THE ROUNDER.

What He Hears, Sees and Thinks About.

The Rounder was around Sunday, and noticed that although there was a large crowd at the lake, it was very orderly. The people up to the time of the heavy rain put in their time boat riding, bathing and fishing. Several boats were caught out on the lake during the storm and for a while it looked as though there would be mishaps and some find watery graves, but fortunately all reached the shore safely.

The Rounder attended the lawn fete held at Aubbeenaubbee Park Saturday night. As the steamers approached the park everyone on board enthusiastically expressed their admiration of the beautiful panoramic This was necessary on account of Mr. scene before them. Hundreds of Chinese lanterns were stretched all Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Swanson, of over the grounds, while the great archway entrance to the park resembled a pyramid of sparkling lights, which made the beholder think of the enchanted fairy lands we read about in the fairy books. All over the magnificent park lanterus were stretched and as lights reflected their brilliant rays upon the beautiful lawn, it lent great enchantment to the scene. The Culver's had left nothing undone to make the affair an enjoyable one and lend additional beauty to the grounds. It took five men two days to put up the lanterns Col. L. B. MR. EDITOR:--Exodus' Brother used up nearly a column space in last week's HERALD and really said nothing in favor of the subject he wishes to defend. He starts out upon the same old exploded question of the army canteen, and says the Prohibs blame this government for allowing the liquor traffic to follow the American flag. Now, there are hundreds of other business interests that follow the American flag wherever it is planted, and although we deplore the fact that the liquor traffic is found in full sway everywhere, how can the government suppress a legitimate business? Until this question is settled our friend Brother Exodus had better hold his peace. From the fact that he admitted that there were 200 boys in Chicago attending church an hour, there were 12,000 in the saloons learning vice and crime, only goes to show that under the present system of conducting religious services the boys look for something more interesting on the outside, and that in spite of so-called great moral forces brought to bear day for Culver. the coat must have fit Exodus first rate, or he wouldn't have put it on. It makes me tired to hear a man of this kind trying to excuse himself for voting for the traffic that is killing hundreds of the young men of America every day, and especially does it make me wonder at the power that either of the old parties has over men when I see a man defending and perpetuating the traffic that kills his own son, just because his party says he must. Some men would sell their souls for the sake of their party, and we infer that Exodus is one of them.

We need not go outside of Culver for examples of what intoxicants will do. The worst blot upon the fair name of our city is the fact that saloons are allowed to run wide open upon the Sabbath day, and that gambling devices are given full sway. What party is responsile for this condition of affairs? Is it the Prohibition party? You know too well the answer, and yet Exodus and numerous other church members will vote for the parties that countenance the existence of such dire evils in our community. Fie upon such hypoerisy.

The siege of the foreigners in the British legation at Pekin practically began on June 10. For months before that date the Boxers had been persistent in their attacks on foreign missionaries in Pe-Ohi-Li and Shan-Tung provinces. In Pekin the anti-foreign element was daily growing bolder.

The diplomatic corps met in Pekin on May 26 and unanimously decided that the failure of the Tsung-li-Yamen to reply to the joint note of May 20 made the presence of guards for the legations imperative, and they were summoned ten days later.

The international guards were landed at Taku on May 29, and on May 31 they left Tien-tsin by special train for Pekin.

By this time the whole of Pe-Chi-Li province was in a flame of revolt against the foreigners. The city of Pekin was the storm center. Missionaries were murdered throughout the province, mission stations were burned, and the refugees attacked. The Chinese troops were sent against the Boxer mobs, but the generals were punished for endeavoring to suppress them. The railroad from Tientsin was destroyed in several places. The Empress Dowager gave every evidence of being in sympathy with the anti-foreign crusade.

The powers, alarmed at the situation, landed several thousand marines at Taku. It was deemed expedient to increase the legation guards in Pekin and on June 10 a force of 1,500 marines under Vice-Admiral Seymour left Tien-tsin for the Chinese capital in two special trains. The following day a second detachment started, bringing the strength of the expedition up to 2,044 men, divided as follows: British 1,030 Americans 104 Russian 415 Japanese German 250 Austrians French 128 Italians 40 Admiral Seymour's force never reached Pekin. After it left Tien-tsin it practically was swallowed up in the mystery of the interior. On June 11 it was known to have reached Lang-Fang, half way to the capital. Here the railroad had to be abandoned and a battle fought in which the Chinese were defeated. But after June 11 no word came from Admiral Seymour. Alarmed at the possibility of the little international force being wiped out, the admirals in command of the allied fleet at Taku resolved on heroic Grand Total$710,150,862.88 In addition to the specific appropriations made, contracts are authorized to be entered into for an increase of the naval establishment and for various public works throughout the country requiring future appropriations by Congress in the aggregate sum of $58,440,374. These contracts cover two new battleships, three armored cruisers, three protected cruisers and five submarine boats, to cast, including armor and armament, $13,194,094; increased cost of two dry docks, construction of two additional dry docks and for permanent improvement and enlargement of certain navy yards and the naval academy, $9,840.280; public buildings heretofore authorized in various cities, including the new government printing office, lighthouses and tenders and for the extension of the government hospital for the insane, $5,146,500, and for school buildings and sewers in the District of Columbia, $259,500.

A comparison of the total appropriations of the first session of the Fifty-sixth Congress for 1901-$710,150,862.88-with those of the last session of the Fiftyfifth Congress for 1900-$674,981,022.29shows an increase of $35,169,840.59. Of this amount appropriations for the army show an increase of $33,789,891.49; fortifications, $2,473.726; the navey, $17,040, 947.09; the postal service, $8,024,100; sundry civil expenses, chiefly river and harbor contract work and for the census, $16,933,984.59; the Indian, agricultural, diplomatic and other branches of the service, $2,664,903.91, and permanent appropriations, including interest and sinking fund for the public debt, $4,034,000. On the other hand there appeared reductions of $15,531,841.94 because of the passage of no regular river and harbor act, $9, 317,581.05 in deficiencies and $24,942, 288.90 in miscellaneous appropriations, making a net increase as above stated of $35,169,840.59. The total amount of contracts authorized, in addition to the appropriations made, is $18,606,900.13 less than was authorized at the last session of the previous Congress.

JOHN J. INGALLS DEAD.

Succumbs at East Las Vegas, N. M., After Long Illness.

Ex-United States Senator John J. Ingalls died in East Las Vegas, New Mexico, early Thursday morning. His death was caused by an affection of the throat, from which he had been suffering for more than a year.

Mr. Ingalls' illness dates from March, 1899, when his throat began troubling him. Ten months ago he sought change in climate, traveling through New Mexico and Arizona. Two months ago Mrs. Ingalls joined her husband in Las Vegas, and she has since remained at her husband's side. Senator Ingalls leaves a widow and six children.

Senator l'agalls was seized with the grip in 1898 while on a lecturing tour in South Dakota, and was compelled to leave the field in the fall of that year. He returned to his home in Atchison, Kan., shortly afterwards going to Washington, and at that place the first emphatic symptoms of the fatal throat disease were made apparent.

Ex-Senator Ingalls was born in Middleton, Essex County, Mass., in 1833. He was graduated from Williams College in 1855, and received the degree of LL. D. in 1884. He was admitted to the bar in 1857, and removed to Kansas in October, 1858. He was a delegate to the Wyandotte constitutional convention in 1859; vecretary of the territorial council in 1860; secretary of the State Senate in 1861; member of the State Senate of Kansas from Atchison County in 1862; major, lieutenant colonel and judge advovocate Kansas volunteers in 1863-65. Mr. Ingalls was elected to the United States Senate from Kansas as a Republican to succeed S. C. Pomeroy, Republican, took his seat March 4, 1873, and was twice re-elected. His term of service expired March 4, 1891. Since leaving the Senate he devoted his time to literary work and the lecture platform.

measures. The commanders of the Chinese forts at Taku seemed to be preparing for hostilities, and on June 17, after a council of war, an ultimatum demanded the surrender of the fortifications. In reply to the ultimatum the Chinese opened fire on the allied fleet. An engagement followed, in which the United States warships took no part. The forts were finally captured after a severe struggle, in which the allies suffered heavily.

and wounded. tails of the murder of Baron von Ketteler, the German minister, were received at Shanghai. It transpired that the German minister was murdered on June 18 in practically the manner described by the Chinese officials three days before.

The powers used the utmost dispatch in gathering an army to march on Pekin. The United States sent the Ninth regiment from Manila. Russia sent troops from Port Arthur, France from Indo-China, England from India, Japan from Tokio. England ordered seven regiments. President McKinley directed another regiment to sail from the Philippines and several more from the United States. Preparations for war on a huge scale were made by every great power.

Mystery Hidden in Pekin.

In the meantime the walls of Pekin covered a mystery that defied the scrutiny of the world. The most alarming reports were disseminated by the Chinese officials at Shanghai. The news of the nurder of the German minister was confirmed. It was gradually admitted that all the legations but three had been destroyed, and that all the foreigners had taken refuge in the compound of the British legation. The source of all news was Sheng, the Chinese director of telegraphs at Shanghai. He held the wires leading to Pekin. One day he would declare all foreigners safe, the next he would seemingly admit that they had been massacred. On July 11, however, Secretary Hay handed to the Chinese minister at Washington a cipher dispatch to Minister Conger at Pekin. The Chinese minister had undertaken to have the message deliver-pressed. A force was promptly sent to attacked the allies. Maj. Waller, with the American marines and 440 Russians was ambushed three miles from the city and compelled to retreat after losing four killed, seventy wounded and abandoning a three-inch rifle and a Colt gun.

Attacking the Walled City.

On July 9 Gen. Dorward (British) commanding 950 British, 400 Russians and 100 American marines, with Gen. Tukushung and 1,000 Japanese soldiers. captured the Chinese position southwest of the city, killing 350 and capturing four guns, Gen. Dorward reported to the British war office that the honors of the day rested with the Americans and Japanese.

There was three hours of sharp fight ing on July 11, the allies losing 100 kill ed and wounded, without gaining any de cided advantage.

The Ninth regiment arrived from Manila on July 11 and was immediately sent to the front. Two days later came the severest engagement so far in the campaign. The allies attacked the native walled city of Tien-tsin and were re pulsed after an all-day battle. The Ninth regiment suffered severely, its commander, Col. Liscum, being killed, together with eighteen of his men. Seventy-five men of the Ninth were wounded.

The following day, however, the plan originally agreed upon was carried out The Japanese engineers gallantly made a breach in the walls of the native city and it was carried by storm, the shattered Ninth regiment being one of the first to enter the town. On the night of the 14th Chinese renegades burned the larger part of the city and the stores and houses were plundered.

After the capture of the walled city of Tien-tsin the Chinese fell back in the direction of Pekin and a long delay ensued. The allies waited for re-enforcements, gathered supplies, and organized the transport necessary for the final advance on the Chinese capital. On Aug. 3, however, the advance be-

NINE LIVES LOST.

Terrible Collision on the Grand Rapids and Indiana Railroad.

The most terrible wreck in the history of Grand Rapids and Indiana Railroad occurred about 5 a. m. Wednesday at Pierson, twenty-nine miles north 01 Grand Rapids. The north-bound northland express collided head-on with passenger train No. 2. Nine lives were lost and many passengers were injured, some severely. Both engines and the baggage cars were demolished.

When the trains met day was just dawning and the fog was so thick that the engineers could not see more than 100 yards ahead. The trains were to have passed at Sand Lake, two miles south of Pierson. No. 2 was evidently late, and was trying to make the siding at Pierson. The northland express had the right of way and was scurrying along at nearly full speed. Either the engineers blundered in their orders or were unable to see signals on account of the fog.

The engineers and firemen of both trains were reported killed, as well as five other persons. The express train was made up largely of Pullman cars and was the finest train on the road. It carried the Grand Rapids coach, a day coach, several sleepers from Cincinnati and the South, a buffet-breakfast car and the baggage cars.

MYSTERIOUS CHINESE NAMES.

Their Significance Plain When Once They Are Understood.

The mysterious names appearing in the Chinese dispatches become familiar enough when translated, thus: Tung means east; si, west; nan, south; pei, north; while tsin, kin or king stands for capital or metropolis, as in Pekin (northern capital) and Nankin (southern capital).

Tien means heaven, so Tien-tsin signifies heavenly metropolis. Ho or kiang means river, so Pei-Ho is north river; Sikiang, west river. Che means seven, so Che-kiang is seven rivers. Shan is a mountain, and Shan-tung, east mountain, and Shan-si, west mountain. Pai is white, and Pai-shan, white mountain. Hai is sea, and kwan stands for gate, so Hai-kwan (the maritime customs) is gate of the sea, and Shan-hai-kwan, mountain and sea gate. Shang is a city, and Shanghai, city by the sea. Yang means ocean, and Tse, son;

hence, the Yang-tse river is son of the ocean, and Tien-tse, son of heaven (the Emperor).

Ku or kow is a mouth or pass, and Ta, big or great, so Ta-ku means a big mouth (of Pei-Ho), while Nan-kow stands for south pass (from Mongolia).

Hu is a lake; ling, a hill; hsiang, a village; hsien, a tax district. Fu is a prefecture; tai, a governor; tao, a circuit or group of administrative departments; so tao-tai is a governor of a circuit, and fo-tai is a governor of a prefecture.

Chao or kiso is a bridge; li a Chinese mile; pa, eight; and thus Pa-li-kiao is the eight-mile bridge. Cho or chow is a depot or stopping place; hence Tungchow (eastern depot of Pekin). Shen is a province, and Shen-si is the western province.

Yamen is a police station or official residence, and Hui, a secret society or club. Ts'ing means pure or clear, so Ts'ingkiang is clear river, while Ta Ts'ing means great pure (name of present dynasty) and kwo being a kingdom or empire, Ta-Ts'ing kow signifies the empire of the great pure (China).

Ta Mei-Ka is the name applied by the ALLIED ARMY ENTERS PEKIN WITHOUT A FIGHT.

American Troops Under General Chaffee in the Lead-News of the Liberation of the Besieged Ministers and Their Friends.

Out of the gloom of the recent acute crisis came the cheering information from many sources Friday, unofficial, but so circumstantial and positive as to be generally credited in official quarters, that the allied armies had reached Pekin and that the legationers had been relieved. This information came from pres." dispatches from London, Shanghai and Berlin, and they were eagerly scanned by the official's in Washington. The dispatch from Berlin conveying the communication from the German consul at Shanghai that the allies had entered Pekin and liberated all the foreigners was credited in official circles. The announcement was joyfully received in Washington, President McKinley was shown the dispatches from abroad, and the conviction was generally expressed that the crisis in China is now over.

Information from Shanghai via Berlin states that Pekin was entered by the allied forces on Aug. 15 without opposition, and that American troops under Gen. Chaffee were the first to enter the Chinese capital. The Japanese, British and Russians followed in the order named. The allies began operations on the walls of Pekin in the morning. A flag of truce was hoist- GEN. CHAFFEE. ed on the wall, and in the afternoon the Americans, under their general, marched into the city.

The collapse of Chinese resistance is explained in dispatches from Shanghai as being due to the failure of the Chinese to flood the country below Tung-Chow. The earthworks connected with the dam at the Pei-Ho were unfinished, and the canal at Tung-Chow was full of water,

RUIN RIDES THE WIND.

A Terrible Storm Sweeps Across the State of Wisconsin.

A mighty windstorm swept over Sheboygan, Wis., Monday afternoon, wrecking eight large buildings and 200 dwelling houses. The pecuniary damage is estimated at $300,000.

That no one was killed seems almost a miracle. The wind wrecked building after building with the greatest rapidity, and there was little warning of the approach of the storm. The people in every case were out of their houses before the storm struck and those who were struck by flying debris were only slightly injured so far as is yet known. In the factories the employes were in many cases bruised and cut by wreckage.

The storm started in the western part of the city and swept down to the south side and off into the lake. It was two miles wide and wrecked everything in its path. All was over in ten minutes, although it seemed hours .to the panicstricken people.

All the morning the clouds were banking up. At noon it was intensely hot and dark as night. Artificial lights were necessary in the buildings. A few minutes before 1 o'clock the storm broke, a terrific wind coming down suddenly from the northwest. People were thrown down and fences and signs hurled hundreds of feet.

The roof of the large warehouse of the Crocker Company was blown off and thrown against the large factory. The building was wrecked and the large stock of chairs was left without protection from the rain. The roof of the malthouse of the Konrad Schrieier Brewing Company was lifted from the building and carried over 150 yards and thrown into the street. It was carried over the huge ventilator of the brewery. The American Folding Bed Company's plant was demolished and the sheds in the A. Zeinbal & Son's brick yards were blown down and the bricks scattered in every direction.

The storm struck the South Side Lutheran Church and the steeple was blown down upon two residences, smashing in the roofs. The Fourth Ward school house, a beautiful building, was completely wrecked, one side and the front being blown in, causing the roof to fall, crushing the floors down into the cellar.

The plant of the Optenberg & Sonneman Company was partially wrecked. Several freight cars standing on the Northwestern Railroad tracks were allies and the legationers holding part of blown over on their sides. The street car barns were wrecked and cars were smashed to pieces. The electric wires were all blown down. The tent of the Dentry horse and pony show, was torn from the ground and blown away. The animals were freed and ran panic-stricken through the city. The following suffered heavy losses: Henry Tillmann, Herman Dehue, Otto Zoerns, Thomas Atkins, Gustav Roehborn, William Gold. The large frame house of Herman Dehne was lifted off its foundation and thrown against that of Henry Tillmann. Other houses demolished, turned, twisted or blown completely away were those of Henry Schelmer, Henry Tillmann, Charles Kotz, Otto Jaerns, Zimbal & Sons' brick kilns and barn, Gustave Roehborn's house, Mattoon Manufacturing Company's tramway, the houses of Mrs. William Miles, Mrs. Leath, Thomas Atkins, Fred Mueller's barn and the houses of E. J. Stanton, William Groh and Emil Clarenbach. These structures were ruined and 150 more were more or less damaged.

It was reported that Yuan-Shi-Kai's troops had gone to Shen-Si to protect the empress, who, according to reports, with Tuan, the imperial household and the bulk of the army and Boxers, left Pekin Aug. 7 for Hsiau-Fu.

A dispatch received from the German consul at Shanghai was given out by the Berlin foreign office. It stated that the allies entered Pekin without fighting, the legations were relieved and the foreigners liberated.

With the legationers relieved, the gravest crisis is removed. But there remains many momentous questions to be deter-

Much Damage in Oshkosh.

Oshkosh and Winnebago County un derwent a severe electrical and windstorm. The damage is surprisingly light considering the violence of the elements. For more than an hour the rain descended in a flood and the lightning played pranks. A barn, a dwelling house and a blacksmith shop were struck by lightning, and the first destroyed with all its contents. Scores of trees were uprooted. From the country a vast total of damage is reported to growing fruit, especially apples; but most of the grain is out of the way. The rain relieved a very hot and dry period.

HORRIBLE DEED OF AN ANGRY MINNESOTA FARMER.

Kills His Wife and Three Children and Burns Stable, Hay Barn and Corn Crib-Missouri Man Murders Two Men and a Woman.

Theodore Wallart, a farmer living three miles from Arlington, Minn., killed his wife, a boy of 19, a girl of 16 and a baby. He then set fire to his barns, destroying the stable with nine horses, a corn crib and a full hay barn. Three years ago Wallart married the Widow Starnbors, and for some time they had been having trouble. The wife recently had been trying to secure a divorce and had taken means to prevent the man from coming to the farm. The other day, after practicing in the woods with a revolver, he returned to the house and entered by one of the windows. His wife evidently was alarmed by the noise and was shot and killed as she was leaving her bed. The baby was found dead on the lounge, the girl on the floor of her bedroom. A second boy was seriously wounded. Wallart fled to the woods.

SLAYS NEIGHBOR AND WOMAN.

Missourian Then Murders Pursuing Sheriff and Is Killed Himself.

Dr. Arrington, in Platte County, Mo., shot and killed James Wallace, a wealthy farmer, in a quarrel over a line fence, and then going to the home of his motherin-law, the widow of William Wallace, deliberately shot her to death. Arrington escaped in a wagon with his young daughter, but was pursued by Sheriff Dillingham and a posse. The posse came up with Arrington in a road near Farley and shots were exchanged. The murderer opened fire, fatally wounding Dillingham in the breast. As he fell Dillingham shot Arrington through the heart.

C. P. HUNTINGTON DIES.

Heart Disease Ends a Long, Energetic and Eventful Life.

Collis I'. Huntington, president of the Southern Pacific Railroad and one of the wealthiest men in the country, is dead at Pine Knot Lodge, his summer camp near Durant, on Racquette Lake, in the Adirondack Mountains. The great magnate was s'ricken before it was known that he was not well and long before assistance could be summoned he died. Heart trouble is supposed to have been the cause. Almost everybody knows how Collis P. Huntington became what he was, and what he was before his rise. His story and the story of his three associates, all of whom are dead, is interesting. He had been powerful and great so long, however, that many have forgotten him as anything else. He was born Oct. 22, 1821, at Harwington, Conn. In 1861, the year of the outbreak of the civil war, with Messrs. Stanford, Crocker and others, he organized a company to construct the Central Pacific Railroad. Subsequently he was elected first vice president and general agent of the Southern Pacific Company and president of the Newport News and Mississippi Valley Company. For thirty-five years he was actively engaged with these enterprises. April 9, 1890, he was chosen president of the Southern Pacific. He was also president of the Mexican International Railroad.

HIS FORTUNE IS MYTHICAL.

Search for Kansas Minister's English Inheritance in Vain.

S. J. Osborn, Speaker of the last Kansas House of Representatives, has returned from England, where he was sent by the trustees of the Wesleyan University to investigate the inheritance of Rev. T. H. James of Salina, Kan., and to find Mr. James himself. Mr. James returned to Kansas two days after Judge Osborn sailed from New York, after having been unheard of for a month. Judge Osborn believes Mr. James has been made the dupe of English attorneys who wanted to get a fee from him. "I could find no trace of any fortune for the James family." Judge Osborn said. "I found the place in Liverpool where he boarded, and from the description of his condition by the woman who kept the boarding house I believe he had been drugged. She said he seemed drowsy all the time. Two lifferent men called to see him. One was his brother, but the other was some one

FAST MAIL WRECKED.

AWFUL PLUNGE OF A TRAIN NEAR SANDUSKY.

Cars Fall Into the Water-Imprisoned Passengers Escape as by Miracle, Not One Suffering Serious Injury-Salmon Catch Reported Short.

Lake Shore train No. 3, west bound, was wrecked at Bay Bridge, near Sandusky, Ohio. The train struck a broken rail. The engine and two mail cars passed over the bridge safely. The next three cars, consisting of two mail and a combination car, went over the bridge into Sandusky bay, in twenty feet of water. The rest of the train left the track, but did not go over the bridge, and, beyond a severe shaking up and a bad scare, no one was injured in these cars. The three cars piled up in a mass in the water below, imprisoning the mail clerks and the passengers in the combination baggage and passenger coach. Not a life was lost, passengers and employes climbing through windows and doors, and being rescued from the water with slight injuries. The cars are sixty feet and two of them stood partially on end in the twenty feet of water. The broken rail was on the west-bound track, near the east end of the Bay bridge. The bridge was uninjured, and traffic was delayed but slightly.

SALMON CATCH IS SHORT.

Japanese Government Places Heavy Orders in San Francisco.

Although the salmon catch this year is short, the Japanese Government is placing heavy orders in the San Francisco market for salmon to feed its army. Men acquainted with the salmon packing industry place the shortage at from 500,000 to 730,000 cases, as compared with last year, and as there are forty-eight cans in a case this means that there will be from 32,640,000 to 35,040,000 less cans of salmon on the market this year than last

The fuel company includes some fourteen coal companies, mostly in West Virginia.

TROLLEY CAR HELD UP.

Conductor on the Omaha and Council Bluffs Electric Railway Robbed. _

Motor No. 79 of the Omaha and Council Bluffs Railway and Bridge Company was held up and the conductor was robbed by two masked men about midnight the other night. As the motor stopped for a crossing and the conductor started to alight to go ahead two men rose from the darkness at the side of the track and boarded the car. One cov ered the conductor and the other the motorneer with their weapons. One of the robbers then took from the conductor his gold watch and his cash, amounting, it is estimated, to about $50. The robbers then jumped from the car and disappeared in the darkness. There were only a few passengers aboard and they were not disturbed.

RACE WAR IN GOTHAM.

Angry Mob Seeks Vengeance on New York Negroes.

In New York a mob of several hundred persons formed at 11 o'clock Wednesday night in front of the home of Policeman Robert J. Thorpe, Thirty-seventh street and Ninth avenue, to wreak vengeance upon the negroes of that neighborhood because one of their race had caused the policeman's death. Thorpe was stabbed and bruised Sunday night by several negroes while he was attempting to arrest a colored woman. The man who inflicted most of the injuries is said to be Robert Harris, a negro who came to New York several weeks ago from Washington.

In a few moments the mob swelled to 1,500 people or more, and as they became violent the negroes fled in terror into any hiding place they could find. The police reserves from four stations, numbering 400 in all, were called out.

The mob of white men, which grew with great rapidity, raged through the district, and negroes, regardless of age or sex, were indiscriminately attacked. Scores were injured. It took the combined efforts of the reserves with as many more policemen on regular patrol duty in the four precincts to restore orwere emptied into the air and in one or two instances fired at the upper stories of the negro tenements, from which the negroes defensively fired bricks, paving stones and other missiles.

The trouble grew out of the death of Policeman Robert J. Thorpe of the West Thirty-seventh street station, as the result of a murderous assault by a negro early Sunday in Eighth avenue and Forty-first street. Thorpe was attempting to arrest a negress when Arthur Harris and another negro attacked the policeman with razors. He died the following day.

AMERICAN WRITES TO FILIPINOS

Correspondence Captured in Luzon Is Made Public.

Letters and papers belonging to Aguinaldo, which were captured several months ago by Gen. Funston, have been made public by the War Department. Some of these documents tend to substantiate the charges that the Filipino insurgents have received encouragement from persons in the United States. The most remarkable letter in the collection is from Dr. Montague R. Leverson, dated Fort scribes himself as a member of the Anti-Imperialist League, and who advises the Filipinos to capture some official of high rank in the service of the United States and try him for piracy. While it is said by officials of the administration that a charge of treason might be based on Mr. Leverson's letter, a Washington correspondent says no legal proceedings will be instituted. Dr. Montague R. Leverson, who wrote the letter declaring the United States to be guilty of piracy in its Philippine policy, is still a resident of Fort Hamilton, from which place the missive was dated in 1899. He is 70 years old and is a physician of English birth, but is now a naturalized American citizen. Dr. Leverson four years ago had an altercation in the union station at Albany with Anthony Comstock. They later each sued the other for libel. Each recovered a verdict of 6 cents.

PRAIRIE LAND SINKS TEN FEET.

Phenomena Reported from New Mexico-Subterranean River.

At Agua Negra, N. M., the inhabitants were awakened by a rumbling noise like that of an earthquake. Subsequent investigation revealed that several hundred acres of prairie had sunk about ten feet and the cavity had filled with water, although there had been no rainfall. In a few days the water had seeped through the ground and a subtegranean river was discovered 500 feet below the surface.

AN ADMIRATION.

Does his best from day to day: That's 'bout all that you kin say. Wasn't built fur gettin' rich. Never bought no bonds an' sich, Never made no speeches fine, Never quite could git in line, In life's hurly-burly quest; Goes ahead an' does his best.

Does his best. In hours of pain Bends his head an' won't complain And afar from envy's sneer, Men an' children hold him dear; Safe from praises misapplied An' the mockery of pride, He seems noble as the rest; Goes ahead an' does his best.

Milly Barrington was only 18 when she came to live at Holly Lodge. Very young to be married, said the gossips of the neighborhood, still younger to assume all of the cares and responsibilities of a household. And there were not lacking doleful prophets who declared, with eyes rolled up and mouths drawn down, that Mrs. Barrington never would "get on" with the old gentleman.

"He is so fastidious," said one.

"So difficult to suit," said another. "His ideal is so impossibly high," declared a third.

But to their surprise-perhaps a little to their disappointment-Milly and her father-in-law were the best of friends from the very first moment in which they looked upon each other's faces.

Milly was anxious to learn, so eager to comprehend the ins and outs of the great, roomy old house, so ambitious to excel every housekeeper in the neighborhood, that the old gentleman said, with a smile, to his son:

"Don't let your little wife undertake. what?"

like to ask him for it." "Do you mean to say," said Mr. Barrington, leaning his elbows on the sill,

"that you don't have a regular allowance every week?" "No, papa," said Milly, lifting her prettily arched brows. "Dudley says women don't know how to use money, and that a wife should always receive every halfpenny she spends from her husband. And I can tell you, papa, because you are so kind to me-1 am so ashamed to have him think me extravagant, and I really need so many little things that men haven't any idea of. It's a little hard sometimes."

Mr. Barrington took his purse out of pocket and laid it on the windowsill. "Here, little girl," he said, "you have earned the contents of that a dozen times over."

Milly reached up to kiss him through the vinc leaves.

"Oh, papa, you are such a daring," she said.

He only patted her cheek in reply. "Dudley don't know what a treasure he has got." he pondered as he kept on his walk up to the front veranda, where a great chesnut tree was showering its blooms over the steps and the balmy sunshine slept on the painted floor. "He is making a Circassian slave out of that dear little woman." And he took his book and stretched himself comfortably out in the hammock for his evening's reveries.

It was the next day that his son came to him in the library, where a for a chilly, northeast rain had blown all the yellow maple leaves away, and the sunshine was obscured in driving clouds.

"Well, my boy," said his father kindly, "you are off to the city, I suppose?"

"Yes, sir," said Mr. Barrington, Jr., a tall, straight, handsome young man, with a brown complexion and sparkling eyes. . "And before I go perhaps you had better give me a check if it's convenient."

"A check?" said his father. "For rain spoiled my best one, but I don't son in economy. You see her it humiliates one to have to beg humbly for the money that one has honestly earned-to be called upon for an account of every penny one wishes to spend, Don't put your wife into such a false position as that. Treat her as one of the firm of Barrington & Co." Dudley stood still a moment, pondering, and then he said, earnestly: "I will, sir. You are right."

> And Milly was delighted, that very day, to receive a check for an ample sum of money from her husband.

> "Is it all for me?" she cried, with glittering eyes.

"Yes, all," Dudley answered, laugh ing.

"But what am I to do with so much money?"

"Lock it up in your desk, dear," he answered, "and spend it for your needs as they occur."

"But I never had so much before all at one time!" exclaimed the amazed Milly.

"No, you never had, more shame to me," acknowledged Dudley, "But I have come to the conclusion, Milly, that you are no child to be given a few shillings at a time. You are my housekeeper and deserve your regular salary. I shall give you five pounds for your own personal expenses at the beginning of every month, and you shall use and economize it as you choose. The household expenses, of course, will be paid out of the common stock."

"Oh, Dudley, I never felt so rich in my life," said she. "Now I can dress like other women, and give a little money to the church and hep the poor and feel independent! And I can lay by a little, too, Dudley, every month! Oh, you shall see what an excellent manager I can be."

Dudley Barrington looked at his young wife with a sharp prick of conscience at his heart. Why had he never made her so innocently happy before? Simply because it had never occurred to him.

And' Milly ran eagerly to her fatherin-law.

"Papa!" she cried. "I am to have five pounds a month all for my own self and never to give an account of a penny of it, unless I please! It is Dudley's own offer. Isn't he kind?" And Colonel Barrington smiled and patted her head, and answered, with a touch of sarcasm: "Very kind, indeed."-Chicago Times Herald.

CHINA SUES FOR PEACE.

Li-Hung-Chang Asks America to Name a Commissioner.

The Chinese Government, through Li Hung Chang, has made application to the United States for the appointment of Minister Conger or some other American official with authority to open negotiations for the establishment of peace and for fixing definite terms for the settlement of the present trouble. The application came to the Chinese minister in Washington Monday and was taken by him to the State Department.

The application for the appointment of a peace commissioner expresses willingness to conduct the negotiations at a point desired by the powers. A similar application has been made by Earl Li to all of the powers interested. His suggestion of Minister Conger as the American commissioner is based on the idea that as Mr. Conger has been rescued he has now the opportunity to proceed to the point where negotiations will be held and conduct them. The application does not suggest any particular terms, nor does it ask for the withdrawal of troops. It requests that the negotiations shall be for the purpose of bringing about a cessation of hostilities.

New York-Upward of $20,000,000 in gold has so far gone out of the country, on account of American subscriptions to the English exchequer loan. Funds on call have been in abundant supply in Wall street at rates ranging from 1 to 1½ per cent, while time money continues to be freely offered for the rest of the year at 4 per cent. The demand for money is showing some improvement, but the available supply for loaning purposes is still so large that the best judges of the situation can see no reason to fear anything like a stringency within the next few months. The deposits of banks all over the country have been increasing at an enormous rate, and taken as a whole the banks probably never have been in a better position to meet the usual fall demands for crop-moving purposes than they are this year.

Chicago-Grain markets were dull during the week, the absence of speculative activity being to some extent due to the declining tendency of the price of wheat. It requires a different direction in the trend of fluctuations to interest anyone but the regular traders, and they were somewhat restrained by the irregularity with which those who live outside of Caicago received information of the momentary variations in prices. The weight of the great crop of winter wheat grown this year in the Southwest weighed upon the spirits of the bull traders, and in despair of any change in that respect within the compass of a month they threw their holdings upon a reluctant market with the result mentioned. Corn was firm, receipts being small and shipments heavy. Manipulation having been invited by the insignificant stock of contract corn in Chicago, and the apparent reluctance of country holders to part with their reserves of old corn at current rates, there developed an anxious demanti from shorts for September corn that stopped a previously declining tendency and turned it in an upward direction.

too much, Dudley."

And Dudley Barrington answered. with a yawn:

"There's no danger of that, sir. The ladies of Holly Lodge have always been first rate housekeepers, you know. And if a woman is at work, she isn't spending money foolishly or gossiping."

Mr. Barrington's keen blue eyes regarded his son sharply for a moment.

"Do you think Milly is addicted to "Do of those pernicious practices?" either of he asked.

"They come natural to all women. don't they?" said Dudley, shrugging his shoulders.

"Not at all!" said his father.

And in his secret soul he wondered if Dudley was really worthy of such a jewel as Millicent.

So the weeks went on, and Milly stood bravely to her helm, until one bright October day the old gentleman, chancing to pass the low kitchen window, where the vines made a screen of moving shadow, looked smilingly into where his daughter-in-law was at work.

"Have you got a glass of cool milk for me, little girl?" he said.

Milly brought the milk promptly.

"See, papa," she said, triumphantly, pointing to the table, "what a baking I have done to-day. Three apple pies. three loaves of bread, a pan of biscuits, a cake, and a dozen plum tarts."

"Bravo!" said Mr. Barrington. "But Milly, why are you baking? Where is Hannah?"

"Hannah wanted her wages raised." said Milly, rather soberly. "And Dudley said it was all nonsense keeping a girl when I was so fond of housework. So she has gone."

"But are you fond of housework?" he said. "In itself, as an abstract thing. I mean?"

"Yes, papa," Milly answered, with some hesitation. "But I'm a little tired this morning. I rose early and swept the house through before breakfast, so as to have time for the baking."

"You are a good little girl." said the father-in-law, "but we musn't let you work too hard."

"Papa," said Milly, with downcast father. lashes and a deep pink shadow creep- "I am the manager of your wareing over her cheek, "I've been thinking for some time that-that-" "Well?" said Mr. Barrington. encouragingly.

"I'm about out of ready cash," said Dudley, carelessily, "and a little spending money would come very handy for current expenses."

"Ah! And what are you going to buy?"

Dudley looked at his father in amazement. "I need a summer suit, sir," said

he. "and--" "Yes-yes," nodded the old gentle-

"And how much do you pay for man. a summer suit now?"

"Oh, six or seven pounds," answered Dudley.

"Six or seven pounds," echoed Mr. Barrington. "Isn't that rather vague?" "A fellow never knows exactly," explained Dudley.

"Ah! but you ought to know," interrupted the old gentleman. "And, now clothes of Poole, don't you? Aren't there cheaper places?"

said:

"I've a little bill at the cigar shop and there are some new books I should like to read."

"Just send in the bills to me," said to my little sister to play with. the old gentleman. "I'll pay them." "The bootmaker, sir-"

"You must try and not be too extravagant with your boots. Young I know who has dared to look at him? men have so many fictitious wants But you don't know how many nights nowadays. But, as I said before, let all the bills be sent to me. And as for spending money, here is enough for the present."

He drew out half a sovereign and handed it to his son. Dudley stared at it in amazement. "I expected a check, sir," said he, comewhat discomfited. "Did you?"

"It isn't agreeable to be put on such an allowance," went on Dudley, sharply. "I'm not accustomed to it." "Not agreeable, eh?" said his father, comfortably adjusting his feet on an embroidered rest. "Then why do you practice the system with your wife?" "I give her all that she needs to spend," said Dudley, coloring up.

"And I have given you all that you need."

"I am a man!" said Dudley. "And she is a woman!" retorted his

A FALSE ALARM.

How an Eligible Young Man Was Frightened Away.

"And it all came from a little, petty, miserable, insignificant, nickel-plated alarm clock that cost me just 69 cents at a bargain sale!" exclaimed the pretty girl in blue with flashing eyes to her sympathetic friend, says the Detroit Free Press. "I haven't the slightest idea why I bought it unless it was because it was so cheap, for goodness Dudley ignored the question and knows I didn't need it. But buy it I did and carried it home, where I bragged of my bargain all the rest of the day. It wouldn't run more than half the time, and finally I turned it over

> "You know the time I have had with that eligible young man and how I have quarreled with every girl friend I have wasted sitting up planning a campaign that would be successful.

"Well, he came the other evening and I served notice on the rest of the family that we wanted the drawingroom to ourselves that evening, for I felt sure that the supreme moment had arrived. I wasn't disappointed. We were sitting side by side on a divan, quite by accident, looking at some engravings, when he began, and I tried to look as if I was awfully surprised, But he hadn't spoke more than three words before that miserable alarm clock went off right under us, where my little sister had left it when she was through playing with it. From the way the young man jumped you would have thought that he was a part of the alarm and always acted that way when the alarm was sprung. He made for the door mumbling something that I didn't catch on account of the noise that the alarm made, and he was outdoors before the din ceased and gave me a chance to collect my wits. And to think that it was all caused by a little, miserable, petty-" The pretty girl in blue gave it up and burst out crying.

ARA.

How Would the Men Like It? A few days ago the Supreme Court of Tennessce decided that a woman shall not practice law in that state. The applicant possessed all the necossary qualifications, and bad opened an office in Memphis. There is nothing unusual about this decision. Supreme courts have been deciding thus for the past thirty years, and the only way in which women have been able & Co's. to follow this profession has been by carrying the question before state legislatures and securing a special law; and in order for them to appear before the Supreme Court of the United States an act of Congress was necessary.

These cases are cited merely to emphasize the point that women cannot take one forward step except by permission of men. After a young man has prepared himself for his vocation in life he starts in with an even chance of winning success. The young woman cannot so much as prepare herself except by masculine favor. If she desires to study law or medicine or theology or pharmacy or dentistry or even to take a college course to become a teacher, she can do so only through the consent of the men who form the governing boards. After she is fitted for it she cannot practice law or medicine except by permission of legislature composed of meu. The masculine trustees of the universities and common schools decide whether she shall teach. She enters the hospitals as nurse only by permission of the men who have control. She cannot sit on the board of any institution, charitable or penal, or serve as matron of jail or station house, unless men choose to allow it She cannot act as court stenographer or notary public until men have granted her leave to do so. Her right to all government positions is decided by a male tribunal. In all the industrial occupations where she has forced her way men make her feel that she is an interloper on their domain. It is an intolerable situation. Men themselves would rather die than bave the conditions reversed and be wholly dependent upon the sufferance of women. The cruel injustice of it, which has been almost more than women could bear, is strongly intensified now that the whole question of personal independence has been Co's. opened afresh. After the revolutionary fathers es tablished the principle of individual sovereignty, its application to the masculine half of humanity was accepted without further controversy for more than a century. The events of the past, two years, however, have reopened the subject, and the nation is beginning to inquire just how far this principle extends. But in all this clash and clamor regarding the inherent right of these foreign peoples to govern themselves, demanded by one party, conceded by the other, neither recognizes in the slightest degree that this same right is inherent in the women of our own country. Every argument for the grant ing of this principle to these ignorant, half barbaric men, applies with a thousandfold more force to the educated, self-reliant, law-abiding women of our own United States.
