him standing there until they gave up getting into the store room, as they could not force the door. They then went through his pockets, taking $40 and his gold watch, after which they marched him down to the Vandalia switch and locked him in a box car when they bade him
"good night" and took their leave.

Many Unprovided For.

It is given out through the state board of charities that eleven hundred insane patients are awaiting the completion of additional accomodations for their care and comfort.
Money enough was appropriated by the last legislature to provide for about seven hundred of the unfortunates who are confined in poor-houses and jails. Extensions are being made to the hospitals at Richmond and Longcliff, near Logansport. The two new buildings at Longcliff will soon be under roof and when completed will provide accom-odations for two hundred patients.
The brick work on the buildings is finished and both would now be under roof if the board of trustees had not been delayed in getting slate. It is not likely that they will be ready for the reception of patients before the first of January. The new building at Richmond is about completed.

Joe Marbaugh's Last Horse Deal

It took place Tuesday afternoon when Allen Gandy, a horseman from Culver City, accompanied by young Clemmons of the same place, drove into town and bantered Joe for a trade. Joe is always open and easy, and as Gandy wanted difference of $1.00, after speeding the animal up and down Main street for a time, Joe concluded to trade and paid the difference. As soon as the money was handed to Gandy, young Clemmons, who is said to be a minor and owner of the horse traded to Joe, quietly left the store and went to where the horse was tied and mounted it and rode off, leaving Marbaugh with his former horse and short the four dollars. Joe of course seen he had been swindled and immediately raised a howl, and demanded the return of his money, whereupon the man Gandy refused, and Joe's only way out of the dilemma was to have the man arrested and taken before 'Squire Buehrle, which he did and retained "Attorney" Carl Turtlott, while the defendant had employed "Attorney" Bill Kunerod.
The court was at once called to order and while the Honorable 'Squire was buried deep in his law books,
"Attorney" Turtlott turned to the defendant and giving him one of his searching looks, caused the man Gandy to wilt and turn over the "bundle" to its rightful owner, at the same time remarking that he hated like h-- to give it up. After Joe had gained possession of the amount he at once asked for the prisoners discharge and being of a forgiving disposition concluded that he had better pay all costs of trial, which we understand were most light.
Court then adjourned to meet again
when Joe trades horses.--Monterey

Only a Horse Shoe Nail.

She was a beautiful girl, upon whose lustrous curls twenty summers had laid their roses in showers of color and fragrance, and upon whose fair shoulders the decree of fashion had placed a pair of suspenders.

If any who read these lines have not yet got themselves upon this fact they should at once look up the latest fashion plates.

She was radiant in her loveliness, and the young man who sat beside her when the shadows of evening fell was as happy as she was beautiful.

It was an iridescent combination.

He had proposed and had been accepted, and he had just concluded a wild and impulsive embrace, that now was tapering off gradually in a tender, one-armed hug, as lingering as a case of the grip in a hard winter.

"George," she murmured, "will you do me a favor?"

"A million!" he exclaimed, with tropical luxuriance," a million times, darling."

"One is enough deary," she said,
with a soft little smile of joyous contentment.

"What is it, darling?" he whispered, drawing her closer to him."

"Will you lend me a horseshoe nail?" she lisped, blushingly. "We have busted my gallus."

And George's great heart yearned and then broke, for he had come to the trying-place without a horseshoe nail.

FINALLY IDENTIFIED.

Men saw the pageantry go by.
They sought the real hero there.
The big bass drummer caught their eye.
Who stepped with such martial air,
They raised their shouts in welcoming glee.
But found, alas, it wasn't he.

"He's further forward!" then they cried.
The grand drum major there they found
With great fur hat and haughty stride
And baton weighing many a pound.
They cheered him straight in accents free.
But found, alas, it wasn't he.

And when the mighty train had passed,
They looked about in blank dismay,
And murmured, as their hearts beat fast,
"Perhaps he isn't here to-day!
Though many a figure proud we see,
We always find it isn't he!"

And then the wise policeman spake:
"Did you not note the gentle mien
Of one whose modest manners make
The touch of contrast in the scene;
The man who didn't seem to be Filled with importance? That was he."

—Washington Star.

A STRANGE OCCURRENCE.

Many years ago a party of five young men had been out practicing in our new shell. At that time they were considered to be one of the finest amateur boat clubs of New Jersey. They finished their regular three-mile pull and brought up safely alongside the stage. As we did so a small water spaniel came running down to meet us.

There, I have let out that I was one of the party, but no matter now.

Fido, or Fid, as we called the dog for short, was a most intelligent animal. Charles White, who owned him, had taken great pains to give him a good education. It really did seem as if the dog understood plainly every word that we said.

On the particular day alluded to Fid seemed more than usually glad to greet the return of his master; he acted, too, in a somewhat strange manner, although in the confusion and bustle of getting the shell safely housed we paid little heed to it.

After we had locked up the boat-house and donned our thick peajackets to prevent catching cold, Charley suggested that we go home through the woods.

It was early in the fall, and the trees were already beginning to assume their gorgeously tinted leaves. The suggestion met with general approval from the party. Two of our oars had been badly sprung in our afternoon pull, and, taking those with us for repairs, we started on.

"Blamed if Fid doesn't act mighty queer," remarked Charley, when we had proceeded but a short distance. "He's run across some game in the woods, you may depend upon it."

Let me say here that the dog had been left behind when we started from the village. It was Charley's belief that he had sought us out by way of the woods, as he had often done before. The open road was considerably to the short cut through the woods.

"Give him his way, Charley," suggested Frank Fields.

"I was just thinking of doing so," was the reply.

"Now, Fid," he added, addressing the dog, "let us see what you have been making such a fuss about."

As I have said, we were well acquainted with the dog's sagacity, therefore we were not greatly surprised when the dog, with a sharp bark, started off on a run. Good runners as we considered ourselves, we were soon left behind.

The sharp, quick barks at intervals served to guide us. At length this changed to a long, prolonged howl, so sad and mournful that we involuntarily paused and gazed at each other in dread.

"Something unusual has happened," exclaimed Charley, quickly. "Forward!"

In a few minutes more we had reached an open space in the woods. The sight there revealed was enough to shake the nerves of the strongest.

Stretched upon the ground, with a ghastly wound in the top of his head, lay old Dr. Garland—a man dearly loved by nearly every one around.

Fid sat by his head, eyeing him sadly, and at intervals uttering that mournful howl.

For a moment we stood paralyzed with horror at the sight. Charley White was noted for his extraordinary coolness in exciting moments.

It was his voice that suddenly aroused us to action.

"This has been a cowardly murder, boys," said he, in a hard, metallic voice. "The murderer, whoever he is, cannot be far away."

Turning to the dog, with an earnestness we had never before seen in him, he said, pointing toward the ghastly sight:

"Fid, go find the man!"

The dog snuffed around impatiently for a few moments, then uttering a fierce growl, started off with his nose to the ground.

"Th follow the dog!" exclaimed Charley, hurriedly. "The rest of you make a litter and carry the body to the village with all speed. It may be there is still a spark of life remaining."

With these words he disappeared, and the rest of us proceeded to fulfill our sad duty.

With slow and cautious steps we proceeded with our burden. We had just arrived at the edge of the woods when Frank Fields suddenly exclaimed:

"There goes a chap sneaking off, and I'll bet he's the man. I'm going to catch him, boys." The man, it was evident, had not seen us, for Frank was upon him before he could realize his danger. A short struggle followed, but the man was forced to yield.

Frank's suspicions seemed to be well founded. The man was evidently a tramp, with a surly looking countenance.

There was blood, too, upon his hands and clothing.

He eyed our burden with a shudder, but resolutely maintained his innocence.

Fortunately, our village had just received an acquisition in the shape of a new doctor. The latter, although a young man, was said to be a wonderfully skilled person. Thus far, however, he had met with but little encouragement, for old Dr. Garland had attended closely to his duties.

To Dr. Peters' house we carried our inanimate burden. The young doctor looked grave, but still said there was a chance. The victim's skull had been crushed by some heavy instrument, and a portion of it was pressing upon the brain. Delicate as the ensuing operation was, it proved successful, for the old doctor at last awoke to consciousness.

It was two hours before Charley White returned, and when he did, he had in custody a wild-looking individual. Fid kept close to the individual's heels, growling fiercely.

We learned afterward that Charley had been engaged in a most desperate struggle before he conquered his man. The prisoner, although slenderly built, had sinews like iron.

It was probable that Charley would have made a second victim had it not been for Fid's aid in worrying the man, and distracting his attention.

Matters now began to appear somewhat complicated. Which of the two men in custody was the murderer? Charley clung firmly to the belief that the dog's instinct was the true one. There seemed to be no ground, however, to support his theory. The man bore no evidence to convict him. Not a spot of blood could be found upon him, and all our questioning failed to elicit a word of explanation.

On the other hand, Frank's prisoner seemed to be in an agony of fear. He repeatedly affirmed his innocence, and yet was unable to account for the blood stains upon his clothing. Public opinion was about equally divided between the two men. The young doctor's skill, however, was the means of cutting the Gordian knot. Three days of the utmost quiet in his house, and then the news went forth that old Dr. Garland was free from danger and would recover.

As soon as he was able to bear the excitement he expressed a wish to have the prisoners brought before him, for he had been able to recognize his assailant.

Frank Field's prisoner was the first one brought in, but the old doctor shook his head.

"That is not the man," he said, promptly.

Then the other prisoner was brought forward.

"That is the fellow," said the old doctor, quickly. "Have him closely watched; he is an escaped lunatic."

The prisoner made a rush to escape, but we were too quick for him. The next day he was sent back to the asylum.

He had formerly been treated by the old doctor, and, it was supposed, had entertained some grudge which led to the attack.

As to the other prisoner, he confessed to finding the doctor's mangled form, and attempting to restore him. Finding it useless, and fearful he might be suspected as the murderer, he had resolved to go on his way.

After this affair Dr. Garland was so won over to the young doctor that he relinquished his practice in his favor and retired.

The affair created an intense excitement in the little village.

Fid, who acted such a prominent part in the affair, had always been a great favorite with the doctor. On one occasion the dog had been badly hurt by a passing carriage and tenderly treated at the doctor's hands. He had well returned the kindness, however, in the manner shown.

It is altogether likely that had it not been for the dog, and the victim had died, an innocent man would have answered with his life for the murder.

Fid was ever a favorite with all after this exploit. It was always a puzzling question, though, how he had been able to pick out the scent of the right man. And that question none of us could ever answer satisfactorily.

INDIAN FAMILIES.

Present Method by Which the English Government Relieves Starvation.

Some idea of the herculean labor involved in coping with a famine extending over so large an area—a famine which had affected an area of 225,000 square miles and a population of 62,000,000—in the midst of other troubles may be formed when we consider that, counting each person relieved for one day as a unit, not less than 821,000,000 units, or about two and a quarter million persons a day, for a whole year, are estimated to have received relief.

The principles by which the government was guided in dealing with the recent famine owe their origin to a provincial attempt made in 1883 by the government of India to consolidate the prescriptions which the experiences of previous famines, and especially those of 1877, had suggested as expedient. Local governments were then asked to frame draft codes, based on the general lines of those formulated by the government of India, but with such difference in matters of detail as the varying conditions of the different provinces rendered advisable. These draft codes—which, after careful revision by the government of India, were eventually sanctioned—follow, with one or two exceptions, a uniform system of division into chapters, generally fifteen in number. The first chapter prescribes preparatory or precautionary arrangements to be permanently maintained in ordinary times. The main objects of these prescriptions are: (1) to insure the approach of scarcity or famine may be detected in good time; (2) to provide for a state of preparedness, in respect to measures of relief, when the emergency arises. The second chapter relates to the special reports to be submitted and the preliminary actions to be taken when the information received indicates the imminence of scarcity or of famine. The remaining chapters prescribe the duties of all officers concerned when scarcity or famine is actually present, as well as the various measures of relief to be taken.

These principles, which are liberal in their scope and eminently practical, fully emphasize the responsibility of government. Nor has the experience of the famine of 1896-98 suggested any material changes or additions.

Though a retrospect of Indian famines presents a sad picture, it is not likely that such horrors as those of the past will be witnessed in the future. A review of the past brings to light the many mistakes which were made in the early days of our government.—The Forum.

Bucked a Locomotive.

For some time a large and vicious bull had been annoying the railroad men at Whitford station, on the main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and the other evening he became particularly troublesome, driving all the trackmen before him. He would station himself in the middle of the track and charge every man who appeared in sight.

Apparently elated with his success in conquering the men, the bull took it into his head to take a shy at a locomotive. Stationing himself in the middle of the track, despite the efforts of a number of railroad employes to drive him off, he defiantly awaited the approach of a train.

Finally a freight, running at the rate of twenty-five miles an hour, hove in sight. As it drew near the engineer espied the obstruction, and blew a long, loud blast as a warning for the bull to clear the track. The bull, however, accepted the locomotive's whistle as a challenge to combat, and sent back a terrific bellow in answer. Then he squared himself for a tremendous leap, and as the iron monster came rushing down on him he made the last dash of his life, and it was a grand one.

There was a loud crash, and the next instant the lifeless body of the bull was flying through the air, while the fore part of the locomotive left the track, so badly crippled that another had to replace it, and requiring the wrecking crew to set things straight.

When the freman saw the crash was inevitable he leaped from the engine, while the engineer stuck to his post, thereby averting a wreck.—Philadelphia Record.

Named for His Wife.

Brown, the banker, is fond of horses, and the other day bought a nice filly. Exhibiting her to some friends, one asked, "What is her name?" "I've named her Mildred, after my wife, because she's such a persistent nag."—Victor Smith, in New York Press.

STUDENTS MOB DOWIE.

Violent Scenes the Result of Inviting Medics to His Meeting.

John Alexander Dowie, the evangelist, who claims to be able to effect miraculous cures by divine dispensation, was routed at his West Side Zion tabernacle in Chicago Wednesday night by more than 1,500 angry medical students armed with offensive chemicals, and had to be escorted to his carriage by the police. The young men who attacked the faith apostle while he was on his way to his tabernacle to deliver a lecture on "Doctors, Drugs and Devils," care out of the encounter only partially victorious. Twice the police beat a tattoo on their heads with stout clubs before they were content to remain outside of the besieged auditorium, and a dozen were arrested and sent to the police station to think over their temerity.

Throughout the lecture the howls of the enraged students of the several medical schools in the vicinity could be heard and unpleasant reminders that they were still on hand came through the windows from time to time in the shape of bottles of nitrate of ammonia, which, as they broke, exhaled a smell, compared to which the odor of Yorick's skull might be considered a perfumed breeze from Araby the blest.

Hardly a pane of glass was left in the Dowie sanctuary and when the exponent of a new gospel was finally led forth by a back doorway to his costly carriage and helped in by two quaking footmen whose once rich attire reeked of the laboratory he was in a state of perturbation that belied his confident assertions inside the brick walls which no longer protected him.

Twelve students, more demonstrative than others, were placed under arrest, but upon recommendation of the city prosecutor they were discharged upon payment of costs.

CALL THE WAR A CRIME.

Anti-Imperialists Meet and Denounce the Philippine Campaign.

Anti-imperialists from thirty States were congregated in Apollo Hall at Chicago Tuesday morning, when the conference against expansion was opened. Public meetings were held Tuesday evening, Wednesday afternoon and evening. Edward Burritt Smith called the meeting to order. Prof. A. H. Tolman of the University of Chicago delivered the opening address and was followed by a number of other speakers. The speakers announced themselves, some in violent and some in quiet words, as the bearers of the true spirit of independence and free government. Following are some of the sentiments expressed:

The American people should stamp the administration's proceedings with a verdict of disapproval so clear and so emphatic that this will be a solemn warning to future Presidents instead of a seductive precedent.—Carl Schurz.

The people begin to comprehend that homicide is homicide, that bloodshed is bloodshed; that it serves nothing to call oneself Caesar or Napoleon, and that in the eyes of the eternal God the figure of a murderer is not changed because instead of a gallows cap there is placed upon his head an emperor's crown.—J. Sterling Morton.

In nearly all the events of history the dominant minority fought out the principle of liberty. History will repeat itself.—Edward Atkinson.

A MAGNIFICENT WOMAN

Holds Up Peruna as the Ideal Remedy for Female Catarrh.

MRS. CLARA MAKEMER.

Mrs. Clara Makemer, housekeeper for the Florence Crittenden Anchorage Mission of Chicago, writes the following letter from 302 Chestnut street, Chicago:

"Peruna is the best tonic I have ever known for general debility, a sure cure for liver complaint, and a never failing adjuster in cases of dyspepsia.

"I have used it in cases of female irregularities and weak nerves common to the sex, and have found it most satisfactory."

From early girlhood to the end of the child-bearing period few women are entirely free from some degree of catarrh of the pelvic organs.

With Peruna the thousand and one ailments dependent upon catarrh of the pelvic organs can be wholly averted.

"Health and Beauty" sent free to women only, by The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio.

The microbes that cause chills and fever and malaria enter the system through mucous membranes made porous by catarrh. Peruna heals the mucous membranes and prevents the entrance of malarial germs, thus preventing and curing these affections.

5,000 Guitars at $2.65.

For those who are accustomed to sending away from home for their goods it is of the greatest importance to know the character and reliability of the establishment selling goods to families from catalogues. The great emporium of the John M. Smyth Co., located at 150 to 166 West Madison street, Chicago, has been established for a third of a century, and has furnished over half a million homes in Chicago and vicinity alone. This firm enjoys the confidence of the public by its many years of fair dealing. It issues an immense illustrated catalogue that should be in every family, as it describes and gives the price of every article required for household use. A sample of the extraordinary values offered by this firm is shown in the illustration of the guitar at $2.65 in another column of this issue. These instruments are indeed wonderful values, and yet they are but a sample of the thousand and one useful articles illustrated and described in the beautiful catalogue of the John M. Smyth Company.

What Do the Children Drink?

Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food drink called GRAIN-O? It is delicious and nourishing, and takes the place of coffee. The more Grain-O you give the children the more health you distribute through their systems. Grain-O is made of pure grains, and when properly prepared tastes like the choice grades of coffee, but costs about 1/4 as much. All grocers sell it, 15c and 25c.

CANNON BALL PILLS.

Big Balls of Poison Given as Medicine.

Thousands Are Suffering from Mercurial Poison Taken in Youth—Days of the Pills Are Past.

Do you want health? Then keep your bowels clean and your liver lively!

It has always been known that constipation is the cause of nearly all disease, but the way of treating it has changed.

The old way was to make up a sickening "black draught" or, still worse, an explosive "shot-gun" cartridge of calomel, aloes, jalap, gamboge, croton oil, blue mass, colocynth—the larger the bullet the better—and after the patient had swallowed the dose, thrown the bowels into spasms and turned the liver inside out, he was settled for a few days—frequently forever.

The most dangerous "medicine" of all was the mercurial pill-poison which lodged in the blood and joints, producing life-long aches.

Force is folly, if you have any regard for your well being. When it becomes necessary to stir up your liver and have a general internal cleaning up, take Cascares Candy Cathartic, and produce natural action in a nice, gentle, quiet, positive way.

Cascares are up to date, antiseptic, taste good, never grip or gripe, mild but effective.

Buy and try Cascares to-day. You'll find that it's what they do, not what we say they'll do that proves their merit. All druggists—10c, 25c, 50c, or by mail for price. Send for booklet and free sample. Address The Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago; Montreal, Can., or New York.

This is the CASCARES tablet. Every tablet of the only genuine Cascares bears the magic letters "CCC." Look at the tablet before you buy, and beware of frauds, imitations and substitutes.

NEWS IS HARD TO GET

BOERS CUT TELEGRAPH LINES IN SOUTH AFRICA.

Severe Censorship Also Interferes—Important Battles Expected at Ladysmith on the East and Kimberley on the West of the Transvaal.

Cable companies have notified the State Department at Washington of the interruption of communication with the Transvaal. Severe censorship interferes with the sending of war news from South Africa, but advices received indicate early battles at several points. On Tuesday Kimberley was still besieged by Boers, and there were rumors of an attack on Vryburg. Dutch forces moving south in Natal have been delayed by the difficulties met with in transporting supplies and equipments.

A dispatch received at Cape Town before the telegraph line to Kimberley was cut stated that the townspeople were ignorant of the measure to be adopted for the defense of the place. It is conjectured that the military authorities distrust part of the inhabitants, and therefore keep their plans secret to prevent them from reaching the enemy. The Boers of the Orange Free State are in complete possession of the railway from the Orange river to near Kimberley.

The disposition of the Boer forces at the outset of the war in South Africa makes it manifest that the Boer generals, instead of contenting themselves with defensive or guerrilla warfare, mean for a time to act systematically on the aggressive. The four military expeditions thus far put under way from the Transvaal and the Orange Free State have moved directly to the important strongholds on the enemy's frontier. These movements, while apparently independent, give evidence of concerted action aimed not only to oppose the greatest possible difficulties to the advance of the British army, but to force the enemy to operate at widely distant points on the border instead of concentrating on a given point.

At the time this is written the northern commandos of the Transvaal under Commandant Cronje are investing Mafeking, which is defended by Col. Baden-Bowell and a relatively small force. The same expedition is known to have seized the railroad to the south of Mafeking. The southern commandos of the Transvaal, under Gen. Koch, at the same time have moved into Natal, with Ladysmith, apparently, for an objective. The troops of the Orange Free State have been similarly divided, the commandos of the southern part of the republic striking for Kimberley, which they are now besieging in force, meantime destroying the railway to the south. A fourth column, also made up of Boers from the Orange Free State, has struck into Natal, where it will be in a position to co-operate with the Transvaal force in front of Ladysmith against Gen. Sir George Stewart White and his formidable army of 15,000 men.

The opening of the campaign thus finds the Boers making simultaneous attacks upon three of the most important British strongholds—the points which naturally would be the bases of supply and communication for the invading army. That the defense of these strongholds will be stubborn and very likely effective need hardly be said. But it is evident that the policy of the Boer leaders thus far promises to give them advantages which will obstruct the British advance materially and greatly prolong the war. The Boer forces are mounted. They are operating on interior lines and are able to maneuver over long distances on ground with which they are familiar. They already control all the passes into the

GEN. CRONJE. COL. BADEN-POWELL.

Transvaal. With Mafeking and Kimberley under siege and two columns operating on the offensive in Natal, they, for a time at least, will be able to devastate a considerable territory, cutting telegraph wires, destroying railways and bridges and seizing stores of ammunition and supplies. No matter how far they are able to proceed into British territory before they are checked in their advance, the Boers seem to have hit upon the strategic policy which is best calculated to retard the subsequent movements of the British forces when the real advance into the Boer republic is attempted.

A Cloud Maker.

Among the peculiar attractions at the Paris exposition will be a great machine for making clouds of all varieties at will. The machine will be in shape like two big globes. Spectators will be seated on the elevated platform at the rear. Any kind of clouds desired, from the light and feathery cirrus of the summer to the heavy cumulus of a thunderstorm, may be made. To add realism to the picture, thunder and lightning will be imitated when the machine is turning out the proper kind of product. In connection with the cloud machine a stereopticon will be used to throw pictures and advertisements on the ready-made clouds.

QUALITY AND NEWS.

FAME AND EXCELLENCE ARE DETERMINING FACTORS IN SUCCESSFUL DEVELOPMENT.

One of the Important Functions of High Class Newspapers.

In presenting interesting phases of scientific and economic problems, high-class newspapers frequently give information of as great value in their advertising columns as in those devoted to the publication of the principal events of the day; and when the fame of a product is extended beyond its natural limits into foreign lands, and a large demand created throughout Great Britain and her colonies and the principal seaports and cities of Europe, Asia and Africa, it becomes a pleasant duty to note the fact and to tell of the points of excellence on which so great a success is based. We refer to the now world-famed laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs, the product of the California Fig Syrup Company. The merits of this well-known excellent laxative were first made known to the world through the medical journals and newspapers of the United States; and is one of the distinct achievements of the press. It is now well known that Syrup of Figs is an ethical proprietary remedy, approved by the most eminent physicians everywhere, because it is simple and effective, yet pleasant to the taste and acceptable to the system, and not only prompt in its beneficial effects, but also wholly free from any unpleasant after-effects. It is frequently referred to as the remedy of the healthy, because it is used by people who enjoy good health and who live well and feel well and are well informed on all subjects generally, including laxatives. In order to get its beneficial effects, it is necessary to get the genuine Syrup of Figs, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

THE ills of women overshadow their whole lives. Some women are constantly getting medical treatment and are never well. "A woman best understands women's ills," and the women who consult Mrs. Pinkham find in her counsel practical assistance. Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass.

MRS. MABEL GOOD, Correctionville, Ia., tells how Mrs. Pinkham saved her life. She says:

"I cannot thank you enough for what your medicine has done for me. I can recommend it as one of the best medicines on earth for all women's ills. I suffered for two years with female weakness and at last became bedfast. Three of our best doctors did me no good so I concluded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking a few bottles of your medicine, I was able to do all my housework. I know that your medicine raised me from a bed of sickness and perhaps death, and am very thankful for what it has done for me. I hope that every suffering woman may be persuaded to try your medicine."

Get Mrs. Pinkham's advice as soon as you begin to be puzzled. The sick headaches and dragging sensation come from a curable cause. Write for help as soon as they appear.
 Mrs. DOLE STANLEY, Campbellsburg, Ind., writes: "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I was troubled with sick headache and was so weak and nervous, I could hardly go. A friend called upon me one evening and recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, saying that she knew that it would cure me. I then sent for your medicine and after taking five bottles of it, I was entirely cured. I cannot praise it enough."

THE ROUNDER.

What He Sees, Hears and Thinks About It. All Told in His Own Way.

He was one of those real nice appearing gentleman, and he appeared in Burr Oak a short time since, having in his possession a rubber tire buggy of the latest pattern, and up to date in every particular. After sizing up our beautiful little suburban town, he ran "out" a well-known citizen of the place, who is ever ready to earn an honest dollar, be it in a horse trade or any other kind of a trade. The stranger informed our worthy Burr Oakite that he was financially distressed, having not the lucre, which runs fourth ward elections and elections in general, and would be pleased to trade that handsome rubber tired buggy for something cheaper. The Burr Oaks man's eyes kindled with delight as he grasped the situation, and the end of the matter, so far as he and the stranger was concerned, is that the stranger left Burr Oak with a cheaper buggy and $25 jingling in his pocket. But strange to relate, the man went to Argos, disposed of his horse and "cheaper buggy" and skipped to Chicago, where he was nabbed for stealing a rubber tired buggy in Wisconsin. Of course he revealed to the police of the "windy city" the whereabouts of the rubber tired buggy, aforesaid, and now the Burr Oak man mourneth the loss of the buggy and $25. He has one consolation, however, he has his "cheaper" buggy back again. Moral—Don't trust in the honesty of strangers unless you desire to "get left in the shuffle."

There are a great many subscribers to the HERALD who read the paper and time and again have said to themselves. Now we will go and pay the editor, but they neglect week after week and month after month to do so. Every other debt on the calendar is paid, but the editor can wait. Sure, the paper is alright, but the newspaper man can subsist on hopes, and his children suffer for the actual wants of life. You owe the editor a dollar but he can wait, and when there is a few stale cabbage, etc., that you cannot sell or give away, bring them to the editor, the Rounder is sure that he appreciates it.

The young men who think it is not necessary for them to establish a reputation for honesty, sobriety and integrity in order to achieve success in the future, are harboring unsafe and dangerous thoughts. There is no young man here of average intelligence whose course and conduct are not observed by the community, or is not measured according to his merits. The worthy young man is known from the unworthy, and, although he may sometimes think he is not appreciated or his course not commended, he will learn sooner or later what character and manhood really stand for in his case. It is always best to be upright, industrious, honorable and above reproach. It pays in more ways than one, and leads to victory.

After Thirty Years.

A well known Congregationalist clergyman of Boston went to an eminent dentist of that city to have himself supplied with a new set of teeth. After several pilgrimages, the work was completed. The clergyman, who possessed a voice pitched in an almost feminine key, stepped from the operating chair and, standing before a long mirror, began to grimace, opening his mouth wide so as to show his new set of teeth. He finally burst out with the exclamation, "Jesus Christ!" The dentist, who was a religious man, and who did not know that the patient was a clergyman, upon the repetition two or three times of the sacred name, protested most vigorously against what he considered blasphemy. The good clergyman, astonished, turned from the mirror and said: "My good friend, I'm not swearing. It is thirty years since I've been able to pronounce the name of my blessed redeemer without whistling."

IS IT RIGHT

For an Editor to Recommend and Patent Medicines?

(From Sylvan Valley News, Brevard, N.C.) It may be a question whether the editor of a newspaper has the right to publicly recommend any of the various proprietary medicines which flood the market, yet as a preventative of suffering we feel it a duty to say a good word for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. We have known and used this medicine in our family for twenty years and have always found it reliable. In many cases a dose of this remedy would save hours of suffering while a physician is awaited. We do not believe in depending implicitly on any medicine for a cure, but we do believe that if a bottle of Chamberlain's Diarrhoea Remedy were kept on hand and administered at the inception of an attack much suffering might be avoided and in many cases the presence of a physician would not be avoided and in very many cases the presence of a physician would not be required. At least this has been our experience during the past twenty years. For sale by T. E. Slattery, druggist.

At this session, your system needs renovating. The internal organs are inactive. The waste matter is not eliminated but absorbed, thus contaminating the blood and debilitating the entire system. To remove all bad effects of La-Grippe or Spring headache use Dr. Kay's Renovator. It certainly has no equal. It is a perfect renovator and regulator of all internal organs, curing the very worst cases of stomach troubles, constipation and obstructions of the liver and kidneys. Write us describing your case carefully and we will give you valuable advice free and send you a 16 page illustrated book of receipts etc. If druggists do not have to don't take any substitute they say is "just as good" for it has no equal. REPULSE THE BOERS

BRITISH GAIN A DECISIVE TORY AT GLENCOE.

English Troops Make a Desperate a Successful Charge—The Enemy in Attempting to Retreat Caught Between Two Fires—Both Sides Lose Heavily.

British arms triumphed in a desperate battle fought at Glencoe Friday, but not without a heavy loss of life. Sir William Symons, the British commander, was wounded and it was said his hurt would prove mortal.

The action began at 5:30 o'clock in the morning, when the Boers on Talana hill began to shell Glencoe camp. The English artillery, the Thirteenth and Sixty-ninth batteries, returned the fire, finding the burgher gunners no match for them.

The charge was covered by a heavy artillery fire from Glencoe over the heads of the advancing infantrymen. The British were fighting their way inch by inch toward the summit when word reached Glencoe that a large force of Boers was advancing on Hattingspruit, a little to the north.

It is thought that this victory, coming at so early a stage of operations, cannot fail to have a good effect on the Boers, not only because of their being ousted from a position they had occupied in force, but because of the loss of their guns.

HARD BLOW ON TRUSTS.

Supreme Court Decision in American Glucose Litigation.

Trusts and combinations formed for the purpose of controlling prices, regulating outputs of commodities and stifling competition received a body blow at the hands of the Supreme Court in Springfield, Mo., Thursday.

The case was one begun by George F. Harding of Chicago and makes the American Glucose Company the principal defendant. The American Glucose Company is one of the six concerns which the trust absorbed, and the purpose of the litigation is to prevent the sale of the American Glucose Company to the trust.

The case was one begun by George F. Harding after his amended bill had been dismissed upon a demurrer. The court reverses the decision of the court below and remands the case, with directions which will apparently partly, at least, disrupt the trust.

The decree sets aside all the conveyances by which the trust became the owner of the property of the American Glucose Company and all assignments and instruments which accompanied the delivery.

It is reported that Great Britain's immense military preparations against two insignificant republics are viewed with considerable enmity in some of the European capitals, notably Paris and St. Petersburg.

YACHT CUP IS OURS.

COLUMBIA IS VICTOR IN INTERNATIONAL CONTEST.

Shamrock Is Vanquished by More than Six Minutes—American Seamanship Has Again Demonstrated Its Superiority.

The American cup defender, Columbia, Friday gloriously defeated Sir Thomas Lipton's green challenger, the Shamrock, and the gallant British knight will have to build another boat if he wants "to lift that cup." The time made by the marvelous white yacht over the deep-sea course of fifteen miles dead before the wind and fifteen miles thrashing home was three hours thirty-eight minutes and twenty-five seconds. It has been eclipsed in only one other upward and leeward race for the prized trophy. That was when the Vigilant vanquished the Valkyrie six years ago, in three hours twenty-four minutes and thirty-nine seconds. The Columbia defeated the challenger in actual time by six minutes and sixteen seconds. With the allowance of sixteen seconds which she received from the Shamrock her corrected time was six minutes and thirty-four seconds.

The Yankee craft showed her superiority in every point of the game, and her active and hardy Deer Isle sailormen were more than a match in seamanship for the nimble Britons of the Shamrock. In the run to the outer mark the Columbia was one minute and eighteen seconds better than Sir Thomas' ship. This seemed to be the Shamrock's best point of sailing. In the weather work the Columbia defeated her rival by five minutes actual time.

Sir Thomas Lipton will challenge again for the America's cup. He acknowledged that the Columbia was the better boat long before the race was finished. He said that she had beaten the Shamrock in weather just suited to his yacht, and said he was pleased that there had been a good breeze for the last contest, because it precluded the possibility of any excuse for the Shamrock. He paid graceful compliments to the Columbia, her owner and designer, and declared that he had received the best and fairest treatment that could have been accorded.

As soon as the Columbia had crossed the finishing line, Sir Thomas ordered that the Stars and Stripes should be most-headed, and then, when the Erin ran alongside the victorious yacht he called for "Three British cheers" for her.

For the eleventh time the attempt of a foreigner to wrest from America that yachting supremacy of the world has failed. The trophy won by the old schooner America forty-eight years ago is still ours, a monument to the superiority of American seamanship and American naval architecture and a standing challenge to the yachtsmen of all nations.

The intrinsic value of the reward which hundreds of thousands of dollars were expended to secure is small—simply an antiquated piece of silverware which Queen Victoria offered to the best sailing ship in the world in the early days of her reign, but around it cluster the precious memories of unbroken American triumph and the honor of mastery in the noblest of sports.

ALASKA BOUNDARY FIXED.

Temporary Adjustment of Vexed Question Is Now Made.

The long-expected modus vivendi relative to the vexed Alaska boundary question went into effect Friday. This result was brought about through the direct negotiation of Secretary of State Hay and Mr. Tower, the British charge, after several failures in the past through commissioners and ambassadors. The State Department is confident that it has conserved every American interest in the arrangement, without unjustly treating Canada.

The divisional line on the west pass by which the Dalton trail is reached is placed twenty-two and one-fourth miles above Pyramid harbor, which is regarded under the treaty as tidewater mark, so the Canadians are not allowed to reach any point on the Lynn canal. Moreover, there is no permission given for a free port, or even for the transfer across American territory of Canadian goods, except miners' belongings. These matters may figure later on when it comes to a permanent boundary line, but they are not touched upon in this modus.

HEAVY LOSS FOR BOERS.

Three Hundred Reported Killed by British at Mafeking.

Advices from Cape Town, South Africa, Thursday reiterated the reports contained in previous dispatches that in the fighting at Mafeking Col. Hore repulsed the Boers, inflicting a loss of 300 men. The messages came to Cape Town by dispatch riders, and accurate details were hard to get, but it is certain that some heavy fighting has taken place. Information from Mafeking says that an armored train, while reconnoitering north of the town, engaged 500 Boers, who suffered heavily. Col. Fitzclarence's column foiled the Boers, inflicting severe loss. The British casualties were two killed and fourteen wounded, two severely.

The British garrison at Mafeking raised a white flag Sunday afternoon and the engagement ceased temporarily. The Boer messenger who was sent to inquire if the garrison meant to yield was held until after sundown. Col. Baden-Powell did not surrender. The burgher forces have practically destroyed the whole of the railway line from Hopetown bridge over the Orange river, fifty miles south of Kimberley, to Ramoutza, forty-five miles north of Mafeking. The Boers cut off Mafeking's water supply. A report from Boer sources says that the Transvaal lost sixty burghers killed and wounded in the fighting about Mafeking. A sharp engagement took place at Kathlabama station north of the town.

The natives in Zululand are arming, and the Zulu chief, Dimzulu, says he is unable to restrain his people. It is expected the Zulus will unite with the Swazis to the north and both tribes will help the British. Zululand is northeast of Natal and, like Swaziland to the north, borders on the Transvaal. Gen. Sir George White, commanding the British forces in Natal, has refused to arm natives who wish to fight against the Boers. The further advance of the Boers into Natal is being delayed by the failure of their transport service.

OFFERS TO TURN TRAITOR.

A Filipino General Is Willing to Betray His Country.

Messages purporting to come from Gen. Pilar offering to surrender his army and to deliver Aguinaldo into the hands of the Americans have been received by Gen. Otis. For $250,000 he offers to surrender his men after a sham battle; demands $50,000 to refrain from attacking Manila, and offers to procure the overthrow of the insurrection and the capture of Aguinaldo and other leaders for $500,000. Pilar is believed to be in the vicinity of San Mateo valley with about 2,000 men. Reports from the enemy's lines are to the effect that Pilar contemplates a dash through the American lines into Manila for the purpose of kidnapping Gen. Otis.

The pursuit of Aguinaldo is on in earnest. Gen. Lawton began his northern movement from Arayat Tuesday night at midnight, when a battalion of the Twenty-second infantry under Maj. Ballance, assisted by Maccabebe scouts, advanced and crossed the Pampanga river, marching in the direction of San Isidro. Aguinaldo is reported to be at Tariat with a strong force, of which he is said to be in personal command.

The Americans are handicapped by inadequate transportation facilities. Supplies were to have been brought up the Rio Grande to San Isidro as a base, but the river is fast dwindling to a shallow stream. Horses and mules will have to be employed, and these are scarce. Lawton commands an effective force of 2,000 men, consisting of the Twenty-fourth infantry, two battalions of the Twenty-second, 600 of the Fourth cavalry, mounted and dismounted, one company of the Thirty-seventh infantry, and 200 Maccabebe scouts.

QUEEN CALLS A BIG ARMY.

Militia Reserves Will Be Mobilized by Great Britain.

A second message of the Queen to Parliament, giving notice of her intention to call out the militia reserves, has given rise to sensational rumors. The necessity for the move is not apparent, as it was supposed that the present military force would be sufficient for the South African war. Many prominent men hold that the strengthening of the army at this time is occasioned by alarm at the attitude of continental powers. Despite pledges of neutrality it is known that nearly all the European powers are hostile to England in the present crisis and the military demonstration may be necessary. According to the statistics published this year the militia, including the permanent staff and the militia reserve, numbers 132,493 men.

In the House of Commons Wednesday Philip James Stanhope denounced the conduct of the Transvaal negotiations and demanded that Secretary Chamberlain should clear himself of the charge of complicity in the Jameson raid. Sir William Vernon Harcourt also criticized the Government policy, holding that peace was possible had not Mr. Chamberlain and Sir Alfred Milner been determined upon war.

INDIANA INCIDENTS.

RECORD OF EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK.

Peacemaker Shot and Killed—Husband Imprisons His Wife in a Cellar for Several Weeks—Suicide of a Rich Young Man—Robbed by Masked Men.

An attempted double murder took place at Colfax. Bert Julian, who was recently discharged from the regular army in the Philippines, entered a saloon and shot Milo Houlehan, a discharged soldier. Julian had a grudge against Frank Gray, the proprietor of the saloon, and as he came into the place declared that he intended to kill Gray with a shotgun which he carried in his hands. Houlehan interfered, when Julian put the muzzle of the gun against his head and discharged one barrel. Houlehan's head was literally blown off. He then fired the other barrel at Gray, but missed him. He was taken in custody and hastened to Frankfort jail.

Wealthy Young Man Kills Himself. Leslie D. Sinclair committed suicide at Vincennes by shooting himself through the temple. He was worth $100,000, and belonged to one of the most prominent families in southern Indiana. He was one of the principal heirs to the $500,000 estate of the late William J. Wise. The coroner found a note Sinclair had written to his sister in which he said his life was a failure. Sinclair was 28 years old, and unmarried. He took his life in a restaurant.

Woman Chained in a Cellar. Mrs. Herman Gays, who had been reported several weeks ago to have left her husband and gone to her mother in Montreal, was found the other evening to have been hidden in the cellar of her residence in English, where her husband had fastened her with a trace chain less than five feet long. The discovery was made through Gays' 12-year-old daughter by a previous wife. Gays learned of his possible arrest and fled, but every attempt will be made to capture and punish him.

Woman Robbed by Masked Men. Mrs. Louie Wandrel, wife of the landlord of the Columbian Hotel at Logansport, was aroused from sleep by a noise in another room. Hastily arising, she suddenly found herself in the grasp of three masked men. They bound and gagged her and then robbed the rooms of all the valuables, consisting mostly of jewelry.

Within Our Borders. One hundred horses were shipped from Anderson for the Transvaal the other day.

James Wess, farmer near Vincennes, was run down by a Big Four train and killed.

Rush County commissioners decided to build five wooden bridges instead of steel ones.

Muncie has grown until letter carriers cannot cover their routes in an eight-hour work day.

Franchise has been granted to T. Lindsay Fitch, Louisville, to put in water works at New Albany.

Construction of the Logansport, Rochester and Northern Traction Company's road will begin at an early date.

Anderson came out first, Columbus second and Seymour third in the band contest at the Greensburg street fair.

C. H. Dale, superintendent of the Hartford City paper mills, has won the chess championship of Indiana and Ohio.

Three Panhandle engines and twenty freight cars were piled up in a wreck at Peoria junction, near Logansport. Nobody hurt.

Thomas Bowers, who was found dead in bed at Anderson, was buried by relatives, his wife and daughter refusing to claim the body.

Mrs. Helen Shipley, Muncie, confessed that she was given $100 to testify falsely in a trial three years ago. She was conscience stricken.

At Etna Green, Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago east-bound freight No. 66 was run into by freight No. 78. The colliding engine and fifteen cars were wrecked.

G. L. White, a well-known traveling salesman for the Van Camp Packing Company of Indianapolis, who had been for several days at the Terre Haute House, suddenly went insane.

A serious stabbing affray occurred at Knightstown. Waite Heaton, a banker, is alleged to have stabbed Joseph Alspaugh. The men are aged 60 and 59 years respectively. The trouble is alleged to have originated over a business deal.

During the noon hour, while the office force was away for a short time, the safe of Lyons & Johnson, real estate dealers, in the most prominent building in Muncie, was opened and $400 stolen. It was done by experts, for the combination was worked and the inner drawers pried open, all in fifteen minutes' time.

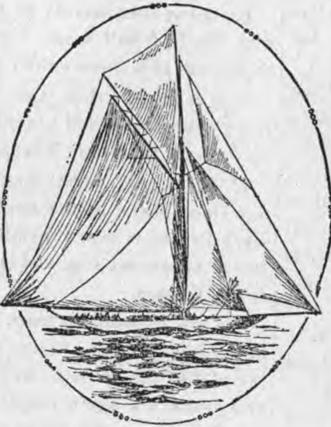

It is stated in railroad circles that the Vandalia northern terminal at South Bend will be extended to Michigan City. A corps of surveyors has been running a line to Michigan City which traverses the northern part of La Porte County, and V. T. Malott of Indianapolis, receiver of the Vandalia, is credited with being interested in building the Michigan City road.

Sheriff Klingler of Brazil received a telegram from the sheriff at Philadelphia stating that he had under arrest there Fred M. Chapin, wanted at Brazil for forgery. In 1897 Chapin and Sterling R. Holt, the Indianapolis ice millionaire, bought the plant of the Brazil Ice and Cold Storage Company and Chapin was placed in charge. Soon he disappeared and it developed that he had forged Holt's name to checks for $3,000 on the First National Bank of Brazil and $2,900 on the Zeller & Riddell Bank.

COLUMBIA WINS FIRST RACE.

Shamrock Is Outgeneraled and Out-sailed from Start to Finish.

After seven failures the Columbia Monday won the first of the series of races with the Shamrock for the international championship and the America's cup. Sir Thomas Lipton's green-hulled challenger, the Shamrock, which has appeared so slippery in light airs and baffling breezes, was beaten over a sea course of thirty miles, fifteen on the wind and fifteen with the wind astern. The elapsed time of the victorious boat, the Columbia, was 4:53:53, or :10:14 better than that of the Shamrock, which covered the course in 5:04:07. Deducting her time allowance of six seconds, the Shamrock was vanquished by :10:08. There was not much enthusiasm at the end, because from start to finish the race had been a procession, with Columbia constantly increasing a lead which she established soon after the beginning of the contest.

In the weather work over the first leg the Columbia was :9:50 better than the Shamrock, and in the run home, with all kites bellying, the Yankee clipper added twenty-four seconds to her lead. This doubtless would have been increased if the wind had not freshened, naturally helping the yacht astern, and partly closing the great gap of misty sea between her bow and the Columbia's stern.

The breeze, which was from the east, varied in force from six to twelve knots, but was true as to direction. The seas were somewhat lumpy, and occasionally white-crested, but they were not big enough to bother a catboat. In the windward work neither yacht was favored. In the run to the finish the element of chance apparently was with the Fife model.

The contest, which was fairer than any ever sailed off Handy Hook, may be said to demonstrate that the Columbia is the better craft in a light or moderate breeze, knifing her way to windward through smooth seas, and that she is also superior by a minute or more in a following breeze of moderate power.

BLOW FOR SHAFER.

Admiral Sampson Insists Chadwick Wrote the Tonal Letter.

A Boston special says Rear Admiral Sampson, now in charge of the local navy yard, has made another attack on Gen. Shafter, amplifying his statement made at Morgantown, W. Va., that Captain Chadwick is entitled to the credit for Tonal's surrender by saying that Shafter did not understand the situation because of ignorance.

To a reporter he said: "When I made the speech at Morgantown I had considered carefully what I intended to say, and I will retract none of my statements, for they are all correct. I said that Shafter was not capable of understanding the results of the battle because of his lack of proper education, and I will say so again. It was solely through the efforts of Captain Chadwick that Tonal surrendered as soon as he did. Heretofore it has been thought that it was Shafter. In his report to the War Department Shafter gives himself the whole credit, neglecting to even mention Chadwick's name. This I did not think right, and I determined to correct the matter as soon as I had the opportunity. Gen. Shafter has used his utmost efforts to give the impression that it was he, and he alone, who forced the surrender of the Spanish troops. I wish to correct this impression."

Boer and Briton.

The end will be the complete establishment of English domination over South Africa. That must come in time.—Philadelphia Times.

The Boers have the right to assume that the British Government has decided upon the extinction of their independence.—Rochester Post-Express.

One is naturally inclined to the belief that the use of a little finer diplomacy on the part of the Boers could have averted the war which must eventually result in their defeat.—Albany Journal.

It is not quite probable that the "Lorelei" of the diamond fields at Kimberley and the gold mines at Johannesburg may fire this great nation to her utter humiliation and destruction? Rome had her day. Britain will have hers.—Waukegan Sun.

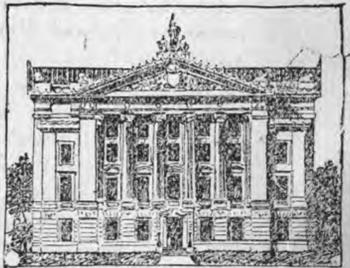

The recent tight money market with its high rates has led to several suggestions for relief by the Government. The proposition is being discussed in Washington that there should be some provision for keeping the money of the country in circulation instead of having large sums locked up in the vaults of the treasury and the subtreasuries. The Government has a cash balance of $288,000,000, of which nearly $83,000,000 is on deposit in banks. The other $205,000,000 is stored in Government vaults. It is earning nothing for Uncle Sam and is performing no function as a medium of exchange in business transactions. The suggestion is made that the Secretary of the Treasury should deposit a larger proportion of this enormous fund in banks, whence it would find its way into circulation in times of tightness, but this suggestion is coupled with the proposition that the Secretary should charge the banks interest at the rate of 2 per cent per annum.

Internal Revenue Commissioner Wilson will recommend to Congress that a refund be made of the taxes paid by cigar dealers on the cigars manufactured and sold by Counterfeiters Jacobs at Lancaster, Pa. The Government knew for a long time that these bogus stamps were being used, but did not interfere with the unlawful business for fear of permitting the escape of those who were engaged in circulating the famous $100 counterfeit Monroe note. For months cigars with forged stamps were being sold, and when the counterfeiters were arrested all the cigars bearing these stamps were seized by the internal revenue officials. It was decided, however, that the purchasers were innocent of any fraud, and they were permitted to have possession of the cigars by the payment of the lawful tax.

The State Department has no records showing the number of Americans in the Transvaal. There is a directory giving the names and addresses of the more prominent business men in the republic, but this does not indicate their nationality. The population, according to the census of 1896, was 245,000 whites and an estimated population of 600,000 blacks. The State Department makes an effort to keep track of the Americans in barbarous countries. There are lists furnished annually by the American consuls in China and Morocco. The Transvaal has never been regarded as an uncivilized country, and no effort has been made to keep track of our citizens who go there.

Admiral Dewey is expected to connect himself with St. John's Episcopal Church in this city. He has never been conspicuous as a religious man. In fact, he has been known to utter robust and resounding expletives, in moments of stress and excitement, yet so far as he is anything he is supposed to be an Episcopalian. His relatives belong to that church and his leanings are that way. A Congregational church up in Vermont claims him as a member, but that was in the long distant past when the admiral was a boy. St. John's is the fashionable Episcopal congregation of Washington, and it naturally wants to include Admiral Dewey in its fellowship.

According to the latest bulletin issued by the bureau of labor there are 140 cities in the United States having a population of 30,000 or over. The bureau has been collecting and compiling a mass of municipal statistics, and for purposes of correct comparison has broken away from the last census population figures, now nine years old, and made estimates of its own. Massachusetts leads off with 17 cities of 30,000 and over, Pennsylvania with 13, and then comes New York with 12, Ohio with 9, Illinois with 6 and Indiana and Texas with 5 each.

CULVER MILITARY ACADEMY.

Items of Interest Compiled by Our Special Reporter.

Last Saturday afternoon C. M. A.'s football team met the Huntington High School team upon the home grounds, and came out of the fray with another victory added to their long list. As Huntington hadn't been scored against for three years, there was naturally some doubt as to the outcome of the game, but like all others, they had to go down before the invincibles from Culver.

The game started at 2:46 p. m., Culver kicking off to Allen, who brought it back 12 yards. Huntington took it to within 33 yards of our goal by a series of short rushes, where they lost it on downs. Culver brought it back 45 yards, where they lost it on a fumble. Huntington then took it back to the 25-yard line and here lost it on downs. Culver backs brought it back at a rapid rate, Bauman making a 28-yard run. A few moments later and the wonderful record of H. H. S. was rudely smashed by Bauman, who carried the "pig-skin" over the line for a touchdown. Anderson kicked goal, and the score was 6-0, our favor.

H. H. S. kicked off to Stifel, who advanced it down the field for a gain of 25 yards, but before the ball was put in play again, time was called with the ball on the 35-yard line.

In the second half Huntington kicked off to Anderson, who advanced it five yards. Stifel, Parrock, Bauman and Gray bucked the line for big gains. Branyan, Huntington's center, was obliged to leave the game at this point and Dickinson took his place. Huntington being off-side, Culver got 10 yards, this carrying the ball inside the 5-yard line. In the next play, the ball was stolen from Culver, when it lacked but two yards of being over.

Huntington carried it back to the 10-yard line, where they lost it to Culver, and Stifel took it over the line for a touchdown. Anderson kicked goal, and the score was 12-0, C. M. A.'s favor.

Huntington again kicks off, and succeeds in getting the ball on a fumble, but lost it on the 25-yard line on downs. Anderson made 25 yards by a quarter-back run around the left end. Gray and Parrock bucked the line for big gains, and in one of the rushes the ball was fumbled, but Anderson got it and took it on without loss. After a series of rushes the ball is called down, with about three-fourths of it behind the goal line, but the referee refused to call it a touchdown, although it really was one, so Bauman took it clear over the next time, and after Anderson had kicked goal the score stood, C. M. A., 18, H. H. S. 0.

Huntington kicked off, but it went out of bounds, and when they tried it again, Stifel got it and took it down the field for a big gain. Bauman made a fifteen yard run around the left end. Parrock was injured in one of the rushes shortly after, and Proctor took his place as right half-back. Bauman and Stifel hit the line for big gains, and time was called with the ball on the 45-yard line.

The Huntington boys are all good fellows, and took their crushing defeat as the inevitable result of bucking up against Culver. The line-up of the teams was as follows:

C. M. A.	H. H. S.
Bodman	J. e. Cline
Gray	J. t. Hopkins
Kieselhorst	l. g. Zietzer
Campbell	c. Branyan*
Voris	r. g. Allen (Capt)

Target practice is now taken by about 15 cadets each day under the supervision of Capt. Floyd. The shooting is at 200 yards at present, but before the fall shooting is over the range will be extended to 300 and 500 yards. The records are more uniform this year than ever before.

The Commissioner of the Weather Bureau of the Indiana Section has received permission to establish a government station at Culver, to be in charge of the science department at the academy. The instruments are now on the way and will soon be in place. A record will be kept each day in the year of the temperature, rainfall, barometric pressure and wind.

The Cadet Band will possibly enter the Indiana State Band Contest, at Valparaiso, next spring.

C. M. A. has reason to feel proud of this year, as it is undoubtedly one of the best musical organizations in the state. There are more students in the musical department this year than ever before. A mandolin club has been started, and it is expected that it will have from 15 to 20 members in a short time. An orchestra has also been started, with 12 members. The Mandolin club meets Monday and Thursday evenings, and the orchestra, Wednesday and Saturday nights. Two recitals will be given between Thanksgiving Day and Christmas furlough. Cadets Blow, Rauh and Rugger deserve special mention for doing good work.

A WONDERFUL CURE

Of diarrhoea. A prominent Virginia editor had almost given up, but was brought back to perfect health by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Read his editorial.

From the Times, Hillsville, Va.—I suffered with diarrhoea for a long time and thought I was past being cured. I had spent much time and money and suffered so much misery that I had almost decided to give up all hopes of recovery and await the result, but noticing the advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and some also testimonials stating how some wonderful cures had been wrought by this remedy, I decided to try it. After taking a few doses I was entirely well of that trouble, and I wish to say further to my readers and fellow-sufferers that I am a hale and hearty man today and feel as well as I ever did in my life.—O. R. MOORE. Sold by T. E. Slattery, druggist.
