That Sermon.

PLYMOUTH, Ind., Oct. 8, 1900. Mr. Editor: I read with much interest the report made in the HERALD of Rev. Newman's temperance sermon recently, in which he stated that every saloonkeeper was a criminal. Right here we think the reverend gentleman overreached himself. Our definition of a criminal is one who violates the laws of his country, and as the saloon business is sanctioned by the law we fail to see where the saloonkeeper can be truthfully classed as a criminal. As I understand it, hell is a terrible place that there are as many pretending Christiaus that will reach that dark and grewsome place as those who frequent and run saloons. Christ taught that all men should be changed from their evil ways by gentle persuasion, instead of abuse and vile epithets, as pursued by the reverend gentleman in his lecture, and we think that if this minister of the gospel would follow Christ's teachings a little more closely he would do more good toward mankind in this world of sin and sorrow.

The grocerymen of every town and city in this section of the state are expecting an organization to be known as the Northern Indiana Grocers' Association. An organizer will be secured to visit the merchants and urge them to join the organization. The aim of this body will be to prevail upon the legislature to enact measures affording to the state merchants protection against the "dead beat" and the itinerant vender of merchandise of every description who pays no taxes and is of no benefit to city or village.

With sadness we record the death of Miss Bertha, daughter of D. A. and Elizabeth Elick. She was born in Paulding county, Chio, Feb. 3, 1880, and died in Marshall county, Indiana, Oct. 7, 1900, aged 19 years 8 months and 4 days. She was converted to God about five years ago and united with the Evangelical church, of which she remained a true and faithful member, holding the office of secretary and treasurer of the missionary auxilery of Trinity class until the time of her death. She leaves to mourn her early departure a father, mother, five brothers and three sisters, with many friends and relatives. The funeral services will be performed by the Rev. L. Newman.

At the recent republican county convention, Thomas Medbourn of Culver was nominated for county assessor. As he has lived in this section nearly all his life, he is so well known that it will be practically useless for us to eulogize upon his qualifications for the place, hence we shall simply say, that as he is one of Union township's most esteemed citizens, we feel that, irrespective of party affliations, he should receive the unanimous support of the entire township. Being a man well versed in business affairs and a splendid judge of property value he will, if elected, fill the office with credit to himself and constituents. The office of assessor is a very important one and should be conducted by a man thoroughly conversant with public On Tuesday Oct. 9, it being the affairs. Do not let blind partyism forty-six of his relatives gave him a proper man, and we think Thomas grand surprise. After refresbments Medbourn would be the right man in the right place.

Shafer, manager of the Indianapolis Brewing company, located at Logansport; Joseph S. Stein, manager of Pabst Brewing company, Plymouth, and R. Kreutzberger of Logansport, arrived in Culver Tuesday morning and immediately proceeded to Kreuzberger's park, where they were met by that accommodating and affable manager, "Billy" Knoeble, who administered to their wants in the most approved style. After breakfast they had a most enjoyable time on and around the lake, in which they spent the greater part of the day. Returning in the alternoon they immediately retired to Kreutzberger's bowling alley, where a contest took place, which resulted in a victory for the Pabst Brewing company team. They all left in the evening for their homes well pleased with their day's pleasure.

Mr. Buffington was a portly individual, with a Roman nose, iron gray hair and a stout, short figure.

Miss Chickson was tall and spare, with little spiral curls and the remains of a complexion, and with blue eyes that had been passing bright twenty years ago.

"There is an end to all human endurance." observed the gentleman sternly. "Sir," said Miss Chickson, "I have put up with your eccentricities until forbearance has ceased to be a virtue."

"A month's notice!" said Mr. Buffington, savagely flourishing his yellow silk pocket handkerchief.

"You are quite at liberty to go at the end of twenty-four hours, for all I care!" retorted Miss Chickson with dignity.

"Madame, I take you at your word," said the gentleman.

"Sir, I shall congratulate myself if you will," said the lady.

Mr. Barnabas Buffington had lodged with Miss Patty Chickson for ten years. He was rich and eccentric; she was poor and proud. As young people there had been certain love passages between them or rather the buds of love passages, which had never blossomed into full perfection-and when Mr. Buffington came home from China and found his old pastor's orphan daughter trying to gain a scanty livelihood by letting apartments he engaged her entire second floor at once and paid his way like a rajah.

"Poor girl! poor girl!" said Mr. Barnabas Buffington. "But how thin and old-maidish she has grown! I really can't imagine how I ever could have fancied her a divinity. What fools young men are, to be sure!"

"Poor, dear Mr. Buffington! How stout and vulgar he has become!" said Miss Chickson, "And only to think how slender he was once! How the dreams of one's youthful days do alter!"

Mr. Barnabas Buffington was not perfect enough to be canonized and Miss Chickson had her petty peculiarities. The consequence was that little collisions were inevitable. And one day there came a longer measuring of wordy words than usual, and Mr. Buffington and Miss Chickson | grate.

old bachelor. "I'm only surprised that I haven't turned him away long ago," said the old mald.

So when Mr. Buffington had gone away in a cab piled high with baggage, Miss Chickson rang the bell for her

"Barbara," said she.

"Yes, ma'am," said Barbara.

"Mr. Buffington has gone at last." "So I perceive, ma'am," said Barbara. "And won't he come back again, ma'am?"

"Never," said Miss Chickson with spirit.

"Oh," said Barbara, rather surprised. "It will be necessary for us to reduce expenses," remarked the mistress, "Of course I cannot afford any longer to keep so large a house as this. Mr. Buffington, whatever his faults, cannot at least be accused of parsimony."

"Certainly not, ma'am," said Bar bara, "Of all liberal, free-handed, kindspoken gents-"

"Barbara, you will oblige me by holding your tongue!" said Miss Chickson. "Certainly, ma'am," said Barbara.

"Get me a cup of tea," said Miss Chickson, "and when I have drunk it I will go out to look for a cheaper house in a less aristocratic neighborhood.

Barbara brought up the cup of tea in a quaint little Wedgewood teapot on a Japanese tray.

Miss Chickson drank it in silence. looking sadly at the fire.

Tea was, so to speak, Miss Chickson's inspiration. When she was lowspirited or in doubt or puzzled, or in any way thrown off her mental balance, she drank tea and straightway became herself again.

Meanwhile, Mr. Barnabas Buffington, in the solitary splendors of the West End hotel, was scarcely less ill at ease.

"I don't like this sort of thing at all," said Mr. Buffington to himself one morning a month later. "It isn't home-like. There's no cat here. Patty Chickson always kept a cat. There's something ton. "It was all my fault."

"I was a brute," said Mr. Buffington. "I have reproached myself bitterly," said the lady. "I haven't had a moment of peace since," said Mr. Barnabas Buffington, sincerely.

"Shall we forget and forgive?" whispered Miss Chickson.

"I know a better plan than that," said Mr. Buffington. "Let's begin the world on a new basis."

"I don't understand you," said Miss Chickson.

"I like you and your ways," said Mr. Buffington. "I didn't know how much until we separated. Let us settle down together for life, Patty Chickson, Let's be married."

"At our age?" said Miss Chickson. "We shall never be any younger," said Mr. Buffington. "If you really think people wouldn't laugh," hesitated the spinster. "What do we care whether they do or not?" said the bachelor, recklessly. And the result of this conference was that Mr. and Mrs. Barnabas Buffington are now sitting, one on either side of the hearthrug, with the gray cat in the middle, as harmonious a trio as one will often find. And the bill is taken down permanently.-Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Pickle and an Emergency.

The talk turned the other day in an Eastern Maine town on good luck coming out of apparent misfortune, and as an illustration a gentleman told how a Waldo County man's house caught fire in a time of great drought, when the well was dry and there was no water within half a mile. The woman of the house discovered it burning at a lively rate on the dry roof. Help was as scarce as water. She began wringing her hands and saying over and over to herself, "Here's a pretty pickle! A pretty pickle!"

"Pickle, pickle." The word unconsciously repeated itself, and then she thought of a whole barrel full of pork pickle in the cellar, saved for boiling over. She darted down the cellarway, and soon began deluging the roof with brine. Every one who has tried it "I like the look of that place," said knows what a complete fire extinguisher salt water is. The effect was magical, and before the supply of "pickle" was exhausted she had the fire out and the home was saved. She says she never should have thought of it if that word "pickle" had not kept running in her mind.-Lewiston (Mc.)

The Long-Lived Panama Hat.

The life of a Panama hat, that is, if it is a good one to start with," explained a Lat dealer, "compares somewhat with the life of the owner of it. One can run through either in a hurry or hang on for a long time if it is desired. If carefully kept, a Panama hat should last all the way from ten to forty years. I know a gentleman who resides in East Washington who has owned and steadily worn during the summer months a Panama hat for nearly forty years. It has been bleached every couple of years since and retrimmed and relined, and it is to-day to all intents and purposes as good as when I first saw it thirty years ago. I know of another Panama hat now worn by a physician in this city, which has had almost as long a life. Long before he got it his father wore it. I know dozens of them which have been in use from ten to twenty years. The lining wears out, but the body of the hat keeps good. Of course, care has to be used to keep them such a long time, but the Panama itself is almost indestructible. The original cost of the hats that I refer to was not exorbitant, none of them costing over $14."-Washington Star.

Fine Distance Measurement.

The new pendulum chronoscope is said to be the most wonderful timing instrument in the world. It measures accurately down to the one-thousandth part of a second. It can be used with the quickness of a stop watch and neither electrician nor mathematician is needed to operate the instrument, which is mechanical, with simple electrical attachments. The speed of a cannon ball can be determined by the new timer, and it will tell the lapse of time between the firing of a revolver and the starting of a runner, or determine how long it takes a boxer to deliver a

The average person trims off the thirty-second part of an inch from each And away she tripped, returning finger nail a week, or about an inch and a balf every year. The average of human life all over the world is forty years. There are 1,300,000 people in the world who therefore waste, on an average, 28,400 miles of finger nail in a generation.

SALISBURY'S CRITIC IN CHINA.

DR. G. E. MORRISON

Dr. George Ernest Morrison, the London Times' correspondent in Pekin, who is stirring up England with his dispatches pointing out Great Britain's third rate position at Pekin and criticising Lord Salisbury's policy, has had a remarkable career. Born in Geelong, Victoria, Australia, in February, 1862, he received his first education in Melbourne, later entering Edinburg University, where he was given the degrees of M. D. and C. M. From boyhood he has been fond of travel and adventure. When barely twenty he crossed Australia on foot from the Gulf of Carpentaria to Melbourne. In 1883 he went to New Guinea, and while exploring among parts hitherto untrammeled by white man was speared and dangerously wounded by the natives. From October, 1883, until July, 1884, he carried the spear head in his body, finally going to Edinburg to have it extracted by the surgical experts of the famous Scotch University. He soon recovered from the effects of the operation and entered the university as a medical student. He was graduated in 1887. The following year he crossed from Shanghai to Rangoon by land, and began the study of the far East, on which he is now a recognized authority. He began his newspaper work under the Times, being sent as a special correspondent on a trip from Bangkok, Siam, to Yunnan City, in China, and round Tonquin. This was in 1896. In 1897 he crossed Manchuria from Stretensk, in Siberia, to Vladivostok.

Dr. Morrison was among the Europeans to take refuge in the British legation at Pekin during the siege. He fought side by side with the soldiers in the trenches and was severely wounded. Notwithstanding his injuries he wrote several important dispatches to the Times and was the first correspondent to tell of the Chinese treachery.

Miss E. Ward of Chicago, a former missionary in Pekin, says of the roads to the capital: "Until the completion of the railroad to Tien-tsin some three years ago transportation to the capital was chiefly by way of the Pei-Ho to Tung-Chou, thence overland to Pekin. The river being very winding nearly doubled the distance from Tien-tsin. From Tung-Chou to Pekin, twelve miles, is an ancient stone road. Over this road the allies marched. The huge stone blocks have sunk in many places, making it almost impossible for anything but the mandarin chair or mule-litter easily to traverse it. The sick and wounded soldiers, I understand, were mostly conveyed in the mule-litter, a mode of traveling which I always found comparatively

A large number of Chicagoans have abolished th ecooking of their food. Mrs. L. A. Haworth thinks the spread of the custom of eating raw food would benefit those who would observe it. She says: "I firmly believe that mankind generally would enjoy tenfold blessings but for the most disastrous influences of taking cooked food with its dead cells into the system. I do not believe in eating raw meats. Nothing with blood in it should be eaten at all, for blood makes us savage in our natures. I find that after short practice the uncooked diet is as toothsome as any, and I believe that in a short time it will be far more so."

About the condition of the striking coal miners Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, says: "Behind them is unutterable want. They have been hungry so long that they will suffer nothing uncommon from protracted idleness. It is pitiable to see the suffering of men and their families because of paltry wages. I speak from what I have seen, for I have just been in the anthracite region. The American Federation of Labor will give them all possi ble financial aid."

Gov. Joseph D. Sayers of Texas, on the great storm: "The loss of life occasioned by the storm in Galveston and elsewhere on the southern coast cannot be less than 12,000 lives, while the loss of property will probably aggregate $20,-000,000. Notwithstanding this severe affliction, I have every confidence that the stricken districts will rapidly revive and that Galveston will, from her present desolation and sorrow, arise with renewed strength and vigor."

Lieut. Hobson declares Dewey did not sink the Spanish ships in Manila bay. He says: "Why, the Spaniards pulled out the plugs and opened the valves. They sank the ships themselves. Our shell fire did very little damage. The Spanish boats were not greatly injured below the water line. We had practically done them no damage at all."

RECORD OF EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK.

Opening Up Brown County to Outside World-Balloonist Falls in Front of Freight Engine-Suit for Alienation -Partner Skips with Firm's Cash.

Brown County has at last opened up communication with the outside world. Up to a few days ago the county was without telegraph or telephone service, and not a foot of railroad has ever been laid within the wild, mountainous district. Not long since, however, some one discovered an artesian well of water which is said to possess certain curative qualities, and this was followed by the building of a sanitarium. The institution has been connected by telephone with the city of Bloomington, and this, it is asserted, will be followed by other developments. The locomotive threatens to send a series of re-echoing toots over the hills and dales of the wildest and most aweinspiring scenery of the Hoosier State. The people of Brown County, the descendants of the first white inhabitants, are said to be opposed to the invasion. They had built some first-class turnpikes to Nashville, the county seat, and other places, and they "allow" the railroads will come along and render all of this work needless.

Aeronaut Nearly Run Over.

Jennie Woodall of Terre Haute fell with her balloon and parachute on the track of the Southern Indiana road in front of a freight train, whose engineer stopped his engine in the nick of time to save her from instant death. The only injury the woman suffered was a drenching by passing through rain clouds. She made the ascension from the Pierson fair grounds and when she could not loosen the parachute and disappeared in the clouds women on the fair grounds fainted and men hurriedly started on horses in the direction the balloon had taken. She landed three miles from the fair grounds.

Rates His Wife at $15,000.

Herbert Emert, living near Belvidere, Ill., has brought suit for $15,000 in the Starke County Circuit Court against Velentine Awald and wife. The complaint charges the defendants with alienating the affections of Emert's wife, who is their daughter. Emert and Miss Awald were married about two years ago. The match was made in the face of strong parental objection and the estrangement is attributed to the interference of Awald and his wife with the domestic affairs of Emert and his spouse.

CONDITION OF CROPS.

Generally Favorable Outlook East of Mississippi River.

The weekly crop report gives the following summary of crop conditions: Rain is generally needed in the South Atlantic and east gulf States, and over portions of the upper Ohio valley, lower lake region and middle Atlantic States, while excessive moisture, due largely to the rains of the previous week, retarded farm work over the region extending from Arkansas and Oklahoma northward to Minnesota, and the Dakotas. Killing frosts occurred in Minnesota and upper Missouri valley, and over the northern Rocky Mountain and North Pacific coast regions, the principal damage being that done to late flax in Minnesota and the Dakotas. Very favorable conditions prevailed in the west gulf States, central Mississippi and lower Ohio valleys, and generally on the Pacific coast.

East of the Mississippi river the week has been very favorable for gathering corn, but in the principal corn States westward of the Mississippi this work has been interrupted by wet weather, and in portions of Iowa, Missouri and Kansas some damage has been done by heavy Except where interrupted by rains in portions of Arkansas, Oklahoma and Missouri cotton picking has progressed under exceptionally favorable conditions, and is unusually well advanced. In the central and eastern portions of the cotton belt the bulk of the crop will be gathered by Oct. 10. Picking is also progressing regularly in Texas, except in the lower Brazos bottoms, inundated by the rains of the previous week, where the crop is almost a failure.

Excellent progress has been made with plowing for fall seeding in the States west of the Mississippi river and in portions of the Ohio valley and middle Atlantic States, but in the South Atlantic and east gulf States the ground has been too dry for this work.

A. T. Goodwyn.

Catarrh in its various forms is rapidly becoming a national curse. An undoubted remedy has been discovered by Dr. Hartman. This remedy has been thoroughly tested during the past forty years. Prominent men have come to know of its virtues and are making public utterances on the subject. To save the country we must save the people. To save the people we must protect them from disease. The disease that is at once the most prevalent and stubborn of cure is catarrh. Public men of all parties recognize in Peruna a national catarrh remedy of unequaled merit. Three little girls were given 15 cents each by their fond mammas and allowed to go to a church lawn party recently. The next day they were heard discussing the event in much the same strain that their older sisters would do. Said one little curly head: "I think those ladies were real stingy with their cake. They only gave us one little bit of a piece."

"Why, we could buy a whole loaf of cake at the bakery for 5 cents," chimed in another little tot. "And did you see that lady give her little boy three pieces?" volunteered the third. then we had a real nice time and got nice large dishes of ice cream," continued the first speaker in turn.

"Yes, and my big sister says we mustn't 'spect as much for our money at a church sociable, 'cause it's to help them," added another of the trio. That last remark settled it with the three little maids.-Worcester Spy.

What Will Become of China?

None can foresee the outcome of the quarrel between foreign powers over the division of China. It is interesting to watch the going to pieces of this race. ASKS HELP FOR GALVESTON.

Clara Barton Appeals for Material for Building Houses.

Miss Clara Barton, president of the National Red Cross Society, has issued a statement to the manufacturers and business men of the country in which she appeals to them for aid in the way of material to be used in the building of homes for those who lost all in the recent storm. She says:

"The number of homeless is estimated at 8,000 or more. Winter is less than two months away. Although a mild climate, still snow and ice are known here. If tents would protect, which they would not, the sea sand and the quicksand would not hold them down. The first norther would leave their occupants as unsheltered as before, and hardships, colds, pneumonia and consumption would finish what the storm has left. Some substantial shelter must be had at once for these people, and it would seem to be the duty of those on the ground to put the facts in an intelligent form before the people of the country, who are not here and carnot see for themselves and who could not comprehend without seeing.

"With this view the National Red Cross has, with the co-operation of the general committee, obtained estimates of the best architects of the vicinity regarding the material needed for the construction of the necessary number of houses, tenements or homes for the suitable sheltering of these now unsheltered thousands of suffering people."

A summary is then given, representing substantially the lumber and building material that would be required to shelter about 8,000 people in the most ordinary one-story weather-proof houses, built singly or in blocks of tenements.

OUTBURST BY DOWIE.

Zionist Leader Opens His Campaign in London.

Zionist Dowie opened his campaign in England Sunday night at Holborn town hall. He told his hearers that he had come to give London a spanking, and intended to wage relentless war against the Church of England. He denounced the archbishop of Canterbury as an incompetent, and said his place ought to be filled by somebody who could manage it. Some of the listeners interrupted Dowie, and he lost his temper. He said he would not tolerate interruptions, and one man was ejected.

Dowie announced that he would hold a baptismal at a later date. He said the London churches had refused to allow him to use their baptismal fonts, but if nothing else were handy he would get a bathtub and have a policeman guard it.

The diplomatic tangle over the Chinese settlement seems in a fair way to be unraveled. Germany has receded from the proposals which threatened to break the European concert. France has submitted plans, indorsed by Russia, which may aid materially in reaching an agreement satisfactory to the powers. The United States has practically agreed to Germany's modified views. The German and American notes deal almost entirely with the question as to how and by whom the punishment of guilty Chinese officials shall be inflicted. The French proposals cover the entire range of settlement and are likely to be acceptable to all the powers. Whether they are acceptable to China, however, remains to be seen. The punishment of guilty officials, many of them princes of the realm, will be a difficult task for the Chinese government to undertake, and may bring on a revolution which would tax the resources of the powers to deal with. The indemnity demanded by the several powers is likely to be so enormous that China will be unable to pay without the loss of territory, while the razing of the Taku forts will be a severe strain on Chinese national pride. The powers may have agreed between themselves as to the methods to be adopted in negotiating a final settlement, but the day of settlement is evidently far off.

ly in progress during the week, and the results have been those predicted. Lord Salisbury's administration has received an indorsement emphasized by largely increased Conservative and Unionist majorities and a diminished Liberal vote. Chamberlain's policy, whether for the good or ill of the empire, has been accepted by the English electors. The only possible construction to be placed on the verdict of the English electorate is that the conduct of the war in South Africa, with all its mistakes and errors costly to life, has been indersed, and that the annexation of the two Boer republics is approved. All other issues were lost sight of. No other question was raised.

has largely created, he is going to the ceived by Queen Wilhelmina with all the honors accorded a ruler of a free and sovereign people, and the British public will hardly resent the homage of the Dutch people to a man of their own race who dared face on field of battle the mightiest empire of Christendom.

How Mothers may Help their Daughters into Womanhood

Every mother possesses information of vital value to her young daughter. That daughter is a precious legacy, and the responsibility for her future is largely in the hands of the mother. The mysterious change that develops the thoughtless girl into the thoughtful woman should find the mother on the watch day and night. As she cares for the physical well-being of her daughter, so will the woman be, and her children also.

When the young girl's thoughts become sluggish, when she experiences headaches, dizziness, faintness, and exhibits an abnormal disposition to sleep, pains in the back and lower limbs, eyes dim, desire for solitude, and a dislike for the society of other girls, when she is a mystery to herself and friends, then the mother should go to her aid promptly. At such a time the greatest aid to nature is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It prepares the young system for the coming change, and is the surest reliance in this hour of trial.

The following letters from Miss Good are practical proof of Mrs. Pinkham's efficient advice to young women.

Miss Good asks Mrs. Pinkham for Help.

June 12th, 1899. "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:-I have been very much bothered for some time with my monthly periods being irregular. I will tell you all about it, and put myself in your care, for I have heard so much of you. Each month menstruation would become less and less, until it entirely stopped for six months, and now it has stopped again. I have become very nervous and of a very bad color. I am a young girl and have always had to work very hard. I would be very much pleased if you would tell me what to do."-MISS PEARL GOOD, Cor. 20th Avenue and Yeslar Way, Seattle, Wash.

The Happy Result.

February 10th, 1900. "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: - I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough. It is just simply wonderful the change your medicine has made in me. I feel like another person. My work is now a pleasure to me, while before using work is now a pleasure to me, while before using your medicine it was a burden. To-day I am a healthy and happy girl. I think if more women would use your Vegetable Compound there would be less suffering in the world. I cannot express the relief I have experienced by using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Miss Pearl Good, Cor. 29th Avenue and Yeslar Way, Seattle, Wash.
