Murder investigation narrows down

The Lela Hildebrandt murder investigation has been "considerably narrowed down," according to Detective Sgt. Robert Burns of the Peru Indiana State Police Post.

Late last week a $10,000 reward was offered by the parents of Mrs. Hildebrandt, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Donnelly and her parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Hildebrandt, for the apprehension of the individual responsible of the 26 year-old woman's death.

Due to the reward offer, officers received several leads which are bringing the investigation closer to its solution, Sgt. Burns indicated.

He would not specify how many suspects are in the case; he did say over 50 persons have been excluded as suspects for the murder death. Those excluded were eliminated through an around-the-clock investigation being headquartered at the Culver Police station.

"No immediate arrests are planned at this time," Sgt. Burns said, adding that he must obtain probable cause information before charging anyone with the murder of Mrs. Hildebrandt.

The victim Lela Donnelly Hildebrandt, RR 1, Winamac, was found dead in her auto Oct. 14 on State Road 17 just south of State Road 110 in Fulton County.

She was first believed dead from massive skull injuries sustained when her auto hit a tree 126 feet off the west side of the road. An autopsy Oct. 16 rev shotgun pellets imbedded in her skull and the cause of death was changed to murder.

Indiana State Police, the Fulton County Sheriff Department and Culver police began an investigation to determine the motive and the person responsible for the death of Mrs. Hildebrandt.

Sgt. Burns, who said he has been working sometimes 20 hours a day on the case, told the Citizen the murder weapon has not been recovered, but laboratory reports concluded the type of shotgun used in the murder. According to Burns, the reward will be in effect for six months.

Burns, as well as Fulton County Sheriff's Department member Bruce Baker and Culver police officers Richard Woodward and Jack Caudill, have interviewed over 400 persons regarding the case according to the detective.

"We are still interested in people contacting us about the case or Mrs. Hildebrandt," said Burns.

"We have received a few calls already which have opened a few new leads in the case," Burns said, adding he is sure there is information being withheld by persons who know something about the case.

"In any community, including Culver and many others I have worked in, a police officer's hands are tied unless he receives the cooperation of the public. We have received some cooperation as to information and we feel more is available in the community," Burns stated.

Police have asked that anyone with information about the shooting death call the Culver police, 842-2525 or Indiana State Police at the Peru Post, 317-473-6666 or the Fulton County Sheriff's office, 222-2802 at Rochester.

Mrs. Hildebrandt, wife of Greg Hildebrandt, a Winamac artist, was graduated from Culver Military Academy and Indiana University. Her father is a retired member of the CMA faculty, where he taught mathematics for a number of years.

She moved to Winamac just before her marriage and was employed at the Winamac Public Library.

Parade judging scheduled for Friday, Oct. 31

Ghosts, goblins and fairy princesses will walk in the annual Culver Lions Club Halloween Parade Friday, Oct. 31.

Besides the parade, which will be led by the Culver Junior High School band directed by Charles Byfield, participants will also be judged on their costumes and will have treats and games at the Culver Junior High-Elementary School gymnasium.

Costume judging will take place in the parking lot behind the State Exchange Bank building. Costumed persons are to meet at the lot by 6 p.m. Oct. 31 for the judging.

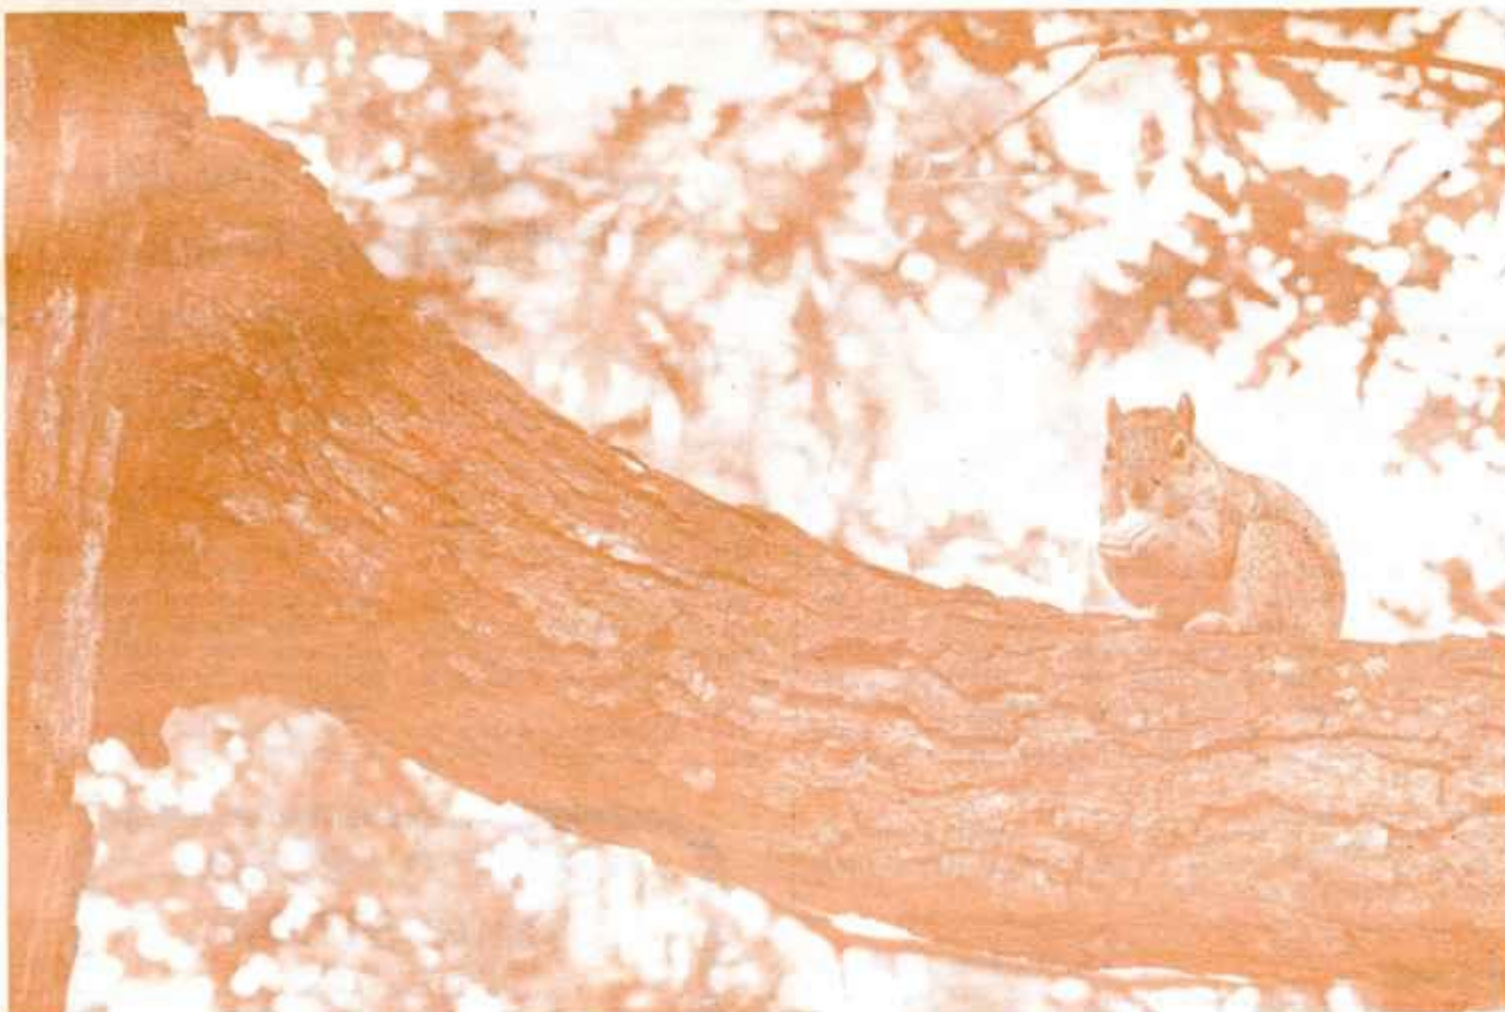

Prizes will be presented to winners under seven, seven through 10, 11 and up and adult.

The parade will then proceed from the parking lot to the gymnasium where the winners will be announced.

Treats and games will be available in the gym for Culver residents.

In case of rain, judging will take place in the gym.

Lion members Larry Welsh and Tom Sholly are chairmen of the event.

Planning for wintertime

This squirrel knows much too well that Old Man Winter will soon be upon us. He's preparing a winter feast by delivering nuts to his home located in this mighty maple tree. This woodland friend finds his home near the Culver Military Academy Chapel on the CMA campus and is one of many squirrels in Culver anticipating cold weather's arrival—becoming more of a reality each day with temperatures dropping steadily.

'Queen' -- revisited

By BOB KASER
Citizen Special Writer

If you're a regular watcher of movies on TV, you've undoubtedly seen that durable Humphrey Bogart-Katherine Hepburn production, "African Queen."

What you may not know is that plans are afoot in Hollywood to make an updated version of the 24 year-old classic.

Pinwhistle Pill, who is perhaps best known for his X-rated adaptations of "Going My Way" and "My Friend Flicka," was discussing the "African Queen" project with his assistant, Gordworthy Glump.

Some of Glump's initial enthusiasm waned then Pill explained to him that the movie's title referred to a boat. But Pill soon re-excited him as he described the possibilities he envisioned for the picture.

"We should try to get Marlon Brando and Elizabeth Taylor for the roles that Bogart and Hepburn played," Pill said. "Taylor might be hard to get," Glump commented. "But I've got a great idea—how about Fanne Foxe? I can see the promos now: 'See the Tidal Basin Bombshell fighting the African tributary and the Nazi sadists.'"

"Sounds great," Pill said. "But I don't think we can talk about Nazis. 'African Queen' is set in World War I."

"So, we can change that. We'll make it World War II. More nostalgia appeal there, anyway. Maybe we can work in a couple of big bands and the Andrews Sisters."

"No, Glump, this is really a two-person movie—except at the very beginning and the end, when the German gunboat is sunk just as the two stars are about to be executed after the captain granted their last wish, to be married."

"Geez, that can be a colossal

Past matrons meet

Mrs. Judson Dillon opened her home to 18 members of the Past Matrons Club of the Order of the Eastern Star Oct. 14.

Mrs. Harold Fitterling, president, conducted the business and read an article concerning weeds, seeds, grasses and wild flowers. Members were asked to respond to roll call by telling what they did as children playing with the weeds and seeds.

During the business, the group voted to purchase a coffee pot to be used in the Masonic kitchen.

Dessert was served by the hostesses and the remainder of the evening was spent visiting and playing cards. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. E. W. Carter and Mrs. Norman Tanksley.

Serving on the hostess committee were Mrs. Fred Banks, Mrs. Jack Easterday, Mrs. Ray Manis, Mrs. Donald Reed, Mrs. Cloyde Miller and Margaret Swanson.

Culver, Argos tax levies set

Tax rates for Culver and Union Township municipalities were adjusted and approved last week by a team of six field representatives from the State Board of Tax Commissioners.

The total tax rate for the Culver Community schools was $5.56 chopped by the state from $5.22.

The Culver town tax rate was cut cent to $1.70 The penny was scene. The newly-married lovers are gunned down. Boy, think of the gore."

"Well, in the original, they are to be executed by hanging. And they get away at the last minute. A happy ending."

"I don't know if that will sell or not. It lacks reality."

"We can work on the ending later. I tell you what I see as the big scene—the one the movie critics will get their jollies over. It's when Brando is pulling the boat down the river, and suddenly he has these leeches all over him."

"Oh, yeah. That's the most. That can be a long, long scene. Closeups of the leeches, starting with Brando's forehead and panning slowly down to the waterline."

"Right. You know, come to think of it, I think those dum-dums back in 1951 missed the boat, entirely. The movie ought to be developed from that angle—the assault of leeches on a man's body."

"Yeah, yeah. And, of course, we should put some on the woman, too."

"You've got it. What we'll do is eliminate all of that irrelevant stuff in the plot and just concentrate on this—the basic confrontation, the psychological innuendoes, the deeper implications..."

"Right. We'll change the name of the picture. We can call it 'The Leeches!'"

"Good. But I'd kind of like to see us keep the word 'Queen' in there. I think that will sell more tickets and give critics an added dimension for their reviews."

"How about 'Leeches vs. the Queen?'"

"That's it! Do you think we need to keep the boat or the African setting?" "Not really. How about having them adrift on a raft on the Potomac River?"

"I don't know. Do they have leeches in Washington?"

"Leeches? Washington? Man, what we've got here is an allegory! The critics will go bananas!"

Glump and Pill busied themselves for the next 20 minutes composing a script.

"You know," Glump commented when they were through, "it's going to be a lousy picture."

"Right you are," Pill replied happily. "It'll make millions."

Nostalgia

From the 1925 Culver Citizen—Robinson and Leitnaker, Proprietors and Publishers:

November 18, 1925—Burr Oak Cheese and Butter Co. in process of dissolution. Sale of all property and holdings will be held in the law office of W. O. Osborn in State Exchange Bank.

November 25, 1925—Calumet Gas and Electric moves into new quarters in the new bank building. The new room faces south and is just completed.

December 30, 1925—W. O. Osborn received a long distance call from Mrs. K. K. Culver of Columbus, Ohio, asking him to make special arrangements for Santa to return and give all the children of the community a sack of candy. The Chamber of Commerce got busy and Santa made an appearance on Friday, Dec. 25th.

The zero weather of the past week brought ice thick enough to cut for storage purposes. The Medbourn Ice Co. is in readiness and J. M. Miller has started on his crop at the Long Point Bay. Approximately one hundred men will be kept busy this year harvesting ice.

Squash aplenty

Thanks to a compost pile of leaves and grass clippings, Drisco Kreighbaum, State Road 117, grew a cache of squash to keep him and Mr. Kreighbaum happy all winter. Kreighbaum stands behind a wheelbarrow full of banana squash, many weighing as much as 50 pounds each. On the ground in front of the wheelbarrow is another type of squash weighing over 20 pounds each. He says the banana squash make delicious pie and Mrs. Kreighbaum is a whiz as cold-packing it for wintertime use.

Former Culver resident dies at Griffith, Indiana home

Mrs. Helen E. Fechner, 57, Griffith, a former Culver resident, died at 9:30 p.m. Friday, Oct. 17 at Lutheran Hospital, Fort Wayne. She suffered a brief illness.

Mrs. Fechner, the former Helen Cromley, is the mother of Mrs. Kenneth (Donna) Reininga, Culver and the daughter of Mrs. Lulu Henderson, Culver.

She was born March 3, 1918 at Culver to Alfred and Lulu Cromley. Nov. 26, 1939 she was married to Max E. Fechner in Culver.

Her husband also survives, as well as two other daughters,

Mrs. Linda (Wayne) Reedy, Martinsville and Mrs. Karen Pierce, Hammond, a son, James E., Winston Salem, North Carolina; a brother, Merwyn Cromley, Missouri and six grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday, Oct. 21 at the Kuiper Funeral Home, Highland. Graveside services were also conducted Tuesday at the Culver Masonic Cemetery and friends were received after the burial at the Grace United Church.

The Bonine Funeral Home was in charge of local arrangements.

4-H exhibits shown tonight at Jr. Hi gym

Union Township 4-H clubs, 4-H project leaders and the 4-H Council will meet tonight at Culver Community High School for a 4-H Project Fair.

The fair will be 7 p.m. from 9 p.m.

Exhibits and material from over 45 different 4-H projects for Union Township 4-H members will be available at air and members will answer questions regarding the Union Township 4-H projects and club activities.

The public is invited. According to Mrs. Herbert Newman, an active 4-H leader in the county, the 4-H program is home and family centered and members "learn by doing."

"4-H is a practical, informal primarily out-of-classroom educational program," Mrs. Newman said.

"Learn by doing projects offer many opportunities for 4-H members to purposefully use their hands and minds.

"They learn and have fun, meet new friends in the program, too," she explained.

Enrollment into the program is open to boys and girls between the ages of 10-18. If the 19th birthday occurs in the current calendar year, a person may have membership in 4-H during that year. If the 10th birthday occurs in the calendar year, a person is old enough to belong to the organization.

Enrollment cards for interested youths will be available and those not attending up may pick registration cards in the Culver, Monterey and Aubree school offices.

Projects included in the Union Township program are clothing, foods, arts and crafts, bicycle, garden, forestry, electric, junior leader, photography, crops, wildlife, woodworking and nine livestock projects.

Pins presented to members, leaders by Farm Bureau

Union Township 4-H members, leaders and patrons were honored Friday evening at a carry-in dinner at the American Legion Home.

The affair was hosted by the Union Township Farm Bureau.

John Trott, extension youth advisor presented the county 4-H awards, including the Junior Leader Key Award to John Newman, Mark Kepler and Herbert Newman, Jr.

Mrs. Norma Newman received the Alumni Recognition award and Kelly Lawson received the Dree Revue award.

Dairy Goat winner was Mark Kepler; Geology winner was Dane Quivey and Horticulture Award went to Mark Kepler.

William Birk received the Model Building award; Kepler won the Swine division award and Herbert Newman, Jr. won the Dairy award.

Clean Pen honors went to Ed Mahler, Geri Newman, Roger Osborn and Debbie Miller.

10-year plaques were awarded to Mark Kepler, Kevin Overmyer and Ron Miller and a book was presented to the 4-H King, Mark Kepler.

Showmanship winners were Danny Morrison and Eldon Amor in the beef division; John and Ed Newman in sheep; Mark Kepler in dairy goat and Ron Miller, sweepstakes.

Officers for 1976 were elected at the meeting. Norman Ringer was elected vice chairman and women's leader is Imogene Clifton. Assistant secretary-treasurer is Audrey Crow and pet and hobby coordinator will be Leona Zechiel.

It was passed by the group to send Mrs. Clifton to the state Farm Bureau Convention in Indianapolis in November.

Discussion also took place on tonight's 4-H Project Fair at Culver Community High School beginning at 7 p.m.

Succulents: easy to raise

Foliage plants are common in American homes, but there is always the individual who wants to grow something different.

"Succulents are plants with fleshy stems and generally no leaves," reminds John A. Wott, Purdue University extension home environment horticulturist.

"A few are cacti, sedums, sansevierias, aloes, euphorbias and crassulas," he says, "but the varieties are almost endless."

Almost everyone knows the common hen and chicks. It comes in more than 100 shapes, colors and sizes. Other common succulents are the jade tree, crown-of-thorns and snake plant or mother-in-law's tongue.

All of these plants are easy to grow, says the horticulturist, by tart with a soil system of equal parts coarse sand, organic matter such as leaf mold or peat moss, and soil. "Many people believe these plants desire little water," says Wott. "The truth is these plants require frequent waterings. The soil mixture loosens the process enough to allow the water to drain almost instantly."

Place the plant in a container which will restrain root growth to a certain degree. This encourages more top growth and bloom. Almost all succulents have a period of rapid growth, followed by a period of dormancy—usually during the winter months. Most will flower in April, May or June after they have been brought to a warm, well-lighted area.

Propagation of these plants is usually easy, says Wott, by remove a shoot, leaf or cutting from the mother plant and allow the cut end to heal over for a few days. After being set in a well-drained soil and water, new roots should form within a short time. Certain types of succulents will also send off-sets which can be cut away from the original plant. Often these will have attached roots.

One of the problems associated with growing succulents is rot. This usually begins with over-watering the plant.

CCHS' DAR recipient: Linda Overmyer

Culver High School senior selected for citizenship honor

The 1975-76 Daughters of the American Revolution Good Citizen Award was presented to Linda Overmyer, a senior at Culver Community High School.

Linda, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Overmyer, RR 2, Monterey, was selected for the honor on her dependability, service, leadership and patriotism.

Her selection was made by the senior class and teachers at CCHS.

She was a delegate to Hoosier Girls State this past summer and is active in a number of clubs at Culver.

Besides playing saxophone in the stage band, she is active in Science Club, Spanish Club, Pep Club, Library Advisor Council and Health Careers Club.

She is also a member of the National Honor Society, Drama Club, Future Homemakers and Future Educators in Action.

Her selection will enable her to vie for state and national honors. A $100 savings bond will be presented to the state DAR Good Citizen and a $1000 scholarship will be awarded to the national winner.

Week shortened at CCHS; students watch 'Great Film'

By ANN DUTT
and TIM OVERMYER
CCHS Students

Even though the school week is short at CCHS, many events are taking place.

Monday, the afternoon classes were cut short for a convocation brought by General Motors National Assembly Program. The demonstrations were to get students interested in science.

Tuesday morning the juniors were busy taking their P.S.A.T. tests while the rest of the students remained in their classes. Afternoon classes were shortened. This time the entire student body watched the second of the Great Film Series, "Unconquered." The movie was based on the novel by Neil Swannson and produced by Cecil B. DeMille. It depicts human bondage in the early days of the New England colonies.

The end of the first nine weeks has finally come at Culver Community High School and students will receive their report cards Wednesday, Oct. 29.

In sports last week the Culver Cavalier cross country team finished its season beating Tippecanoe Valley on Wednesday 25-31 and placing a respectable eleventh place out of twenty-five teams in the Logansport Sectional on Saturday. In volleyball, the varsity team beat North Liberty 15-9, 15-9 while the B-team beat them 15-8, 15-13. The girls then went ahead to beat Triton: varsity, 15-6, 15-11 and the B-team, 15-2, 15-12.

Magazine drive winners named

Rick Warner, a junior at Culver Community High School received a $30 award for selling a record number of magazine and Citizen subscriptions during the annual Junior Class Magazine Drive.

Warner sold $264. Ces Walter placed second with $193 and received a $20 award.

Frank Lunwig followed with $159 and got $15, while Henry Kozlowski sold $152 for a $10 prize and Jackie Sanders sold $133 for her $6 award.

The class sold nearly $5,000 worth of magazines, including 94 subscriptions to the Citizen.

Troop off Washington

The Lancer Platoon of Culver Military Academy's Black Horse Troop and the Culver Lancer Band will travel to Washington D.C. late this month to participate in the Washington International Horse Show at the Capital Centre in Landover, Md.

The 25-member Lancer Platoon represent the elite of Culver's mounted cavalry troop, the Black Horse Troop, and are cadets at CMA.

The Lancers are chosen for academic standing, citizenship and riding ability from the 130-cadet Troopers who are Culver students from grades nine through 12. They are led by cadet Capt. David R. Zook of Hoopston, Ill. Their performances on horseback include precision riding movements while dressed in uniform with lances and pennants. They have performed at horse shows and other events in Indiana, Texas, Alabama, Ohio and Illinois. Most recently, Oct. 7, they provided Emperor Hirohito's escort down Michigan Avenue during his Chicago visit. They are scheduled to appear as part of an 80-rider Black Horse Troop contingent in the Cotton Bowl Parade in Dallas on Jan. 1, 1976.

The Washington International Horse Show has scheduled appearances for the Lancers from Thursday, Oct. 30 through Sunday, Nov. 2 at the Capital Centre. Thursday has been designated as "Culver Day" during the show, and the Academy's Superintendent, Col. Ben A. Barone, will attend.

Plans underway for vocational offerings

Within a few years, Culver, as well as six other nearby school systems will have an active vocational educational program directed by Stephen Rusnak.

Rusnak has been hired as administrative director of the North Central Area Vocational Cooperative (NCAVC) by the seven school superintendents involved in the cooperative. He officially began his duties as the NCAVC director Oct. 15.

Rusnak, whose office is in the Culver Community Schools administrative building, 222 N. Ohio St., was hired by the superintendents of Culver, Argos, Plymouth, Triton, Union-North, Oregon Davis and Knox school systems to begin implementing the vocational education program as a joint venture of the seven schools.

"It's not something which will happen overnight," Rusnak said. "Little has been done in the area regarding vocational education and I have to start from scratch with planning a program."

Rusnak explained that vocational education is a practical program where students gain experience and training in a specific field while they are still in high school.

"This doesn't mean they will be apprentices or should be licensed for certification in a field with the experience gained from the vocational education program. But training will give them a basis for post-high school education in a vocational field," he added.

Vocational fields include automotive occupations, construction crafts, business occupations, health careers, metal trades, medical services and electronics occupations, just to name a few, according to the administrator.

Initially his job will be to find areas of student interest and attempt to create programs, order equipment and hire instructors for those areas.

The program, which may take several years for full implementation, says Rusnak, will be open to juniors and seniors on a half day basis. The remaining half day will be used for regular academic instruction.

Rusnak, formerly a consultant in vocational education with the State Department of Public Instruction helped in planning the NCAVC prior to being hired as its director.

"Without a doubt there is a need in this area for vocational education. This is one of the few districts in Indiana without an active program," he said.

NCAVC is one of 48 cooperative districts in the state and is one of the last in northern Indiana to begin the vocational offering.

In 1969 a feasibility study was made in this area indicating a drastic need for a vocational program. The program did not begin until recently, however.

After Rusnak finds where student interests lie, he will offer the board of seven superintendents a one year and a three year implementation plan showing what priorities should be met.

"I think we need to grow slowly with good, solid programs rather than hurrying into something with just mediocre classes," Rusnak said.

"Over the years the offerings should expand and within three years or so we should have a strong vocational education program in the seven-school district," he added.

Facilities and available space at the participating schools will also be considered by Rusnak. He will then decide which classes could best be offered by each school and suggest they begin those classes. It will then be up to each district's school board to approve and accept responsibility for the program, according to Rusnak.

"I will be the coordinator of the programs and will assist the schools with the vocational offerings, but each school will take financial responsibility for the programs they offer."

Considerable paperwork is involved with the program, said Rusnak, who indicated there are state deadlines and requirements which must be met before a program can begin.

Carol Jean Keldenich, formerly employed by McGill

Mrs. Keldenich and Stephen Rusnak

Manufacturing Company, is Rusnak's secretary.

"A wonderful thing has happened to each of the seven schools making up the cooperative," he said. "Now each of them will be able to participate in a vocational education program they could not afford in the past."

"Most of the schools haven't started vocational programs before because of the financial expenses involved, but with seven schools working together, a wide scope and less expense will be beneficial to everyone," the director said.

With the cooperative venture, the program will enable smaller schools to start programs which would have been otherwise impossible because of expenses.

Although the offices of NCAVC are located in Culver, it does not mean Rusnak will be connected with the system here any more than the other six schools. "Space was available in the administrative offices so the Culver Board assumed responsibility as the physical agent for the cooperative," Rusnak said.

He explained that Culver will not receive any consideration over the other schools regarding programs, as he works for the total cooperative. "Culver is only one-seventh of my concern," he said.

As for a Culver interest in the program, Rusnak stated Culver Superintendent A. F. Allen is "very interested in starting vocational programs in the system," and that the other six superintendents are equally excited to begin the offerings.

Girl Scouts aid Food Pantry

Culver Girl Scouts and Brownies are doing their part to aid in stocking the Food Pantry, sponsored by the Culver Churches group.

Each week girls in the scouting organizations are asked to bring non-perishable foods to their meetings for the Food Pantry.

The items, including canned goods staples and , will be delivered to Ron Gleason, Union Township Trustee, who maintains the Food Pantry.

The pantry began as a joint venture of the Culver churches last year to offer foodstuffs to needy families in Union Township.

Gleason said food goes to low income families who cannot afford it.

Most families taking advantage of the Food Pantry have been effected by unemployment, according to Gleason.

Girl Scouts and Brownies meet Tuesdays at the Grace United Church of Christ on North Plymouth Street and will continue the project throughout the year.

"We will collect food for the Food Pantry as an on-going scout project," said Mary Banfield, a

David Barone elected student senator

David J. Barone, a member of the senior class at Pfeiffer College, has been elected a student senator for the 1975-76 year at Pfeiffer. He will represent Ervin Residence Hall.

The Student Senate is the legislative arm of the college's student government association. It coordinates and promotes a variety of student projects during the year.

Currently the Junior Girl Scouts with members in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades, have taken on a Bicentennial theme for this year's projects.

Groups of scouts have selected names with a Bicentennial theme: Liberty Belle and Betsy Ross are two of the names selected by the girls.

Berone is the son of Col. and Mrs. Ben A. Barone, Culver Military Academy, Culver and is a graduate of the Madrid American High School, Spain.

Quality postal service guaranteed

The Culver Post Office, along with others in nearby communities are joining in a new national program to improve mail service. The United States Postal Service has introduced a consumer service card which will make it easier for postal customers to let the Post Office know if deliveries are late, a postal employee has not been courteous or a customer has any other problem with mail services. Culver Postmaster E. Wayne Mattox said "With this information, we hope we can provide more than speed and reliability. Whether it's a complaint, compliment or suggestion, ask your letter carrier or a post office clerk for the new consumer service card. You can help us do a better job."

Post hears Girl, Boys' State delegates

Delegates to the 1975 Hoosier Boys State and Hoosier Girls State will discuss their experiences as delegates during the special Pot Luck Dinner tomorrow night at the Culver American Legion Home on State Road 10.

The Culver American Legion and the Legion Auxiliary, W.A. Fleet Post 103 will sponsor the affair and all members. Their families and guests are invited.

Earlier this year the legion and auxiliary, assisted by the Culver City Club and the Culver Lions Club, sent four young Culver Community High School students to Boys and Girls State.

Linda Overmyer, Jewel Ransom, Herbert Newman and Robert Craycraft were the delegates. At the dinner they will relate to the attendees their experiences in the political affairs activity.

Hosts for the dinner are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Boutilier, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Phelps and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Speyer.

Those attending are requested to bring a covered dish and their own table service.

Taiclet helps host dinner

The dinner was sponsored by the board in appreciation of area people for their support of the college, and to introduce other community leaders to Ancilla.

Entertainment was provided by the Ancilla Swing Choir which made its debut at the dinner. The choir is directed by Don Beam. About 250 persons including Ancilla faculty attended the dinner.

Preceding the dinner the quarterly meeting of the board was conducted on the Ancilla campus.

Mutual of Omaha cites Keane

Thomas Keane, Redwood Drive, local representative for Mutual of Omaha and United of Omaha, has been awarded a certificate for successful completion of an intensive course in advanced life insurance underwriting.

The seminar gave special attention to wills, trusts, business insurance and various other facets of the more technical aspects of the life insurance industry.

Keane is associated with the James Avrett Agency.

A Note Of Appreciation

No words can adequately express our sincere appreciation to the hundreds of individuals as well as to the many organizations whose heartfelt expressions of sympathy and numerous helpful acts have been a great source of consolation during these difficult days of accepting and adjusting to the tragic loss we have suffered.

We are grateful for the many beautiful floral tributes, the many financial contributions made in Lela's memory to various charitable and social service agencies, and the books being given as memorials to Lela, to the Academy, Culver and Winamac Libraries.

We are appreciative of the around-the-clock efforts of the various local and state police agencies to apprehend the individual or individuals responsible for our grief. We pray that their efforts will be successful so that others in our area will not suffer the loss of a loved one so tragically.

Argos Jaycees walk so others can breathe

Argos residents will be walking 20 miles Oct. 25 for the American Lung Association of North Central Indiana.

Staged as a Walkathon sponsored by the Argos Jaycees, the route will be marked on the morning of the walk and there will be checkpoints and rest stops along the way with refreshments provided.

The route will begin and end at the Argos Community Schools.

Each Walkathon participant will be seeking sponsors to pledge contributions based on the total number of miles they are able to complete.

Pledge forms are available at the Argos schools, churches and local businesses or by calling 892-5101.

Prizes will be awarded to walkers who are able to complete the scheduled 20-mile route.

The Argos Jaycees agreed to sponsor the event for the Lung Association which funds efforts in the control of emphysema, asthma and chronic bronchitis. Gary Webster is chairman of the event.

The American Lung Association of North Central Indiana is a voluntary public health agency concerned with the prevention of lung disease. Activities of the Association are sponsored almost entirely by donations received during their annual Christmas Seal Campaign and selected special events, including the upcoming Argos Walkathon.

The walk's motto is "Walk So That Others May Breathe Easier."

Holiday plan underway by Junior Women

Mary Van Mele, currently instructing belly dancing each Tuesday evening at Culver Junior High School, demonstrated the art Monday, Oct. 14 at the Maxinkuckee Junior Women's Club meeting.

Mrs. Van Mele explained the eastern dance and answered questions.

Mrs. Roy Shepard, president, conducted the business meeting and Mrs. Ray Houghton reported on the fall council meeting at North Liberty.

Mrs. John Williams distributed materials for the next club project of selling live Christmas greenery.

Canvassing Culver for Christmas decoration orders will be finalized on Monday, Oct. 27 at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Thomas.

Groups will be formed to cover all areas of the community at the Oct. 27 meeting.

Mrs. John Deery announced the UNICEF Trick or Treat Night will be held from 5:30 p.m. to 7 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 29.

Children are to meet at Shaffer's Hall above Verl Shaffer's barber shop on Main St. for their assignments. After collecting UNICEF funds, children will return to the hall for refreshments.

A treat on behalf of the women's club will be presented to teachers in the Culver school system. Mrs. Larry Berger and Mrs. Jeff Honzik will take the treats to the school Oct. 22. The activity is planned for Education Week to show teachers the women's appreciation of their work.

A display of articles made by blind persons was shown by Mrs. Houghton, chairman of the blind goods project.

The Marshall County Hotline was discussed by Mrs. Larry Berger, public affairs chairman. She told the group Hotline listeners are needed from the Culver area.

The meeting adjourned and refreshments were served by Mrs. John Babcock, Mrs. Charles Cullins and Mrs. Honzik.

CCHS teacher heads group

Latham Lawson, Forest Place, will conduct the Thursday meeting of the Indiana State Teachers Association Conference on Instructions.

The conference is in progress at Notre Dame University and is being attended by over 3,000 educators from the South Bend area. It is taking place in the Convocation Center of the university.

Lawson, a social studies teacher at Culver Community High School is chairperson for the North Central Division workshop on instruction at the meeting.

Barbara Winters, home economics chairman at CCHS, is also taking part in the meeting. She will serve on a panel for home economics teachers tomorrow afternoon.

The meetings are sponsored

Elgie Good visits Monaco, sees Princess

Elgie Good's trip to Monaco included dinner with Princess Grace and Prince Rainier and with the mother of Culver Military Academy cadet Cary Alan Cheseldine.

Good, who returned from a week's tour of Monaco, Ireland and France, is in charge of the Quartermaster Store at CMA and resides at RR 2, Culver.

He was part of a Gibson Refrigeration Company tour.

During a banquet and floor show, the royal couple of Monaco appeared.

Good and the group had the dinner with Johannes Eisenbeiss, mother of cadet Cheseldine, who is in the Company C and is a second classman at CMA.

Before Good's trip abroad the cadet told of his mother's Monte Carlo residency so the visitor made a call to Mrs. Eisenbeiss while in Monaco. Arrangements were made for the dinner, which included Good, Mrs. Eisenbeiss and other members of the tour.

Good returned Wednesday and is now back at work in the QM Store.

Wise headlines veteran observance

Roger Wise of Culver's Veterans of Foreign Wars will be the master of ceremonies at Veterans Day festivities in Plymouth.

Officers of the county veterans organizations and the Plymouth Unit of the National Guard are progressing with plans for the annual Marshall County Veterans Day observance and the yearly parade.

Bands, drill teams, color guards, youth units, floats, decorated cars and senior citizen groups are urged to contact Sgt. Clarence Dean at the National Guard Armory, 936-2715 or 935-5073 to register their units for the parade to be conducted Saturday, Nov. 8 at 2 p.m. Line-up is at 1 p.m. at the old Kroger parking lot across from Lincoln Junior High School, Plymouth.

Parade Chairman Don Read states trophies and cash awards will be presented to the best units in each category. Previously awards were only available to county groups, but this year the trophies will be extended to include visiting units from surrounding areas.

The parade will proceed to the Veterans' Monument at the county courthouse where Daniel Bolinger will be the principal speaker and Wise, the master of ceremonies.

Coach Mike Wood comments on first grid season

By MIKE WOOD
CCHS Football Coach

Upon completion of our first football season here at Culver Community High School, I feel compelled to write a letter expressing my gratitude to all those who helped with the program. That list of people would be too lengthy to publish, but those people know who they are and their positive efforts are greatly appreciated.

I would like to express my respect to the following young men who dedicated themselves to finishing the football season: Tony Kozlowski, Rod Kemple, Art Newman, Adam Buck, Mark Salinas, Denny James, Roy Ulch, Brett Baker, Harvey Ulch, Mark Pratt, Bob Holbrook, Bruce Musial, Larry Boyne, Mitch Farmer, Rich Scott, Rick Salary, Rich Holbrook, Ed Newman, Daryl Merriel, Roger Osborn, Jeff Mills, Danny Taiclet, John Simmons, Mark Baker, Walt Kroft and managers Tim Osborn, Mike Boyne and John Depoy.

I am so proud of every young man who withstood the hard work and discipline it takes to be a football player; a new and different kind of discipline. In our program we have a policy to cut no one from the team and the policy was rigidly adhered to.

Everyone that has the fortitude to practice every night is on the team. The only reason a person would be dismissed from the squad would be over a matter of discipline.

Contrary to popular belief, a person doesn't have to be big to play football. We had one young man that is 4'11" and weighs 99 pounds start five games for us this year. A "congratulations" or a "job well done" would be greatly appreciated by these young men. Let them know you are aware of their hard work and dedication.

Our community responded very favorably, considering the amount of controversy surrounding the football program. There still are people opposed to the program and they are definitely entitled to their beliefs. We must keep in mind that it is possible to hear anything if one will listen hard enough. During the course of the season I heard many stories concerning the program that were completely misconstrued and erroneous. Football is here to stay as part of the total school program. It is embedded within the underclassmen of the student body. We have many young men working tremendously hard for athletic recognition and misconstrued comments serve only to hurt these young people.

There has been much concern regarding football as a dangerous sport, a concept that has accompanied football from its early days. Today that idea still persists even though evidence proves football can no longer be considered a dangerous sport. During one week of this past football season at CCHS, we had more cross country injuries than we did football injuries. To be sure bumps, bruises and muscle pulls are still very much a part of the game as they are in all sports.

Every parent of an aggressive boy who wants to play football, should let him play. Too many parents feel they are protecting their boy by not allowing him to play. In reality, the boy is being deprived of his right to physical contact and loses certain benefits his total personality might have gained. It is the right of every parent to protect his child, but letting him play football does not deprive him of that right.

We have been asked by some people of what value is football? We believe football is preparation, participation, experience. Its results are comparable with the life process as we go about our duties in the home, on the job and in the community.

Football is a game which contributes to the total personality of the participant. It has been given a great deal of credit as a developer of character. However, we must keep in mind that character cannot be developed where none exists. Therefore, it is just as true that it takes character to play football, as it is that football builds character.

Emotionally, a boy must learn how to control himself to operate effectively under pressure. Playing football helps him develop confidence in himself and others. It teaches him to defeat his weakness and fears. He learns that the human body—his body, can withstand considerable punishment and yet overcome in the pursuit of ultimate success.

Socially speaking, football helps a boy learn that he must operate under a pre-arranged system of rules and regulations. Within this framework, he learns how to respect, communicate and cooperate with others who are striving toward the same end. He experiences team play and loyalty—loyalty to himself, his group and his community. Again not all young men can meet this challenge.

Above all, he becomes an industrious person because he learns that laggards in a group are looked down upon.

Football also develops a mental toughness which is seldom experienced in our present-day mode of living. This mental toughness is born of a burning desire to excel and exceed. Football is one of the few bastions of discipline left for the American boy.

Building a strong, winning football program often takes years to develop due to the tough mental and physical attitudes that must be developed.

Caston High School, a team that defeated us this year, lost 33 consecutive games before winning a single contest. Tri-County High School, a team we play next year, went two complete seasons without scoring a point and won their first game mid-way through their third season. A neighboring school, John Glenn, went eight years without having a winning season. All of these facts are disclosed so that we may understand the problems other schools beginning football have experienced. We must also remember to have much patience with our young men in this budding program and equal confidence in those, developing the program.

One of the most heartening comments I heard this season was from Bruce Musial, an outstanding football player, upon visiting him after his injury. Bruce's first comment was "I'll be ready next year coach."

Some of our plans for helping build the program include a spring practice session of approximately 10 days for all interested boys in grades 6-7-8 or a summer clinic similar to the clinic now being run by the basketball coaches.

Once again a sincere thanks to all those who helped make this past football season a successful one.

Basketball tickets sold at CCHS

Basketball season tickets will go on sale Monday, Oct. 27 for the 1975-76 Culver Cavalier hardwood court season.

The Cavaliers open the season with an away match with Argos Community Nov. 15 and are up against Bremen Nov. 21 in the Culver gym.

Season tickets are available at the Culver Community High School office from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. They are good for all home varsity, B-team and freshman games. They are not good for tournament games, however season ticket holders will have first chance to purchase tournament tickets.

Season admission tickets are $7 for students and $11 for adults. At-the-door admission prices are $1.50 for all tickets. There will be a pre-game sale for students at $1 on sale at each of the buildings in the Culver school corporation prior to the games.

Admission to wrestling matches and girls basketball will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. These tickets will be available at the door only, according to the CCHS Athletic Director John Nelson.

Admission to all freshman basketball games and junior high games will be 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for children.

Lifetime athletic tickets are also available for $125 each.

Volleyball squad now stands with 7-2 record

The girls varsity volleyball team of Culver Community High School play two games this week. They have a 7-2 record.

Monday evening they played Culver Girls Academy and last night they took on Tippecanoe Valley. The scores were not available.

The TV game was added recently and did not appear on the season schedule of games.

The B-team volleyball squad, also facing CGA and TV this week, have a record of 5-3.

Wins this year for the varsity team, coached by Nancy Luebcke include Caston, Kewanna, Plymouth, Triton, Winamac and North Liberty.

Oct. 15 they played North Liberty and defeated them 15-9 and 15-9 in a two-game match.

The B-team also defeated North Liberty in two games, 15-8 and 15-13.

In action Oct. 13 against Triton, the varsity won 15-6 and 15-11 but the B-team dropped their match.

Harriers fare well in sectional

The Culver Community High School cross country team finished their season by defeating Tippecanoe Valley Wednesday 25-31 and placing a respectable 11th out of 25 teams in the Logansport Sectional Saturday.

In Wednesday's win over TVS, Eliod Ruiz placed second followed by Steve Smith and Rich Trusty who copped the third and fourth place ribbons, respectively. That win raised Culver's dual meet record to nine wins, five losses

At the sectional meet, Eliod Ruiz again paced the Cavaliers with a fine 21st place finish. Smith took 32nd place followed by Trusty's 54th.

John DeWitt placed 109 and Brett Master crossed the line in the 121 position.

Kokomo won the meet with 42 total points. The Cavaliers finished in front of Culver Military Academy, North Judson, Knox, Winamac, Peru, Maconaquah and Rensselaer, to name a few.

The Cavalier harriers are coached by Dave Spiegel.

Reinhold, Redi-Mix number one positions

In Wednesday night bowling standings, Marshall County Redi-Mix remains in the number one position, followed by Overmyers Soft Water, Kramers Antiques, Powers Realty, Beavers Auction, Wee Wisdom Nursery, State Exchange Bank and State Exchange Insurance.

450 series bowlers were R. Meadows, 489; M. Dinsmore, 469; M. Houghton, 461; V. Farlow, 459 and M. McKee, 475.

Marianne Ransdell, league secretary, whose name usually appears for high scores in league play, bowled a 95. Scores that low are usually not published, as only the outstanding scores are featured each week. But, with Marianne's work in compiling the score list each week, we thought she should be recognized this week even though her name did not appear with other outstanding scores.

Reinhold Livestock remains up front in the Thursday night women's bowling league.

Their record is now 26-6. Snyder Motor Sales are in second place with 20-12, followed by Klines Appliances, 19-13; Master Hardware, 16-16; A and R Motors, 16-16; McKinnis Pharmacy, 12-20; Van Horn Ford, 12-10 and A-1 Disposal, 7-25.

New 450 Club members are E. McKinnis, 486; J. Triplet, 476; C. Master, 465 and D. Ditmire, 463.

Those bowlers in the 150 Club are L. Baker, 167, 158; E. McKinnis, 183, 158; J. Tasch, 152; L. Geiger, 192; P. Good, 188; G. Fleury, 163; P. Hamman, 162; C. Master, 175; J. Savage, 158; D. Ditmire, 155; J. Triplet, 180, 175; J. Currans, 166; P. Butler, 187; M. Keith, 161; E. Wierick, 156; J. Smith, 163; N. Baker, 162 and M. DeWitt, 153.

Leader says Cubs need help

"We want to grow, but we can't grow unless the parents help," Culver Cub Master Don Williams said. "It's shameful there isn't more parent interest in the program."

Williams, custodial supervisor at Culver Military Academy, recently took over the local Cub Scout program from Tom Pugh and is trying to recruit more local youngsters, but "we don't have the parents to help," he said.

Presently there are 23 youngsters in Cub Scouting and another 10-12 active in the Webelow group, but the Cub Dens are overcrowded, Williams said.

Don Williams

In charge of the two local Dens are Den Mothers Joan Prosser, Mary Ann Anderson, Helen Louk and Carroll Goodman. "But we have too many youngsters in the dens," Williams said. "The national Scouting program recommends only seven to eight boys in each den."

According to Williams, the Webelows have no active organization because there is no one to manage the group.

"We need one or two more den mothers and den fathers to help with the Cubs and Webelows," Williams said, "but there just doesn't seem to be enough parent interest in the program."

"We aren't worried about getting more boys interested," he said. "As soon as other boys see the cubs doing projects, like camping trips and hikes, they will want to join, but we don't have enough parents involved to take care of them."

The local Scouts meet once a week s from 3 to 4 p.m. Mondays, at the Wesley United Methodist Church, and Williams would like to start some fund-raising programs, including paper drives and sales of "any number of things," to get money to buy tents, a canoe or two and other scout materials.

"We're looking for support," Williams said, "because we know we can involve more youngsters in the program if we have adult leaders."

Williams, as Cub master, is aided by Assistant Cub Master Richard Salzer, and is planning to teach the boys wood carving, which he does as a hobby.

"We want a year-around program, but to get more youngsters interested in Scouting, we need parents that want to help," Williams said.

Parents interested in devoting time to help with the scouting program in Culver may call Williams at 842-3366

Bowen reacts to resurfacing

Spot patching and leveling of State Road 17 between Culver and Plymouth will begin shortly, according to a letter from Gov. Otis Bowen read at Monday evening's Culver Town Board meeting.

The board asked the governor about resurfacing of the county road for an 14 mile stretch from Culver to the county seat.

Bowen's letter said highway engineers surveyed the road and agreed some resurfacing should be done. They reported to the governor spot patching and some leveling would hold the road until a complete resurfacing job could be added to highway improvement plans.

Rose Meadows appeared at the meeting on behalf of her mother, Lovina Triplet, regarding the town's purchase of the Triplet property adjacent to the pump house on S. Ohio Street.

Mrs. Meadows told the board the asking price for the 66x109 foot lot is $1500 in addition to the cost of bringing the abstract up to date and the cost of surveying the property.

The town budget is $1,000 for purchase of the property and Clerk Marizetta Kenney said other monies from the equipment fund might be available to purchase it. The board took the matter under advisement.

A parking problem on Coolidge Court was discussed. The street, which runs from East Washington to Main St., is extremely narrow according to Culver Police. They asked the board to issue a parking order for the street, saying that when two autos are parked on the street no car can get through.

The matter was tabled until board members could look over the street and decide what should be done.

Moms, dads will visit Academy campus

This weekend is Fall Festival for parents of students at Culver Military Academy and Culver Girls Academy.

Parents arrive Friday and will attend classes and advisors. At and visit with instructors, counselors 4:30 p.m. the Fathers and Mothers Association meeting will hear speakers on the many aspects of Culver life. Later in the evening parents will attend military exhibitions in the Riding Hall with the Lancers, the Lancer Bank, the Culver Rifles and the Rough Riders performing. Culver's varsity polo team opens its season against a team of Culver alumni.

Saturday's schedule includes barracks and dormitory visitation and intramural football games in the morning. The afternoon opens with the varsity football team hosting Mississinewa High School, followed by Col. and Mrs. Barone's Reception for parents and guests in the Memorial Library Lounge. The Formal Autumn Ball begins at 9:30 p.m., immediately following the weekly Saturday Night Movie. The Turnabouts will provide the music.
