McKinley was inau-

first official act was to call the Fiftyfifth Congress in extra session to his assistance. It met Within two weeks after he entered the White House. Congress, after a long struggle of four months, passed the Dingley tariff law. The extra session also authorized, at the suggestion of the President, the appointment of a monetary commission to confer with European nations as to the possibility of establishing bimetallism under an International agreement. The extra session saw the submission of a treaty annexing Hawaii to the United States, although the treaty was not acted on owing to lack of time for its consideration. The work of the extra session was, therefore, practically confined to the passage of the new tariff law and the appointment of the monetary commission.

Rapid March of Events.

When the Congress met in regular ses sion in December, 1897, the whole world was on the qui vive over the possibility of war between the United States and Spain. The message of the President was diplomatically pacific, but Spain was making promises and not keeping them. After New Year's events moved with startling rapidity, and Congress, through them all, held the whip hand. The Spanish minister, Dupuy de Lome, with characteristic Spanish craft, insulted the President in a personal letter. The battleship Maine was blown up in Havana harbor, and the country was aflame. Affairs with Spain grew worse until the President called for aid from Congress. The response was immediate and thrilling. Congress voted, almost in silence, to give the President $50,000,000 to be expended in his own discretion "for the national defense."

Having given this expression of patriotic confidence. Congress went to work to clean up the ordinary routine business and appropriation bills in the expectation of war. The strain became more tense every day. The President and his cabinet sought to avert war if possible. Congress deemed it inevitable and threatened to take immediate action The President was forced to vield to the congressional pressure. Then the Fifty-fifth Congress passed historic resolutions declaring that Cuba was and of right ought to be free and independent, and calling on Spain to withdraw from the island. Minister Woodford was given no opportunity to present these resolutions to Spain, but received his passports. Thereupon, on April 25, Congress declared war against Spain, dating the act back to the dismissal of Woodford on April 21. He left Madrid for Paris, and Minister Polo of Spain left all of the commodores and a few of the

Their report is still to be acted on.

Almost the first work in Congress after war came was to provide money to meet the heavy appropriations. The war revenue act was passed, which put more taxes on beer, legacies, sugar and oil corporations, and provided for stamp taxes, all of which are still on the statute books. Congress adjourned with the glory of Manila Bay still ringing in its ears, and with an army of 275,000 men in the field, and a well-equipped navy. Congress had scarcely adjourned when the destruction of Cervera's fleet in Santiago bay practically ended the war. The truce was signed in August, and when Congress met in December peace commissioners were concluding a treaty in Paris. Just before the holidays they agreed on treaty. It was ratified by the Senate Feb. 6, after a sensational debate, and with a bloody fight with Aguinaldo actually be-

Vast Work Accomplished,

The Fifty-fifth Congress did not provide for the thorough reorganization of the army, but to suppress Aguinaldo and occupy Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines it has provided a temporary army of 97,000 men. Thus in two years the Fiftyfifth Congress has had three sessions, aggregating about fourteen months. In that brief period it has passed a tariff bill, declared war against Spain, ratified the treaty of peace, raised the army from 25,000 to 275,000, reduced it again to 97,-000, annexed Hawaii peaceably, and Porto Rico and the Philippines forcibly, temporarily freed Cuba, and left the country with war taxes and a rebellion about General legislation has suffered from the war. The census bill, the naval personnel bill, a bankruptcy measure, a code Distinguished Author Is Recovering of laws for Alaska, several score of new public buildings, and other measures have slipped through, but the Nicaragua canal has scarcely advanced a step, the annexation of Hawaii is yet incomplete legally, and several score of other measures remain as legacies to the Fifty-sixth Congress. Yet the Fifty-fifth Congress has made history, and lots of it.

SCHLEY OUTRANKS SAMPSON.

Two Numbers Separate the Rival Claimants in the List.

Winfield Scott Schley now outranks W T. Sampson in the list of the rear admirals of the navy by two numbers. This was accomplished when the Senate in executive session took up the naval nominations and confirmed them. Under the promotions ordered by the naval personnel bill captains are advanced to the grade of rear admiral. The bill provides that there shall be eighteen officers of that grade, ranking as follows: McNair, Howell, son, Philip, Robeson, Schley, Casey, Sampson, Cromwell, Higginson, Picking, tenth and Sampson twelfth on the list.

Curiously enough, Watson, who has had more cause for complaint against the ad-The Hawaiian annexation treaty could | ministration than any other naval officer, will outrank both Schley and Sampson. By this arrangement both Schley and Sampson are deprived of any reward for gallantry and heroism displayed during the war, but this privation, in the minds of many Senators, seems to be necessary to subserve the ends of justice.

POET KIPLING BETTER.

from His Attack of Pneumonia.

Rudyard Kipling, who has been lying at the point of death with pneumonia, was reported Saturday as being out of danger and on the rapid road to recovery. Kipling, accompanied by his wife and three children, came to New York from England about three weeks before his illness began. He accepted many invitations to social functions, and it was upon returning to his hotel from one of these that he complained of cold and fever. This developed into inflammation of the lungs and little hope was entertained of his re-

Indomitable will that has helped so much to make Kipling, although so young a man, the most famous author of his time, aided him in his gallant struggle, and this quality, his physicians and friends feel, carried him past the crisis and made him victor in the stubborn contest.

Rudyard Kipling, considered the most popular English writer living, was born in Bombay, India, Dec. 20, 1865. He is the son of John Lockwood Kipling, an Anglo-Indian of considerable reputation both as an artist and an author.

Kipling was sent to England to be educated and was placed in the United Service College at Northam, Devon. In his nineteenth year he returned to India and took up newspaper work in an office at Labere. His first book was entitled "Departmental Ditties," published in 1886. The young author went to England in 1889 to find himself famous and one of the most popular writers before the English public. Early in 1892 Mr. Kipling married an American woman and for some time made his home in Brattleboro, Vt. In 1896 he returned to England and has since lived there.

GEORGE DEWEY AS AN ADMIRAL.

Nomination Confirmed by the Scuate-General Otis Promoted.

President McKinley Friday nominated George Dewey to be admiral, and the nomination was promptly confirmed by the Senate. Admiral Dewey is now the highest ranking officer of the Government, either in the army or the navy. His rank is equal to that of general of the army and his pay, with allowances, will amount to $14,000 a year. Saturday morning in Manila bay, he hoisted his flag as admiral over the Olympia, which is the vessel used as his flagship.

A part of Admiral Dewey's duties will be to prescribe when the sun rises and when it sets. SONG OF LABOR.

Work, work, work, In meadow and mill and mart; Work, work, work, Till the dews of labor start. Where the sailors launch their ships, And plow the waves apart, Work with a song on the lips, And work with a prayer in the heart.

Let the dreamer lie at ease, And gaze at the bright blue sky. Lulled by the murmuring bees, While the summer winds go by. Though its skies be cold and gray, Be this thy heart's content, That thine is the sweeter day In useful labor spent.

Better to delve all day With the blessing of peace at night, Than to fritter the time away, With fingers idle and white. For labor is God's good gift, Though it be the curse of the fall; And the hands that struggle and lift Are the noblest hands of all,

-Ola Moore, in Youth's Companion.

Gugusse, the favorite of the Winter Cirque, which stood in the shadow of the Kremlin, in Moscow, Russia, was not a handsome fellow. He had neither the wit of the clown, the grace of the chariot driver nor the versatility of the ringmaster, yet he was more popular with the Muscovites than all the three together. He owed his popularity a good deal to nature, who had sent him into the world, equipped with an enormous head large, fanlike ears, and a hunchback balanced upon slender legs, which bowed beneath their weight. He was the king of the dwarfs and the idol of the mob-for, to a mob, grace, wit and strength are nothing compared with hideous deformity.

Yet he was a man. He had passions like other men. He had a heart within his bony body as capable of human affection as that possessed by any of the public who applauded his tricks. And this heart he had thrown at the feet of Mlle, Nina, daughter o Adolphe, the equilibrist, the handsomest horsewoman in the circus.

When she appeared at the circus for the first time he was dazzled by her beauty. She danced into the ring in a cloud of gauze, among which spangles glittered like diamonds. A white rose, suspended from pearly teeth, contrasted with the rich red of her cheeks and coils of jet black hair, which streamed luxuriantly down to her waist. She was proudly, insolently beautiful, and the dwarfwhom the whim of a circus manager had taken from the cobbler's lapstone -was completely dazzled by the sight of such radiant lovelinesss.

As time went on the star dropped from the sky. The distance between them grew less and less as the illusion faded from his eyes. Every morning he used to see the dazzling beauty of the previous night, in a dirty morning wrapper, patching her scanty wardrobe as she watched the pot boil in the open air. He began to talk with her, and then he began to dream, and in his dreams he saw Nina walking by his side radiant with happiness.

Nina laughed at his gibes, screamed at his jokes and shouted "Encore, Gugussse!" when the love-stricken dwarf made some grotesque movement, which, he hoped, would be interpreted as an exhibition of affection. The fair horsewoman occasionally caressed him as she would have caressed a dog. He was less than a dog in the eyes of the circus people. Jealous of his popularity, they cuffed him whenever they met him, and the dwarf found it useless to protest.

One evening he told Nina that he loved her. The girl stared at him a moment as if she had not heard aright and then burst into a fit of laughter. Gugusse frowned, and drew himself up to the full height of his little figure, hoping perchance to impress her. her from the moment he first saw her, her regard.

Every word the dwarf uttered was like a jest to the merry-hearted girl. She sat in her chair and shook with wholly different, being fairly faithful white, plump hands in his horny palm. number of Gallicized Chinese, but the Nina jumped up with a gesture of disgust, drew her hand away, and struck on the whole, so well administered as the dwarf a blow in the face.

A few hours later the circus rang with cheers as Gugusse entered. But the dwarf had no heart for his work that night, and he was hissed from the ring.

The next day the circus bills bore the imposing announcement:

"Unparalleled Novelty. Stupendous Attractions. The Tragedy of Usande: or, the Martyred Maiden. Mlle. Nina and Gugusse."

At 7 o'clock the house was crowded. The usual exercises took place—tight rope, trapeze, horizontal bar-but Germany, Italy and the Spanish West they passed almost unnoticed. The people were waiting for the promised of honey produced in the United Kingtragedy. They wanted to see the dom are obtainable, but it is quite eviwhite-robed maiden devoured by the dent that bee-keeping is capable of bebear.

At last Gugussse and Nina entered than it is .- Westminister Gazette.

the ring, and the pent-up excitement of the crowd found vent in cheers. Nina was witchingly beautiful in her white toga, over which fell tresses of rich, dark hair. She looked like the white-souled martyrs of old, for whom the stake had no terrors. She advanced to the center of the ring, and Gugussse, looking as hideous as the headsman of the restoration, bound her securely to the post. Nina clasped her hands together, and lifted her large eyes skyward in an attitude of prayer.

Gugusse disappeared and reentered the ring with a tame bear, which had been his playfellow since he left his Polish home. He held the animal by the ear, and as the brute struggled and growled menacingly, the people applauded to the echo.

They watched Gugusse approach the maiden, and heard some words uttered, which they took to be an appeal for her recantation. In reality Gugusse was murmuring a passionate declaration.

"Nina, I love you. Have pity on me. Can you not hear me? Have pity on me or I will let Biska fly at you. I have made him drink brandy, I have beaten him, and this morning I stole his meat from him. He is hungry; he is mad; he will tear you to pieces. Will you be mine?"

Nina shook her head with a gesture of impatience.

"Nina! Nina! I am a man-I have a right to love you. I love you with my whole soul. I cannot live without your love. Be mine! Do not make me desperate. Ah! you shake your head: You will not! You despise me. I know it. You shall pay dearly for it

As he finished speaking the dwarf bent down and unmuzzled the furious brute which pawed the ground viciously at his feet. Nina turned pale. There was desperation in the dwarf's face—there was murder in his eyes. Her cheeks blanched with terror, and from her lips came the cry:

"Help! help! help!"

With a rapid movement Gugusse unmuzzled the bear, and the famished animal dashed past him, sprang upon the helpless girl and rent her with his claws.

The scene was so realistic, so strikingly rendered, that the audience applauded until the circus was filled with a deafening roar. They little knew that a tragedy was being enacted, and thought it was part of the "business" when a beautiful head dropped down and blood spurted from the white, unclothed arm.

What passed just then in the mind of the wretched creature who stood watching the horrible sight? Was he conscious of his infamy? Was he seized with pity at the sight of so much youth and beauty being ruthlessly torn to pieces? Did he wish to undo what he had done? No one can tell, but just as the bear was planting his cruel claws upon the white shoulders of the half-conscious girl the dwarf sprang forward and seized the brute in his muscular arms, With a mighty effort he pulled the bear off his victim and flung him to the ground.

The passion which famine and excitement had aroused in the bear caused him to turn with furious force upon his master. As they rolled over together in the sawdust the bear caught the dwarf in a terrible embrace. There was a cracking of bones, and before the people belonging to the circus had time to run to his aid the infuriated beast had planted his fangs into his neck.

And the crowd, little suspecting that a grim tragedy had taken place before their eyes, jumped on their seats and howled out, amid a storm of applause:

"Encore. Gugusse! Encore, Gugusse!"

INDIANA INCIDENTS TERSELY TOLD.

Asa Lyons' Debts Too Heavy-Attempt to Kill a Night Watchmam-Cfficers for the Foresters-House Wrecked by Explosion of Natural Gas.

Asa Lyons, who has been conducting a butcher shop in Anderson for nearly a year, has employed an attorney to file proceedings in bankruptcy. He says that he is indebted in the sum of $218,000, his principal creditors being in Chicago, Omaha, Cincinnati, Austin, Fort Worth, Kansas City, Indianapolis, Lafayette, Winchester, Muncie and Anderson. Lyons says he lost heavily on Texas cattle ranges, mainly because President Cleveland ordered the land cleared on which Lyons was herding 18,000 head of cattle.

Cowardly Crime at Anderson.

A cowardly attempt to assassinate John Hefferman, night watchman of the Amer ican Straw Board Company's plant in Anderson, was made the other morning. Hef ferman was making the rounds of the factory, and in passing a window received the contents of a shotgun in the back of the head. The night engineer summoned assistance, and the man, with an ugly wound, was removed to the hospital.

Glawser and his wife had lived on Mrs. Kinchloe's farm since their marriage a year ago. They often quarreled over religion, it is said, Glawser being a Catholic and his wife a Protestant. There has later developed a strong belief among the farmers living around Poseyville that Stephen Glawser did not kill his wife and mother-in-law and commit suicide, as reported, but that the three were murdered and their house set on fire. A young man who formerly, worked for Glawser on his farm had a falling out with him and is

STATE LAW MAKERS.

The Sepate on Tuesday passed the bill under which it is proposed to settle the street railway controversy in Indianapolis. By this bill all franchises to operate street railways in the city are wiped out and the city is left to make a contract for a thirty-four year franchise with the reorganized Citizens' company. It is provided in the law that if the city fail to contract with this company the franchise shall be sold at auction in January, 1900, to the highest bidder for a period of not more than thirty years.

The bill for the condemnation of land for a waterway between Lake Michigan and Wolf lake, in order that a harbor for the city of Hammond might be formed in the latter, was killed in the Senate Wednesday afternoon by a vote of 27 to 19. The principal objection to the bill was that it placed the cost of making the waterway upon the adjoining land owners and that the city of Hammond alone would reap the benefit. Two years ago the bill passed both houses and was vetoed by the Governor.

The Senate bill for the reorganization of the State Board of Education by the appointment of three additional members of the board by the Governor, one of whom shall be a county superintendent of schools, passed the house on Friday. It ends a five years' fight between the State and non-State colleges. The Winfield anti-trust bill, which passed the Senate two weeks ago, was killed by the House. This action makes it impossible to enact any anti-trust law this session. The Governor signed the bill to reorganize the present system of county government by providing for the establishment of county councils, also the bill to authorize machine voting and the bill to enable the city of Indianapolis to grant a new street railway franchise.

Both houses spent Saturday mostly in passing humorous resolutions. Very little business remained for this session. The Noel anti-lynching bill passed the Senate. It provides that lynchers may be prosecuted on information, and declares that when a prisoner is taken from a sheriff and lynched it shall be prima-facie evidence that the sheriff was negligent, and proceedings to remove him from office may be brought by the Attorney General The Glossbrenner primary election bill was killed in the Senate.

The sixty-first session of the Legislature came to an end at 9 o'clock Monday night The bill for general and specific appropriations for State purposes was signed by During the day the Governor's veto of the bill to pay the claim of the Vincennes University, amounting to $120,000, was sustained by the Senate, the body in which the bill originated. A long telegram was received from the Legislature of Texas expressing its appreciation of the action of the Indiana body in directing the return of a flag captured from the "Texas rangers" during the civil war.

Regulating the allowance and payment

The last possibility of an extra session of Congress disappeared Wednesday when the House passed the Senate army reorganization bill. The bill passed 203 to 32. The decks were also cleared of many other important matters. The general deficiency appropriation bill, carrying $21,089,000, was passed under suspension of the rules, without a word of criticism. The Senate amendments to the river and harbor bill were non-concurred in and it was sent to conference. The conference reports on the omnibus claims bill, the naval personnel and many other less important measures were agreed to. The Senate bill making Dewey a full admiral was passed. The naval appropriation bill, which ordinarily consumes the time of the Senate for several days, was passed by that body after less than five hours of debate. One of the first acts of the Senate when that body convened was the consideration of the bill carrying $20,000,-000 with which to pay Spain for relinquishment of the Philippines in accordance with the treaty of Paris. Mr. Allison (Iowa) reported the measure from the Committee on Appropriations and asked for its immediate consideration. The bill was laid before the Senate and in half a minute was passed without a word of debate. The Senate concluded the day's session by pronouncing eulogies upon the late Representative Dingley.

In the House on Thursday two public building bills attached by the Senate to bills for public buildings in other cities were agreed to, one appropriating $250,-000 for a building at Los Angeles, Cal., and the other $75,000 for a building at New Brighton, Pa. A number of conference reports on minor bills were adopted. Mr. Payne (Rep., N. Y.), the floor leader of the majority, moved the passage, under suspension of the rules, of the bill appropriating $500,000 for the Pan-American exposition to be held at Buffalo, N. Y., in 1901. The bill was passed, 141 to 16. Mr. Southard followed this motion with a motion to suspend the rules and pass a bill to appropriate $500,000 for the Ohio centennial exposition to be held at Toledo. The bill was passed, 120 to 19. Mr. Mercer (Rep., Neb.) moved to suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill appropriating $1,000,000 for a new building for the department of justice in Washington. At Mr. Cannon's request an amendment was adopted limiting the cost of the building to $1,000,000, and as amended the um was passed. During almost the entire session the Senate was engaged in routine business. Three score or more of minor bills were passed, the calendar being cleared entirely of private pension bills and of measures correcting military and naval records. Two measures of national importance were passed—the fortifications appropriation bill and the bill providing a code of criminal laws for the district of Alaska.

Friday was the last day of the congressional session. Sessions in both houses were prolonged through Friday night. During the day the army bill brought Senator Foraker to the front with his amendment to prohibit the granting of franchises in Cuba and led to debate participated in by half the Senators on the floor. The overwhelming vote by which the amendment was passed after the provision for the withdrawal of the troops had been stricken out indicated a decided opinion that will have weight in the labors of the colonial board. The bill was passed as amended. The river and harbor bill from conference led to filibustering, headed by Senator Carter, to secure an appropriation for irrigating the arid west and threatened the passage of the bill. There was considerable debate on the sundry civil bill, which was finally passed. A bill providing for a Government exhibit at and to encourage the Ohio centennial and northwest territory exposition to be held at Toledo, Ohio, and appropriating $500,-000, was passed. The following bills were passed: To incorporate the National White Cross of America, amending the internal revenue laws relating to distilled spirits, authorizing the construction of a bridge over the Tennessee river at Sheffield, Ala.; authorizing the Washington and Gettysburg Railroad Company of Maryland to extend its line of road into the District of Columbia. A bill providing a site for the Washington public library building. In the House the army bill was passed with all the Senate amendments.

REBELSTIRE OF WAR.

EIGHT THOUSAND FILIPINOS ARE WILLING TO QUIT.

Native Deputation Visits American Lines - Even Aguinatdo Eager for Cessation of Hostilities - Unconditional Surrender the Only Way Out,

Two commissioners sent to Malolos some time ago by prominent natives at Manila, who attempted after the first outbreak to arrange a conference between Gen. Otis and Aguinaldo, returned under a flag of truce. They report that chiefs commanding 8,000 rebels are anxious to surrender. They also say that Aguinaldo is inclined to accept pacific overtures.

Gen. Otis did not receive the commissioners. He holds that it is not his duty to make pacific overtures, but to receive them. He will in no way recognize Aguinaldo as the head of a lawful government. mor as a belligerent, nor as anything but a leader of armed rioters. When the former conference was held by Gen. Otis with the native leaders, the latter had nothing definite to propose. They wanted Gen. Otis to make proposals to Aguinaldo. Of course, Gen. Otis refused. He refused to receive the late envoys for the same reason. The attempt to burn Manila and massacre its inhabitants has made the 'American commander less inclined than ever to treat with Aguinaldo.

The forces of the insurgents have been comparatively inactive for several days. The troops have become so used to this idle night firing of the rebels that they give it no attention. The rebel sharpshooters continue their efforts to annoy the 'American troops in the daytime. They are allowed to waste their ammunition with little attention, until they venture to appear in the open. Then a single volley or a shell generally suffices to drive them to cover. In Manila absolute quiet prevails. The order to clear the streets at 7 o'clock has had an excellent effect upon the natives, and is enforced rigidly. The streets are deserted after 7 o'clock by all save the patrols and European residents with passes on business.

Total Casualties to Date. The American casualties to date, by regiments, are as follows:

	Killed.	Wounded.
First California	6	28
Washington regiment	7.4	59
Idaho regiment	6	29
Fourth Cavalry	0	2
Wountagnth Inform	0
Fourteenth Infantry	14	35
North Dakota	0	1
Wyoming regiment	1	2
Sixth Artillery	0	2
Third Artillery	6	35
Twentieth Kansas	6	36
First Montana	5	41
Tenth Pennsylvania	2	7
First Colorado	3	7
First Nebraska	8	24
First South Dakota	5	9
Utah Artillery	3	6
Twenty-third Infantry	4	1
Thirteenth Minnesota	0	12
Garage Co.	0	13
Second Oregon	1	1
Eighteenth Infantry	1	1
Medical department		1

The total losses of the American troops since the fires have been as follows: Gen. MacArthur's division, three killed and thirty-seven wounded; Gen. Anderson's brigade, one killed and seven wounded; provost guards, two killed and fifteen wounded.

Advices from the rebel lines say the most fantastic reports of the American losses during and since the fires are circulated by the rebel leaders. The Filipinos are told that the Americans had 200 men killed and hundreds wounded during and since the fires. The foregoing official return shows that only six were killed and fifty-nine wounded.

THE BECKER MURDER.

Chicago Police Are Searching Sewers and Frairies.

August A. Becker, the Chicago man held on suspicion of having murdered his wife, is facing two developments that weigh in the balance against him. One is the positive declaration that the hair found in the Becker barn was human hair. resembling that of Mrs. Becker, and that the blood found there was human blood. The other development comes in a sensational interview with Henry Sander, who says he knew Becker in Germany, fifteen years ago, and that a few days before Becker left for America the body of a wealthy stock dealer was found in a barn in the rear of Becker's house. The stock dealer had been murdered and evidently robbed. Police have been searching sewers and prairies for the body of Mrs. Becker.

SHELLED BY MONITOR.

Malabon Native Church Destroyed by the Monadnock, The rebels at Malabon fired upon the cruiser Callao from the jungle Monday while Admiral Dewey was visiting the Monadnock. Three shells were dropped by the monitor into the Malabon Church, demolishing the structure and killing a number of rebels who were inside.

A factory at Malolos is reported to be running day and night to supply ammunition for the insurgents. The ignorance of the natives is shown by the fact that they have collected empty Springfield shells and are refilling them. Over two thousand of these cartridges have been discovered in houses in Pandacan by an officer of the Washington volunteers.

NATIVES ARE IGNORANT.

Population of the Philippines Placed at Only 4,000,000.

Prof. Knapp, special commissioner of the Department of Agriculture to the Philippines, has returned with a poor opinion of the Filipinos. He says Aguinaldo is a much overestimated leader, and would sell out his cause for a satisfactory price. The natives, he says, are ignorant, but are adepts in treachery and deception. Prof. Knapp contradicts the estimate of 10,000,000 population in the islands, basing his opinion on statements of the dominican fathers, who place the population at 4,000,000 ing to require the ratification of the condition with complete accuracy. Cortes, but finally taking the other course, perhaps with a view to avoiding the very holiness was severe caused a flutter among trouble which has overcome Sagasta.

Leaving aside the desire of the American people to be regular and correct in all attitudes, it is a question whether the Government would not actually profit by the loss of the treaty, provided this loss could be charged to the action of the Spanish Government, as would be the case if the Cortes refused to ratify it.

The United States, it can be stated on the highest authority, would refuse to surrender the Philippines and, on the other hand, would be relieved from the treaty obligation to pay the Spanish Government $20,000,000 on account of the cession of the islands. Cuba would retain her present status and all that would be lacking would be a recognition by the Spanish Government of the legality of that status.

BITTER STRIFE IN SAMOA.

Acts of the Provisional Government Stir Up Discord.

Advices received from Apia say that affairs there are still unsatisfactory. The provisional government, it appears, is interfering with native and British subjects and also with the servants of British subjects, and is taxing the Malietoa people $2 and the Mataafa people $1 each.

Dr. Raffel, the German president of the municipal council at Apia, has, at the instigation of the British consul, apologized for boycotting the British cruiser Porpoise and for insulting the chief justice and Malietoa's lawyer while they were guests on board the vessel. A landing party from the Porpoise, ready with machine guns, was, therefore, not sent ashore, though a plan to make an attack on Mulinuu had been all arranged.

There is much indignation at the act of the provisional government in keeping in exile prisoners whose only offense is loyalty. The German consul continues to protect the Germans from the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court, but Mr. Grovesmuhl paid $55 for contempt of court when the court advertised the sale of his property. Grovesmuhl remains at his consulate, fearing arrest and having to serve a sentence of 100 days' imprisonment. It is stated that he is also afraid of being arrested on the charge of drunkenness.

Mr. Moore, an American citizen, who is said to favor the Germans, wrote threatening letters to Chief Justice Chambers. He was found guilty of contempt of court, but was discharged after making ample Total$908,350,971 Against the above total there are demand liabilities outstanding amounting to $639,247,458, leaving a net cash balance of $269,103,513.

FIGHT OVER ARMY ENDED.

House Adopts the Recorganization Fill by a Big Majority.

The Senate bill for the reorganization of the army was passed by the House by a vote of 203 to 32. No attempt was made to amend the bill, and it was discussed but a few minutes.

The provisions of the bill are as follows: In time of peace the enlisted strength of the regular army is limited to less than 29,000 men. Until July 1, 1901, the President can increase the regular army to 65,-000 men. One hundred additional cadets are to be appointed. The President is authorized to enlist 35,000 volunteers for two years and four months. There are to be twenty-seven regiments of infantry and three of cavalry among the volunteers, One brigadier general may be named for each 4,000 volunteers. One major general for each 12,000 volunteers. Post canteens are abolished.

SURE PROOF OF TREASON.

Paris Police feize Letters Written to High Officers.

The Paris Aurore says that the correspondence seized by the police at the headquarters of the League of Patriots and elsewhere includes six letters written by relatives of high military officers. The writers say that officers of certain regiments have been sounded and have expressed their readiness to engage in a movement to upset the republic. One general stipulates that he shall receive the title of prince as the price of his becoming a royalist when the monarchy is restored.

Pecci, Pope Leo XIII., is 89 years old. He was born in Carpineto, diocese of Anagni, Italy. The Pecci family has been remarkable for the longevity of its members. One of the Pope's brothers lived to be 91 and another to be 84.

At the age of 8 the present Pope was sent with his eldest brother Joseph to the Jesuit college at Viterbo. In 1824 he entered the schools of the Roman college. He began his studies in theology in 1828 and was ordained priest in December, 1837. After distinguishing himself in various posts he was made a cardinal and at the time of Pius IX.'s death was camerlingo, having the management of the temporalities of the holy see.

Pope Pius died Feb. 7, 1878, and Feb. 18 Cardinal Pecci was chosen his successor. He took the name of Leo XIII. out of respect to the memory of Leo XII., for whom he had a particular veneration.

GETS ISLANDS BY TWO VOTES.

Close Contest in Spanish Senate on Ceding the Philippines.

The Spanish Government had a narrow escape from defeat in the Senate on the bill authorizing the cession of Philippines to the United States. The bill only squeezed through by a majority of two. Some of the members, including Gen. Weyler, abstained from voting.

Sagasta, after the vote in the Senate, offered his resignation of the premiership to the Queen Regent, and handed in at the same time the resignation of his ministry. The resignation of the cabinet is due to the Senate voting to reject the amendments to the bill ceding the Philippine Islands to the United States, as set forth in the measure prepared by the Government.

and, in fact, nearly all women who undergo a nervous strain, are compelled to regretfully watch the growing pallor of their cheeks, the coming wrinkles and thinness that become more distressing every day.

Every woman knows that ill-health is a fatal enemy to beauty and that good health gives to the plainest face an enduring attractiveness. Pure blood and strong nerves - these are the secret of health and beauty.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People build up and purify the blood and strengthen the nerves. To the young girl they are invaluable, to the mother they are a necessity, to the woman approaching fifty they are the best remedy that science has devised for this crisis of her life.

Mrs. Jacob Weaver, of Bushnell, Ill., is fifty-six years old. She says: "I suffered for five or six years with the trouble that comes to women at this time of life. I was much weakened, was unable, much of the time, to do my own work, and suffered beyond my power to describe. I was downhearted and melancholy. Nothing seemed to do me any good. Then I made up my mind to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

I bought the first box in March, 1897, and was benefited from the start. A box and a half cured me completely, and I am now rugged and strong." -Bushnell (Ill.) Record.

Arabs and the Ostrich. The Arabs have a curious legend to account for the ostrich's residence in the desert. On a certain appointed day, so the story runs, all created beings met together to decide upon their respective order and precedence. All went smoothly until the ostrich, pleading its inability to fly, disowned the birds, and claimed to take rank with the mammals. These, however, would have nothing to say to a creature clothed not with fur, but with feathers; while the birds, when it went dejectedly back, repudiated it also as a traitor to its race. The ostrich, however, was equal to the occasion, and declared that, being neither mammal nor bird, it must be an angel; whereupon all the other animals indignantly rushed upon it and Severe Rebuke.

Constable, the famous gainter, once gave a remarkable instance of the sweetness of his temper, which scarcely anything could ruffle. The story is told by Julian Charles Young, whose uncle had witnessed its incident.

He called on Constable one day, and was received by him in his front room. After half an hour's chat, the artist proposed to repair to the back room to show him a large picture on which he was/engaged.

On walking up to his easel, he found that one of his little boys, in his absence, had dashed the handle of the hearth-broom through the canvas, and made so large a rent in it as to render its restoration impossible. He called ant. He told the magistrate this story: the child up to bim, and asked him gently if he had done it. When the boy admitted his act, Constable took him on his knee and rebuked him in these unmeasured terms:

"Oh, my dear pet! See what we have done! Dear, dear! What shall we do to mend it? I can't think, can you?"

Commissioner, Winnipeg, Man .: Sir-We, the undersigned delegates from Kansas and Nebraska, U. S. A., in reporting the results of our trip to Dauphin, and subsequently to Regina, Prince Albert and the middle Saskatchewan country, beg to say that our tickets were limited to twenty-one days, and as we had other large regions to visit, we could only spend a short time in the Dauphin country. We examined, however, the principal cultitownship 25, range 19, the great wheat fields of Wishart, Buchanan, Owen, Smith, Ross, Sinclair, the Whitmores, Drinkwaters, etc., and, subsequently, others to the north, and never, in our experience, have we seen finer grain. The whole country is watered by numerous streams flowing from the slopes of Riding Mountain, and excellent well water is found everywhere, at from nine to eighteen feet. Extensive forests of spruce and tamarack cover the northern parts of the mountains, from which timber is manufactured in Dauphin and elsewhere, and sold at from $12 a thousand at the mills. Wild hops and wild fruits are abundant, and ripen in the open air. Vegetation throughout is surprisingly luxuriant and, without hesitation, we would rank the whole region among the best graingrowing areas of the continent. The output of wheat last year was about 75,000 bushels, but this year it is estimated at over a million.

A ROGUE CAUGHT.

Keenness of a Newspaper Man Brings the Guilty to Justice.

Sir Charles Gavan Duffy, in his per sonal memoirs entitled "My Life in Two Hemispheres," relates an incident of his journalistic life in Dublin, which illustrates the keenness of discernment which gives eminence to the born journalist, whose business it is to seek facts for the public.

Mr. Duffy called one day at the Dublin police office, while a case was being heard which involved the liberty of a man named Collins. James Donnelly, the complainant, was the servant of a gentleman, and had become a Protest-

Since he became a Protestant, his fellow-servants, Catholics, had shown ill will, and he had received anonymous letters, adorned with coffins and crossbones, threatening his life if he did not return to the "true fold."

One day, while he was exercising his employer's horses, two men armed with pistols held him up, and asked him if he had not received the "warning letters." He admitted that he had, but declared that he would be torn in pieces before he would give up his new religion. Thereupon one of the men, Collins, snapped a pistol at him. It did not go off, and the horses kicked so viciously that the two men ran away.

Collins, the prisoner, must have had knowledge of the anonymous letters, said Donnelly, "because he asked me if I had received them." Collins denied the charge, and said he had never seen Donnelly before he saw him in court, and had only heard of him as the man vated areas in the southern parts of whom the prisoner's sister, a fellow servant, had refused to marry.

Duffy, the reporter, having an eye for facts, suspected that Donnelly was lying. He asked the magistrate, an acquaintance, to let him look at the anonymous letters. Finding in them several words misspelled and several peculiarly shaped letters, he told the magistrate that he suspected Donnelly of writing the letters. He framed a sentence containing the misspelled words, and the magistrate asked Donnelly if he could write.

"Yes, your worship."

"Write this sentence, which I will dictate," said the magistrate.

Donnelly wrote, but after he had written a few words became agitated and declined writing. The magistrate sternly bade him write on until he had copied the sentence. When the manuscript was examined it was found to contain all the misspelled words of the anonymous letters and all the ill-shaped letters.

Collins was discharged, and Donnelly was dismissed from his master's serfor facts had secured the discharge of the prisoner, was promoted to the position of sub-editor.

The incident is paralleled by several in the experience of American reporters, whose "nose" for facts had been more sensitive than that of trained de-

An Illustration.

There's something to be said upon both sides of every question. For example: Mr. Smith, an acquaintance of ours, bought a ticket on the Sound steamer, and at the same time asked for a stateroom. He was informed that all the rooms were taken. This was discouraging to Smith, but a happy thought struck him.

"I asked to have a room held for me," he said.

"Oh, you did?" asked the ticket seller. "What name, please?"

"Smith." After examining his memorandum the ticket seller said: "Beg pardon, sir; I see there are two rooms held for you, Numbers 41 and

"I don't understand that," said the other, "I only wanted one room. I'll take 42, if you please."

So he got his room all because his name was Smith; which shows that it is a good thing to have a name that is somewhat common. But you ask, "How about the Mr. Smith who lost one of the two rooms he had engaged?" Why that proves what we started out with, that there's something to be said on both sides of every question.

News From Cuba.

The following letter was written to"Senator" Andrew Vorhees by Robert L. Voll, who is well known at the lake, but who is now one of "Uncle Sam's" soldiers in Cuba:

Friend Andrew,

Not having anything to do at present, I thought of you and what times we had at the Lake. But being in camp under Uncle Sam in Cuba is a blessing in a small measure and a different. We have very nice weath. curse in many instances. It is er here wrestling with mesquitos, centipedes and lizzards, while you are snow and ice bound and afraid to poke your head out of the door. I will now give you a few ideas of Cuban lif : From the photo enclosed you can see that I am not exagerating anything I tell you. This is a picture of our camp before we pitched the door to Pneumonia and Consumption any tents; they are all human bones. The following is the law down here: "If you or any of your relatives should die, the authorities rent you a precious time treating this cough with grave as long as you pay rent for it, troches, tablets, or poor, cheap syrups. whenever you forget that they dig the remains up and throw the bones on a pile in some corner and rent the grave to some one else. It is the effects from the malady. Price 50cts some with the undertaker if you are and $1.00. Money back if not cured. A hauled in a hearse it costs you 25e trial bottle free at Slattery's Drug Store. extra. They do not sell caskets to the poor people, but simply rent them to use for the funeral. And there are no records of the dead to be found anywhere. The Cubans do not drive their hogs as we do but tie a rope around their neck and lead them. Everything is packed on mules and jonies, such as hay, corn-fodder, charcoal, milk, in demijohus and the like. As a general thing the Cuban is not lazy, but quick at wit, and all of them want the American dollar. I am at present foreman in the Regimental Bakery, we are baking 1,200 to 1,400 loaves of bread, and 200 to bottle free at Slattery's drug store. 29t3. Remember the Date. 300 pies every day so you see we are at work. I make $38.00 per month $10.00 per thousand for baking pies, know of one concern in the land who are not and extras, you know how that goes in camp life.

ERZA KOONTZ.

"What is a dollar, anyhow?" asked one of our friends the other day. A dollar is what some men prom se to pay for their paper. It is the price of a days work for something a newspaper man enjoys more n anticipation than in reality. It is the pri e MATANZAS, Cuba, Feb. 26, '99. of a days work for some nea and a nights drunk for others. It is what the wife frequently needs, but seldom gets. I is the power that makes or unmakes men. It is the hardest thing to get and the easiest thing to get rid of known to mankind. It is mighty and scarce. No man ever had more than he wanted and no man ever will. It is a snare and a delusion, and we are all chasing the delusion. -Ex.
