Mr. V. P. Kirk, an attorney of wide experience, has opened an office over the Culver City Exchange Bank, and is now ready to transact all business both in the law department real-estate and life insurance. Mr. Kirk has made up his mind to permanently establish an office here, and we appeal to all the citizens of this vicinity to place their business in his hands, as we are confident he will perform the duties involved with perfect satisfaction. He has held many offices of trust, and was the city attorney of Madison, Ind., for five years and has practiced law for 15 years, and has also served as special judge upon many occasions. Sheriff Marshall was prowling around Culver City Tuesday, and when a reporter of the HERALD asked in regard to his business in this section, he said, "Just tell them that you saw me, but you do not know the rest."

T. Conzleman and family, of St. Louis, Mo., can be found at their handsome cottage near Culver Park. This cottage and grounds have been greatly improved this spring and now presents a very inviting appearance.

While Mr. Edward Culver and a friend were fishing last Saturday, they had an experience which they will not forget in a hurry. They had captured a fine string of beauties, and hung the same over the side of the boat, suddenly there was a great commotion in the water, when to the consternation of the boys, a monster gar fish rushed through the water, and with opened jaws made a desperate attempt to swallow the whole string of fish so anxious was the big fellow for a square meal, that he paid no attention to the occupants of the boat and Ed. with commendable nerve grasped the would-be-thief by the gills and after a desperate struggle landed him in the boat. By actual measurement, he was nearly four feet long.

3000 Souls Lost-- TO ALL EARTHLY

Cares and Mortal Woes. Great Day, a Magnificent Event Long to be Remembered.

Only this and nothing more, for we refer to the thousands who met on Lake Maxenkuckee shore, on the 4th of July, when and where some 3000 people celebrated, jubilated and congratulated with one another, some on the lake, some on the banks, some quietly filling nature's tank with the best that baskets, restaurants, hotels and stands afforded, but a more peaceable, orderly and sociable crowd we have never seen assembled. The special occasion was the dedication of the new Catholic church, which was most impressively done. The Rev. Father Moench, of Plymouth, officiated at high mass and delivered an able and instructive sermon suitable to the occasion. It was an admirable presentation of the cause of Catholicism and was especially directed to the refutation of the many erroneous notions that exist in the minds of the many who have but a slight knowledge of the creed and practices of the Catholic church. The closest attention was given to the able sermon of the officiating clergyman, who was assisted by Rev. Fathers Thiele and Zarn. Thousands of people were amply fed by the Catholic Society in charge. Hundreds of teams crowded the streets, all of the feed stables being over run. In the afternoon in the shady, cool, cosy comfort of the grove, thousands assembled and listened to an address by the Hon. John B. Stohl of the South Bend Times. The name and ability of the Hon. John B. are so well and favorably known that we need merely mention his name to call up his popularity as one of the profoundest thinkers and instructive public speakers in the state. His speech was mainly directed to the influence of the Catholic church and organizations throughout the country over the young mind and the general ethical and intellectual training imparted. The Hon. John B. is a smooth, easy, graceful, self-possessed and scholastic speaker, and deeply impressed the thousands who were fortunately close enough to hear. He was followed by Prof. Clark, also of South Bend, who paid a worthy tribute to America, and well paid all who heard him, for he too is a mental giant. Prominent among the many familiar faces seen as associates of the speakers and dignitaries were the Hon. Dan McDonald,—"Our Dan," of the Plymouth Democrat, of whom we will say in passing, is a factor in journalism, and the pen is mightier than the sword when Daniel wields it. As editor he has contributed more toward making Maxenkuckee than any man in the state, and to his philanthropic devotion the people are indebted for the present delights and blessings afforded them at the lake. Daniel as a man and citizen is kind and honorable, as a scholar and as a historian is learned and accurate. He is as devoted to humanity and its teachings as was Daniel of old to God and His teachings. Another pleasant gentleman was M. L. Lauer, Lawyer and citizen of Plymouth, who we have known well and sociably for years, as a pleasant, refined acquaintance. Col. Kreuzberger's smiling face was seen and his gentle voice heard throughout the many changes and scenes of the day. A big heart and well balanced brain unite him to people and business sociably and successfully. Then there was the Hon. S. P. Sheerin, "Little Sie" not little intellectually nor politically nor is he now physically, for of late years he has become quite aldermanic in an avordupois sense. Mr. Sheerin is certainly a social and an intellectual gentleman, and feel his personal magnetism when in his presence. He is prominent in political and financial circles and is extensively and favorably known. We now mention the Hon. V. Zimmerman, of Rochester, editor, senator, business man and politician, now however is transacting a lucrative business in furniture and undertaking. We have known Mr. Z, for some time. He has figured in politics, and has deserved better treatment and should have been sent to congress agreeable to his fitness and worth. He is popular with individuals and communities, has earned a strong character and influence by his integrity in business and social attributes.

What or how shall we say our say about the music? is the question. The Monterey band and one South Bend band rendered catchy and appropriate pieces during the day. Who will forget the "Matinee" at the "Cottage Grove place?" Where Mrs. Lord made free to entertain all, and where all did enjoy themselves most hugely, listening to the band renditions and by convivial past times. Long live the queen of "Cottage Grove place." We now come to the best musical wine—our own band, and we are not merely perfunctory, but most emphatic is our statement that "our boys," are assuredly classed with the best of band talent, and especially are they for "new beginners," so-to-speak. The general average of the talent is of a high grade and therefore the band as a whole is good.

The temperature was near a hundred in the shade, but the breeze in the shade was a cooling process that preserved linen and physical endurance.

Let all be ever as social and law abiding as were these thousands, and all will be well. May peace and plenty be the lot of all, whether we meet at the lake in the summer or fall.

PATRIOTIC ENTERTAINMENT

By the Philharmonic Club Greeted by a Full House.

The entertainment given by the Philharmonic club last Monday evening, in which some 30 voices of home talent participated, will be remembered as one of the much enjoyed and encouragingly appreciated musicals that has ever been given in Culver City. Dr. Wiseman as an instructor and director is capable, energetic and painstaking in voice culture, as was evidenced by the vocalizations throughout the entertainment. There is no town or city in northern Indiana where there are the number of well-trained voices as here in Culver City. Music is one of the advance guards of civilization; it is edifying in thought, mollifying in manners. The ability and vim of the Doctor, and the willing disposition of the young people have dignified Culver City with such musical talents as was exhibited upon this occasion. Every part of the program, like every truth, fit into every other part and harmonized in sentiment and central thought. The several recitations both in verse and prose, were expressions of patriotism,——"Old Glory" being the central idea,—its defense and preservation, the emblem of Liberty. Every one of the declaimers has a talent that ought to be developed. The Declaration of Independence, the divinely inspired and most sacred instrument, which has made such personal and associated freedom as the occasion under consideration, an heritage to Americans, was read and every head bowed as all hearts rejoiced in reverence and unison. The two comic renditions by the quartette were the spice, the wit, of the performance, and special mention is deserved to be made of "The Auctioneer," for indeed the tones, the modulations and expressions were grand. The two female voices in this piece were as musical as we have ever heard, and the tenor, too, and all blended in euphony. We take off our hat in gentlemanly recognition of the general average of talent displayed and congratulate each participant respectively and say to the Dr., "may your shadow never grow less."

Jason Rhodes succeeded in harvesting a swarm of bees upon the depot grounds Tuesday.

They Were Tough, A GANG OF TRAMPS

Upon the War-Path, Who Engage in a Fitzsimmons Ala Corbett Slugging Match.

Last Friday six or seven notorious toughs arrived in town and at once proceeded to fill up on fire-water. In the meantime they purchased numerous bottles of beer and proceeded to the ice houses, where they indulged in the guzzling act to their hearts content. In a short time a quarrel arose among themselves, which resulted in a beastly and inhuman fight, the clothing, shoes etc., being completely torn off of several of the sluggers and their faces and bodies mauled until they resembled a piece of raw beef. In the evening the marshal and a score or more of special deputies repaired to the scene of action and after a short persuasion, the toughs were persuaded to shake the dust of Culver from their sandals, which they did in short order. But in the night the unruly brutes returned to the ice houses and made the night hideous by their horrible yelling and scaring the women in the neighborhood half to death, and it is rumored that old chief Aubbeenaubbee turned over in his grave at Long Point twice.

Leiter's Ford celebrated the Fourth in grand style last Saturday. The most prominent feature of the day was the ball game between the teams of Rochester and Kewanna. The game was long and hotly contested, the Rochester team coming off victorious with a score of 7 to 6. In the evening the people were entertained by fire-works and a grand ball. All who spent the day at Leiter's went home with the feeling that they had thoroughly enjoyed themselves and that it was a day well spent.

Sudden Death.

John D. King, son of Robert King, a farmer near De Long, Ind., was born Feb. 8, 1873 and died at Indianapolis July 5, 1897, aged 24 years, 4 months and 27 days. His death was caused by falling out of a window, fourth floor of the Hendricks Block on Monday morning striking upon the stone sidewalk of Market street and fatally injuring himself from which he died in a few hours. It was so hot in his room that he seated himself in the window for a while to cool off, where it is supposed he went to sleep, lost his balance and fell. He was brought home on Tuesday afternoon and on Wednesday about 9 p. m., funeral services were held at the residence of his parents conducted by the pastor Rev. J. W. Barber, after which remains were taken to the Leiter's Ford cemetery for enternent. He leaves father, mother, two sisters and a large circle of relatives and friends to mourn his sudden death.

SIMPLY BE AGREEABLE.

That is All That Society Asks of You.
"Of course I know that I am poor," said a very popular although an impetuous society woman, relates the New York Tribune, "but some way or other I cannot feel poor." "That is the reason you are such a success," commented her friend. "Mrs. Multimillions said the other day that you were the only woman she knew who did not bore her with your troubles, and that was the reason she liked you so much." Those who are not well off, as a rule, make their straightened circumstances too obvious, and people who have lost money retire from the world when there is really no reason why they should do so. They take a back seat, and of course are not urged to come forward; but if they had remained in the front no one would have questioned their right to be there. It is not necessary to spend much or entertain in order to maintain a position once you have acquired it. All you have to do is to be agreeable and not let society see that you are worried. Society is good-natured if you do not exact sympathy, and is disposed to be friendly to its members who have lost money if they are plucky and cheerful about it and continue to go about. Of course, if people are morbid and avoid their former associates the latter cannot be expected to hunt them up; but if they lose their friends it is, in nine cases out of ten, more the fault of the people themselves than of their former associates. Vanity Fair has no time to look after those who fall by the wayside, but people make a mistake in thinking that she ostracizes her citizens simply because they are poor. It is the concomitants of poverty that she objects to—the shabbiness, the low spirits, and, above all, the pride which apes humility, which is more boring than anything else.

Peculiar Suit in Indiana.

A peculiar suit was filed in Goshen Ind., the other day, wherein Solomon E Slaughter, of Ravenna, Ohio, appears as plaintiff, and John B. Slaughter, a well-to-do marble dealer of Goshen, as defendant. In 1863 the defendant left the parental roof at Ravenna, Ohio, to seek his fortune in the West. Before leaving he was given $500, for which he relinquished all interest in his father's estate, also agreeing to pay 6 per cent on the $500 until the death of his father. A couple of years ago the old gentleman died, leaving quite an estate. This suit is for the 6 per cent interest on the $500, amounting to $1,200.

INVENTOR OF WOOD RIMS.

America's Most Useful Contribution to the Bicycle.
A bicycle without a wood rim, in this country, says the New York Tribune, is a rarity, yet only a few years ago the wood rim was unheard of in this connection, and when it was introduced it was greeted with ridicule on all sides. The wood rim is strictly an American idea, and to Chas. F. Harrington is due the credit of introducing it. Mr. Harrington's early life was spent at the wood working business in Vermont and later, when he engaged in the bicycle manufacturing business, it was natural for him to think of using wood for a rim.
Hundreds of patents for special features pertaining to bicycles are granted each year by the United States patent office, but the majority of them die a natural death; few pay any money to the inventor. The wood rim is undoubtedly the most valuable contribution America has given to the bicycle; nearly everything else that has stood the test of actual use has come from "the other side." France introduced the bicycle, but England improved it, and gave to riders the suspension wheel, ball bearing, pneumatic tire, tubular frame and the ordinary and safety types.

America has held her own in wood-working; in fact, she leads the world, and the light, strain-resisting American buggy always has been a marvel to foreigners. Its wheels are so light that the foreigner wonders how they hold together, but the much talked of resistance is the secret of it. It is the combination of wood and steel that makes the American buggy possible; the wood absorbs the shock or vibration—is resilient. The same principle applies to the steel rail and the wood ties of the railway. Without the wood ties, the immense strain would tear something to pieces. A steel rimmed wheel without a tire is virtually a solid, which feels jars all through; the wood rim bears jars, as it is the nature of the wood to bear them, saving the wheel and the whole structure, and not suffering itself. It is lighter than the steel rim, and it permits the frame also to be made lighter. There are some incidental advantages, also, and some not so incidental. For instance, the wood springs back and rights itself from strain, while the steel stays sprung and buckled; the wood does not rust and dent, and cementing the tire is easy.

Have you tried those delicious hams at Meredith's. Well, they can't be beat.

NEW BICYCLE IMPROVEMENTS.

A new idea in bicycle bells that will surely give a loud alarm is composed of three bells mounted on the handlebar, with three hammers, all operated by one lever, the lower bells being tuned to sound like a chime.

To prevent the balls from dropping out of the bearings when the wheel is taken apart a new device has a metal washer which locks into the outside of the cup and projects out far enough to hold the balls in place without interfering with the cones on the shaft.

For long-distance or long-time rides a drinking device is to be attached to the wheel, consisting of a reservoir to hold the water, with a flexible tube fastened to a frame over the handlebar extending into the reservoir, thus making it unnecessary for the rider to dismount when thirsty.

Two bicycles can be solidly coupled together by a newly patented coupler, consisting of three X braces, one set being attached to the rear hubs and the lower braces of the wheels near the crank shafts, a second from the back upright braces near the top to the heads, and the third set across the heads of the machines.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; acet or settling indicates a diseased condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effect following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists; price fifty cents and one dollar. For a sample bottle and pamphlet, both sent free by mail, mention CULVER CITY HERALD and send your full postoffice address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N. Y. Watching Her Opportunity.

She sat by his bedside and watched. He was restless and disturbed, and could not sleep. He bade her seek rest, but she could not yet do so. She could not retire until he slept. For years she had not gone to bed at night without waiting for slumber to fall upon him. He tossed uneasily upon the bed, and still his wife sat watching him anxiously. Finally, after hours of patient waiting, her perseverance was rewarded. He sank into a peaceful, refreshing slumber. Her time had come. Grasping him firmly by the shoulder, she shook him violently, and as he started up with a yell of fright she said softly: "Did you wind the clock, dear?"

S. P. Sheerin has in his possession a handsome black walnut extension table which was presented to him by the proprietors of the Fifth Avenue hotel, of New York. This table was in use at said hotel 27 years, and is especially valuable owing to the fact that Blaine, Sherman, Grant and hundreds of the nation's notables have been served at this table. The table is highly prized by Mr. Sheerin, because of the gift, and its historic prestige. It can be seen at the Sheerin cottage near the Palmer House.

Mr. Edward Culver and wife, of St. Louis, Mo., are occupying a cottage upon the east side, and will remain for the summer. Ed reports that his father, H. H. is slightly improved and that he has been a very sick man, his former weight being about 185 now being less than 125. He arrived in Culver City Tuesday evening where he will remain at his cottage during the summer, and it is hoped that the clear and healthful breezes from the lake will lend new vigor to his body and encourage him to keep perfectly quiet until his health is permanently restored. That it will be, is the earnest wish of hundreds in this vicinity.

"Our Poet." On the Fourth of July, In the sweet bye and bye Will the "bomb" and the "cracker be And the small boy too— [there? Both eyes "black and blue" And a place on his head without hair. Why, of course not my boy None such will annoy As on the 4th of July here, For "cracker" nor "bomb" Will there ever come, If your mother's boss over there. H. E. Winks.

Colorado Letter From Geo. Gerard.

Gypsum, Col., July 2.—Old friend E. B. V., how is Culver? All right I hope. Gypsum is all right except that we are short of women. I wish you would send me "C. O. D." one car load of good looking women, as there are a lot of old batchelors here that I can dispose of them to at a good figure. Of course I do not need them myself. Well, I am feeling very bad today. I have been sick with mountain fever for three days. I took a trip up the mountains about ten thousand feet above the level of the sea, fishing and hunting and got the fever. We caught about two hundred pounds of fish and got a deer, so I did not begrudge the trip. I was out with two old timers and played my part of the game, but was a little nervous at times but did not let on, and could shoot fish with the best of 'em. I would have enjoyed having you along, but it would have hurried a horse to carry you up the mountains and puzzle you much worse to walk. We had about four feet of snow part of the trip and slep in a 20 foot snow bank, and the lake had about one-half inch of ice over its face in the morning. How are all of my old friends? Give them my regards, and tell them that I am stuck on Colorado and am in the hardware business.

The Glorious Fourth.

The glorious Fourth has come and gone. For the one hundred and twenty-first time the nation has honored its natal day. The thoughtful have reviewed the past years of our prosperity and honor, have gathered courage for present emergencies when they remembered how gloriously the grand old ship of state has ridden through the storms of the last century, the small boy has revelled in fire crackers, sky-rocket and roman candles to his heart's content, youths and maidens have danced away the last hours of the dying day or drank deep to the nation's health and glory—soda water and the festive red lemonade.

The citizens of Culver were not behind hand in their celebration of the day, and patriotism blazed high by the cool waters of Lake Maxenkuckee, and in the language of "Our Poet" H. E. Winks,

They sat on the bank Of Lake Maxenkuckee— On the grass, 'neath the shade Of the wide-spreading tree, The breeze gently blowing, The lake smoothly flowing, He told her the story Of Old Aubbenaubbee. She listened intently While her lover was telling— Telling the story though old, But to her 'twas new, Of the "Big Injun" chieftain— His thrilling adventures, When "red-skins" were numerous And the "pale face" were few,

Mr. Isaac Horner, proprietor of the Burton House, Barton, W. Va., and one of the most widely known men in the state was cured of rheumatism after three years of suffering. He says: "I have not sufficient command of language to convey any idea of what I have suffered. My physicians told me that nothing could be done for me; and my friends were only convinced that nothing but death would relieve me of my suffering. In June, 1894, Mr. Evans, then salesman for the Wheeling Drug Co., recommended Chamberlain's Pain Balm. At this time my foot and limb were swollen to more than double their normal size and it seemed to me my leg would burst, but soon after I began using the Pain Balm, the swelling began to decrease, the pain to leave, and now I consider that I am entirely cured. For sale at Culver City Drug Store.

Hundreds of thousands have been induced to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, by reading what it has done for others, and having tested its merits for themselves are to day its warmest friends. For sale at Culver City Drug Store.

"For three years we have never been without Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house," says A. H. Potter, with E. C. Atkins & Co., Indianapolis, Ind., and my wife would as soon think of being without flour as a bottle of this Remedy in the summer season. We have used it with all three of our children and it has never failed to cure—not simply stop the pain, but cure absolutely. It is all right, and anyone who tries it will find it so." For sale at Culver City Drug Store.
