AGENT FOR ST. JOE DYE WORKS.

Miss Cora Sailor, of Donaldson, is visiting with Mrs. Katy G. Dreese, of near Burr Oak. Wednesday they visited Culver and made this office a pleasant call.

The Plymouth fair promises to be the best ever held in the county. The managers are bending every energy toward making the attractions up to date and to excel all previous efforts. Our citizens should attend without fail, and thus enjoy two or three days of recreation and pleasure.

The crews of the two trains which collided on the Vandalia have been reinstated pending further investigation by the higher officials. Engineer Baidersdorf and Fireman Wittig, who are at St. Anthony's at Terre Haute, are recovering from their injuries as rapidly as could be expected.

There is strong prospects of a bank being established in Culver. The move is one in the right direction. There is no better place in the county to establish an institution of this kind and will meet a long-felt want. We understand that parties have been here looking the grounds over and that they are favorably inclined.

From Sept. 5th to 10th there will be a great gathering of the boys of '61, at Cincinnati, for their National Encampment. The Nickel Plate Road sells tickets to that point at very low rates. For complete information, address any agent of the Nickel Plate Road, or B. F. Horner, General Passenger Agent, Cleveland, Ohio.

One week ago last Sunday the editor of this paper and his daughter, Myrtle, accompanied by Master Val, visited Bremen, a city situated in Marshall county. He found the town right on the boom. Not one of those spasmodic booms which lives and dies in a short time, but one of those healthful, staying kind, which means a permanent development. On every hand were indications of prosperity and enterprise. Over 100 handsome dwellings have been erected during the past year, and aside from having a splendid system of water works the streets are lighted by electric lights. The radiator works has been repeatedly enlarged until they now cover nearly a block and employ the year round a large force of men. New brick buildings are also under course of construction, cement walks are being laid, and up-to-date cross walks are being constructed in all parts of the city. If Bremen continues to grow for the next few years as she has in the past, Plymouth will have to take a new grapple upon life or she will be lost in the shuffle.

HAD A SCRAP.

Two Women Settle a Difficulty Upon the Streets in a Sullivan Style.

Burr Oak is a lively little town three miles north of Culver. Its citizens are noted far and near for their extreme friendliness and good will toward all men who mind their own business and have due regard for the rights of others. But if any person conceives the idea that he can enter Burr Oak and run things his own way a la John L. Sullivan style, he soon runs against a snag and leaves said town a sadder but wiser man.

The women, or at least a portion of them, are constructed upon the same principle as the men, and woe betide the individual, be he man or woman, who lets their tongue wag derogatory to the character of a lady, for he or she will come to grief. The editor of this paper was in Burr Oak Monday. He saw, in front of Wilhelm's grocery, quite a crowd of men collected and naturally joined them. In a very short time a large and stately lady came up in front of the store, and backing up against building calmly surveyed the faces before her. A woman came out of the store, and as soon as she struck the sidewalk the fun commenced. The big woman pounced down upon the "bantam weight" like a "hawk upon a June bug," and for a time the scene was full of life—and other things.

ROUND 1. The heavy weight lauded upon the jaw, a clinch followed and the light-weight was hurled with great force upon the walk.

ROUND 2. After a war of words, the light weight disregarded all ring rules and commenced to kick her opponent, who in return seized her by the neck and slapped her face good; the bantam broke away, and leaning against the fence, gave the larger one a piece of her mind in most emphatic language.

ROUND 3. Both clinched and immediately separated, and the scrap ended.

The editor learned upon good authority that the small woman had grossly and scandalously talked about the larger one, who took the above method by way of satisfying her injured feelings. The sympathies of the citizens are with the large woman, who has the name among her neighbors of being a good, exemplary citizen. What the outcome will be, will be watched with interest.

The Spanish War is Over.

The people of Greater America will now be in a position to pay more attention to domestic affairs transpiring in our midst, among which we know of none more interesting to contemplate than the Trans-Mississippi and International Exposition, popularly recognized as our Omaha Exposition. The Columbian Exposition at Chicago in 1893 may have been of greater proportions, but we are assured the great Omaha Exposition is, in all other essential particulars, possessed of equal merit. Reduced rates are authorized via Nickel Plate Road every day. Look out for special train excursions at low rates on dates to be announced later. It

An old lady over in Argos has a hen which laid an egg with the letters G. S. H. inscribed on it. She took the egg to prayer meeting to have the meaning explained, and after much discussion a pious old lady jumped up and said it meant, "Give Spain H—!" The meeting closed with three cheers for Dewey.

A correspondent wants to know the origin of the phrase "he isn't in it." It was first used by an editor who died and went to Heaven and looked for a man who took his paper and read it for five years and then refused to pay for it.

A minister wished to ascertain what influence the hard times had upon his congregation and said at the close of his sermon, "I would ask every one who is able to pay his debts to rise from his seat." The whole congregation arose, with the exception of one man. The parson then asked that all those who were unable to meet their bills should rise. Thereupon the aforementioned solitary individual got up, a hungry looking, poorly clad man, whose features revealed the struggle of one fighting hopelessly against the vicissitudes of this world. The minister regarded him attentively, yet kindly. "How is it, my friend," he said, "that you are the only one among these people who cannot pay his debts." "Sir," answered the man hesitatingly. "Sir, I publish a newspaper, and these, my brothers, who rose just now, are my subscribers and,"—but the minister interrupted him hastily. "Let us pray," he said.

A half-starved editor down the line was asked why so many newspapers failed to win out in the struggle for existence. He replied that any newspaper could be killed by following these directions: Let your subscription go; it's only a dollar or two, the publisher don't need it. If he asks you for it, just get as mad as you can and tell him to stop your paper—you never read it anyhow—then go and borrow your neighbor's. If the editor comes for news always be busy. Make him feel as if he is intruding—that your time is worth $1,000 a minute. When he wants you to advertise or get some work done, tell him you don't need to advertise—everybody knows you, and that you don't need any printed stationery, it is too expensive; you can use a rubber stamp; business is slack and you must economize. Never drop in to see the editor unless you want a free complimentary notice or a lengthy obituary for a beloved relative. Never recommend your paper to anybody. When you have to speak of it say: "Oh, yes we have a little sheet here, but it don't amount to much." Keep this up for a year or two and you will have a dead newspaper, a dead set of merchants and a dead town.

About one month ago my child, which is fifteen months old, had an attack of diarrhoea accompanied by vomiting. I gave it such remedies as are usually given in such cases, but as nothing gave relief we sent for a physician and it was under his care for a week. At this time the child had been sick for about ten days and was having about twenty-five operations of the bowels every twelve hours, and we were convinced that unless it soon obtained relief it could not live. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was recommended and I decided to try it. I soon noticed a change for the better; by its continued use a complete cure was brought about and it is now perfectly healthy.—C. L. Boggs, Stumpton, Gilmer Co., W. Va. SPAIN HAS ACCEPTED OUR TERMS FOR PEACE

THE WAR IS ENDED

PROCLAIMS PEACE.

PROTOCOL IS SIGNED

Queen Christina and the Spanish Ministers Bow to Uncle Sam.

Every Demand Made by President McKinley Is Agreed To by the Spanish Government.

McKinley Decrees that Hostilities Shall Cease.

CHAINS DOGS OF WAR

Guns of Fleet and Army Silenced by the President's Proclamation.

Officials in Military and Naval Circles in Washington Send Rush Messages to the Front as Soon as the Protocol Is Signed—Generals and Admirals in Command of the American Forces Notified that Hostilities Shall Be Suspended.

Whereas, By a protocol concluded and signed Aug. 12, 1898, by William R. Day, Secretary of State of the United States, and his excellency, Jules Cambon, Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary of the Republic of France, at Washington, respectively representing for this purpose the Government of the United States and the Government of Spain, the United States and Spain have formally agreed upon the terms on which negotiations for the establishment of peace between the two countries shall be undertaken; and

Whereas, It is in said protocol agreed that upon its conclusion and signature hostilities between the two countries shall be suspended, and that notice to that effect shall be given as soon as possible by each Government to the commanders of its military and naval forces; now, therefore,

I, William McKinley, President of the United States, do, in accordance with the stipulations of the protocol, declare and proclaim on the part of the United States a suspension of hostilities, and do hereby command that orders be immediately given through the proper channels to the commanders of the military and naval forces of the United States to abstain from all acts inconsistent with this proclamation.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington this 12th day of August, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-eight, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and twenty-third.

WILLIAM MCKINLEY.

President McKinley lost no time in notifying the American military and naval commanders of the cessation of hostilities. Almost immediately after the signing of the protocol a dispatch was sent to Maj. Gen. Miles at Ponce, Porto Rico, directing that fighting stop. Duplicates of this dispatch were sent also to Gen. Merritt and Shafter, appropriate substitutes being made to apply to the different localities in which they had command. At the same time copies of the protocol and the proclamation of the President were sent to the naval commanders.

WAR IS AT AN END.

Spain Humbly Accepts the Terms of This Country's Protocol.

The war is over. The Spanish cabinet, after due consideration of the terms of the protocol presented by President McKinley, decided to accept it, and M. Cambon, the French ambassador at Washington, was instructed to sign it. With this signature the war comes to a close, after nearly four months' duration. The war has been shorter than even the most sanguine anticipated. Since April 21, the date fixed by Congress as the beginning of the struggle, Porto Rico, Cuba, the Ladronez and the Philippines have passed into our possession, two Spanish fleets have been destroyed, one Spanish army has been captured, and in every engagement the enemy has been defeated in the face sometimes of overwhelming obstacles. The valor, endurance, skill and discipline of American soldiers have been fairly tested, and they have compelled the admiration of the foreign military observers. The navy has covered itself with glory and challenged the plaudits of the whole world. In these few weeks the United States has taken position as one of the strong naval nations and a military

THE TERMS SPAIN HAS ACCEPTED.

(Conditions as officially announced by the President.)

FIRST. No claim for pecuniary indemnity.

SECOND. The relinquishment of Spanish sovereignty over Cuba and the immediate evacuation of the island.

THIRD. The cession to the United States and immediate evacuation by Spain of Porto Rico and other islands in the West Indies, and the like cession of an island in the Ladronez.

FOURTH. The United States to occupy and hold the city, bay and harbor of Manila pending the conclusion of a treaty of peace covering the future of the Philippines.

FIFTH. Commissioners to be named by the United States and Spain to conclude the treaty of peace.

HONOR FOR BOTH.

Schley and Sampson Are to Be Rear Admirals.

The President will recommend to Congress that Acting Rear Admiral Sampson be advanced eight numbers and Commodore Schley six numbers. This will result in making each a rear admiral, but with Commodore Schley ranking immediately below Sampson. Captain Clark of the Oregon will be recommended for an advance of six numbers in the captain's grade, and Lieutenant Commander Wainwright will go up eight numbers. Other promotions throughout the fleet will be recommended.

The promotion of Schley and Sampson adds two more to the roll of rear admirals who have won their advancement by gallant services in the present conflict. The list now includes Dewey, Schley and Sampson, all of whom have done heroic work for their country and have demonstrated the prowess of the United States as a naval power.

The promotion of Lieutenant Commander Wainwright marks him for especial distinction, as he is the only naval officer who has been twice recommended for higher honors during the war, and none more richly deserve such recognition than this gallant officer, who first won successful battle with two of the enemy's most dreaded war machines at the mouth of Santiago harbor and a few days later gallantly sailed his vessel into the port of Ponce and raised the Stars and Stripes for the first time as a conquering invader upon the soil of Porto Rico. This daring young commander, who comes of splendid fighting stock, has added new luster to his country's arms and may be counted upon to fill a place in martial history beside the grandest heroes who have done service in army and navy.

Captain Clark of the Oregon has nobly won the honors his country bestows upon its heroes. His unrivaled achievement in making the longest voyage ever made with a battleship and then participating in one of the most memorable naval engagements in the world's history, doing incalculable damage to the enemy's fleet, proves his ability as a commander.

SIGNING OF THE PROTOCOL.

Elaborate Ceremony Attending the Proceeding at the White House.

M. Cambon, the French ambassador, was elaborately received at the White House when he came representing the Spanish Government to sign the protocol. He was conducted to the diplomatic reception room, where he found four copies of the protocol spread out upon the big mahogany table. Two of these were in French and two in English. The United States retained one copy of each and M. Cambon the same. One clause in the protocol relates to an immediate cessation of hostilities, and this was ordered as soon as the document was signed. The telegram which had already been sent to the commanders of the army and navy acquainted them with the status of the peace negotiations and operated by bringing about a temporary truce. The dispatches sent immediately after the signing instructed Gen. Miles and Merritt to cease further operations and notify the Spanish commanders of the fact that all fighting has ceased. The impressive ceremony accompanying the signing of the protocol was witnessed by a number of invited guests.

TO RULE NEW ISLANDS.

Plans for Temporary Government Are Considered.

Plans for the temporary government of Cuba and the territory which will be acquired from Spain as a result of the war are now under serious consideration by the President and the members of the cabinet. Porto Rico, as an actual addition to the territories of the United States, will be placed in charge of a military governor, who will exercise a supervisory control of all the functions of government, under the direction of the President, until Congress shall determine upon a permanent form of government for the island.

The President, under the constitution and laws, has no authority to go beyond this preliminary or temporary stage in the establishment of any system of governmental controls, and although it is altogether probable that in his message to Congress on the subject he will exercise his constitutional privilege of making recommendations, upon Congress alone will devolve the responsibility and duty of determining the character of the political relations which Porto Rico shall permanently bear to the United States. There are reasons for the belief that the President himself favors a colonial form of government, and that this view is shared by members of the cabinet. Canada is cited as having a model colonial govern-

A THOUSAND MILLION DOLLARS.

That Is About What the War Will Cost the United States.

The evidence on every hand that the war is about at an end has aroused the mathematicians. They are now engaged in demonstrating what the cost of the whole war will have been to the Government, when the last volunteer soldier is at home, the last penny of war bond interest paid, the last pension awarded. This calculation is of course far-reaching. Fairly accurate estimates of the extraordinary expense of the army and navy during March, April, May, June, July and August gave them as $150,000,000, of which about $105,000,000 was expended between April 25 and Aug. 6, and $123,000,000 between April 1 and Aug. 6. The latest calculation, based upon treasury reports and comparisons with similar expenses during the civil war, calculates the war expenses from April 1, 1898, to April 1, 1899, at which time it is assumed all extraordinary expenses will have ended, and adds thereto interest and pension charges growing out of the war and an arbitrary estimate of the value of the labor lost by volunteers entering the army. According to this calculation the war will eventually have cost the United States $1,000,000,000. Here is a table of estimates of war expenses:

Current war expenses, April 1, 1898, to April 1, 1899	$400,000,000
War expenditures of the separate States	25,000,000
Citizen contribution to soldiers' aid	15,000,000
War damage claims against the Government	20,000,000
Loss of labor of 250,000 volunteer soldiers one year	100,000,000
Interest on war debt	90,000,000
Probable new pensions to be paid	300,000,000
Value of the Maine	3,000,000
Total	$963,000,000

This estimate is so close to $1,000,000,000 that the round total may in the end represent the expense of Spain's mistakes for us.

ment which is satisfactory alike to a majority of its people and to the mother country.

Upon the evacuation of Cuba it is believed to be the intention of the President to establish for the whole island a temporary military government similar to that now in operation at Santiago. When order has been fully restored and the people have settled down to their peaceful occupations it is believed to be the view of the President that a convention of representatives of the people should be called, to vote upon the question of a form of government for the island.

had authorized them to offer to supply Aguinaldo with arms and ammunition gratis in the event of the United States abandoning the Philippines and the insurgents wishing to fight for their independence.

SPANIARDS BLOW UP A BRIDGE.

Enemy Driven from Vicinity of Coamo by Our Troops.

After the capture of Coamo troop C of Brooklyn was ordered out along the road leading to Alibonito. The American troops had not gone far when they discovered a party of Spanish engineers who were attempting to destroy all the bridges spanning the streams. The Americans at once started toward the Spaniards, who fled, and pursued them for five miles. The pursuit was so close that the Spaniards did not succeed in doing any damage to the bridges until they reached a point three miles from Alibonito. Here they were able to halt long enough to blow up a culvert bridge.

First Loss in Porto Rico.

Two of Gen. Schwan's soldiers, privates in the Eleventh infantry, were killed in a battle near Mayaguez, Porto Rico. These were the first deaths in the Porto Rican army of invasion. Fifteen others were wounded, including Lieut. Byron of the English cavalry.

power which must hereafter be taken into account in world movements. The country has entered upon its imperial career.

The United States Government is now in a position to proceed to the negotiation of terms of peace, and the peace commissioners, in compliance to the French Government, will meet in Paris. Under the protocol which Spain accepted Porto Rico will be ceded to the United States. Cuba will be freed, and Spain at the earliest practicable day will evacuate all its West Indian possessions. This country will also have a coaling station in the Ladronez Islands. Manila Bay, with the city and surrounding territory, will be retained by the United States, and the future government of the Philippine Islands will be determined by the commission.

Spain is whipped. If she had not recognized that fact she would necessarily have been subjected to an unmerciful trouncing. The proud Castilians yielded to the inevitable and humbly accepted the terms of peace offered by the United States. In the history of warfare it is doubtful if the conqueror ever treated the conquered more generously. The war that has been conducted on our part with humanity amounting to chivalry would have been continued, if need were, but Spain in such event could not have looked for any more of the forbearance that has characterized its conduct thus far. No money indemnity is wrung from an exhausted and impoverished people, and no humiliation pressed upon them other than that which is entailed upon defeat in battle. So far as the exaction of territory is concerned, it is nothing but what the world foresaw at the beginning of hostilities. When the Spanish Government dismissed our minister at Madrid it placed its American possessions in the scale which the ruthless sword was sure to outweigh. As a corollary to Cuban independence followed Porto Rican possession. There could be no other outcome. To leave Spain in possession of Porto Rico would be to leave the seeds of a disease that would again break out and again demand our intervention. As to the Pacific Islands, we are willing to leave them to the determination of a peace commission, with the sole reserve that coaling and naval stations at least must be retained by us.

Peace comes with all her blessings, and for this a united and humane people may well be thankful. The war has not been an unmitigated evil. We have gained a prestige in the world that never will be lightly challenged by any power. The purposes for which the war was entered upon on our part have been accomplished. Cuba is free. We have remembered the Maine!

The Klondikers.

Two Hoosier Boys Start Out To Seek Their Fortune.

We made good time all day Thursday. The wind was favorable, the current strong, and we took plenty of exercise at the oars.

The wild and diversified scenery, the occasional sight of a wolf skulking in the brush on the banks, or of a deer bounding over the hills, was sufficiently exciting to keep our journey from seeming monotonous to us.

On Monday, October 25, we were headed off by a genuine blizzard, which consisted of wind and snow, which for the space of about two hours came in in driving gusts.

On Friday we met a small steamer on which were five men. This was a surprise to us, and more of a surprise to them, because, as they expressed it, they were amazed at our foolishness in attempting such a voyage down the river at this season of the year.

Such information was in no way cheering to us, but we were not disposed to back out, although the steamer's crew offered to carry us back to the fort at Athabaska Landing.

When the steamer had left us to our fate we put on full sail and by taking regular turns at the oars we felt quite sure that we were making full six miles an hour.

About ten o'clock the next day we passed some log huts built upon the banks of the river, and the indications were that they had been occupied during the past summer, by whom or for what purpose we could not conjecture.

The description of the fort at Athabaska would suffice for this one also, except that here the signs of civilization were even more crude. About a dozen men comprised the whole equipment of the fortress, and they seemed to have no object in life except to smoke, swear and drink liquor when they could get it.

Very energetically we pressed our way forward to reach this place, with the thought in our minds that the sight of civilization once more would be a relief to our strained imagination—but such a specimen of civilization!

At the fort we were informed that four men had started down the river two days before our hunting and trapping expedition, with the expectation of going into winter quarters in an old lumberman's camp about one hundred miles down the river.

H. J. MEREDITH

Proprietor of the Only Exclusive Grocery House in Culver.

Mr. Editor:—This being a long-coming Sunday, I will put in a portion of my time by writing you a few lines, hoping they will not at least be thrown aside. The Herald has been sent to me ever since my enlistment, and I have tried to make it go the rounds of every Marshall county boy in the 157th's camp, and you do not know how much we appreciate our old home papers, even though they reach us very late.

While at Port Tampa City, Fla., we were often elated by rumors, and by even the slightest one, of getting a chance at our enemies, the Spaniards, at any (if) point at all, and even yet we have hopes of going to Spain, but I'm afraid our hopes are to be dashed, not because we are unqualified but because we feel it our lot to be held as a reserve force. This has caused much discouragement among us, which at times is shown by some stubbornness and grumbling. The boys say they want to be soldiers, and of course, as is natural, want to fight; and let me say right here that the 157th would do it too were they given a chance. And why? Because these "Indiana Tigers" have been caged up for so long they want a chance to limber up.

We are now located in a beautiful camp site, dotted with small hills and on every hill you can see Old Glory waving which denotes over a thousand men in camp. Just below our camp is a large marsh filled with streams, while beyond this a dense woods, while just beyond this we can get a glance of the Atlantic ocean, which is truly beautiful, and on the other hand is the beautiful town of Fernandina, of about 4,000 inhabitants, with its mills, docking facilities and everything which tends to make a southern town; but with all of these advantages over our other camps this one has been condemned and no doubt will soon be vacated. We have had some very nice drills since here, including two imaginary ambuscades and charges, which were fine. I will describe the first one as follows:

We were ordered to march in line in light marching order, which means gun, belt and canteen, at 1 p. m. last Wednesday, when we beheld a line of soldiers about one mile long, which composed our brigade—the 1st Ohio, 3rd Pennsylvania and 157th Indiana. We were told this meant a five miles march, and no need to tell us either, for we were thinking it meant about that. Well, we were halted about one half mile from the beach on the rear of a line of hills which was covered by ravines filled with logs, brush and water we were thrown out in bottle line and advanced and retired, etc., in battle movements. All at once we saw a movement of our superior officers especially General Hall and his staff. We were advanced cautiously and we were just behind the crest of the hill, when we got the command to charge, and away we went over that hill with a yell which awoke the echoes for miles and all that confronted us was about one hundred bathers and the water, but to show you how secret our movements were the bathers were so bewildered they were willing to surrender even their clothes and had it been the enemy I am sure it would have been a complete victory. Well, we were given a chance to drink and blow and then formed in a line divided in regimental front, then in battalion front in column formation; afterwards in a line front and marched for nearly a mile in the form of a grand review, then counter-marched in company front, Brigadier General Hall inspecting each line. We then returned to camp well pleased with our first drill in a new country, and could our Indiana friends have seen us they, I know, would have wondered if these same soldiers were the almost raw recruits of three months ago. We have many hardships in camp and many pleasures. I will enclose you a complete bill of fare for the past week, including today's dinner. Our cook shanty, however, is at present a credit to many in the regiment, which you can see by the many reports of different papers. Our company, "I," of Waterloo, Ind., is one which so far has the share of regimental honors, and is always at the front in any kind of contest. They all try to do us by getting "cold lips" about different things, but we are always right in line for all obstacles. An old bronjo and harp at times help me pass away lonesome hours, and I never forget your old favorite. We read Oscar
