Big Show Coming.

Barlow Brothers' refined show will exhibit in Culver Monday evening, August 29. They advertise twenty special artists, and promise the citizens of this section the best 10 and 20 cent show they ever attended, consisting of trapeze, contortion, tumbling, horizontal bar, wire and juggling acts, assisted by a whole school of funny clowns, trained dogs, sparking song and dance artists, imitating Dutch and negro.

They do not claim to be the greatest show on earth, which signifies that the proprietors are at least honest and do not wish to gull the public by false representations. But they do claim to give a first-class show. Remember the date, Monday, Aug. 29.

Bold Burglars.

On Thursday evening, August 18, the citizens of Long Point had retired to their lowly beds, where the expert fisherman undoubtedly dreamed of the great black bass he never caught, while the younger element had sweet dreams of how Cupid's dart had pierced their hearts, and glorious memories of the kiss stolen while rowing the fair charmer out upon the broad bosom of the most beautiful lake on earth—our own Maxenkuckee. But while some were having pleasant dreams, there were others whose dreams were not so pleasant, for at one cottage the lady of the house, somewhere near the midnight hour, suddenly slapped her husband in the "short ribs" and hoarsely gasped, "My dear, there are burglars in the house; I heard their silent tread upon the floor!"

Her liege lord suddenly hurried himself out upon the floor, grabbed his 38, opened a window and yelled "burglars, murder," etc., which attracted a neighbor to the scene, who found the lady of the burglarized cottage frantic with fear, while the husband still clutched the 38 and wondering if the bold, bad men had flown.

In the meantime, with a lantern, the neighbor examined the interior of the cottage, but failed to discover any of the late Jesse James' gang present; hence no cause for alarm. Yet the lady insisted that burglars had been present, because the light was out, which was dimly burning when they went to bed, hence must have been blown out. But, upon examination, the discovery was made that there was no oil in the lamp.

It is said that a burglar alarm has since been placed in the aforesaid cottage.

DROPPED DEAD.

Chas. Kuntz Died Suddenly from a Stroke of Apoplexy in Kreuzberger Park
Monday Evening.

Chas. Kuntz, of Plymouth, and a few companions have been camping on Long Point the past two months, enjoying the cool breezes of the lake and fishing. Monday evening he was taken quite ill and sit down in a rustic seat near the Kreuzberger saloon, and about 10 o'clock the manager, Wm. Kuehler, heard him groan and went to him and inquired if he was sick, and upon being answered in the affirmative, sent for his friends for the purpose of putting him to bed and then calling a doctor. While the messenger was after his friends, the sick man arose from his seat, made a few steps toward the Vandalia tracks and fell dead across a flower bed. Dr. Wiseman was immediately called and pronounced life extinct, death occurring at 10:25 p. m. His friends at Plymouth were immediately notified, and the deceased man's mother, two sisters and a brother arrived in Culver Tuesday morning.

Coroner Sarber was called and held an inquest, rendering a verdict that the cause of the sudden death was the result of a stroke of apoplexy.

For several years Mr. Kuntz has been a resident of Memphis, Tenn., and conducted a liquor business at that place. Upon his person was found $300 worth of diamonds, a sum of money and a bank book, the latter revealing that he had $400 on deposit in one of the Plymouth banks.

The deceased was a sociable man and won a large circle of friends while here, who deeply regret his untimely end. The remains were prepared for burial by Undertaker Easterday and sent to Plymouth for burial Tuesday.

That Ice-Cream Supper.

Wednesday evening a merry crowd of Culver's young people boarded the steamer Peerless and was conveyed across the lake, where they attended the Christian church ice-cream supper, which was held upon the lawn of the Rector hotel. The beautiful grounds were brilliantly illuminated with Chinese lanterns, etc. Between two and three hundred people were present and everything passed off as pleasant as a marriage bell until about 10 p. m., when it commenced to rain, driving the people into the hotel, where the spacious dining room was utilized for serving cream and cake. As usual, Mrs. R. K. Lord is always at the front when it comes to assist any laudable enterprise, and made no charges for the use of the Peerless, for which she should have the heartfelt thanks of all concerned.

The Weed Law.

A great many farmers are not aware of the fact that there is a law on the statute books of Indiana ordering them to cut all weeds, briars, etc., growing on the roadside as far as their farm extends. The law was passed by the last legislature and allows $1.25 per day for such work, and if the land owner does not perform this work between the 1st of July and the 20th of August, the road supervisor may employ any other person to perform the work, and pay him at the rate of $1.25 for each day's work.

New Business Enterprise.

On the 15th of September, Messrs. Kloefer and Kuhn & Son, of Plymouth, will open up respective stores with a first class line of dry goods and clothing in the store room formerly occupied by Vanschoiack, in the Osborn block. These gentlemen are well known to the citizens of Union township, as they have been in business at Plymouth for several years. These gentlemen say they will positively remain permanently at this place with their business, and will use every means in their power to give the public entire satisfaction.

Narrow Escape.

Wednesday one of the Keen young ladies had a narrow escape from drowning. She had been taking a boat ride on one of the steamers, and when the boat pulled alongside of the wharf she accidentally fell between the boat and the dock into the water. She was immediately rescued by persons standing near, for which they no doubt have her heartfelt thanks.

Had His Fingers Crushed.

Thursday afternoon Master Harley Cromley met with a painful accident, in which he showed himself to be a boy of grit and made of just such material as characterize the boys who have been facing Spanish bullets the past three months. A small launch was approaching the dock and by request the boy attempted to keep the boat from striking the dock too hard, when in some manner the boy's hand was caught between the boat and a post, crushing one of his fingers and tearing the nail clear off another. The little fellow stood the terrible pain like a veteran, and did not flinch or cry during the ordeal of dressing the fingers.

Bitten by a Dog.

Last Monday Mr. Walter Geiselman and his brother, Josiah, went to the Hoosier farm, south of Culver, for the purpose of looking at a cow which was for sale. On this farm is a massive mastiff which is noted for a vicious disposition and anxiety to eat without salt anyone who happens to tread upon what the dog considers his domain. When the above named gentlemen entered the gate and called at the house the dog was there, and in spite of the fact that his keepers were present, commenced to act ugly and did attack Walter, who threw up his arm to protect his throat, which, he says, the dog endeavored to seize, and was severely bitten upon the wrist.

There is a law against these snarling curs being permitted to live, yet they do live, and if it is even suggested to the owners that they ought to be killed, it creates a decided spirit of opposition. Hundreds of men would rather be bitten by a rattlesnake than a dog, for in case of death following from the bite of a dog nothing could be more horrible or the suffering more intense.

Ten years ago George Thinner and family moved upon a measly farm just north of Monterey. The farm was so run down that it would not raise white beans, and the prospects looked rather gloomy to the Thinner family. For two years the battle for an existence was a hard one, but with persistent energy and with a perseverance worthy of emulation they worked on, and today have as fine a farm as there is in Indiana. In the place of old, rattle trap buildings a splendid house and magnificent barn now appear. Upon the farm can be found one of the very best grape arbors in the state, while there is nearly four acres of small fruits of every description. Mr. Thinner is an extensive gardener, and very late in the fall he supplies the market with choice vegetables and fruits.

Will Have a Bank.

We are pleased to announce to our readers that upon, or about the 15th of next month, Mr. McCormick, of Argos, will open a bank at this place in the building formerly occupied by the Marmont Exchange Bank. Mr. McCormick has had years of experience and will have plenty of capital to make the enterprise a success.

He comes to us well-known as a man of integrity and possessing an unblemished character. We extend to him our best wishes.

Culver Military Academy.

On the 14th of September the Culver Military Academy will open for the commencement of the next year's work. The school will open with a larger attendance than ever before, and every available space will be utilized for the accommodation of cadets.

There will be several new teachers, but they have been selected with great care and no doubt will give entire satisfaction.

Ex-Governor Claude Matthews was stricken with palsy while addressing an old settlers' meeting at Tippecanoe yesterday. A touching tribute on the work of the governor is contributed to today's Chicago Times-Herald by Simon P. Sheerin.

At the request of Gov. Mount, Adjutant-General Corbin has ordered the 157th Indiana volunteers to Indianapolis, there to be mustered out as soon as possible. When the Plymouth boys arrive home, the Business Men's Association will give them a rousing reception. Culver has a soldier boy (Heary Stahl) in this regiment and the citizens of this town should spare nothing in welcoming him home.

About one month ago my child, which is fifteen months old, had an attack of diarrhoea accompanied by vomiting. I gave it such remedies as are usually given in such cases, but as nothing gave relief we sent for a physician and it was under his care for a week. At this time the child had been sick for about ten days and was having about twenty-five operations of the bowels every twelve hours, and we were convinced that unless it soon obtained relief it could not live. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was recommended and I decided to try it. I soon noticed a change for the better; by its continued use a complete cure was brought about and it is now perfectly healthy.—C. L. Boggs, Stumptown, Gilmer Co., W. Va. LOSSES IN THE WAR.

SMALL NUMBER OF AMERICANS WERE KILLED.

Spain's Loss of Men Was Many Times What Ours Was, and She Has Parted with Much Valuable Property—Estimate of Losses in Both Armies.

Casualties Were Few.

Washington correspondence.—THE Army and Navy Departments are in possession of nearly complete lists of casualties on the American side, and of more or less accurate estimates of losses inflicted upon the Spaniards during the war, which lasted only 114 days. The double total is probably less than that of single battles in our civil war. The Spanish casualties are, of course, far greater than ours, but are difficult to estimate because of conflicting reports.

The first defenders of Spanish honor to fall in the war were undoubtedly killed at the bombardment of Matanzas, on April 27, the war having been declared by Congress to have commenced April 21. Shortly after this the cruiser New York fought some Spanish cavalry at Cabanas, thirty-eight miles west of Havana, without sustaining loss, and on May 1 Dewey won his world-famous victory off Manila, after stopping for breakfast when half way through. The loss on the Spanish side footed up 400 killed and over 600 wounded. The American casualties consisted of the wounding of six seamen.

The Vicksburg and the cutter Morrell engaged the Santa Clara batteries off Havans on May 7 without sustaining injury. Four days later came the fight in Cardenas harbor, in which the only American naval officer to be killed in the war met his death. The cruiser Wilmington, torpedo boat Winslow and gunboat Hudson had crossed the harbor to attack some Spanish gunboats. In the fight a shell burst aboard the Winslow, killing Ensign Worth Bagley and four others. The Spanish losses in Cardenas included one medical officer, three sailors, two women, three children killed; wounded unknown.

The day of this skirmish was also the day on which the cruiser Marblehead, the gunboat Nashville and the auxiliary cruiser Windom attacked some Spanish troops behind improvised breastworks at Cienfuegos. One seaman was killed and another was so badly hurt that he died later. Captain Maynard and Lieut. Cameron Winslow, both of the Nashville, were slightly, and Robert Vults of the Nashville, Herman W. Kuchmeister, John Davis and John T. Doran of the Marblehead, and William Levery were seriously wounded. Many other Americans received trifling wounds. The Spaniards lost 300 killed and many hundred wounded.

Sampson's bombardment of San Juan de Porto Rico, an engagement satisfactory in its results, took place the next day, the Iowa, Indiana, New York, Terror, Amphitrite, Detroit, Montgomery, Wampatack and Porter joining in the attack. The enemy responded with a heavy fire, killing Frank Widemark, a seaman on the New York, and the gunner's mate on the Amphitrite, and wounding seven. The ships were uninjured. The Spanish governor general reported the casualties in the town as eight killed and 34 wounded.

A second minor attack on Cardenas took place, in which seven Spaniards were reported wounded, and on May 31 Commodore Schley bombarded the Santiago fortifications, firing on Morro Castle, La Zecupa and Punta Gorda. Our forces were unscathed and the Spanish loss was reported heavy. On June 6 Sampson took a turn at the forts, silencing them without sustaining loss. On the Spanish side Col. Ordóñez, Capt. Sanchez, Lieut. Ylizar and Officers Perez and Garcia were wounded. An ensign and five sailors were killed and twenty wounded.

Five American ships bombarded Cienfuegos, in the bay of Guaniguanico, on June 7, and forty marines went ashore there from the Oregon three days later. Then they were joined by 100 more marines from the troopship Panther, under Lieut. Col. Huntington, and the Marblehead, Vixen and Dolphin ran up the bay to fire on the Spanish earthworks. The first battle of the marines took place June 11, when Assistant Surgeon John Blair Gibbs of Richmond, Va., Sergt. Charles H. Smith and two privates were killed. The Spanish loss is unknown. In the next two or three days' fighting, in which the marines did galling work, Sergt. Maj. Henry Goode and Private Tomman were killed and five privates wounded. There were also some Cuban casualties.

Sampson's next bombardment of Santiago resulted in the killing of an officer and three men and the wounding of an officer and twenty men. On June 13 the Yankee fought a Spanish gunboat off Cienfuegos, and Susan P. Kennedy of New York was wounded. Three days later the Spanish general, Jovell, was killed in a naval attack on Santiago. A gunner was killed at target practice on the Yankee by an exploding shell. Then Shafter effected a landing in Cuba and moved upon Siboney, and the army took up its share of suffering and danger. The daring and famous charge of the rough riders and the Tenth cavalry and First cavalry on Serrilla Heights, near Siboney, when 1,000 Americans fought twice their number, took place on June 24. The killed in-marines were killed, and a lieutenant and 11 men wounded. In the subsequent mowing of Spanish prisoners on the Harvard six of them were killed and 15 wounded. The loss with the Spanish cruiser Alphonso XII. is unknown.

Winthrop Chanler of New York, a brother of Col. Wm. Astor Chanler, was wounded in the right arm on July 3, while landing with a force of 25 rough riders and some Cubans from the auxiliary gunboat Peoria, at Palo Alto.

Gen. Miles, after effecting his landing in Porto Rico, at Guanica, has had such a gratifying time of it that there were practically no American casualties. Capt. Gibson Barrett and four men, all Sixth Massachusetts, were wounded in a fight before Yanco, where four Spaniards were found dead and several wounded. On Aug. 6 eight privates were wounded at Guaymas. One Spaniard was killed and two wounded. Five men were wounded at Asomanta, Lieut. J. P. Haines, Fourth artillery, and two privates were wounded and a corporal killed. One man was killed and an officer and 15 men wounded near Hormigueros.

In the fight at Manila July 31, the Spanish loss was estimated at 300 killed and 1,000 wounded, and we lost nine killed, nine seriously wounded, including Capt. Reinholdt Richter, and 28 slightly wounded.

The last casualty in the navy was the death of Emanuel Koulouris, a coal passer on the gunboat Bancroft, who was killed during a recent engagement with Spanish riflemen at a point of land jutting out into Cortes bay.

Corporal Swanson was killed by a shell in Gen. Wilson's advance in Porto Rico. Capt. Lee and Lieut. Malbos and three privates were wounded. The Spanish loss has not been reported.

Total Losses in Both Armies.

Gen. Vara del Rey of the Spanish forces was one of those killed at El Coney. Gen. Toral declined to estimate the total Spanish losses there. It is safe to say that their loss in killed in battle on land and sea is several times our loss in dead. According to the estimate at hand the navy has lost: Killed, 1 officer and 18 men (including Cadet Boardman, accidentally shot at Cape San Juan Aug. 10); wounded, 3 officers and 40 men. The army has lost: Killed, 23 officers and 213 men; wounded, 87 officers and 1,216 men. Total American loss, 24 officers and 249 men killed, 90 officers and 1,356 men wounded.

The estimating of the number of American soldiers who lost their lives through sickness in the war is a more difficult matter, because of the lack of complete reports from all hospitals. At present the Navy Department has no sufficient data on the matter. As to the army, 250 deaths is a conservative estimate.

The land that Spain must add to men and ships in her column of losses includes Cuba's 43,319 square miles. Porto Rico contains 3,550 square miles and is the healthiest of all the West Indies. Guam, or Guadán, is the southernmost and largest of the Ladrone group. If we select it as our perquisite in that locality we will get a fertile piece of ground 100 miles in circuit, richly wooded, and provided with a couple of Spanish forts and a roadstead. The Philippines have an aggregate area of 114,400 square miles. We have taken thirty or forty transports in the course of the war.

The Kynoch Company of Birmingham, England, received an order for 10,000,000 military cartridges to be promptly delivered to the United States Government.

STATE SENATOR WALL KILLED.

Murdered at Staunton, Ill., by a Man Named Otto Mattias.

State Senator H. W. Wall was shot and instantly killed near Staunton, Ill., Tuesday evening by Otto Mattias, who escaped after the murder. Senator Wall discovered a horse belonging to August Schadlich in his field and went out to capture it and take it home. The animal was chased into an orchard near the Schadlich house. While Mr. Wall was running after the animal Mrs. Schadlich came out into the field and a quarrel started between the two.

The woman got infuriated and declared she would get a gun and kill Wall. Suing her action to her word, she entered the house and returned a moment later carrying an old muzzle-loading shotgun. When within a few feet of Mr. Wall she pointed the weapon at him and endeavored to fire, but failed. At that Wall caught hold of the gun with one hand, still holding the horse with the other. Just then Mattias, who boards with the Schadlichs, came out of the house and ordered Wall and his men off his premises. Mrs. Schadlich told them that they could not take the animals off the property. Wall insisted, telling Mattias, who took an aggressive part in the controversy, that he wanted to make a case against the Schadlichs and if he was in the wrong they could have redress through the regular channels of the law. Mrs. Schadlich jerked the gun out of Wall's hands at this juncture and stepped back as if to shoot him, but Mattias grabbed it away from her, and, raising it to his shoulder, took deliberate aim and fired. The charge of buckshot struck Wall in the right side of the head, blowing away one side of the skull and killing him instantly. Mrs. Schadlich was arrested.

HAY IS SECRETARY OF STATE.

Ambassador Hay at London has accepted the office of Secretary of State. Col. Hay was born in Salem, Ind., in 1828. His father was a physician and his grandfather was one of the heroes of the revolution. After graduating at Brown College he went, at the age of 21, to Springfield, Ill., where he entered the office of Abraham Lincoln and began to study law. When Lincoln was made President he selected Col. Hay as one of his private secretaries. Hay was with Lincoln as secretary from 1861 to 1865, except for a brief service in the army, where he attained the rank of major and brevet colonel. When Lincoln's death ended his duties as secretary Col. Hay was sent to Madrid, and later to Paris as secretary of legation, and still later was charge d'affaires at Vienna. Returning to America he wrote editorials for the New York Tribune and acted as editor-in-chief during Whitelaw Reid's absence in Europe. Col. Hay removed to Cleveland, where he entered quite actively into political life, and upon the election of Rutherford B. Hayes to the presidency he became assistant Secretary of State. Since then he has made his home in Washington, his residence at the capital being one of the most elegant in that city.

COLONEL JOHN HAY.

SIX MEN HONORED. Veterans of Land and Sea to Be Military Commissioners. Under the terms of the peace protocol Spain is to evacuate Cuba and Porto Rico "immediately," but this is not to be interpreted literally. To arrange the details of the evacuation and the displacement of Spanish troops by American is no simple undertaking. How soon the soldiers under Blanco are to be deported and what, not being prisoners of war, they are entitled to carry away with them are matters reserved for the decision of the joint military commissions. The American commissioners have been named by the President. For Cuba Maj. Gen. Wade, Brig. Admiral Sampson and Maj. Gen. Butler are selected, while Maj. Gen. Brooke, Brig. Admiral Schley and Brig. Gen. Caden are to serve in Porto Rico.

The Founder of San Juan.

Frederick A. Ober contributes to the Century an illustrated article on "The Island of Porto Rico." After telling of the founding of the city of San Juan by Ponce de Leon, Mr. Ober says: San Juan, the city founded in 1511 on the north coast, soon became a place of importance, and not long after settling here Juan de la Lion Heart built himself a castle on the promontory above the harbor's mouth, and there he planned the voyage through the Bahamas which resulted in the discovery of Florida, in 1513. But his search for the fabled Fountain of Youth was not so fortunate; and so in 1521, hope stirred by the news from Cortez, in Mexico, he set forth again, this time to be wounded by an Indian arrow, to die in Cuba, and to be brought back to San Juan, where his ashes still repose, in a leaden case beneath the altar of the Dominican Church. From his castle, known as "Casa Blanca," the view he often gazed upon is still outspread, through screens of palms above the crenelated wall around his garden, across the landlocked bay which, so many times since De Leon's death, has been the scene of naval demonstrations.

It Looks Suspicious.
They were out driving in the mellow twilight and their engagement was yet in its infancy.

"Darling," he said, "you are sure that I am the first and only man whose lips have ever come in contact with yours?"

"Of course I am, dearest," she replied. "You do not doubt my word, do you?"
"No, no, sweetheart," he answered; "I love you too devotedly for that. But when I put my arm around you a moment ago and you made a grab for the lines, I couldn't help thinking you possessed wonderful intuition."

MRS. PINKHAM'S ADVICE.

What Mrs. Nell Hurst has to Say About It.

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—When I wrote to you I had not been well for five years; had doctored all the time but got no better. I had womb trouble very bad. My womb pressed backward, causing piles. I was in such misery I could scarcely walk across the floor. Menstruation was irregular and too profuse, was also troubled with leucorrhœa. I had given up all hopes of getting well; everybody thought I had consumption.

After taking five bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I felt very much better and was able to do nearly all my own work. I continued the use of your medicine, and feel that I owe my recovery to you. I cannot thank you enough for your advice and your wonderful medicine. Any one doubting my statement may write to me and I will gladly answer all inquiries.—Mrs. NELL HURST, Deepwater, Mo.

Letters like the foregoing, constantly being received, contribute not a little to the satisfaction felt by Mrs. Pinkham that her medicine and counsel are assisting women to bear their heavy burdens.

Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass. All suffering women are invited to write to her for advice, which will be given without charge. It is an experienced woman's advice to women.

NINE PERSONS DIE IN CYCLONE.

Others Are Missing—Buildings and Crops Destroyed.

A terrific cyclone, accompanied by hail, running from northeast to southwest, struck Sunday night about four miles west of Gary, S. D., a small village on the Watertown branch of the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad. Everything in the path of the storm was swept away. Nine people died at Gary, and there is little doubt that a search through the stricken country will reveal other, and perhaps, many victims.

The storm skirted one mile northeast of Hutchinson's farm and struck his house, driving it through the barn, and causing a complete wreck. The Northwestern track is torn up for some distance and telegraph poles and snow fences are down. The cyclone was not wide in extent, but the track was thirty to forty miles long.

The buildings of Carl Peterson, M. Kenyon, Mr. Johnson, Mike Hunt, Dr. Bentley, Charles Burstry and many other farmers were completely destroyed. Many farmers lost almost their entire crops and large numbers of cattle and sheep. Hail stones over eight inches in circumference were picked up after the storm was over. One farmer had 200 acres of wheat in shock. It was taken up by the wind and no trace of the crop is now left.

Reports of damage by wind and hail storms have been received from many other points in the Northwest. As the wheat is practically all harvested in South Dakota, in Minnesota, except in the Northern Red River valley, and in North Dakota, except in the northern half of the State, there does not seem to be much chance of extensive injury. In the vicinity of Carrington, N. D., however, there was an extensive area covered by one storm which swept over parts of Stutsman, Wells, Foster and Eddy counties, causing a total loss of about 20,000 acres of wheat.

The erratic character of the storm is evidenced by the report of no serious disturbance along the lines of the Northern Pacific, while on the Soo and Great Northern, which intersect the former system, at various points, much damage was done, both by wind and hail.

The storm of Sunday night seems to have been general throughout Wisconsin, western Michigan, northern Indiana, northern Illinois, Minnesota and the Dakotas. At Racine, Portage, Oshkosh, Milwaukee, South Milwaukee, Whitehall, Albany, Lancaster, Pewaukee and other Wisconsin towns there was a heavy rain, and lightning caused a number of fires which resulted in considerable damage; cellars were flooded, windows broken, and trees broken down. At Aurora and Harvard, Ill., the damage due to the storm was heavy, and in western Michigan the loss to the fruit growers will exceed $10,000.

FATAL STORM IN TENNESSEE.

Thirty or More Said to Have Been Killed in a Cloudburst.

A terrible cloudburst, in which at least twenty lives are known to have been sacrificed, was visited upon the community of Beech Creek, about fifteen miles north of Rogersville, Tenn., which place is eighty miles distant from Knoxville. The torrent of water fell in the vicinity of the home of William Egan, a well-to-do farmer, and his entire family, wife and five children, was drowned and washed away with the flood. Egan, however, escaped. The deluge of water carried with it every other human within its reach. The cloudburst destroyed several thousand dollars' worth of property. Whole crops were washed away.

Very heavy rains caused the sudden overflow of a mountain stream that swept down the cove, carrying away houses and everything that lay in its path. The time of the disaster was Thursday afternoon, but because of the remoteness of the locality, in the mountains of East Tennessee, the news was slow in reaching the outside world. The victims were all of the poorer class of mountain people living in log cabins in a narrow valley. It is believed the number of dead will reach thirty.

"English as Spoken."

If you don't know how to talk English you will not feel at home in the Cherry Mountain district of North Carolina. A correspondent who was traveling in that neighborhood gives his experiences as follows:

"I went to see a wonderful hog, and told the enthusiastic crowd that I had seen a hog that weighed 1,300 pounds. They said I handled the truth very carefully. I asked them as to feeding him potatoes. One long-haired, beetle-browed patriarch asked me what in the blanket-blank I was talking about. One young man, after cogitating some thirty minutes, said: 'I'll bet he means "aters.'" In the course of my remarks I asked if I could buy any onions in that neck of the pine forest. They said, no, sir, they had been tried there and did no good. After I left I learned that the same thoughtful young man remarked: 'Boys, I'll bet he meant ingens, and we've just got oodlins of ingens.'"

The Klondikers.

Two Hoosier Boys Start Out To Seek Their Fortune.

By Perry Pickwick in the County Gazette.

Of course our "house work," which was something of a novelty to us at first, had become very monotonous and consequently was abbreviated as much as possible.

We had some moonshine the forepart of the night, and so concluded to utilize it in pressing on our way. We fixed our bunk and then took turns in sleeping and managing the boat.

At the end of the day we were probably about thirty miles farther on our journey. When dark came upon us the moon was not to be seen on account of dense clouds gathering, and which portended a storm.

About 10 o'clock we were awakened by the howling of wolves. They seemed to have discovered our presence and to be gathering on the bluffs almost over our heads, where a counsel of war was in progress.

The wolves occasionally reminded us that they were still thinking of us, but that was not what kept us awake. We had read of people being buried under the snow, and of their being dug out by large dogs, etc.

MILLIONS OF DONEY GOING TO WASTE.

Letter to the Land Owners From the Commissioner of Fisheries.

The following letter from the Commissioner of Fisheries, under date of Columbus, Ind., August 15, will be read with interest by the general public as well as by those to whom it is especially addressed:

To the Editor of the Herald. In beginning this letter I wish to express my high appreciation of the support given me by the newspapers generally, and yours in particular, in my attempts to enforce the present fish laws.

This doubtless arises from their desire to see all laws enforced and also from the knowledge of newspaper men concerning the value of our fisheries. I desire through the columns of your paper to present a few thoughts to the land owners of Indiana concerning future fish legislation.

The time is not long ago when we had no fish laws—because we needed none—our streams and lakes were full of fish. Put the increase of population has created a greater demand for fish, and to meet it there has sprung up a reckless class of people that defy all law.

By referring to the reports of my predecessors, which are based upon careful estimates, I find that the waters of Indiana, if properly protected, are capable of producing annually $20,000,000 worth of fish.

State has four hatcheries, and expending annually $25,000. Massachusetts spends $1,000,000; New York, with no more nor better fishing territory than Indiana, spends annually $154,000; Pennsylvania, $26,500; Michigan, $90,000; Illinois, $10,000, and Wisconsin $20,000.

It would be good to find fault with past legislation. We can learn wisdom from past mistakes, but we can't obtain comfort from them. I do not accept the office of commissioner because of any profit in the office—it costs me far more than I get out of it—nor in the interest of a few sportsmen, I am seeking the interests of the people of the state.

Came Near Being Drowned.

Last Saturday evening, about 8 o'clock, the pleasure seekers along the lake front were suddenly aroused from their seeming lethargy by hearing in the lake, for help coming from the lake. Instantly all were alert, and it was discovered that two young men had accidentally overturned a row boat and were struggling in the water for the preservation of their lives. In a very short time parties reached them with row boats and they were rescued from a watery grave. It was a narrow escape.

Soldier Boy's Letter.

The following letter was received by Mr. Castleman last Monday:

FERNANDINA, FLA., Aug. 19, 1898.
 MR. ARTHUR CASTLEMAN—Yours of the 16th received and contents noted with care. Well, to begin with, we are having more sickness now than ever. The rainy season has begun here, and the marshes that were dry when we came are full of water. We have lost three men this week. There are about forty more in a critical condition. Warren Chapman is in the hospital now and is very sick. My partner, Charles Scott, has the bloody flux.
 Think we will go to Alabama next week. I am on the hospital relief now. Have not time to write much; we are as busy as a "toad under a harrow." Since the war is over we are all tired of army life. If we are not disbanded soon, there will not be enough left to flag a hand-car. You may think I get the sick reports mixed, but I give them the way they are on the morning I write. Some mornings the reports contain more names; other mornings less. I will explain when I come back.
 B. H. BADOLEY.

National G. A. R. Encampment.

The very low rate which the Cincinnati committee has been able to secure for all visitors to the national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic in that city, September 5-10—one cent a mile within the vast territory embraced in the Central Traffic Association territory—is a source of much gratification to all veterans.

So far as can be learned, no lower rates have ever prevailed at any encampment in the past. Since the Southern Passenger Association has indicated that it will also grant the cent a mile rate, this makes that rate applicable to all that part of the country from Pittsburg west to the Mississippi river, and from the great lakes to the Gulf. All the rest of the country will enjoy a half-fare rate to the borders prescribed and the one cent rate from thereon. Cincinnati was fortunate in having at the head of its citizens' committee, Hon. M. E. Ingalls, the head of two great railroad companies—the Big Four and the Chesapeake & Ohio.

The Cincinnati committee reports that practically no complaints have been received as to railroad rates, an indication that "the boys" are satisfied, and that they are going to turn out in force.

The Rev. W. B. Costley, of Stockbridge, Ga., while attending to his pastoral duties at Ellenwood, that state, was attacked by cholera morbus.
