

The Wabash Foot-Ball Team's Colors Trailed in the Dust.

RESULTS OF THE FOOT-BALL GAME AT C. M. A.'S GROUNDS SATURDAY AFTERNOON.

When the Wabash college team returned home to Crawfordsville to roost beneath its own vine and fig tree Saturday night, it did not return as conquering heroes from the glories of the wars, with blossoms, brilliant garlands hiding deep their honored scars, not with noisy blare of trumpets and the brasses' heavy brays, peans of exulting welcome to the winners in the fray; not with flower be sprinkled pathway 'mid the multitude acclaim, came these Sturdy Wabash warriors from their latest foot-ball game. They returned with limping steps and weary, with halting steps and slow, with an air of sad dejection and with visage seamed with woe. Returned with one man on a stretcher—many lame in every joint, from that battle field of heroes—the gridiron at this point. And the Captain's face was gloomy and the mascot no longer "chewed the rag," for low in the dust dishonored trailed the once proud Wabash flag. The trappings of woe could not deepen the gloom in which the Wabash kickers of the pig skin went home enveloped as in a great garment of sorrow. They had come, the team from this great college, who had won many a hard fought battle, with evident intention of making very short work of the C. M. A. team. But, although they were great athletic fellows, and thoroughly understood every detail of the game, it was at once apparent that they were too slow on foot to compete with the chain-lightning pig skin kickers, of the C. M. A., who made two "touch-downs" in less than two minutes after the game commenced. In fact the Wabash fellows were not in it.

TAKE OFF HATS.

In several large cities, it is fast becoming customary for the ladies to remove their hats while attending any public meetings or divine service. While we do not wish to be a dictator or even suggest that such a course should be pursued at Culver, we feel that such a step would be greatly appreciated by the whole community. It is not pleasant for a person to sit in the rear of a "big bushel-basket hat" when he is anxious to see the minister who is addressing the people, and is unable to do so on account of this mammoth obstruction. But, if the ladies will persist in wearing their hats in church and elsewhere, we must submit to the inevitable.

When you have a bad cold Dr. Inclination would recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy because it is pleasant and safe to take. Dr. Experience would recommend it because it never fails to effect a speedy and permanent cure. Dr. Reason would recommend it because it is prepared on scientific principles, and acts on nature's plan in relieving the lungs, opening the secretions and restoring the system to a natural and healthy conditions. BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Last Sunday, W. H. Myers, who lives near Rutland, was 27 years of age. He is a young man who has hosts upon hosts of friends. Consequently his amiable and accomplished wife determined to give William a surprise he will not forget in a hurry. A few days previous to Sunday, his wife commenced to cook good things galore, and William marveled much, saying, "what in the world are we going to do with so much provender," but his wife kept right on cooking and held her peace. Sunday came and with the following young people who gave William the surprise of his life time: Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Myers and family; Mr. and Mrs. Will Peeples, Dr. W. A. Oyler and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Hess, Miss Nellie Galbraith, Miss Effie Ebersole, Miss Cora Yearick, Miss Addie Oyler, Miss Mrytle Curtis, Mr. W. M. Galbraith, Mr. Arthur Moore, Mr. Fred Stevenson, Mr. Loid Slaytor and Mr. Otto Grossman. All the above were from Argos. The day was passed most pleasantly in a social way, and the host and hostess were right in their element catering to the wants of their guests.

The editor and wife arrived at Myer's beautiful home in the afternoon, and was astonished to see young William sprinting at a terrible rate through the spacious yard, with two beautiful young ladies close second, who evidently were determined upon the capture of the young man. But owing to the fact that their "wind" did not hold out were compelled to give up the chase. Hence, William slowly returned, when suddenly he was seized by four fair hands, and in spite of his struggles, they held him until reinforcements came in shape of three powerful young men, and the combined force gave William that 27 "slaps" with one to grow on." All in all it was a very happy and agreeable occasion, which it is hoped will be repeated till William reaches the century mark.

A habit is being practiced by quite a number of our youngsters regardless of warning, of jumping on and off of the moving trains. It is a shame that such small boys are not caught by their parents and others; given a lesson in time before it is too late, for as in other similar cases it is only a matter of time until some home will be caused to mourn by this folly. And now parents we beg of you to take warning. RIP RAP.
