then, why should people fall out because they hold different political views.

In conclusion, he said, the people would have to solve, for themselves, the question as to which would benefit the country most, the single gold standard or bimetalsim. "I cannot," he said, "commend you to anything but your own educated conscience, I have nothing but this to guide myself."

The sermon as a whole, appealed to manhood, and taken as a lesson, taught men to bear with each other, and in brotherly love settle all differences of opinion in a manner that would reflect credit upon them as citizens.

In the evening a very interesting service was held, members of the choir of both churches being present and a half hour's song service was appreciated by the large congregation in attendance, at the close of which, Rev. Howard, delivered a very interesting short talk upon the "Church vs. The World." He said the idea had gone forth, to a great extent, that the church stood aloof from the world, consequently had lost, in a measure, its influence for promulgating the great reform for which it was intended. He spoke at length upon the necessity of leading a pure and holy life, which would have a telling effect upon the world at large. He gave a very appropriate talk upon the social life of the church and said that it was absolutely necessary for it to come in contact with the world in order to wield an influence. Christ went among the people and with unflinching energy, taught the vilest to turn from the path of sin. In the substance of the whole matter, church members should not only look after the welfare of one another, but should ever be ready to tender a cheering word to the afflicted, make every effort possible to visit the strangers in the community, and invite them to attend the sanctuary. Thousands are standing aloof from the church today simply because it lacks sociability and encouragement. They think there is no room for them among the people of the church who never extend to them the hand of fellowship, or in any way recognize their existence. Christ told us to go out into the hedges and by-ways and gather in the wanderers, and when approached by the harlot gave us the grandest illustration of true love for humanity. Voices were loud for executing the woman, when Christ said, "He that is without sin let him cast the first stone."

Last Monday afternoon, a foot ball match was played on the academy grounds between the South Bend and Culver Military Academy teams. The weather was not very propitious, a cold, drizzling rain having fallen most of the afternoon. Notwithstanding this, however, the boys pulled the game through to a finish. The South Bend team was more than a match for their opponents, and we are not surprised at the result—14 to 0 in favor of the visitors, as the latter team outweighed the academy boys in every respect.

An organized gang of pickpockets have been following in the wake of the Bryan party for the past week or so, and got in their work in good shape as the following will show. The populist candidate for governor of Virginia was relieved of $60. Two newspaper men are minus $20 each, and as a wind-up before being rounded-up, they touched-up Senator Faulkner to the tune of $275. About that time a Pinkerton detective stepped in and stopped the deal, and as a result 28 of these light-fingered gentry were placed behind the bars.

A Horse thief was apprehended in his work at the residence of A. T. Wallace about eleven o'clock Sunday night. Ed Winegar, who works on the farm, was returning from the city when he noticed a horse tied behind the barn. His suspicions were doubly aroused when upon coming in sight of the barn doors he saw them wide open and he had not long to wait before a man came out leading a horse which Mr. Winegar recognized as one of Mr. Wallace's. The fellow had previously wheeled out a two-seated carriage and proceeded to back up the horse, intending to hitch, when he became aware of the presence of a second party and lost no time in making good his escape. He left behind two sets of harness besides the strange horse hitched behind the barn. Monday morning it was found that the horse had been taken from the barn of Lib Cross. As to the identity of the individual who did the work no clew has been discovered.—Plymouth Independent.

The great free silver barbecue at Rochester came off last Saturday as advertised. From early morning until noon great streams of people came pouring in on the railroads that center at that point, and vehicles of every description were brought into play to bring into that thriving little city the people of the neighboring townships. The procession was one of the finest ever witnessed in this section of the country, and the bands, which were numerous, acquitted themselves in a satisfactory manner, our own (Culver City Band) not taking a rear seat for any of them. The barbecue was a pronounced success, and the proceedings of the day taken altogether will live in the minds of the people for a long time to come.

DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is an antiseptic, soothing and healing application for burns, scalds, cuts, bruises, etc., and cures piles like magic. It instantly stops pain. Culver City Drug Store.

Mr. Francis Baker, who was to speak in the Republican club room, Tuesday evening, was unable to be present, but in his place sent a substitute in the person of Mr. E. A. Dauson, a prominent young lawyer of Goshen, who is worthy the attention of any intelligent audience anywhere in this broad land of ours. From the opening of his remarks to the close he was attentively listened to, and brought to the surface statements, plain and conclusive, that even people of meagre education could see into without the aid of artificial means. His arguments in favor of the election of McKinley and Hobart, and the gold standard were carefully cited all the way through, and showed that in every country where the free and unlimited coinage of silver was tried it proved unsuccessful in every case. He predicted that on the 3rd of November the majority would be so large for the above-named candidates, it would sink the free silver issue so deep in the bowels of the earth that it could never rise again.

Chronic constipation is a painful, disagreeable and life-shortening difficulty. It deranges the system, causes sick headache, bad breath, and poisons the blood. It can be readily overcome by DeWitt's Little Early Risers. These little pills are great regulators. Culver City Drug Store.

Tuesday, Capt. Morris took on board of his magnificent steamer Peerless the Maxenkuckee Outing Club and steamed for the waters where ducks and mud hens abound, and several of the duck species were captured.

Wedding Bells. Mr. Henry Heckman, of German township, and Miss Mellie Shearer, of Union township, were united in marriage at Plymouth, Thursday, Oct. 15th. Arriving at the home of the bride's parents the tables were spread for dinner, which was partaken of by a number of the immediate friends of the bride and groom, and one such as a farmer's wife only can get up. They will reside on a farm in German township, and the citizens of that vicinity will be pleased to learn that they are to have so amiable a young couple in their midst, whom they will they find pleasant and sociable. The writer of this article as well as the HERALD wishes them a long, happy and useful life. P. J. GARN.

A Demonstration of Benevolence

Will take place on Saturday afternoon about 3 o'clock p. m., Oct. 31, 1896, and everybody is kindly invited to be in attendance and help to make it a success, as it is for a good purpose; it will also be the means of measuring and showing the weight of charity we have for our neighbor, Bro. Geo. Smith, who has lain on his back for five months, a freight car having run over both legs above the knee, but through the skill of two of the most eminent physicians and surgeons of Marshall county, Dr. B. W. S. Wiseman and Dr. O. A. Rea, of Culver City, Ind., his life was spared, and also his limbs, with a good prospect of his having reasonable use of himself again.

Now, fellow citizens, this demonstration is not a church affair nor a political affair, but it is an affair by which we trust the hearts of the people will be moved to provide for Bro. Smith and family the necessities of life. A committee has been appointed to solicit the people of Culver City to respond to this call, and also one to canvass the surrounding country for the same purpose. Now, let us say to the people, if the committee should fail to see any of you in person, we want you to understand that you are all invited, and expected to come and take part in tendering and bestowing your charity to a worthy citizen, which may consist in anything that will support life. Be it remembered by us all that the ground where the wood pile stood lays bare, the coal-bin and flour barrel are empty, the last piece of meat, the turnips, cabbage and beans are all gone, and worst of all the pocket-book is empty. How are the little children to be clad? Then there is the patient wife to be remembered. Oh, come one and all, and of what you have a plenty bestow liberally, as charity is the best principle in man. Don't fail to be present on the above date; there will be a grand procession, and headed by the Culver City Band will march to George Smith's home.

By ORDER OF COMMITTEE.

The Maxenkuckee Annual Outing Club at the Lake.

Last Friday the advance guard of the club arrived at the lake, consisting of John Ittenbach and the cook, who repaired to the Bohlan club house to prepare for "de rest ob de gang." On Friday evening the President of the club C. C. Perry, Rear Admiral Joseph C. Shaf, Dr. Mueller, and Commodore D. Bohlan arrived. On Saturday evening, Treasurer Frank Vonegut, Lieutenant Frank Ittenbach, the Hon. Louis P. Geobel, and Maj. Gen. Chas. Kuhn arrived. Monday arrivals were Councilman Herman Kirkhoff, Sergeant Wm. Kuhn, Second Lieutenant Neugre, and Capt. Geo. A. Pegg. The latter gentleman formerly sailed the ocean, plying between West and East India, and Australia. He could narrate volumes of interesting reading matter relative to his sea faring life.

This is a jolly club, and all the members but one, are staunch McKinley, men and they claim that this "lone silverite" with them was the only one to be found in Indianapolis, consequently they brought him along to see if they finally could not persuade him to enter the McKinley band wagon. The boys put in their time fishing, and hunting ducks, and have already killed several beauties.

Dr. Mueller, the eminent surgeon of the club, is prepared for all emergencies, bringing with him a full line of instruments and medicines, not forgetting his "pill bag." The club has its own boat, with C. C. Perry as second engineer, but the position was annulled owing to incompetency, he having set the craft on fire the first day he had it in charge, greatly to the consternation of Capt. Pegg, who expected to finally meet a watery grave.

This is the third year of the club's existence, and it is rapidly increasing in membership, and contemplates erecting a magnificent club house in the near future. One of the crowd, Frank Ittenbach, left for home Monday, owing to urgent business, taking with him 20 pounds of fine fish and several ducks.

Mrs. Daniel Carr is visiting her daughter in Rochester this week.

Jerome Eulitt, of tonsorial fame, lent a helping hand to his brother at Rochester, Thursday, who is also a tonsorial artist.

Rear Admiral Schaff, a member of the Maxenkuckee Outing Club, concluding that second engineer Perry was no good at running a craft tried it himself one day this week—result, boat on dry dock for repairs.

From this date you can get a first-class hair-cut for 15 cents at the "O. K." barber shop, in the basement of the Osborn block.
