The entertainment given by the Ladies' Aid Society last Saturday evening was a decided success in every particular. Thomas Clifton's spacious residence was crowded to overflowing with a jolly crowd of old and young people, who enjoyed exceedingly the program rendered upon the occasion, and more especially the excellent selections rendered by Culver's famous orchestra. The recitations by Rev. Mrs. Fraley and master Carl Castleman took the house by storm. Refreshments were served.

We understand that the Vandalia R. R. Company will erect a large addition to the Lake View Hotel this Spring, and also make a vast amount of improvements at the lake. The large water tank will, it is said, be moved upon the hill near the hotel, which will be used for watering the grounds etc. By this move no trains will take water at Culver, but at Plymouth. Parties are tripping the trees in the railroad park in a scientific manner, which will look very beautiful in the Spring.

In another Column can be found an item which announces James H. Castleman as candidate for Sheriff of Marshall county. We have not the time and space to give James the attention he deserves this week, but will take the matter up later on. Suffice it to say, if nominated and elected, he will make as good a sheriff as this county ever had. James is a democrat from the soles of his feet to the crown of his head, and no man in the county can show a better record as a worker for his party interests than James, hence, he should be, and is most emphatically entitled to recognition. Then we wish to say that his friends are numbered by the thousands, and it is well for the democrats to "put this fact in their pipes and smoke it."

H. G. Patton, graduate of Optics, will test eyes free at Lake Side Hotel the first Monday forenoon of every month. Permanent office at Plymouth. 27tf.

The price of wheat continues to go down instead of up. If the decline continues prices may go down to those that prevailed in 1895. Fortunately for the farmers the price of corn remains steady and the stock to which it is fed commands good prices.

Farmers say that the long continued damp and warm weather has had the effect to greatly improving the condition of the wheat so far as appearances show. It has had the effect of settling the ground down around the roots and has livened up the plants until the prospects are much enhanced. Their fear is that if this weather continues it will make the plants prematurely tender and easily killed by cold weather that is almost certain to come yet.

Be sure and attend auction sale of Vanschoiack's. Goods will be sold regardless of cost Jan. 31.

MARRIED AND HAPPY.

Take Unto Himself a Wife on His 60th Birthday.

They say that man is never too old to be happy, when his lot is cast with lovable woman, whom God created to be his helper and companion. Adam in the garden was lost and undone, until God took pity upon him and furnished him the greatest boon man ever received—woman. Thus for thousands of years woman has taken a prominent part in the world's history, and there is, and should not be a mortal more sacred than woman, the mothers of great nations and their brainy men. Our old friend, and veteran, Samuel Osborn has lived to see his children grow beneath his own vine and fig tree, and one by one they have left the old homestead, and soon the only one left will be gone, hence, Sam dreaded the time when he would be alone, so to avoid said unpleasantness, on the 18th day of January, 1900, he and Mrs. Rebecca Allman, a most estimable lady, were united in marriage at the residence of the bride's brother in Center township, Rev. F. Austin, officiating. After the ceremony, the groom and his bonnie bride returned to the residence of the groom, north-west of Culver, where they received a reception by a circle of intimate friends and partook of an excellent wedding supper. In the evening the boys of the neighborhood gave the couple the usual balling and were invited into the spacious dining room and partook of wedding cake etc. Mr. Osborn is one of starke county's most progressive farmers, and who has a large circle of friends, who wish him a long and happy life; and right here the HERALD wishes to chronicle, that when the birds begin to warble, and the flowers bloom, and nature puts in her best licks to beautify the earth, Mr. Osborn will move into his residence here and become a citizen of Culver.

Monterey.

Last week Thursday night, burglars gained an entrance in P. A. Hartman's saloon, and after helping themselves to whiskey, free lunch, etc., tapped the till, secured a few coppers and some cigars. From the saloon they went to F. W. Buehrle's store and effected an entrance by breaking in a back window. Here they secured three or four dollars in change and a pair of shoes. The authorities secured a bloodhound from Crown Point, and after a merry chase, the dog as usual, lost the trail; and the burglars are still looking for other fields to operate in and hounds to fool.

Doctors Must Pay Revenue.

The deputy revenue collectors have received a copy of the decision of the commissioner of internal revenue to the effect that a physician who prescribes whiskey, brandy or any alcoholic liquor, which is not compounded with any drug or medicinal substance, for the purpose of forming a remedy, shall be required to pay a special internal revenue tax of $25 a year as a retail liquor dealer, provided he acts as a dispenser as well as a physician. The ruling is to apply even in cases where the liquor is prescribed strictly as a medicine and so used by the patient.

Marshall county Sunday School Association will be held in the M. E. church, Plymouth, January 30-31, 1900. You are invited to attend.

FIRE AT BURR OAK.

Two Store Buildings and Their Contents are Burned.

About 12 o'clock Monday night, the flourishing village of Burr Oak, three miles north of Culver on the Nickel Plate R. R., was visited by the fire fiend and the two principal business houses of the town, with practically all of their contents, were consumed. The fire originated in the store building owned by Frank Overmeyer, and occupied by Read, Wise & Co., who carried a stock of general merchandise. When first discovered, the inside of the building was a seething furnace, consequently nothing could be saved. Fire from this building communicated with the building north, occupied by W. F. Wilhelm as a store and residence. Parties succeeded in removing some of the stock from this building, and also saved we understand nearly all the contents of the post office which was also situated in the building. Directly north of this building was Vanderweel's saloon building which was saved by hard work. Fortunately for the town there was little or no wind, otherwise the whole town would have been swept from the face of the earth. There was no insurance on the Overmeyer's building, but $1,500 on the stock. Wilhelm had $4000 on building and contents, which would not cover the loss within $2000 or $3,000. Several parties were overcome by heat, but fortunately no one was fatally injured. We have not learned whether the buildings will be rebuilt or not. Just what caused the fire is a mystery—but some surmise it was the work of burglars, as lights of glass in the front of Overmeyer's building were broken so it is said. All parties concerned in the great calamity have the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community.

School Institute.

Report of Institute, held at High school room Saturday Jan. 20.

Institute was called to order with Miss Edith Brownlee in the chair.

Secretary noted the attendance and read the minutes of last meeting. Misses Overmeyer, South, Voreis, and Mr. Smith, presented the subjects of organic education, in away pleasing to all following the outline closely and emphasizing the ethical aims of the child.

How to teach reading, Miss Jennie Davis, opened the discussion showing that a child was not able to grasp the thought of a long sentence readily therefore, it should be dwelt on. A general discussion followed that was interesting and beneficial to all.

Carl Castleman favored the teachers with a recitation entitled the "Dunkey's Dream."

Prof. Hahn began the history work and followed emigration from its supposed origin westward into Europe.

At 12 o'clock the Institute adjourned until 1:15 sharp.

P. M. SESSION.

Pupils of Room B, Grade C, sang a very appropriate song. History work was further discussed by Misses Libbie Davis, Lizzie Brownlee and Prof. Behmer, dwelling principally upon the crusades and feudalism. Recitation, J. E. Rowe. Adalence; Prof. Hahn showing the effect upon boy and girl.

The teachers were highly pleased with the meeting and all felt that the day was well spent.

Next meeting February 17 at High school room. All invited.

CUPID'S DECADENCE.

In ancient days, when all was young,
And Love and Hope were rife,
Cupid fed on rustic fare,
And lived a country life.

He rose betimes at break of day,
And round the country harried;
Upstaring hearts that were unwooed,
And shooting down the married.

But then, on wider mischief bent,
He hid him to the city;
And finding much to suit his taste,
He stayed there—more's the pity.

Men built him there a golden house,
Bedight with golden stars;
They feasted him on golden grain,
And wine in golden jars.

They draped his pretty nakedness
In richest cloth of gold,
And set him up in business,
Where Love was bought and sold.

And thus he led a city life,
Forgetting his nativity;
Since then he's gone from bad to worse,
From Cupid to cupidity.
—Elliot Stock.

ONLY A QUARTER.

PLEASE, sir, will you buy my chestnuts?
"Chestnuts! No!" returned Ralph Moore, looking carelessly down on the upturned face, whose large brown eyes, shadowed by tangled curls of flaxen hair, were appealing so pitifully to his own. "What do I want of chestnuts?"
"But, please, sir, do buy 'em," pleaded the little one, reassured by the rough kindness of his tone. "Nobody seems to care for them, and—"
She fairly burst into tears, and Moore who had been on the point of brushing carelessly past her, stopped instinctively.
"Are you so very much in want of the money?"
"Indeed, sir, we are," sobbed the child; "mother sent me out and—"
"Nay, little one, don't cry," said Ralph, smoothing her tangled hair. "I don't want your chestnuts, but here's a quarter for you, if it will do you any good."
He did not stay to hear the delighted thanks the child poured out through a rainbow of smiles and tears, but strode on his way muttering between his teeth: "That cuts off my supply of cigars for the next twenty-four hours. I don't care, though, for the brown-eyed object really did cry as if she hadn't a friend in the world. Hang it! I wish I was rich enough to help every poor creature out of the slough of despond."
While Ralph Moore was indulging in these very natural reflections, the dark-robed little damsel whom he had comforted, was dashing down streets with rapid footsteps, utterly regardless of the basket of unsold nuts that still dangled upon her arm. Down an obscure alley she darted, and up a narrow wooden staircase to a room where a pale, neat-looking woman was sewing as busily as if the breath of life depended upon every stitch, and two little ones were playing in the sunshine that supplied the place of the absent fire. "Mary! back already? Surely you have not sold your chestnuts so soon!"
"Oh, mother, see!" ejaculated the breathless child. "A gentleman gave me a quarter! Only think, mother, a whole quarter!"
If Ralph Moore could only have seen the rapture which his small silver gift had brought into that poverty stricken home he would have grudged still less his privation of cigars.

Years came and went. The little chestnut girl passed entirely out of Ralph Moore's memory, but Mary Lee never forgot the stranger who had given her the silver quarter.

The crimson window curtains were closely drawn to shut out the storm and blast of the bleak December night. A fire was glowing cheerily in the grate, and the dinner table was in a glitter with cut glass, rare china and polished silver. Everything was waiting for the presence of Mr. Audley.

"What can it be that detains pa?" said Mrs. Audley, a fair, handsome

THE TWENTIETH CENTURY QUESTION.

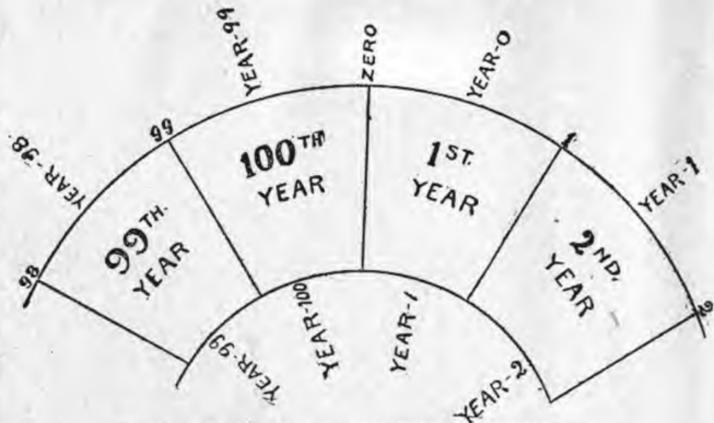

DIAGRAM ILLUSTRATING BOTH ARGUMENTS.

THE above diagram does not settle the question as to when the twentieth century began or begins, but it is given merely to show how both sides may be right. The whole question hinges on one point, whether the first year of time, A. D., was the year 0 or the year 1.

The 1901 advocates claim that, according to all common sense, reason and logic, the first year, from its first instant to its last, was the year 1. The 1000 people contend that time began at zero, not at 1, and that there was no year 1 until a complete unit, composed of 12 months, 52 weeks, or however the component parts may be designated, had been reached. They argue that time cannot begin at 1, any more than the figures on a thermometer, or a groceryman's scales, could begin at 1.

The advocates of 1900 insist that a difference between the use of cardinal and ordinal numbers must be observed. Six ounces of butter, say these reasoners, is 0 pounds and 6 ounces, and the first six months of time were year 0 and 6 months, not one year. The 1901 people do not regard the divisions between the years as governing the name of the year, but call the whole first year "year 1," the second year "year 2," etc., the 99th year being "year 99," and the 100th year "year 100."

The 1900 people, however, first designated the line marking the beginning of time "0," just as would be done on a thermometer or scale, the next division line "1," etc., by which process they arrive at 99 for the last division line before zero, or the point of beginning over again. These cardinal numerals, they contend, must govern the naming of the years, not the ordinal numerals used, by the 1901 people. The first year, they claim, is not the year 1, but the year 0, and whatever fraction may have passed; the second year the year 1 and a fraction, etc. The first century began with 0, they claim; the second with 100, and the 20th will begin with 1900. And there you are.

matron of about 30, as she glanced at her tiny watch.

"There's a man with him in the study, come on business," said Robert Audley, a pretty boy of 12 years, who was reading by the fire.

"I'll call him again," said Mrs. Audley, stepping to the door. But as she opened it the gas light fell on the face of a humble-looking man in threadbare garments, who was leaving the house, while her husband stood in the doorway of his study, apparently relieved to be rid of his visitor.

"Charles," said Mrs. Audley, "who is that man and what does he want?"

"His name is Moore, I believe, love, and he came to see if I would give him the vacant position in the bank."

"And will you?" she eagerly asked.

"Don't know, Mary. I must think about it."

"Charles, give him the situation."

"Why, my dear?"

"Because I ask it of you as a favor, and you have said a hundred times you would never deny me anything."

"And I will keep my promise, Mary," said her lover husband with an affectionate kiss. "I will write the fellow a note this very evening."

An hour later when the children were tucked snugly in bed, Mrs. Audley told her husband why she was interested in the fate of a man whose face she had not forgotten in twenty years. "That's right, my little wife," said her husband when the simple tale was finished, "never forget one who has been kind to you in the days when you needed kindness most."

Ralph Moore was sitting that selfsame night in his poor lodgings, beside his wife's sick bed, when a liveried servant brought a note from the rich and prosperous banker, Charles Audley.

"Goodness, Bertha!" he exclaimed joyfully, as he read the words. "We shall not starve. Mr. Audley has promised me the position."

"You have dropped something from the note, Ralph," said Mrs. Moore, and pointed to a slip of paper on the floor. Moore stooped to pick it up. It was a $50 bill neatly folded in a piece of paper on which was written:

"In grateful remembrance of the silver quarter that a stranger bestowed on a little chestnut girl twenty years ago."

Ralph Moore had thrown his morsel of bread upon the waters of life, and after many days it had returned to him.—Philadelphia Item.

Commissions of Express Companies.

The express companies attend to purchases and sales, and to every variety of legal business, from searching a title to suing for a debt. They file models of inventions and get out patents, and have been known to stake out a properly described mining claim and attend to its development. The suburban lady, whose husband is disobliging or color blind, can safely entrust them with a piece of silk to match, and they will send an expert to match it for her and make the desired purchase. The actress who is forced by bad business to pawn her diamonds for money to get back to the Rialto can commission them, when prosperity has returned, to redeem her jewels, or pay the interest and have the pawn tickets renewed. In their C. O. D. departments they deliver goods for stores and collect for them, and they also attend to the collection of insurance benefits, payment of lodges and taxes. A young man can order an engagement ring through them, and the bride can order such parts of her trousseau as she cannot secure from local dealers. They will cheerfully attend to the engraving of card plates, with neatness and dispatch, will have clothes pressed and cleaned, and make themselves useful in almost every way the mind can conceive. These things are mentioned simply to give some idea of the surpassing things that express companies do. To describe their business in all its ramifications would be to describe practically every line of business in which one man commissions another to do anything for him.—Ainslee's.

A Leaf from History.

Commodore Winfield Scott Schley, in his book, "The Rescue of Greely," thus describes the finding of the explorer and the other frozen and starved survivors of the Lady Franklin Bay expedition in July, 1884:

"On his hands and knees was a dark man with a long, matted beard . . . and brilliant, staring eyes. As Lieut. Colwell approached he raised himself a little and put on a pair of eye glasses."

"Who are you?" asked Colwell.

"The man made no answer, staring at him vacantly."

"Who are you?" again.

"One of the men spoke up: 'That is the Major—Maj. Greely.'"

"Colwell took him by the hand, saying to him, 'Greely, is this you?'"

"Yes," said Greely, in a faint, broken voice, hesitating and shuffling with his words. "Yes—seven of us left—here we are—dying—like men!"

"Then he fell back exhausted."

A woman can forgive her husband for not coming home to dinner on only one condition; that he ate a church dinner down town.

A Minnesota Farmer Does Well in Canada.

Virden, Man., Nov. 18, 1899.

Hon. Clifford Sifton, Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, Canada:

Sir—Thinking that my experience in Manitoba might be both useful and interesting to my fellow countrymen in the United States who may be looking to Manitoba and the Northwest with the intention of settling there, I have much pleasure in stating that through information received from Mr. W. F. McCreary, Immigration Commissioner at Winnipeg, I was induced to visit Manitoba in February, 1898. When I called upon Mr. McCreary he spared no pains to give me all the information, etc., in his possession, the result of which was that I came here with a letter of introduction from him to the secretary of the Virden Board of Trade. That gentleman provided me with a competent land guide, and although there was considerable snow on the ground, I had no difficulty in selecting three homesteads for myself and sons. Having made the necessary homestead entries at the land office in Brandon, I returned to my home in Lyon County, Minnesota, and came back here in May following, accompanied by one of my boys, bringing with us two teams of horses, implements, etc. Our first work was to erect a temporary shanty and stable, after which we broke and leveled 75 acres and put up 30 tons of hay. I went back to Minnesota about the 20th of July, leaving my son here. I returned in October, bringing my family with me. I found that the land we had acquired was of good quality, being a strong clay loam with clay subsoil. Last spring I sowed 100 acres in wheat, 50 acres in oats and barley (75 acres of this grain was sowed on "goback" plowed last spring). My crop was threshed in October, the result being over 2,700 bushels of grain in all. Wheat averaged 15 bushels per acre and graded No. 1 hard, but that which was sown on land other than sod ("goback") went 21½ bushels per acre.

To say that I am well pleased with the result of my first year's farming operations in Manitoba does not adequately express my feelings, and I have no hesitation in advising those who are living in districts where land is high in price to come out here, if they are willing to do a fair amount of work. I am ten miles from Virden, which is a good market town, and nine miles from Hargrave, where there are two elevators. This summer I erected a dwelling house of native stone and bought a half-section of land adjoining our homestead, for which I paid a very moderate price. There are still some homesteads in this district, and land of fine quality can be purchased from the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. at $3.50 per acre on liberal terms. Good water is generally found at a depth of from 15 to 20 feet. I have 175 acres ready for crop next year.

The cost of living here is about the same as in Southern Minnesota. Some commodities are higher and others lower in price, but the average is about the same. I remain, your obedient servant.

Chronic Nasal Catarrh poisons every breath that is drawn into the lungs. There is procurable from any druggist the remedy for its cure. A small quantity of Ely's Cream Balm placed into the nostrils spreads over an inflamed and angry surface, relieves immediately the painful inflammation, cleanses, heals and cures. Drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and snuffs simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, use Ely's Cream Balm. It is reliable and will cure catarrh, cold in the head and hay fever easily and pleasantly. All druggists sell it at 50 cents or it will be mailed by Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N.Y.

OLE BULL.

MAUD POWELL.

Paganini, the wizard of the bow, was born in Genoa, Italy, in 1784, and from earliest boyhood displayed such extraordinary capacity as a violinist that he was popularly supposed to be under Satan's influence. Ole Bull, born in Bergen, Norway, in 1810, is probably the greatest of the musical giants of the century, was born in Hungary in 1831. Eugene Ysaye is the greatest musician Belgium has produced for years; he was born in 1858. Among modern violinists Emil Sauret is well known in America, he having visited the United States in 1872-73; he was born in France in 1852. One of the greatest woman violinists of the world is Maud Powell of Chicago. She was born in Aurora, Ill., in 1868. Her father is American and her mother German. In 1885 she made her debut in Berlin, at the Philharmonic concerts, when she played the Bruch concerto.

You're Gambling!

It's too risky, this gambling with your cough. You take the chance of its wearing off. Don't!

The first thing you know it will be down deep in your lungs and the game's lost. Take some of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and stop the gambling and the cough.

"I was given up to die with quick consumption. I ran down from 138 to 98 pounds. I raised blood, and never expected to get off my bed alive. I then read of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and began its use. I commenced to improve at once. I am now back to my old weight and in the best of health."—CHAS. E. HARTMAN, Gibbstown, N. Y., March 3, 1899.

You can now get Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in a 25 cent size, just right for an ordinary cold. The 50 cent size is better for bronchitis, croup, whooping-cough, asthma, and the grip. The dollar size is best to keep on hand, and is most economical for long-standing cases.

WILL RUSH FOR GOLD

HUNDREDS BOOKED FOR PASSAGE TO CAPE NOME.

Metal Is Abundant—Men with Rude Tools Realize Great Snags—Market Quotations for Necessaries Are High and Rents "Out of Sight."

Abram E. Smith, formerly editor of the Rockford, Ill., Gazette and now United States consul at Victoria, British Columbia, writes to the State Department at Washington that there is great excitement over the Cape Nome gold fields, and that there will be a great emigration to that new Eldorado in the spring. Mr. Smith says:

"The indications are that there will be a great rush to Cape Nome next spring, something like that to the Klondike in the spring of 1898. It is evident that numbers will go there from Victoria and this province, in preference to either Atlin or the Northwest Territory. The transportation companies here and on the Sound are all actively engaged in preparing steamers for the long trip. The distance from Victoria to Cape Nome is 2,500 miles, entirely by water.

"But, notwithstanding that fact, the transportation companies have already booked all the passengers that can be carried on the first trips, on every vessel that can be secured. At a recent meeting of representatives of the companies it was computed that 65,000 persons desired to go to Cape Nome as soon as possible.

"The reports that had been circulating last season in regard to the gold discoveries at Cape Nome were generally disputed here, the opinion being that the Atlin and Klondike countries were more promising, and also easier of access, but the last two steamers from the North effectually dispelled all uncertainties, the passengers bringing with them indisputable evidence that all along the beach in the vicinity of Cape Nome gold in paying quantities can be had for the digging.

"A number of these men have called at the consulate, exhibiting specimens of the gold, saying they dug it on the beach, near the water's edge; that men with only hand shovels and the simplest and rudest of pans cleared from $50 to $100, and even $300, per day, while sometimes a clean up of from $1,000 to $1,500 has been reported. Nuggets worth from $300 to $400 were found near Anvil Creek, and it is believed $300,000 to $400,000 were taken out of Snow gulch last summer; one man, it is said, took out $190,000, while another claims still more.

"Every one of the men who came down expressed his resolve to return in the spring—some even engaging return passage on the steamers on which they came down. According to their statements the gold does not extend to a great depth, five or six feet being as low as any have yet waded 'paying dirt.'

Market Quotations High.

"There are now between 5,000 and 6,000 people at Nome City, Anvil City, Cape York, Port Clarence and vicinity. The buildings are, of course, of the most temporary character. Two newspapers are printed there, from which I take the following market quotations, current last fall:

Cigars and drinks cost 50 cents each. Longshoremen have been paid $2 an hour for their labor. Carpenters receive $1.50 an hour."

"The prevailing fare to Cape Nome, just now, from Seattle or Victoria, is $100 for first-class and $80 for second-class passage; freight, $40 per ton.

"The earliest date at which any of the steamers are advertised to leave for Nome is May 1, 1900.

Story of the Yazoo Fraud.

One of the most gigantic trusts ever formed on this continent was in the early days of the republic, back in 1795. Several gentlemen organized themselves into a company for the purpose of purchasing from the State of Georgia her unclaimed western territory, extending from the Mississippi on the west to the Atlantic on the east and from the thirty-first degree of latitude north of the equator on the south to the southern boundary of Tennessee on the north, including what now constitutes the territory of Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi. This vast territory was purchased for $500,000 and this was the commencement of the famous "Yazoo fraud," about which so much was said and written.

The bill authorizing the purchase and sale passed the Georgia Legislature on Jan. 9, 1795, and it is said that members were paid all the way from eight negroes to 200,000 acres of land to vote for it. Corruption by bribery was open. Great indignation spread throughout the State and upon the assembling of the Legislature one year later an act was passed declaring that the said resurped act was null and void; that the records relating to the same be burned in order that no trace of so unconstitutional, vile and fraudulent a transaction should remain public.

"The infamous records were placed in one vast heap," said the Senator, "and a sun glass was used to set it on fire, that it might be said that the fire that destroyed it was from heaven. This is the first and only instance in the history of the country where a legislative body personally superintended the destruction by fire of its previous records of corrupt and obnoxious laws. I regret to say that if the people, of this day should be moved by the same spirit this continent would be a flame of fire from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from the Gulf of Mexico to the confines of the British empire."—St. Paul Globe.

WOMEN OF THE UNITED STATES

Regard Peruna as Their Shield Against Catarrh, Coughs, Colds, Grip and Catarrhal Diseases.

MRS. BELVA A. LOCKWOOD, LATE CANDIDATE FOR THE PRESIDENCY.

Mrs. Belva Lockwood, the eminent barrister, of Washington, D. C., is the only woman who has ever been a candidate for the Presidency of the United States. She is the best known woman in America. As the pioneer of her sex in the legal profession she has gathered fame and fortune. In a letter to The Peruna Medicine Company, she says:

"I have used your Peruna both for myself and my mother, Mrs. Hannah J. Bennett, now in her 88th year, and I find it an invaluable remedy for cold, catarrh, hay fever and kindred diseases; also a good tonic for feeble and old people, or those run down, and with nerves unstrung." Yours truly, Belva A. Lockwood.

Catarrh may attack any organ of the body. Women are especially liable to catarrh of the pelvic organs. There are one hundred cases of catarrh of the pelvic organs to one of catarrh of the head. Most people think, because they have no catarrh of the head, they have no catarrh at all. This is a great mistake, and is the cause of many cases of sickness and death. Many of the handsomest wraps are made of broadtail, trimmed either with sable or Persian chinchilla.

All red makes a telling color note in a large assembly, especially now that so many black gowns of velvet, satin or net are worn.

The new pliable silk back velvets are tucked, quilted, kilfed, accordion plaited and machine stitched, exactly like silk or wool fabrics.

Shapeless jackets, coats and cloaks are still favored by fashion for evening, street and carriage wear. They are called "enique" by those who admire them.

Glove gloves in tan, mouse gray and dark red, in heavy silk stitching, either in black or its own colors and of winter weight, are the preferred street gloves for daily wear.

Black cloth skirts worn with black and white striped silk blouses, with tucked yoke and jested collar and belt, laid over white satin, look particularly neat in "half" mourning.

Fine "Mid finished" cloths in ivory white, opal gray, turquoise blue and a revived shade of old rose are in marked favor for elegant "dress" gowns, and a decoration of real lace is the required adjunct.

Ermine is a fur that increases in favor each succeeding winter. This season it has reached a notable degree of favor by having the capes, collars, hoods and borders made of it, bordered or combined with some very dark fur, like otter or seal skin.

The War's Delays

is the way the old saying reads now.

It used to be "the law's delays," but the war people have shown that when it comes to delaying, the law is "not in it" with them.

Delays are dangerous, and one of the most dangerous to you personally is delaying to clothe your feet in a pair of SELZ SHOES, which are acknowledged to be the best shoes in the world for the price, and that price is always the lowest.

DELAYS ARE DANGEROUS, AND ONE OF THE MOST DANGEROUS TO YOU PERSONALLY IS DELAYING TO CLOTHE YOUR FEET IN A PAIR OF SELZ SHOES, WHICH ARE ACKNOWLEDGED TO BE THE BEST SHOES IN THE WORLD FOR THE PRICE, AND THAT PRICE IS ALWAYS THE LOWEST.

ACROSS THE TUGELA.

BULLER'S ARMY ADVANCES TOWARD LADYSMITH.

The General Issues an Address to His Men Saying There Could be No Turning Back—The First Skirmish Is Won by the British.

Gen. Buller's successful effort to get his army across the Tugela river evidently was planned with care. The British generals seem to have concealed the exact nature of their movements from their enemy, one brigade in the center of the position crossing with the aid of artillery fire at Potgieter's ford, while another, five miles to the left, crossed a few hours later and secured a good position on the enemy's flank.

Whether or not, says a correspondent, the Boers have been anticipating such a movement and practically preparing to yield to Buller's advance remains to be determined. It does not appear that they made the show of resistance which they had been expected to make, or that they were on the alert, as, presumably, they would have been in case of a stubborn purpose to resist to the utmost the crossing of the Tugela. While this advance carries the British forces past one more obstacle on the way to Ladysmith it also enables the Boers to put themselves in a position much stronger strategically. So long as they held the Tugela they were forced to stretch out their line along the river for many miles. Their force was thus not only weakened, but exposed to flank attacks. It seems likely that before giving up this position they had prepared themselves to make a much more effective resistance under more favorable conditions. By concentrating at a point nearer Ladysmith they would have not only the advantages of a choice of positions in a familiar country, but of having their enemy in a place from which it would be extremely difficult to make an orderly retreat. A watchful army free to take its choice of positions for resisting an invading force has a signal advantage over an advancing army which, whatever path it chooses, is bound down to the necessity of reaching a definite known objective—in this case Ladysmith. The Boers, apparently are not likely to be outflanked easily in this region. On the other hand, should they succeed in repulsing Buller, they could make his position on their own side of a stream which is unfordable save at a few points extremely awkward.

Another correspondent says that Gen. Buller himself has made his headquarters in a farm house belonging to Martinus Pretorius, and located supposedly in the neighborhood of Spearman's farm. He issued an address to his men telling them that they were going to relieve their comrades at Ladysmith and that there could be no turning back. It is not exactly known the number of troops with Buller, as about 5,000 of his men remain unaccounted for. However, it is believed that his total force now amounts to 20,000 men, with eight field batteries, divided into three or four brigades. Gen. Warren, with about 8,000 men, is reported to be well lodged five miles back from the river at Spreenkop. He has thrown a few shells at the Boers, but has received no reply, the Boers being apparently too busy entrenching and preparing to give Warren a warm time when he attempts the advance in the direction of Ladysmith.

Gen. Lyttelton's force of probably 10,000 men and a majority of the guns is at Potgieter's drift bombarding the enemy. Lord Dundonald's cavalry is supposed to be on a reconnaissance for the purpose of cutting the Boer lines of communication, a task of great difficulty, as it requires an advance as far as Blaauwbank. The first skirmish between the British and the Boers, preliminary to the impending struggle north of the Tugela, was reported Friday. The action resulted in a victory for the British.

HER EYELIDS SAVED HER.

A Supposed Dead Woman's Escape from Burial Alive.

Mrs. Christina Hirth of East St. Louis narrowly escaped burial alive. She had been ill three months and Monday morning of last week apparently expired, at the county hospital. The doctor came and felt her pulse and applied other tests and pronounced her dead. The county undertaker was called, the body was taken to the dead room and laid out on a cooling board. Cloths saturated with bleaching fluid were placed over the face and the body. The shroud and clothing in which she was to be buried were prepared.

While busy with his preparations toward embalming, the undertaker was startled by a noise proceeding from the direction of the corpse. He glanced hastily, but there was no motion in the white-sheeted figure. When he came to remove the sheet from the face, however, he noticed that one of the weights had fallen off an eyelid. In replacing it he thought that he detected a slight quiver in the eyelids, but, attributing it to his imagination, went about his preparations. Again the noise and the fallen weight. This time the quiver in the eye was more pronounced. There was no heart motion or breathing that he could detect, and he was about to inject the fluid when again he noticed the quiver, and then, to be thoroughly satisfied, he applied the most powerful test of life known to undertakers. There was an unmistakable though faint indication of life in response.

Assistance was summoned, the partially embalmed woman removed to a bed and restoratives were applied by the doctors. She was able, after several hours, to speak in a whisper and move her muscles, but the weakness caused by her illness and the terrible ordeal through which she had passed told heavily upon her, and she could make no statement as to her experiences while in a trance.

THE BATTLE OF GRASPAN.

—From London Black and White.

MANY BRITISH WOUNDED.

Buller's Forces Suffer Severely in Saturday's Engagement.

Special cable dispatches from South Africa say that in the vicinity of Spearman's Camp, heavy fighting was in progress all day Saturday and Sunday. In Saturday's fight a total of 302 were wounded, two were killed, and two are reported missing. The casualties of Sunday's fighting are not known. One of those killed was Capt. Hensley, of the Dublin regiment, who was shot in the forehead. The correspondent visited the field hospital on the battle-field on Coventry's farm. The buildings were full of wounded, about 200 men. Gen. Buller wires London that eleven officers, including two staff officers, and 279 men were wounded in an action near Venter's Spruit Saturday.

The operations Saturday commenced at dawn. Gen. Warren attacked the Boers who occupied a strong position on his right. The British artillery delivered a heavy shell fire, but the Boers did not reply until 2 o'clock. Then the British concentrated the fire of their big guns on the enemy's artillery, while the infantry advanced under cover of it and delivering a heavy rifle fire.

The Boers courageously and tenaciously held their position, but they were finally forced back, and the British swarmed over the ridge. The Boers retired in good order and took up a second position, which was subjected to a heavy bombardment with lyddite shells. This forced a second retreat, the enemy being closely pressed by Gen. Warren's men. Gen. Clery's and Gen. Warren's commands then bivouacked on the ground gained, after heavily bombarding, for some time, the enemy's main position.

Simultaneously Gen. Lyttelton, with the view to relieving the pressure on Gen. Warren, attacked the enemy's front west of Potgieter's drift. He pushed forward his infantry, covered by the howitzers and naval guns, both on the north bank of the river and Mount Alice. The infantry's further advance forced the Boers to open fire with their Nordenfeldt seven-pounder, which was silenced by lyddite shells in a quarter of an hour.

The British carefully worked along the hills until within 1,000 yards of a commanding kopje on which the Boers were concentrated, concealed behind immense bowlders, strewn thickly over the hill. The artillery opened the attack and the batteries worked continuously, pouring tons of shrapnel among the Boers, who devoted their attention to musketry firing on the British infantry. The Boers stuck to their rocky fastnesses with the greatest tenacity and at the conclusion of the day the British had only advanced across a few ridges. The Boers apparently have few guns and they did little damage.

On Modder River the British successfully blew up and razed two buildings, including the house formerly occupied by Commandant Muller, outside their lines. Boer snipers had used these houses at night, firing from them at the most distant British pickets up the river.

TEST FOR A CHRISTIAN PAPER.

Author of "In His Steps" Will Edit a Kansas Daily One Week.

Rev. Charles M. Sheldon, author of "In His Steps," is to be given an opportunity to edit a daily newspaper as he thinks a Christian daily should be edited. For the week beginning March 13 he will have absolute control of every department of the Topeka Capital, news, editorial and advertising.

At the Detroit convention of the Christian Endeavor Society Mr. Sheldon asked what "philanthropic gentleman in this age of munificent endowments to educational institutions would give $1,000,000 for the creation of a great Christian daily?" The philanthropic gentleman has not appeared with the money, but, in response to the appeals of the leading citizens of Topeka, Mr. Sheldon's home town, Dell Keyser, the president of the Topeka Capital Company, offered to give the paper to Mr. Sheldon for one week, and the offer has been accepted.

COLESBURG, CAPE COLONY.

This town is just east of the Aar Junction and early in the war fell into the hands of the Boers. It was reported to have been captured by Gen. French, but later reports denied this.

RUSKIN AND BLACKMORE.

Two Famous Men Whose Deaths Occurred Recently.

Two famous men of English letters—John Ruskin and Richard D. Blackmore—have passed away. Both died in the fullness of time and with their work accomplished, but their departure, nevertheless, has saddened thousands of hearts wherever the best in English literature is known and appreciated. The death of Ruskin is no surprise to artistic and literary London. It has been known for the last two or three years that his mind and body were gradually weakening. It is long since he ceased to be a living force in English art, but it is impossible to overestimate the influence he has wielded in the past.

There have been few as striking figures in the literature of the Victorian era as that of John Ruskin. With Carlyle, Tennyson and Browning, he stood in the first rank of the creative and inspiring forces of letters. In a certain sense these four great writers supplemented one another's genius. In the realm of art criticism Ruskin was the most brilliant writer of the century, carrying over into a moral earnestness and purity that once more transfigured art and made it ministrant to the highest in man. Ruskin's moral earnestness and sincerity and his dissatisfaction with modern society found fullest expression in his famous "Fors Clavigera" papers.

As to Blackmore, his story of "Lorna Doone" has been called by some good critics the greatest novel of the century. That is too high praise. It certainly is, however, one of the greatest in its vivid descriptions of a part of English life and scenery which no one knew better than he. It remains the high-water mark of his genius and is sufficient to maintain his fame.

WAR NEWS IN BRIEF.

The censorship on war news is growing more strict.

Gen. White will assuredly be elevated to a peerage.

All acid exports are forbidden by the British Government.

The Duke of Marlborough will go to the front as a Yeomanry staff officer.

The Paris Intransigent says that there are 211 French officers serving with the Boers.

The Morning Post has joined other London papers in demanding a change in the ministry.

England is preparing armaments and twenty-two transports will be on the way to South Africa during the present month. According to the program 25,000 additional troops and seventy-two guns will soon be afloat.

SMALLPOX IN MANY PLACES.

Great Epidemic of the Dread Disease Is Feared in Indiana.

Indications point to the fact that Indiana is on the eve of a smallpox epidemic. J. N. Huntry, secretary of the State Board of Health, says that several hundred persons have the disease, and that new cases are being found daily in and about Clay City. The counties now infested are Vanderburg, Noble, Delaware, Madison, Clay, Jackson, Sullivan, Green, Washington, Owen, De Kalb, Vigo, Posey, Clark and Floyd. The Government has ordered the mails disinfected, as requested by the State board. The Lesterville postoffice has been quarantined.

In Washington, D. C., members of the House of Representatives are wondering whether the discovery of a case of smallpox in the household of Congressman Alexander, of Buffalo, N. Y., is serious enough to cause them to worry. Mr. Alexander and his wife are now quarantined in their apartments. While the disease was incubating in the person of Ethel Pettit, Mrs. Alexander's maid, the Congressman was attending to his duties on the floor of the House, mixing freely with members in the cloak and committee rooms and in the lobby. Two-thirds of the employes and servants of the Concord, where Congressman Alexander lives, have been taken to the local detention hospital, where they will be held for a period of sixteen days. The tenants of the building, who include some of the best known families in Washington, are living in a state of nervous apprehension because of the probability of another case of the disease breaking out. Such a result, they fear, would cause them all to be quarantined.

MARTIN BERGEN'S DEED.

The Great Baseball Backstop Was No Doubt Insane.

The tragic death of Martin Bergen, the Boston catcher, and probably the greatest backstop in the game, who killed wife, children and himself, was but the culmination of many peculiar actions of the great ball player, all seeming to indicate his insanity.

For the past season Bergen was the hardest player in the National League to get along with. He was morose and sullen and twice deserted his team, leaving no word behind. Notwithstanding the fact that he was the best man in the business behind the bat, he was to be traded to one of the other teams for the coming season. A brother is now catching for the Fort Wayne, Ind., team. He promises to be as fine a catcher as Martin ever was.

RECORD OF THE WEEK

INDIANA INCIDENTS TERSELY TOLD.

Beet Sugar Land in the State—Boy Shot and Killed by a Young Acquaintance—Determined Suicide in Indianapolis—Value of Broken Heart.

Chemist Henry A. Houston, who has charge of the tests of Indiana as a place for the growing of sugar beets, has made a report in which he says that the possibilities of the State as a sugar producer have been sufficiently tested. He finds that the best sugar beet lands in Indiana lie in the northwest section, extending from Newton County up through the Kankakee swamp lands to Elkhart. This section did not make the best showing last year, but during the ten years that experiments have been in progress it has shown much the best average. The Kankakee section is declared by Prof. Houston to be as good sugar beet land as can be found in the world, with the possible exception of a portion of California. The beets grown in this region contain an average of 15 per cent of sugar, while the famous German fields seldom produce 18 per cent in good seasons.

Boy Coolly Murders Another.

At Augusta Frank Purcell, aged 18, shot and killed Rufus Ross, aged 17. Ross and several of his friends were giving a stag party. About midnight Purcell came along and, calling Ross to the front gate, asked why he had not been invited. Ross made no reply and Purcell drew a pistol and shot him, killing him instantly. Purcell was drunk and tried to make his escape, but was overtaken a few miles north of Augusta by a mob. Sheriff Ridgeway and posse took the murderer from the mob and placed him in jail at Petersburg.

Cut Off His Hand at the Wrist.

John Schmable, 55 years old, was found dead at a house on the south side of Indianapolis. He had taken a common pocket knife and severed his hand from the arm at the wrist, bleeding to death. A deep gash in the forearm indicated that he had first attempted to open an artery at that point. The wound had bled profusely, but Schmable thought death too slow and then hacked off his hand.

ACADEMY NOTES.

BY OUR REPORTER.

G. J. Eacock, of Lafayette, and Eli Klotz, of Piedmont, Mo., visited their sons at the Academy recently. The cadets were given a road march to Culver last Wednesday, and had the pleasure (?) of being caught in a heavy rain storm.

The basket ball game between C. M. A's team and the crack team from Armour Institute, of Chicago, last Saturday afternoon, resulted in a score of 22 to 2 in favor of the latter. Our team had been organized just two or three days before the game, and considering the size and experience of their opponents, made a good showing.

Dr. P. S. Henson, one of the best lecturers in America, will lecture to the Cadets Friday evening, February 2. Dr. Henson delivered his famous lecture on "Fools" to the cadets last year, and if the occasion seems to demand it he may again favor us with this excellent lecture. Otherwise he will deliver his discourse on "Gunnery", another most excellent production.

Considerable new apparatus has been added to the gymnasium.

Capt. Forrest and de Blumenthal were in Chicago over Sunday.

Capt. Eisechrod visited friends in Greenspring, Ohio, over Sunday.

Baxter, their father's, regiment, the First Tennessee, N. G.—A squad will probably be formed for drill in the use of the gun.

Cadet Vajen is at his home in Indianapolis, at the bedside of his father, who is very ill.

Must Elevate Tracks.

Monday night the city council of Chicago ordered that every train or locomotive on the Fort Wayne road shall come to a dead stop within 100 feet of every street car crossing and there await signal from the flagman at the crossing before it will be permitted to proceed. There are seven grade crossings affected by this order and to stop at each and be at the mercy of a crossing watchman is a serious matter. This order was issued because the Fort Wayne line has not been elevated in accordance with the Chicago ordinance.
