A Day at Bass Lake.

Last Sunday morning, a large Culver departed bright and early for Bass Lake, a body of water located nine miles west of this city in Starke county. The Culver City Cornet Band also joined the Culverites and helped to make the day merry for the pleasure seekers. Of course the HERALD force were also present as a sort of body guard and to chronicle the great events of the day. The hosts of Culver arrived at this noted lake about 10 o'clock a. m., their horses being cared for at Schlosser's feed barn, and at Thomas Kemp's stables. The band at once commenced to discourse sweet music which was highly appreciated by the natives of the place. Listen!

By H. E. Winks.

Listen to the wild waves sighing. Sighing the long night through, Alone in the darksome mid-hour, As love doth often do. The wild waves are sighing, Love is crying Crying the long night through; The sad sea is weeping Love is seeking Seeking that all be true.

Go stand on the beach at mid-night; Go in the eve-tide hour, Or go in the noon-day brightness, Then to loves high towers; The wild waves are saying, Love is praying. Praying that all be true: The deep sea is waving, Love is saving Saving her all for you.

Just what the wild wayes are saying. Saying to you and me And for whom is love now praying Some neither hear nor see. Though the wild waves may leap And love may weep, And seek with noiseless tread; Though the sad sea may sigh Though love may cry Some hearts to love are dead.

> "Home," what a word, what a place, who appreciates, who defends? Home is the social, legal and divine center, birth place and Eden of freedom, power and love. Socially, the home is sacred, legally it is a citidel and divinely it is the planted vineyard, and truly, naturally and divinely, "there is no place like home." There are so many sheltering and stoping places, but so few homes. The material house is one thing and the home within it another. We'll leave all to reflect upon the difference. Home, has a soul,-to lose or save, home is modest, pure and tender, home, is bright, sweet and thoughtful, home, is zealous, industrious and affectionate, when love is there, and the little ones are the flowers in the Edenic garden.

MAY FREE HINSHAW.

CONVICT THROWS LIGHT ON A MYSTERY.

According to the Story Mrs. Hinshaw Was Not Killed by Her Husband Now in Prison-Miners to Sue Operators for Wages Withheld.

Says He's Innocent.

Noah Baney, a convict at the Michigan City, Ind., State prison, has made a written confession which, if proved true, will have the effect of giving Rev. W. E. Hinshaw his liberty. Hinshaw was convicted two years ago and sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of his wife. The tragedy was enacted at Belleville, a few miles west of Indianapolis, and the trial of Hinshaw was one of the most sensational in the history of the State. According to Baney, the real murderers of Mrs. Hinshaw are John Whitney and Guy Van Tassel, both Indianapolis men. Baney's statement recites the details of the crime as told him by Whitney and Van Tassel, who, he says, drove from Indianapolis to Belleville in his buggy. Baney says the purpose of the visit to the Hinshaw home was robbery, and that Mrs. Hinshaw was shot by Van Tassel, who wanted to frighten her back into the house while she and her husband were pursuing them into the yard. Hinshaw's attorneys have held back a portion of Baney's confession for the present.

MINERS TO TRY THE LAW.

Will Sue Operators for Money Withheld from Strikers' Wages.

Besides what they term a battle for bread, the officials of the United Mine Workers have arranged to make a battle in the courts for money. It will be for money in the hands of certain operators in the Pittsburg district, kept from the wages of the men who went on strike. In accordance with instructions received from National President M. D. Ratchford and the members of the national executive board, the local district officials have placed the matter in the hands of their attorneys, and suits are to be brought for more than $12,000, the amount strikers have forfeited. The suits will be brought on the validity of ironclad contracts which the men signed. In these contracts it was agreed that as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the employe, the employer should retain 10 per cent on employe's wages. When the men struck this money was declared forfeited and withheld from them by the operators. The plan is to get one of the men who has forfeited the largest amount to bring suit before a justice of the peace, and it is expected that the employer will take an appeal. The miners' organization will push it from one court to the other, and the Supreme Court will probably be asked finally to pass on the matter.

Arrests at Trinidad for Murder of Deputies in 1896.

At Trinidad, Colo., six men and two women are under arrest, charged with the murder of Deputies William Green and William Kelly when they were in search of cattle thieves in the spring of 1896. Officers are in pursuit of two more men who are said to have been implicated in the crime. One of the men has made a confession, in which he says that the two deputies were killed from ambush and their bodies were burned and the ashes scattered so that there would be no trace of the bloody work.

SAY SPAIN WEARIES OF WAR.

Cost of Cuban Struggle in Men and Money Is Unendurable.

Among the passengers who arrived in New York by the steamship Gascogne from Havre were Antonio Bravo, a Cuban provincial deputy, and Leandro G. Alsorta, editor of La Paz, a Madrid newspaper. Both men were political prisoners in Spain and together they escaped to France, where they boarded the steamer for America. Senor Bravo, speaking about public opinion in Spain regarding the Cuban war, said: "The mass of the Spanish people are disgusted with the outlook in Cuba. They begin to realize the uselessness of prolonging a war which has cost the Spanish nation about 50,000 men and over $200,000,000. Public men in Spain begin to voice the popular sentiment. Pi Margall, the venerable leader of the republicans, and Francisco Silvela, the leader of the conservatives, were frantically applauded in recent meetings when they pointed to the advisability of letting Cuba go. Those who have contributed a large share of blood and cash in the present struggle long for a conflict with the United States in the hope that it would afford Spain an opportunity to withdraw her troops from Cuba." Senor Monet y Prendergast, the liberal leader and former minister, delivered a brilliant speech at Saragossa on the Cuban question. He violently attacked the policy of the Government, especially its methods of campaigning in Cuba, and declared that autonomy must be proclaimed. "Autonomy," he said, "for Cuba is as much a necessity of Spain as of Cuba."

SPALDING WING AGAIN.

Second Trial Results as Did the First,

in an Acquittal. Charles Warren Spalding, former president of the Globe Savings Bank, of Chicago, and former treasurer of the State University, has again been declared by a jury to be innocent of embezzlement. From the time that the Court gave the | bound for Northern Greenland, left Bosjury his instructions there was little ton at daybreak Monday, fully equipped doubt in the mind of anyone as to the for the voyage. The work of provisionoutcome. The State's Attorney and the attorneys for the defense agreed that there was nothing left for the jury to do except to return a verdict of not guilty. The Court had said that in the agreement between Spalding and the university trustees by which interest was paid upon the funds of the university there had been established the relation of borrower and debtor, and it could make no difference what the treasurer did with the funds so intrusted to his care. The Court had also stated that if the jury believed that Spalding used the money he raised upon the bonds to meet the obligations of the university then he was not guilty of embezzlement, and the jury had no recourse. It was a question of intent. Dreams of a Republic Vanish, The St. Louis Globe-Democrat has this from Washington: "An intense desire for peace characterizes the Cuban situation. It has obtained such a hold in the insurgent ranks that the movement for independence seems to be on the verge of collapse. This is the information that reaches the State Department. It is fully confirmed by the reports received through private channels. Insurgent leaders write in the most discouraging tone of the prospects for independence. Gomez and a few of his followers are still maintaining a bold front, but they write confidentially that the spirit of compromise is growing so strong that there is danger of the insurgent forces breaking up. The number surrendering and taking amnesty is larger than at any previous period in the history of the revolution. A letter was received from one of the foremost of the native Cuban generals, in which he describes the situation as most gloomy. If it were not for the foreign-born commanders of insurgent troops it is doubtful if the insurrection would last much longer. The native Cubans are sick of the war and its horrors, and are willing to accept the best terms they can get. The failure of this country to recognize belligerency has disheartened those who dreamed of a republic. The certainty that the administration's efforts at Madrid are to be directed along the line of a compromise, of relations with Spain. Feeling that this

Fast Train Record. When the westbound Empire State express left Syracuse Friday afternoon it was twenty-three minutes late, due to delays on the Albany division. Conductor Johnson said to Engineer Edgerton: "Make up all you can between here and Buffalo." "I'll try," said Engineer Edgerton. The train arrived in Buffalo at 4:47, two minutes behind time. It had made up twenty-one minutes on its schedule, making probably the fastest time ever made by a regular train. The 149 miles were covered in 143 minutes, which includes a two-minute stop at Rochester and two slow-ups for water and at crossings. The run beats all the records of the Empire State express, although the engineer's only idea at the time was to bring his train to Buffalo as near to the schedule time as possible. Forbids All Public Meetings. J. R. Sovereign, head of the Knights of Labor, arrived in Columbus, O., from Pocahontas, Va., where he spoke ten minntes to miners when the Mayor, by proclamation, stopped "all public meetings or Assemblages of more than three persons in any public place within the corporate limits," alleging that such meetings were inimical to the public peace. President Ratchford copied the proclamation for future use. Mr. Sovereign reported to President Ratchford that 100 business men of Pocahontas apologized to him for the act of the Mayor, and that Col. GOLD BY THE GALLON.

ALLADIN TALE COMES DOWN FROM THE KLONDYKE.

Some of the Pay Streaks Are Nearly All Gold and $1,000 to the Pan Is Not an Uncommon Clean-Up-Make Men Wonder.

Fiction's Fancy Is Surpassed.

B. W. Shaw, formerly a well-known insurance man of Seattle, has written a letter to a business man of his native city in which he states frankly he does not expect to be believed. "This is a great mining strike," says Shaw, "probably the greatest or the American continent, or in the world. I know you will not believe me if I tell you all about it. Gold has not been found in great paying quantities except on the creeks, about 200 claims. Some of the pay streaks are nearly all gold. One thousand dollars to the pan is not an uncommon thing, and as high as 100 ounces have been taken out of a single pan. It is not unusual to see men coming in with all the gold dust they can carry. You would not believe me when I tell you that I went into one cabin and counted five five-gallon oil cans full of gold dust, but it is a fact. It is the result of the work of two men during the winter and the dump is not much more than half worked out. There has been about $2,000,000 in dust taken out so far in the district. At a low estimate I believe there will be $50,000,000 taken out during the next year."

PEARY PARTY SAILS NORTH.

Will Seek to Found in Greenland a Base for Exploration.

The steam sealing bark Hope, with Lieut. R. E. Peary and party on board, ing the vessel was completed only a short time before she sailed. The object of the voyage is to establish a settlement at a remote northern point in Greenland which shall be used as a base of supplies for an expedition to search for the north pole under Lieut. Peary in 1898. To this end a party of Eskimos will be established at the new settlement and will during the next year be engaged in making preparations for Lieut. Peary's expedition. The Hope will make direct for Sydney, C. B., where she will take coal for the remainder of the voyage. The ship will skirt the coast of Greenland, dropping the scientific parties at various points and taking Lieut. Peary to Whale Sound, where his plans for establishing a settlement will be carried out. The return voyage will be begun, it is expected, in about five weeks after the Hope arrives, and the parties will be picked up on the way back. While Peary is in the north a Belgian expedition will explore the antarctic circle and endeavor to locate the south pole. The expedition expects to reach Grahamland about the middle of October, the beginning of the fine austral season. The greatest latitude which has ever been reached in the antarctic zone is 78 degrees, reached by Sir James Ross. If the north pole is hard to reach, the difficulties surrounding the discovery of the south pole are innumerable. Phenomena occur there which no human being has yet been able to account for, and continents and mountains appear and disappear in a twinkling; fogs and sunshine alternate in startling rapidity. This much is known of the south pole. Nobody has got nearer than 720 miles of it; mountains exist, some of which are active volcanoes; no human being lives farther than 56 degrees and no quadruped beyond 66 degrees. I is a land of mystery and wonder.

Uruguay is practically in the hands of the rebels. An armistice between the rebels and the Government was signed a few days ago.

Beware of Mad Cats. BRINGS A TON OF GOLD,

Arrival of a Ship Drives Scattle People Stark Mad.

No wonder Seattle has gone stark, staring mad on gold. The North American Transportation Company's steamer Portland reached that port Saturday from St. Michaeis with at least a million and a quarter in gold dust as freight and sixtyeight miners aboard. Some of the miners have with them $75,000, and not one of them had less than $5,000, every dollar of which has been taken from the Clondyke within the year, and most of these men have claims in that fabulously rich region that almost beyond doubt will net them hundreds of thousands more. In the captain's cabin were three chests and a large safe filled with the precious nuggets, most of it taken out of the ground in less than three months of last winter. In size the nuggets range from that of a pea to a guinea hen's egg. One peculiar feature is that the big strikes were made by "tenderfect," while the old miners of many years' experience, after suffering indescribable hardships and privations in Alaska and the Northwest Territory, have only a few thousand dollars to show for their labor. Fortune seemed to smile

Governor of Northwest Territory Indorses Klondyke Reports.

C. B. Mackintosh, Governor of the Northwest Territories, in which is included the far-famed Klondyke district, is in Seattle. The Governor freely subscribes to the truthfulness of the stories sent out as to the richness of the new diggings. He estimates that the Klondyke and its tributaries yielded over $3,000,000 in gold last winter. Of this amount he says $2,-000,000 and upward came via the steamships Portland and Excelsior. More than $1,000,000 in dust, he says, is now stored away in the cabins of miners along the creek. "The British Yukon yield of gold for 1897," the Governor resumed, "wil, not be less than $10,000,000." Broadmoor Casino Burned.

The famous Broadmoor Casino, the $100,000 pleasure resort of Colorado Springs, was burned to the ground Monday morning. Flames were discovered about 4 o'clock in the boiler-room, and in about one hour the site formerly occupied by one of the handsomest buildings devoted exclusively to pleasure in the West was covered only with a mass of ruins. There is scarcely any insurance. It is doubtful if the resort will be rebuilt.

Sensation at Kansas City.

Albert S. Nichols of Kansas City has instituted two sensational suits in the Circuit Court. The first is against his wife, Pearl E. Nichols, for divorce, naming Ben C. Burgess as co-respondent. The second suit is against Mr. Burgess for $10,000 for alienating his wife's affections. Burgess declares that the suit is an attempt at blackmail.

WORK OF CONGRESS.

THE WEEK'S DOINGS IN SENATE AND HOUSE.

A Comprehensive Digest of the Proceedings in the Legislative Chambers at Washington-Matters that Concern the People.

Lawmakers at Labor.

The conference report on the tariff bill was adopted by the House shortly after midnight Monday by a vote of 185 to 118. This eclipses all previous records. The result was accomplished after twelve hours of continuous debate. But two speeches were made by the Republicans. one by Mr. Dingley in opening the debate and one by Mr. Payne of New York in closing it. In all ten Democratic and one Populist speeches were made. The sugar schedule was the main point of assault. Every Republican in the House who was present voted for the report. The Democrats, with five exceptions, voted against the report. The exceptions were Slayden of Texas, Broussard of Louisiana, Meyor of Louisiana, Davey of Louisiana and Kleberg of Texas. An analysis of the vote shows that 180 Republicans and five Democrats voted for the report, and 106 Democrats and twelve Populists against it.

The tariff conference report was presented to the Senate Tuesday, but little progress was made on it beyond the formal reading of about two-thirds of the report. Mr. Tillman openly threatened a filibuster until next December if cotton bagging and cotton ties were not restored to the free list, but the threat was regarded as somewhat facetious. The sugar amendments occasioned a long debate. and the lumber amendment also brought out animated criticism from Senators Teller and Pettigrew. Early in the day the Senate passed a joint resolution authorizing and requesting the President to take all necessary steps for the release of the Competitor prisoners from prison at Havana. Representative Mitchell of New York has introduced a bill in the House to establish a currency reserve fund for the redemption of United States and treasury notes of 1890. The fund shall aggregate at the start $150,000,000. of which not over $100,000,000 shall consist of gold and the remainder of United States treasury notes. The fund shall be added to from time to time as the treasury's cash balance exceeds $75,000,-000, but shall never aggregate more than $200,000,000. The fund shall be used to redeem United States and treasury notes, which shall not be reissued, except in exchange for gold, to be deposited in the meserve fund.

The Senate concluded the formal reading of the tariff conference report Wednesday. Mr. Jones made a contest against the conference committee on the ground that it had exceeded its authority in so amending the paragraph relating to printing paper as to place a retaliatory duty against the countries paying an export bounty on wood pulp. His point of order was debated at much length, and finally overruled by Vice President Hobart. This removed the only obstacle thus far encountered by the report. The reciprocity amendment and the abandonment of the stamp tax on bonds and stocks developed much criticism. When the House met Mr. Evans from the Committee on Ways and Means reported a joint resolution which finally passed, requesting the President to make such investigations as will elicit all the facts in reference to the restrictions put upon thesale of American tobacco in foreign countries under what is known as the "Regie" or government contracts. It also authorizes the President to enter into negotiations with the governments of those countries with a view to obtaining a modification of these restrictions.

In the Senate Thursday the debate on the report was participated in by Senators Chilton of Texas, Jones of Arkansas and Pettigrew of South Dakota in opposition, while Mr. Aldrich took frequent occasions to defend the report against the criticism of these Senators. The credentials of the new Senator from Tennessee, Thomas B. Turley, who succeeds. the late Senator Harris, were presented to the Senate by his associate, Mr. Bate. Mr. Turley was then escorted to the Vice-President's desk, where the oath of officewas duly administered. In the House, Mr. Stone introduced a bill to authorizethe appointment of a monetary commission and to provide for its expenses. Onehundred thousand dollars is appropriated by the terms of the bill for the expenses. of the commission. This bill has been prepared by Mr. Stone, after consultation with H. H. Hanna, chairman of the Indianapolis convention, and is understood to have the approval of the administration.

In the Senate Friday a House bill was passed authorizing the President to suspend discriminating duties imposed on foreign vessels and commerce. Mr. Allison then moved to proceed with the tariff conference report, but Mr. Tillman contested this with a motion to take up his resolution for an investigation of alleged senatorial speculation in sugar stock. Mr. Allison made the point of order that debate was not in order, and the presiding officer sustained the point. A joint resolution was passed for the erection of a government building at the trans-Mississippi international exposition at Omaha. The consideration of the tariff conference report was then resumed, and Mr. Teller of Colorado took the floor for a general speech. The House passed the bill passed by the Senate to ratify the compact entered into between the States of South Dakota and Nebraska relative to the disputed boundary line.

JACKIE'S BURGLAR.

The garret was squalid to a degree. It was dark, dirty and wretched, and the thin streaks of light which filtered in through the tiny, dust-choked skylight only seemed to heighten the darkness and increase the misery of the place. It was a small, square room, with no furniture, except a couple of broken chairs, a grimy table, and a broken packing case, and it seemed a place scarcely fit for habitation. Yet on the floor were three coarse straw mattresses, and on one of them, with his weary face turned up to the dismal skylight above, lay a boy. He was only a small boy, but his face was like an old man's, and his limbs were shrunken and dwarfed and thin. He lay looking up into the face of a man who bent over him.

"I shall be all right by and by, dad," he said, in a weak voice. "I shall be all right as soon as the sun creeps up a bit and I can get out. Don't worry, dad. P'r'aps I shall be able to do something soon. P'r'aps I could make some boxes or something if I could sit up a bit.

Two big tears coursed down the man's cheek and fell on the boy's hand. He turned away hurriedly and began walking to and fro across the garret. "I must get the doctor to you somehow," he said, more to himself than the boy on the bed; "If I fetch him by force he must come. It's no good putting it off any longer."

"No, no," said the boy, with the thoughtfulness of an old man; "wait a bit. I may be all right to-morrow." The man plunged his hand into his pocket and sighed. With twopence between them and starvation, what was the use of fetching a doctor who would order eggs and milk for this boy? What was the use of anything except to sit and stare at the skylight and starve? John Endleton was a man who had once been in a good position. Only a year ago he had believed himself to be out of the reach of want; but misfortune had overtaken him, his bank had lost money in a hundred different ways, ill-luck had followed him, and he had fallen from bad to worse, until he at last found himself, with his 10-year-old son, in an East End slum, penniless, heart sick, hopeless, with sickness overtaking them, with no prospect of anything better than a hand-to-mouth existence, and with a criminal-a jail bird-a common convict for a companion.

John Endleton was a proud man. It was his pride, perhaps, that had led him to refuse good berths that he would have been thankful for now, and he hated the man who shared their garret. If he could have afforded it-if he could only have made sure of the necessary pence-he would have rented the entire room in order to keep his boy from contact with the man; but he had reached such a hopeless state of his existence that he was thankful if he found himself able to provide for one decent meal a day, and he was obliged to tolerate him, although his very presence seemed poison. He hated his coarse ways, his bad face, his evil breath, and the thought that he was within almost a yard of his son made him shudder.

Jem Brooker was the leader of a gang. There was no better known criminal in the whole of London than he, and he was proud of his reputation, proud of his wickedness, and proud even of the time he had "done" in Portland Prison. He was foul mouthed, bad tempered and had been convicted of numberless crimes; but fer some strange reason little Jackie Endleton interested him.

COAL MINERS' STRIKE IS FAR FROM SETTLEMENT.

Pittsburg District Miners March to Open Shafts and Compel Men to Quit-Railroad Trains in the Coal Districts May Be Abandoned.

Trouble Is Widespread.

The coal strike is extending and bids fair to involve all the miners in the soft coal mines from West Virginia to the Mississippi. In the Panhandle district in Pennsylvania sensational developments are expected. The men are beginning to feel the pangs of hunger and want and are in a condition bordering on desperation. A Pittsburg dispatch says: Organizers have been secretly at work among miners of the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal Company for several days. One of them was served with an injunction to remain off the company's property and leave the men alone. He said he had been at work among the miners of Plum Creek and expressed great hopes of being able to have them join the general suspension. tinguishable and meaningless; and, candied peel, and last, but not least, a | As near as can be learned a concerted effort will be made in the near future to bring out the men at Turtle Creek, Sandy Creek and Plum Creek.

The officials feel that in order to make the strike a success these miners must be brought out. They admit they have a difficult job on their hands, as De Armitt's men seem determined to remain at work. The mines are running to their fullest capacity and are supplying a large quantity of coal to the trade. Much coal was offered at $1.25 a ton. Slack took a big jump and sold for 85 cents a ton. Before the strike it was sold at 40 cents a ton. There are hundreds of tons of slack coal at the mines in the Pittsburg district, but the miners' officials will not permit any of it to be loaded.

ing camps are increasing. Mascoutah, Ill.-At a meeting an official report was made that sixty-seven out of the seventy-eight mines in the Belleville district were closed, and that the balance wil! be compelled to remain idle, by force if necessary, for the miners are in an ugly mood and trouble is expected to result should any attempt at resistance be made.

Some new features will likely be introduced into the struggle within the next few days. It is believed the miners contemplate calling upon the railway organizations for assistance. A meeting of railway employes was held in Pittsburg, and the situation of the miners' strike thoroughly discussed. Resolutions were adopted pledging support to the strikers, and each member was assessed $2 for the strike fund. It was claimed the action taken was at the suggestion of the na tional officials of the Railway Trainmen's across the room and peered down at Union.

GRAPES AND THE APPENDIX. A Mistake That Has Long Been Pour

lar. Things have been said about the baneful and delicious juice of the grape J. F. Kimmerling, of Cleveland, ever since the olden time when Noah induced to try Chamberlain's Cough found out about it and came thereby to grief; but even before that men ate grapes, and only within the last decade have they been talked to about that, says the Washington Times. It is only since surgeons began to make money hunting for grape seeds in the vermiform appendix that people have been afraid to eat grapes, to eat them traight. It now appears that in all the thousands of cases famous, in which this new-fashioned surgical operation has been performed there is not one case in which a grape seed or any other little bullet-shaped thing has been found in the vermiform appendix. The whole interior of the appendix is only big enough to admit a medium-sized darning needle. Nobody knows what the internal plantar artery in such a it is there for, but it must have been way as to give rise to an alarming useful at some time. It is a case of the survival of the unfit, like the wisdom office of Dr. Wiseman, who succeeded teeth, which are of so little use to most people, and the tonsils, which cause so applying the proper dressing to the much trouble now and then. The toninjury. The doctor returned to his sils and the appendix are both unused parts of the body, and peculiarly liable to disease because they are not A seven room dwelling for sale, strengthened by use. If inflammation attacks them they are unable to resist. Thus many diseases which have been ascribed to peritonitis, or colic, or a mysterious providence of some kind have been due to the diseased condition of this little useless organ of the hu nan system, and if the trouble had been discovered in time the appendix could have been removed and all would have been well. The remedy, therefore, is not in avoiding grape seeds, which do not cause the trouble, but in keeping as well and strong as possible and in case of sudden illness calling a reliable doctor, who will know what the matter is. WOMEN'S CONFIDENCE.

Wives Who Help Their Husbands in a Display of Skill.

One of the most remarkable things to be experienced in real life is the wonderful confidence which is so often displayed by a woman in the man she loves, says the Philadelphia Times. We hear now and then of a woman who permits herself to be carried across dizzy heights on the back of her husband, of women who stand with apples upon their heads in order that their husbands may shoot them away with rifle balls, of one woman who for several seasons was in the habit of nightly standing against a board screen while her husband dexterously threw knives around her until she was pinned in so that she could not move from her position, when the slightest deviation from his wonderful skill would have meant that one of the knives would pierce her flesh and doubtless kill her.

Chiquita, in Mexico, used to stand in the center of the bull-ring and face fearlessly the maddened animal, which was induced to charge upon her, her sole hope of escaping a horrible death depending upon the precision with which her husband should throw his never-failing lasso. And yet she died a natural death, for the lariat in her husband's hands never failed to turn the bull in time, and it was not an infrequent occurrence that he was so drunk when he mounted his horse to perform the act that he had to be assisted in the saddle. There are thousands of cases of the kind, and they are taking place every day right before our eyes, the strange part of it being that we do not realize the truth when we see the several acts performed.

Who, for instance, in viewing the closing scene of a beautiful parasoi dance at the opening of the third act in a popular opera pauses to think of the extraordinary confidence in her husband's strength and agility which the woman must possess when she permits herself to be turned in the air like an animated cart-wheel, and in a manner which, if he should make one miss, would certainly result in broken limbs, if not a fatal accident.

It is interesting to know how this act originated. The husband describes it in his own words, as follows:

"I had been out to a dinner party after the performance one night and until after 2 in the morning. My wife was in bed, but she had to get up to let me in, and we were chatting about the performance, when suddenly the idea for the turn wheel popped into my head. 'Come here,' I said to her. 'Stand with your back to me and stiffen every joint.' She didn't ask a question, but stood just as I said, and I grabbed her and gave her the turn just as you have seen me do it on the stage. She had no idea of what I was going to do until it was done, but when she landed on her feet after the flopover she looked dazed for a moment, and then she said: 'Don't you do that again, Sam!' But all the same I have done it every night on the stage since that time, and I regard it as one of the best acts I ever originated."

Hundreds of thousands have been Remedy, by reading what it has done for others, and having tested its merits for themselves are to day its warmest friends. For sale at Culver City Drug Store.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; aes diment or settling indicates a diseased condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order. WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effect following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. LOGAN THE SOLDIER.

HIS VALOR AND RESOLUTION IN DESPERATE CRISES.

When "Black Eagle" Charged the Battle Line Knew Not Fear-Chiv alrons with Women, and the Unresting Friend of the Nation's Veterans.

Black Jack's Career.

John Alexander Logan, one of nature's captains, was born in Jackson County, Ill., Feb. 9, 1826. In a mighty drama he played a commanding role. When he had hung up his sword he was raised to a select group of his nation's statesmen, and there he continued to sustain the respect that his blameless valor had won him on the bloody field. Named to sit beside the head man of his countrymen, he led gallant charges in that civil campaign that shook the eventful summer of 1884, and, though unrewarded with victory, he forfeited not the love and admiration of his followers, who afterward saw with satisfaction their swarthy chieftain continued in his statesman's chair. With powers unabated for future high service he was suddenly called on the 26th of December, 1886, to exchange his toga for his shroud.

These are the influential facts in John A. Logan's distinguished career:

He was of Irish stock, his father emigrating from Ireland to Maryland, to Kentucky, to Missouri, to Illinois.

went home and took part in the presidential campaign, but returned to Sherman and active service until Johnston surrendered, April 26, 1865. May 23 he was appointed to the command of the Army of the Tennessee.

The war over, he resigned his commission, saying he did not wish pay when not on active duty. President Johnson appointed him minister to Mexico, but he declined the honor.

In 1866 he was elected as a Republican to the Fortieth Congress, and was a man-observe the carrying out of his orders. In passing through a narrow bridle path he came upon a stray company of Confederates from Hardee's corps, lying down in the woods. The captain commanded Mc-Pherson three times to halt. McPherson, supposing it to be a detachment of his own troops, with his usual courteous manner, lifted his hat. Immediately after perceiving his mistake, he wheeled his horse, was fired upon and killed.

Gen. Sherman at once ordered Logan, the next in rank, to take command. Never did a general on either side in the four years' war display more superb qualities of courage. He brought order out of chaos and victory from defeat. The news of McPherson's death having spread, Logan rallied the troops with the cry: "Mc-Pherson and revenge!" Logan took command on that famous black stallion of his, and became a flame of fire and fury. He was everywhere; his horse covered with foam and himself hatless and begrimed with dust; perfectly comprehending the position; giving sharp orders to officers as he met them, and planting himself firmly in front of fleeing columns, with revolver in hand, threatening, in tones not to be mistaken, to fire into the advance did they not instantly halt and form in order of battle. The battle was resumed in order and with fury-a tempest of thunder and fire-a hailstorm of shot and shell. And when night closed down the battle was ended and the Federal troops were masters of the field. Some of the regiments that went into that sanguinary conflict came out with but thirty men, and one which went in in the morning with 200 -the Twentieth Illinois-came out with but fifteen!

As Logan appeared at the battle of Atlanta so he appeared in all the conflicts in which he participated during the war. He was the idol of the common soldier; whenever he was seen galloping recklessly in the most exposed positions, his long locks floating in the wind, the men set up a cry of "Logan, Logan; we'll follow where the Black Eagle leads!"

Grand Demonstration in Honor of America's Greatest Volunteer Soldier-Ceremonies Marked by a Great Parade of Veterans.

Logan in Bronze.

Illinois has paid tribute to the last of the great triumvirate she gave to the nation when the nation's life was at stake. A shaft at Springfield marks the grave of Lincoln, the martyred President. magnificent monument at Galena tells that from that city went forth Grant, the silent tanner, who became the great military chieftain. Now, in enduring bronze, the figure of Logan, the greatest of American volunteer soldiers, stands on the lake front in Chicago. With a great demonstration which, like the recent Grant commemoration in New York, was one not of sorrow and mourning, but of glory and joy, the monument to Logan was unveiled Thursday. This was the anniversary of the battle of Atlanta, fought in 1864, at which Logan reached the summit of his military fame.

Governors of States surrounded by their staff officers stood beside members of Gen. Logan's family, his old friends and his old neighbors. Promptly at 1 o'clock "Little Jack" Logan, the dead hero's grandson, pulled aside the veil. As the flags fell apart, revealing the well-known features immortalized in bronze, a battery of artillery fired a salute. Bands played national music, and orators interpreted the lesson of the occasion. Then the trumpets sounded the advance and the parade moved. First in the line was a remnant of the Thirty-first Illinois Volunteers, Gen. Logan's old regiment, and at its head Gen. Pearson, the regiment's last colonel, unfurled the tattered folds of the regimental flag. Veterans of the Grand

Army of the Republic marched through Michigan avenue by thousands and tens of thousands. As they passed the neble figure erected by a grateful State, they walked with bared heads. With these veterans who wore the blue marched the veterans who were the gray and whose ranks were thinned on that awful day at Atlanta more than thirty years ago. Then soldiers swung past in rhythmical march, the regulars of the United States army and the National Guard of Illinois, more than 10,000 in all, an army of themselves. Uniformed detachments of those civic societies which teach patriotism while they teach fraternity closed the line. All these passed in review before the distinguished guests, conspicuous among them being the white-haired widow of the man who has gone, the weight of her weeds lightened by this demonstration. A Heroic Figure.

The statue, which is the tribute of the State, cost $50,000. The contract for it was made with Augustus St. Gaudens ten years ago and he was told to take his time and make the statue his masterpiece. He selected as the scene to be depicted that moment during the battle of Atlanta, when Logan took command of the Army of the Tennessee. Readers of history know that this engagement, on the banks of Peach Tree creek, was one of the bloodiest of the war. Brave Gen. Mc-Pherson was in command when the battle opened. Within an hour he had fallen. The Union lines had been split, the flank had been turned and Hood's eager legions were rolling up the Army of the Tennessee like a scroll. Then a wild figure burst on the vision of the disheartened men in blue. "Black Jack" Logan dashed along the lines. Waving a ragged battle flag snatched from the hand of a color bearer, with head uncovered, his long black hair streaming in the wind, with eagle-like features illumined by the fire of resolve, and driving spurs into his horse, he looked the very personification of victorious war. At his word the lines were reformed Hood was beaten back. Seven thousand men fell on either side, but the victory was with the Union. That is the scene depicted by the sculptor for this monument-the supreme moment when Logan headed the Army of the Tennessee and reining back his horse, gave the order which saved the battle. The statue is of heroic size and mounted on a base rising 24 feet above the level of Michigan ave-

The full bench of the Supreme Court recently held that the garnishee law passed by the last General Assembly, which has been used as an engine of more or less extertion in the labor districts, until it has become the most thoroughly hated enactment in the statute book, was unconstitutional and void, on the ground that it interfered with the general exemption law. The latter exempts $600 worth of household goods from execution. The ruing is not only upon constitutional points, but also because the garnishee law is discriminating, and it is beyond the power of the Legislature to make classifications which are arbitrary and unreasonable. The opinion was rendered in a test case, in which many railroad employes are interested.

See Too Much Profit in Gag.

If they can get it by city ordinance the people of Indianapolis are going to have 75-cent er 90-cent gas, or at any rate gas that will be cheaper than $1.25 per 1,000 cubic feet, the price at present charged by the New York company that owns the gas plant. Two or three years ago the people found out that Indianapol's was paying more for gas than any other city in the country. They also found out that the company made $2,700,000 on bonds issued on property that cost $2,000,000. The stock pays 12 per cent, is worth 50 per cent more than par, while the bonds pay 6 per cent interest and are worth 8 per cent premium. When the people found this out it occurred to them that they would like to keep a little of the money they were giving the gas company and they struck by the introduction of the ordinances mentioned above. It is said that the company does not care to reduce prices and the case will probably be finished in the courts.

Settle Sheet Mill Wages.

The signing of the sheet-mill wage scale by the National Steel Manufacturers' Association in Pittsburg will result in the Midland steel works in Muncie resuming work, and the big mill will have nearly 1,000 men at work. President Bard of the Indiana iron works intimates that his mill also, employing as many hands, will soon resume work, as they are ready to settle the wage matter with the men, since the scale with the steel manufacturers has been adjusted at the old scale. The green-glass marufacturers adjusted the wages for next year with the men at Atlantic City, the old scale being accepted. This means that Ball Bros.' big fruit-jar works, the Fort glass works and 100 others will resume work on time Sept. 1.

All Over the State.

The Indiana Farmers' Loan and Savings Association, a small Fort Wayne building association, has been placed in the hands of A. A. Purman as receiver. The assets are $99,600 and the liabilities $94,000.

While returning to Portland from Fort Wayne on an excursion train Jacob Wolfe, a wealthy ex-contractor of Bluffton, was tobbed of his pocketbook containing $5,528. Of this amount $278 was in cash. Harry T. Hugley, alias Henneberry, alias Pierce, was arrested at Indianapolis and returned to Terre Haute to answer a charge of having passed a forged check for $65 on McKean's bank. He is also said to be wanted at Chicago, Washington and Louisville for this and other offenses. Hugley posed as a man of means, the pretended son of a Boston millionaire, emphasized by monthly remittances of $100, and he made a specialty of working liverymen and horsemen generally. He is a well-dressed, educated man of the world, about 30 years old. The alleged forgery at Terre Haute was committed in December, 1895.

An opinion in the first case to test the validity of the Indiana convict-goods law was rendered at Richmond by Judge Henry C. Fox of the Wayne Circuit Court. Judge Fox holds the law unconstitutional. The law stringently governs the sale of all convict goods brought into Indiana, but exempts all such produced in the State. The court holds that this is unjust discrimination against the governments of other States, an interference with interstate commerce and an infringement on the vested rights of contract. An appeal will be taken to the Supreme Court. The case out of which the decision grew was that against the Frankfort (K ;:.) Chair Company, which secures its goods from the Kentucky penitentiary.

Farmers in the eastern part of Madison County are inaugurating a series of rat hunts which bid fair to rival the oldfashioned sport of fox hunting. During the past two months, rats large, rats small, rats lean, fat and otherwise, hundreds and thousands of them, have overrun everything, barns, homes, chickens, outhouses, and have done a great deal of damage. It is not known where they came from or on what score they are supposed to be a curse, but their material numerical strength has been something that has attracted no end of attention. It is feared that they will injure the wheat and corn when it is stored in barns and cribs. The farmers have therefore organized a rat killing club. The membership runs up to about 100 persons, to say nothing of rat dogs and cats. They will take rat outings every Sunday and are supposed to kill all of the rats off of one premise every Sunday. All kinds of implements will be brought into use. Some farmers estimate that there are several thousand around their places. It will take several months to get around the entire circle. This section of the country has soon brought his comrade all that he had persons were killed and others seriously never been especially encumbered with rats herstofere rats heretofore his hands, and Congress was in extra session. Troops were leaving Washington for the front. Logan quit the halls of Congress, chased the troops, grabbed a gun and stayed at Bull Run until there were extra good reasons for leaving the field.

He returned to Illinois in August, resigned his seat in Congress, organized the Thirty-first Illinois, and was made its colonel, Sept. 13.

He was at Belmont at the head of his own hot bayonets, and lost a horse. He led his regimen at Fort Henry and Fort Donelson, at the latter assault getting a wound that disabled him for some time.

March 5, 1862, he became brigadiergeneral of volunteers. That summer the people at home said, "Come back, Logan, and run for Congress," and Logan replied: "I have entered the field to die, if need be, for this Government, and never expect to return to peaceful pursuits until the object of this war of preservation has become an established fact."

In Grant's northern Mississippi campaign Logan commanded the third division of the Seventeenth army corps under McPherson. He was made major general of volunteers Nov. 26, 1862.

He fought at Port Gibson, Raymond, Jackson and Champion Hills. He commanded McPherson's center at Vicksburg and made the assault at the explosion of the mine. His column first entered the city, and he was made its military governor.

Logan at Atlanta.

The moment in Gen. Logan's career which the sculptor has chosen to depict in the monument unveiled at Chicago is when he took Gen. McPherson's command at the battle of Atlanta. This was one of the bloodiest battles of the war. It was July 22, 1864. Hood had succeeded Johnston in command of the Confederate forces, and these were intrenched in Atlanta. Gen. Sherman, however, believing that the enemy had evacuated the city, ordered McPherson to move forward moved. Logan never could resist the appeal of the old seldier. After the bitter campaign of 1884 an old volunteer, lame and broken in health, presented himself before the general one evening. He preferred a request, compliance with which would have placed Logan in the position of an applicant for favor from the administration. Much agitated at the old man's story, the general at last exclaimed stormily:

KIDNEY TROUBLES

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound,

Also Backache

I cannot speak too highly of Mrs. Pinkham's Medicine, for it has done so much for me. I have been a great sufferer from Kidney trouble, pains in muscles, joints, back and shoulders; feet would swell. I also had womb troubles and leucorrhœa. After using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and Blood Purifier and Liver Pills, I felt like a new woman. My kidneys are now in perfect condition, and all my other troubles are cured .-MRS. MAGGIE POTTS, 324 Kauffman St., Philadelphia, Pa.

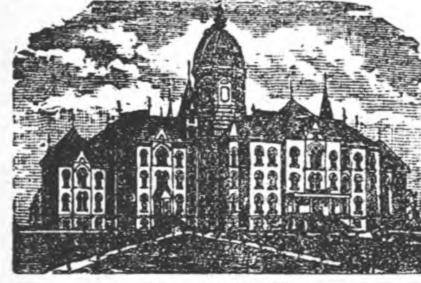

Backache.

My system was entirely run down, and I suffered with terrible backache in the small of my back and could hardly stand upright. I was more tired in the morning than on retiring at night. I had no appetite. Since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I have gained fifteen pounds, and I look better than I ever looked before. I shall recommend it to all my friends, as it certainly is a wonderful medicine. - Mrs. E. F. Morton, 1043 Hopkins St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

Kidney Trouble.

Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I had suffered many years with kidney trouble. The pains in my back and shoulders were terrible. My menstruation became irregular, and I was troubled with leucorrhœa. I was growing very weak. I had been to many physicians but received no benefit. I began the use of Mrs. Pinkham's medicine, and the first bottle relieved the pain in my back and regulated the menses. 'It is the best kind of medicine that I have ever taken, for it relieved the pain so quickly and cured the disease. - MRS. LILLIAN CRIPPEN, Box 77, St. Andrews Bay, Fla.

How They Robbed the Mint. Some years ago the mint authorities of a certain city noticed that a small amount of gold was missing every day after the coinage operations were over.

They watched and set traps of every description, but no thief was detected, and after the loss had continued with regularity for some months they set it down to an extra amount of unavoidable waste and thought no more of it.

Two or three years afterward two brothers who were working there left and set up a public house together on money which they said had been left them by an uncle. As they had both good characters, it was not until one of them told a mint foreman, on the understanding that no action should be taken, that anything was known of the following trick:

Both the brothers used to grease their hands before working at the machines, and whenever they noticed some gold dust sticking to the grease it was wiped off in their hair. Care was used that enough was not taken to show, though, when they washed their hair at home each night the few grains meant several extra shillings, which ultimately enabled them to retire and live comfortably.

Man's Two Best Friends. Man's two best friends are said to be a gun and a dog. It is easy to get a good dog, but hard to get a good gun. The guns made by the Winchester Repeating Arms Co., New Haven, Ct., are not only always good, but they are acknowledged the best made in the world. For years the Winchester has been the standard of the world, and to any one who has studied or examined its many points of superiority its popularity is not hard to understand. The repeating rifles and shot guns made by the Winchesters are in demand all over the world. Although they cost comparatively little, they are better than the highest priced hand-made guns in every way. Winchester ammunition is of the same high grade as Winchester guns and can always be relied upon. Send for a large illustrated catalogue

Best of Reasons.

The general passenger agent of one of the Chicago trunk lines received a letter from a Kansas man the other day requesting a pass for himself to Chicago and return. There was nothing about the letter to indicate that the writer had any claim whatsoever to the courtesy he requested, but the railway men thought that perhaps the Kansan had some connection with the road in some way, possibly as a local freight agent. So he wrote back:

"Please state explicitly on what account you request transportation." By return mail came this reply:

"I've got to go to Chicago some way, and I don't want to walk."

There is a Class of People Who are injured by the use of coffee. Recently there has been placed in all the grocery stores a new preparation called GRAIN-O, made of pure grains, that takes the place of coffee. The most delicate stomach receives it without distress, and but few can tell it from coffee. It does not cost over one-fourth as much. Children may drink it with great benefit, 15c and 25c per package.

Fly Paper.

Fly paper can be made thus: Take pyrethrum roseum, cover with water in suitable vessel, closed, and gradually bring to a boil, keeping it there long enough to extract the poisonous principle. About half hour will do. Let cool and the strain. Soak thick paper with it and let it dry. A London druggist has just received a patent on this. It is not poisonous to human beings or domesticated animals.

No Royal Road.

Euclid, the famous Greek mathematician, was asked one day by King Ptolemy, whether there was not a shorter and easier way to the knowledge of geometry than that which he had laid down in his Elements. "No indeed." said he, "there is no royal road to geometry." In the same spirit, when Alexander the Great wanted to learn geometry by some easier and shorter method, he was told by his teacher that "he must here be content to travel the same road with others. for the things of this nature are equally difficult to prince and people."

Dog Which Stops Runaway Horses. A gentleman who makes his home in the Hotel Berkeley is the possessor of a fine St. Bernard which deserves a gold medal. The dog has developed a strong penchant for stopping runaway horses, and the last time the stop was accomplished just in time to save a party of ladies from serious injury, and perhaps worse. His master was driving down Portland avenue last Saturday when he was startled by a cry of "Look out!" He turned, and was just in time to wheel his horse out of the way of a runaway, which was tearing down the avenue. Just ahead there was a party of ladies who could not possibly escape what seemed certain death to some of them, when the dog, who had been following, and who seemed by instinct to comprehend the impending tragedy, gave a leap and caught the reins of the runaway between his teeth, his great weight bringing the frightened animal to his haunches just as he was about to strike one of the ladies, who seemed too terrified to move.-Minneapolis Times.

Use Gentleness.

Be gentle in stimulating the kidneys, otherwise you will excite and weaken them. The happiest results follow the use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters to overcome renal inactivity. Avoid the unmedicated, flery stimulants of commerce. The kidneys have a delicate membrane easily irritated, and upon this the action of such excitants is pernicious. There could not possibly be a whiter city than Cadiz, unless it were built of snow. As you near the coast you see in front of you a white mass which appears to be floating upon the water, just as you are. The first thought of a foreigner is that he is in sight of an iceburg. The white mass, glittering in the sun and rendered more dazzling by the blue sea and sky, looks exactly like a monster ice mountain partly melted, so that outlines of castles and hills appear upon it; but only for a second does the illusion last, for you know there are not iceburgs in that part and you are quickly informed that it is Cadiz.
