Weinburg was a local merchant, who apparently dropped dead. His friends prepared the body for burial. When the coffin was ready to be carried to the cemetery Mrs. Weinburg refused to permit the interment, asserting that she believed her husband alive. A physician at that time was hastily sent for and pronounced the man dead. The wife and many friends were not satisfied, and the funeral was postponed two days. No signs of life appearing, the body was at last buried.

Postal Improvement for Porto Rico. Captain W. H. Elliott of New Castle, Ind., director of posts for the island of Porto Rico, has gone to San Juan on the transport Mississippi, together with Messrs. Macias and Nixon, his assistants. He carries instructions to institute an independent form of postal government on the entire island on March 15 next. This will be the adoption in its entirety of the postal system of this country and will be identical with the postal system just inaugurated in Cuba. It will place Porto Rico on the same postal status with respect to the United States as all countries belonging to the universal postal union. Orders have been given for the printing of a complete set of stamps for Porto Rico, simply surcharging the United States stamps by printing the words Porto Rico across the face. All postmas ters will close their accounts in the name of the United States, furnishing a statement of all transactions and returning all stamps on that date, and open accounts afresh. The international money order rates will continue permanently, both as applies to Cuba and Porto Rico, and when Chief Clerk Gadsden of the money order system, detailed as special commissioner to those islands, finishes his work in Cuba he will proceed to Porto Rico, probably by March 15, and establish a domestic money order system there.

All of western Oklahoma has quarantined against the infected district and the Muskogee Board of Health and City Council will take steps to establish a quarantine in this section."

The walls on all sides were badly shattered, plaster was torn off and the vault doors were blown over twenty feet out of their settings. However, no money was secured, as the robbers failed to get into the big safe, evidently for lack of time. The papers and books inside the vault were damaged beyond redemption.

Buried Under Debris While Working in Ruins in Philadelphia.

At 3 o'clock the other morning, while a dozen firemen were at work in the ruins of the store of the Emerson Shoe Company in Philadelphia, which was burned out at a big fire the night before, a mass of iron and stone crashed down from the upper floors, burying the men beneath it. Three of the firemen were killed. When the three men were first buried under the debris they answered the shouts of their comrades, but the answering cries soon ceased, and the unfortunates undoubtedly met death by sufficiation. Five of the firemen were injured, two seriously, by the falling debris.

tional for work performed in excess of eight hours per diem was called up and adopted. Mr. Hale having gotten the personnel bill before the Senate did not press and Mr. Gallinger (N. H.) called up the bill enabling soldiers who served in the Spanish war who had previously, been pensioners again to obtain their pensions and had it reconsidered. The proviso of the bill that applicants for pensions should file their claims within a year was stricken out and the bill was then passed. Consideration was begun of the postoffice appropriation bill. Practically the only obstacle encountered by the bill was the committee amendment providing for special mail facilities on the trunk lines from New York and Washington to Atlanta and New Orleans and from Kausas City, Mo., to Newton, Kan. In the House the proposition to include the item of $20,000,-000 to be paid Spain for the cession of the Philippines, in the sundry civil bill shared the same fate as did the Nicaragua canal bill "rider" the day before. The ruling and heart trouble. Death was hastened of the chair was preceded by an extended debate. After the sundry civil bill had been completed and reported to the House Mr. Hepburn (Iowa), the champion of the Nicaragua canal bill, moxed to recommit it, with instructions to report it back with the canal bill incorporated in it. The motion was promptly declared out of order by the Speaker, whereupon Mr. Hepburn appealed and Mr. Payne (New York) moved to lay the appeal on the table. Upon the latter motion the vote was taken, and the result was 97 yeas to 67 nays.

> The House on Friday finally passed the sundry civil appropriation bill, to which it had devoted over a week. No important amendment had been adopted. The Speaker's ruling upon the motion to recommit the bill, with instructions to incorporate in it the Nicaragua canal amendment, was sustained-155 to 96. A bill was passed authorizing the President to appoint five additional cadets-at-large to the naval academy. The evening session was devoted to private pension legislation. The naval personnel bill, for which the Navy Department has been contending for so many years, was passed

The Senate spent most of the day Saturday on the postoffice appropriation bill, but failed to complete it. An echo of the old star route developments was heard when several Senators criticised the method by which a combination of speculators secured the star route contracts. Several bills of minor importance were passed early in the day. The House spent twohours upon the naval appropriation bill without making any progress. The remainder of the session was devoted to-Ohio. The paragraph in the bill relating to the naval academy, against which Mr. Mudd (Rep., Md.) raised a point of order, was stricken out, the point of order being sustained. Mr. Mudd then moved additional appropriations of $720,000 for the completion of the buildings at the academy authorized in the last naval bill. During almost six hours Monday afternoon the postoffice appropriation bill was under discussion in the Senate, the timebeing consumed largely by Mr. Butler (Pop., N. C.) and Mr. Pettigrew (Sil. Rep., S. D.) in an amendment providing that the postal commission should present its final report to Congress by March 1, 1900. Failing after many trials to obtain unanimous consent for the insertion of the amendment in the bill, Mr. Butler permitted it to come to a vote. It wasdefeated 27 to 19. Mr. Hawley, chairman of the Military Affairs Committee, moved to take up the army reorganization bill, unanimous consent having been refused to take up the measure without displacing the unfinished business-the antiscalping bill. Mr. Hawley's motion prevailed, 44 to 26, this making the army bill the unfinished business. A separate bill appropriating $20,000,000 for payment to-Spain under the provisions of the treaty of Paris was passed by the House under suspension of the rules. The Senate bill to reimburse the Governors of States for expenses paid by the States in organizing volunteers for service in the war with Spain before their muster into the service of the United States also was passed under suspension of rules. It was a face calculated to impress one favorably, especially when the eyes were lit up and animated. Now, however, as he made his way along the platform under the gas lamps, his eyes had deep rims round them, and, with the sallow color of the face, told of ill-health and harassment.

The man, indeed was ill. He could not sleep. Could one have turned up his sleeve and examined his arm one would have found there the marks of recert wounds caused by the too frequent use of morphia injections, resorted to in order that he might obtain rest.

Some months back, in 1879, a relation, a brother-in-law of this man had died suddenly, mysteriously, and since that time sleep had almost deserted the large, dark, tender-looking eyes of the handsome traveler.

A very short distance from Wimbledon station was a large building situated in its own grounds. It was a school carried on by a gentleman named Bedbrook. To this house the man took his way, and to the servant who answered the door he announced himself as Dr. Lamson, who had called to see his brother-in-law, one of the pupils, a lad of 18. In a few minutes Dr. Lamson and Mr. Bedbrook were chatting together in the sitting room when the door opened and a lad appeared, bearing in his arms another boy, whose healthy-colored cheeks and laughing eyes seemed in strange contrast to the evident helplessness of his lower paralyzed limbs.

"Hallo, Percy," cried Lamson, as he entered; "bless me, how fat you are growing old boy!"

cleverest analysists, Dr. Stevenson and deadly hand.

Dr. Dupre, were soon busily employed. By numberless experiments, by days and nights of careful observation, the analysists came to the conclusion that poison had been used, and that the poison was aconintine. The test of poison was not omitted. Dr. Stevenson put some of the suspected matter on his tongue. At first there was a burning tingling, kind of numbness, and later on the tongue felt as if it had been seared with a red-hot iron. So great was the effect that the doctor's tongue suffered for over three hours.

"It was aconitine," said Dr. Steven son. "I have between 50 and 80 vegetable poisons in my possession, and have tasted them all. This is aconi tine."

It is a curious fact that in a box belonging to Lamson, the police, on searching, discovered a medical book giving an account of the effects of aconitine. The leaf of the work had been turned down. The sleuth-hounds of the law went to work upon the trail the analysis afforded, and soon had to hand results which promised to confirm the worst suspicions. He had purchased aconitine of two chemists-once at Ventnor, in the Isle of Wight, and again in London. H- had had to give his name before the deadly poison could be handed to him, and the assistant who supplied him remembered his face. The cause of Percy John's death was clear. Lamson had had poison of the kind in his possession. Had he, that December night when he called to see the poor lad, while talking with him and the schoolmaster in the sitting room, introduced the fatal white powder into the capsule he handed the boy, seen him swallow it, and then gone off on that long night journey to Paris so that, should any suspicion arise, he might by voluntarily return ing from abroad, disarm it? He was poor-terribly poor. Only a short time before he had had to raise money upon his surgical instruments. His practice at Bournemouth had been a failure, and it was known that ne was in pressing need. ### Queer Money in Abyssinia.

The few travelers who have taken the time and trouble to look into Menelek's queer kingdom of Abyssinia tell strange tales of it. Besides the Marie Theresa, 1,780 dollars, the people of Abyssinia, for small change, use a bar of hard crystalized salt, about ten inches long and two inches and a half broad, and thick, slightly tapering toward the end, five of which go to the dollar at the capital. People are very particular about the standard of fineness of the currency. If it does not ring like metal, or if it is at all chipped, nothing will induce them to take it. Then, It is a token of affection among the natives, when friends meet, to give each other a lick of their respective amolis, and in this way the maternal value of the bar is also decreased. For still smaller change cartridges are used, of which three go to one salt. It does not matter what sort they are. Some sharpers use their cartridges in the ordinary way, and then put in some dust and a dummy bullet to make up the difference, or else they take out the powder and put the bullet in again, so that possibly in the next action the unhappy seller will find that he has only miss-fires in his beit; but this is such a common fraud that no one takes any notice of it, and a bad cartridge seems to serve as readily as a good one.-Philadelphia Press.

The Elections Committee in the Senate, composed of six Republicans and three Democrats, reported on Friday in favor of retaining Frank W. Cregor as the Senator from Hancock, Rush and Madison counties. The seat was contested by Elmer E. Stoner, Republican. In the House the bill originating in that body providing that a divorced person shall not re-marry within two years passed. The House also passed the bill originating in that body abolishing the State Board of Sanitary Commissioners and creating the office of State veterinary surgeon. A bill providing for the introduction of the Torrens land system was advanced to engrossment in the House after having been so amended as to authorize the people of any county to vote on the proposition to take advantage of the system. The pharmacy bill was advanced to third reading in the Senate after having been so amended as to permit druggists who do not hold licenses to sell patent and proprietary medicines.

The Governor on Monday sent to the House messages vetoing the bill amending the Lake, Laporte and Porter Superior court act so as to provide meeting places for the court at Hammond and Michigan City, and the bill authorizing the purchase of water works in cities under 20,000 inhabitants. He refused to sign the court bill on the ground that it was a step toward the erection of additional courthouses in the counties of Lake and Laporte. The water-works bill was vetoed on the ground that such a law would be unconstitutional. The Republican majority in the House after a noon caucus advanced the bill for the establishment of township councils to third reading. Six Republicans bolted the caucus, but there were fifty-one votes for the bill, with two of its supporters absent. The Senate passed the bill creating a State board of pharmacy and requiring that all druggists be licensed.

The following are among the new bills introduced:

"Sorry I can't return the compliment," laughed the boy-Percy Mal colm John-looking at his relative's haggard face. His boy friend made him comfortable on a sofa in the room, and Lamson, Bedbrook and Percy remained together alone.

"I have called to see you, Percy." said Lamson, "because I'm going to Florence for a few months, and so shall not be here again very soon. Oh. by the way, Mr. Bedbrook, look here!" Lamson went to the black bag he had brought, opened it, and took out a small box. "Look at these," he went on, opening the box. "These are capsules I saw in America when I was there last. See, They're just little bags made of sugar and dissolving stuff. You put the medicine inside like this"-he walked to the table where there was some white powdered sugar in a basin, and filled the caosule with it—"then you slip the top cap on and swallow the whole thing, so." And at the word he put the capsule in his mouth and swallowed it.

"A capital idea," exclaimed Mr. Bedbrook. "You cannot taste whatever the capsule contains?"

"Not at all. Try one," said Lamson: and he filled and handed one to the schoolmaster.

Mr. Bedbrook took it.

"Here, Percy," exclaimed Lamson. filling another capsule with the sugar. "You're a great pill-taker. Now it's your turn."

The boy took it laughingly and swallowed it, Lamson's dark eyes watching him the while.

"And now I must go," he said. "I've got to catch my train. Good-bye, Percy-good-bye, Mr. Bedbrook. I'm sorry, Mr. Bedbrook," he added, as the front door and they were in the pas-Percy will last long."

Snake Rat Ca'chers.

The snakes are the professional ratcatchers in the Philippine Islands, and every well-regulated household must have its snakes. "Nearly all of the older bungalows in Manila," a correspondent writes. "possess what are called house snakes, huge reptiles generally fourteen or fifteen feet long. and as thick as a fire engine nose, that permanently preside up in the roof and live on rats. These big creatures are harmless and rarely, if ever, leave their abodes. Judging from the noise over my cloth ceiling, a pair of these pets find pasturage up above, and 1 can hear them whacking around about once a week in their chase after rats. catchers; but since they must needs eat all they catch, their efficiency seems to be limited to their length of stomach. * * * The only way to get rid of the rats seems to be to buy more snakes, and this is simple enough, for you often see the natives hawking them around in town, the boas curled up around bamboo poles, to which their heads are tied."-Boston Record.

BLIZZARD IN SOUTH.

DEEP SNOWS AND HIGH WINDS CAUSE HAVOC.

Eastern and Southern States Paralyzed by Cold Wave of Unprecedented Severity-Peril to Shipping-Tropical Fruits Badly Damaged.

The protracted cold wave that recently held the Northwest in its grip later extended to the South and East, changing its form east of Ohio into that of a blizzard of almost unprecedented ferocity, and carrying its below-zero weather far out into the Gulf of Mexico. The storm, as a whole, was phenomenal for its vast extent and its extreme severity. New York was practically paralyzed under the fierce blizzard that swept over it, with the wind at fifty miles an hour, the thermometer at S degrees above zero, and the snow coming down steadily for twentyfour hours. Three feet of snow in Washington city, forty inches in Maryland, and twelve inches in South Carolina continue the story of disaster and suffering southward. Kentucky seems to have suffered the worst that the thermometer could do. In sunny Georgia drifts of snow ten feet deep and a temperature of 15 below are reported, while the waters of the gulf are said to have been frozen a mile out from shore.

The suffering everywhere was pitiable, but in the South it was worst, because the cold was so unprecedented. There is something appalling in the thought of zero weather along the Gulf of Mexico. The suffering among the ill-clad and poorly housed negroes and indigent whites in that land where frost is a rarity must of necessity be extreme. Severe damage to -crops has been one of the results of the -cold snap. Florida has suffered enormous loss. The pineapple industry has been dealt a serious blow. The extent of the damage to the orange groves cannot be definitely stated at present, but reports agree that many trees are killed. Early vegetables are ruined. Throughout the South early fruit crops have been ruined. Cotton planters have suffered heavily.

RUSSIANS AND CHINESE AT WAR

Collision Said to Have Been Caused by a Question of Taxes.

A dispatch from Pekin states that a conflict occurred between the Russians and Chinese at Talienwan. About 100 Chinese are reported to have been killed. A question of taxes is said to have led to the collision. Another account of the collision at Talienwan says that 300 Chinese were killed by the Russians.

The reported conflict between Russians and Chinese at Talienwan is believed to be fraught with possibilities of fresh troubles between England and Russia. Of late Russian re-enforcements have been pouring into the garrisons at Talienwan and Port Arthur, ostensibly because the natives are growing restless. England, who is ensconced just across the Straits of Pechili, at Wei-Hai-Wei, has viewed with jealous eyes the Russian occupation in the Liao-Tung peninsula. It is not unreasonable to expect that England will make the killing of Chinese a ground for breaking up the pleasant Russian-Chinese relations.

Russia occupied Talienwan something over a year ago, shortly after the occupation of Port Arthur. These moves of Russia caused great excitement in England, and at one time seemed about to result in war between the two countries. In the end, however, the British Government contented itself with occupying Wei-Hai-Wei, when Japan gave up that port, which had been held as security for the payment by China of the war indemnity. There have at various times been reports of friction between the Russians and Chinese in that region, through which Russia is now building the Manchooria extension of the Siberian Railway.

NAVY YARD IS SWEPT.

Fire Loss of More than $1,000,000 at Brooklyn.

Fire destroyed the great machine shops in the Brooklyn navy yard Wednesday night, causing a loss to the Government of between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000. The shops were the largest of the kind in the country, 1,000 men having been employed in them during the rush work in the war with Spain. Their destruction will cripple the repair work of the department until they can be replaced. Sailors commented on the fact that the fire occurred on the anniversary of the blowing up of the Maine in Havana harbor. All the plans of the Maine were lost in the fire, so that nothing is left to represent her except the model in the possession of the naval constructor.

There was practically no opposition to the flames after they had started. The deep snow and a lack of water prevented the naval forces and the fire department from working effectively. It is supposed that defective insulation of an electric light wire started the flames, as they were first seen in a part of the building where there was no furnace.

The main building is four stories in height, and has two great towers. On the first and second floors were many valuable machines and tools. The third floor was used as a pattern shop, where duplicates of machinery and the more delicate parts of a warship were manufactured and finished. On the fourth floor the patterns themselves were stored. There were the patterns for the engines of the Chicago, the Raleigh, the Cincinnati, the Maine and many other vessels of war. The long "L" was used as a boiler house and for the setting up of engines. The frame building was used by the master mechanic and for the storage of many valuable sets of private tools owned by the experts. There will be an investigation of the fire by a court of inquiry.

How to Avoid Shrinking Underwear,

No greater personal discomfort can be borne than the wearing of underwear which is hardened and drawn up in washing. Yet if care be given the work the trouble may be prevented. Impure soap, and too hot water are responsible for much of the ruin wrought in washing woolen and silk goods. When ready to begin, fill a tub half full of warm water, in which dissolve a fourth of a bar of Ivory soap; wash the articles through it, rinse and squeeze, but do not wring. Hang on the line, while still damp press with a hot iron. By this washing the garments will remain soft and white.

"Sporting Life' opens an extended engagement at McVicker's Theater in Chicago Sunday night, Feb. 19. There is the greatest interest in this engagement in the Windy City for the production is acknowledged the most elaborate production of a play ever made in this country, and it has moreover scored the biggest hit of the theatrical season in New York, where it has just completed a run of twenty weeks at the Academy of Music. "Sporting Life" is a melodrama of English life and is said to be the best play of its kind ever brought from across the pond. It tells the story of a fine, manly, honorable young Englishman, the Earl of Woodstock, who loves sport for sport's sake and has risked his whole fortune through his love for his magnificent stable of thoroughbreds. The story goes through five acts, during which the evil genii of the play try their level best to wreck his fortunes, but he finally triumphs after a series of thrilling adventures. Sixteen different scenes are shown. Two hundred people take part in the performance. Robert Hilliard, who plays the heroic young Britisher, is one of the handsomest and cleverest American actors. He has been a successful star and was induced to assume this role by the offer of the largest salary ever paid to an actor in the world. Elita Proctor Otis is also a successful star. She is considered the best player of the stage adventuress we have; Joe Wheelock is another ex-star; Frank Burbeck has starred, and so has Jeannette Lowrie. Frazer Coulter, Robert Paton Gibbs, R. A. Roberts, who staged "Shenandoah" and also stages "Sporting Life": Adeline Adler, Charles F. Gotthold, Edwin Holland and Margaret May are some of the prominent players in the organization.

The rebels immediately moved their guns and prepared to defend their position. Thereupon the Petrel fired two warning guns, the rebels | archy. immediately opening fire on the gunboat. The Petrel and Baltimore then bombarded the town, which the rebels, having set on fire, immediately evacuated. American troops were promptly landed and extinguished the fires in all cases of foreign property, but not before considerable damage had been done. It is believed that the enemy's loss during the bombardment was heavy.

JARO IN AMERICAN HANDS.

Another Battle Fought More Serious than That of Iloilo.

The village of Jaro, a mile north of Iloilo, was captured on Sunday afternoon by a battalion of the Eighteenth infantry. It was learned that the rebels were assembling there, and our troops were dispatched to make a reconnoissance. It was eficial results and accomplish what capnot expected that any serious resistance would be made by the insurgents, but they made a better defense than was anticipated, with the result that the American losses were heavier than in the capture of Iloilo. Lieut. Frank Bolles of the Eighteenth regiment and four men were The enemy resisted for about an hour and then retired into the hills, taking their dead and wounded with them. Their forces numbered about one thousand men. Reconnoissance developed that the town of Molo had been deserted by the enemy.

France is in an uproar over the election of President Loubet and the demonstrations of the anti-Dreyfus party in Paris are carried on with great vigor. Fighting is continually going on between the friends and enemies of the new president, and the police force has been more than doubled, and is making arrests wholesale.

Although Loubet is not known to ever have expressed an opinion in the matter, it is generally understood that he is a friend of Dreyfus, and the purpose of the demonstrations against him is to force him to resign, as was done in the case of Cassimir Perier. The anti-revisionists threw rocks through the windows of the Rothschilds' office, and the friends of Dreyfus retaliated by wrecking the office of the Petit Journal. ### TO HANG FOR BURGLARY.

A Bill to That Effect Introduced Into the Illinois Legislature.

A bill has been presented in the Illinois Legislature by Representative George H. Harris of Chicago fixing the penalty for burglary of a dwelling at death. It was announced that another bill would fix the same penalty for highway robbery.

"In the course of my duties," said Chicago's Chief of Police Kipley, speaking of the bill, "I have talked with many of the most dangerous burglars in the country. One after another has told me that if, while he were looting a house, the owner should awaken, he would shoot him. ] know there would be much criticism of this law, but I believe it would have benital punishment strives at-the prevention of much murder." Police Inspector John D. Shea says the law as it now stands is sufficiently severe if the courts would impose the limits oftener. Attorney William R. Belham, who wounded. Lieut. Bolles' injury is slight. drafted the amendments to the criminal code, said: "I believe in hanging the fellow who breaks into a dwelling, fully armed and ready to do murder if any one should try to catch him or block his escape. I believe in just one punishment, and that strong enough to be effective. So far as the intent is concerned, these men are murderers, and should be treated as such."

BLOW FOR THE CANAL,

Chances of Nicaraguan Measure at This Session Are Slim,

The national House Wednesday apparently settled the fate of the Nicaragua canal bill in this Congress by refusing to override the decision of the chair in committee of the whole, when the chair held that the canal bill offered as an amendment by Mr. Hepburn was out of order. The friends of the Nicaragua bill were very confident that they would triumph, but after four hours of debate the chair was sustained, 127 to 109. The debate throughout the day was exceedingly spirited, and in the end a majority of the members refused to override the House rules. No record is made of the vote in committee of the whole. Party lines were not adhered to, the division in favor and in opposition to sustaining the chair's decision being about equal on both sides of the political aisles.

Chairman Hepburn's effort to have the House adopt the bill as an amendment to the sundry civil appropriation bill failed a correspondent asserts, not because the majority of the House did not favor the Nicaraguan canal, but because a majority of the members preferred to have the bill defeated rather than to adopt the expedient of overriding one of the oldest and most valuable rules of the House.

Advocates of violating the rule undertook to justify their proposed action on the ground that the Speaker would not allow the Nicaraguan canal bill to come up in any way in which it could be disposed of under the rules in an orderly man-This argument did not influence ner. enough men to override the very clear statement of the rule made by Representative Hopkins of Illinois, who was in the chair as chairman of the committee of the whole House.

It is also learned that the largest mills in New York and Buffalo, in addition to several large Milwaukee plants, have been captured. ### PEACHES ARE RUINED.

Oranges and Pineapples Also Said to Be Badly Damaged.

Reports from the fruit section of Michigan, Georgia and Florida show that the recent cold snap has played havoc with fruit generally, and especially with peaches. Chicago commission merchants say the Michigan fruit crop is killed, and prices next year are likely to be higher than for a decade past. How much the Florida orange crop has been damaged remains to be seen, but it is believed the frost has ruined many of the trees. Florida's pineapple crop will only be a fractional one. Young orange trees have been destroyed, as also the new growth on the old trees, but the opinion is that the old groves have not been seriously injured by the extremely cold weather.

Locomotor Ataxia * Paralysis Can be Cured.

These extreme nervous disorders were treated with wonderful success by the discoverer of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, previous to his discovery being offer-ed to the public generally. This remedy is the only known specific in many diseases that, until recent years, were pronounced incurable. Mere is the proof:

James Crocket, a sturdy old Scotchman living in Detroit, Mich, at 88 Montcalm St., was cured of Locomotor Ataxia by these pills. For many years he has been a chief enginer of one of those big passenger palace steamers plying upon the great takes. This is a position of great responsibility and the anxiety causes a great nervous strain. Mr. Crocket says: "For fifteen years I watched the big engines and boilers without a single accident, and only noticed that I was getting nervous. Suddenly without warning I was taken sick, and was prostrated. I had the best of physicians but grew gradually worse. At a council of doctors, they said I had nervous prostration, and had destroyed my whole nervous system and would never recover. For three years I was unable to move from my bed. The doctor said I had locomotor ataxia, and would never be able to walk again.

"The pains and suffering I experienced during those years are almost indescribable. The friends that came to see me bid me good-bye when they left me and I was given up. The doctors said nothing more could be done. My wife kept reading to me, articles about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. We finally decided to try them. The first box gave me relief. I continued to use them for about two years before I could get strength enough to walk. I am nearly seventy-five years old and there is not a man in this city that can kick higher or walk further than I can and to-day I owe my present good health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People for they saved my life."-Detroit Evening News.

M'KINLEY TALKS OF LANDS TAKEN FROM SPAIN.

Americans Have No Imperial Designs -Taking Over of Sovereignty a Duty Made Necessary by War-Nation's Authority Will Be Asserted.

President McKinley, for the first time since Dewey's victory at Manila, has made public declaration of what has been and is the policy of the administration regarding the Philippines. This public declaration was made by him in Boston Thursday night at the banquet of the Home Market Club, at which he was the guest of honor. He proclaimed it to be his duty, as the chief executive of the nation, to possess and hold the Philippines until Congress shall direct otherwise. He also stated that at no time did one word or line go from him either to Manila or the American peace commissioners which did not place as the first consideration the welfare and the rights of the Filipinos. To this he added that "no imperial designs lurk in the American mind."

In his address President McKinley reviewed at length the Philippine situation, saying that the country must bravely face the new issue and decide it for the best interests of the islanders as well as the people at home. That this country has no imperial designs was positively declared by the nation's chief executive. He said an imperial policy was opposed to the principles of the American Government and could not be entertained. Cession of the Philippines, Mr. McKinley said, became a necessity, and, hard though the duty is, it will have to be borne. As for the future of the islands, it rests with Congress, the representative of the peopeople, and the people will do what is
