Mrs. Carrie Nation is one of the best known women of America today. She received her present notoriety through her aggressive actions in smashing the interior of saloons in Kansas. She has smashed the bar fixtures, and wasted the liquid contents of about a hundred places where liquor is sold, and is still wielding her hatchet with unabated zeal.

Last week a bell for the new M. E. church arrived from the C. S. Bell Co., of Hillsboro, Ohio, on a 30 day's trial. It weighs with fixtures, 1200 pounds and is a beauty; but we are unable to extol its merits until it has been thoroughly tested. It has been placed in the tower and as soon as the weather moderates, will be hung and tested. If it proves "O. K." it will also be so arranged that the town clock will strike the hours of the day, and let the citizens of the adjoining county know when to go to dinner.

The management of the Wabash road has adopted a rule which prohibits the use of intoxicants by employees before reporting for duty or while on duty. This is regarded as one of the most far-reaching prohibitive measures ever put into effect on a railroad. Statistics show that where the prohibitive rule has been in effect the number of accidents has been materially decreased.

The managers of the Farmers' Institute to be held at Plymouth February 13 and 14, anticipate the best sessions ever held in the county. E. S. An exchange tells of a lady who decided to scare her husband, who was quite a hard drinker, so he would reform. To do this she procured the costume of a devil she had worn at a manquerade. The next time the erring spouse came home feeling happy she quickly donned the costume. As he opened the door she stepped forward and said, in sepulchral tones: "Come in with me — I am the devil." The result rather startled her as the response which greeted her was: "Zat so? Shake, ol' boy; I'm your brother-in-law. I married your sister."

SHIP IN COMMISSION.

CEREMONIES ON THE MAN-OF-WAR WISCONSIN.

New Fighting Vessel Takes Important Place in North Pacific Squadron—Body of Young Man Found in Bushes Near Riverside, Ill.

At noon Monday the new battleship Wisconsin was put into commission at San Francisco, and joined the North Pacific squadron. The Wisconsin increases the fighting strength of the navy materially, for she is considered one of the most formidable fighting machines afloat. In the ceremonies of commission the officers and the crew were assembled on deck. Captain Reiter read the orders from Washington placing him in command and his pennant was hoisted from the peak with the Stars and Stripes floating beneath. The colors were saluted by every officer and man aboardship. The trial run to Port Orchard and return was successful. The first month of the Wisconsin's active service will be spent in target practice in southern waters. She has a displacement of 11,525 tons and is armored with nickel-steel belts from fourteen to sixteen inches thick. The entire weight of the armor is 2,800 tons. Mounted as her armament are four 13-inch guns, fourteen 6-inch rapid-firers, four torpedo tubes and several small guns. Her complement will be 555 men and officers. Lieutenant Commander Mayo will be navigator.

HIS FATE A MYSTERY.

Body of Young Elmer K. Mills Found in Bushes.

Reclining against a brush heap in a tangle of bushes on the bank of the Des-plaines river about a mile north of Riverside, Ill., the body of Elmer K. Mills was found by a hunter. A bullet hole in the left temple and a revolver found beside the body prompted the police to believe that Mills took his life. He was 21 years old. He left his home Jan. 13 and went to the Etna Pleasure Club at Ogden avenue and Harrison street, Chicago. After leaving there he was not seen alive again by friends. Mills was employed by the E. F. Clark Advertising Company as a bookkeeper.

BURIED IN A PAUPER'S GRAVE.

A. B. Whelden, Heir to $125,000, Lost to Friends for Ten Years.

Eleven years ago A. B. Whelden, then just of age and of a wealthy family, went to Kansas City from Providence, R. I. He dropped dead from the heat June 13, 1890, and after efforts to learn of his relatives had failed he was buried in an unmarked grave in the potter's field. Ferdinand Whelden, who has hunted for more than ten years for his brother, finally tracing him to Kansas City, arrived there recently and found the record of the death, but could not locate the grave. There is an estate of $125,000, which would belong to the unfortunate Whelden were he living.

VICTORIA LAID TO REST.

Remains of Britain's Queen Placed in the Tomb.

The scenes of solemn pomp which were inaugurated at Cowes Friday and which were brought to a close Saturday with the solemn services at Windsor are probably unparalleled in the history of funeral pageantry. All England apparently rested hushed and thrilled in the mournful consciousness that it was to say a final farewell to its queen, and the world at large could not but be impressed by the remarkable ceremonial in which national grief displayed itself. It would seem, from the fact of her expressed wish for a military funeral, that Queen Victoria desired that in the rites nothing should be omitted to emphasize the dignity of queenhood. Victoria the woman, the "mother of her people," was assured of the sincere mourning of all classes.

The first portion of the journey of Victoria to the earth whence she came and over so large a portion of which she ruled was completed Friday. Through winding lanes of almost summer verdure, through floating walls of steel—bulwarks of the mourning nation—her body was borne; on land by a gun carriage, on water by a royal yacht.

Behind the cortege came Kings, Emperors and princes, walking humbly between the black clad lines of sorrowing islanders. All the colors of a dozen royal courts were massed in the uniforms of the rulers of a half dozen nations and their trains. The sunlight gleamed from the hilts of jeweled swords and gemmed decorations.

When the journey through the cedar-hedged path was ended there followed a sight notable and impressive. It was the transit of the funeral yacht across the waters between walls of warrior steel.

Battleship after battleship thundered its grief, band after band wailed its dirge, and crew after crew bowed low their heads as the pigmy yacht swept past. It bore no passengers save an admiral on the bridge and four red-coated guards at the corners of the simple, gleaming white bier resting amidships.

The Alberta emerged from the smoke-crowned steel lane, the last gun was fired, the sun sank behind a cloud, a new moon hung low in the winter sky, the anchor dropped in Portsmouth harbor, and the first part of Victoria's last journey came to an end.

In the scenes witnessed Saturday the historic character of the ceremony was emphasized both in the pageantry and in the environment wherein they took place. The body, after it had been borne across London, from Victoria to Paddington station, was taken to Windsor, the historic home of English royalty since the days of the Norman conquest. There, in St. George's chapel, a beautiful structure hung with the escutcheons and banners of her royal ancestors and reminiscent in every stone of some chapter of English history, final services were held and the Queen's body lifted for the last time, was borne thence to the prince consort's mausoleum at Frogmore. Here is the last resting place of England's Queen. Under the massive granite sarcophagus, upon the right of which rests the recumbent marble statue of the prince consort, she was laid at rest as she had commanded thirty-eight years ago. The tablet above the vestibule to the mausoleum bears the legend inscribed at her own orders in 1862, with the words, "Farewell, beloved! Here at last I will rest with thee; with thee, in Christ, I will rise again."

The remains of the late Queen of Great Britain were laid at rest beside the grave of the prince consort in the beautiful mausoleum which she built for the purpose. The royal tomb is situated within the ground of Frogmore House, which stands in Windsor Park. From the windows of Windsor Castle the Queen had a fine view of the mausoleum and frequently in summer time she used to drive to Frogmore for breakfast or afternoon tea. The grounds in which the mausoleum stands are very ornamental and many of the trees were planted by the Queen's hands.

The mausoleum erected by Queen Victoria for her own remains and those of the prince consort is beautiful and cost $1,000,000. The interior is filled with handsome Italian carvings, heroic statues, colored marbles, bronze ornamentation and mosaics, all in medieval fashion. Years of loving supervision were spent by the Queen in elaborating the details. The sarcophagus of the prince is richly carved. On the marble slab containing the remains a marble effigy of the prince reposes. By its side there will be placed an effigy of the Queen.

At the head of the granite steps are two bronze figures of angels guarding the door, and near the portal is a fresco of Christ breaking from the tomb. The crucifixion and the adoration are also the subjects of fine frescoes. Among the statues are those of David, Solomon, Daniel and Isaiah. There is a blue and gold cupola, and the windows are of stained glass.

BURIAL OF A QUEEN

GRIEF AMID POMP.

Spectacle One of Combined Magnificence and Humility.

Royalty Pays Final Homage to the Dead Sovereign—Victoria's Journey to Earth from Whence She Came and Over Which She Ruled—Most Impressive Pageant in World's History—Guns Thunder Their Grief in Sonorous Salute.

The scenes of solemn pomp which were inaugurated at Cowes Friday and which were brought to a close Saturday with the solemn services at Windsor are probably unparalleled in the history of funeral pageantry. All England apparently rested hushed and thrilled in the mournful consciousness that it was to say a final farewell to its queen, and the world at large could not but be impressed by the remarkable ceremonial in which national grief displayed itself. It would seem, from the fact of her expressed wish for a military funeral, that Queen Victoria desired that in the rites nothing should be omitted to emphasize the dignity of queenhood. Victoria the woman, the "mother of her people," was assured of the sincere mourning of all classes. The recent ceremonies were those due the monarch and the wearer of the crown. The file of warships between which the vessel bearing the Queen's coffin passed—in itself a visible evidence of the strength of the nation—the wail of bands and the thunder of guns and the great military cortege which awaited the body at London—all the features of the ceremonial were suggestive in some way of the regal traditions of a monarchy which traces its origin back to the days of the crusading kings.

Journey from Cowes.

The first portion of the journey of Victoria to the earth whence she came and over so large a portion of which she ruled was completed Friday. Through winding lanes of almost summer verdure, through floating walls of steel—bulwarks of the mourning nation—her body was borne; on land by a gun carriage, on water by a royal yacht.

As the cannon wended its slow way from Osborne House the afternoon sun shone brightly on the jewels in the crown and scepter placed on the oaken coffin containing the body of the dead sovereign. Over the royal standard covering the casket was draped the ermine coronation gown donned by the youthful ruler so many years before.

Behind the cortege came Kings, Emperors and princes, walking humbly between the black clad lines of sorrowing islanders. All the colors of a dozen royal courts were massed in the uniforms of the rulers of a half dozen nations and their trains. The sunlight gleamed from the hilts of jeweled swords and gemmed decorations.

When the journey through the cedar-hedged path was ended there followed a sight notable and impressive. It was the transit of the funeral yacht across the waters between walls of warrior steel.

Guns Thunder Grief.

Battleship after battleship thundered its grief, band after band wailed its dirge, and crew after crew bowed low their heads as the pigmy yacht swept past. It bore no passengers save an admiral on the bridge and four red-coated guards at the corners of the simple, gleaming white bier resting amidships.

It was a picture that neither a painter's brush nor an orator's eloquence could depict. There swept in advance eight venomous, black torpedo boats, crawling so slowly that the water was scarcely rippled. Then came the solitary royal yacht bearing apparently no living thing. Admiral Fullerton, in a cocked hat, was a motionless silhouette, the four figures at the corners of the coffin seemed to be of stone. The boat slowly glided on in the mellow light of the afternoon sun, itself almost golden in hue, sharply contrasting with the black warships, while the nearest shore seen between the warships was itself deeply fringed with mourning by the presence of myriads of human beings.

The Alberta emerged from the smoke-crowned steel lane, the last gun was fired, the sun sank behind a cloud, a new moon hung low in the winter sky, the anchor dropped in Portsmouth harbor, and the first part of Victoria's last journey came to an end.

Somehow the pomp and parade was not incongruous and one felt that it was all a great and majestic tribute to a reign which was an era and to a sovereign to whom the world has paid its highest honors.

WILCOX IS ASSAILED.

Hawaiian Delegate Is Styled Bigamist and Traitor.

Quite a sensation was created in the congressional committee on privileges and elections Friday by a committee of Hawaiians, who charged Robert W. Wilcox, the Hawaiian delegate in Congress, with treason, and submitted several letters by him showing that he has been giving aid and sympathy to Aguinaldo and his insurgents in the Philippine Islands. The following are sample extracts:

"I am already made up my mind," he says, "to join with you in your country against the Americans." "Between Gen. Aguinaldo's determination and myself it would be very little chances left to the invaded army of the United States to conquer your country." "Tell Gen. Aguinaldo I am already given my services for your country." "I am thinking to go to the Philippine Islands and give my assistance to Aguinaldo against the invaders and hypocrited yankees, the carpet bagged politician Otis." "It is my duty to fight against them and support the independence of the Filipinos." "In fighting and destroying the United States influence in the East I would have glory and honor and my work would be appreciated by the Filipinos, by the Chinese and Japanese and Arabs. It is my great folly to lose all these chances."

It was also asserted that Wilcox was found guilty of treason against Hawaii in 1895 and sentenced to death, but the penalty was commuted to the payment of a fine and imprisonment. Charges have already been made against Wilcox for bigamy. His first wife, an Italian princess, claims that there has never been a legal separation.

Congress.

In the Senate on Tuesday Senator Frye gave notice he intended to keep shipping bill to the front, even as against appropriation bills, not yielding to them without vote of Senate. This indicated disposition on part of Senate leaders to force to early issue question whether shipping bill is going to pass at this session. Mr. Turner spoke in severe arraignment of bill, declaring it to be "lawless, piratical raid upon the Treasury" in interest of few private beneficiaries and committing government to expenditures aggregating $270,000,000. Committee amendments were informally agreed to. Indian appropriation bill was passed early in day. The House spent day upon agricultural appropriation bill. Mr. Corliss (Mich.) made vicious onslaught upon bureau of animal industry of Agricultural Department, but his attack raised host of defenders, and his amendment to reduce appropriation for bureau was overwhelmingly defeated. All that portion of bill relating to reorganization of scientific bureaus of Agricultural Department went out on point of order raised by Mr. Mahon (Pa.)

Wednesday the Senate spent in debate on the shipping bill after an unsuccessful attempt to secure an agreement to the conference report on the army reorganization bill. The House passed the agricultural appropriation bill.

On Thursday the Senate, by a vote of 33 to 25, agreed to the conference report on the army reorganization bill. The shipping bill was discussed during the latter part of the day, and some progress was made on amendments. A speech by Mr. Rawlins of Utah against the bill was in progress at the close of the day. The House passed the fortifications appropriation bill and made fair progress with the postoffice appropriation bill. During the general debate upon the former bill Mr. Lanham of Texas delivered a notable speech upon the future of the Democratic party, making a strong plea for the necessity of united Democracy and counseled the burial of the hatchet and the welcoming back of those who in the last two presidential campaigns have declined to support the nominees of the party. Many amendments were offered to the postoffice appropriation bill in the interest of various claims of postoffice employees, but they all went down before points of order raised by Mr. Loud, the chairman of the postoffice committee, who was in charge of the bill.

The Senate spent Friday considering the shipping bill. The House passed an omnibus bill carrying 191 claims for stores and supplies taken by the Union army during the rebellion. The claims were passed on by the court of claims and aggregated $344,480. Practically all the beneficiaries reside in the South. Considerable opposition to the bill was displayed under the leadership of Mr. Cannon, the chairman of the appropriations committee, but it flattened out later and the bill finally was passed without division. The bill to amend the Chinese exclusion act, with a view to preventing the fraudulent entry of Chinese into the United States, was passed.

The Senate met at 11 o'clock Saturday and with the exception of an hour and a half at the beginning of the session devoted the entire day to the discussion of the ship subsidy bill. Mr. Turner and Mr. Mallory were the speakers in behalf of the opposition. Mr. Turner's speech was based largely upon exceptions which he had taken to Mr. Frye's criticisms of his former speech. Mr. Mallory opposed the bill on constitutional grounds. Passed bill authorizing the construction of a public building at Hammond, Ind., to cost $125,000. The House spent the day until 3 o'clock in the consideration of the postoffice appropriation bill. The struggle over, the question of restoring the appropriation for pneumatic tube service and of the reduction of railway mail pay were precipitated by amendments offered, but no action was taken. At 3 o'clock public business was suspended to permit the members to pay tribute to the late Senator Davis of Minnesota.

The ship subsidy bill was laid aside informally by the Senate on Monday to permit consideration of the appropriation bills. The shipping bill holds its place, and as unfinished business can be taken up when the appropriation bills are not occupying attention. The greater part of Monday was given to a speech by Mr. Bacon of Georgia on the right of the Senate to demand information on file in the executive departments. He took the position that the departments are the creatures of Congress, and that departmental denial of any demand for papers on file was preposterous, contending that for a hundred years there had been practically no refusal to recognize this right. Secretary Long's letter regarding Santiago naval rewards caused a discussion in which Senators upheld their course in this matter. The House passed the Senate bill to create a commission to adjudicate the claims of United States citizens against Spain which the government of the United States assumed by the treaty of Paris, after having amended the bill so as to refer the claims to the court of claims instead of to a commission. A strong effort was made to vote down the amendment and pass the Senate bill, but the advocates of this course were defeated by a majority of 35. A bill was passed without debate to extend the charters of national banks for another period of twenty years after 1902, when the present extension expires. Bills to ratify the agreement with the Crow Indians of Montana and to provide for the redemption of Hawaiian coin at par were defeated. About an hour was spent on the postoffice appropriation bill in the discussion of the amendment to reduce the railway mail pay, but no action was taken.

TEXAS STREAM OF OIL

SURPASSES EVERYTHING IN PETROLEUM HISTORY.

A Great Lake of Precious Fluid Surrounds the Well—The State Is Oil Crazy—Thousands of Dollars Ready for Investment.

Excitement is still intense throughout the State of Texas over the remarkable discovery of oil at Beaumont, which is eighty miles east of Houston. This is certainly the most wonderful discovery in the history of the petroleum industry and it is not surprising that the State has gone oil mad and that everyone with money to invest wants to buy a derrick and set drillers at work. Competent judges have estimated this flow to be anywhere from 16,000 to 40,000 feet per day; the largest flow ever known before was 6,000 feet, the product of a West Virginia well. The stream of petroleum that gushes forth from the bowels of the earth rises to a height of 120 feet. At its base it is six inches in diameter; at its apex it is as many feet.

Lake of Petroleum.
About the well is a great lake of petroleum, the output of the well since it was "brought in." No way to control the great flow has yet been found, and the petroleum falls into the lake, which has been constructed about it, by running a plow through the ground and then throwing up a levee. The first lake was too small, and another twice the size of the first was built, and this, too, will be too small also in a short time. Men are now working night and day building iron tanks to hold the oil, and as soon as a few of them are finished they will be hurried to Beaumont and work pushed on others.

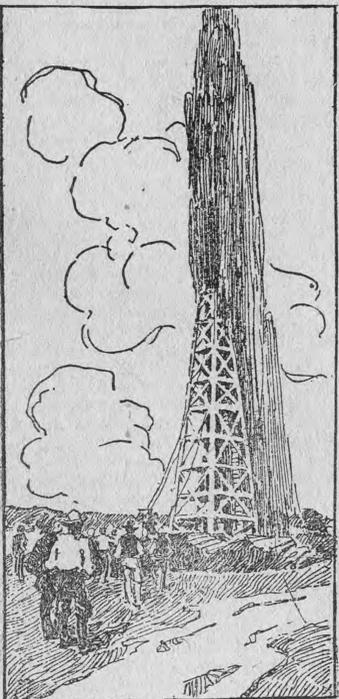

The man who dug the well is Capt. A. W. Lucas, who for more than two years has been experimenting about Beaumont in an endeavor to locate the stream, which he was certain existed in that vicinity. Others before him had been convinced that there was an immense deposit of oil, but they lacked the pluck

PROPOSED ROUTE OF THE NICARAGUA CANAL.

The report of the Isthmian Canal Commission recommends that the canal be built from Brito, on the Pacific coast, to Lake Nicaragua, a distance of 17.76 miles. The canal line then crosses the lake, a distance of 71.34 miles. Leaving the lake, the canal adopts the San Juan river as its course for 56.96 miles, to Ochoa, three miles above the mouth of the San Carlos river. From there the canal proper will be built to the Atlantic ocean, a distance of 43.98 miles. Lake Nicaragua is about 100 feet above sea level, and there will be four locks between Brito and the lake and six between Ochoa and the Atlantic.

or the capital to find it. Lucas kept steadily at work. He had ample capital behind him; men who trusted to his experience, and who had as great faith in his judgment as he had himself. After boring a number of holes, which produced a little oil and a considerable amount of salt water, he finally struck the exact spot, and when his drill pipe had gone down some 600 feet he struck oil. That is a slang phrase that is familiar to everyone of the present generation. "Struck oil!" It sounds rich and expresses riches. Capt. Lucas struck oil with a vengeance; he struck more oil than was deemed possible, even by himself. When the flow began he estimated it at probably 5,000 barrels a day, and that would have meant great wealth to the owners of the well. But 20,000 barrels means more than four times the wealth, for the labor to get the oil is just the same outside of the cost of the tanks necessary to hold it.

The gas pressure in the well is tremendous. While there is no way of accurately measuring it, it is estimated that it is fully 500 pounds to the square inch.

RODERMUND IN CUSTODY.

The Appleton Doctor Arrested by the Police of Milwaukee.

Dr. M. J. Rodermund, of Appleton, Wis., physician who, it is claimed, deliberately exposed himself to smallpox and later escaped from quarantine and went to Terre Haute, Ind., was arrested in Milwaukee Tuesday night. His identity was discovered and with all possible haste the officers hurried him to the isolation hospital of that city. State authorities throughout Illinois and Indiana had for several days been scouring the country in search of Dr. Rodermund. After escaping quarantine in Appleton and making the sensational statement that "smallpox is but a superstition" he traveled to Terre Haute, Ind., where he was recognized. Rodermund said: "I went directly to Chicago and from there to Terre Haute, Ind. After staying there until the Appleton people could no longer interfere with me I returned. I am going back to Appleton, where I shall at once begin suit for $50,000 against that city for false imprisonment. Smallpox is not contagious, and I shall prove it in court before I get through."

Secretary of State Hay has sent instructions to Minister Conger relative to the policy he shall pursue in the settlement of all the features of the Chinese questions. This was the result of a cabinet meeting.

Mr. Conger is to urge his colleagues not to attempt to compel China to do the impossible in the matter of the execution of high Chinese officials; with respect to indemnity, he will endeavor to reach an agreement with his colleagues as to the amount to be demanded, to decide upon its distribution and in case of failure of agreement to have the question of distribution referred to The Hague court. ## RECORD OF THE WEEK

INDIANA INCIDENTS TERSELY TOLD.

Tale of Double Life Bared—Fatal Result of Quarrel Over a Girl—Fire Destroys Opera House at Peru—Coin Is Not Found.

The recent reunion of the Sipe family in Kokomo brought to light a romantic story of double life. In 1865 S. T. Montgomery, who married into the Sipe family, was editor of the Kokomo Tribune. In 1870 he went to Mishawaka and published the Mishawaka Enterprise. Soon afterward he was reported to have been burned to death in the fire which destroyed the Studebaker wagon works. Mrs. Montgomery returned to Kokomo. Five years later William Montgomery, the oldest of the children, found his father at La Grange, Ohio, where he had married again and was serving as Mayor of the village under the name of "Maj. Wright S. Clarke." Young Montgomery did not disclose his discovery to his mother. Mrs. Montgomery died several years later without knowing that her husband was alive. Ten years later young Montgomery met "Maj. Clarke" at Manistique, Mich., where "Clarke" was publishing the Manistique Pioneer. This time he introduced himself and the father acknowledged his identity, but the secret went no further. Young Montgomery obtained control of the Manistique Sun, a rival publication, and ran it in opposition to his father's paper, a bitter newspaper war being kept up for years. Eight years ago the son moved his paper to Republic, where he was burned to death in trying to rescue his family. "Maj. Clarke" died at Manistique a short time ago. He was a Mexican and Civil War veteran.

Slain with a Knife.

Lee Walker, a farmer 20 years old, stabbed to death Edward Brown, a lifelong friend, at a church in Point township. The young men had for several months past sought the company of the same young lady. Walker took her to prayer meeting on a recent night, and after the meeting Brown met them on the outside. A few words followed and Walker drew a barlow knife and began cutting Brown. "Don't kill me," he cried, as he fell at the feet of the young woman. After he fell Walker stabbed him several times. He then walked up to the girl and wiped the knife on her apron with this remark: "I guess you are now satisfied. You chose him in preference to me." Walker escaped.

Opera House Is Destroyed.

The Miller opera house in Peru was destroyed by fire, together with its contents. The plant of the Daily Chronicle, the job printing plant of Miller & Wallick, the confectionery store of Charles Griswold and the farming implements store of D. E. Inkenbury were also damaged. The loss on the opera house is $20,000, covered by insurance; loss on Daily Chronicle plant, $2,500, and to Miller & Wallick, $2,000, both insured. A defective light in the dressing room of the theater caused the fire.

Operation Without Results.

Surgeons cut into the trachea of the little son of William Purdy of Pawpaw township, to remove the gold coin which the boy swallowed six months ago, and which with the aid of the X-ray, was found lodged in the trachea. The surgeons failed to discover the coin where it had been located. They say the gold piece must have slipped down into the bronchial tube and that another operation will be necessary to save the boy's life.

INDIANA LAWMAKERS

In the Senate on Tuesday the Lieutenant Governor held that the resolution offered by Senator Stillwell instructing the Governor to recognize requisition for Taylor and Finley, should Gov. Beckham present one, was out of order. Senator Stillwell appealed, but the Senate sustained its preceding officer by a vote of 28 to 9.

Senator Agnew's bill providing for the construction of a ship canal from Lake Michigan, at East Chicago, to the Calumet River, a distance of about three miles, was passed by the State Senate on Wednesday. The project which the bill authorizes will take $2,000,000 or $3,000,000 and will provide for the entrance of large lake freight steamers into the canal, making the ground along its borders of immense value for the location of factories. The proposed waterway is to be as large as the Chicago drainage canal, and Senator Agnew says there is a great demand in Chicago for good factory warehouse sites, and if the canal project is carried out the result will be that a large number of factories will come into Indiana territory. The Calumet River at Hammond will have to be dredged. The court, under the provisions of the bill, is to appoint a commission of three disinterested persons, who shall make report to the court as to the benefits and damages resulting from the construction of the canal. If the damages exceed the benefits the court may discharge the commission and the work will not have to be carried on, unless by petition. If the canal is constructed, the author of the bill says, the land along its course will be worth $5,000 an acre. At no point along the proposed waterway is the land more than seven feet above the level of the lake, which fact will make the canal easy of construction.

Interest in the Legislature centered mainly Thursday in proposed investigations of State institutions. Senator Inman of the minority offered a resolution for inquiry into the management of the reformatory at Jeffersonville, the reform school at Plainfield and the northern prison at Michigan City. The resolution was tabled by a party vote, but later a resolution to investigate the management of the Jeffersonville reformatory was adopted unanimously. The main charges against the institution are that they are extravagantly managed, and that there are deficits at each. Charges of cruelty to girls at the reform school for girls in Indianapolis led to a resolution authorizing the appointment of a committee to make an investigation and report to the Senate. This committee consists of Senators Agnew, Goodwine, Binkley, Lambert, Corr and Purcell.

The House on Friday passed the bill which provides that a natural gas company failing to supply the amount of gas required by ordinance of the city or town in which it has a franchise, shall give rebates proportioned to the failure. The James bill, requiring every institution in the State to make an itemized report of expenses for 1900 within ten days after the passage of the bill, was also passed; also a bill making the minimum wage on all public works 20 cents an hour. A resolution was introduced declaring that the United States Constitution provides that persons charged with crime shall be extradited; that failure on the part of public officers to do their duty leads to lynching, and that it is the duty of Gov. Durbin to honor a requisition for the return to Kentucky of W. S. Taylor and Charles Finley if Gov. Beckham, requests it. Speaker Artman said he would decide Monday whether or not this resolution is out of order. The Senate passed the anti-lynching bill, which causes the sheriff from whose custody a prisoner is taken and lynched, to vacate his office instantly, and makes his reinstatement dependent upon his ability to satisfy the Governor that he was not at fault. Bills have been prepared for the removal of the blind and deaf and dumb institutions from Indianapolis, and their location at points where ground is less valuable. Both branches appointed committees to investigate the Indiana reformatory at Jeffersonville.

BIG FALL OF SNOW.

WHITE MANTLE IS SPREAD OVER MANY STATES.

Storm Originated in Southern California, and in Some Sections of the Country Was the Worst in Recent Years—Weather No. C 11.

One of the worst snowstorms that has visited Chicago in recent years swept over the city Sunday. Accompanied by high winds, the snow fell for twenty-seven hours without a break, leaving an average depth in the heart of the business district of eleven inches. The storm which gave Chicago its sticky white mantle gave the same treatment to the greater part of the central West. Iowa, Missouri and Illinois were all in the territory where it was exerting its liveliest efforts, but Kansas and Nebraska to the west, and Indiana, Ohio and even New York and Pennsylvania to the east were all affected by it.

It was not snow everywhere, however, which the storm brought. In some places there was rain, while in special localities there were even thunder showers, lively and noisy enough to grace hot days in the summer time.

An imaginary line drawn from St. Louis through Springfield, Ill., and Lafayette, Ind., would have marked in a rough way the separation between the rain and snow territories. To the north and west the temperature was below 32 and snow fell. To the south and east the temperature was higher and there was rain all day and snow in the evening.

Louisville, Ky., is one of the cities which had the peculiar experience of a thunderstorm as a result of a winter blizzard. The thunder and lightning came in the middle of the day. Memphis, Vicksburg, Nashville, Fort Smith, Ark., and Oklahoma City all had thunderstorms in the early morning hours or during the night between Friday and Saturday.

Came from California.

The storm was not like the cold waves and most of the blizzards which come developed in the far Northwest, the Medicine Hat region. It came instead from the southern California coast. Chicago was right in the center of the region of heavy snowfall. Davenport, Iowa, reported nine inches of snow, but towns as far away even as Milwaukee had not more than four inches, while that figure was about the average in the outlying regions of the storm.

The average range of temperature was from 20 to 30 degrees in the snow regions. At Milwaukee it was 28 degrees. Further north, however, the cold was intense. A peculiar circumstance was that whereas the country just north of the United States border had weather 20 and 30 degrees below zero the country farther north, as, for instance, near Edmonton, saw the mercury rise up to 12 and 15 degrees above zero.

of Johannes II., Emperor of Ethiopia. The political institutions of the country are essentially feudal and resemble those of Europe in the medieval ages. The empire is divided into the kingdoms of Tigre, Amhara, Shoa, with outlying provinces. The area is about 150,000 square miles, and the population about 3,500,000. The regular army consists of 150,000 men, and is supplemented by militia and a territorial organization. The troops are armed with modern rifles, Maxim guns, and are stationed in garrisons over the country.

Recent experiments show that all classes of foods may be completely digested by a preparation called Kodel Dyspepsia Cure, which absolutely digests what you eat. As it is the only combination of all the natural digestants ever devised, the demand for it has become enormous. It has never failed to cure the worst cases of indigestion and it always gives instant relief. T. E. Slattery.

We understand that the common council of Culver contemplate taking on trial four or five gasolene lamps for the purpose of lighting the streets. It is said by those familiar with the lamps that they are daisies, each lamp having 1,000 candle power. This is one of the greatest necessities, and will be a most laudable mark of progression of the 20th century.

The Maxinkuckee Ice Company, which has been gathering this year's crop of ice, closed their harvest yesterday with three houses not quite filled. There has been so much snow on the ice since the last heavy snowfall that the removal of it makes the cost of putting up the ice more than the price at which it would be sold will warrant. Later, since the above was put in type, the company has concluded to put up more ice, and will probably fill one or two more houses.

During the coming summer it should be the aim of every citizen of Culver to appoint himself as a committee of one to help keep the streets clean from filth and the sides of the streets clear of weeds and other obnoxious rubbish which are distasteful to the thousands of visitors who come to our beautiful village every season. "Cleanliness is next to Godliness," and if everyone does his part how nice and beautiful the town can be kept, and how loud will be the praise of those from abroad. Bear this in mind and act accordingly.

As we have said repeatedly before, the enterprising citizens of Culver should organize an association whose sole aim is to push this city to the front as one of the most desirable points for manufacturing industries. If it were possible to secure an industry that would give employment to one or two hundred men the year round, it would be a great financial boom for Culver, and also be the means of calling the attention of other concerns seeking a location. Valparaiso is about to have established within its corporation a tremendous canning factory, simply because its business men were wide awake and proved to the company that Valparaiso was a most desirable location for such an enterprise. Such an institution could find no better location than Culver. There is no better adapted land in the state for furnishing material for canning purposes. Up and doing something for your town should be the motto instead of imitating Rip Van Winkle, by sleeping your time away.

This disease always results from a cold or an attack of the grip and may be prevented by the timely use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. That remedy was extensively used during the epidemics of La Grippe of the past few years, and not a single case has ever been reported that did not recover of that resulted in pneumonia, which shows it to be a certain preventive of that dangerous disease. ## LINCOLN.

The hour was on us; where the man?
The fateful sands unflinching ran,
And up the way of tears
He came into the years.

Our pastoral captain. Forth he came
As one that answers to his name;
Nor dreamed how high his charge,
His work how fair and large—

To set the stones back in the wall
Least the divided house should fall,
And peace from men depart,
Hope and the childlike heart.

We looked on him; "This he," we said,
"Come crownless and unheralded,
The shepherd who will keep
The flocks, will fold the sheep."

Unknightly, yes; yet 'twas the miz
Presaging the immortal scene,
Some battle of his wars
Who sealeth up the stars.

Not he would take the past between
His hands, wipe valor's tablets clean,
Commanding greatness wait
Till he stand at the gate;

Not he would cramp to one small head
The awful laurels of the dead,
Time's mighty vintage cup,
And drink all honor up.

No flutter of the banners bold
Borne by the lusty sons of old,
The haughty conquerors
Set forward to their wage;

Not his their blare, their pageantries,
Their goal, their glory was not his;
Humbly he came to keep
The flocks, to fold the sheep.

The need comes not without the man;
The present hours unceasing ran,
And up the way of tears
He came into the years,

Our pastoral captain, skilled to crook
The spear into the pruning hook,
The simple, kindly man,
Lincoln, American.

LOTTIE'S INVESTMENT

Lottie wished so much to do something to help the little boy across the way who had been ill all the winter. As soon as she was able to sit up he had been put in a large chair with pillows all around him and drawn up in front of the window. Lottie did not know this little boy; that is one of the ways of city life, not to know one's neighbors—a very hard way, too, for strangers, who miss the old friends of the old home, and long for words of sympathy and a friendly call now and then. The sight of the boy's thin, pale face touched Lottie's loving heart. When the snow was on the ground she got her young friends to help her build a snow man where the little fellow could look at their work from his window. There were some very cold days when Lottie's mother would not let her play out-of-doors; then she would hold her pet pigeon up to the glass where the little boy could see it. She wished many times she knew that little boy and her mamma knew his mamma; she would like to lend him her picture books.

Lottie had some money given her for valentines. She was a great favorite with her young friends, and she thought to divide that money into sums that would buy a valentine for six of her dearest friends. "It was such lovely fun to send valentines," she said, and still more fun to hear those who received them guessing and guessing again who sent them.

The day before Valentine's Day Lottie stood in the store selecting her valentines, and as she looked over them all she was attracted to one which was a handsomer one than she had ever seen in her life. She asked the price, and found that it would take all the money she had in her little purse. Oh, if she were only rich! she thought. A great many people older than Lottie have wished just as she did, when they have seen things they wanted very much and had not enough money to get them.

It would be such a lovely valentine to send to that little boy across the way who had been in the house all winter and lost all the outdoor winter fun. But if she bought it, her other friends would not get any valentines from her. She stood thinking it all over in her mind. "I know this one will make that sick boy very happy," she thought, "and the other girls and boys will have some valentines sent them, I am sure. Besides, they are all well and have lots of fun every day, and they really don't need valentines. That little sick boy does need a large, pretty one to cheer him up, and he does not know me and he will wonder who sent it; it will be lots of fun for him and lots of fun for me. I'll take this one," Lottie said, as she counted out all her money.

She skipped and hopped along the street on her homeward way as happy children often do. But when she reached home she remembered that she did not even know the little boy's name. How should she address it? Somehow where there is a will there is always a way. When she talked the matter over with mamma, she told her to address it in these words: "For the boy who is ill," and take it over after dark the night before St. Valentine's Day, ring the bell, and leave it right on the mat before the door. This Lottie did, running down the steps as fast as she could after pulling the bell.

The next day what was her delight to see the large chair drawn up before the window, the little invalid in it, and in his hands the valentine. He took it out of the envelope and looked at it for a long time; then his mother came and leaned over the back of the chair and looked at it, too. They smiled and talked about it, but of course Lottie could not hear what they said, but she knew by their looks that they were very-much pleased with it. Lottie had made the child very happy.

A few days afterward Lottie saw a carriage standing in front of the house, and soon a gentleman came down the steps with the little boy all wrapped up in furs in his arms. They got in the carriage, and then a lady came down the steps with bags and bundles; she got in, too, and the driver started his horses and off they went out of sight. Then moving wagons came, and men carried out all the furniture. The house was shut up after that, and the sign, "To Rent," was put up on the door.

Lottie never knew the little boy's name, but she speaks of him as her "No name valentine," and hopes some time to meet him somewhere in this great world and get really acquainted with him. She says it will be just like a story book if she does.—The Evangelist.

ABE LINCOLN IN HIS HOME.

One of His First Servants Tells Some Nice Things About Him.

In a modest Chicago cottage lives Mrs. Mary Gaughan, a washerwoman, who is proud of the fact that she was a domestic in the Lincoln household while the martyr President was yet a struggling lawyer at Springfield. Mrs. Gaughan tells some interesting things about Lincoln's home life.

"Mr. Lincoln was very regular in his habits," she says. "He was a great reader and would be generally found at home nights with his books and papers. He used to like music, too, and was very fond of listening to his wife while she played the piano. The family was popular with all classes of people. When the Catholics were trying to raise funds to build their church at Springfield, Mrs. Lincoln baked a cake, which brought $5 at a church fair. She was a famous cook, and would prefer to prepare her own pastry rather than patronize the bakeries.

"Mr. Lincoln was kind to everybody. Just the winter after his election to the Presidency and before his inauguration he used to keep a cow. In the extremely cold weather he used to insist on milking the animal himself, because he did not think I ought to expose myself. His wife, however, used to object to his doing the milking. She was a good woman, too—a smarter woman than he was a man. She would often help me wash, iron or bake, so that I could get off and play with little Tad. He used to love to play blind man's buff, and Mr. Lincoln often shared in the game. We used to tie a handkerchief around his eyes. Many a time while he was playing blind man he would tumble over a chair in order to give Tad an opportunity to escape capture.

Done to Death.

It is a modern notion that fancy work is an invention of the evil one for keeping the foolish from applying their hearts to golf, yet the young ladies of long ago, who held to samplers and mourning pieces of an afternoon with a fervor better imagined than experienced, sometimes had their belief in its utility rudely disturbed.

An anecdote in some reminiscences of Mrs. Anne Jean Lyman, a prominent New England woman and a contemporary of Mrs. Lydia Maria Child, records what may be considered a standing epitaph for fancy work.

When Mrs. Lyman was Miss Robbins, and a very charming young lady, she went to visit some friends of hers in Hingham. A young man, calling on the ladies one day, found them busy embroidering mourning pieces in which tall women in short waists and long skirts stood weeping by a monument. They begged for a motto for their pieces, and instantly got this bit of wit: "In useless labors all their hours are spent.

They murder Time, then work his monument."

PRESIDENT OF PRESIDENTS.

A Distinguished Lady, Indeed, Is Mrs. Mary E. Poole, of Whiting, Ind.

Whiting, Ind., Feb. 4, 1901.—(Special.)—The presidents of the Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic have an association composed exclusively of the presidents of the different State associations. This Presidents' Association chooses a president, and to this very high and distinguished position Mrs. Mary E. Poole of this place has been elected. Mrs. Poole is thoroughly deserving of this great honor. Her devotion to the interests of the association is very marked, and her experience with the old soldiers of the G. A. R. is wide. Mrs. Poole is never slow to take advantage of anything that may benefit the veterans, and her zeal has resulted in much that is good to these grand old men. She writes of her experiences: "Honor to whom honor is due, and having seen the numerous cures effected through the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, I gladly endorse them as being particularly effective to cure that dreaded disease of so many of our old soldiers, Bright's Disease, and Kidney Disorders of different kinds. Kidney Disease soon poisons the entire system, and as a result the vital organs are attacked, and I have found that no remedy so surely, completely and quickly finds the weak spot and heals it as Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I have used them myself in slight attacks of biliousness and indigestion, and usually find that from three to four pills do the work."

Such evidence from a lady of so much distinction and experience should convince any sufferer from Kidney Trouble that Dodd's Kidney Pills is the remedy that never fails. 50c a box, six boxes for $2.50. Buy them from your local druggist if you can. If he can't supply you, send to the Dodds Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Set to Music.

During the reign of Charles II, there lived in England a musician named Wise, who not only lived up to his name, but was witty as well.

One day some one went to him with a petition against an expected prorogation of Parliament.

"Will you set your name to this petition, Dr. Wise, and so help a good cause?" demanded the person who presented the paper.

"No, my friend," said the musician, after glancing over the document, "I prefer not to do so, as it is not my business to meddle with affairs of state; but I tell you what I will do. I'll set a tune to it, if you please."

A Remedy for the Grippe.

Physicians recommend KEMP'S BALSAM as a remedy for patients afflicted with the grip, as it is especially adapted for the throat and lungs. Do not wait for the first symptoms of the disease, but get a bottle to-day and keep it on hand for use the moment it is needed. If neglected the grip has a tendency to bring on pneumonia. KEMP'S BALSAM prevents this by keeping the cough loose and the lungs free from inflammation. All druggists sell KEMP'S BALSAM at 25c and 50c.

A Dublin Flower.

Not long ago, as the Duke and Duchess of Connaught were driving through Dublin, a corpulent man ran alongside their carriage for such a distance that the Duchess stopped it, and asked the man his wishes.

Puffing very little for one who had run so far, the man replied that it had long been his desire to get a good look at their royal highnesses.

"But how did you keep up such a pace?" asked the Duchess.

"Oh, sure, ma'am, haven't I been chasin' pigs all me life?" said he.

A reply which surely indicated that a poor courtier had been spoiled to make a good pig-jobber.

The Power of the Press.

Is a common expression, but few realize its actual power. Great as is the influence of the press, it cannot begin to equal the power of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters over disease. The Bitters strengthens the stomach, purifies the blood, and cures dyspepsia, indigestion and constipation. It will tone up the nerves, stimulate inactive kidneys, and as an appetizer, it is unequalled. If you want to get well, and keep well, use Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

More Honors for an Old Academy Boy.

From the Cleveland Leader, Press, and World, we note with pleasure that a former cadet of the Culver Military Academy, Walter H. Cook, now living in Cleveland, is following up the good standing he held at Culver. With a most excellent standing in his studies in the West Side High School in Cleveland, he won the honors on his senior oration and followed up this victory by quizzing down all members of the Dorian Literary Society three times in succession on parliamentary rules and usages. He was then elected chief of the Dorian Debating Team and in a hard fought contest with the Philomatheon Debating Team of Central High School lead his team to a notable victory. The question under discussion was: "Resolved, that colonization is advantageous to the mother country." Cook's team having the negative. The contest was one of the most spirited and able ever held in the Interscholastic League and in awarding the decision Judge Hoggsit, chairman of the committee of judges, pronounced the highest kind of compliment upon the speakers, especially on the winning team.

Since winning his last honors as a speaker and orator, Walter Cook has been elected president of the Dorian Literary Society, one of the oldest and most noted of Cleveland's literary societies. He was installed with appropriate ceremonies on last Friday evening and the Cleveland papers mention the installation as a most delightful honor was his unanimous re-election as chief of the Dorian debating team for the occasion of the third debate in the interscholastic league. The subject of debate will be, "Resolved that it would be advantageous to both countries concerned if Canada were annexed to the United States." The negative of the question has again fallen to the Dorian team and the boys are now hard at work on the subject. Success to the Dorians.

It's an unrivaled life-saver in consumption, Pneumonia, La Grippe and Bronchitis; infallible for coughs, colds, asthma, hay fever, croup or whooping cough. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00. Danger of Colds and La Grippe.

The greatest danger from colds and la grippe is their resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for these diseases we have yet to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia, which shows conclusively that it is a certain preventative of that dangerous malady. It will cure a cold or an attack of the la grippe in less time than any other treatment. It is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by T. E. Slattery.

It is needless to say that the animal is well "broke" and bids fair to go down the pike at a 2:10 clip.

How to Cure the Grip.

Remain quietly at home and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as directed and a quick recovery is sure to follow. That remedy counteracts any tendency of the grip to result in pneumonia, which is really the only serious danger. Among the tens of thousands who have used it for the grip not one case has ever been reported that did not recover. For sale by T. E. Slattery.

A Deplorable Accident.

Our city marshal, Henry Overman, met with a painful accident Wednesday morning which will undoubtedly compel him to remain indoors for several weeks, and probably unfit him for manual labor for several months. He was working in one of the ice-houses, for the Maxinkuckee Ice Company, when one of his legs was caught between two cakes of ice, and the fibula bone completely fractured just above the ankle and the leg badly bruised. Doctors Hollister and Wiseman were called, who reduced the fracture and Henry is resting as well as can be expected.

Resolved that "Luther's discovery was greater than that of Columbus."

THE DUTY OF MOTHERS.

What suffering frequently results from a mother's ignorance; or more frequently from a mother's neglect to properly instruct her daughter!

Tradition says "woman must suffer," and young women are so taught. There is a little truth and a great deal of exaggeration in this. If a young woman suffers severely she needs treatment, and her mother should see that she gets it.

Many mothers hesitate to take their daughters to a physician for examination; but no mother need hesitate to write freely about her daughter or herself to Mrs. Pinkham and secure the most efficient advice without charge. Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass.

Mrs. August Pfalzgraf, of South Byron, Wis., mother of the young lady whose portrait we here publish, wrote Mrs. Pinkham in January, 1899, saying her daughter had suffered for two years with irregular menstruation—had headache all the time, and pain in her side, feet swell, and was generally miserable. Mrs. Pinkham promptly replied with advice, and under date of March, 1899, the mother writes again that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured her daughter of all pains and irregularity.

Nothing in the world equals Mrs. Pinkham's great medicine for regulating woman's peculiar monthly troubles.

"Yes," announced the wild-eyed man, "I have invented a perpetual motion machine, which is running constantly."
"What makes it run?" inquired the capitalist.

"There's the trouble. I can't stop the fool thing so as to find out."—Baltimore American.

Career and Character of Abraham Lincoln.

An address by Joseph Choate, Ambassador to Great Britain, on the career and character of Abraham Lincoln—his early life—his early struggles with the world—his character as developed in the later years of his life and his administration, which placed his name so high on the world's roll of honor and fame, has been published by the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway and may be had by sending six (6) cents in postage to F. A. Miller, General Passenger Agent, Chicago, Ill.

Cobwigger—That's so, my dear! And when women turn to look after her it shows that she has a pretty dress.—Puck.

Brought to Reason.

He was out walking with a young lady who had a decided antipathy to cigarettes, but not being aware of her prejudice he lighted one of the little rolls and began smoking with great gusto, inhaling the fumes deep into his lungs and then blowing great rings up at the moon, which gazes tranquilly down on his folly.

Offended by his presumption, she said with dangerous urbanity:

"Do you know I can read fortunes in cigarette smoke?"

"Indeed!" exclaimed the unsuspecting youth. Perhaps you'll condescend to read mine."

"Oh, certainly, if you wish it."

Then she gazed up in the air at the delicate blue wreaths of smoke. She hesitated, evidently puzzled about something.

"I am undecided which of two things is to befall you," she admitted; "your fortune is not so easily read as I fancied it would be."

"What are the two things?"

"Why, I can't determine whether you are marked out for lung disease or lunacy," was the answer. "Cigarettes have such diverse effects on people of your temperament."

A moment later the cigarette lay glimmering in the gutter and the fortune teller was listening to her escort's embarrassed apologies.—The Memphis Scimitar.

Chronic Nasal Catarrh poisons every breath that is drawn into the lungs. There is procurable from any druggist the remedy for its cure. A small quantity of Ely's Cream Balm placed into the nostrils spreads over an inflamed and angry surface, relieves immediately the painful inflammation, cleanses, heals and cures. Drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and snuffs simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, use Ely's Cream Balm. It is reliable and will cure catarrh, cold in the head and hay fever easily and pleasantly. All druggists sell it at 50 cents or it will be mailed by Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N. Y.

Quiet Neighbors.
Mrs. Gable—I hear your husband's been made superintendent of a cemetery and that you'll have to live there.

Mrs. Short—Well?
Mrs. Gable—Well, I was thinking the neighborhood would be rather ghostly and creepy.

Mrs. Short—No doubt, but it has one good point. The neighborhood won't be prying into our affairs.—Philadelphia Press.

Coughing Leads to Consumption.
Kemp's Balsam will stop the cough at once. Go to your druggist to-day and get a sample bottle free. Sold in 25 and 50-cent bottles. Go at once; delays are dangerous.

The shortest and surest way to live with honor in the world is to be in reality what we would appear to be; and if we observe, we shall find that all human virtues increase and strengthen themselves by the practice and experience of them.—Socrates.

Ice Mine in Pine Woods.

The strangest icemaking plant known has been provided by nature for the town of Flagstaff, Ariz. During the past summer a large part of the town's ice supply was secured from caves in the pine woods, nine miles to the southward. The caves are in lava formation, the geological capping of the entire country. Entering to the main cavern through a narrow slit in the malapal rock necessitates a vertical drop of ten feet to the floor of the passage that runs farther in till blocked by ice barriers. The temperature in the cave, even in the height of summer, is about the freezing point. Many visitors have been prostrated by the cold after making too long a stay.

The ice, which is as hard as ice can be, fills every nook and cranny beyond the short, black hallway that leads inward from the entrance. When dug away in whatever quantity it seems to grow again from behind in the manner of the creep of glaciers. The depth or size of the deposit is not known. It is even believed that there is an underground ice lake of immense dimensions. How the deposit was formed is a puzzle that has not been solved by geologists or ice miners. The region is almost destitute of surface or well water and the mean temperatures are far above the thermometric figure that would appear to render such a deposit possible. But the ice is there and the product of the unique mine has been sold daily in Flagstaff.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly falling to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

EPIDEMIC OF GRIP WORST EVER KNOWN

GRIP BACILLUS EVERYWHERE—IN THE AIR WE BREATHE, IN THE WATER WE DRINK, IN THE FOOD WE EAT.

Magnified 16,000 times.

Hundreds of carloads of Peruna are shipped in all directions to meet the extraordinary demands of the grip epidemic.

Everybody laying in a stock of this valuable remedy in time to meet the terrible enemy, the Grip.

The extensive facilities of the manufacturers taxed to their utmost to meet the urgent demand for Peruna.

Almost everybody has the grip. Almost everybody must have Peruna.

Taken at the appearance of the first symptoms of the grip, not only is Peruna a prompt cure for the grip but it prevents those disastrous after effects so characteristic of this dread disease.

Peruna not only cures the grip, but prevents it. Taken in time thousands of lives will be saved in this present epidemic.

Every family should take the precaution to secure a supply of Peruna at once, for the retail and wholesale stock of the remedy may be exhausted by the enormous demand for it.

It is wisdom to have Peruna in the house even before the grip attacks the household.

It has been ascertained by a reporter that the following people of national reputation have given public indorsement and testimonials to Peruna as a remedy for la grippe:

Congressman Howard of Alabama says: "I have taken Peruna for the grip and recommend it as an excellent remedy to all fellow-sufferers."

Congressman White of North Carolina says: "I find Peruna to be an excellent remedy for the grip. I have used it in my family and they all join me in recommending it."

Miss Frances M. Anderson of Washington, D. C., daughter of Judge Anderson of Virginia, says: "I was taken very ill with the grip. I took Peruna and was able to leave my bed in a week."

Mrs. Harriette A. S. Marsh, President of the Woman's Benevolent Association of Chicago, writes: "I suffered with grip seven weeks. Nothing helped me. Tried Peruna and within three weeks I was fully restored. Shall never be without it again."

At the appearance of the first symptoms of grip people should stay indoors and take Peruna in small doses (teaspoonful every hour) until the symptoms disappear. This will prevent a long, disastrous sickness and perhaps fatal results.
