FIERCE DUEL IN OHIO.

TWO FARMERS ENGAGE IN A DESPERATE FIGHT.

Removal of Rusty Knife Blade from Foine's Head Brings Out Story-Syracuse, Ind., Suffers Loss of Entire Block of Business Buildings.

The removal of a rusty knife blade 11/2 inches long from the brain of Fred Foine, a prominent Henry County farmer, has brought to light one of the fiercest duels ever fought in Northwestern Ohio. Two years ago Fred Foine and his neighbor, Henry Schroeder, were the best of friends, till a quarrel occurred over the use of another neighbor's cornplanter. A few days ago Foine left for his home in a buggy, and, knowing that his old enemy would pass that way, secured a rock and secreted himself. Soon Schroeder came along on his horse and was hurled to the ground by a blow on the head from a rock. Foine viciously jumped on his victim, biting and striking him with the rock. Too weak from his fall to ward off his assailant, Schroeder drew an old, rusty pocket-knife and stabbed Foine in the head and face. Schroeder escaped by crawling in the darkness to a near farmhouse. Foine went home, but the next day, from exposure and his undressed wounds, became violently ill. A few days ago the wound was opened. A magnet was applied and resulted in the extraction of the rusty knife blade. Foine, though in a critical condition, may recover. Schroeder has sold his farm and will leave the country.

Mrs. Vina Grady, white, and a member of a prominent family, was brutally murdered in the front room of her home in Fountain alley, Zanesville, Ohio. Adrian Madison, a colored barber, known to be infatuated with the woman and who was seen by her children to leave the house with his clothing covered with blood, is in custody, charged with the crime. The woman's skull was crushed with a blunt instrument, but the doctors who held the post-mortem examination give it as an opinion that the woman was choked to death. Madison insists that the woman was well when he left the house and claims the blood on his clothing came claims theose. from the nose.

New York: No great amount of activity in general business is ever expected at this season of the year. Immediately following the holiday rush there is usually a slight natural reaction and a quieting down of conditions which gives merchants and manufacturers an opportunity to take stock and balance their accounts. The present is, in fact, a "between seasons" period-too late for much movement in winter goods and too early for the spring trade. In the stock market the week has been a highly sensational one, sharp breaks and sharper recoveries following each other in quick succession. Prices for nearly everything on the list are now higher than ever before and in some cases doubtless they have gone far beyond intrinsic values. Chicago: With the coming of the new year was brought a considerable increase to the volume of speculative business on the Board of Trade, together with the equally agreeable accompaniment of higher prices. Perhaps the persistent buoyancy of the New York stock market brought about a more hopeful feeling with regard to the probabilities of some of the overflowing rush of speculative sentiment becoming diverted toward the grain markets, but such a feeling would perhaps never have been entertained had it not been for the existence of certain features in the condition of the Board of Trade markets that in themselves were sufficiently suggestive of a likely ad- ed while skating. vance. Wheat, the price of which has so According to a dispatch from Vienna, long been depressed by heavy receipts from what was by many supposed to be a small crop, had promise of relief from that anomaly.

> To Make Kidnaping a Capital Offense. The Cudahy kidnaping case has stirred up the West. In Iowa the next Legislature may amend the law on kidnaping, making the punishment for the crime death. It is probable that in South Dakota similar action will be taken, as many legislators favor the death penalty. Kidnaping is not a crime in that State at present. Ignatius Donnelly, known as "the sage of Nininger," was conspicuous in the political and literary field for many years. He came to Minnesota thirty-five years ago and since that time had been a member of both houses of the State Legislature and represented his district in Congress. He had pronounced ideas, and during his political career had been a member of nearly every political party known in the State. For the last few years he had been bitterly opposed to the policy of the Democratic party and at the last general election he was a candidate for Vice-President on the middleulist ticket.

Mr. Donnelly's home was built while Minnesota was yet a territory, and in it Mr. Donnelly surrounded himself with books. His first wife died about 1894, three sons and two daughters surviving her. In 1898 Mr. Donnelly married Marion Olive Hanson, his typewriter, who was born Feb. 9, 1877, in Eidwold, near Christiana, Norway.

Mr. Donnelly was a quiet, unassuming man and splendidly educated. His first literary work was "Atlantis," considered one of the boldest and most original works that had ever appeared.

BIRTH OF FEDERATION.

Last Step in Union of British Australian Colonies.

The Earl of Hopetoun was sworn in at Sydney, N. S. W., as first governor of the federated Australian colonies amidst scenes of pageantry such as never before had been attempted in the antipodes. Scores of thousands of people participated in the demonstration and general joy marked the occasion. The rejoicing of the commonwealth was intensified by a message, which Queen Victoria sent through the colonial secretary, Joseph Chamberlain, and which was read by the Earl of Hopetoun, as follows:

"The queen commands me to express through you to the people of Australia her majesty's heartfelt interest in the inauguration of the commonwealth and her earnest wish that under divine providence it may insure increased prosperity and well-being to her loyal and beloved subjects in Australia." the Earl of Hopetoun took the oath of presented to the Church of Our Lady of office and signed it at a table which had Good Counsel, Philadelphia. been presented by the queen. A salute of twenty-one guns, the playing of the national anthem by the massed bands and rousing cheers re-echoing among the hills accompanied this act. The signature and swearing in of the first federal ministers followed.

TO PREVENT KIDNAPING.

Several Rich Boys Are Kept Locked Up Like Prisoners.

The kidnaping of young Cudahy has attracted renewed attention to this peril of wealthy families. INDIANA INCIDENTS TERSELY TOLD.

Brutal Hazing of a Teacher-Murder Mystery in Indianapolis-Marries a Youth in Jail-Reign of Terror at Chesterton-Father's Plot Fails.

Wesley Dugan, a public school teacher in the southern part of Pike County, was the victim of a brutal hazing at the hands of his pupils, which nearly cost him his life. During the school hour he was set upon by a number of the larger pupils, his hands secured behind his back | proceeded to kick in the doors on the secand then forced to go with them to a large pond about a mile from the school house. It was the intention to duck him in the pond, but he succeeded in releasing himself, and wading out into the water got upon a large stump. Not being able to carry out their purpose, the pupils began to pelt him with stones and clubs and he was soon forced to leave the stump and attempted to reach the opposite bank, nearly half a mile away. He was benumbed by the cold, and although a good swimmer he was exhausted before reaching the opposite bank and lost consciousness. He had sunk to the bottom of the pond when a farmer rushed in and rescued him.

Leading Mason Shot.

William H. Smythe, grand secretary of the Masonic order in Indiana, was shot in the head behind the right ear and perhaps fatally wounded in his office in the Masonic Temple at Indianapolis. The shooting is a mysterious one, and, although a corps of police and detectives have been at work diligently on the case, the mystery is not satisfactorily solved. Before Mr. Smythe lapsed into unconsciousness he told, in an incoherent manner, of a blond woman who entered his office and asked to be permitted to use the office telephone. As she had called twice before in the morning and he was busy, he refused her request. At this, he said, the woman drew a revolver from somewhere about her clothing and fired point blank at him. He felt the sting of the bullet and fell to the floor, where he was found a few minutes later by Lewis A. Coleman, an attorney, who had called at the office to transact business relating to the Masonic order.

Bride Goes to Jail to Wed. Mrs. Bertha Arthur, a young widow of Anderson, was married at the county jail in Muncie to Walter "Dobber" Richy, who will in a few days be sent to State's prison for the robbery of the Bowles dry goods store. The young woman went to Muncie as soon as she learned of her sweetheart's incarceration and sought to get a marriage license. She failed to procure the license without affidavits, but later she renewed her efforts and was successful. Justice Moreland performed the wedding ceremony in the jail corridor. Richy is 22 years old. His bride is 25, and is unusually pretty. is 25, and is unusually pretty.

Chesterton Has "Reign of Terror." Chesterton is having a "reign of terror." A few nights ago John Strahl was held up at the point of a gun, but knocked the highwayman down and escaped. In two nights five houses were broken into. At the Catholic parsonage offerings amounting to $60 were taken, $116 in the same drawer being overlooked. Small thefts are of almost nightly occurrence. Cars are being robbed on the side tracks. Car Inspector Fensky of the E., J. & E. Railway capturing a man leaving a car with his arms full of shoes.

Plot to Kidnap Son Fails.

Charles H. Beach, formerly of Logansport and now of Chicago, lies in jail in the former city charged with trying to kidnap his son, over whom the boy's mother has control. Beach was placed under a $500 bond to await trial. It is said the Beach family was broken up several years ago, since which time Beach has lived in Chicago.

SEVEN MEN DIE IN DENSESMOKE

Lodging House Fire in Minneapolis

Causes Death of Inmates. Eight men died from suffocation in a fire which broke out in the Harvard lodg. ing house in Minneapolis. Several are in a critical condition from burns and injuries received in a panic which ensued upon the discovery of the blaze.

The fire had its origin in the rear of the Standard furniture store on the ground floor and at first it appeared to be insignificant. The alarm was sounded by Charles Hanson, a lodger, who on going to his room was confronted by a dense volume of smoke. He was on the second floor and he imediately gave the warning to George O'Connor, the day clerk. O'Connor recognizing the danger, ond floor, which is the main floor of the I hotel. He continued up to the third floor and managed to arouse several of the men, but was finally beaten back by the heavy rush of smoke and had to run out to avoid suffocation.

The flames appeared in the rear and did not burst forth at the front, though the smoke poured from the windows in volumes. As soon as the firemen arrived it was recognized that the building was a veritable trap. Ladders were run up at the front and the firemen rushed up. Before any of them could make their way into the building the lodgers were breaking the windows and holding their heads out in a vain attempt to secure fresh air. Pitiful cries for help were made by many. This scene did not last long, for the battle of the men for life was in vain. The smoke rushed out on them and they succumbed and fell back unconscious. All of the dead and unconscious men were found in the front rooms of the second and third floors.

The Boers have succeeded in creating a panic at Cape Town, where more than 6,000 men have enlisted within the last large part of Lord Kitchener's effective | tion. force away from the Transvaal. Succeeding in this, it is argued that Botha contemplates striking a serious blow at Pretoria. There is nothing in the dispatches toria. There is nothing in the dispatches from British sources to indicate a general uprising of the Dutch people of Cape Colony. It is admitted that a few recruits have joined the Boer invaders. The real facts, however, may have been suppressed, for there is no doubting the genuineness of the alarm not only at Cape Town but in London. It is again announced that President Kruger will visit the United States. It has been generally believed that the Boer president would cross the Atlantic, especially after the failure of his mission in Europe was patent.

Negotiations at Pekin are again at a standstill. The allied forces, at the request of Emperor Kwang-Su, have granted a truce and military operations are nominally at a standstill. The Emperor has instructed Prince Ching and Earl Li-Hung-Chang to sign the preliminary terms of peace, and the joint note referred to last week is being put into the form of an agreement for signatures. Interest in the diplomatic phase of the Chinese question was stirred during the week by the announcement of a treaty between China and Russia, by the terms of which the vast province of Manchuria becomes virtually a protectorate under the Czar. The treaty is, on the surface, in direct violation of the tacit agreement that has maintained the concert of the powers at Pekin. With this tacit agreement brok-Louis J. Schmidt, 60, Lafayette, was | en, there seems to be no reason why Germany should not assume a protectorate over the entire Shan-Tung province, or France over some of the southern provinces. Russia's practical seizure of Manchuria virtually adds 374,000 square miles to the Czar's dominion, shuts off Corea from China, and means the domination of Mongolia. It virtually carries the Russian Empire in Asia southward to the Great Wall and menaces the integrity of Pekin itself.

-:--:-From Havana comes the statement that the constitutional convention has virtually decided upon the plan for the Cornelia Barth, aged 24, wift of August | future relations between the island and an acceptance of the Monroe doctrine, the regulation of Cuban foreign affairs in accordance with the wishes of the United States, the transfer to the United States of any harbor on the north coast and any two harbors on the south coast that may be desired for naval bases, and a treaty of offensive and defensive alliance. If such a plan is adopted it indicates that the Cubans who favor a United States protectorate over the future republic are in the majority. But the convention has not yet arrived at a final decision and the constitution it forms will have to be ratified by the people before it can become effective.

> The vigorous war waged by the French government upon the religious orders of France has finally resulted in an appeal to the Vatican. A delegation of influential French Catholics has gone to Rome to urge upon Pope Leo the necessity of interference.

The diplomatic corps entered the historic structure from the south. Thirty-six friendly nations were represented in the gathering by members of six embassies and thirty legations. The Marine band and the Eleventh Infantry band alternated in discoursing selections, the former presenting for the first time a fantasia, "Timely Thoughts," composed by Lieut. Santelmann, the leader, and including parts of all the favorite airs of Mrs. McKinley.

Representatives of the army and navy were gorgeous in gold lace and polished buttons, Gen. Miles leading the army with Adjt. Gen. Corbin beside him, and Admiral Dewey the navy.

About 5,000 persons had been received when, at 1:30 o'clock, the reception was to close. However, as the crowd still stretched four abreast beyond the outer gates the President directed that the reception proceed, that all might come in. Mrs. McKinley endured the trying ordeal with much composure, remaining alongside the President throughout. It was 2 o'clock when the end of the line appeared, and the President, waving a final salutation to the guests, escorted Mrs. Mc-Kinley to her apartments.

After the President and other members of the receiving party had taken places in the blue parlor the long line of guests began to move. First in the line came the ambassadors and ministers from foreign courts, accompanied by their full staffs. It is much smaller than the other tract, but the Indians to be given lands are not so many. Allotment has been going on there gradually for some years. The proportion of good land is larger than in the Fort Sill country. The reservation consists of broad and fertile valleys and rolling upland, suitable to diversified farming. It is estimated that 2,000 white settlers may be able to find farms there after all of the allotments and reservations for school and other purposes are made. But, in addition to the farms to be distributed to the swiftest, the opening of these reservations will present many other opportunities, for towns will be laid out and populated in a day. While perhaps fewer than 5,000 will win farms of 160 acres, several times that number will find homes and business and labor in the new counties to be incorporated as political parts of Oklahoma.

KIDNAPERS STILL AT LARGE.

Police Looking for a Man Who May Clear the Mystery.

In spite of the reward of $25,000 offered by E. A. Cudahy for the apprehension of the kidnapers of his son and the efforts of hundreds of detectives, attracted by the large reward, the criminals, at the time this is written, still remain at liberty. There is a belief, however, that if the police could lay their hands upon a criminal character named Pat Crowe, a former employe of Mr. Cudahy, they would find one of the kidnapers. "But," he added, "if I had a few dollars with which to buy some cooking utensils, a few window blinds and rent a small cottage for thirty days I would make the investment pay handsomely and we could have plenty of Christmas money."

It is supposed that Crowe on both occasions referred to the kidnaping of young Cudahy. That crime was under consideration a long time, as one of the kidnapers told young Cudahy that the bers will amount to considerably over Cudahy house in Omaha had been under $200,000, which is but a beginning on the surveillance for two months.

SETBACK FOR SUBSIDY BILL.

Bottom of the Calendar.

By a maneuver the Senate sidetracked the ship subsidy bill Thursday and sent it to the bottom of the calendar. The pressing emergency which in the judgment of the President and his friends requires the immediate passage of the army reorganization bill caused that measure to be taken up when the Senate met at noon and its consideration was continued until 2 o'clock, when unanimous consent was asked by Senator Hawley (Conn.), chairman of the military affairs committee, that the subsidy bill be temporarily deposed and the army bill be proceeded with. This was the opportunity which the opponents of the subsidy proposition were waiting for, and Senator Pettigrew immediately objected. Senator Frye, who was in the chair, was forced to rule that under the resolution the subsidy bill was displaced and it went to the bottom of the list.

Many Legislatures Meet.

The Legislatures of thirty-one of the forty-five States of the Union will be in session during the present month. The meetings will bring together a total of 3,310 statesmen. The largest number in any one State is the 421 members of the New Hampshire Legislature, while the smallest is the forty-eight of Nevada. population varies in the same way. In New Hampshire, for instance, there is one Representative to every 1,140 men, women and children in the State, while in New York State there is one to 46,000.

The Legislatures of all the States meet every two years, except those of Georgia, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, Rhode Island and South Carolina, which come together every year. All but sixteen of the States limit by law the duration of a legislative session, the time fixed ranging from forty to seventy-five The salaries of members of the State Legislatures vary widely. Kansas and several other States pay their legislators $3 a day while the Legislature is in session. Nevada pays $10 a day, New York and Pennsylvania pay $1,500 a year, and Illinois $1,000 a session. Thrifty Maine, on the other hand, makes its members get along with $150 a year. In all the States but Delaware, Iowa, Maryland and New ever, the day before the kidnaping and | Jersey the members of the Legislature are allowed in addition to their salaries a fixed sum for each mile traveled in coming to and going from the State capital. Most of the members of the State Legislatures ride on railroad passes, so that this mileage allowance goes into their own pockets. In order that members may be at no expense for postage, stationery, etc., while the Legislature is in session most States make a still further grant of a fixed amount to each member to cover necessary charges of this kind. For salaries alone the meetings of the State Legislatures will cost in the aggregate an enormous sum. In Illinois, for instance, the bare salaries of the mem-

Two small lakes and two rivers are also within the corporate limits of the city. Standing upon one of the surrounding heights, a scene meets the gaze that would make the heart of the artist thrill with joy, and cause the poet to burst forth in song. With street cars, electric lights, water works, excellent telephone service, good schools, churches, banks, hotels, opera houses, manufacturing interests, etc., Waupaca is a modern city in all that the word implies. Located in the potato belt, it is the site of two large starch factories and numerous potato warehouses. The granite industry is also a very important line of business in that section. In the city is a stone crushing establishment that turns out some of the best crushed stone for road work in the United States, and near the city are located the celebrated Waupaca granite quarries. This granite is the most beautiful we have ever seen, resembling large red green background for the leaves. One of the chief amusements of the business men in winter is curling, and a large ice rink has been erected by the Curler's Club for this purpose. Numerous skating parties are also held in the rink, the band furnishing music for the occasion. A noticable feature o the city is the number of people that throng the streets, coming principally from the surrounding country to trade with the upto-date merchants of the city. We cannot close without mentioning the hospitality of the people. All consider it their business to make a stranger welcome, and the result is, that we have a warm place both young and old, and hope that in the near luture we may have the pleasure of re- or favor. newing such pleasant acquaintances and of visiting once again the "Killarney's of Wisconsin.

THE CHURCH BACK HOME.

When the big pipe organ's swellin' an' the city choir sings, An' you almost hear the swishin' of the lovin' angels' wings, An' the congregation's musin' on the proneness for to sin,

Sort o' leanin' listless, waitin' for the preacher to begin; In that holy hush it happens that I clean forget the place, An' again I'm meek an' lowly 'fore a throne of savin' grace;

A throne that wasn't nestlin' 'neath a spire or a dome, But the sinners sought their Savier in that little church back home.

When we had protracted meetin's, why, 'twould done you good to hear The congregation singin' with a blend o' voices clear, How the "Rock of Ages" towered like a shelt'rin' sort o' wall,

An' our souls soared up to glory since the Rock was cleft for all.

Ev'ry face was wreathed with sweetness, an' we always had a smile For the stranger, saint or sinner, in the pew across the aisle; For a diamond's often gathered from the commonest of loam. An' we didn't mind the settin' in the little church back home.

There were weddin's where the neighbors gathered in from far an' wide, 'An' the boys looked on in envy while their sisters kissed the bride;

There were fun'rals, too, where neighbors didn't feel ashamed to cry When they laid to rest the sleeper in the little yard close by.

Each pew seems sort o' sacred, an' the lowly pulpit there 'Pears like a holy gateway to a firmament that's fair; Where the sweet, supernal sunshine softly scattered sorrow's gloom An' lets us enter heaven from the little church back home.

The city choir's voices rise in cadences so sweet

As they sing about the river where the sainted ones shall meet,

An' the preacher's coice is pleadin' as he asks us, soft and low, weary vale of woe. This city church is handsome, an' the congregation's large, The preacher's doin' nobly with his heaven seekin' charge. The choir's swellin' anthems soar to heaven through the dome, But my old heart is sighin' for the little church back home.

MY WEDDING DAY

777 ELL, as I was saying, this is the way it came about: I was a young thing then, just turned 18. Your grandfather had been my playmate, hero and protector from the time that I was old enough to go to school. I had never thought of marrying any one but him, and so when he asked me to be his wife, why, of course, I said "Yes."

Well, it was in the spring of 1775 that we were to be married. Mother and I spent the winter getting my things made up, and I had as fine an outfit as a girl could possibly have in those days. The day set for the wedding was the nineteenth of April-yes, the very day on which the battle of Lexington occurred, as I have good reason to remember.

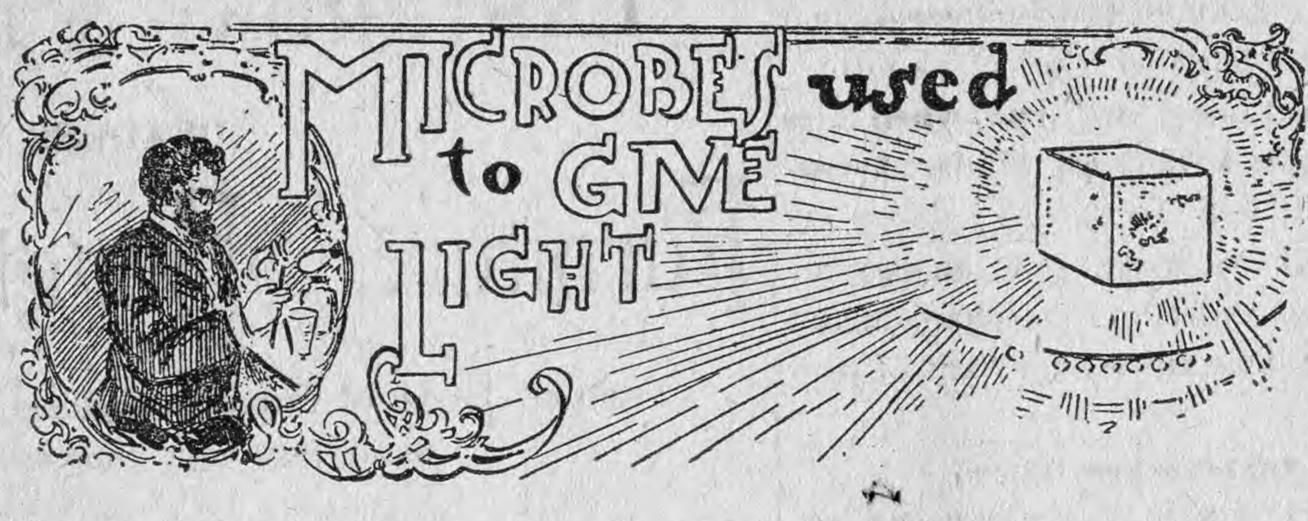

. The nineteenth of April was a beautiful day, though a warm one for the season. We were all up early that morning, for there was a great deal to be done. It was about 9 o'clock in the forenoon when my mother, who had been looking over some linen, suddenly raised her head, exclaiming as she did so, "Why, Mary, was that the meetinghouse, bell?"

"What can it mean?" I cried, and, running to the window, I caught sight of our neighbor's sons, Joe and John Eaton, running down the road with their guns. Across the way Harry Wright was plowing the field. The boys called out to him as they passed, and without stopping to unhitch the horse, he seized his gun and was off across the fields.

"It is an alarm, mother!" I cried. "The boys are down by the brook," she said. "The sound will not reach them!"

en, and, seizing the horn, I ran out of ing of the troops. We had just got setthe house and started for the brook, tled when Henry caught sight of which was some distance from the flanking party coming right down on awakes and just before he drops house. I blew a blast on the horn as I ran, and as the boys caught sight of me I pointed toward the road, where several men could be seen running with their guns. The boys understood, and, posite. I reached the opposite wall in waving their hands to me, they were safety and turned round to look for off across the field to the road.

"What is it? Where are they going?" I asked. And as I spoke the men came | sudden turn in the road and sent some Thurrying out of the meeting-house, shots in our direction. At the risk of where they had heard a few words being shot, I stood up and looked across from Parson Smith, and, mounting the road. He must have been hit by their horses, rode off as fast as they the flanking party, for he lay just by could go. I looked for your grandfa. the wall." ther, but he was not there. Catching sight of my father, I ran to him. "Have horse's feet coming up the road at a you seen Henry?"—that's your grand- furious pace. I sat up and listened. his sister's guest is called "acting father-I asked.

A French scientist has found out that even the scorned and despised disease microbes can be used in making the softest and most beautiful light imaginable. While the light is strong enough to enable fine print to be read clearly at a distance of several yards, it has all the soft, mysterious charm of brilliant moon-

The laity generally would imagine that the first difficulty in making this light would be the collecting of the bacilli. But Prof. Raphael Du Bois of the University of Lyons has found that microbe lamps are eminently practicable. The phosphorescent bacteria are those containing water, sea salt, one ternary compound, one nitrogenous compound, one phosphate, and traces of mineral. For purposes of decorative illumination the bacterial fluids are placed in bottle-shaped receptacles, with flat bottoms, covered by colored shades, which direct the light downward. These, suspended from the ceiling of a room, supply a clear, delicate glow, that transforms the most hopeless room and makes the dullest complexion brilliant.

my father, "and, as he had his horse with him, he rode away without waiting for the company to assemble."

My father had reached home before me, and as I opened the door I heard mother ask, "Do you think it is anything serious, father?"

"I am afraid it may be, wife," he said. "The messenger said that Gov. Gage has sent some of the king's troops to stored at Concord. If the report is true, there will be resistance, and if it comes to that it will be very serious business for us."

I hastened down the path to meet him.

"Bad news, my)child; bad news!" he exclaimed. "There has been an encounter with the king's troops," And then, reading the question in my eyes, he continued, "But they brought no news of our men."

The hour set for the wedding was 8 o'clock, but it began to look as if there would be no wearing, for it was now after 7 o'clock, and none of our men had returned home.

The scheme of bridging the Bosphorus has been revived and it is announced that a magnificent structure will span the river ere the lapse of another year and will bear the name of the Sultan of Turkey, Abdul Hamid. It is to be constructed by the Bosphorus Railway Company, which designs a junction between the railways of Europe and the Trans-Atlantic railway of Bagdad. ### WINTER WHEAT DOES WELL.

Crop Report for December Is Decidedly Favorable. The climate and crop bulletin of the weather bureau for December shows the following general conditions of winter wheat:

While the middle of December was quite cold to the eastward of the Mississippi, especially over the northern districts, the month as a whole was mild and generally dryer than usual, the temperature being much above the average over the northern districts to the west ward of the upper Mississippi valley. There was, however, decidedly more than the average rainfall in the south Atlantic and east gulf States and on the north Pacific coast.

The winter wheat region has been practically without snow protection throughout the month, but the crop has not been subjected to marked extremes of temperature and is generally in promising condition, especially over the western portions of the winter wheat belt. There is quite general complaint of injury by Hessian fly, but the ravages of this pest seem largely confined to the early sown wheat. In western Kansas, the greater part of Texas and Southern California winter wheat has suffered from lack of moisture. The following reports from Middle Western States are also given:

Missouri-Month remarkably pleasant and exceptionally favorable for wheat; aside from some damage by fly to early sown in eastern and southern counties the crop is in excellent condition.

Illinois-Favorable weather for wheat, which is generally in very good condition; there has been considerable damage in the central and southern districts by Hessian fly, though it is serious only in a few localities; absence of snow covering hands to me, "I am in time! The clock | caused slight damage from free ing in a few localities.

Indiana-Weather mild and dry; rain or snow needed; rye and wheat have made some growth and look green; fly injured some early sown; clover and timothy look well; tobacco stripping has begun; corn most all cribbed; much corn fodder shredded; plowing and other farm work well advanced.

Ohio-Reports on wheat variable, but general condition only fair; weather favorable for growth except too dry in some eastern and central counties; very little snow protection; slight damage by freezing and thawing; injury by fly in early seeded general; of later sown there are many healthy fields, but many with unsatisfactory stand.

Michigan-Lack of snow protection with alternate freezing and thawing has been detrimental to wheat, the general condition of which is rather poor; correspondents quite generally note the presence of Hessian fly.

STORM IN THE WEST.

Unprecedented Snowfall Buries the Pacific Slope.

A terrific snow and windstorm swept over the entire Pacific slope west of the Rockies, in many places paralyzing all lines of communication, causing great property damage and burying large districts under unprecedented falls of snow. Within forty miles of Reno, Nev., a heavy passenger train was thrown from the rails by the force of the wind. At Yreka, Cal., seventy-two inches of snow fell in two days, and the precipitation in many other sections has broken all records. Under the weight of snow buildings have collapsed, trains have been in definitely stalled and grave fears are entertained for ranchers and farmers, while the stock loss undoubtedly will be large. Many trains and snow plows are tied up in the Siskyou Mountains, where eleven feet of snow has fallen. Telegraph wires are prostrated. The Fort Jones and Etna stage was stalled in the mountains.

The gale seems to have raged not only on the southern coast, but all along the line from Santa Cruz to Cape Flattery. The waves rolled mountain high at Fort Ross. Old-timers report that it was the worst storm ever known.

WHY MRS. PINKHAM

Able to Help Sick Women When Doctors Fail.

How gladly would men fly to woman's aid did they but understand a woman's feelings, trials, sensibilities, and peculiar organic disturbances.

Those things are known only to women, and the aid a man would give is not at his command.

To treat a case properly it is necessary to know all about it, and full information, many times, cannot be given by a woman to her family physician. She cannot bring herself to tell everything, and the physician is at a constant disadvantage. This is why, for the past twenty-five years, thousands of women have been confiding their troubles to Mrs. Pinkham, and whose advice has brought happiness and health to countless women in the United States.

Mrs. Chappell, of Grant Park, Ill., whose portrait we publish, advises all suffering women to seek Mrs. Pinkham's advice and use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as they cured her of inflammation of the ovaries and womb; she, therefore, speaks from knowledge, and her experience ought to give others confidence. Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass., and her advice is absolutely free.

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and snuffs and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. A trial size will be mailed for 10 cents. All druggists sell the 50c. size. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N.Y.

The Balm cures without pain, does not irritate or cause sneezing. . It spreads itself over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation. With Ely's Cream Balm you are armed against Nasal Catarrh and Hay Fever.

When the House reassembled on Thursday after the holiday recess not more than seventy-five members were present. It had been arranged before the House met that the consideration of the reapportionment bill was to be entered upon at once, and the bill was taken up. As a matter of privilege resolution was offered by Mr. Olmstead (Pa.) reciting the alleged abridgement of the right to vote in Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina and North Carolina and instructing the Press. committee on census to inquire into the subject and report the facts to the House. Motion to adjourn lost. Mr. Underwood (Ala.) raised question of consideration. On rising vote it stood yeas 69, nays 70. Yeas and nays ordered. The Speaker announced the vote 81 to consider the resor lution, 83 against and 5 present but not voting-not a quorum. He directed cal of the House, pending which Mr. Underwood again moved an adjournment, which was carried, 77 to 75. At the first session of the Senate in the twentieth century business was resumed without the appearance of a break in the continuity of the proceedings. The work was taken up just where it was left off when Congress took a recess for the holidays. Notwithstanding the fact that the holidays had scarcely ended, the attendance at the opening session was notably large. President pro tempore Frye called the Seate to order. The time just before the session convened and just after was occupied by many Senators in the exchange of greetings. That was the only evidence that there had been a recess. The Senate without dissent displaced the shipping subsidy bill as "unfinished busiand substituted the army reorganbill. The day was spent in discussion of the bill.

On Friday the Senate passed the Lodge resolution declaring in favor of prohibiting, by treaty or otherwise, the sale of opium or intoxicants to uncivilized races or aboriginal tribes, and asking co-operation of other nations in the movement. Not Too Many Women.

The census recently completed shows that the feminine population is increasing at a rapid rate in the large cities and it is predicted that this country will presently be confronted by a problem that has worried foreign statisticians for some time—the preponderance of women. It is admitted that the women here have the advantage over their foreign sisters in that many fields of work are opened to them and they can also hold and dispose of property to an extent unknown on the other side. So that the American woman is in a great measure economically independent of man, and thus does she escape some of the serious consequences that afflict the foreign woman. It seems a pity that anyone at this late day should fall to worrying about the superfluous woman myth. It is such an old, old story, and one that has times without number proven to be needlessly disturbing. As to the bogey of so many women, did it ever occur to the alarmist to attempt to figure how many of these feminine over plus were widows who persist in outliving their husbands ten, twenty or even thirty years and spinsters of uncertain age? Statistics published about ten years ago showed that in London, where the woman population is greatly in excess of the male, between the ages of 18 and 45 the men were in excess.

Honest Burglar.

Chief Inspector of Police Watts today disclosed a mysterious case of awakened conscience. On Nov. 13 an express team brought two large cases to headquarters. The cases contained fourteen rolls of flannel, valued at $300. In the mail came this letter:

"Two boxes were left at your office last evening. They contained part of the contents of three boxes stolen this summer from the Boston and Maine Railroad by parties acting for others | Shepherd. and as their tools.

"The principal has returned the goods you have, but says that the balance has been disposed of. Please ascertain the amount due for balance and all expenses, and in the Boston Herald of Nov. 12, 20 and 23 insert "The amount due is - dollars,' and as soon as possible it will be paid."

On Nov. 30 another letter was received by the chief. It read:

"Please acknowledge receipt of $70 in the same paper and same place on Nov. 22 and 24. Balance soon."

In the envelope $70 in bank bills was found wrapped in a piece of newspaper. Yesterday another letter, containing the remaining $74 due the railroad, reached the chief inspector.-Boston Special New York Journal.

I often had to sit up half the night, I had it so bad when I would lie down. Life looked pretty blue to me, as I thought there was no relief, until one day I read an advertisement | foucauld. of Dodd's Kidney Pills. I bought a box that same day, and it was the best day's work I ever did. Before I had used all the first box I could eat and sleep better than I had done for many years, and after three months' faithful treatment, my health was completely restored.
