Last Sunday evening children's day was observed at the M. E. church. A packed house listened for over an hour to a very interesting and well rendered program, which consisted of recitations and vocal music.

The Concert Band, of Argos, accompanied by about two hundred of the "a la creme" society of said city, arrived at Culver Sunday and enjoyed a day's recreation at the lake. The band and party spent most of the day upon the beautiful steamers Aubeenaubbee and Peerless, where thrilling strains of music floated over the crystal waters, emanating from the instruments of this musical organization. The band and a large number of their friends were guests at the Bay View Hotel.

The phrase "he isn't it" was first used by an editor who is said died and went to heaven and looked around for a man who had taken his paper three years without paying for it.

CHURCH DEDICATION.

Thousands of People Expected Here Sunday.

Several Celebrated Bands Will Furnish Music Upon the Occasion, Such Music as Will Charm the Savage Breast.

Sunday July 4th, a large concourse of people will visit Lake Maxenkuckee. It will be the occasion of the dedication of the new Catholic church. Great preparations have been made to make this the greatest in point of numbers and enjoyment for Culver City and all visitors of all time and all occasions. Every indication now points to a fulfillment of the most sanguine expectation. It will be the occasion when christian experience and devotion will speak, and sing, praise and jubilate, where fathers, mothers, sons and daughters can as a united family live over the memories, delight in the present and contemplate the future, when friends can mingle and commingle, when lovers can be romantic, in short it is to be the occasion when Culver City will offer her innate hospitality to the humblest visitor. The beautiful waters of the historic lake for boat riding, invigorating breeze and delightful scenery will be the source of rare past-time and "new things" and experience for hundreds. Come to this spot, the lake of memories and delight, and listen to the harmony of nature and see its charms. There will be music, not band noise, by ignorant horn blowers, but classic music, not upon the "harp of a thousand strings," but music by musicians, brass, instrumental and vocal. The 4th coming on the Lord's days, let patriotism and christian devotion be the ruling spirit and thus will the celebration be carried on and ended with joy to all, honor the nation and respect to christianity. The new church to be dedicated is a commodious building, and as a church will be one of the civilizing and christianizing means needed in all communities. Let the weather be good, the people be good, the intentions good and all will meet the Fourth and the occasion meet us and Culver City will enter into the joys of the occasion and the joy of the occasion will enter into all. Come and let us all celebrate and recreate,—celebrate the day of all days, and recreate the mind and body. Whosoever will may come and partake of the waters of Lake Maxenkuckee and share in the infinite preparations both for the dedicatory occasion and for the American idea of the Fourth.

That Big Picnic.

About the last week in August, the Mexican War Veterans of Indiana, will celebrate their fifty-first anniversary, by holding an old fashioned picnic at this place. In 1846, ninety-two handsome, stalwart young men left Logansport, bound for Mexico, each one filled with a spirit of patriotism characteristic of every true American citizen when his country is in danger. Only five or six of that brave band who followed Gen. Winfield Scott, and later Gen. Taylor to victory, in that short and terrible campaign live to tell the story of those days. Mayor McFadden, of Logansport, will be the great figure head at this picnic and will electrify those present by a thrilling account of the events of '46 and '47. There will also be first class music upon the occasion and an old fashioned dance in the afternoon.

V. P. Kirk, one of Plymouth's well known lecturers is in our town a few days enjoying a vacation. He took a ride with the editor out in the country Monday and we enjoyed one of those dinners that only a farmer's wife can prepare. Ah! that delicious "milk gravy," but hold! We promised Mr. Kirk we would not tell of the great amount he devoured, hence we hold our peace.

Have Gone Home.

The second regiment of the Indianapolis State Militia, which camped at Culver Park the past two weeks, returned to Indianapolis Saturday. There has probably at no time in the history of the lake, been a more gentlemanly body of men camped upon its shores. Their genuine hospitality and courteous manners won for them the highest encomiums of the community. Every man in the regiment was a crack shot, as the average score at 500 and 600 yards was 76 to 86 out of a possible 100. Officers in command were Capt. C. J. Carlton, Lieut. H. B. Mahan, Lieut. Carroll B. Carr. The distinguished visitors were: Lieut. G. A. Boyle, Adgt. 2nd Infantry; Capt. H. A. Jones, Serg. 2nd Infantry; Maj. A. H. Skinner, Maj. 2nd Infantry; Maj. James Thayer, Gov. staff. Mrs. Carroll B. Carr and daughter have been the guests of the camp and little Miss Carr has been the pet of all the boys, who took her sailing and boating. They call her Lieutenant.

Resolutions.

The Indianapolis cottage owners have taken a step in the right direction by organizing an association, for the purpose of devising means to protect their property during their absence from the lake. We heartily endorse the resolutions appended and hope our citizens will enter into the spirit and take an active part in the landable enterprise.

The Maxenkuckee Association, organized for the purpose of promoting the interests of Lake Maxenkuckee, in meeting assembled, at Indianapolis, Ind., this 23rd day of June 1897, recognizing the importance of taking prompt action, in order to prevent further destruction of our property at Lake Maxenkuckee, hereby offer the following Resolution.

WHEREAS, depredations have already been committed sustaining heavy losses to us individuals, and same being continued at present and recognizing that our property is being placed in still greater jeopardy owing to the fact that former depredations have remained unpunished, and

WHEREAS, we believe that the towns of Culver City and Maxenkuckee are largely interested in the maintenance of public order and in the protection of property, we hereby call on the authorities of the above mentioned towns to give us their aid and assistance in bringing the vandals and trespassers who prey on our property, to justice, and be it further

Resolved, that as a further evidence of good faith, that we offer a reward of twenty five dollars ($25.00) for the apprehension, and another reward of twenty-five dollars ($25.00) for the conviction of the parties invading our premises and destroying our property. Be it further

Resolved, that the cottage owners generally at Lake Maxenkuckee be called upon to co-operate with us in accomplishing the purposes set out in the above preambles and resolutions.

Rutland.

Children's day exercises at the Rutland Evangelical Church will long be remembered by the vast audience that assembled there last Sunday the 27th and listened to as nice an entertainment as could possibly have been rendered. The services opened at 10 a. m. with an appropriate song after prayer by the pastor was offered and following close in succession came many beautiful declamations interspersed with splendid vocal music by the choir. While the entire program was well rendered, yet there were some selections worthy of special praise, among which were: "Coming from the Wild Woods," by Miss Rosa Lidecker, "Trouble in the Amen Corner," by Miss Newman. Rev. Wood, of Argos, rendered two splendid solos, entitled, "I am on a Shining Pathway" and "Where will you Spend Eternity?" also a duett by Mrs. Marble and Mr. Albert entitled, "There is a Rose that Blooms for me, and its perfume is for You and Me." Closing address by Rev. Newman. Special praise is due Mrs. Marble, Mrs. Cavender, Mr. Porter D. Berlin and others for the hard work in training the children for the occasion, never-the-less their efforts were crowned with success. F. T.

Childrens day at Zions Reformed church re Sunday.

Rev. Howard attended Epworth League convention at Wabash last week.

In the last weeks issue of the HERALD, a correspondent going by the name of "Bran New," asks for a little information concerning the drainage of ponds that contain stagnated water. These must of course be very unpleasant and disagreeable. But we cannot pity you very much unless that such places cannot be removed from your midst. We say however, have you taken the proper course in asking your neighbors to assist you in the removal of these unpleasant odorous and disease breeding places, or do you simply express your timid mind on paper?

If you have not got a scythe with which to cut down the tall weeds and grass, will you allow me to give you a hint, quite a number of your neighbors have axes, hoes, mowers, scythes and a number of other useful articles, which they will lend you, I am quite sure. The scythe is a very good thing with which to develop the muscle, try it.

CUBAN JAIL HORRORS

REBELS CAPTURE A PRISON AND MAKE EXPOSURES.

In Secret Cells They Found Three Half-Crazed Women and Four Men Who Had Not Seen the Light of Day for Six Months.

Women in the Dungeon. The St. Louis Globe-Democrat has this from Havana: "At Below Colian, in Matanzas province, the insurgents released twenty-three prisoners from jail last week, five of whom had been held without charges, as far as they knew, for three years. After getting these men and women out the insurgents were about to burn the jail, a small structure, when the prisoners begged them not to until they had searched the place, as they felt sure that more prisoners were still in it. The Cubans began tearing down the jail, but not until the building was in ruins did they discover a secret dungeon underneath. There, in a small cell, hardly large enough for them to turn about in, were four men. In a second cell were three women. The women were almost insane, and it was some time before they could tell their stories. One had been a belle of the city and had been imprisoned because she resisted advances of the colonel commanding the troops there. The other two were confined for having relatives in the Cuban army, but the reason for imprisoning them in this horrible hole was not ascertained. They were fed only once a day, and as no light entered the place, their existence was almost intolerable. They had been in there six months, but all seemed mere wrecks when taken out, and could not bear the sunlight. The men were not in any better condition, and two of them have since died."

CONGRESSMAN FOUND DEAD.

Edward D. Cooke Discovered Lifeless in His Bed.

Congressman Edward Dean Cooke, member from the Sixth Chicago district, was found dead in his bed at the Cochran Hotel in Washington, Thursday morning. Physicians who examined the remains say that death was the result of heart disease. Mr. Cooke was not feeling well the previous evening, but nothing was thought about it, as he had been subject to attacks of acute indigestion. About 2 o'clock in the morning, however, attendants at the hotel were summoned to his room, he having been taken worse. He had a fit of vomiting and was much relieved, he said. He was asked if he did not want a physician, to which he gave a negative reply, saying that he would be "all right." The hotel attendants accordingly turned down the light in his room and retired. Not responding to a call in the morning, the door of his room was broken open and the Congressman was found dead. He was lying flat on his back and his face showed no signs of suffering.

RACE WAR AT KEY WEST.

Town Terrified Over a Conflict Between Whites and Blacks.

An attempt at Key West, Fla., to lynch Sylvester Johnson, colored, who pleaded guilty to assault, resulted in an uprising of the negroes and the capture by them of the town. The local militia were rendered powerless by the loss of their armory and equipment. Up to Friday night several conflicts had occurred, one white being killed and several whites and negroes being wounded. The whites declared Johnson should be lynched if it took every Caucasian on the island to do it; while the blacks, largely in the majority, were successful, up to that time, in the defense. The sheriff wired Gov. Boxham for permission to call upon the Government for help from the artillery and infantry companies stationed there, to prevent the blacks from rising and burning the town.

Cornell Is Champion.

Cornell proudly claims the title of queen of the rowing world. Her champion crew overwhelmingly defeated Yale and Harvard Friday afternoon at Poughkeepsie. Gone are the claims for glory of the English stroke, it would seem, for Mr. Lehmann's crew from Harvard, its avowed exponents, finished, exhausted and half dead, lengths behind Yale. And Yale's crew rowed a plucky race, but was never in it with Cornell. Cornell's time, 20 minutes 34 seconds, was not record breaking, but was good considering the condition of the water.

Meyer Lehman.

Meyer Lehman is dead at New York, aged 67 years. He was a native of Bavaria and came to this country with his two brothers and settled in Montgomery, Ala., where they started the firm of Lehman Bros. In 1864 Mr. Lehman was appointed by the Governor of Alabama to visit the Confederate soldiers confined in Northern prisons. In 1867 Mr. Lehman went to New York.

CALIFORNIA EARTHQUAKE.

Many Buildings at Salinas Were Badly Damaged.

Late reports regarding the California earthquake show that it was quite severe in Salinas, the county seat of Monterey County. The more prominent buildings damaged are the armory of Troop C, which had its walls badly cracked and parted; the Nance building, in process of construction, which will have to be taken down, and the Farmers' Union building. The latter had an old crack in the front opened four inches for a length of several feet. In the interior of the latter building bricks fell and the plastering was damaged. The Salinas Hotel, the Jeffrey, Abbott and Bardine houses all suffered more or less, windows being broken and walls cracked. In the leading mercantile houses large plate-glass windows were broken. On the residence streets chimneys were thrown down and windows smashed. The postoffice building was cracked on its front. Public halls are injured to a great extent. The city hall was seriously injured and the court house suffered. The old brick Salinas Hotel was cracked across the top. There were over seventy-five windows broken in the Bardine House and in over half the rooms the walls are cracked. At Graves' Switch more houses were ruined. A section of adobe wall in the mission churches of San Carlos, in Monterey, tumbled in on the congregation and a panic almost resulted. Congregations were at worship in various towns when the shock occurred, and in some churches panics were avoided by the cool-headed ministers. A good record of the shock was made at the Lick observatory.

WOODFORD WILL NOT TALK.

Makes It a Rule to Keep His Mouth Shut.

An interview with Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, minister to Spain, is published at New York, in which he says: "From the moment I accepted the appointment I have not said one word in relation to it for the press or the public, or to any unofficial person in any form, and shall not do so under any circumstances. Whatever is to be made known to the people of that which I shall have in hand will properly and necessarily come from the State Department. If there is any rumor or report in the newspapers or elsewhere of an interview with me about Spain or Cuba touching their affairs in any degree, you may be positive, without inquiry, that so far as it concerns me it is without foundation."

MACARTNEY ALSO ACQUITTED.

Last of Recusant Witnesses Disposed Of by Judge Bradley.

At Washington, Judge Bradley sustained the motion of the defense in the case of John Macartney, broker, on trial for alleged contempt of the Senate sugar trust investigating committee, and ordered the jury to return a verdict of acquittal. The ground of the judge's decision was that the questions asked were individual questions of Senator Allen and not committee questions. Mr. Macartney is the last of the alleged recusant witnesses to be tried, so that the record stands: Acquittals, six; convictions, one—namely, Broker Elverson R. Chapman of New York City, who served twenty-five days in jail.

Looks as Big as a Barrel.

At Wichita, Kan., with a flash that lighted up the city a ball of white fire shot across the sky at 10:50 o'clock Sunday night. The flash lasted about one and three-quarter minutes. It seemed about the size and shape of a barrel, and bright, stiff flames flared out from the sides and followed it, making the streets as light as day. In the northwest it burned to a bright coal and dropped on down to the horizon, after which was heard a sharp, heavy report that rumbled like distant thunder for fully a minute. George Daisy, who was driving two miles northwest of town, was severely shocked and his horse was knocked to the ground. People ran out on the streets in excited crowds. The shock was distinctly felt at Mulvane. Hutchinson reports that the shock there was severe and seemed to come from the south. At Garden Plain the shock came from the north. E. E. Ware, Dr. J. G. Johnson and the local weather observer, Major Ewing, are of the opinion that a great aerolite has fallen.

Santa Fe Stealings Disclosed.

Although the investigation of the pay rolls of the Santa Fe has been in progress but a week, it has already revealed stealings amounting to about $80,000, and officials who are in a position to know say that this figure will be greatly exceeded. The old game of placing fictitious names on the pay roll was worked successfully. In order to locate the fictitious names the Santa Fe sent out a pay car for the first time in three years. Assistant General Superintendent Turner and Chief of Detectives Kinney were on the car and attended personally to the work of handing out the checks. Hundreds of the checks were not called for and the investigation proved that the names were fictitious.

Mayor Good May Lose Office.

An affidavit was filed Friday with Attorney General Monett charging Mayor Good of Springfield, Ohio, with violating the Garfield corrupt election practices act by using more money than allowed by law in securing his nomination and election. The penalty is ouster from office.

ROBBED BY ONE MAN.

LONE BANDIT HOLDS UP L. & N. TRAIN.

Reported to Have Secured from $2,000 to $4,000—Japs Anxious to Trade with Americans—Rainy Season Stops Fighting in Cuba.

Dozs on His Trail.

Meager information has been received of a hold-up on the Louisville and Nashville Railroad. One man armed with two pistols sacked the express car and obtained, according to reports in Clarksville, from $2,000 to $4,000. The express car was in charge of Messenger L. C. Brennan. The train, No. 102, left Memphis at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The robbery occurred four miles east of Clarksville at 9:35 o'clock. It is supposed the robber boarded the train at Clarksville. When a few minutes out he entered the car and ordered the messenger to open the safe, which was done. After securing some money, the robber pulled the bell cord. When the train slacked its speed he jumped off and made his escape. Bloodhounds were placed on the bandit's trail. The passengers were not disturbed and knew nothing of the robbery until it was reported by the messenger.

WHITE IS THE MAN.

Iowa Democrats Select Him as a gubernatorial Candidate.

Following is the ticket named at Des Moines, Iowa, Wednesday: For Governor, Frederick E. White For Lieutenant Governor, Benjamin A. Plummer For Supreme Court Justice, L. G. Kinne For Superintendent of Public Instruction, G. F. Reinhardt For Railroad Commissioner, S. B. Crane For Frederick E. White and Judge Kinne are Democrats, Plummer and Reinhardt, silver Republicans, and S. B. Crane, candidate for Railroad Commissioner, is a Populist. The ticket really represents the combined work of three separate and distinct conventions, but on account of the provisions of the antifusion law which was passed by the State Legislature the Democratic convention had to nominate it primarily and the Populist and silver Republican conventions indorsed the action of the Democrats. Fifty-three middle of the road Populists, headed by Messrs. Weiler and Weeks, bolted.

JAPAN ANXIOUS TO TRADE.

Market Which American Manufacturers Should Cultivate.

Massana Maeda, ex-vice-minister of agriculture of Japan, is in Washington, a guest at the Japanese legation. He is accompanied by Mr. Furuya, the representative at New York of the Japan Tea Traders' Association of Tokio. Mr. Maeda represents about twelve manufacturing and commercial associations of Japan, and his mission here is to advance, if possible, the trade relations between the two countries. Mr. Maeda says the Japanese are extremely anxious to give the United States a large share of their trade, and his purpose in coming here is in part to investigate the prices of railroad and telephone equipments. The Japanese Government is about to expend a large sum of money in railroad and telephone extensions and it would be very satisfactory to the Japanese people if the materials and equipments could be purchased in the United States.

STOPPED BY RAINY SEASON.

Gen. Gomez Says Fighting Will Cease for a Time in Cuba.

A letter written by Gen. Maximo Gomez has been received by the Cuban junta in New York. It states that the rains having begun, fighting is over for the season. During the period of inactivity the Cuban army is reduced to 3,000 men, but, writes the commander-in-chief, these men are well equipped, well fed, sturdy and efficient soldiers. The Spanish army the Cuban general describes as ill-equipped and ill-fed. On his famous march from Havana through Matanzas to Las Villas or Santa Clara, Gen. Weyler led 25,000 or 35,000 soldiers. One-third of that number died from smallpox and fevers. The hospitals are full. The troops are discouraged. Many of the men have received no pay for five or six months. But for the stubbornness of Spain the war would be deemed now at an end, with the glory all attaching to the Cuban army.

Shows a Deficit of $3,500,000.

Deputy Attorney General Elkin has given out a statement on the condition of the Pennsylvania State finances in which he shows that there is a deficit of $3,500,000 in the State treasury. Mr. Elkin says the Legislature has for several years appropriated more money than the net revenue received by the State, hence the present large deficiency.

Great New York Strike Ended.

The great New York tailors' strike, which at one time involved about 20,000 hands, is ended. The last of the contractors surrendered to the men Monday.

DEFEAT OF OUR NAVY.

Dry Docks Needed More than Additional Battle Ships.

"Congress had better stop building battle ships and begin building dry docks," was the expression of Representative Amos Cummings during the debate Monday afternoon in the national house on the proposition to appropriate $100,000 to repair the Brooklyn dry dock. Mr. Cummings called attention with startling candor to the lamentable weakness of this country in facilities for the repair of our battle ships. He said that whereas in the single port of Portsmouth, England, there were twenty-one stone dry docks into which English ships could be taken for repairs, the entire equipment of the United States on the Atlantic coast was one timber dry dock, and that one so badly out of repair that it was useless, and that on the Pacific coast there was also but a single timber dry dock. Our deficiencies in this respect are due entirely to a difference of opinion between cliques of officers in the Navy Department, whose rivalries extend into almost every feature of our naval establishment and have so thoroughly demoralized the navy as to make it a laughing stock among nations. One of these cliques is in favor of timber dry docks and the other in favor of stone dry docks, and between the two we have practically neither. In the event of a war with any maritime nation, such as Japan or Spain, the United States would be practically helpless in its inability to repair war ships.

DEATH OF CAPT. BOYCOTT.

First Victim and Originator of the Now Famous Term.

Captain Boycott is dead in London. He was about 55 years of age and became famous through being the first man subjected to the "boycott" in Ireland. He was a land agent in 1881 in the Conemauga section of County Mayo, where he collected rents for a number of landlords, notably the Earl of Erne. The captain made a speech, in the course of which he urged the people of Ireland to abstain from agrarian crimes and to adopt instead a policy of sending harsh landlords, agents and bailiffs "to Coventry," the old term for boycotting. Events so shaped themselves that Captain Boycott was the first man the Irish experimented on in this connection, and hence the now familiar word of "boycott."

Trade Waking Up.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says: "The retarding influence of cold and unseasonable weather has passed. The gain in business has become clearer to all. As no genuine improvement ever begins with an uplifting of prices before the producing force has become fairly employed, this does not, and the buying of 7,000 bales Australian wool by one Boston house and 100,000 tons pig iron by a Wall street operator, and advancing prices for stocks, are the only proof that the actual conditions are understood by some capable men. There is evidence of gradually enlarging business in every important department, more establishments have been set at work, and more hands employed, and while prudence still binds speculative excesses, the progress toward better things is unchecked. Reports from the various cities show a very general progress and a continuing large distribution through retail trade. The proof is clearer, as it should be, in the industrial than in the trading field."

Yellow Fever on Board.

SENATE AND HOUSE.

WORK OF OUR NATIONAL LAW-MAKERS.

A Week's Proceedings in the Halls of Congress—Important Measures Discussed and Acted Upon—An Impartial Resume of the Business.

The National Solons.

The Senate made giant strides on the tariff bill Monday, covering fifty-six pages. The last two schedules of the dutiable list, covering paper and manufactured sundries, were completed, with the exception of the paragraphs on hides, gloves, coal and some lesser articles, which went over. This advanced the Senate to the free list, which was completed in three hours. Early in the day the wool and silk schedules went over with an agreement that wool would be taken up Tuesday. After that the tobacco schedule, the reciprocity provisions and the internal revenue portions of the bill as well as the "many isolated paragraphs passed over remain to be considered. The progress Monday was so marked, however, that for the first time there was a feeling that the end was not far off. The House, after the approval of the journal, adopted a bill appropriating $100,000 for the repair of dry dock No. 3 at New York. Mr. Dingley of Maine, from the Committee on Ways and Means, presented a favorable report on a joint resolution providing that foreign exhibitors at the Omaha exposition in 1898 may bring to this country laborers to prepare and have charge of exhibits. Two amendments provide that the Secretary of the Treasury shall fix the number of laborers to enter the country and that they shall leave the United States within three months from the termination of the exposition.

An exciting debate marked the consideration of the wool schedule in the Senate Tuesday. It led to a warm personal exchange between Senators Carter of Montana and Foraker of Ohio on the one hand and Mr. Allison of Iowa, in charge of the bill, on the other. Mr. Foraker asserted that an agreement concerning rates on certain wools was being violated and that under such circumstances every Senator would be free to act for himself. Mr. Allison declared he could not be driven by threats. Mr. Carter, who had aroused the storm, endeavored to have the paragraphs relating to carpet wools go over, but Mr. Vest objected. Mr. Teller of Colorado also spoke against delay. Aside from this interruption fair progress was made on the wool schedule. The duty on first-class wool was agreed to at 10 cents per pound and on second-class wool 11 cents, which is between the House and Senate rates in each case. The rates on third-class wools went over. Most of the other amendments related to the classification of wools. Mr. Jones of Arkansas spoke against the entire schedule as severely oppressive to the consumers of woolen goods.

After a contest lasting all Wednesday the Senate completed the paragraphs of the wool schedule relating to raw wool and advanced into the features relating to manufactured woolen goods. The day was devoted largely to a discussion of the effect of tariff rates on the price of wool, and the speeches were on technical lines in the main. Mr. Quay made a strong effort to have the House ad valorem rates on third-class wool adopted, but he was defeated—19 to 41. The committee rates were then agreed to, viz., 4 cents per pound on third-class wool valued at 10 cents or less per pound, and 7 cents per pound on third-class wool valued above 10 cents per pound. The schedule was completed up to paragraph 364, relating to cloths, knit fabrics, etc.

A stubborn contest over the duties on manufactured woolen goods occupied the attention of the Senate throughout Thursday. It was a day of constant roll calls and of cross fire debate on the effect of the duties in advancing rates. Many amendments were proposed to reduce the rates, but these were rejected by decisive majorities. Less than five pages were disposed of during the day, carrying the Senate through paragraphs 370, the first of the paragraphs relating to carpets. An air of gloom pervaded the House, owing to the death of Mr. Cooke of Illinois. The blind chaplain, in his invocation, referred feelingly to Mr. Cooke's death as a great public calamity. After the reading of the journal the Speaker announced the reception of an invitation from the Belgian Chamber of Deputies to the members of the House to attend the international parliamentary conference in favor of arbitration, which will begin Aug. 6. Mr. Foss of Illinois, on behalf of his delegation, then announced the death of his colleague, Mr. Cooke. The customary resolutions were adopted and a committee to attend the funeral was appointed, consisting of Messrs. Foss, Prince, Belknap of Illinois; Moody of Massachusetts; Updegraff of Iowa; Boyce of Indiana; Bailey of Texas; Hunter of Illinois and Dismore of Arkansas. Then, as a further mark of respect the House adjourned until Monday.

The Senate Friday completed the wool schedule, the silk schedule and the tobacco schedule of the tariff bill, and with this accomplished the tariff leaders had the satisfaction of knowing that all the schedules of the bill and the free list had been gone over once. There now remains only to go through the bill a second time, passing on the items passed over. These are very numerous and important, including hides, gloves, coal, tea and beer. After that the internal revenue features of the bill will be all that remains. Progress was rapid, although every paragraph relating to carpets was stubbornly contested.

For the Blind.

A typewriter for the use of the blind has been invented. It works like an ordinary typewriter in impressing the print of the letters, but also makes a raised cut on the side by which the blind can read. Matters written in this way can be used both by the blind and those who can see.

HANNA FOR SENATOR.

ENDORSED BY THE BUCKEYE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

Exciting Contest Over the Selection of a Campaign Chairman—Platform Urges the President and Congress to Be Loyal to Ante-Election Tenets.

Bushnell Renominated.

The Ohio Republican convention met in Toledo Tuesday to nominate a full State ticket and endorse a candidate for United States Senator. There was no opposition to Senator Hanna for both the short and the long terms and none to the renomination of Gov. Bushnell and other State officers, all of whom are running for their second terms.

The contest from the start was for the control of the State Central Committee.

Each of the twenty-one congressional districts was closely canvassed in advance for committeemen and both factions claimed a majority of the twenty-one members up to the day of the convention. Senator Foraker, Gov. Bushnell and others had been untiring in their efforts to retain their positions by the Democrats, and announced that President McKinley intended to put back as many more as he could under the civil service law.

At the conclusion of Gen. Grosvenor's address the district caucus reports were read, after which the convention adjourned until 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

things about Senator Foraker, and the remarks were duly approved by the admirers of that gentleman who were in the convention hall. Immediately after this applause had died away the temporary chairman turned his attention to Mr. Hanna. He said all sorts of good things about him, and then stepped back from his table to wait for the applause to die away. The Hanna men shouted themselves hoarse, but the Bushnell men sat sullenly silent. Gen. Grosvenor brought another shout from the delegates when he said that the present national administra-

HOUSE ON WHEELS.

Curious Vehicle in Which Jonathan Olson Will Go Around the World.

An ingenious citizen of Altoona, Pa., has built an elaborate wagon for himself and family, in which he proposes to make a trip around the world. His name is Jonathan Olson, and he intends to start on his long journey this summer, and to finish if possible by the first of June, 1899. He will first go to Illinois, and then strike south to Texas. Voyaging across the Gulf of Mexico to South America, he will take a steamer thence to Spain. From this point the American travelers will start on their long wagon trip.

In fitting out his house on wheels Olson has shown rare taste. He has finished the inside in polished maple, and has adorned it with hand carvings of his own design. In the course of an eccentric life he has picked up many beautiful pieces of bric-a-brac, which he now turns to the adornment of his wagon house. The interior of the house, besides having three rooms, is well conceived in point of convenience. In one room the family cook, and in bad weather they dine there also. But the dining room is out of doors when the wagon can be pulled up in a pleasant place. Five days out of the week there is a halt, where the cloth can be spread under the trees and a good cool drink obtained from a spring.

The second room has a couch and small table. The table can be used for a breakfast tray or it can be cleared at night and used for parlor games. It also does duty as writing table, or for books and a smoking set. On one side of the room there is a dressing table that takes up the entire wall. It has twenty drawers, a broad shelf and a mirror with shelves overhead. Here the entire winter and summer wardrobe is stored.

In pleasant weather there is no sleeping done in the house. Hammocks are slung under trees and the family decorations made from simple pieces of wood skillfully inlaid. The most ingenious arrangement of all is a sliding door, by which the whole side of the "house" can be opened. The doors slide to one side, and finally come completely off the runners. They can be taken off and laid under the cart or used for tables under the trees.

Olson will travel with three horses, often resting one by hitching it to the back of the cart. When the wagon is closed it does not look like any other wagon. It is longer and broader, and there is an air of mystery about its curtained windows. The wagon is heavily built and finished with the best of wheels and axles.—New York Journal.

A MONUMENT OF LOVE.

Story of the Building of the Famous Moorish Palace of the Alhambra.

The Alhambra of Spain has attained a fame equalled by no other palace on earth. This marvelous creation of Moorish fancy is situated in what was in its time one of the strongest and largest fortresses in the world. Capable of containing an army of 40,000 men, it was at once the admiration of the Moors and the dread of the Spaniards. The Moors called it the Maiden Fortress, and had a superstition that when it fell the Moorish power in Spain would come to an end. The belief was justified by the event, for Kal-al-Hamrah, the Red Castle, was the last Moorish stronghold to surrender to the Spaniards, it being given up the year before the discovery of America, and the eight centuries of constant war between the Moors and the Spaniards were brought to a close. The dainty palace within the walls of the huge fortress was the work of Ibn el Ahmar, and was inspired by his love for his wife. Teleika was her name, some say Zeleika, and others give her various appellations, so she may have had more names than one, but, no matter what was her name, she found life in ry for years between Dick and Kurtz and the fight between them was the distinguishing feature of this convention. It involved all the party leaders on one side or the other and was the most bitter contest that has been waged within either party for years.

Work in the Convention.

The first day's session of the convention was taken up with the preliminary work. The hall in the Armory was opened at 3 o'clock, but the delegates were late in arriving. Senator Hanna entered by a side door and was on the platform before his presence in the convention hall was discovered. He was given a seat, and the noise made by the Hanna delegates had scarcely subsided when Gov. Bushnell, accompanied by Attorney General Monnett, entered. The Bushnell men among the delegates tried to outdo the Hanna men in the noise and effusiveness of their greeting.

Ticket Nominated.

Nominations were then made as follows: Governor—Asa S. Bushnell. Lieutenant Governor—A. W. Jones. Supreme Judge—Jacob F. Burkett. Attorney General—Frank Monnett. State Treasurer—Samuel Campbell.

the delegates that they had a Republican President, two Republican Senators and Republican officers all the way down from these high positions to constables. After the prayer four young women dressed in white sang a couple of songs, in which they predicted the election and an honorable and long senatorial career for Mr. Hanna. This caught his portion of the delegates, and they let loose a lot more of Hanna enthusiasm.

Then came Congressman Grosvenor's speech. Mr. Grosvenor took occasion to mention the two United States Senators from Ohio. First, he said some kind Wednesday with the usual business. The report on credentials was adopted without opposition, as it made no material difference in the control of the convention, which was overwhelmingly with Senator Hanna. The temporary organization, with Gen. C. H. Grosvenor in the chair, was made the permanent organization, and the reports of other committees were readily disposed of. There was more than the usual interest taken in the resolutions and the committee was in session all night trying to frame the platform so as to prevent a contest in the convention on the civil service, Cuban and other planks.

The platform adopted indorses the national Republican platform and pledges allegiance to the national administration. The mention of Senator Hanna's name was greeted with loud demonstrations, and after the resolutions were adopted Senator Hanna was called for. He thanked the convention for this expression of confidence and pledged himself to co-operate with the standard-bearer (Bushnell) for Republican success in Ohio.

FAIR WEEK FOR CROPS.

Corn Makes Rapid Strides and Spring Wheat Is Doing Well. The week's crop bulletin, based on the reports of the directors of the several climate and crop sections, is as follows: Except over the central Rocky Mountain region and California, where it was unseasonably cool, the week has been generally favorable for the growth and cultivation of crops. Corn has made vigorous growth in the principal corn States during the week. In the Dakotas, however, the crop continues backward with uneven stands. Cotton has made good growth during the week. Southward of the northern boundary of Tennessee the bulk of the winter wheat crop has been harvested, and some thrashing has been done in Texas. Harvesting in Kansas is nearly completed and will begin this week in Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia and Maryland. In Washington recent rains have practically assured winter wheat in that State. In California harvesting continues with light yield and grain of indifferent quality. Spring wheat is doing well generally and has made rapid growth in North Dakota. In South Dakota, however, while the outlook for early sown is good, the late sown is less promising.

"camps out." The third room is a general store room. Here the hammocks are kept, and here chairs are stored and tables piled up. Anything that is wanted can be brought from the storeroom at a minute's notice. There is one chest devoted to dress goods, calico, bunting, denim and useful articles for wear and for fancy work. The wagon can stop at a town any time to replenish supplies, but the owner plans it so carefully that, except for food, there need be no halt for a month at a time.

Provisions are purchased of the farmers, who, it is expected, will supply butter, eggs, vegetables and chickens cheap in return for the privilege of looking through the novel house. The kitchen is one of the best rooms of all, for it is arranged ship-shape. Cups are hung from hooks and plates set in little grooves. Pans are on the walls, and everything is polished bright.

The floors are plain boards, laid nicely and oiled, so that the rooms look as neat as those in any house. "The cabin" or living room has the look of a stateroom on a yacht, and this effect is heightened by some very clever wall the great fortress rather dull, and, to please her, Ibn el Ahmar began the elegant palace as a home for her and a refuge for himself from the cares of business and the fatigues of war. It proved too long and expensive an undertaking for his life and pocketbook, but his son and grandson each was bountifully supplied with wives, whom they were anxious to please, so it was continued by the one and finished by the other in 1314, over sixty years from the time when its foundations were laid.

Cornstalk Pith.

The reason for the general use of this material as a lining for war vessels is found in its capacity for absorbing large quantities of water in a very short time. But the stalks cannot be all used in this way, and did it ever occur to you that the pith is just as thirsty for stable and barnyard juices as for salt water?

INDIANA INCIDENTS TERSELY TOLD.

Historic Old Theological College at Hartsville Forced to Close Its Doors—Recent Lover Killed in Sight of His Sweetheart.

Old Indiana College Suspends.

The Hartsville College, the oldest institution of learning in the State, has suspended for at least one year, and probably permanently. The graduation exercises closed Saturday, and it was formally announced by the board of trustees that they had decided to close the doors. Forty-seven years ago this college was founded by the United Brethren Church. Hartsville was selected as the site because it was a quiet place, ten miles from a railroad, and in a most picturesque locality. The college at one time had several hundred students, nearly every State east of the Mississippi being represented. For the past fifteen years the college has been gradually going down hill. At the close of the winter term there were only fifteen students, and but eight showed up for the last term. President Barnaby resigned his position, as his salary was not sufficient. The trustees were anxious that the last term be closed before suspending, and the church was appealed to, with the result that enough money was raised to procure the services of one of the instructors, L. B. Baldwin, as president. The direct reason of the failure of the institution is that the church conference failed to give it the annual allowance. The amount had not been sufficient for the past five years to employ the best faculty. A new college has been established at Huntington, and it will be opened this fall. There is now but one other college of this church in America, and that is at Philonth, Oregon, established twenty years ago by Rev. T. J. Connor, now a Baptist minister of Greensburg. The single graduate this year was W. A. Clouse of Hope, this State.

Tragedy at Shelbyville.

Six weeks ago Elmore Cotterman of Waldron fell heir to considerable money left him by an uncle. At the time young Cotterman was engaged to marry Miss Nellie Mason, and the date was set for Tuesday. Cotterman three weeks ago went to Shelbyville from his home in Waldron and proceeded to Indianapolis, where he fell to drinking and carousing. In the meantime his relatives had stopped payment on the banks on Cotterman's checks, thinking that he would return. Monday night he wrote to the family that he would come home; that he regretted his course, and would marry the girl he loved. The relatives, with Miss Mason, were at the depot to receive Elmore, but when he stepped from the train he fell under the wheels and was crushed to death before their eyes. Strange to say, his pockets contained a will leaving the remainder of his fortune of several thousand dollars to the pretty orphan girl he had returned home to wed.

At Waterloo, the case against W. McIntosh and others, charged with conspiracy to rob the county of $50,000, was ruled out of court on a technicality. The case has been the subject of much comment. Borst, Dills and Sawvel were brought back from the penitentiary to testify in the case.

Word has been received at Valpara from Monroe, Ia., that Patrick Pay who murdered his wife and was sentenced by a jury to be hanged, has been refused a new trial by the State Supreme Court and he will be executed July 23. Pay is highly connected. His relatives make an appeal to the Governor.

The oil fever in Anderson was booted up to a dangerous stage Tuesday by abandoned wells coming in full fledged gushers. They were drilled in, shot, abandoned a month ago. The casing even pulled away and they were able to stand open. Oil was found gushing from them Tuesday. A week ago it could have been bought for $1. It went up 20 per cent. in this store, just as surely as night follows day. There is much haphazard advertising nowadays—promises lightly made and easily broken—statements sent broadcast through the public prints, stripped of every thread of truth. Such advertising never did and never will pay. Our ads faithfully mirror our merchandise; what we say is so, and the people believe in us. A store and public, pulling thus together, are bound to be of mutual benefit to each other. Many excellent values in the following list. Will you be among the first to investigate?

Cultivation and Thinning of Sugar Beets.

All the sugar beets planted in this state are for experimental purposes, the objects being to learn whether beets of satisfactory quality can be grown and whether, from the results of experience with the crop on a limited scale, farmers may consider it advisable to grow beets on a larger scale in case a factory should be built and furnish a market for the crop.

Factories will only be located where it is known that beets of satisfactory quality can be grown and that farmers are willing to grow enough beets to furnish raw material for the factory.

In conducting experimental work of this kind it is of the utmost importance that the work should be properly done. Every case where the work is improperly conducted, and beets of poor quality are therefore produced, is not simply so much labor lost but since all results must be taken into consideration it is a positive injury to the locality where the bad work is done.

The thinning of the beet fields is one of the most expensive and important parts of the work. No absolute rule for thinning can be given since all lands do not require the same sort of work. For loams that will produce 50 bushels of corn per acre in a favorable season the beets should average eight inches apart in the rows when the rows are twenty to twenty-four inches apart. For stronger lands the beets may be allowed to stand somewhat closer, say six inches. For poorer lands the beets may be ten inches apart. The purpose is to raise beets weighing between one and two pounds each.

The beets are ready to thin when the plants have produced four leaves. It is not necessary that plants should be exactly six, eight, or ten inches apart but that this should be the average distance. If two strong plants are four inches apart it is better to leave these two strong plants than to have one strong and one weak plant. When the plants are thinned care should be taken to remove all weeds from the rows. If this is done thoroughly the plants will afterwards only need cultivation to keep down weeds between the rows and to keep the soil loose on the surface. It is not necessary to ridge the earth up along the rows unless the roots show a tendency to project above the ground. Thinning should be completed before July 1st this season. The recent rains have left the ground in such a moist state that the extra plants can be easily removed with little disturbance to those that are to remain.

During July and August the leaf spot disease sometimes appears on the leaves in the form of small brown spots. If this should make its appearance the beets should be sprayed with Bordeaux mixture.

There has been a strong effort on the part of farmers to secure beet seed this year and it is hoped that those who did secure and plant seed will give the crop such attention as to obtain the most favorable result that the season will permit. Both farmers and capitalists are turning attention to the beet sugar question in the hope of finding a profitable field for work. This years result be very carefully watched by both. Every properly conducted list becomes of additional value and every test in which the work is neglected is not merely worthless, it is a positive injury to the agricultural interests of the state.

Chemist.

Fishing is good and many large fish are being caught. They are not all bass, but a great many are suckers, and two-legged ones at that. They sell for 15c. a box at the Culver City Drug Store.

Piles play pranks with all people. Dr. Agnew's Pile Ointment calls a halt on them and cures them in all forms. Blind, bleeding and protruding piles speedily cured and itching piles relieved in ten minutes. Price 50 cents at Culver City Drug Co.

At this season of the year people eat heavy foods, such as meats etc. causing constipation and other irregularities of the bowels, resulting in biliousness, headaches, dizziness, etc. Dr. Agnew's Kidney and Liver Pills work wonders and give speedy and permanent relief. For sale at the Culver City Drug Store.

Lung fever is raging in and surrounding towns and many deaths have resulted therefrom. If one uses proper precautions against it one need not fear its evils. Dr. Agnew's Balsam of Tar and Wild Cherry acts like a charm in preventing it and cures the worst kinds of coughs and bronchial affections. Children will like it and cry for more. For sale at the Culver City Drug Store.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle of common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates a diseased condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effect following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists; price fifty cents and one dollar. For a sample bottle and pamphlet, both sent free by mail, mention CULVER CITY HERALD and send your full postoffice address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietor of this paper guarantees the genuineness of this offer.

A goodly sight his

And primly powdered

A queer, courageous
Ne'er served Sultan

Than he, my brave
ancestor,
My great-great-

And then in his elation
Did my forefather gay
Speak out the word he'd long deferred
For fear she'd say him "nay";
And when he saw bow tender
Within her eyes the light,
He cried—"In your surrender
I read—we win the fight!"
And when the freedom pean
Swept, surge-like, through the dells—
A mighty clang whose echoes rang
From Philadelphia bells—
Lead from a stern old stoop,
He hurried the proud hurrah,
The joy peal to the people,
My great-great-grandpapa.
He held the brutal Briton
A "thing" beneath his scorn;
A Tory he condescended to be
The basest calf-horn;
And not a neighbor wondered
He looked upon them so;
Forsooth, that was one hundred
And twenty years ago!

GRIGGSVILLE'S
CANNON.

GRIGGSVILLE was very sorry, indeed, but it didn't see how it was going to have a Fourth of July celebration. Not that Griggsville wasn't anxious to set off firecrackers and have a balloon ascension, with fireworks in the evening. Quite the contrary, for the Fourth of July in the past had always been the greatest day of the year. Griggsville had thought it all over, remembering that crops were bad, that the times were hard and that taxes were high, and had come to the conclusion that it would need all the money it could get for winter fuel and buckwheat flour and bacon.

All of the older folk agreed with this decision, not without many mournful shakes of the head, but the boys of Griggsville were much displeased. "It's what I call a burning shame," sniffed Jack Morris when he heard the news. "Yes," chimed in Ruddy Wilson, "Allen's Mills and Norcross and Simpson's Landing and nearly every town in the county is going to have a celebration, and now Griggsville has backed out."

"Course all of our games are off," remarked Dick Lansing, disconsolately; "no team will come here to play unless there is something going on." Dick was the manager of the Griggsville Baseball Club and he felt the disappointment deeply. For a moment all the boys were silent, as if the weight of the affliction was too great for expression. Presently Will Spencer blurted out: "Let's have a celebration anyway. I've got a few dollars I'll put into it and we can get enough more among the boys to make something of a show at least—and we'll leave the old folks out of it, too."

"That's all very well," returned Dick, "but it's easier said than done," and there the matter dropped. The next day when the boys met at the ball field Will came rushing up the street, evidently much excited. As soon as he was within hearing he shouted: "I've got it, fellows, I've got it!" "Well, out with it, old man; don't keep us in suspense," replied Dick, who didn't think much of Will's many plans. For Will had only lived in Griggsville a short time and Dick was a little jealous of his popularity. As soon as Will recovered his breath he unfolded his schemes. It was to go down to Sullinger's Hole and find the cannon and muskets that were supposed to be hidden in its depths. During the war the part of Missouri in which Griggsville is located had been overrun by roving bands of marauders, belonging to both the Confederate and Union armies, and it was on one of these raids that the Southerners had pounced down upon a quantity of stores and ammunition held at Griggsville and, being unable to get entirely away with their plunder, they had dropped it into Sullinger's Hole. All this had been long known to the boys of Griggsville, whose fathers and mothers often told of the wild day of the raid, and pointed out the bullet-furrows in their homes. And they knew, too, all about Sullinger's Hole. It was said no one had ever found bottom, although more than one of the men of Griggsville had sounded the pool. The earliest settlers in the county had called it the "haunted pool," but ever since old man Sullinger had scoffed at the idea and had gone bathing in its waters, never to return, it had been known as Sullinger's Hole. All these things the boys knew, and it was, therefore, not at all surprising that Ruddy Wilson shrugged his shoulders and laughed when Will made the suggestion. "None of that for me," he said. "Oh, well, you needn't go along unless you want to," responded Will, impatiently. "All this talk about Sullinger's Hole being haunted is foolishness." Will was very much excited, and several of the boys at once grew interested. "I'd help," said Dick Lansing, "if I was sure there was any way of doing it." "All right, Dick, we'll show 'em," put in Will, whose eyes fairly glowed with excitement. "We'll have the old guns all up here by the Fourth and it will be a celebration worth seeing." When Dick went over, all of the doubters except Ruddy went with him.

That night and the next evening they dragged or rolled a number of big dry logs and poles down to the edge of the pool. These they cut off into equal lengths and fastened together in the form of a huge raft that would support a dozen or more boys. As early on the afternoon of the third day as possible the seven slid quietly out of the town and down the hill to the pool. They carried with them ropes and a crowbar or two and a number of long poles cut in the woods, besides hammers and nails and other implements. On reaching the shore of the pool they mounted the raft and pushed it out. Once out on the pool they poled themselves along until they were about twenty feet from the shore.

One of the ropes with a big iron hook on the end was let down in the water and dragged back and forth. As long as there was light they poled about the edges of the pond with their drags, but with the exception of snags and weeds and mud they could find nothing at all. After two more discouraging afternoons of work "Lank" Everson said he wasn't going to waste any more of his time. Three of the boys agreed with him, but Will Spencer was able to persuade Dick and Jack to make one more trial. The next night Will was handling the drag rope. Suddenly it began to pull, and, assisted by Jack, he drew it carefully in. At the end was a mass of snags.

"What's that?" shouted Dick, suddenly. Will pulled the rope nearer and Jack lifted out a long, narrow object. It was a gun barrel, rusted beyond recognition. Forgetting that he was on a raft, Will threw up his cap and shouted at the top of his voice: "We've found 'em! We've found 'em!" But although they dragged an hour they could bring up nothing else. "I don't see how we can ever get the things up even if they are there," said Dick. "Dive," answered Will, quietly. The other two boys looked at him with horror. But when they parted for the night Will had expressed his firm intention of diving to the bottom to see if he could find the cannon. And the next day all seven of the boys came back very much excited. The finding of the gun barrel had reassured them. Carefully they poled out so as not to make the water muddy, and then Will stripped and stood poised for a moment on the edge of the raft. Dick had insisted that he tie a rope around him. The word was given, and, with a look at the blue sky above, Will splashed head-first into the Sullinger's Hole. They saw his white body go down and down through the water and then fade out of sight. No one moved nor uttered a sound; every muscle was strained and every eye was fixed on the water. It was a critical moment. What would Will find? Would he be sucked down to his death as Sullinger had been?

But the rope had ceased to spin through Dick's hands. Then it pulled again and a dozen feet away from the boat a wet head popped out of the water. Will shook himself, sputtered and shouted: "It's there, it's there; I touched it!" Then he struck out for the raft, dragging something along in his hand. When he crawled out he laid an old, worn, rusted musket on the logs. All the boys were wild with excitement. Dick insisted on stripping and making a dive, and he, too, brought up a musket. Then Will went down with one end of a small rope in his mouth. This he ran through the fork of the cannon. A larger rope was dragged down and before dark the boys were on shore ready to begin pulling in their prize. But it would not stir. It was too deep in the mud. The next afternoon they came down with Tom Fisher's old white-faced team, fastened it to the rope, and with one strong pull the cannon came loose and then it was no trouble to pull the battered and rusted and wholly worthless old piece of artillery out of the water. Somehow, in spite of all the boys could do, the news spread about like wildfire, and every one in town came out to see what Sullinger's Hole had given up to the light of day. A hundred willing hands dragged the old cannon to the top of the bluff, and on Fourth of July morning it was loaded with powder—but that is getting ahead of the story. For when Griggsville heard what the boys had done Will Spencer became the hero of the hour, and the money for a great celebration was quickly subscribed. And on the morning of the great day Griggsville was out in her best with flags waving and firecrackers popping and anvils booming. The news of the great find had spread, and men and women and children came from all over the county to help Griggsville celebrate and to see Will Spencer. And Dick Lansing's ball team won two games.

About the old cannon? When it was fired it split from end to end, but Griggsville still keeps it as a proud trophy. And she is probably celebrating around it today, for Will Spencer made the dive which brought him fame all over Missouri many years ago.—Chicago Record.

Cheer for the Flag.
On the Fourth of July long ago,
That honored and fortunate day,
Our ancestors boldly said "No!"
To the stranger's imperious sway.
And undaunted by hardship and pain,
Those sturdy old heroes declared
Independence they all would maintain,
And bravely for battle prepared.
And long shall our chronicles tell
On that glorious page of the past,
How our fathers fought nobly and well
And our fetters were broken at last.

So now on the Fourth of July
Let children, and elder folk, too,
To that old voice of freedom reply,
With a cheer for the Red, White and Blue

'SCURSION.

"Whew! Dat boy's sho' sprujous today! Des look at 'im, Blazy Ann! Peart an' bricky es a young colt an' friskid'er n' a rabbit, dat's jes' whut he is!" said Aunt Anarky, as she skillfully shucked off the sun-scorched outer leaves of the tough blue colards she was preparing for dinner. The "boy" indicated was Uncle Joshway, who approached in high glee, singing at the top of his voice: "Come, chillun, git on de train, Come, chillun, git on de train, Come, chillun, git on de train, Fur Zion's rockin' on!" "Gressious, Joshway, how come you walkin' so spry an' singin' so loud today? You musser got sawter 'zalted over singin' 'bout dat gospil train, didn't you?" "Well," admitted Uncle Joshway, half sheepishly, "I mouther been singin' de 'Gospil Train' hymn unbeknownst, but dat wan't de train I was thinkin' 'bout jes' den. I'm goin' off on a 'scurSION Saddy an' I was thinkin' of de Swevepote train, an' I reckon dat's how come me to be singin' 'bout trains." "En' what 'scurSION you talkin' 'bout? I hain't heard tell o' no 'scurSION." "Ef you ain't dat don't meek it not be so," was Joshway's lucid reply. "Anarky, I wusht you'd cook me up a lot o' nice vittles 'ginst Saddy—some meat an' cakes an' pies. It's a Foath July 'scurSION I'm gwine on." "Foath July? Whatcha talkin' 'bout, boy? Don't you know Foath July's come an' went long ago? Don't you 'member de big bobbycue et Warnut Crick when de Foath July was? G'long, Joshway, you's meekin' game o' me! You know it's 'twixt September 'n' October now." "Res' of de folks don't call it a Foath July 'scurSION nex' Saddy, but I does jes' kase it sounds good. You know I never

It's comin' roun' de kyntree, I hear de kyar-wheels a-movin' An' a strainin' ev'ry nav!" Cawnstalk's unwilling feet entered Ruston two hours before the time appointed for the excursion train to leave, and on nearing the depot, where a freight train was steaming and creaking, his long way ears stood erect in mulish terror. Uncle Joshway was too much absorbed in watching the train's movement to notice Cawnstalk's danger signal until on the point of flying over the head of that humorous animal. He rose, shook off the dust and catching the now lamb-like Cawnstalk, tied him to an accommodating post, to stand all day in hungry meditation, while his master traveled and feasted. Reaching the depot platform Uncle Joshway was surprised to see but a few people collected. "Pears lack a mighty slim 'scurSION," said he to one of the usual loungers. "Excursion? What you talking about, old man? Did you come in for the colored excursion?" "Yes, sah, I sho' did. Dat's what I comed fur." "Then you're a day too late. The excursion excurted yesterday, but, uncle, you can have a nice little excursion by yourself, if you like." "Well," answered Uncle Joshway, reflectively, "I might teck a dollah's wuth." "A dollah'll carry you to Monroe and leave you four cents over." "All right, mister. I 'low Monroe's a nice pious place fur me to spen' de day in." Then Uncle Joshway took off his coat, ripped open the pocket containing his purse, and took out a big shining silver dollar. This was handed, with lingering fondness to the lounger, who soon gave him a ticket and four copper cents. "What's dem things?" asked our traveler, eyeing the dark coppers with disgust and contempt. "What you call dem things?" he repeated. "Why, cents; copper cents." "Den, mister de agent's cheated you. Gimme back my dollar. I can't take no sich ole black nigger money es dis. Neenter think dey kin 'pose on me an' give me ole black no 'count lurrn stuff fur money jes' kase I'm a colored pusson. Druther miss trav'lin' 'rever'n to tote roun' money made out'n ole tin kittles!" This description of the way Uncle Joshway "went on" is no exaggeration. The "way down South" country knows no coppers, and their introduction at various depots for change a few years ago was an innovation bitterly resented.

By the lounger's good-natured interest Uncle Joshway's ticket was disposed of to a Monroe-bound man, and his piece of money, as well as peace of mind, restored. Then, picking up his coat and saddle bags, he left in high disdain, taking care, however, not to go home until after the return of the supposed excursion train. He gave a dazzling account of his trip, and Aunt Anarky will never know he spent his Foath July rambling around Ruston abusing "dem ole Swevepote railroad folks."

A Paper Soldier Battle. Some of the younger boys and girls will find a good deal of fun in a paper soldier battle. Cut out from advertising cards and posters a large number of figures of men, women and children. Pin these along the top of the fence or at the edge of a board. Now save up all the "fizzlers" among your firecrackers and when there is a good supply ahead you are ready for the battle. Any number of boys and girls may play on a side. The object is to shoot the "fizzlers" at the paper soldiers and kill and wound as many of them as possible. A paper soldier is killed when he is burned up or his head is blown off and he is wounded when his face is burned or blackened. The side that kills and wounds the greatest number is the victor.

A Firecracker Story. He did it in sport; He alone is to blame; The fuse was too short, Now his finger's the same. The Pennsylvania Senate has passed the bill which has already gone through the House, taxing each unaturalized adult male employed in the State 2 cents a day.

White for Governor. The three silver parties of Iowa—Democratic, Republican and Populist—held separate conventions in Des Moines, nominated a fusion ticket, and adopted platforms different in construction, but identical in purpose, indorsing the free coinage of silver at 16 to 1, denouncing the Republican party for alleged extravagances in the management of the State Government, and demanding the enactment of a law prohibiting corporations from receiving pledges from employes not to bring suit for indemnity for injuries—a plank upon which the three parties expect to wage, and hope to win, the campaign in Iowa this fall. The fusion ticket will go upon the official ballot as the Democratic ticket, for, by an anti-fusion law, passed by the last General Assembly, and denounced in the three platforms adopted, the name of a candidate cannot appear more than once upon the official ballot. As soon as the three conventions assembled each appointed a committee on conference to arrange the division of offices among the parties. This committee, without difficulty, arranged that the Democrats should nominate the Governor and Supreme Judge; that the silver Republicans should nominate the Lieutenant Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction, and that the Populists might have the Railroad Commissionership. The Democratic and silver Republican conventions practically adopted the report of the conference committee. In the Populist convention A. W. C. Weeks of Winterset promptly charged that the convention was called illegitimately and moved that a new Populist convention be called, which should refuse to give up the Populist name or the right to nominate Populists for the four principal offices of the five to be filled. This motion the chairman declared tabled, on motion to that effect, and Mr. Weeks at once led the bolting delegates, comprising about one-fourth of the 400 present, out of the hall. The remainder proceeded to do business in pursuance of the plan arranged at the fusion conference.

"DAT'S WHUT I CALLS MONEY!"

White Chosen by Acclamation. In the Democratic convention J. F. Dayton of Allamakee County, S. S. Bashor of Backhawk County, James A. Burgess of Wapello County, John F. Leech of Henry County, E. P. Stubbs of Jefferson County, A. C. Roberts of Lee County, H. L. Williams of O'Brien County and ex-Congressman Fred E. White of Keokuk County were placed in nomination for Governor. White received 617 votes, Williams 127, Burgess 132, Bashor 52, Dayton 120, and the remainder scattered among candidates not nominated by speeches, nine votes going to ex-Gov. Horace Boies. White was then nominated by acclamation, Judge L. G. Kinne, the incumbent justice, and J. W. Freedland of Corydon were nominated in the Democratic convention for Supreme Judge. Mr. Kinne received most of the votes and was given the nomination before the roll was finished.

In the silver Republican convention B. A. Plummer of Forest City, a banker, who campaigned the State last fall for free silver, was nominated by acclamation for Lieutenant Governor. He was placed in nomination by Judge Spurrier of Des Moines County, himself formerly a candidate before these conventions for the nomination of Governor. The silver Republicans considered the names of G. W. Rhinehart of Newton, J. W. Cliff of Des Moines and B. P. Holst of Boone in connection with the nomination for superintendent. On the vote Rhinehart received 126 and Cliff 48 votes, and the former was declared nominated.

One plank in the platforms of the three parties is identical. It is an arraignment of the Republican party for alleged extravagance and corruption in State government. Another plank, though not identical in the three platforms, that relating to silver, is as expressive in one as another. Free coinage is declared to be the salvation of the nation, and the contest in the State this fall is specifically declared to be a test of strength between the money power and silver. None of the three platforms mentions prohibition or liquor. It is the first time in fifteen years that the Democratic platform has not contained a plank devoted to this question.

Planks in the Platform. The Democratic platform, in addition to making silver the main issue, denounces what it calls the school book monopoly, demands that no State officer shall be connected with a building and loan association or insurance company (the present State Auditor is president of a building company); insists that there should be a reduction in printing and binding rates for State work; denounces the anti-fusion law of the last Assembly; asks for a State board of control for State institutions; ridicules McKinley's prosperity, and indorses the anti-corporation law defeated by the last Legislature.

The Populist platform makes silver the principal issue, denounces the anti-fusion law, recommends retrenchment in public expenditures, denounces the Republican Legislature for defeating anti-corporation measures, favors an income tax and recommends to the people the adoption of the initiative and referendum.

The silver Republicans declared that a silver man should be nominated for Governor, denounced the school book trust, declared for free silver coinage, denounced the Republicans for extravagance and corruption and corporation legislation, favored a 2-cent passenger fare bill and demanded a reduction in freight rates. While putting silver to the front, the fusion party expects to make the campaign almost entirely upon the corporation issue and expects the support of some gold Democratic newspapers

A Wonderful Rifle.
Hunting big game is not as hard work as it used to be in the days of the long, heavy, big-bored rifles. With a light, modern rifle, such as the Model '94 or '95 Winchester, more game can be killed and at much longer distances than with any one of the old-time guns. The Model '95 Winchester is one of the highest powered rifles made. It will shoot a 30-caliber U. S. army bullet through over fifty inches of dry pine boards, and drive a bullet at the rate of 2,066 feet a second through the air. Hunters all over the country say that this is the best hunting rifle ever made. Send to the Winchester Repeating Arms Co., New Haven, Ct., for a large illustrated catalogue free.

A HEALTHY WIFE Is a Husband's Inspiration.

A sickly, half-dead-and-alive woman, especially when she is the mother of a family, is a damper to all joyousness in the home.

I sometimes marvel at the patience of some husbands. If a woman finds that her energies are flagging and that everything tires her, her sleep is disturbed by horrible dreams, and that she often wakes suddenly in the night with a feeling of suffocation and alarm, she must at once regain her strength. It matters not where she lives, she can write a letter. Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., will reply promptly and without charge. The following shows the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, accompanied with a letter of advice:

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham—I have suffered for over two years with falling, enlargement and ulceration of the womb, and this spring, being in such a weakened condition, caused me to flow for nearly six months. Some time ago, urged by friends, I wrote to you for advice. After using the treatment which you advised for a short time, that terrible flow stopped. I am now gaining strength and flesh and have better health than I have had for the past ten years. I wish to say to all distressed suffering women, do not suffer longer, when there is one so kind and willing to aid you."—MRS. F. S. BENNETT, Westphalia, Kans.

HONOR THEIR QUEEN.

LOYAL BRITONS SHOW LOVE FOR QUEEN VICTORIA.

Cheers Shake the Ground as She Passes in the Diamond Jubilee Parade—People from All Parts of the Earth Help Celebrate.

Wonderful Sight in London.
Queen Victoria has reigned sixty years. In London the last stroke of 12 had not died away in the midnight air Monday when from a hundred metropolitan steeples a tumultuous peal of bells announced Diamond Jubilee Day. The vast crowd that filled the miles of streets and squares answered with ringing cheers, and here and there the singing of "God Save the Queen."

The crowds that peopled the streets and squares all night in the hope of a good view of the procession were amazing in their sublime patience. Waiting for twelve, fourteen and sixteen hours, as many of these people did, jammed together, was a feat of endurance that could only be sustained by some overmastering desire. Quite half of these jubilee waiters were women, many of them with the pale, careworn look of the London worker, yet all enduring the back-breaking tediousness with the utmost good nature. Some had camp stools, some sat on projections of buildings, on curbstones or leaned in doorways and the angles made by stands. With dawn the hope of queen's weather merged into certainty and the world there prepared itself in fullest confidence for a day of pleasure.

The procession moved from Buckingham Palace nearly on time. The roar of cheers that marked its course up Constitution Hill told the beginning of the story of the queen among her people, while the artillery in Hyde Park, by a royal salute of sixty guns, thundered the fact to waiting thousands elsewhere. The queen had actually started.

The procession was practically in three sections as far as St. Paul's, though the two last, en route to the cathedral, were consolidated as they moved into Piccadilly. The first to take up position was the colonial procession, which formed on the embankment and moved via the Mall, thence past the palace, where her majesty viewed it from a window, over the route to St. Paul's. The march began at 8:45 and the great cortege proved a welcome relief to the waiting multitude. The procession was headed by an advance party of the Royal Horse Guards. Then followed the band of the same corps playing the inspiring "Washington Post March." Close upon the band came a portion of the picturesque Northwest mounted police as escort to the first colonial premier, Hon. Wilfred Laurier.

The scores of troops and companies were literally too numerous to mention except as a brilliant whole. It seemed like nothing so much as some stream of burnished gold flowing between dark banks of human beings gathered to witness its passage to a land of light.

Royal Procession.

The empire had passed in review, and the head of it all was now to come—her majesty. The royal procession proper was interwoven with the crowd of waiting dignitaries of all sorts. First came the aids-de-camp to the queen, these being headed by the Prince of Wales and the Dukes of Cambridge and Connaught and the Earl of Wemyss. Then followed alone the Lord Lieutenant of London, the Duke of Westminster, K. G., in a lord lieutenant's dress. The duke was followed by a glittering cavalcade of officers, the headquarters staff. To them succeeded field marshals. Next came three officers of the military forces in attendances on H. R. H. the Prince of Wales; equestrians, gentlemen in waiting and military attaches, a brilliant lot of gentlemen with a glittering array of titles, uniformed in the dresses of all the courts of Europe and half its crack regiments and wearing all its stars.

Then the first part of the sovereign's escort rode into view, the Second Life Guards. As their well-known brilliant uniforms appeared the whisper ran electrically: "She's coming." The guards were soon succeeded by the escort of British and foreign princes. Many faces were known, recognized and cheered. This brilliant escort was composed of the flower of Europe's thrones. Following the princes came the Guard of Honor. A cheer broke forth that seemed to shake the ground, renewed again and again, as her majesty's carriage approached. The carriage in which her majesty rode now came abreast. It was built about a quarter of a century ago. The body was dark claret, lined with vermilion, the moldings outlined with beads of brass. Beside her majesty rode the Princess of Wales, opposite her majesty, her royal highness Princess Christian. On the left of her majesty rode his royal highness, the Duke of Cambridge, on the right, his royal highness, the Prince of Wales, who was followed by the Duke of Connaught, the general officer commanding.

Tea, Coffee and Nerves.

Everybody in England drinks tea; morning, noon and night, and nervous diseases are consequently on the increase there. In this country we drink more coffee than the English do, with plenty of tea besides; and nervous diseases are on the increase here, too. Both these universal beverages are bad. They break down the health of habituating people to the effects of the poisonous principles they contain. The recent introduction of Grain-O, the new food-drink, designed to take the place of coffee (and why not tea?) is the beginning of a needed reform. Grain-O is made from pure grains, is harmless, nutritious, palatable, good for young and old, and one-fourth the cost of coffee. Try it and you will drink no more coffee, and have better rest and sounder health as rewards. Packages 15c. and 25c. of any grocer.

Direct Vote of the People.

It is a singular and not generally known fact that no official of the United States is elected by the direct vote of the people. The President and Vice President are not named in the ballots cast at a presidential election, but in their stead appear the names of a number of gentlemen, most of whom are unknown even by name to the great mass of voters. The members of the President's Cabinet are selected by himself and are confirmed on his recommendation as his personal advisers. Supreme justices, judges of the Circuit and District Courts are named by the President, who, with his Cabinet, nominates, with a few trivial exceptions, all other United States officials. Members of the United States Senate are elected by the State Legislatures. Representatives are voted for directly by the people, but neither Senators nor representatives are properly officials of the United States. While the people of this country are the ruling power, the exercise of that power, so far as the United States Government is concerned, is largely indirect.

The Seven Churches in Asia.

Whether the famous seven churches established at Ephesus, Smyrna, Pergamos, Thyatira, Sardus, Philadelphia and Laodicea were all founded by the Apostle John is a matter concerning which the commentators are not agreed, many taking the ground that some, at least, were established by others of the Apostles. The question is one of those historic problems which will never be settled, because the information is lacking. It is certain that from the allusions made by John in the Book of Revelation to these churches that he was on most intimate terms with them, and that he felt a lively concern for their welfare. It is possible that each may have been at one time or another the recipient of his personal attention, but this is uncertain.

Waltham—The Watch City.

Waltham, Mass., has achieved a reputation famous the world over for the fineness of its mechanical products. It is a city of high-class mechanics and has attained its position by keeping the highest standard always in view. A new business is being largely developed which bids fair to rival the older watch industry. It is the construction of high-class cycles by the Waltham Mfg. Co. For five years Orient bicycles have been marketed with immense success, and in the Eastern States the rider is looked upon with envy who can secure one of them early in the season, so great is the demand for Orient. The company has recently changed its Chicago headquarters from 268 Wabash ave. to the corner of the avenue and Van Buren st.

The Deal Was Off.

"Yes," said the lawyer to a woman, "I can get you a divorce, the ground that your husband's whiskers don't match the pug being quite sufficient; but it is my duty to state that under the present law you cannot marry again for a year."

The woman thought an instant. "You need not trouble about the divorce," she remarked. "Perhaps I can get my husband to dye his whiskers."—San Francisco Examiner.

Mr. Isaac Horner, proprietor of the Burton House, Barton, W. Va., and one of the most widely known men in the state was cured of rheumatism after three years of suffering. He says: "I have not sufficient command of language to convey any idea of what I have suffered, my physicians told me that nothing could be done for me; and my friends were fully convinced that nothing but death would relieve me of my suffering. In June, 1894, Mr. Evens, then salesman for the Wheeling Drug Co., recommended Chamberlain's Pain Balm. At this time my foot and limb were swollen to more than double their normal size and it seemed to me my leg would burst, but soon after I began using the Pain Balm, the swelling began to decrease, the pain to leave, and now I consider that I am entirely cured. I wish to state to the public that I have a number of first class properties in town and an innumerable number of farms for sale or trade. I am prepared to make loans on real estate at 6 and 7 per cent interest, without delay.

I shall enter upon a law course commencing July 1, 1897, with the Correspondence School of Law at Detroit, Mich., which I hope will enable me to look after and attend to legal matters with more skill and ability than in the past; and if you have anything for sale or trade, want to borrow money on real estate, or have any legal matter to attend to, will be pleased to serve you. I am here to stay, and my highest object in the future is to attend to matters left with me promptly and intelligently.

Thanking the public for their many favors shown me in the past, I assure you that in the future I honestly, promptly and intelligently attend to all matters without fear or favor.
