LOCAL NOTES.

Thanksgiving Nov. 30.
Uncle Tom Cabin's show at Plymouth next week.
Dr. Knott has been appointed upon the pension board in place of the late Dr. J. H. Wilson.
C. C. Beeber has sold his saloon in this city to Rochester parties, who have already taken possession.
Wm. Overman is on a hunting expedition near Kewanna this week.
Samuel Medbourn and wife left Thursday for a visit with friends in St. Louis, Mo.

We have in stock about 100 pair of W. L. Carnahan shoes, that cost us from $1.00 to $1.50 per pair. You can take your choice at $1.00 per pair as we want to close them out.—
Vanschoiack.

Mr. Ira O. Smith and Miss Alice
Haskins were married at Twin Lakes Sunday.

The largest and most complete line of gloves and mittens ever seen in Culver at Vanschoiack's.

Marshall County farmers institute will be held in Plymouth February the 12th and 13th.

Mittens and gloves from 5c to $1.00 per pair at Vanschoiack's.

The semi-annual convention of the Center township Sunday-school association will be held at Walnut

Bremen road, next Wednesday, the 22d.

When you are rubbering around for rubbers, just rubber into our place and see the best line of rubbers you ever saw. The prices are right.—
Vanschoiack.

Mrs. B. F. Medbourn left Monday for Logansport to visit her sister, Mrs. John Osborn, a few days.

Myers & Ward of South Bend are in this section this week buying horses. Wednesday, accompanied by E. H. Mow, Mr. Myers went out in the country and purchased five horses, among the number being Wm. Kline's chestnuts a beautiful matched team.

Thomas Bigley of Maxinkuckee, took a car load of hogs to Chicago Tuesday, and spent a few hours in the "windy city." He says that everybody is rushing in the big city and fortunately he escaped without injury.

The case of York versus the Nickel Plate road on trial in the circuit court today, is one of considerable importance. Mr. York was a fireman on the Nickel Plate. One of the flues of the boiler exploded and he was picked up so badly injured that he died a few days afterward.
His administrator brought a suit against the railroad for damages, claiming that York was blown from the engine by the force of the explosion. The railroad company contends that York got scared and jumped from the engine when the explosion occurred, and thus received the injuries from which he died, and that had he remained on the engine he would have not been hurt.—Plymouth Republican.

It is said that the new M. E.
church will be dedicated the second Sunday in December.

James Castleman was transacting business in Logansport Tuesday.

North Bend.
Clarence Hawkins made Laporte
a flying visit recently.
Born last week to Mr. and Mrs.
Samuel Humes, a girl baby.

The Starke County truant officer was here and visited our schools, he said unless the children under 13 years of age were sent to school, he would prosecute. Hence there is an increase in attendance.

Alva Mawhorter is upon the sick list.

Mrs. Wm Foss and son Mont are visiting relatives near Winamac this week.

vention at Poplar Grove M. E. church Saturday Nov. 25th. See program in another Column.

Horace Shugrue is attending Business College at Indianapolis.

Owing to breaking a belt on our press last week the HERALD arrived to its readers late.

Now is the time to buy winter clothing cheap. Kuhn & Son are determined to close out their entire stock at Culver regardless of cost.

Sid Flagg, who has been absent several months, has returned to Culver.

John Osborn of Logansport, was transacting business in Culver last week.

E. H. Mow cried a large sale near Royal Center Tuesday.

The Nickel Plate is having thirty-five coaches, used in through passenger service, repainted and furnished, and equipped with full vestibules.
The coaches will be made thoroughly up date in all features. The work is being done in the Stony Island shops near Chicago, and will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

latives.

The beautiful snow which fell recently, reminds us of a little incident, not strange to us but it may seem strange to some of our readers, so we will attempt to relate the little story.
We are simply human, made of cold flesh and blood same as you all; only perhaps more so—editors are. Our chunk stove is empty and we wish a few loads of wood on subscription or any kind of wood at its value.
This is only a new way to get your attention and all there is of our story.
We will also take potatoes, wheat, buckwheat, meat etc., on subscription and will not refuse cash.

On the 13th inst., Orin Springer and Fred Smith, while hunting, were driven off the Busby farm by the owner, William Busby. The men returned and a quarrel arose between the men, when Busby pulled his revolver and shot, the bullet striking Springer over the heart, he dying in five minutes. Then Smith shot Busby, filling his shoulder with bird shot, but the wound is not dangerous. Busby is a wealthy man in his own right, and he is the only son of the richest farmer in the State, Barnaby Busby. He is 55 years old, and eccentric, and he has long been noted as a crank on the matter of trespass. He has been fined in the courts for using undue force in driving people off his farm. He is mar-

Sensation At Kewanna.

Kewanna has a decided sensation on its hands. Sometime since, a young lady through a correspondence bureau, wrote to a young California "chap," who replied, and in due course of time the young man proposed marriage and was accepted.
In the meantime, in reality, the young lady had no intention of marrying the young man, and was greatly excited when the Californian appeared and announced himself as ready to carry out his share of the compact. But the young lady could not take kindly to the gruff westerner, and told him everything was off so far as she was concerned, and that she already had a lover in Kewanna whom she liked much better. The westerner armed himself and while boozy made threats of cleaning up his rival when they met. As a result the rival also armed himself and he carries his guns in holsters outside of his coat. He escorts the girl to her meals and brings her back again and sits up with her until California Jim gets outside of such a load of brooze that they lay him on the shelf. The Kewanna man declares that no Californian can bluff him and the stand he has taken only makes his sweetheart all the more excited. She is trying to get the western man out of town, but he declares he will have her or the scalp of the man who beat his time. The Californian is very wealthy.

Culver City Construction Company.

Something like two years ago, the Culver City Construction Company
commenced operations. Since that time it has met with great success, and from time have been compelled to add new machinery, in order to meet with the increasing demand for their work in wood, iron and steel.
Last week the Company placed a magnificent planer in their works, with a capacity to turn out anything in the iron and steel line with neatness and dispatch. It is with pleasure that we make this announcement, as it chronicles the fact that the company is prepared to compete with any similar foundry in the State in their line. It will pay you to call and look their machinery over, and if you wish work done, the company will guarantee satisfaction.

The annual financial report of the Northern Indiana hospital for the insane at Long Cliff, recently submitted, shows that the institution has consumed all of the $90,000 legislative appropriation for the last two years. Of the $90,000 appropriation for new building a balance on hand of $44,416.27 is shown.

The town council of Knox has passed an ordinance providing for the building of water works in that place.
The plant is to be owned by a private company, Koffel and Bish, who borrow capital on twenty year bonds.
The town pays a stated rental for its fire hydrants reserving the privilege of buying the plant at any time it may assume the obligation of paying off the bonds.

The complaint that farmers make because hunters, with dog and gun, appear upon their premises without permission and shoot promiscuously, frightening stock, tramping over crops, knocking down fences, opening gates and other lawless etc., is a reasonable one, and no one should go on a hunting errand on any man's farm without permission. It is but simple courtesy, at least, to ask the privilege, and in many cases would be readily granted.

"The Best is Cheapest."

We learn this from experience in every department of life. Good clothes are most serviceable and wear the longest. Good food gives the best nutriment. Good medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla, is the best and cheapest, because it cures, absolutely CURES, when all others fail.

First-Class Sewing Machines for $14.25.

For those who are accustomed to sending away from home for their goods it is of the greatest importance to know the character and reliability of the establishment selling goods to families from catalogues. The great emporium of the John M. Smyth Co., located at 150 to 166 West Madison street, Chicago, has been established for a third of a century, and has furnished over half a million homes in Chicago and vicinity alone. This firm enjoys the confidence of the public by its many years of fair dealing. It issues an immense illustrated catalogue that should be in every family, as it describes and gives the price of every article required for household use. A sample of the extraordinary values offered by this firm is shown in the illustration of the "Melba" sewing machine in another column of this paper for $14.25. This is one of the best sewing machines ever offered to the public, and yet it is but a sample of the thousand and one useful articles illustrated and described in the beautiful catalogue of the John M. Smyth Company.

Breeding and Feeding in Human Intestines.

A New Powerful Germ Destroyer Discovered—How Microbes Are Killed While You Sleep.

Millions of microbes, bacteria, ptomaines, disease germs of every kind live and breed and feed in the stomach and bowels. For their propagation it is only necessary for the liver and intestines to become lazy and operate irregularly. Modern science has been at work to find a means of killing microbes, and the most successful germ destroyer of all is Cascarets Candy Cathartic. They slaughter bacteria wherever they find them, are antiseptic, stop sour stomach, make the liver lively, the blood pure, the bowels regular, everything as it should be. Go buy and try Cascarets today. It's what they'll do, not what we say they'll do, that proves their merit. All druggists, 10c, 25c, 50c or mailed for price. Send for booklet and free sample. Address The Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago, Montreal, Can.; or New York.

GOVERNOR-ELECT NASH, OHIO.
THE BATTLE IN BRIEF.

Incomplete Returns from Twelve States (Holding Elections Tuesday.)

Elections were held in twelve States Tuesday. Ohio, Iowa, Kentucky, Mississippi, Maryland and Massachusetts elected a Governor and other State officers; Nebraska a judge of the Supreme Court and two regents of the State University; Pennsylvania a treasurer and judges of the Supreme and of the Superior courts; South Dakota three justices of the Supreme Court, and New York, New Jersey and Virginia a Legislature. There were five tickets in Ohio, five in Iowa, six in Kentucky, two in Mississippi, three in Nebraska, two in South Dakota, three in Maryland, five in Pennsylvania and five in Massachusetts. In Kansas and Colorado county officers were elected, and municipal elections were held in San Francisco, Salt Lake, New Orleans and Detroit. And in addition to a sheriff and some judicial officers in Greater New York mayoralty elections were held in some of the other cities in New York.

The returns from the battle of the ballots in the various States up to a late hour Tuesday night indicated that in Ohio Nash (Rep.) had been elected Governor by a substantial plurality. Jones (Ind.) received a large vote in the cities. In Nebraska Holcomb, the fusion candidate for Supreme Court judge, defeated Reese, his Republican opponent, by a large plurality.

Democrats made a clean sweep in Maryland, carrying the State by 15,000 and electing a majority in the Assembly and State Senate.

Kentucky is claimed by both Republicans and Democrats, with the chances favoring the election of Taylor, the Republican candidate. The vote is very close and may require the official count to decide it.

Republicans win in Iowa by a plurality ranging from 50,000 to 60,000.

Greater New York goes Democratic by 45,000. Republicans gained several Assemblymen in the upper part of the State. Mazet is defeated for the Legislature.

Democrats re-elect Mayor Maybury in Detroit. James D. Phelan, Democrat, is elected Mayor of San Francisco.

Virginia and Mississippi went Democratic by increased majorities, while Massachusetts, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and South Dakota remain in the Republican column.

Nebraska.

Returns from many districts had not been received at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning, but enough were in to show that the fusionists won by majorities ranging between 12,000 and 15,000. This is a decided increase over the vote of two years ago. The total vote of the State is close to 220,000. This is 2,000 votes more than were cast for McKinley and Bryan. Both sides made a hard fight and got out all the voters. It is conceded in a large measure to be something of a personal victory for Bryan, though the fusionists assert in addition that it is a test of the popularity of imperialism in the West. No other issue was discussed during the campaign. Each side is willing to concede that the fight was made on war issues mostly, but the personal energy of Bryan had a great deal to do with the result.

Massachusetts.

While the Massachusetts Republicans elected their State ticket by a large plurality to all intents and purposes it was an anti-expansion victory. The Republican vote fell off approximately 30,000, while the Democratic vote was within a few hundred of last year. The Democratic campaign was conducted on anti-expansion and the big vote in an off year was due thereto. This is the first time since 1895 that Boston has been carried by the Democrats on a State election.

GOV.-ELECT SMITH, Maryland.

GOV.-ELECT LONGINO, Mississippi.

GOV.-ELECT CRANE, Massachusetts.

GOV.-ELECT TAYLOR, Kentucky.

Ohio—Elected full State ticket. Republican, Democratic, Prohibition and Union Reform candidates were in the field. Samuel M. Jones ran as non-partisan candidate for Governor. Kinney, Republican, carried the State in 1898 for Secretary of State by 61,139 plurality.

Kentucky—Elected full State ticket. Republican, Democratic, Honest-Election Democrat, Populist, Prohibition and Socialist Labor tickets were in the field. Shackelford, Democrat, carried the State in 1897 for clerk of the Court of Appeals by 17,804 plurality.

Iowa—Elected Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Judge of the Supreme Court, Superintendent of Public Instruction, Railroad Commissioner and members of the Legislature. Republican, Democratic, Prohibition, Middle-of-the-Road Populist and United Christian candidates were in the field. Gov. Shaw, Republican, carried the State in 1897 by 29,987.

Maryland—Elected Governor, Comptroller and Attorney General. Republican, Democratic, Prohibition and Union Reform candidates were in the field. Goldsborough, Republican, was elected Comptroller in 1897 by 7,109 plurality.

Massachusetts—Elected State ticket. Republican and Democratic candidates were in the field. Gov. Wolcott, Republican, was elected in 1898 by 83,186 plurality.

Virginia—Elected members of the lower house of the Legislature and half the Senators, but no State officers. Gov. Tyler, Democrat, carried the State in 1897 by 52,815 plurality.

Nebraska—Elected judge of the Supreme Court and regents of the State University. Republican, Fusion and Prohibition candidates were in the field. Gov. Poynter, Fusion, carried the State in 1898 by 2,721 plurality.

New York—Elected members of the State Assembly and one Congressman, but no State officers. Gov. Roosevelt, Republican, carried the State in 1898 by 17,786.

Pennsylvania—State Treasurer and two justices of the Supreme Court were elected. Republican, Democratic, Prohibition and People's candidates were in the field. Gov. Stone, Republican, carried the State in 1898 by 117,906 plurality.

South Dakota—Elected justices of the Supreme Court. Republican and Fusion candidates were in the field. Gov. Lee, Fusion, carried the State in 1898 by 370 plurality.

New Jersey—Elected members of the Legislature, but no State officers. Gov. Voorhees, Republican, carried the State in 1898 by 5,499 plurality.

Mississippi—Elected a full State ticket. Democratic and Populist tickets were in the field. Bryan carried the State in 1896 by 58,729 plurality, which includes the Populist vote for Bryan and Watson of 7,517.

OHIO.

Chairman Dick early Wednesday morning issued the following statement: "The returns from Hamilton, Cuyahoga and Lucas counties are yet too meager to give definite figures. Enough has been received, however, to indicate the election of Judge Nash by an increase over the plurality of Gov. Bushnell. Thus the election of the entire State ticket and both branches of the Legislature is assured." The complexion of the General Assembly will not be materially changed. The election of the fourteen members of the Democratic-fusion legislative ticket in Hamilton County is conceded by the Republican committee. To offset this they claim the election of four Representatives in Franklin, two in Lucas and one each in Hocking, Vinton, Knox, Adams and Pike. The Senate is claimed for the Republicans. It was known that Mayor Sam Jones of Toledo would cut considerable figure, but it was hard to figure out just how much or into whose preserves he would cut the most. In addition there was a factional quarrel between Republicans and Democrats in nearly every balliwick. With all the flopping around no one could figure out to whom the balance would be credited when the clearance was made. Judge Nash, Republican, came out on the top. Jones swept everything in Cuyahoga County. Cleveland did more for him than his home town of Toledo, which went for Nash.

NEW YORK.

Election results in New York State can be summed in a few words. The Democrats carry Greater New York, and the Republicans win up-State. Greater New York is carried by the Democrats by majorities on the local tickets, running in the four counties which average about 65,000. The Republicans retain control of the Assembly, and have probably increased their majority in the lower house from 24 to 34. The Republicans made gains in Kings and all through the country counties. Robert Mazet, Republican chairman of the investigating committee, was beaten by Perez H. Stewart, citizens' union, and Tammany, in the nineteenth district in New York City. This has been the storm center of the campaign in New York. Mazet is defeated by 393 votes. Mazet may contest the election of Stewart. Judge George C. Barret received practically every vote cast. James A. O'Gorman, for the Supreme Court, defeated Joseph F. Daly, the fusion candidate, by about 50,000. William F. Grell, the Tammany candidate for sheriff, is elected over William J. O'Brien, the candidate of the independent labor party, the Republicans and the citizens' union, and notwithstanding the fact that O'Brien was distinctively a trades union candidate he ran about 2,300 behind his ticket.

Pennsylvania.

All the returns Wednesday morning indicated a decisive Republican victory, with decreased majorities. Barnett's majority for State Treasurer will reach 100,000, about 75,000 less than that given three years ago when State Treasurer Beacom was elected. The vote was light all over the State and returns slow in coming in. The vote in Philadelphia was smaller than it has been in years. The Republican majority is estimated at 40,000 as compared with over 70,000 at the last mayoralty campaign.

Kansas.

The reports from Kansas show Republican gains throughout the State. The votes cast were for county officers. The Republicans have elected six of the ten judges and the two State Senators to fill vacancies. John T. Chaney of Shawnee County and C. C. McCarthy of Jefferson. Neither had any opposition.

Maryland.

Maryland has been reclaimed by the Democrats after four years of Republican supremacy. The contest resulted in the election of John Walter Smith for Governor, Isidor Rayner for Attorney General and Dr. Joshua W. Hering for Comptroller by an approximate majority of 15,000. The lower branch of the Legislature was captured by the Democrats and it is probable that they will also have a majority in the State Senate. The entire Democratic city ticket was elected in Baltimore by a majority of 8,000.

Blood Flows During the Progress of the Kentucky Election.

Although there was less bloodshed in Kentucky than had been expected, riotous disturbances occurred in many places on election day. Several were killed and others seriously hurt. Pat Henry was stabbed at Mount Sterling in an election riot. Dr. J. P. Hearing, an election commissioner, was ambushed at Owensboro and fatally wounded. The Hon. A. J. Tharpe and William Rose were fatally shot in Estill County. John Marion was killed at Catlettsburg. Henry Gaithers was killed at Gracey. A riot of serious proportions and perhaps fatal results is reported from Pittsburg. Fifty shots were fired, and Dick Mullins was killed outright. At Newcastle, in Henry County, there was a desperate fight with knives between Thomas Raizon and John Derosselt. They fought for several minutes before they fell, covered with blood, and exhausted. Both may die. Deputy Marshal Bruce while trying to make an arrest at Newcastle was badly injured in the head by a stone thrown by a man in the crowd.

At Olympia, in Bath County, John Adkins was shot and killed. At Covington Chief of Police Pugh was arrested, charged with interfering with an election. In Lexington the chairman of the Democratic county committee, Wila Viley, was arrested, charged with interfering with elections. Many other arrests were made of men prominent in local political life all over the State. Men were bodily thrown out of election booths and never were such scenes witnessed at the polls as occurred Tuesday throughout the State. Milleda was in the armory at Lexington all day, and the same thing prevailed at Louisville. Hundreds of extra policemen were on duty throughout the State and business was almost completely suspended. The most remarkable campaign ever known in the State ended as many predicted.

TRAIN WRECKED NEAR ALEXIS, MICHIGAN.

Deliberate Work of Thieves Who Had Hoped to Profit by Robbing the Bodies of Victims—Fishplates Holding the Rails Removed.

Train No. 310 on the Michigan Central was wrecked about 8 o'clock Thursday night three miles north of Alexis, Mich., evidently for the purpose of plunder. The plates holding the rails together had been removed, and as the heavy train passed over them they spread, throwing the six coaches into the ditch. Three persons were fatally injured and a large number were hurt more or less severely.

Other passengers were bruised and shaken up, some of them receiving slight wounds. William Hamilton, the engineer, was thrown through the window of his cab and was badly bruised by the fall as well as cut about the face and head. He retained, however, sufficient presence of mind when he recovered from the shock to hurry to his engine and draw the fire, thus preventing an explosion.

The train left Toledo at 7 o'clock under command of Conductor Harkens. It was running at high speed when Alexis was passed and dashed off the track while going at the rate of forty miles an hour. The crash sent passengers in every direction, and it was at first thought that many were killed. That none lost their lives was due to the fact that the coaches were very heavy and withstood the shock.

After the wreck two men were detected in pilfering and were chased two miles. They had taken two overcoats, and these were recovered. The men were not captured.

Two freight trains had passed over the road in safety a short time before.

Where the rails were spread it was found that the bolts that held the fishplates had been unscrewed. The nuts were lying on the ties and the threads of the bolts were not marred in any way. A couple of big wrenches, such as section hands use, were found lying beside the track, indicating how the rails had been loosened.

The early reports of the wreck were alarming, and the railroad company summoned every available physician from Toledo and elsewhere. A special hospital train was ordered from Detroit, and the injured were taken there. Some of the less seriously hurt were taken to Toledo on a Lake Shore train.

IMMIGRATION TO BE CHECKED.

Laws Asked to Protect Island Possessions from Imported Labor.

The annual report of Commissioner General Powderly of the bureau of immigration makes recommendations for legislation of a comprehensive scope which will enable the bureau effectively to protect the citizens of the United States from the evils of increasing emigration of an indiscriminate character.

While the total arrivals reported reach the number of 311,715, exceeding those reported for the preceding year by $2,418, the opinion is expressed that at least 25,000 were not listed in the above number through a defect in the law, as well as an indeterminate number from Canada and Mexico who are not under existing regulations accounted for.

The increase over the figures for last year is represented largely by immigration from Europe, specifically from Italy, Austria-Hungary and the Russian empire and Finland.

In addition to 796 paupers and 303 alien contract laborers debarrated on the Canadian and Mexican borders, there were refused admission 1 idiot, 19 insane persons, 2,599 paupers or persons likely to become public charges, 348 diseased persons, 8 convicts, 82 assisted immigrants and 741 contract laborers, making a total of 3,798.

Efforts were made to extend the application of the immigration laws and regulations to Hawaii and the islands of Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines. A bill was prepared to accomplish this object as to Hawaii, but failed of enactment. Unofficial information has been received that since the annexation of the said territory July 6, 1898, 25,000 Japanese coolies have been imported to work its sugar plantations.

With regard to the islands now held by military occupation as a result of the war with Spain, the opinion is expressed that the prompt extension of the immigration laws to them by order of the Secretary of War will avoid many embarrassments which would otherwise arise in this connection.

Window Guards.

Windows without guards, especially in nurseries or chambers or playrooms occupied by small children, are sources of terrible accidents. In fact, invitations to fractured skulls and sudden death. All windows to which children have access should be protected by proper fastenings inside and proper iron guards on the outside.

Tea Poisoning.

Victims of tea poisoning are becoming alarmingly prevalent. Women demand the life and variety of health, and instead of doing it naturally by building up their system they resort to tea. They should take Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It tones up the nerves, regulates the bowels and cures dyspepsia.

Killed by Kindness.

A genuine case of killing by kindness has taken place in Shoreditch. Sarah Hack, a child about 5 years old, daughter of a laborer, was exceedingly popular in the locality, and continually received gifts of nuts and sweets. After eating a hearty meal of stewed eels, meat pie, and kippers, she was rewarded with a quantity of monkey nuts and plums; and this diet brought on indigestion, from which she expired.—London Telegraph.

The Farm Beats the Mortgage.

There is a story from Buffalo County going the rounds that illustrates the resources of a Nebraska farm: A farmer up there from Missouri got discouraged because he didn't get rich the first year, and, as there was a mortgage of $700 on his farm, was about ready to jump the whole business, but determined to make one more effort and sowed eighty acres in wheat. It happened to be a poor year for wheat and the stand was not very good. Concluding that it wasn't worth harvesting he pulled up his stakes and moseyed back to Missouri, leaving the farm to fight the mortgage all by itself. The farm was equal to the occasion.

The wheat ripened, fell down and deposited the seed in the soil again. Next spring the wheat began to grow lustily. Some of the neighbors were honest enough to write about it down to the fugitive in Missouri, and he got interested enough to come back and take a look. Then he stopped and harvested his voluntary crop. He sold it for enough to pay off the mortgage and the rest of his debts and had a tidy little surplus over, with which he moved his family back and now declares there is no State like Nebraska.—Lincoln (Neb.) Journal.

Struck It Big.

Henry A. Salzer, manager of the John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis., also president of the Idaho Gold Coin Mining and Milling Company, is in luck. They have recently struck a wonderful deposit of gold on their properties. As a result the stock of the Gold Coin Co. has doubled in value. Many of the patrons of the John A. Salzer Seed Co. are owners of Gold Coin stock. The mines are located in the Seven Devil district, Idaho.

What Do the Children Drink?

Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food drink called GRAIN-O? It is delicious and nourishing, and takes the place of coffee. The more Grain-O you give the children the more health you distribute through their systems. Grain-O is made of pure grains, and when properly prepared tastes like the choice grades of coffee, but costs about 1/4 as much. All grocers sell it. 15c and 25c.

DOCTORS INSIST that their patients use "5 DROPS" for RHEUMATISM, KIDNEY DISEASE

A 25c SAMPLE BOTTLE FOR 10c.

SWANSON RHEUMATIC CURE CO.: When I wrote you for a sample bottle of "5 DROPS" my wife was suffering terribly from Rheumatism and was very discouraged, as I had tried everything the doctors prescribed, even sending her to Richfield Springs, etc. My doctor is very much surprised at the progress my wife is making, and she is so well that she refused to keep her seamstress and is now doing her own sewing. The doctors insist on her taking "5 Drops" and assure her that it is now only a matter of a few days and she will be entirely cured, and as we are very well known here, the "5 DROPS" is receiving considerable attention and praise. F. E. PRICE, Jersey City, N. J. Oct. 13, 1899.

SWANSON RHEUMATIC CURE CO.: I suffered terribly with Kidney Trouble for years, and after using less than two bottles of "5 DROPS" I am now entirely well and I give "5 DROPS" the praise for my cure. I could not find anything that would give me the slightest relief until I tried this remedy, and I recommend it to everybody as a permanent cure for Kidney Disease. MARY A. CARBAUGH, Black Gap, Pa. Aug. 22, 1899.

"5 DROPS" is the most powerful specific known. Free from opiates and perfectly harmless. It gives almost instantaneous relief, and is a positive cure for Rheumatism, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia, Backache, Asthma, Hay Fever, Catarrh, La Grippe, Croup, Sleeplessness, Nervousness, Nervous and Neuritic Headaches, Earache, Toothache, Heart Weakness, Dropsy, Malaria, Creeping Numbness, etc., etc.

30 DAYS to enable sufferers to give "5 DROPS" at least a trial, we will send a 25c sample bottle, prepaid by mail, for 10c. A sample bottle will convince you. Also, large bottles (300 dose) $1.00, 6 bottles for $5. Sold by us and agents. AGENTS WANTED in New Territory. WRITE US TO-DAY.

THOUGHTLESS WOMEN

"I GAVE little thought to my health," writes Mrs. Wm. V. BELL, 230 N. Walnut St., Canton, O., to Mrs. Pinkham, "until I found myself unable to attend to my household duties."

"I had had my days of not feeling well and my monthly suffering, and a good deal of backache, but I thought all women had these things and did not complain."

"I had doctored for some time, but no medicine seemed to help me, and my physician thought it best for me to go to the hospital for local treatment. I had read and heard so much of your Vegetable Compound that I made up my mind to try it. I was troubled with falling of the womb, had sharp pains in ovaries, leucorrhoea and painful menses. I was so weak and dizzy that I would often have severe fainting spells. I took in all several bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier and used the Sanative Wash, and am now in good health. I wish others to know of the wonderful good it has done me, and have many friends taking it now. Will always give your medicine the highest praise."

MRS. A. TOLLE, 1946 Hilton St., Philadelphia, Pa., writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I was very thin and my friends thought I was in consumption. Had continual headaches, backache and falling of womb, and my eyes were affected. Every one noticed how poorly I looked and I was advised to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. One bottle relieved me, and after taking eight bottles am now a healthy woman; have gained in weight 95 pounds to 140 pounds, and everyone asks what makes me so stout."

"Peeked" Fool.

Mrs. Blank found herself in a rather embarrassing situation one day when she was dining for the first time at the home of a minister. Opposite her sat the minister's little boy, a sharp-eyed little fellow of 4 years. While his father was asking a somewhat lengthy blessing the lady elevated her eyelids slightly and caught the eye of the little fellow opposite her.

The instant his father said "Amen" the boy pointed an accusing finger toward Mrs. Blank and cried out shrilly: "She peeked, papa! she peeked!"—Harper's Bazar.

Fiddle Butt Stealers.

There is a reason why the Adirondack forest fires should become more destructive each succeeding year. Most of the timber there is spruce. While spruce is used for various purposes it is valued chiefly as material for the manufacture of sounding boards for all kinds of musical instruments.

That part of the spruce tree which is free from branches, extending to from 20 to 30 feet above the ground, is known as a fiddle butt. As there are no branches in that part of the trunk there are no knots, and when the lumber is sawed it presents a smooth surface, an essential in the making of sounding boards.

The stealing of fiddle butts is carried on as a regular industry by hundreds of men who own small farms on the outer edges of the forests. These men go into the woods in winter and cut down thousands of great spruce trees. They take from each tree only the base log, which they sell at the nearest sawmill, allowing the remainder of the tree to lie where it falls. The branches become dry as tinder in time, and when a fire is started by a careless hunter or woodsman they furnish an abundance of fuel for the spread of the conflagration.

Many efforts have been made to punish the fiddle butt stealers, but it is a fact that no jury has ever been got together that would bring in a verdict of guilty. It is claimed, with much evidence of truth, that a jury has never been selected in that section that did not have a fiddle butt stealer among its members.—Philadelphia Record.

No Wonder He Fled.

A tall, scrawny looking young man entered the restaurant with a mild, apologetic air and seated himself at a vacant table near the middle of the room. It was evident that he dreaded to intrude. He wanted to get as far away from other people as possible. He even blushed painfully when he gave his order, and the most casual observer could have told that he was bashful.

Just as his dinner was brought to him a buxom looking woman with seven small children entered the place. The head waiter swept the field with his eye, pounced down upon the table where the young man had sought solitude, motioned to the mother, who clucked to the chickens, and a moment later they were all around that one table.

That young man's face was a serial story.

Other people entered the restaurant, glanced at the group, smiled significantly, and seated themselves.

"He doesn't look it, does he?" queried a pleasant faced old lady in an audible whisper.

"She looks at least ten years older than he," murmured a girl at the next table.

He flew to the hatrack, tossed a half crown to the waiter and tried to go through the door without opening it.—London Telegraph.

Ingersoll and DeLoe.

"The late Colonel Ingersoll had but little use for the state of Delaware," said Mr. E. V. Turner of Wilmington. "His aversion had its origin in a statement made by Chief Justice Joseph P. Conneys, now deceased. Some years ago Ingersoll delivered in Wilmington one of his most scathing lectures against Christianity. Its delivery stirred up the preachers and the religious people mightily, and the chief justice, who was a man of deep piety, made a public statement that if the great agnostic came there any more he would arrest and try him for blasphemy. The justice also called the attention of the grand jury to the lectures.

Ingersoll was, of course, ready with his retort when he heard of what the jurist had said. He stigmatized Delaware as a state that had but three counties at low water and only one at high tide; that it was inhabited chiefly by oysters and clams, whose only reason for not migrating was that they had no legs. But, all the same, Colonel Bob didn't come to our town to lecture again."—Washington Post.

Becoming a British Subject.

It is an easy thing to become a British subject. All that an alien has to do is to declare his intention to reside within the British dominions on leaving his own country, and forthwith he takes out his naturalization papers, issued to him by the secretary of state upon his taking the oath of allegiance.

These papers invest him with the rights and privileges of a Britisher, except that he is barred from becoming a privy councillor or a member of parliament and also barred from accepting office under the crown. But if an alien be naturalized by special act of parliament passed for his own benefit then he becomes as much a British subject and has all the rights and privileges as though a native.

Sweet Innocence.

"When I grow up," said Ethel, with a dreamy, imaginative look, "I'm going to be a schoolteacher."

"Well, I'm going to be a mamma and have six children," said Edna.

"Well, when they come to school to me I'm going to whip 'em, whip 'em, whip 'em."

"You mean thing!" exclaimed Edna as the tears came into her eyes. "What have my poor children ever done to you?"

A Sad Discovery.

An old woman from Tasmania, sauntering through the chamber of horrors at Melbourne wax works, in Australia, recognized the figure of a hanged murderer (George Chamberlain) as that of her long lost son. Up to then the poor old woman had been hoping that her offspring would turn up at any time with an affectionate greeting and a big bag of money for mother.

IS IT RIGHT For an Editor to Recommend Patent Medicines?

(From Sylvan Valley News, Brevard, N.C.)
It may be a question whether the editor of a newspaper has the right to publicly recommend any of the various proprietary medicines which flood the market, yet as a preventative of suffering we feel it a duty to say a good word for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. We have known and used this medicine in our family for twenty years and have always found it reliable. In many cases a dose of this remedy would save hours of suffering while a physician is awaited. We do not believe in depending implicitly on any medicine for a cure, but we do believe that if a bottle of Chamberlain's Diarrhoea Remedy were kept on hand and administered at the inception of an attack much suffering might be avoided and in many cases the presence of a physician would not be needed and in very many cases the presence of a physician would not be required. At least this has been our experience during the past twenty years. For sale by T. E. Slattery, druggist.

An Epidemic of Diarrhoea.
Mr. A. Sanders, writing from Coconut Grove, Fla., says there has been quite an epidemic of diarrhoea there. He had a severe attack and was cured by four doses of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He says he also recommended it to others and they say it is the best medicine they ever used. Real Greatness.

An exchange gives this story of a pompous member of parliament who attended an agricultural show in Dublin. He arrived late and found himself on the outskirts of a huge crowd. Being anxious to obtain a good view for himself and a lady friend who accompanied him, and presuming that he was well known to the spectators, he tapped a burly coal porter on the shoulder and peremptorily demanded, "Make way there."
"Garn, who are you pushin'?" was the unexpected response.
"Do you know who I am, sir?" cried the indignant M. P. "I am a representative of the people."
"Yah," growled the porter, as he stood unmoved, "but we're the bloomin' people themselves."

Mrs. Grimes—Hide it away from the children? What then?
Mrs. Smarte—Then the children find it and eat up every morsel of it.—Boston Transcript.

His Repertory.

"What have you been playing during your present tour?"
"We played 'Hamlet' and 'King Lear' on the stage," answered Mr. Stormington Barnes.
"Were there no comedies in your repertory?"
"Only one. When we came to count up the box office receipts, it was usually 'Much Ado About Nothing.'"—Washington Star.

Odd Names of Maryland Farms.

The curious names given to tracts of land by the owners in olden times are illustrated in a conveyance encountered by a clerk in the record office recently while engaged in reorganizing the indexes. The deed in question is recorded in Liber W. G., No. 60, folio 57. It was executed in 1790 and conveyed from Joshua Stevenson to Richard Gettings five tracts of land in Baltimore county, the consideration being £200. The name of each tract and its dimensions are as follows: My Sweet Girl, My Friend and Pitcher, 62 acres; Here is Life Without Care and Love Without Fear, 41 1/4 acres; The Unexpected Discovery, 202 acres; Hug Me Snug, 15 acres, and Stevenson's Cow Pasture, With Little I am Content, 22 acres.—Baltimore Sun.

Evarts' Puns.

William M. Evarts, secretary of state under President Hayes, made perhaps his best and his worst puns from railway platforms while traveling with the presidential party.
They had ascended Mount Washington by the steep cable road, and other tourists, gathered there from all parts of the country, called for a speech. "We are not strangers," said Mr. Evarts genially. "We have all been born and brought up here."
At another time, when traveling through Tennessee, Mr. Evarts laid a wager with the young people of his party that he could make a pun upon each town through which they should pass. As they reached Chattanooga the crowd clamored for a speech. Mr. Evarts pleaded that as the train would stop but a moment he could only make a few Chattanoogaogatory remarks!
The unexpected element which characterizes a pun was marked in all the wit of Rufus Choate. "I can't endure X!" he once exclaimed of another famous Bostonian. "I should not care if I should never see him again." Then half remorsefully, "Well, I should not care if I should see him in a procession."

Making a Child Too Quiet.

Play is the proper and natural outlet for a child's thoughts. To restrain his motion is to drive back his living fancy into the recesses of his mind, and this results in his confusion and unhappiness. Some children who are forced to be still and passive when they are longing for action find relief in whispering over stories to themselves, but it is an unsatisfactory substitute for dramatic action. And it is also morally injurious, for the necessity of concealing one's ideas destroys after awhile the ability for fluent expression and brings about timidity and distrust of our friends.—Florence Hull Winterburn in Woman's Home Companion.

At this season, your system needs renovating. The internal organs are inactive. The waste matter is not eliminated but absorbed, thus contaminating the blood and debilitating the entire system. The nerve force is not replenished, consequently you are tired and have no energy. These symptoms are present in the Spring and after an epidemic of La-Grippe. To renovate the system and remove all bad effects of La-Grippe or Spring lassitude use Dr. Kay's Removator. It certainly has no equal. Send for proof of it. It is a perfect renovator and regulator of all internal organs, curing the very worst cases of stomach troubles, constipation and obscure liver and kidney complaints. Try it and you will wonder at its marvelous effects. Write us describing your case carefully and we will give you valuable advice free and send you a 116 page illustrated book of receipts etc. If druggists do not have it don't take any substitute they say is "just as good" for it has no equal. POLICEMEN AND BANDITS USE REVOLVERS.

Robbers Blow a Safe and Rob a House, but Finally Fall In with Officers of the Law—Queer Hiding Places for Money.

At Titusville, Pa., Night Watchman Derby at the New York Central yards was bound hand and foot and the safe blown open by three masked men, who secured about $100. They then proceeded to hold up a house near by, where they secured money and jewelry valued at about $500, and were about to depart with their booty when overhauled by Chief of Police McGrath and Patrolman Sheehy.

LOCOMOTIVE HITS A STREET CAR.

Five Persons Injured at a Railway Crossing in Cleveland, Ohio.

A locomotive drawing a caboose struck a street car on Detroit street at the Lake Shore Railroad crossing in Cleveland, wrecking it. Five persons were injured and that nearly everyone in the car was not killed outright is marvelous. The car contained eight persons and the locomotive, after knocking it over, plowed through it and smashed it into bits.

HUNTER SLAIN BY A FARMER.

OFFICIAL COUNT REQUIRED.

Kentucky Parties Wrangle Over Result of the Election.

The uncertainty regarding the result of Tuesday's election in Kentucky is not likely to be removed for some time. Both sides still claim victory, the State chairman of each party asserting that his ticket has a plurality of about 4,000. Press Association returns from Republican sources give Taylor a plurality of 3,438, while those from Democratic sources make Goebel's plurality 341. These latter cover all but thirty-five precincts in the State, although several reports from counties give estimated pluralities instead of actual.

Feeling among the factions has been aggravated rather than allayed by the developments since election. Excited meetings are being held in many parts of the State to protest against frauds which it is alleged are contemplated by the leaders. Nothing short of the official count will determine the result and it is a foregone conclusion that the announcement of that count will simply change the scene of conflict to the courts or the Legislature, where it will appear in the form of a contest.

THE HESSIAN FLY.

Wheat Crop's Great Enemy at Work in Illinois and Michigan.

Word comes from sections of Michigan and also from parts of Illinois that the Hessian fly is destroying the wheat. This insect, which is now recognized the most serious enemy of wheat in this country, is so named because it is supposed to have been brought to America by Great Britain during the revolutionary war. It is a small, dusky midge, measuring about one-tenth of an inch in length. Its larva, which does the damage to the wheat stalks, is a small yellowish or reddish maggot. There are two broods of Hessian flies annually, the first laying eggs in April or May and the second in September. The remedies are late sowing, sowing hardy varieties, and burning over the infested districts. The pest was terribly destructive in 1871 and during the years 1876-78.

HESSIAN FLY, ITS LARVA, AND INFESTED STALK OF WHEAT.

ENGLAND IS OUT OF SAMOA.

Germany and United States Take Title to the Islands.

It is announced officially that Great Britain renounces her rights in Samoa in favor of Germany. Under the Anglo-German agreement, which is subject to the approval of the United States, Germany comes into possession of the larger islands of Upolu and Savaii, and the United States retains control of Tutuila. Germany renounces all rights to the Tonga islands, 350 miles from Samoa; the Savage islands, midway between Samoa and Tonga, and cedes to Great Britain two islands in the Solomon group and makes certain concessions to Great Britain in South Africa.

The main interest of the United States in Samoa is in the harbor of Pango-Pango and the possession of the island of Tutuila. This Government has never claimed control of any of the other islands, but joined in a treaty with Great Britain and Germany because of the interests of American citizens in the plantations of Upolu. The commission appointed to settle the controversies as to the land titles confirmed the titles of Germans to 75,000 acres, the British to 36,000, and the Americans to 21,000 acres.

BRITONS ARE BLUE.

REVERSES IN SOUTH AFRICA SPREAD WIDE DISMAY.

Alarming Rumors and War Office Reticence Serve to Stir London—Free State Successes and Annexation Edicts Influence the Dutch.

The occupation of Colesburg by the Boers was a complete surprise to the British. It has caused the greatest feeling of uneasiness, as the advance may mean the engaging of Buller's forces as fast as they arrive at De Aar, the point where the British general contemplates gathering his army corps preparatory to a campaign against Bloemfontein and Pretoria. Colesburg is just south of the Orange Free State border in Cape Colony.

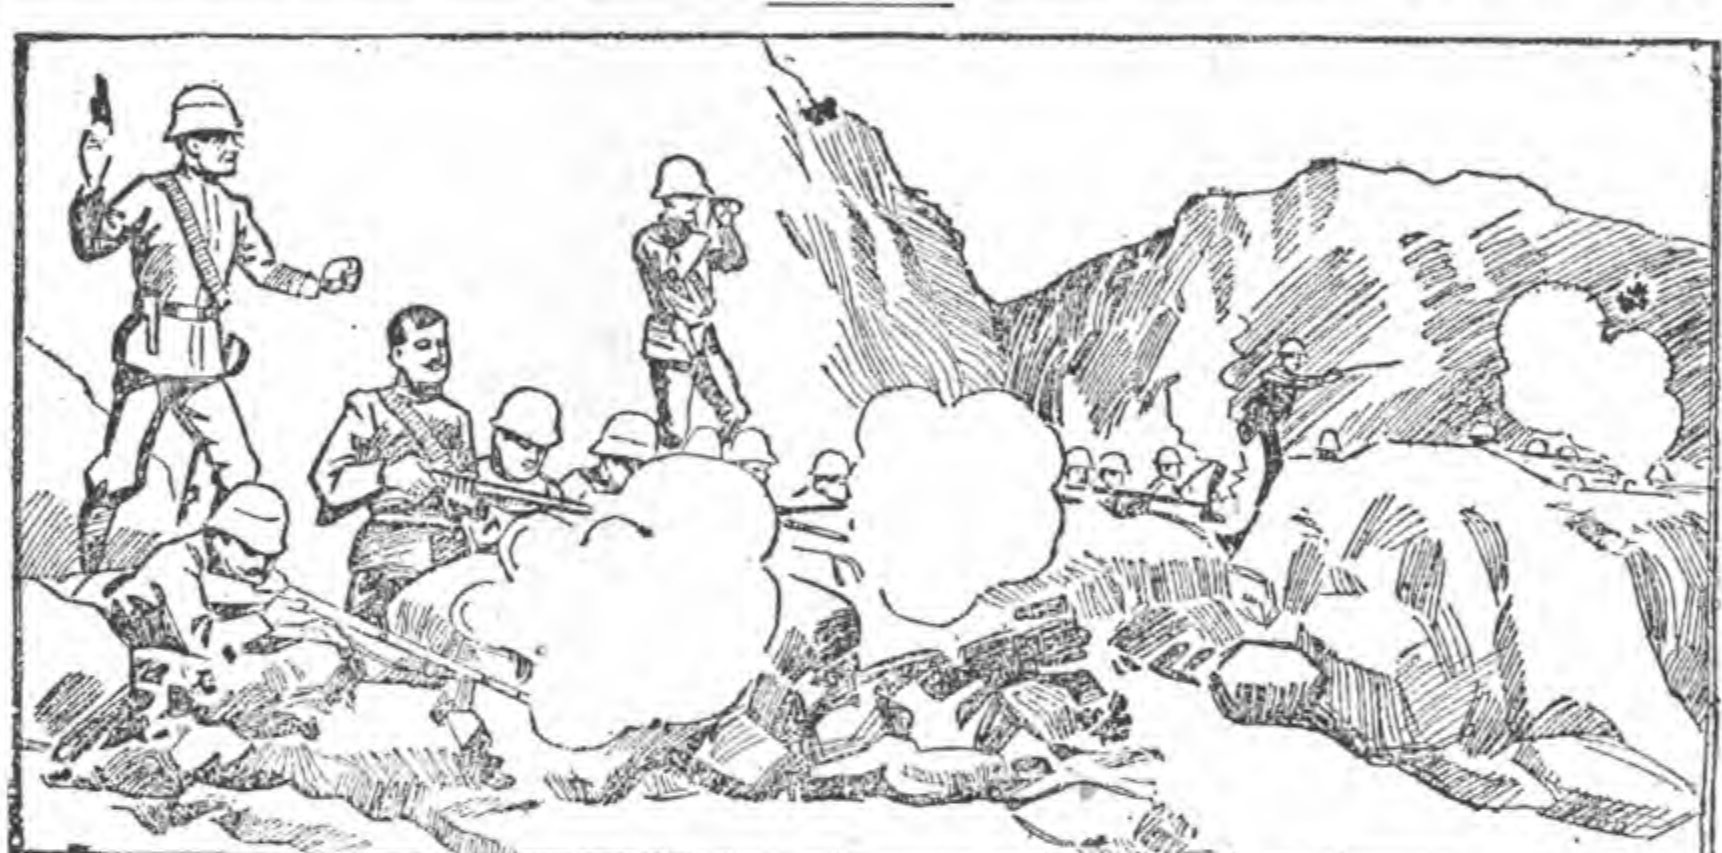

Details at hand show that the advance of the Boers was accompanied by the destruction of all bridges and the tearing up of all manner of transit facilities. The British retirement to Estcourt has given the impression that it is intended to make a stand there. Estcourt is the last important town between the Boers and the capital of Natal, and if the Boers sweep past Estcourt nothing can stop them from laying siege to Pietermaritzburg, which cannot be expected to make a protracted defense, while its fall would be a tremendous blow to British prestige throughout South Africa.

The British retirement south of Colenso has given the Boers an opportunity to make a bid for the active support of the disaffected Dutch in Natal by proclaiming the annexation of the upper Tugela section. Thus far the Dutch colonists seem to have confined their sympathy with the invading Boers to a Platonic emotion. Except for surreptitious assistance there is no evidence that they have yet joined the Boers openly in any appreciable numbers.

Boer and British Preparedness.

Since the British have met reverses in Natal there is some disposition to criticize the government for not having dispatched larger numbers of troops at an earlier stage. The war preparations, it is asserted, were not made to keep pace

HOW BRITISH OFFICERS GET KILLED IN THE BOER WAR.

The extraordinary fatality among the leaders of the English soldiers in actions at Smith Hill and Elandslaagte is clearly explained in this picture. While the men in the rushes up the kopjes took advantage of every cover, the officers esteemed it their duty to stand erect. In this position they became conspicuous quarry for the Boer marksmen.

with the political movements of the government. It is asserted that this criticism overlooks the wily nature of the Boer officials, who had no mind to allow a possible enemy to take his time in getting ready to crush them.

Had troops been earlier dispatched to South Africa in large numbers the Boer ultimatum simply would have been delivered sooner. Nothing would have been gained by that procedure, therefore. Had the British refrained longer from moving to concentrate troops in South Africa the ultimatum would have been longer delayed and the beginning of the war would have been postponed to correspond. The Boers have been watching the British with suspicious eye for years, constantly preparing for the conflict they feared. They meant to strike whenever they saw the British moving for advantageous position. It was inevitable, therefore, that the British, if they meant to invite war in South Africa, must enter the conflict with the odds against them at the outset. The British War Office announced at midnight Monday that no dispatches had

WAR NEWS IN BRIEF.

The rising of one tribe of natives in South Africa means the rising of all. European journals print the strongest anti-British reports with no concealment of rejoicing.

Twenty missionaries have arrived at Durban from Swaziland after many narrow escapes. Thirty-five hundred Boers crossed the bridge at Bethulia, destroying sections of the railroad near that place.

British military experts see in the Natal situation the worst that the country has faced since certain events in the Crimean war. The Boer farms are being worked by the women and Kaffirs. All the farms send regular contributions of supplies to the Boer commissary.

The humanity of both armies in caring for the wounded and the courteous exchange of prisoners are among the redeeming features of the hostilities. Dispatches from Cape Colony points indicate extreme disaffection among the Cape Dutch, who are exulting over the Boer successes in Natal and are verging on an outbreak.

Reports show that while the British still hold De Aar and the Orange river bridge the Boers have the latter undermined, thus commanding the route from Cape Town to Kimberley.

All the Cape railways are now in the hands of the military authorities. Five hundred tons of foodstuffs were seized on board the steamship Maria at Durban, consigned to Delagoa bay for the Transvaal.

The thirty-four fresh British battalions ordered are to report at once. It is evident that the war department is determined to crush the Transvaal even if in Kruger's words England does pay a price that "will stagger humanity."

been received beyond those already made public. Not a solitary official item of news was posted for nearly twenty-four hours. This gave rise to a crop of rumors that Ladysmith's ammunition was exhausted; that Sir George Stewart White was mortally wounded; that both facts were being concealed and that other unalloyed happenings had taken place. Advice from other parts of South Africa were distinctly unpalatable to the British, and everything points to a critical situation.

STRENGTH OF THE BOERS.

British Government Expert Estimates Have Been Grossly Inaccurate.

More news from South Africa shows how inaccurate have been the estimates of the intelligence department and the governmental experts. It is gleaned therefrom that a fair estimate of the Boer forces is as follows:

Table listing Boer forces: Around Ladysmith (25,000), Traversing Zululand (4,000), Advancing on Burgersdorp (5,000), Colesburg (3,000), Kimberley (7,000), Mafeking (4,500), On the northern Transvaal border (2,000).

Exact information about the Boer artillery is lacking, but it is known that Gen. Joubert's detachment, before it was re-enforced, consisted of sixteen Krupp field pieces of the latest pattern and two heavy Crouzet siege guns, which, but for the opportune arrival of the British naval brigade, would have rendered Ladysmith untenable.

CRUISER CHARLESTON MEETS WITH DISASTER.

Warship Is Lost While Patrolling the Northwest Coast of Luzon—Officers and Crew Make Their Escape from the Unlucky Fighting Craft.

The United States cruiser Charleston, which had been patrolling the northern coast of Luzon, was wrecked on a reef Tuesday, Nov. 7. All on board were saved. The Charleston had been employed cruising off the north coast of Luzon, intercepting vessels carrying arms to the Filipino insurgents. The cruiser was the vessel which took possession of Guam on her way to join Admiral Dewey, whom she supported with efficiency in the capture of Manila.

The Charleston, which was built in San Francisco in 1888, had a displacement of 3,730 tons, was 312 feet 7 inches in length, 46 feet 2 inches in beam and 21 feet 8 inches in draught. She was of steel, having two propellers, one funnel and two masts with military tops. The Charleston has been in Asiatic waters more than a year. She was one of the first vessels to be sent to Manila after the destruction of the Spanish fleet by Admiral Dewey, the Navy Department utilizing her for the purpose of sending ammunition and other supplies for the Asiatic station. Just previous to her assignment to that duty she had undergone an overhauling at the Mare Island navy yard, San Francisco, and therefore was in prime condition for her duties.

The Charleston sailed from San Francisco on May 18 last. She was heavily laden with ammunition for Admiral Dewey's fleet. She carried a crew of 330 men and no troops.

Chases Chilean Warship.

One of the most memorable episodes in the career of the Charleston was her pursuit and capture of the filibustering cruiser Itata at the time when the United States and Chili were very near to war in 1891. The Itata, primarily a merchant vessel, had been enlisted in the aid of the congressional party in Chili while civil war was raging there, and put to sea from San Diego, Cal., May 6 in defiance of United States laws, with a United States marshal virtually a prisoner on board. At sea the Itata took on a cargo of arms and ammunition from the American schooner Robert and Miami, and with it set sail for the Chilean coast.

The Charleston on May 9 started in pursuit of the Itata with orders to take her at all hazards. The memorable stern chase lasted twenty-five days. Many thought a naval battle would occur, for it was presumed that the Esmeralda, a powerful ironclad, would attempt to protect the Itata, but no occasion for a fight arose.

When, on June 4, the Charleston arrived at Iquique she learned for the first time that the Chilean insurgents, fearing trouble with the United States, had consented to hand over the Itata with all her cargo.

The runaway shortly steamed into Iquique and was surrendered to Admiral McCann, in charge of the United States fleet. The Charleston escorted the captive cruiser back to San Francisco and international complications with the Latin-American republic were averted.

FOOTBALL GAMES.

Results of the Leading Contests on the Gridiron Saturday.

Results of the leading football games played Saturday:

- Pennsylvania, 11; Michigan, 10. Wisconsin, 23; Illinois, 0. Chicago, 76; Northwestern, 0. Harvard, 11; Dartmouth, 0. Yale, 42; Pennsylvania State, 0. Princeton, 12; Carlsle, 0. Columbia, 16; West Point, 0. Lafayette, 6; Cornell, 5. Beloit, 5; Minnesota, 5. Brown, 38; Massachusetts, 0.

As a result of the games settled Saturday three teams—Harvard, Yale and Princeton—may now be regarded as leading in the East. Pennsylvania's victory over Michigan was by no means decisive, a 11 to 10 score being practically a tie. Chicago's defeat of Northwestern was impressive, but the form displayed by the victors was even more significant of their worth than was the big score. Wisconsin trounced Illinois, which had already been beaten by Michigan. Brown's victory over the Massachusetts Institute of Technology proves little.

A comparison of the relative merits of teams in the West shows that Chicago, Wisconsin and Michigan are virtually on a par. Wisconsin and Michigan will settle their standing on Thanksgiving day. After that Chicago's recent showing against Pennsylvania may be compared with that of Michigan, both against the Quakers and against the Badgers, and a conclusion possibly reached. If Wisconsin and Michigan display about equal ability the Western championship will necessarily be still in doubt.

THE CUMULATIVE EFFECT.

Just a little every day. That's the way! Seeds in darkness, swell and grow, Tiny blades push through the snow. Never any flower of May Leaps to blossom in a burst; Slowly—slowly, at the first, That's the way! Just a little every day. Just a little every day. That's the way! Children learn to read and write Bit by bit and mite by mite; Never any one, I say, Leaps to knowledge and its power; Slowly—slowly—hour by hour, That's the way! Just a little every day. —Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

MR. SPENS.

"I've always brought you up to expect that I would do something for you, Rupert, and I will—but I confess I am disappointed. As my heir you would have a right to aspire to almost any marriage . . . but the daughter of a country rector, one of seven children, nobody in particular, no connections—" "She's the most beautiful creature you ever saw." "Of course," said Sir Spenthorne Carnac drily. "That goes without saying." "Wait till you see her, Uncle Spen." "I'm beginning to be quite fired with curiosity. If she's all you say, my boy, I wonder what she saw in you!" The tall old man, with the iron gray hair and long mustache, shading a well cut, expressive mouth, smiled as he looked down at his nephew. "If I were a woman I should prefer some one over five foot six." "All women don't worship thews and sinews," said Rupert Carnac impatiently. "Lucky for you they don't, my boy. Well, you really think the beauty cares for you? You don't imagine that the fact of your being my heir has anything to do with it?" Rupert smiled a fatuous smile, which made his uncle long to shake him. "You think yourself very worldlywise, Uncle Spen, and all that, don't you know; but you're on the wrong tack this time. I told them nothing about my prospects, and if Meriel has accepted me I presume it's for myself." "H'm—the daughter of a country parson, seven brothers and sisters, etc. . . . However, I will see the girl for myself. And so that she should not be on her good behavior—rich uncle and all that, don't you know—I'll go down to Systed and stay at the inn. There's a trout stream, and I'll be supposed to be attracted by the fishing. Nobody need find out who I really am and I can easily make acquaintance with the parson." "Yes, if you go to church he will probably call." Sir Spenthorne Carnac intimated that he was prepared to make even that sacrifice in the interests of his nephew. And as the two men separated on the steps of the Naval and Military, the stalwart old soldier could not help once more wondering what the deuce the girl (if she was all Rupert said) could have seen in the little chap. "Certainly, sir, you can have the rooms, and the fishing is especially good just now." "Well, that just suits me. Can I have some dinner?" "Yes, sir; certainly, sir. Er—what name did you say?" "Spens." "Thank you, sir." As the landlady left the room Sir Spenthorne Carnac walked up to the diamond paned windows of the little inn parlor, and looked across the road to where stood a small white house, the abode, he knew from his nephew's description, of the rector. Presently down the dusty road came a girl dressed in white, a tall and finely proportioned figure, clad in plain serge, with a sailor hat. The way the girl carried her head impressed Sir Spenthorne. "By Jove, I suppose that's one of Lord Lauder's daughters," he said to himself. "I know they live somewhere hereabout. Now, if Rupert had fancied a girl like that—" The girl was coming up the garden path, and Sir Spenthorne caught sight of great brown eyes, chestnut hair, and a complexion like a wild rose. "Yes, Miss Meriel, dear?" "Can you let us have some eggs?" "A few, Miss Meriel. We've got a gentleman come here for the fishing, and I'll be wanting them for him. He's a real gentleman." Sir Spenthorne smiled in his long gray mustache at this description of himself. "Who was that?" he asked of Mrs. Bartlett after the departure of the young lady. "That's Miss Meriel Ray, the daughter of the rector." "A great favorite in the village, I suppose?"

"Miss Meriel, sir—we call her the Ray of sunshine, bless her?" The good woman enlarged for some time on Miss Meriel's perfections, and was perhaps surprised at the extraordinary patience with which her guest listened to her long story. "I wonder this charming young lady has not married," said Sir Spenthorne. "Well, now, sir," said Mrs. Bartlett confidentially, "there is a young man—he be a bit undersized, to be sure—but Mr. Ray would be glad to see one of his daughters married—he has seven children, you must know, and gals are not just so easy to settle nowadays. . . . And it is said in the village that Miss Meriel she's doing it to please her pa, and make room for her younger sisters. But here's your dinner, sir." Sir Spenthorne walked up and down before the door of the inn smoking, reflecting on Rupert and his love affairs. It certainly was astonishing to see the sort of men women will marry—astonishing! On the other side of the road there presently appeared the tall figure of a clergyman. Sir Spenthorne went across, and, taking off his hat, inquired if the rector could advise him as to the best sort of fly to use on the river, as he was a stranger in Systed. The Rev. Thomas Ray, himself a devotee of the gentle sport, took in with a swift glance the tall upright figure, the deep blue eyes and the well cut, powerful face of his interlocutor. "What a handsome fellow!" he thought, "even now—for the age of the stranger could not be less than fifty. I should be delighted to tell you anything in my power," he said aloud. And the two men walked amicably down the road together between the sweet June hedges. This walk was the beginning of a quickly ripening friendship. Meriel showed the way to the best pools. Sir Spenthorne invented the most wonderful picnics and al fresco teas for the children. When he wasn't by the river he was at the rector's house, and perpetually in the company of Meriel. Sir Spenthorne had never married, because years and years ago a girl had jilted him, and yet his heart was as full of reverence for women as a boy's. Never had he come across one who fulfilled his whole ideal of womanhood until he met Meriel. He hardly realized which way things were drifting—was not Meriel engaged to Rupert, and was not he, Sir Spenthorne, the rich, elderly uncle, who had come to make all things smooth for them? As he returned to his inn one evening after a delightful expedition in the woods with Meriel and half a dozen young brothers and sisters he found a telegram waiting for him: "Am coming down to-morrow—getting anxious. RUPERT." Sir Spenthorne felt his heart suddenly grow cold. Good heaven! What folly was this? Why should he mind his nephew coming down? he asked himself, impatiently—but in his heart of hearts Sir Spenthorne knew the reason why. He put the telegram in his pocket and walked across the road to the rector's house. The small servant showed him in. "Mr. Spens" was quite a friend of the family. Meriel was alone, filling a china bowl with June roses. Her face was flushed, and there were traces of tears on her cheeks. "What is it?" asked "Mr. Spens," taking her hand. "Nothing." "Nothing—and you are crying?" "I'm a fool," cried Meriel passionately. "It's nothing; there is a man who wants to marry me—father wishes it and I've said 'yes,' and he's coming down to-morrow; that's all." "But," said "Mr. Spens" gently, "don't you like him?" Meriel turned a scared face to him. "I didn't mind him—at first," she said. "Well?" "Well—nothing." The girl turned to the window and looked out into the shadowy evening. "Tell me," said "Mr. Spens" with a sudden thrill in his voice—"tell me all about it." "There's nothing to tell. He was a nice little man, and he asked father, and father said if he died there would be nothing for us, and it would comfort him to know one of his daughters was provided for. And though father looks well and strong, it seems he has something wrong with his heart, and he might die at any time—and so I said yes." "I see," said "Mr. Spens" quietly. "But why is it more tragic now than before?" But Meriel wouldn't answer him, and kept her head obstinately turned away, and "Mr. Spens" rose. "I see it's no use asking you to confide in me," he said at last. Then Meriel turned on him. "Oh, go, go!" she cried. And Sir Spenthorne, turning, left the room without another word. "My God!" he said to himself as he walked across the road to the inn, "I believe she might have liked me, old fellow as I am." "What an awful thing!" "Yes, it's a desperate business. I have telegraphed to the young fellow she's engaged to."

"Have you told him it's smallpox?" "Yes." "Look here, Ray, there's something I want to tell you. I am Rupert Carnac's uncle. I wanted to see the girl he was going to marry to have the opportunity of judging her, and I had made up my mind to make things right for them." "Heaven knows if there will be any 'right,'" said the poor rector, too distracted to give much heed to Sir Spenthorne's words. "Ah! thank goodness, there is Rupert." A fly drove up to the door of the inn, and Rupert, looking somewhat flurried, got out. "Of course, I came at once," he said, in an embarrassed tone; "but I hope Meriel does not expect to see me. Smallpox is an awfully infectious thing." "My daughter does not even know that I have sent for you," said the rector, stiffly. "I thought it right to do so—she is very ill." His voice broke, and he turned impatiently away. He had urged his daughter to accept Rupert Carnac, and he did not quite like the light in which Rupert was showing himself. Sir Spenthorne said nothing, but his lips tightened, and there was a look on his face the reverse of complimentary to his nephew. During the weeks that followed young Rupert was very much bored, and only the fear of his uncle kept him in Systed. Sir Spenthorne rather avoided his nephew, and was, besides, too desperately anxious to care for anybody's society. The terrible illness dragged its weary length along, but at last a day came when the doctors pronounced Meriel to be out of danger, and said that she might see Rupert. When the young man was admitted into the darkened room and caught sight of the swollen face and blurred features dimly seen in the uncertain light, he tried in vain to conceal his feelings. "It's horrible, isn't it?" she asked, wistfully. "No one could love me now." Rupert was silent from embarrassment. "You know you are quite free, Rupert," Meriel raised herself on her elbow and looked into her lover's face. The change which illness had wrought in hers appalled him. "You are free, Rupert, she repeated. "No, no," said Rupert, weakly. "Yes, yes," said Meriel, cheerfully. "Take your freedom, Rupert. You know you are thankful in your heart." Rupert stood looking awkwardly down at her. "Uncle Spen will be furious," he said at last. "He thinks the world and all of you." "Uncle Spen?" "Yes, my uncle, Sir Spenthorne Carnac. You only knew him as 'Mr. Spens.' The fact is, he had heard of our engagement, and wanted to take stock of you without letting you guess who he really was. I'm afraid he'll pitch into me about this." A slow smile broke over Meriel's face. "I think I can make your peace with him," she said. "Is it true, Meriel, is it true that all is at an end between you and Rupert? Tell me, my darling, is there—is there a chance for me?" Sir Spenthorne Carnac was kneeling beside Meriel's sofa, her thin wasted hand in his. The girl looked up. "You want to marry me, now my looks are all gone?" "I love you—I want you—and I don't care about anything else!" But a few months after, when, thanks to a clever German specialist, young Lady Carnac had lost all traces of her illness, and Sir Spenthorne was inordinately proud of his beautiful wife, Rupert declared that he had been abominately treated, and that Lady Carnac was the most mercenary and deceitful of women.

RECORD OF THE WEEK INDIANA INCIDENTS TERSELY TOLD. Jeffersonville Officers Battle with a Safe Blower—Peoria and Eastern Fast Express Wrecked—No Advance for Coal Miners—Suicide in a Cistern. Sergt. Kendall and Watchman Clayton discovered burglars in the office of the Ohio Falls chain works at Jeffersonville blowing open the safe. Sergt. Kendall started on a run for the office, but was met by a man who, with a pistol in his hand, ordered him to halt. The officer instead opened fire and a lively battle followed, each man emptying his revolver. During this fight the man in the office made his escape. The other man was wounded by the bullets from the officer's revolver, but managed to get away. Thirty dollars was secured from the safe. Miners Refused an Advance. A joint meeting of block coal operators and miners was held at Brazil to discuss the request made by the miners for an advance in the scale of mining. The operators refused to grant an increase, but agreed to sell coal to their employes for $1.50 at the mines, which is 50 cents below the block market price. The miners referred the matter to the various local unions for consideration. Engineer Heller Injured. The fast express on the Peoria and Eastern Railroad was wrecked at Clermont. The engine turned over; the mail car, baggage car and two coaches left the track, but none of them was overturned. Engineer J. Heller of Indianapolis was slightly injured. His fireman escaped unhurt. None of the passengers was injured. Drowned Herself in a Cistern. Miss Barbara Frank of Newburg committed suicide by jumping into a cistern. She was engaged to be married to a young man at Joliet, Ill. Within Our Borders. Berry Billheimer, Peru, was killed by a train. Molding sand has been discovered at Muncie. National bank will be started at Centerville. Burned Knightstown Masonic temple will be rebuilt. John Long's 17-year-old daughter, insane, Fort Wayne, is missing. Central conference of gospel workers, is a new religious sect in Madison County. The Odd Fellows' Hall block at Ladoga was burned, causing a loss of about $30,000. Trustees will add 15,000 volumes to the library at the State normal school, Terre Haute. Funeral of Rector J. A. Maglone, Episcopal minister, Sunday, was the largest in Anderson's history. F. P. Wilt, Fort Wayne, is at the head of a company to start a wholesale grocery, with $100,000 capital. Dr. R. F. Lipes, Fort Wayne, was fined for failure to report a case of diphtheria, under the new law. George Nickum and Nellie Everling, Elwood lovers, shot at each other, and are now in the coop. Each pleads self-defense. Power house for the Indianapolis-Greenfield electric line will be built at Greenfield, and must be completed by April 1, 1900. At Vincennes, Hattie E. Young was granted a divorce from James A. Young, and before the ink was dry on the records she was married to Edgar Warren. Postoffice at French was surrounded by the sheriff and a posse, and a swarthy, smooth-faced, stoop-shouldered robber, with a kit of safe-blowing tools, was captured. At Muncie Ray Haileroff, aged 23, swallowed poison because he imagined that his young wife did not love him. He had written a letter confessing his jealousy. Mayor A. F. Kinsley, Hartford City, was cleared of the charge of shooting Carney Capper, who was with a crowd of boys prowling around the Mayor's back yard. William Shumaker, 80, Union City, probably the wealthiest negro in Indiana, is dead. He came from the South in an early day, and began as a farm hand. His wealth goes to an only son. John Giddings' sweetheart jilted him and he went to a school house near Os-good, climbed a tree, tied one end of a rope around his neck and the other to a limb, shot a hole through his heart, and then tumbled off his perch and hung till morning. Mrs. Hauter, Fort Wayne, took her sister's 7-year-old baby and refused to give it up, because she said her sister would not wash it. When the humane officer went with the mother to reclaim the child there was no wise Solomon present, so the women fought it out. The Middletown opera house block was burned and the Middletown News, Joseph Lambert, proprietor, was badly scorched. The total loss $4,000, with $3,000 insurance. An overheated natural gas stove in the News office caused the fire. The opera house will be rebuilt. Thad Durff, while rowing with Miss Maude Kimion at Leavenworth, deliberately capsized the skiff and would have succeeded in drowning the girl but that her cries brought another skiff to her rescue. Miss Kimion clung desperately to the overturned skiff while Durff strove to tear her loose. Seeing relief coming he made his way to the Kentucky shore and escaped. Durff, who is a bookkeeper, had sought Miss Kimion's hand in marriage and been refused.

THE PUBLIC OPINION. The announcement is made that Maud Gonne, widely known as the Irish Queen of Arc, is about to start for South Africa, determined to help the Boers against the English, whom she hates as bitterly as does Paul Kruger. Miss Gonne is the daughter of Col. Gonne, once an attaché of the British legation at St. Petersburg. She was educated in Ireland, where her father had large estates and was classed as one of the strongest supporters of the policy of coercion. When she was 19 her father died and she at once embraced the cause of the Fenians. She soon became one of the most bitter of the Fenian orators and was arrested and sentenced to serve six months in prison. She has since visited the United States and Italy, everywhere preaching undying enmity to England. It is now reported that she is going to South Africa with the idea of actually leading the Irish adherents of the Boers into battle. All Sicily will celebrate the eightieth anniversary of the birth of Francisco Crispi. There he is regarded as one of the greatest men the world has produced, while even in the towns of northern Italy there will be celebrations in his honor. In spite of the generally admitted fact that he took bribes as a legislator, and blackmailed Italian financial institutions, his services to his country have given him popularity, while his practical retirement from public life has softened the animosity of his political rivals. Even his bitterest enemies will contribute to the apotheosis of the man who has been called the "Bismarck of Italy." Like their colleagues of the mounted police in Canada, the Cape Colony police are picked men, used to fighting, and proud of the high reputation of their corps. The force consists of 2,000 enlisted men and 68 officers. The men are recruited almost entirely in England, and are, many of them, the younger sons of gentlemen, who have no means of making a livelihood at home. They are mounted and are paid $500 a year, out of which they are obliged to keep not only themselves but their horses. They are said to cherish a particularly bitter hatred of the Boers. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt of Brooklyn succeeds Miss Susan B. Anthony, retired, as president of the National Association of the Woman Suffrage Societies. This fact was announced during a meeting of the Philadelphia Woman Suffrage Society. The new president is a popular young college woman and has for a number of years been associated with Miss Anthony in advancing the work of the organization. Before Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt started on the trip around the world, called back by the death of his father, it was reported that he was engaged to be married to Miss Elsie French of New York. Now the report is again revived. Miss French is a young woman of 19, and the daughter of the late Francis O. French, formerly president of the Miss Elsie French Manhattan Trust Company. She has an independent fortune of her own, having been left between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000 by the will of her father. As Jules Guerin and the twenty-one other admirable associates of the Duke of Orleans are languishing in confinement, the important exile has formed a new committee in Paris, the most important member of which is the Duc de Luynes, an active and able propagandist. True, M. Royer Lambelin is the nominal president, but sometimes it is convenient that the real head of a conspiracy should apparently occupy an inferior position.

Culver Academy.

Mrs. R. H. Aishton, of Boone, Iowa, was here Monday visiting her son.

W. A. Payton, of Danville, Ill., visited his son at the academy Saturday.

C. H. Campbell, of Shelbyville, Ind., made his son a visit Saturday.

Judge Walker Given, of the Supreme Bench of Iowa, spent Tuesday with his son at the academy. The Judge is greatly interested in Military affairs, being a veteran of the Mexican War.

Capt. Floyd's mother was here Tuesday, visiting her son.

Cadet Patten of Palatine, Ill., returned to the academy Sunday after a short leave of absence.

F. S. Osborn and Miss Osborn, of Chicago, were at the academy Friday, Saturday, and Sunday visiting son and brother.

Wednesday afternoon the "Black Horse Troop" was excused infantry drill, and they put in the time practicing for the Thanksgiving exhibition.

Capt. Floyd is able to assume his duties again, after an illness of nearly two weeks.

Capt. Eisenhard has received a rain gauge from the Weather Bureau at Washington, which will be placed upon the roof of the main barracks and a careful record will be kept of amount of moisture that falls.

The first and second foot ball team were excused drill Tuesday that they might practice on the grid-iron. The first team made four touchdowns and Anderson made a place kick from the field. The foot-ball men take a run every morning after reveille, and they are getting fine wind and wonderful endurance.

Next Saturday afternoon, a game of foot ball that promises to be the closest one of the season, will be played upon the home grounds between C. M. A. and Morgan Park Academy. Morgan Park claims the championship of the Inter Academic League which is composed of teams in and around Chicago, and is undoubtedly the strongest secondary school team in the "Windy City." December 1st, we play Hyde Park High School, the champions of the High School League of Chicago, and if we defeat these teams, we can justly claim the championship of the secondary school teams of the West.

It is hoped that all of the regular men will be able to play Saturday, and as Stifel is again in harness, after being laid up for over a week, and Campbell has returned from his leave of absence, and Bigwood has regained the use of his leg which was broken in the Lafayette game, we may see our hopes realized. C. M. A. is very fortunate in having a full set of substitute backs, viz: Crawford, quarter-back; Morris, Proctor, and Parrock, half backs; and Jackson W., full-back, although the latter is laid up at present, and will be unable to play Saturday.

The probable line up for Saturday's game is as follows:

- Bodman, l. e.
- Gray, l. t.
- Rietz or Kieselhorst, l. g.
- Campbell, c.
- Voris, r. g.
- Rietz or Akin, r. t.
- Canfield, r. e.
- Anderson, q. b.
- Bauman, l. h. b.
- Bigwood or Parrock, r. h. b.
- Stifel, f. b.

Substitutes: Wood J. center; March, guard; Crawford, quarter-back; Proctor, half back; Morris, full-back; Beyer and Harrison, ends.

Last Saturday afternoon C. M. A. team added another victory to their list by defeating Lewis Institute, of Chicago, by a score of 30-0. Owing to circumstances, we are unable to give a full detail of account of the game, suffice it to say, as usual, Culver was not scored against. It was the most interesting game thus far this season.

Dr. Wohlgenuth, of Springfield, Ill., visited Capt. Floyd, Tuesday.

Sarah Grand in the American Queen in a lengthy article tells when a girl should marry. We have not read the article, but unless she advises a girl to marry when she gets a chance Sarah will find that her advice will not be taken seriously.

The first thing requisite in all intercourse between men is honesty. A pessimist is a man who grows because he cannot wear his shoes interchangeably.

The kind-hearted man feels bitterly the difficulty of excusing himself without accusing others.

Thoughts unexpressed are only half possessed.

Don't jest with strangers. Nine times out of ten they will misunderstand you.

They Don't Know Nerves.
Those who know the Chinese best have been particularly struck with their absence of nerves. The foreigner fidgets, the native sits still; balmy sleep, especially in hot weather, will resist the foreigner's sweetest wooing, while to the native lying on a heap of stones or across the bars of a wheelbarrow she comes as a matter of course; we need constant change and variety, they would find contentment and rest on the treadmill.

"It would be easy," says Mr. Smith, "to raise in China an army of 1,000,000 men—nay, 10,000,000—tested by competitive examination as to their capacity to go to sleep across three wheelbarrows, with heads downward, like a spider, their mouths wide open and a fly inside!"

From which it is evident, says The North China Herald, that in a crusade against noise we can hope for no assistance from our native fellow townsmen, but instead a great amount of vis inertiae, if not positive opposition.

A Chinese Dooley.
Two Irishmen stood at Gates avenue and Bedford street discussing a Chinese laundry sign.

"Kin ye say it, Pat?"
"Where?"
"There. Don't ye say it?"
"Oh, Oi do now."
"Well, they say a Chinaman's first name is his last name. Do ye blave it, Pat?"
"Yis."
"Then rade it backward."
"But rade it furrud furst, an it spells Lee Dew."
"But rade it backward, man."
"D-e-w, Do; L-e-e, Le—Dooley."
"Roight ye are, Pat, an Dooley is a foine old Irish name, but it's the furst toime in me loife Oi iver heard of a Chinese with an OIrish name. He ought to hang, the spalpeen."—New York Press.

His Style.
"I have been considering your application for an editorial position," said the managing editor, "and I sent for you today that I might get some idea of your style."
"Just so," replied the bright young man. "Well, you will observe, I am wearing a blue suit, plain, but well cut, and a brown soft hat; quite the proper thing for this time of the year. Will I do?"

When you unload your pocketbook in a good cause, you also remove a load from your conscience. You feel better, and so does every one concerned.—Denver News.

IN THE NORTHERN PART of Michigan there are extensive tracts of hardwood timber which are beginning to attract attention since hardwood has come to be so much in demand. It is said that the owners of this timber are disposing of it rapidly and that at the rate at which it is going, there will be none of it left in 12 years from now. After so much has been said in regard to the wholesale denudation of our timbered lands one would naturally suppose that the people would be a little more economical than they are in the disposition of the remaining timber. Prodigality in the use of our natural resources is a characteristic failing of the American people. They will need to be taught many lessons in economy before they will be likely to husband their resources as they should do and as the people of many other countries have long been doing.

Spent a Good Farm Doctoring.

A Word to Mothers.

Mothers of children affected with croup or a severe cold need not hesitate to administer Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It contains no opiate nor narcotic in any form and may be given as confidently to babe as to an adult. The great success that has attended its use in the treatment of colds and croup has won for it the approval and praise it has received throughout the United States and in many foreign lands. For sale by T. E. Slattery, druggist.

No Right to Ugliness.

The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good-looking, charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at T. E. Slattery's drug store.

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with typhoid fever, that ran into pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't set up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of consumption when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvellous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at T. E. Slattery's drug store, every bottle guaranteed.

A WONDERFUL CURE

Of diarrhoea. A prominent Virginia editor had almost given up, but was brought back to perfect health by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Read his editorial.

From the Times, Hillstille, Va.—I suffered with diarrhoea for a long time and thought I was past being cured. I had spent much time and money and suffered so much misery that I had almost decided to give up all hopes of recovery and await the result, but noticing the advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and some also testimonials stating how some wonderful cures had been wrought by this remedy, I decided to try it. After taking a few doses I was entirely well of that trouble, and I wish to say further to my readers and fellow-sufferers that I am a hale and hearty man today and feel as well as I ever did in my life.—O. R. MOORE. Sold by T. E. Slattery, druggist.
