It is conceded by democrats and republicans, that the attendance at the "clam bake" at Logansport Saturday iwas the largest ever seen in northern Indiana. There were 16,300 in the procession and 5,000 with Mc Kinley badges upon their ccats. It was simply a terrific demonstration.

Last Sunday evening Rev. Isaac Dale, South Bend, preached a very able sermon to a large congregation at the M. E. church. His remarks were very interesting, highly instructive, and gave inspiration to all who heard him. After the sermon the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered. On Monday morning at nine o'clock the quarterly conference met in the church parlor, and the business affairs of the church were discussed. A vacancy Grove was filled, the pastor's salary was fixed, the apportionment for the presiding elder and the bishops was determined, and the various benevolent claims were assigned.

Trouble at the Academy Adjusted.

Beck and Harrington were dismissed from the academy for going off limits without leave, and on Halloween night departed for their homes in St. Louis, upon the 8 o'clock train. In the meantime over one hundred boys decided to go to the train and see them depart. Hence after "mess," 104 boys left the academy grounds and went to the depot. immediately Major Gignilliat mounted his horse, came to the depot and succeeded in marching the of considerable musical ability; while the cadets back to their quarters. The trustees of the school were notified, who has taught school in Payne, Ohio, for and after a long conference, it was decided to dismiss every cadet who wilfully violated the rules of the school. The action of the academy authorities in expelling so many at one time created a great sensation throughout the country, and nearly all the papers have had very unreliin the board of stewards at Poplar able reports, some of the Journals stating that the boys destroyed boats etc., which is entirely false, as they destroyed no property, disturbed no boats or otherwise created any disturbance. The academy authorities have been er oper sted a d heir action approved by the parents of the cadets. It is understood, that under certain stipulations, 75 or more of the cadets will be reinstated and will re-enter the academy Monday November, 12.

McKinley Elected.

McKinley's electoral vote

Bryan's

McKinley's popular plurility, about 700,000

The re-election of President McKinley Tuesday was a veritable landside, and has forever laid Bryan upon the shelf so far as his ambition for the presidency is concerned. The republican party has both branches of congress and also nearly all of the states, 10cluding Indiana.

The election in Culver passed off unusual. y quiet and the fine weather brought out a large vote. Everybody seemed to be good natured and nearly as predicted the results of the election as they occurred: Election returns were received at Kreuzberger's bowling alley and Easterday's furniture store, each place being filled with the usual number of anxious and enrhusiastic citizens. A. N. Begardus, democrat, was elected trustee of Union township, Jacob Me-Farland and Thomas Houghton, democrats, and L. C. Dillon, republican, were elected as advisory board. The democrats also captured all of the other township and county offices. Attorney Parks, republican, was elected state senator.

The democrats should feel especially proud of the noted liar they elected to represent them in the state legislature.

WEDDING BELLS.

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Beldon, Twin Lakes, last Wednesday evening, when their youngest daughter. Miss Tyrone M., was given in marriage with Mr. D. E. Elick of Plymouth. About one hundred and thirty guests were invited from Chicago, South Bend, Ohio, Plymtownship November 3, 1900, aged 22 outh, Donaldson, Sligo. Waterloo. Gulver and other places. About one hundred guests were present. Those present from Culver were Mr. and Mrs. Henry White, Rev. and Mrs. Newman and daughter. At six o'clock the signal was given that all was ready. Mrs. Kiser of South Bend began playing the wedding march, the tized. She leaves a husband, one the pianist continued playing playing the happy couple took their places and while son, father, mother, two brothers, soft mellow strains of music. Rev. Newman spoke the words that made them man and wife, and introduced them to the guests. After the friends were through congratulating them and wishing them joy enough to carry them through this world and into the next. Miss Lottie Agier announced that they were wanted in the dining room, and according der, Rev. and Mrs. Newman took the lead followed by the bride and groom and near relatives until twenty-four were seated at the table, where an elaborate feast had A week ago last Tuesday, cadets been prepared, consisting of oysters. turkey, chicken, cake etc., which was served in courses to the heart's content of all

The guests in turn viewed the large assortment of valuable presents presented to the happy couple by the guests. After the contents of the fifth table had satisfied their wants, there was enough left to feed many more that had assembled at the barn with their bells, horns and guns to make music for their feast.

The bride is an excellent Christian lady groom is a noble Christian gentleman, a number of terms. After a few weeks of visiting, the happy couple will go to housekeeping in Illinois.

A BIT OF BRAID.

HE turned her head very slightly. so that the man behind her caught the narrowing of her eyes with sudden anger, and the tilting of her rounded chin.

"Clumsy!" she said in a voice ringing with scorn. She caught up her skirt, just raising it from the ground, and hastened on. But she threw a few more or less acceptable home thrusts over her shoulder as she went.

"I can't think what you have been doing with yourself lately. Not improving, anyway. And you won't get disguised, most charmingly disguised, on in the direction you are taking, I can assure you. It makes me very doubtful as to the truth of all your yarns of conquest-they are just what I took them for-fairy tales, every one. For no girl would be tame enough to be trampled on, if that is your habit. Oh, of course you saw the braid hanging. You could not be so blind as that."

She gave the offending skirt, with the loop of braid caugling uncomfortably, a further hitch. She had the daintiest ankles-the word expressed her altogether-and the man following her made no objection.

she seized on next-to misconstrue.

"At least," she sald, with sisterly straightforwardness, "you might apolowhere the boat was moored. The girl ity, or even a virtue, left undiscovered the calmness and ease which only can long suffering. She was seated with this girl a treat-" the ropes in her hands before she really looked up at the man who had followed her-into the boat by this time.

"Now let me see the stroke which takes captive your best girls," she was saying, and then her eyes met his.

Though it would have seemed more appropriate that he should be the one to blush, it was to her cheeks the color mounted. She actually hesitated before she spoke.

So he was given the opportunity of speaking, and this time he availed himself, willingly.

"I do apologize," he said, "very humbly." His manner and the laughter in his eyes did not, however, accord wholly with such an attitude.

"Well-really-" she began, but he interrupted her.

"I will go further-you will grant it is a long way further-I will explain."

"There seems room for it-" He was quite a genius at seizing his chances. He took her words as a concession, and dipped his sculls into the water at the same time.

"I shall be able to talk so much better when we are moving," he said, artfully. "I fancy my stroke may prove as worthy of comment as your brother's,' he added. He was still smiling, and he noted, with growing satisfaction, that so was she.

"And you do not even know who am! Cheek? Oh, don't be hard. Luckif you like. I am proverbially lucky. I am not to blame for that, am I? Your brother told you he was expecting his college chum, Charles Dean? I was just coming along-neither of you saw me. I heard you send him back for your cape-" he paused, with sudden compunction.

"You are not cold?" he questioned, anxiously. "I forgot, and I have nothing in the way of a wrap to offer you.' "No, I am not cold," she said, as stiffly as she could.

"You walked on, you know, and then as a piece of braid! And I could not resist it. I was only afraid you would think I had been suspiciously quickfor a brother."

"I just wasn't thinking," she admitted. dimpling.

The mood for confession grew on him. "Or that you might look round," said

"I wish-"

"No. don't say it! Hear me out first. Honestly, I was not entirely actuated by motives of mere selfishness, as might at first appear. I put it to myself like this: Here is a charming girl going It was, indeed, his continued silence to spend a most perfectly delightful summer afternoon on the river, with no more exciting companion than the brother she has known from her earliest days, whose thoughts are as open to reserve braid as a trimming for serge They had reached the tanding stage her as her own; who hasn't a peculiar- and cloth," she said.

proceeded to take her place in it with I argued with myself about it. Should I let such a paltry thing as the lack of come to her sex through practice and an introduction prevent me from giving

"Oh," she cried, "you really are -"Yes," he said, "it stands to reason even as a study, a sort of unexplored continent, so to speak; a strange young man, in such a case, must present himself in the light of an acquisition."

Her eyes were dancing. "Why don't you say such an exceedingly nice young man, while you are about it?" she asked mockingly.

"I will go one better," said he, "with your permission. Such an exceptionally nice pair." and he bowed.

"Oh, you are dreadful-dreadful!" But she did not say it as a fact to be deplored. She looked away from the soft summer landscape, down to the edge of her serge skirt with its trimming of braid and the fateful loop. "They do sew these so insecurely." she said. "You haven't a pin to spare?"

"It seems almost a pity," said he. while she busied herself over it: "but I suppose it will be just as well now."

The afternoon was, as he had said, delightful, and his swift stroke left nothing to be desired. It was not cold, after all, and she never gave another thought to the cape until she saw it, when at last they got back, hanging deserted on the boathouse door, where her brother had left it when he arrived there to find her vanished.

The brother and sister were very alike in disposition, and took things lightly and as they came. So he never openly resented her desertion-perhaps. as her new friend pointed out, he. too. had his more than adequate compensa-

This is just a story of the inevitable. For the man of resource was something of a character reader, and he had look ed at the girl before he stepped.

She called it, in her kindest moods, an anticipation, but he maintained that he gave the incident its most appropriate title when he named it a "forerunper." And this it was.

The weather favored them, and his visit lengthened from a week's end to temptation seized me. An evil spirit a week and more. Ample time for a man of such ready methods to win for himself a girl not indisposed to be won. Thus his visit to the brother ended in his marriage with the sister-an old tale, but often a very pleasant one.

It was later in the season, and boating interests had given way to the necessity of stock-taking in fashionable wearing apparel, and discussions on the relative merits of new and antique furniture.

"I could almost wish," she said sveetly, "that it was possible to trim a white satin wedding dress with braids in a sort of squiggly pattern of loops and turns."

"If you contemplate having one food pendant to trip me up during the cermony," he said, laughingly, "I am off."

THE TURN OF LIFE.

The Most Important Period in a Woman's Existence. - Mrs. Johnson Tells How She Was Helped Over the Trying Time.

Owing to modern methods of living, not one woman in a thousand approaches this perfectly natural change without experiencing a train of very proaches this perfectly natural change without experiencing a train of very annoying, and sometimes painful symptoms.

Those dreadful hot flashes, sending the blood surging to the heart until it seems ready to burst, and the faint feeling that follows, sometimes with chills, as if the heart were going to stop for good, are only a few of the symptoms of a dangerous nervous trouble. The nerves are crying out for assistance. The cry should be heeded in time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was prepared to meet the needs of woman's system at this trying period of her life. The three following letters are guaranteed to be genuine and true, and still further prove what a great medicine Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable still further prove what a great medicine Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is for women. Mar. 12, 1897. "DEAR MRS. PINEHAM: - I have been sick for a long time. I was taken sick with flooding. All my trouble seemed to be in the womb. I ache all the time at the lower part of the womb. The doctor says the womb is covered with ulcers. I suffer with a pain on the left side of my back over the kidney. I am fifty years old and passing through the change of life. Please advise me what to do to get relief. Would like to hear from you as soon as possible."-MRS. CHARLOTTE JOHNSON, Monclova, Ohio.

"I have been taking your remedies, and think they have helped me a great deal. I had been in bed for ten weeks when I began taking your Vegetable Compound, but after using it for a short time I was able to be up around the house. The aching in the lower part of womb has left me. The most that troubles me now is the flowing. That is not so bad, but still there is a little every day. I am not discouraged yet, and shall continue with your medicine, for I believe it will cure me." - MRS. CHARLOTTE JOHNSON, Monclova, Ohio.

"I send you this letter to publish for the benefit of others. I was sick for about nine years so that I could not do my work. For three months I could not sit up long enough to have my bed made. I had five different doctors, and all said there was no help for me. My trouble was change of life. I suffered with ulceration of the womb, pain in sides, kidney and stomach trouble, backache, headache, and dizziness. I am well and strong, and feel like a new person. My recovery is a perfect surprise to everybody that knew me. I owe all to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I would not do without your medicine for anything. There is no need of women suffering so much if they would take your remedies, for they are a sure cure." - MRS. CHARLOTTE JOHNSON, Monelova, Ohio.

When one stops to think about the good Mrs. Johnson derived from Mrs. Pinkham's advice and medicine, it seems almost beyond belief; yet it is all true as stated in her three letters published above at her own request.

As a matter of positive fact Mrs. Pinkham has on file thousands of letters from women who have been safely carried through that danger period "Change of Life." Mrs. Johnson's cure is not an unusual one for Mrs. Pinkham's medicine to accomplish.

REWARD. -We have deposited with the National City Bank of Lynn, $5000, which will be paid to any person who can find that the above testimonial letters are not genuine, or were published before obtaining the writer's special permission.

The Tattooed Crucifix.

For the first time since we had been on the march the Filipino lieutenant separated his camp from ours. He also doubled his guard, stationing his soldiers in the rocks which surrounded us. Thinking all this somewhat pecugar, I sent one of the men to ask if he had placed the guards for our protec-

"No," was his laconic answer. Soon afterward he came himself to our camp, and through an interpreter calmly informed me that he had orders, presumably from General Tino, to execute us in the mountains.

I have always believed that the lieutenant's refusal to obey orders and execute us was due to the effect produced in his mind by an incident which had occurred a night or two earlier. At one of our stops he had shown me a crucifix, which he wore hung by a ribbon around his neck, and said to me: "The 'Americanos' are not Christians."

icans are Christians."

"But you never wear any crucifixes." I opened my jacket and showed him my breast. A crucifix had been tattooed there years ago, when I was a midshipman. The Tagal leaped to his feet with an exclamation of surprise. He instantly crossed himself. His eyes nearly started out of his head. I explained to him that any one could buy a crucifix and bang it around his neck, but that I had endured pain to have my crucifix pricked in the flesh, and that, as he could see, it must always be with me. There was a marked change in his manner toward me after that.-Lieutenant Commander Gillmore, in Mc-Clure's.

THREW HER MONEY AWAY.

Count Castellane Dived Deep Into the Fortune of His Wife.

The news that the Gould family has at last been compelled to step in and save what is left of the millions willed to Anna Gould, who five years ago married Count Castellane, has created little sur prise in this country, but has occasioned a lot of talk. Tales of extravagance have been coming over the water ever since the marriage. The count expended the fortune of his wife with a recklessness that as count castellane. tonished even Paris.

Thae cable, in telling of the appointment of George J. Gould as trustee of his sister's money and property, says the order was given upon the request of the Gould family and with the consent of the countess. When it became apparent that something must be done quickly, the Gould family held a council and unanimously decided that, in the interest of the countess and her children, a judicial trustee must be appointed, and George was selected to take the matter in charge.

Accordingly application was made, and M. Bonnet appeared in court for the countess. He stated that "the countess herself admits the fact that she has indulged in extravagant expenditure, and is in need of having an authoritative adviser to supply the experience in which she is lacking. She consents to the appointment of a judicial trustee." Maitre Badouin, who presided over the court, immediately upon hearing this statement, appointed George J.

COUNTESS CASTRILLAND Gould trustee.

Maitre Bonnet, acting for the Goulds, stated that the Gould family had prayed the elder brother, George, to save their sister, Anna, and her children, from rain. He stated that Castellane himself was absolutely penniless. Under his guidance the countess had spent $3,000,000 in the first four years, $600,000 more than her income for that period, besides having contracted debts to the amount of nearly $4,500,000.

Count Castellane does not take kindly to the restraint on his expenditures. The count will have to go to his American brother-in-law for his pocket money, and he will have to render account to Gould for the money he spends. It is rumored that the Goulds favor a separation.

The most notable event in European politics during the week has been the reorganization of the English ministry. There have been numerous changes, and Lord Salisbury has succeeded in pleasing neither his own party nor the opposition. Political considerations seem to have given way to social preferment and personal favoritism. There was popular demand for the retirement of Lord Lansdowne, whose marked incapacity in the conduct of the war office nearly resulted in the break-down of the British army system in the recent war. Lord Salisbury answers this demand by promoting Lansdowne to a higher post and by placing one of his own subordinates-almost, it might be said, one of his own clerksat the head of the war department. There has been an equally determined campaign against Mr. Goschen as first lord of the admiralty. Lord Salisbury lets Mr. Goschen go and installs his own son-inlaw in the place. Joseph Chamberlain is retained at the head of the colonial office, and the opposition is mollilled only by the consolation that his pathway to the premiership has been blocked, if only temporarily. The cabinet, as reconstructed, cannot be called a strong one.

The Spanish government during the week has been called upon to deal with what at first seemed to be a formidable revolt of the numerous Carlist bands in the mountain districts north of Barcelona. Troops have been sent into the field, garrisons re-enforced and the frontier guarded to prevent the importation of arms. The rising, however, seems to be local in its character, and there is nothing yet to indicate that Don Carlos himself has given any countenance to it. There will always be discontent in Spain under the present system of government. The Spanish revenues, large as they are, are caten up by place holders. The people are poverty stricken and unruly under heavy burdens of taxation. The discontent of the people is only kept in check by a large army, and the army is on a most expensive footing.

The Chinese affair seems to be drifting. Few dispatches come from Pekin, and these give little indication of any progress toward a settlement between China and the powers. The alignment of the powers is now complete. Great Britain, Germany, Austria, Italy and Japan universally accept the entire Anglo-German agreement. The United States, France and Russia accept only part of the agreement. Yet the seeming lack of accord is more apparent than real, and there seems to be nothing to prevent active ne gotiations for a settlement. As to the demands to be made upon China by the powers, there is a singular lack of information. Either the powers have not yet reached an agreement among themselves or their demands are so great that they hesitate to unite them all in one propo-

PURE BLOOD

AND STRONG NERVES

With glowing health all things are possible, small annoyances fade into nothingness and real troubles are battled with successfully. Women who are blessed with perfect health are a constant joy to themselves and all around them. The beauty which health alone can make permanent is a crown which raises a woman above other women. Such beauty is always accompanied by a sweet disposition, for snappishness is a sure sign of ill-health and leaves its mark quickly on the features.

It seems to be the fashion for women to ignore health and sacrifice it to the little every-day trials, or offer it up on the altar of devotion to daily tasks. Then again the nervous organization of women is constantly attacked by woman's natural experiences, so that it is practically impossible for her to retain the beauty which nature gave her, unless she has discriminating advice and right support.

Dr. Greene's Nervura

for the Blood and Nerves.

Trials and troubles are easily overcome by the women whose strength is the genuine strength of perfect health. Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, bridges the chasm that separates the sickly woman from happiness. It fills her veins with blood that is pure and clean.

MRS. WM. E. Bosse, of 85 Farrington St.,

Flushing, L. I., says: "In regard to myself, I have suffered for years with disease, having been troubled with great nervousness, female complaints, indigestion, and great weakness and prostration. I did not have strength to do much of anything. Knowing the great value of health and strength I consulted doctors and took many medicines, but they all failed to cure me, and I grew worse rather than better. I happened to see in the papers how much good Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, was doing in restoring to health everybody who took it, and I thought I would try a bottle. I use it and to my surprise I began to gain strength every day. I am so thankful that I tried it! It is certainly the most excellent tonic and strength giver. I recommend it very highly and wish that other people who are troubled in any way would take warning and use it."

TO PRESERVE WOMANLY BEAUTY

At all the stages of a woman's life Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, is shown to be efficient to ward off the results of nervousness, or overwork, or impure blood. From early girlhood to advanced years, this worldrenowned medicine builds up the forces destroyed by disease, grief, or overexertion, and the effects of this great medicine are quickly felt and permanently retained. Let women guard well their health, and consult Dr. Greene freely. Nothing they can possibly do will so surely keep them strong and well, or repair the exhaustion from acute illness, nothing will work so continually to the preservation of beauty as the great health-giving Nervura. Dr. Greene's office is at 35 West 14th Street, New York City, where he may be consulted either by personal call or by letter Women may write in perfect confidence, and get Dr. Greene's advice free.

THREW HER MONEY AWAY.

Count Castellane Dived Deep Into the Fortune of His Wite.

The news that the Gould family has at last been compelled to step in and save what is left of the millions willed to Anna Gould, who five years ago married Count Castellane, has created little sur prise in this country, but has occasioned a lot of talk. Tales of extravagance have been coming over the water ever since the marriage. The count expended the fortune of his wife with a recklessness that as COUNT CASTELLANE. tonished even Paris.

Thae cable, in telling of the appointment of George J. Gould as trustee of his sister's money and property, says the order was given upon the request of the Gould family and with the consent of the countess. When it became apparent that something must be done quickly, the Gould family held a council and unanimously decided that, in the interest of the countess and her children, a judicial trustee must be appointed, and George was selected to take the matter in charge.

Accordingly application was made, and M. Bonnet appeared in court for the countess. He stated that "the countess herself admits the fact that she has indulged in extravagant expenditure, and is in need of having an authoritative adviser to supply the experience in which she is lacking. She consents to the appointment of a judi-cial trustee." Maître Badouin, who presided over the court, immediately upon hearing this statement,

COUNTESS CASTELLAND Gould trustee.

Maitre Bonnet, acting for the Goulds, stated that the Gould family had prayed the elder brother. George, to save their sister, Anna, and her children, from ruin. He stated that Castellane himself was absolutely penniless. Under his guidance the countess had spent $3,000,000 in the first four years, $600,000 more than her income for that period, besides having contracted debts to the amount of nearly $4,500,000.

appointed George J.

to the restraint on his expenditures. The gerous. count will have to go to his American brother-in-law for his pocket money, and he will have to render account to Gould for the money he spends. It is rumored that the Goulds favor a separation.

The most notable event in European politics during the week has been the reorganization of the English ministry. There have been numerous changes, and Lord Salisbury has succeeded in pleasing neither his own party nor the opposition. Political considerations seem to have given way to social preferment and personal favoritism. There was popular demand for the retirement of Lord Lansdowne, whose marked incapacity in the conduct of the war office nearly resulted in the break-down of the British army system in the recent war. Lord Salisbury answers this demand by promoting Lansdowne to a higher post and by placing one of his own subordinates-almost, it might be said, one of his own clerksat the head of the war department. There has been an equally determined campaign against Mr. Goschen as first lord of the admiralty. Lord Salisbury lets Mr. Goschen go and installs his own son-inlay in the place. Joseph Chamberlain is retained at the head of the colonial office, and the opposition is mollified only by the consolation that his pathway to the premiership has been blocked, if only temporarily. The cabinet, as reconstructed, cannot be called a strong one.

Letter From China. Pekin, China, Sept. 3, 1900.

As I have not written to you for some time, I will try and write. We were taken from Manila so suddenly that I have not had time to write, but I have not forgotten you. You probably have seen by the papers the account of our long march from Tien Sien to Pekin. I passed through it all right and never got a scratch but was shot through the bat rim. I will tell you as much about it as possible. We left Tien Sen, Aug. 4, about four o'clock and marched that evening until dark and then we camped in a cornfield, and it commenced to rain about 10 o'clock and kept it up until early the next day. We got up at 2 o'clock and moved out of the cornfield and acted as supports to the Jars, and English troops in the fight Aug. 5. I have forgotten the name of the town, but suppose you have read the account of it in the papers. We marched that day and camped in a cornfield. The next morning Aug. 6, I never shall forget. We had breakfast at 3 o'clock and started on our march to Pekin, we marched till about 10 o'clock, most of the way in a skirmish line or in line of squads. We did not have much water and the boys were tired out, a great many sick. About 10:30 o'clock the Chines opened fire on us from distance. We were marching along a railroad bank near a curve and they had an entrenchement on the side we were datering. We paid no attention to their fire but kept right on. A few of our boys were wounded at the first fire but not many for they could not keep up the range, for'we were moving at pretty good gait. The Chinese kept firing and retreating, and we did not fire but kept advancing. The Chinese reached their trenches at last and poured upon us one of the heavest fires that infantry was ever known to advance under without returning the fire. At last the good news came to "fire at will," so we stopped and commenced firing. We kept it up for a while and we were told to charge. Well, all I knew of what was going on was that every body was running and yelling just as hard as they could yell. A great many of the boys gave out, but there were enough left to do the work and we kept the Chinese on the run until they crossed the railroad. We were so nearly exhausted we had to stop. As soon as we were refreshed a little we crossed the R. R., with little resistance and stacked arms on the other side. There were seventeen men of our company there to stack arms and I was one of the seventeen and was all O. K. In the meantime the Japs were coming upon the other side and took up the fight and chased the Chinese until we did not get another scrap until we reached Pekin. In the course of the afternoon those that were able came and rejoined our company and we returned to the other side of the Dyspepsia of the R. R., to camp and there we rested till Aug. 8. The loss of our company was seventeen killed and wounded and a great many over heated. The morn of Aug. 8 we left there and nothing more of impor-fance happened till we reached the stantly relieves and permanently cures wall of Pekin. Aug. 14th two of the

UNCLE SAM'S CENSUS. MERRIAM TELLS OF

POPULATION OF THE UNITED STATES IS 76,295,220.

Increase in Ten Years Is Twenty-one Per Cent-Inhabitants of the Fortyfive States Number 74,627,907-Indians Not Taxed, 134,158.

The total population of the United States for 1500, as officially announced by Director Merriam for the federal census, is 76,295,220. The total gain in the population of the country since 1890 amounts to 13,225,464, representing an increase of nearly 21 per cent. Of the total population for 1900 74,627,907 are in the fory-five States, which number represents the basis for the reapportionment of congressional districts. total population of the census of 1890 was 63,069,756, comprising 62,622,250 persons in the States and organized territories. The statement just issued by the director of census gives the population of the country in detail by States and territories. Hawaii contains a population of 154,001, as compared with 89,-990 in 1890, while the number of persons in the service of the United States stationed abroad is $4,000. There is a total of 134.158 Indians not taxed.

A remarkable decline in the growth of the intermountain and middle Western States is shown by the State returns. The northwestern and middle States reveal the healthiest growth, while the Southern and Eastern States compare favorably with the growth recorded in 1890. Nevada has fewer people within its borders now then in 1890. Then the population was 45,761, and now it is 42,334. Kansas has remained almost stationary. The latest census gives that State 1,469, 496 inhabitants, against 1,427,096 in 1890. Nebraska likewise shows small signs of populative growth. Colorado has made better progress, showing an increase of over 120,000 in ten years. Idaho has almost doubled its population. In the central States Illinois looms forth as the most progressive. Indiana has a population of 2,516,463, against 2,192,404 in 1890. Iowa increased from 1,911,896 to reports to the public in accordance with 2,251,829. Michigan shows a gain of 325,000 and Minnesota a gain of 450,000, while Missouri has also made a good stride with a gain of nearly half a million. Wisconsin has a gain of over 300, Illinois' gain is considered most remarkable. In 1890 there were 3,826,351 persons in the Prairie State, which number has increased, according to the latest census, to 4,821,550. Illinois stands third in the list of States in point of population. New York State comes first with a grand total of 7,268,009, as against 5,-997,853 ten years ago, while Pennsylvania is second with 6,301,365, against 5,-258,014 in 1890. Following Illinois comes Ohio, with 4,157,545. Fifth place is accorded to Missouri, with 3,107,117 inhabitants, and Texas holds sixth place with 3,048,828.

CENSUS BUREAU WORK,

In speaking of the work of the census bureau Director Merriam said: "It has been the custom heretofore to make a rough count, using the names on the schedule as a basis, but in this decade it was determined to avoid the errors likely to arise from a preliminary count, and also the necessary expenses and delay incident to such a proceeding. The plan was adopted of verifying the count at once by the use of the electrical tabulating machines.

"The early completion of the tabulation of the population of the States enables the census office to submit the figures to Congress as soon as it convenes in December, thus giving that body the information necessary to dispose of the question of the reapportionment of representatives at the coming session. All the field work of the twelfth census, so far as it relates to the collection of the data relating to population, agriculture, vital statistics, and manufactures, is now complete. It is the aim of the officials in charge of the work to push the tabulation of the returns so as to give the complete the law, which requires that they shall be issued by July 1, 1902.

"The enumerators' accounts, numbering something over 53,000, have all been paid, with the exception of fifty-five, whose accounts are held up for various technicalities. In the last census it took eight or ten months to pay all the enumerators. The cost of the administration of the bureau up to this date, including the expense incident to the preliminary work, as well as the cost of the enumeration and supervision, is $6,361,961.18, of which over $4,000,000 has been expended for supervision and enumeration."

APPORTIONMENT BASIS 200,000.

That About the Figure on Which the House Will Be Made Up.

Bitter partisan and sectional debates may be expected in Congress during the coming session over the bill to reapportion Representatives among the States in accordance with the twelfth census. The basis on which the last reapportionment was made was one Representative to each 173,901 persons or major fraction of that number shown by the census of 1890, and the present membership of the House is 368. It is not desired to increase the representation greatly, and it is the general opinion among politicians who have considered the subject that the basis for the new apportionment will be at least

It is not the determination of the basis of an apportionment, however, that will excite the most acrimonious debate. It. is th eproposition which the Republican leaders have under consideration of reducing the representation of those Southern States that have adopted constitutional amendments disfranchising the negroes. They find their warrant for this in the 14th amendment to the constitution of the United States. As soon as the count of the population by States has been completed at the census office the work of compiling the statistics of illiteracy will be taken up, so that if Congress determines to go into the question og reducing the representation in States where negroes are disfrauchised on the ground of illiteracy the data will be avail

The annual report of Third Assistant Postmaster General Madden, soon to be issued, will show a total stamp issue of $98,000,000-an increase of over 400,000,-000 over the preceding year.

PAY CLERK IS MURDERED,

Attempt by Highwaymen to Secure Cash Ends in Bloody Battle.

As a result of an attempt of four Italian or Russian highwaymen, armed with revolvers and dynamite, to steal $5,000 Tuesday afternoon, Paymaster W. H. Hosler of the Southwest Councilsville (Pa.) Coke Company, and two would-be highwaymen are dead, another robber is fatally injured, and another was wounded, but not seriously.

Paymaster Hosler and a colored servant named Harry Burgess left the Citizens' Bank in a light spring wagon drawn by two horses. They had $5,000 in a small safe with which the men at Alverton were to be paid. Near Mount Pleasant two men, who were walking just ahead of them, grabbed the bridles of the two horses. As Mr. Hosler sprang to his feet pistol shots rang out from the rear, and the paymaster sank back Hosler's assistant never hesitated. He whipped out a big revolver and fired at one of the men at the horses' heads. The man sank down in the road. Burgess, without looking to see the result of his shot, wheeled on the men in the rear. Two revolvers were on a level with him, but before either of them could fire Burgess dropped on his knees in the seat of the wagon, shooting as he knelt. A second robber fell forward. The remaining two hastily dashed into the woods.

A crowd of 3,000 men, armed with guns, tracked two of the robbers to a dense thicket, where one of them was shot to death. The other surrendered and but for the interference of officers he would have been torn limb from limb.

LORD SALISBURY STEPS OUT.

Premier Resigns His Post of Minister of Foreign Affairs.

The London Telegraph makes a spread on an announcement that Lord Salisbury has decided to resign his post of minister of foreign affairs, but to retain the premiership. His health, the paper says, causes no anxiety, but trusted physicians urge him to do less work. Lord Lansdowne, at present secretary of state for war, will, the Telegraph declares, succeed Lord Salisbury as foreign minister.

The London Times confirms the statement of the Daily Telegraph that Lord

Salisbury will give up the foreign office portfolio, but it does not name his successor. Lord Salisbury looks back upon a political career of nearly half a century. In 1853, when only 23 years of age, he was elected a member of Parliament for Stamford and he represented this borough for fifteen years. He took an active part in all public measures which affected the interests of the established church and the chief political questions of the day.

NEWS FROM OUR COLONIES.

The civilian clerks in some of the supply departments at Manila are beginning to kick because they are not getting enough pay. They work side by side with enlisted men detailed as clerks, who only get $16.50 a month instead of $100 or more, which is the pay of the clerks. The curious thing about it is that the soldiers would go out in the field and hike about in constant danger of being shot, with never a kick about their pay, but as soon as they are settled down in a comfortable billet in town, with no danger of any sort to furnish them excitement, they want just as much pay as the civilian who does the same work no better than they.

American occupation is showing one of its favorite characteristics in Negros, where a capital fight is slowly but surely developing between Bacolod and some town as yet unnamed. The Island Council is finding that there are not sufficient public buildings in Bacolod to accommodate the department offices, and besides it is too far from the sea, and too difficult of access. The council has voted $10,000 for the repair of bridges, and has appointed a committee of three to inspect all schools, public and private, in the island. Also the council has voted $10,000 annually for the purchase of material of instruction

The authorities at Washington are seriously considering the adoption of some measures designed to break up the combines said to be responsible for the greatly increased cost of living in Manila. Practically all necessaries of life have been doubled since the American occupation, entailing great hardships on the natives and seriously retarding American progress in the city. Any relief the government can afford will be heartily welcomed, for the exactions of merchants have become almost unbearable.

-1--1-One of the American papers in Manila is agitating the leper question and advocating the selection of one of the numerous islands of the group as a place where they may be secladed.

INDIANA INCIDENTS.

RECORD OF EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK.

Dil Field Is Expanding-Jazrelites Sell Goods and Prepare for Heaven-Brazil Young Man Shot Dead-Aged Man Assaulted and Robbed.

State Geologist Blatchley, who has just returned from a trip over the oil and gas field of Indiana, says that the oil field of Indiana is rapidly spreading. He says the output of oil will succeed that of gas and that the oil field will become coextensive with the gas field. Geologist Blatchley affirms that after gas is exhausted deeper drilling will bring fine yields of oil. The field is extending westward through Wabash and Miami counties and southward toward Indianapolis. In the last ten years, Mr. Blatchley says, Indiana has produced 28,000,000 barrels of crude oil, which brought $18,000,000 into the State, to say nothing of the vast sums of outside capital attracted to Indiana in drilling operations. He thinks this production will be largely exceeded in the next ten years.

Fix Date for End of Time.

The members of the unique religious sect known as the Jazrelites are arranging to take passage for Scotland. The prophets of the sect have fixed a near date for the end of time and the revolution of all terrestrial things. The sect originates in Scotland and the flight of the faithful will be taken from some mountain there. Small communities of these zealots have been established in northern Indiana and southern Michigan counties. The men and women are disposing of their earthly possessions and the money accumulated will be expended in reaching Scotland, from whence they believe they are to be transported heavenward.

Shoots His Former Guest.

Charles Reynolds, 19 years old, was shot by Samuel Harmon, aged 68. Reynolds and four other young men had been at the Harmon house and had started for home. A stone thrown from the darkness struck the door and the young men stopped to await the result. Harmon came to the door with a shotgun and fired at them as they stood in the street. Assault and Rob Aged Man.

John W. Houck, a prominent and wealthy citizen of Centerville, was mysteriously assaulted and robbed by unknown persons. Houck, who is 70 years old, was called from his store and told that his horse had broken out of the pasture lot, located some distance away. He left the place to attend to the animal and was waylaid.

The old gentleman two years ago traded a fine farm of 250 acres for land in Kansas. The deal proved a big swindle, and the old man some time ago returned almost penniless and distracted.

The latest developments in the tollroad war now going on in Carroll County was the burning of the toll house at Deer Creek by a mob. About midnight several masked horsemen rode into the village and stopped near the tollkouse, A few minutes later they rode rapidly away, and it was discovered that the tollhouse had been fired and it burued to the ground before the citizens could be

"FATHER OF TRUSTS."

Charles R. Flint, the Originator of Business Consolidations.

In these days when trusts are an important theme in politics and public speakers are utilizing their lung powers in pointing out evils or advantages of business combinations, according to the light in which they see them, the personality of the man who originated the idea of combinations of capital should be of interest. His name is Charles R. Flint, and he is a rich New Yorker. He has been called the "Father of Trusts," he having seen as early as 1878 that the trend of business was toward consolidation. In that year he organized the Export Lumber Company, and has since that time been the moving spirit in the consolidation of a number of other combinations. Mr. Flint was the confidential agent of the United States in negotiating the reciprocity treaty with Brazil, this being the first treaty under the Aldrich amendment. At the time of the Baltimore incident in Chili Flint took part in the efforts for a peaceable adjustment of the affair. During the China-Japan war he acted as the agent for Japan and purchased the Esmeralda for her. His services during the war with Spain were invaluable to the United States. He purchased vessels, munitions of war, and his agents all over the world kept in touch with the negotiations of the Spanish government, and on several occasions thwarted the attempts of Spain to buy war vessels abroad. It was he who gave the United States the first information of the sailing of the Spanish fleet from Cape Verdi. He arranged the purchase from Brazil of the Nichteroy.

CHAS. R. FLINT.

SAYS HE SWORE FALSELY.

Witness in Goebel Case Declares His Testimony Was Perjured.

Finley Anderson, a telegraph operator, who gave important testimony against Caleb Powers, who was convicted of complicity in the murder of Gov. Goebel, has confessed that he committed perjury; that he accepted a bribe for so doing, and charges Thomas Campbell, an attorney for the prosecution, with instigating his brief a story printed by the Louisville Evening Post, accompanied by an affidavit from Anderson.

Anderson tells of meeting Attorney Campbell in Cincinnati, and continues in his affidavit: "Col. Campbell then told me that Joe Owens had told him that I had said that Caleb Powers, at the hotel In Barbourville, prior to the 25th of January, had used these words, speaking of William Goebel: 'If we cannot get him killed and it is necessary I will kill him myself. They say he wears a coat of mail, but it won't do him any Ed. I said to Mr. Campbell that I had never told any one any such thing, and that Powers had not made such a statement to me, nor any statement resembling it in any way. Campbell and Owens insisted I had made such a statement, and I afterward, upon Campbell's suggestion, sat down and wrote out a statement, in which I included the foregoing statement of Powers, which was untrue in every particular, and upon the trial of Caleb Powers I swore to it as a fact when in truth it was not a fact.

FERRELL IS FOUND GUILTY.

Train Robber to Suffer Death for Murder of Charles Lane.

At Marysville, Ohio, the jury in the rial of Charles Rosslyn Ferrell for the murder on the night of Aug. 10 of Chas. Lane, an express messenger on a Panhandle passenger train, returned a verdict of murder in the first degree without recommendation. The verdict carries with it the death penalty, which in Ohio is by electrocution. The cost of the trial to the State and Union County will be about $7,500.

The murder of Express Messenger Charles Lane on the night of Aug. 10 was one of the most brutal and premed-Itated deeds in criminal history. Charles R. H. Ferrell, an ex-employe of the Adams Express Company, was engaged to marry Miss Lillian Costello of Columbus, Ohio, the wedding to take place on Aug. 16. The prospective groom had been without employment for months and needed money to wed. Ferrell as an exexpress messenger knew that Pennsylvania train No. 8, between St. Louis and Columbus, usually carried a large sum of murderer counted on the success of his crime, which included the murder of Lane and the robbery of the express safe. Suspicion pointed to Ferrell, who had paid long overdue bills since the murder.
