"How I proved Halloween"

By ROTH CLINE

To me Halloween is a festival grown ups never quite ve up.

But years ago such tenet had to be proven by the head of the household. I wanted to prove it when I was ten, but my mother wouldn't let me out of the house on Halloween night.

But soon I was 21, the head of a household and it was Halloween. So I slipped out.

The moon was riding high dodging light and dark clouds. I watched for the broomstick-riding witch to come between me and the moon, but she didn't. So I ambled on.

I inspected a decaying haystack, several shocks of corn, a leafless tree and listened for the banshee but only the wind moaned.

I hurried up the incline to the forgotten graveyard I knew lay just ahead. The iron gate creaked and I shuddered. Some day I'll lubricate that gate. Suddenly the moon came out bright and flashing from tombstone to tombstone temporarily blinding me.

When I could see again a figure stood up high on the hill, motioning me with a long crooked finger to come up.

Since I was proving or disproving ghosts, I climbed up, but every step I took I for wished I was taking a step back down.

He was sitting on the graveyard fence. Many times us boys tried to sit on that fence but couldn't. It was made up of spears as sharp as lightning rods. He who sits thereon quickly hops off with punctured posterior.

Since no human could sit on that fence as non-chalantly as that ghost was sitting—I had proof he was a real spook.

I shook hands with him. His hand was pure ice and dry bones.

I feared for a minute he wouldn't release me. So when he did, I took off at a speed I heretofore had never attained. We ran all the way around the lake, he just a step behind me.

Finally we reached the town cemetery. I sat down on a flat stone to rest and catch my breath and that nery ghost sat right down beside me saying, "That sure was a fast race, wasn't it?"

"Fast race?" I gasped, "you call that fast? You just wait still I catch my breath and I'll show you a really fast race."

From that time on I believe in Halloween.

Status same in murder case

"No more progress." That was the statement issued late Monday night from Detective Sgt. Robert Burns regarding the Lela Donnelly Hildebrandt murder case.

Sgt. Burns of the Indiana State Police, said a lack of cooperation by residents of the community and persons knowing Mrs. Hildebrandt has hampered the investigation. "We want to know anything and everything about Lela, particularly information on the last few weeks before her death."

Mrs. Hildebrandt, 26, -a Winamac resident-and wife of Greg Hildebrandt, was found dead in her auto Tuesday, Oct. 14 just off State Road 17 south of State Road 110 in Fulton County. An autopsy revealed gunshot pellets imbedded in her skull, apparently shot within a range of less than three feet.

Newspaper reports saying Burns knew the motive for the deaths were termed "false" by the detective. "We have the motive and we are continuing the investigation in hopes of finding it and the person responsible for Lela's death."

Burns also said he sees no connection thus far between the Hildebrandt case and two other deaths within the area in the last fourteen months.

He urged anyone in the area who knows Lela to contact him at the local investigation station in the Culver Town Hall.

Board plans objectionable materials policy

Discussion of a policy regarding controversial or objectionable instructional materials will be heard at the Nov. 4 Culver School Board meeting, according to A.F. Allen, school superintendent.

During the Oct. 21 meeting, Allen recommended to board members they make no policy on review of questionable materials until they had a chance to read and study guidelines he suggested for the matter. Allen mailed each member his recommendations and asked that each member "know what is going on before it is made public."

The board agreed no statements should be made publicly until they have a chance to study the situation.

The matter deals with a book used as optional reading in a Culver Community High School English literature class. A group of parents complained to Allen the book contains profane and objectionable words.

Allen also recommended the board include the Culver Music Boosters on the agenda for the employee and or student who feels that they have not been dealt with properly according to Title IX, shall take such complaint to their Principal for settlement. 3. If the complaint cannot be resolved at the Principal level, then the complainant shall carry their concerns to the Superintendent of Schools who shall attempt to resolve the situation."

Allen explained that he and Mrs. Gladys Reinhold, corporation cafeteria supervisor, had visited the Valparaiso Community High School to collect information on their program for feeding the elderly through the school lunch facilities.

The board gave their approval to proceed with such a program at CCHS if such a program shows the necessary interest and is favorable with concerned parties. He told the board he would contact a senior citizens representative to advise him on the number of potential participants in the lunch program.

The State Board of Tax

Commissioners have made their final review of the 1976 Culver Community Schools Corporation budget, announced Allen. The Cumulative Building Fund advertised rate of 20 cents stood unchanged; the Debt Service rate of 65 cents per $100 assessed valuation was reduced to 64 cents; the General Fund advertised rate of $4.71 was reduced 33 cents down to $4.38 for Marshall County, 34 cents down to $4.37 for Starke County, down 11 cents to $4.60 for Fulton County and down 61 cents to $4.10 for Pulaski County.

Allen reported that repair was underway on the roof at the corporation offices, 222 N. Ohio St. Hail recently damaged the roof and Allen told the board it was in a "sad state of repair." The board agreed to add $575 to the insurance settlement in order to have a new roof on the facility. Lowe Roofing, Logansport, is doing the repair work.

A contract was signed by members for Leon Simms. Simms will replace John Orr as a bus driver. Orr was forced to resign because of health reasons.

Nov. 4 meeting. He told members he received a letter from the booster group and commented that it contained "a great deal more than meets the eye." He would not elaborate on the letter until the board discusses it at the next meeting.

Stephen Rusnak, director of the newly formed North Central Area Vocational Cooperative, was present at the Oct. 21 meeting for a brief discussion with the board.

He thanked the board for its leadership in establishing the cooperative and he advised the board his first task would be making a student survey to assist in determining the needs and interests in vocational education. The result of the survey will be given to each superintendent in the seven-school cooperative, who will in turn report to their respective boards.

Rusnak stated he hoped to establish at least two cooperative programs each year. He told members "communication is the key factor in the coop" and added good communications between the member schools is imperative.

Board members asked Rusnak when Culver could expect course offerings in vocational education. The director made it clear no courses would begin until adequate groundwork and stipulations could be met. "You'll start only programs you want and will start them when you want them," he said, indicating courses might begin at Culver within two years.

Allen presented the board with a suggested policy stating Culver's nondiscrimination rule in compliance with Title IX. The policy was adopted by the board as follows:

"In order to comply with Title IX of the 1972 Educational Amendments, the Culver Community Schools Corporation Board of School Trustees did at its regular meeting of October 21, 1975, adopt the following policies: 1. The Culver Community Schools Corporation does not discriminate on the basis of sex or in any other manner, in the educational programs or activities which it operates. 2. Any

The Culver Citizen, 1930, M. R. Robinson, Editor and Publisher

January 1, 1930—Sixty piece band organized at Culver High School. Harley Rickert spends one day each week here without charge until Feb. 1, when Mr. Annis, principal, will have charge of the band. Students have purchased their own instruments and are hard at work practicing so by the end of the year Culver should have one of the finest school bands in this part of the state.

M. R. Robinson returned from Tulsa by flying to Chicago by way of Kansas City, a total distance of 750 miles. Most of the trip was made at a height of 3,500 feet, and the average speed was 120 miles an hour. The plane left Tulsa at 8:30 a.m. and arrived in Chicago at 3:55 p.m.

January 8, 1930—An evening of Negro spirituals will be offered by the choir of Rollins Chapel on Jan. 12 at the Methodist Church. This choir has some fine voices, and has been well trained as their concerts in the past have proved.

New community fire truck purchased. Individuals pledged enough money to buy truck and equipment. Roy Swigart was elected fire chief, Perchis Blanchard named secretary and Horace Ewald, treasurer.

Eagle Store's Annual Clearance Sale: Silk dresses $2.97 to $9.97; winter coats with fur collar and cuffs $11.97 to $29.97; blankets, pure wool, $5.97; jersey bloomers, 39 cents and 79 cents; gingham yard goods, 12 cents a yard; black wool hose, 39 cents and lisle hose, 19 cents.

January 22, 1930—Argos Bank again closes doors—outcome doubtful after being reorganized for less than a year. Official of State Banking Department does not believe depositors will suffer any loss.

February 5, 1930—George W. Overmyer, Clyde L. Shively and Steffen N. Rector named as three highest eligibles for appointment as postmaster. A. J. Hickey, congressman, will select one name, send it to the President, who will in turn forward it to the Senate. The Senate will hand it to the committee on post offices and this body will give its approval, then the Senate will do the same and the order will be signed by President Hoover.

February 19, 1930—New gymnasium stage fitted with scenery. Sufficient lighting installed to give fine effects with modern stage equipment. Stage scenery offers indoor and outdoor setting and the stage curtain is a beautiful maroon material that is fireproof. All this has not cost and will not cost the taxpayers a cent as expense is being borne by school organizations.

February 26, 1930—A record crowd saw a snappy Senior play, "Adam and Eva," the first play in the new gym. Members of the cast included Wilma Smith (Snyder), Margaret Bolin (Eckman), Harry Baker and Donald Osborn.

February 26, 1930—A sudden thaw made all gravel roads impassable and the only outlet from Culver was the paved road to Plymouth. State Road 10 was a mire in many places in both directions. Farmers living near soft spots made a neat sum hauling out foolhardy motorists.

March 12, 1930—Nineteen boys are candidates for new Cub organization, a pre-scout group for which there is no national organization as yet. E. R. Corwin is in charge, assisted by Alfred Brooks and Tom Lindahl, both Boy Scouts. Those joining are: Max Fechner, Harold Hatten, James May, Robert Hewes, Leewan Kellam, Kenneth Kemple, Winifred Behmer, Milton Shaw, Jack Parr, Clair Bennett, Lowell Cooper, Charles McIntire, Alden Whitney, Billy Hamilton, Reed Kepler, Billy Friend, Jack Lindahl, Raymond Kerr and Charles Baker.

Parent discusses principal

Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to express the concern I have regarding Culver Community High School.

Since I have children in the school system, I feel the only way I can voice my concern without causing any problems for them is to write this letter and ask you to withhold my name.

Since it will soon be contract time for the high school principal, now is the time to correct a situation I see as drastically in need of change.

My concern is centered in areas which I feel if corrected, would restore our high school to the level at which it once functioned. I think it is imperative that we return our school to this status if we are to give our children the best possible education for the dollars spent.

I challenge the school board to take it upon their shoulders to find out from the people they represent if my concern is an isolated opinion or if it is actually a majority opinion in the community.

I challenge the patrons and students of this school system to come forward and express opinions to the school board, or take the same path I have, and write a letter to this paper.

It is my opinion that...

A. The emphasis has gradually changed in the last three years at C.C.H.S. from the academic to the extracurricular. Is this what you want for your child? I suggest that you ask your teachers for their opinions on this.

B. We need a man who can gain the support and respect of his staff, faculty and students. I am sorry to say that this is not the case with the present principal.

C. Anyone accepting as much tax money as the high school principal should himself be a taxpaying member of the community and should be contributing something to the community in which he works. It is obvious that after three years here, the present principal has no intention of doing this. Would all of our teachers be allowed to do this? If they did, what would happen to the community? Why has the school superintendent allowed this to happen?

I do not necessarily mean for this to be a personal attack on the man...I merely intend to bring to light what is happening in our school. Maybe what is happening is what you want for our children, or you might hope for something better...at least let the school board members know your wishes.

Students return to CCHS classes

By Ann Dutt
and Vickie Bauer
CCHS students

Many students at Culver Community High School wish every nine-week grading period would end with a four day vacation such as we had. Grunts and groans could be heard as students reluctantly came back to classes on Monday, but for some it would prove to be an exciting week.

Monday, the Junior Sunshine Society held its initiation for all new members. The ceremony included a candlelight service and a solo by Valerie Bauer, a Senior at CCHS.

Tuesday was an exciting day for the girls volleyball team because they played LaCrosse in the volleyball sectional.

Today the student body enjoyed the convocation, "Broadway in Sight," a series of musical comedies and dramatic scenes from recent and past Broadway hits. The presentations were performed by the Kaleidoscope players from New Mexico's State Theater Company. The group's props and costumes were bright and colorful, making the show most exciting.

Laundry burglary nets $150

The Lakeshore Wash, a laundromat located next to Culver's public park, was the scene of an early morning burglary Friday, Oct. 23. A dollar bill changer was forced opened by a cutting torch and $150 in change and bills was taken.

The theft was discovered by a customer about 7:30 a.m. Friday.

Office changes date

The Marshall County Food Stamp branch office will be at the Culver Town Hall, Lake Shore Drive and State Street, Wednesday, Nov. 12 from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

The date was changed because of Armistice Day, according to Food Stamp Department personnel.

Voters to cast ballots Tuesday

Tuesday, Nov. 4, residents of Culver will have the opportunity to cast votes for candidates for positions vying on the Culver Board of Trustees and for clerk-treasurer of Culver. Voting will take place in Culver's Town Hall.

David T. Baker, an instructor at the Culver Academies, will face Latham Lawson, a Culver Community High School teacher for the first ward membership on the board, while Culver Junior High School teacher Dannie D. Adams will oppose retired postal employee Harold I. Fitterling in the second ward.

Running for the board position from the third ward is Kenneth Turner, Jr., a salesman for Wickes Homes. He is opposing Mary Ricciardi, former businesswoman.

Marizetta Kenney, currently Culver clerk-treasurer, is running unopposed for that job.

Polls will be open from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. and announcement of the winning candidates will be made at the town hall after the votes are tabulated and certified by election inspector Jackie Berger and the Culver Town Election Board.

Baker, Adams and Turner are members of the Democrat ticket and Lawson, Fitterling, Mrs. Ricciardi and Mrs. Kenney make up the Republican party slate.

Voters may cross party lines in voting; however they may cast ballots for only one candidate per ward.

Prior registration is not necessary for voting in the town election. Voters must be at least 18 and a resident of Culver on Nov. 4.

In a joint statement, the Republican candidates said, "On November 4 you will elect your town government for the next four years. The incoming Board will not have the advantage of carry-over members. We, your Republican party candidates, feel we know you and that you know us. We know our community well, as it has been our home and the center of our involvement for many years. Therefore, we believe we can better reflect community needs and provide continuity. It is our hope that with this resource of community experience, we can best engender community progress."

Democrat candidates issued separate statements. Adams, discussing his candidacy, said, "After an enjoyable and rewarding association with Culver's youth and parents as a teacher, I would like to do my part for the community as a whole. I believe in fair and representative government. Not only am I seeking your vote, but I'm seeking your ideas as well."

Baker said he would attempt, if elected to the board, to "inform the people of town business and seek their viewpoints; bring in more new employers; obtain state and federal funds for town improvements; improve relations between the town, the community school and the Academy and encourage projects such as Osborn Center, which support the many senior citizens of Culver."

Candidate Turner explained his platform this way: "Being a parent and a homeowner, I want to become involved in keeping Culver a good town in which to live. I will give my full and undivided attention to bringing about the best town government I can by being representative of Indiana Governor Otis R. Bowen, president of the board, made the presentation to the "country banker," who is known throughout Marshall County and the United States as president, chairman of the board of directors of the State Exchange Bank, Culver, Plymouth and

William O. Osborn

Argos; State Exchange Finance Company; Farmers State Bank, LaPaz and the State Exchange Bank Building Corporation.

Osborn was selected by the board for the honor in recognition of his service to the community and interest in Ancilla College. He is a trustee of the Culver Educational Foundation, and in the past served as a trustee of DePauw University and Norman Beatty Memorial Hospital, State of Indiana. He is a member of the United Methodist Church and is affiliated with many church-related organizations and civic groups.

A Purdue University study in 1950 complimented Osborn for the agricultural policies and practices of the State Exchange Bank. Farmers of the area profited from his crop and feed loans in the 1920's, 30's and 40's and in 1972 the bank ranked in the top 100 nationally in offering loans to farmers. He pioneered in offering benefits for his employees by providing for a dividend bonus beginning in 1941; group life insurance in 1947; major medical hospitalization pension trust, 1955; and breakfast and lunch in the 1950's.

Osborn has shown a keen interest in youth and through the bank has initiated youth programs, supported youth projects and educational tours for high school senior classes in the 1950's. He has given active support to 4-H, FFA projects, scouting and other activities from the early 1940's. A college scholarship program for high school seniors assists several students each year.

Community industrial development has been of concern to Osborn. He has supported government agencies, education and municipal developmental projects. In many instances he was the only bidder on urgently needed community institutional loans for development—for schools, sewage systems to name two.

The State Exchange Bank and its affiliates have been benefactors to individuals and many institutions.

Ancilla College, in a special statement, announced it is a "privilege to have the opportunity to give special recognition, through its Ancilla Award, to Mr. Osborn for his distinguished service to the community."

Tri Kappa group will furnish eyeglasses to needy

Eyeglasses for needy children will be donated by the Culver chapter of Tri Kappa service sorority.

The chapter voted to furnish eyeglasses for three local children who attend Culver schools.

The meeting, held Oct. 20, took place in the home of Mrs. Frank Setzler. During the meeting, Mrs. David Baker accepted the chairmanship of the mental health committee and members were reminded to bring gifts and wrapping paper for Beatty Hospital residents to the next meeting.

Mrs. Ed Schultz, chapter president, gave an account of the Province Workshop recently conducted at Columbia City.

Local members attending the workshop included Mrs. Schultz, Mrs. Ed Bach, Mrs. Jack Campbell and Mrs. Earl Dean Overmyer.

It is not too late to enter Brideorama competition, it was announced, and persons interested in taking part in the contest should contact Mrs. Bach at 842-3745.

"Happy Birthday" was sung to Mrs. John Henderson, a charter member of the chapter and Mrs. Richard Middleton. Mrs. Lester Snyder and Mrs. Don Davis served refreshments from a table decorated with a carved pumpkin.

The next meeting will be on Nov. 17 at the home of Mrs. Jerry Wyman.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sefchek, Logansport and is a graduate of Logan High School and Manchester College. He is employed by Standard Oil Co.

Halloween safety encouraged

Halloween may mean costume parties, wiener roasts and trick or treat to child Billie J. Chambers, extension clothing and textile specialist at Purdue University, reminds parents that, in his delight, the child may not think of the dangers that accompany open fires, party candles and flimsy costumes.

During this holiday season many children are severely burned when clothing or costumes are accidentally ignited. Mrs. Chambers suggests minimizing this hazard by making sure that a child's Halloween costume has been treated with a flame-retardant finish.

Flame-retardant costumes can be bought or made.

Yard goods treated in this way are available on the market, but such fabrics are generally designed for children's sleepwear. Mrs. Chambers offers retardant solutions easy to make at home:

Stir together seven ounces borax, three ounces boric acid and two quarts of hot water. If this solution gels as it cools, reheat it. Dip the dry fabric into the solution. Fabric must be completely saturated for the solution to be effective. When the costume has partially dried, it must be pressed with a warm—not hot—iron.

For rayon or easy-care cottons, use a solution of 12 ounces of diammonium phosphate and two quarts of water. Mix the chemical with the water until the solution is clear. Again, dip the dry fabric into the solution and press with a warm iron while the fabric is just barely damp.

The chemicals for these solutions can be purchased at many drug stores.

If a treated costume is washed or exposed to rain, the flame retardant solution must be applied again. Mrs. Chambers said although applying a flame retardant solution will retard flame, it will not make a costume fireproof.

However, the retardant will keep the fabric from bursting into flames even though the fabric may char, melt or crumble.

Trick or treat time set for Culver, Monterey

Plans are complete for area Halloween activities.

Children from throughout the Culver area are invited to take part in UNICEF collecting tonight, Oct. 29. The activity is sponsored by the Maxinkuckee Junior Women.

Children are asked to meet above Veri's Barber Shop on N. Main St. at 5:30 p.m. to organize for collection. They will return to the hall for treats by 7 p.m. People in the community should turn their porch lights on if they wish to donate to the United Nations International Children's Relief Fund. All participating youngsters will carry orange and black boxes indicating they are collecting for the fund.

Both Culver and Monterey Town Boards have agreed on Trick or Treat Night for their communities.

Culver youngsters in costume will collect candy and other goodies Thursday, Oct. 30 from 7 to 9 p.m. Persons in the community have been asked by the board to turn on porch lights to welcome the children. Motorists have also been warned to drive with caution and watch out for the youngsters.

Monterey's Town Board set Friday, Oct. 31 for Trick or Treat Night. Kids in that community will go door-to-door from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. to collect treats.

Monterey Lions Club will sponsor their annual Halloween Party Thursday, Oct. 30.

Costume judging will begin at 6:30 p.m. at the Monterey school and prizes will be awarded for the best costumes. Treats and refreshments will be served to the public after the judging.

Culver youths will be judged for their costumes on Friday, Oct. 31 at 6 p.m. in the State Exchange Bank parking lot, Jefferson and Ohio St.

After judging the participants will parade to the Culver Junior High School for a party and presentation of awards. The Culver Lions Club sponsors the local event.

Hook's issues safety pamphlet

A list of Trick or Treat safety rules for Halloween is now being distributed as a public service by all 212 Hook's Drug Stores throughout the Indiana, according to company president Norman P. Reeves.

As stated on the handout, "too many times, innocent children are harmed or seriously injured, sometimes fatally, during Halloween Trick or Treat time. Unfortunately, there have been instances when 'cranks' or other mentally unstable persons have passed out 'treats' containing poison, drugs, or other injurious ingredients.

The first of a series of indoor rodeos will open at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 1 and 1:30 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 2 at the Bass Lake Horse Palace, according to Terry White, producer.

Also on the program is a rodeo clown with a burro and trick dog. The opening parade will feature the State Championship 4-H Color Guard of Marshall County.

The rodeo is being billed as "open jackpot" which means any adult may enter and compete for the jackpot purse. The more contestants, the bigger the purse. Added to the competitive events will be the

Ending a 23-year tradition

Pearl Onesti closes the door on Pete's Lakeside Grocery for the last time after selling the long-time Lake Maxinkuckee establishment to Leonard and Jane Crump, 431 Forest Place. Mrs. Onesti, who continues to run the Lakeside Coffee Shop next door, is the wife of the late Pete Onesti, who operated the grocery on Lake Shore Drive, since May, 1953. The Crumps will continue to keep the business a grocery and will offer a variety of food items. Also to be included in the store will be Gaye's AA Communications, owned and operated by their daughter, Gayne Tholen, Lakeview St. Gaye will move the business from its present location in Knox to the Culver store, which is to be renamed Crump's Lakeside Grocery. Mrs. Onesti wishes to thank all of her customers at the grocery for their gracious patronage and business. "I do have a lot of nice friends here in Culver," she added.

U.S. Capitol Culver Club plans to fete Lancer Troopers

The Washington, D.C. Culver Club, composed of alumni parents of students and friends of Culver Military Academy and Culver Girls Academy, will conduct a reception at the Bolling Air Force Base Officers Club from 6:30 to 9 p.m. tonight, Oct. 29.

Col. Ben A. Barone, Culver's superintendent, will be a guest at the reception and will discuss Culver's enrollment, new campus projects and other new developments. CMA, founded in 1894, and CGA, founded in 1971, have increased their enrollment from 671 in 1974 to 715 this year.

Dr. William H. Lake, chairman of the Washington Culver Club and host for the cocktail-buffet, graduated from Culver in 1945.

Tomorrow through Sunday, the Lancer Platoon of Culver's famous Black Horse Troop and their accompanying Lancer Band will perform at the Washington International Horse Show. Oct. 30 has been designated "Culver Day" at the International Horse Show.

The Lancer Platoon is the honor guard of Culver's Black Horse Troop, the nation's largest remaining mounted military organization since the U.S. Cavalry disbanded in 1950. The Lancers have appeared in seven Presidential inaugurations, including the last five, and have escorted visiting dignitaries as the king and queen of Denmark, two queens of England, and this year the emperor of Japan.

Trick or treat for O.E.S. chapter

"Trick or Treat" came early to Emily Jane Culver Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, when the chapter met Oct. 21. The trick during the meeting was for all officers to do the ritualistic work properly and the treat was instruction from Ava Striver, Deputy of District 20, who came to prepare the officers for the upcoming inspection by the Worthy Grand Matron of the Indiana Grand Chapter.

Miss Striver was escorted to the East by Conductress Mrs. John Strycker and was honored with a parody to the song Louisiana Hayride and a poem by the worthy matron, Mrs. Edward Kowatch.

Directed Mrs. Kowatch and the worthy patron, Donald Davis, the officers balloted and initiated two proxy candidates, Mrs. Sam Allen and Mrs. Verlin Shaffer. Mrs. Charles Clifton was soloist and Mrs. Cleo Ringle was pianist for the evening activities.

Argos town candidates ready for Nov. 4

Argos town elections are scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 4 at the Argos Community Schools building, N. Yearlich St. Voting times have been designated as 6 a.m. through 6 p.m.

To be eligible to vote, persons must be at least 18 years of age, must be a resident of the township 60 days and must be a resident within the Argos corporate limits 30 days.

Prior registration is not necessary to vote in the election.

Voters will cast ballots for three town trustee positions, the clerk-treasurer and town judge office.

Democrat candidates for the Argos Town Board of Trustees are Thomas L. Andrews, Jack Rowe and Donnie Snyder. Mrs. Shirley Wolf is the party's candidate for clerk-treasurer.

Don Dickinson, Devon Kitch and Jack Thompson are the Republican nominees for town trustees and Roger Zentz is the candidate for clerk-treasurer. This year voters will be casting ballots for a town judge as well. Republican Jerry Wilhelm will be running unopposed for the position.

Robert Lowry and Dee Shaffer are serving as the absent voter's board. Absentee applications must be signed and returned to the clerk's office by Nov. 1 for the vote to count in the Nov. 4 election. Every absentee ballot must be confirmed with sickness or injury, according to regulations enforced by the board.

Voters who will be out of town the day of elections are to return their ballots by Nov. 1 or vote before Nov. 4 at the clerk's office, located in the municipal building in downtown Argos.

Ballots for absentee voting are available at the clerk's office.

Edwin Pearson was named by the Argos Town Board to serve as election inspector and members on the election board from the Republican party are Mrs. Betty O'Dell, clerk and Howard Rogers, sheriff.

Democrat chairman Bruce VanDerWeele named Loren Hisson as judge on the election board and Mrs. Sally Carpenter as clerk. Wayne VanDerWeele was named to serve on the board as the Democrat sheriff.

Jaycees sponsor Forum

Candidates running in the Argos town elections will be available for questioning this Thursday, Oct. 30 in a Political Forum sponsored by the Argos Jaycees.

Persons with voting eligibility are urged to attend the Forum, which will begin at 7 p.m. in the State Exchange Bank's Friendship Room. The meeting will last about an hour, according to Jaycees.

Each candidate for political office will offer a brief statement and then persons in the audience will be able to pose questions to the candidates.

Dennis Treber, Jaycee president, is chairman of the event. Further information can be obtained from him at 892-6318.

Treber urges all residents in Argos to attend the Forum so they will be better informed voters on Nov. 4, election day in Argos.
