NEGRO LYNCHED

At Terre Haute for Brutally
Murdering a White Girl.

His Body Incinerated After the Lynching, in the Presence of Five Thousand People.

Tuesday afternoon, a negro assaulted, robbed and murdered a young white lady near Terre Haute. She was a school teacher, and was returning from her school to her boarding place, when she was approached by the colored man who demanded her money. She gave him her purse, containing three dollars, and then started to run, when he shot her and threw her down. She made a desperate fight for her virtue, when the fiend drew a knife and cut her throat from ear to ear. The fiend then left her and took the street cars down town. In the meantime the poor girl, who was the only support of a widowed mother and five or six small brothers and sisters, dragged herself to her boarding house, where she fell fainting from loss of blood, and in spite of skillful medical aid expired, but not until she had given an accurate description of her brutal assailant. When the news of her death became known in Terre Haute, the wildest excitement prevailed, which terminated by a mob gathering at the jail, where the negro was confined, battering down the doors to his cell, and with a rope around his neck dragging him to a bridge where he was hung, after which his body was burnt to ashes by the infuriated people. Now the HERALD opposes mob law, and thinks this fiend received what he deserved, but can point to many cases where white men have been just as brutal that were not lynched either. If mobs are going to mete out justice, let there be no distinction simply because one fiend is black and the other white. One is just as bad as the other and both should meet the same fate. We understand that Irving Swigart of this place saw the mob accomplish its awful work.

The editor of this paper received from Terre Haute, Wednesday, a souvenir in the shape of a piece of rope below which dangled the body of this fiend in human form.

BIG SHIP GOES DOWN

Pacific Mail Steamer Rio de Janeiro Is Lost.

STRIKES MILE ROCK.

Disaster Occurs Just Outside the Entrance to San Francisco Bay.

While Trying to Make San Francisco in a Fog the Vessel Goes to the Bottom—Effort to Get the Small Boats Ready Proves of Little Avail—Consul General Wildman and Family Among the Lost—Panic of Passengers Adds to Horror.

The most terrible steamship disaster that the Pacific coast has ever known occurred a few miles from San Francisco Friday morning at daybreak, when the Pacific Mail steamer City of Rio de Janeiro ran on a hidden rock just outside the Golden Gate, as she was attempting to make the entrance to San Francisco bay. Within ten minutes she was a total wreck, and some-where in the kelp that fringes the coast or imprisoned in the cabins of the vessel were more than a hundred bodies of men, women and children, who a few moments before they went down to their death were beginning a new day, happy in the thought that in a few hours at most they would be ashore.

Of the 201 souls on board but seventy-nine were saved. The bodies were washed ashore. Against all the rest of the names on the roster of passengers and crew is placed the word "missing." And with only a part of the vessel's smoke-stack and rigging showing above the sea's surface near treacherous Mile Rock that word has but one meaning.

Rounseville Wildman, United States consul general to Hongkong, his wife and two children were among those who perished in the wreck. The Rio de Janeiro was inbound from Hongkong via Honolulu and was three days overdue. The vessel sailed from Hongkong Jan. 22. Pilot Frederick Jordan, who was at the helm when the ship struck, was washed ashore, bruised and insensible.

The steamer reached the Heads Thursday night, three days overdue from Hongkong. For several miles up and down the coast where she rode waiting for her pilot the fog hung like a blanket, and the Rio lay to. Pilot Jordan picked her up with his schooner, boarded her and then began to maneuver for a good position so that he might draw in line with the lights on Fort Point and the Cliff House when morning came.

At about 4 o'clock the fog lifted and the lights were plainly visible. The Rio was started under a slow bell toward the Gate, but in half an hour ran into another fog bank. She felt her way again, but was making sufficient speed for many passengers to dress and make their way to the deck, where they stood peering out into the darkness and speculating whether they would be eating their breakfast in San Francisco or not.

In Sight of Safety.

Between them and their desire lay Mile Rock, a jagged, sharp spur running out from half-shore to the south of the North Head. This same Mile Rock has been dreaded by mariners ever since vessels began to pass in and out of San Francisco bay. Exactly ten years before an American deep water ship, the Frank Jones, ran on to it, shattered and went down with all hands.

But the Rio's passengers had no thought of grim sea tales like this. A bare mile from harbor, daylight already peeping out of the east and a pilot aboard. What could there be to fear? A moment more, and then a sickening, grinding crash, a stagger and recoil, as if the ship were a living thing.

In the brief space of a few minutes after the vessel struck and before she took the final horrible plunge with her living freight the officers had launched three boats.

The testimony of several of the survivors is in accord about one other thing. Captain Ward made no effort whatever to save himself. He had rushed to the bridge, at the first shock, and there he remained shouting his instructions through a megaphone and straining every nerve to get the women and children off in the boats. At the last moment, as his ship went down, with the waves lapping and then closing over her amidships, he was still standing rigid at his post.

When the ship struck the officers assembled and at once set about notifying all the passengers of the danger. In the steerage forward were fifty-eight Chinese and Japanese passengers, and stewards raced into the bows of the vessel to get them out.

Screaming and crazed with fright, these men swarmed over the decks, mingling with the other passengers, cursing and climbing into the rigging.

GREWSOME FATALITIES HAVE PURSUED PACIFIC MAIL LINERS.

A strange fatality seems to have pursued the Pacific Mail's liners. The City of Rio de Janeiro is only one of twenty steamships of the line which have been wrecked since the incorporation of the company.

The Nicaragua, on her maiden voyage, struck a sunken reef and was lost. The San Pablo, in 1887, wrecked in Formosa Straits and attacked by Chinese pirates, who were finally beaten off. The Japan, burned to the water's edge; 400 Chinese passengers lost.

The Southerner, lost in the early days. The Northerner, a total loss on the rocks off Cape Flattery.

The Golden Gate, in 1872, on the rocks fifteen miles out from Manzanillo, caught fire and went to the bottom; 200 lives lost.

The Golden City, a few months later, stranded on Point San Lazars. All reached land safely.

The America, in the same year, burned in Yokohama harbor; number of crew lost.

The Guatemala, same year, foundered off Yonolobon; fifteen lost.

The Sacramento, lost in December, 1872; fifth of the year.

The Honduras, a few years later, went ashore on San Salvador coast.

The City of San Francisco, in 1877, wrecked on the Central American coast.

The Georgia, in 1878, sank off Contra Costa coast.

The City of Tokio, in 1885, wrecked near Yokohama.

The Granada, in 1888, went on the rocks at Point Ticusan, after leaving Manzanillo; all saved.

The Nicaragua, in 1891, totally wrecked on a hidden reef at Point Romidias; all escaped.

The City of New York, some years later, struck the rocks at Point Bonita, just outside San Francisco harbor and sank.

The Colima, in 1895, wrecked in a hurricane off Manzanillo; nearly all on board lost.

The Columbia, wrecked on her maiden trip; no lives lost.

The Starbuck, wrecked off the coast of Central America.

The Rio de Janeiro concludes this grewsome list of ocean tragedies.

Some threw themselves into the sea and others tried to swarm into the boats. Two of these had been lowered, and, with at least fifty people aboard, stood off just clear of the wreck to aid in the work of rescue.

It was hard to gather the truth about the final scene from so many witnesses whose terror made it impossible for them to know what was transpiring.

Acts of heroism and of cowardice, scenes of wildest grief and confusion, wild struggles of men and women and brave and calm, though futile, efforts of the stronger minded to allay fears and save life were blended in the awful fit-

WHERE THE RIO DE JANEIRO SANK.

teen minutes it took the Rio de Janeiro to be swallowed in the lashing sea. Most of the boats that were lowered were stove in and the occupants drowned. Most of the survivors came ashore with life preservers or on rafts of furniture and wreckage.

Unaccountable carelessness and a deliberate disregard of warnings are at the bottom of the disaster, according to a story told by the pilot who boarded the steamer twelve hours before she foundered, and who claims that he protested to the captain that his action in running ahead in a dense fog was foolhardy. Captain William Ward, commander of the vessel, will never be able to defend himself against this charge, for he went down with the Rio.

Three fisher boats hugging the coast and spinning along with their morning catch for the city markets swept by between the wreck and the shore. The Italians aboard worked hard to save some lives from the gulf in which the Rio had plunged, but it was impossible to do anything, and so they turned homeward to take the news to the docks.

Help Came Too Late.

Half an hour later steamboats of all kinds were pounding full speed down the bay, but when they reached the spot where the steamer had disappeared there was nothing to be done. A little wreckage tossed idly about by the waves and two dead bodies loosened from the tangle of death below to pick up and save for burial. That was all.

The Rio's resting place is about half a mile from the shore, a mile to the southward of North Heads and a mile and a half to the south and west of Fort Point.

The cargo of the Rio de Janeiro was valued at over $500,000. There was besides $600,000 in treasure in the specie tank. The steamer itself was valued at from $650,000 to $700,000.

Captain William Ward had been in the employ of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company for several years. He first entered the service as a cadet on the steamship Tokio, and in 1888 was assigned to the command of the Rio de Janeiro. Later he was transferred to the Peru, then to the China, then to the City of Peking.

WORK OF CONGRESS.

REVIEW OF IMPORTANT LEGISLATION ENACTED.

Appropriations Reach an Unusually Large Figure, Aggregating for the Two Sessions Approximately $1,457,269,457—Important Measures Passed.

Aside from the Porto Rican and Hawaiian Acts the Fifty-sixth Congress has passed a financial law establishing a permanent gold reserve of about $150,000,000, fixing the ratio between gold and silver and reorganizing the bonding and the banking systems of the treasury; reorganizing the United States army on a basis of 100,000 men; reapportioning the representation in Congress on the basis of the twelfth census; giving "free homes" on the Indian lands; providing for government participation in the Louisiana purchase exposition in 1903, as well as many other measures. But the Congress closed without final action on the Nicaraguan canal bill, the shipping subsidy bill, the Pacific cable bill and the oleomargarine bill.

The appropriations reach an unusually large figure, aggregating for the two sessions approximately $1,457,269,457. This is about $110,000,000 less than the aggregate appropriations of the preceding Congress, which, however, covered the period of the Spanish war, when the appropriations ran in a single year up to $893,231,615. The totals for the last two sessions, as summarized by Chairman Cannon of the House committee on appropriations, is as follows: Appropriations, first session, including sinking fund, $710,150,862; appropriations, second session, including sinking fund, $747,118,595.

The act reorganizing the army and placing the military establishment on a permanent basis probably is the most important piece of general legislation enacted during the session. Instead of planning for a temporary extension of the volunteer system, Secretary Root devised a measure for a complete reorganization of the army on modern military lines, with a maximum force of 100,000 men and a minimum of about 63,000. As finally enacted the army bill provides a standing army to consist of fifteen regiments of cavalry, a corps of artillery, thirty regiments of infantry, one lieutenant general, six major generals, fifteen brigadier generals and the usual staff corps. The old regimental organization of the artillery is discontinued. Authority is given the President to enlist natives of the Philippines, when necessity requires, not to exceed 12,000 men. A provisional regiment of Porto Ricans also is provided. A feature of the act is the prohibition of the sale of beer, wine or any intoxicating liquors in any post, exchange, canteen or transport.

The financial legislation has been of unusual importance, and has placed on the statute books the law establishing the gold standard, providing for the redemption and reissue of the interest-bearing bonded obligations of the United States, establishing a permanent gold reserve of $150,000,000, regulating national banks and making numerous provisions respecting circulation and the tax on circulation. This measure was drafted by leaders of both houses prior to the meeting of Congress and became a caucus measure. After its passage some question arose as to the maintenance of the parity of the metals under the terms of the bill. Bills to rectify this feature have been reported, specifically requiring the exchange of gold for standard silver dollars. No action has been taken on them, however.

The revenue legislation of the Congress has been confined to an effort to reduce the taxation imposed when the war with Spain began.

The act appropriating to the several States their representation in the House of Representatives followed as a result of the twelfth census. The census disclosed various increases in the States, and a new basis of representation was prepared based on the changed condition of the population. As finally enacted the total representation is fixed at 386 members, or twenty-nine more than in the present House.

Hazing at West Point received attention, with the prospect that strong restrictive legislation will be enacted. The Senate adopted anti-hazing provisions in the military academy appropriation bill, but it remained for the last days of the session to determine just what restrictions on hazing are to be imposed.

Besides the anti-trust bill, passed by the House and not acted upon by the Senate, a resolution proposing a constitutional amendment giving Congress more power to deal with trusts was defeated in the House. Another measure defeated in the branch where it originated was that defining the power of injunction and limiting the authority of the federal courts to issue this process.

RAIDER IS SHOT DOWN.

Badly Wounded While Smashing Joint in Topeka.

J. W. Adams was fatally wounded during a raid on the Curtis wholesale liquor house in Topeka, Kan. A carload of beer had been unloaded during the day and about fifty armed men with sledges and revolvers broke open the door and smashed the cases. Adams says he was shot by a policeman. The Rev. F. W. Emerson was also hurt, but not seriously.

The police appeared upon the scene after half a carload of beer had been destroyed, and after a fight in which thirty shots were fired arrested the Rev. F. W. Emerson, pastor of the First Christian Church, as leader, and all of the raiders, who were men. Dr. M. R. Mitchell, ex-city physician, was arrested as a member of the mob. The place raided was a wholesale supply house, where Kansas City breweries keep from two to three carloads of keg and bottle beer with which to supply joint trade in the city. Mr. Emerson was Mrs. Nation's manager on her recent lecture tour.

WOMEN OF THE UNITED STATES

Regard Peruna as Their Shield Against Catarrh, Coughs, Colds, Grip and Catarrhal Diseases.

MRS. BELVA A. LOCKWOOD, LATE CANDIDATE FOR THE PRESIDENCY.

Mrs. Belva Lockwood, the eminent barrister, of Washington, D. C. is the only woman who has ever been a candidate for the Presidency of the United States. She is the best known woman in America. As the pioneer of her sex in the legal profession she has gathered fame and fortune. In a letter to The Peruna Medicine Company, she says:

"I have used your Peruna both for myself and my mother, Mrs. Hannah J. Bennett, now in her 88th year, and I find it an invaluable remedy for cold, catarrh, hay fever and kindred diseases; also a good tonic for feeble and old people, or those run down, and with nerves unstrung."—Belva A. Lockwood.

Mrs. T. Pelton.

Mrs. T. Pelton, 562 St. Anthony avenue, St. Paul, Minn., writes:

"Peruna has done wonders for me. It has cured my headache and palpitation of the heart; has built up my whole system. I cheerfully recommend Peruna to all sufferers afflicted with catarrh. My mother is never without Peruna. When one is tired and generally out of sorts, if Peruna is taken it immediately removes that tired feeling."

Peruna cures catarrh by removing the cause, inflamed mucous membranes.

Dr. Hartman, the compounder of Peruna, once said, in a lecture to women:

"A great number of women consult me every year. I often have occasion to say to these patients, 'I fear you have catarrh, madam.' They will generally reply, 'Oh, no, I never had catarrh. My nose is perfectly clear, and my breath is not bad. I am not troubled with coughing or spitting, or any other disagreeable symptoms of catarrh.' But, my dear madam, you may have catarrh all the same. Catarrh is not always located in the head. You may have catarrh of the lungs, or stomach, or liver, or kidneys, and especially you may have catarrh of the pelvic organs."

The doctor went on to say: "I have been preaching this doctrine for the last forty years, but there are a vast multitude of women who have never heard it yet. Catarrh may attack any organ of the body. Women are especially liable to catarrh of the pelvic organs. There are one hundred cases of catarrh of the pelvic organs to one of catarrh of the head. Most people think, because they have not catarrh of the head, they have not catarrh at all. This is a great mistake, and is the cause of many cases of sickness and death."

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

Mrs. Julia C. Brown, of Pecatonica, Ill., says: "I have used Peruna in my home for the past four years and am thoroughly convinced that it is a reliable family remedy."—Julia C. Brown.

Dealing with Crimes in Canada.

(From the Chicago Times-Herald on Jan. 12, 1901.)

The citizens of the Dominion of Canada have just cause to be proud of their record as law-abiding people. The annual report of the criminal statistics of the Dominion, which has a population of over 6,000,000, shows that there were only twenty-five indictments for murder in 1899, of which only two were left without final action. Eleven of those indicted were hanged, nine acquitted and three confined as insane.

Canada is a country of vast proportions. Its people are scattered over a wide stretch of territory, making police surveillance particularly difficult and in many districts impossible. Yet a city like New York or Chicago alone furnishes a far greater criminal list every year than the whole vast stretch of territory from Quebec to Vancouver.

The Canadians ascribe their immunity from crime to the promptness with which punishment is meted out to offenders. When a man is caught red-handed in the act of robbing another he is not released on straw bail by the justice of the peace from the scene, to go out and repeat the offense. Sharp and sure justice is meted out to criminals of all kinds, the result being that when the guardians of the public peace succeed in bringing a thug to the bar they are seldom called upon to hunt him a second time.

Furthermore, there are few court delays in Canada when a criminal is brought to book. They have no Dreyer cases over there. There are no methods whereby Canadian criminals can have the proceedings stayed from month to month and from year to year or after being convicted, appeal from one court to another until witnesses die of old age or opportunities for corruption can be found.

Nor does this swift method of treating with wrong-doers in Canada leave the innocent unable to properly defend themselves. They have all the opportunities and privileges that our own laws extend to them. The extent to shield the guilty is lacking—that is all.

The above taken from the editorial column of the Times-Herald gives some idea of the immunity from crime that exists in Canada, and this is one of the many inducements held out for Americans to settle in the district known as Western Canada. The season of 1901 will see a few new sections of the country opened up for settlement. They are attractive in every respect. It is understood that one of the best Indian reserves in the famous valley of the Saskatchewan will be opened up this year, and an invitation is extended to those desiring homes to make inquiries. The price of the land is said to be nominal. Besides these lands, the several railway companies have lands to sell; also the government. For particulars write to the agent of the government, whose advertisement appears elsewhere.

He Walked.

Time, 11 p. m. "They tell me your gait was esteemed one of the finest in the regiment."

"You flatter me."

"No, Lieutenant Wagstaff said you marched magnificently."

"The lieutenant may not be a good judge."

"I fancy he is. To my mind there is nothing that makes a man more presentable and really attractive than a graceful walk. My curiosity is greatly aroused. May I ask a favor of you?"

"Certainly."

"Then I would like to see you walk." And she handed him his hat.—Boston Courier.

If Coffee Poisons You.

ruins your digestion, makes you nervous and sallow complexioned, keeps you awake nights and acts against your system generally, try Grain-O, the new food drink. It is made of pure, selected grain and is healthful, nourishing and appetizing. It has none of the bad effects of coffee, yet it is just as pleasant to the taste, and when properly prepared can't be told from the finest coffees. Costs about 1/4 as much. It is a healthful table drink for the children and adults. Ask your grocer for Grain-O. 15 and 25c.

Incontestable Proof.

Belle—Do you think Chappie loves me?

Grace—I know it. He told me to-day that he was going to shave off his mustache so he could devote more thought to you.—Smart Set.

The Trust Problem.

To a thoughtful mind, the trust problem is one of serious import. It must be firmly grappled with, for it creeps upon society before you are aware of its existence, in this respect much resembling the various disorders which attack the stomach, such as constipation, indigestion, dyspepsia and biliousness. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will cure all such ailments, and prevent la grippe, malarial fever and ague. Be sure to give it a trial.

Phoebe's Friend.

At John Burroughs' home in the little village of Westpark, on the Hudson, there are the usual number of bird comedies and tragedies to be found in all leafy retreats, only here is some one to chronicle them and to act as a friend in need. Says a writer in the Outlook:

Under the edges of a villa on the hillside near Mr. Burroughs' home, a phoebe had built her nest. There, within arm's reach of the piazza, the bird was quietly hatching her eggs, undisturbed by the proximity of human neighbors.

"I saw her building her nest," said Mr. Burroughs, "and noticed that she did not seem to have any bump of locality. She would come flying up here, her beak loaded with mud, and drop it on the rafters. Each time she seemed to forget where she had deposited her load, and the result was that she soon had the building of four or five houses on her hands."

"I thought this was rather more than one small bird ought to undertake, so I interrupted the building operations by putting stones or blocks of wood on the foundations of all except one of the nests, and in this way concentrated the attention of phoebe upon a single site."

"This set her on the right path, and she went ahead and finished up a house, the one she is using now."

Sure Signs of Age.

The writer of "Feminine News and Views" gives these sure signs of old age in woman: 1. When letters to girl friends are mostly addressed "Mrs." 2. When she begins to care a great deal about the supper at an entertainment. 3. When she feels a sudden interest in church and charity work. 4. When she is attractive to very young men. 5. When she realizes the folly of dressing in sober colors. 6. When she compares the new way of wearing the hair with that when she first put hers up. 7. When—most fatal, of all—the gravity of youth gradually gives way to incipient kittenishness.

Far Too Clever.

Where there is the most love of God, there will be there the truest and most enlarged philanthropy.—Southey.

The talent of success is nothing more than doing what you can do well.—Longfellow.

Anomalous.

In Boston I encountered a parrot one day.

"Polly wants a cracker!" I observed, thinking nothing.

"Your language is extremely anomalous!" replied the bird, severely. "Polly is colonial, while cracker; in the sense of biscuit, is distinctly postbellum. Moreover, I am not conscious of wanting a cracker. I wouldn't mind a plate of pork-and, however."

The fowl's scholarly dignity was what impressed me particularly.—Detroit Journal.

A WISE DRUGGIST.

For $5.00 He Guarantees to Do That for Which a Lady Offers Him $100.00.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 25, 1901.—(Special).—Some two years ago a local druggist engaged in a transaction which was in its details somewhat remarkable. He was visited by Miss Anna P. Nichols, who had a doctor's prescription for rheumatism, which the druggist was filling. In the course of conversation the good lady said: "I would give one hundred dollars to get well."

He immediately replied: "Give me five dollars and I will guarantee to cure you."

She agreed, and he at once handed her a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills, saying: "They are 50c a box. Two boxes may cure you, but I am quite sure that ten will."

Miss Nichols tells the story as follows: "Dodd's Kidney Pills are veritable life preservers. I was troubled for five years with rheumatism, so that at times my right arm seemed paralyzed and I could only walk with difficulty, and could not get out of doors if the air was damp or cold. I took so much medicine that I think my system was poisoned rather than helped. One day when my druggist was putting up a prescription for me I remarked to him that I would give one hundred dollars for a remedy that would make me better."

"Give me five dollars and I will guarantee to cure you," he said. I readily agreed, and he handed me a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills, saying, "They are 50c a box. Two boxes may cure you, but I am sure that ten will." I left my prescription intact and, instead, took these Pills, and I found them, as I said before, to be veritable life preservers. Before I had finished the second box I had my first perfect night's rest in years. I gradually improved. I had determined to use the ten boxes before I would give up, but imagine my surprise to find that before half that quantity was used I was completely cured. This was two years ago, and I have not had a twinge since."

Miss Nichols is Vice-Grand Baxter, Rebekah Lodge, I. O. O. F., and is one of the best known and most highly respected ladies in Kansas City, and her experience will be read with interest by her many friends.

Dodd's Kidney Pills never fail to cure Rheumatism. They are 50c a box, six boxes for $2.50. Buy them from your local dealer if you can. If he cannot supply you, send to the Dodd's Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Women Laborers in Spain.

Nearly 1,000,000 women in Spain work in the field as day laborers; 350,000 women are registered as day servants—that is, they work for their food and lodging. There is no such class anywhere else.

When a trust fail the stockholders may be said to have gone up the water-spout.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Practice Makes Perfect.

Angela (to whom Edgar has been proposing)—Tell me, Edgar, did you ever say anything like this to any woman before?

Edgar (in a burst of honesty)—My dear girl, do you think that it could be done like that the first time?—Harper's Bazar.

A Remedy for the Grippe.

Physicians recommend KEMP'S BAL-SAM for patients afflicted with the grip, as it is especially adapted for the throat and lungs. Don't wait for the first symptoms, but get a bottle to-day and keep it on hand for use the moment it is needed. If neglected the grip brings on pneumonia. KEMP'S BAL-SAM prevents this by keeping the cough loose and the lungs free from inflammation. All druggists, 25c and 50c.

Designing Landlord.

Traveler—Why do you allow that waiter to remain constantly so close to that young married couple? It evidently annoys them.

Landlord—Oh, because they keep ordering things, so as to get him out of hearing!—Meggendorfer Blaetter.

What Do the Children Drink?

Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food drink called GRAIN-O? It is delicious and nourishing and takes the place of coffee. The more Grain-O you give the children the more health you distribute through their systems. Grain-O is made of pure grains, and when properly prepared tastes like the choice grades of coffee, but costs about 1/4 as much. All grocers sell it. 15c and 25c.

Didn't Miss Any.

Mrs. Statestreech—Did she marry her first love?

Mrs. Stockyards—Oh, my, yes! Her first, second, third and fourth.—Norristown Herald.

Coughing Leads to Consumption.

Kemp's Balsam will stop the cough at once. Go to your druggist to-day and get a sample bottle free. Sold in 25 and 50-cent bottles. Go at once; delays are dangerous.

On stoves and furnaces 18,340 patents have been issued, covering every part of these indispensable articles of comfort.

LOCAL BREVETIES.

Easter Sunday comes this year on April 7th.

A crowd of ten Culver young men attended church at Washington Sunday evening.

A gentleman was in Culver a few days ago considering the proposition of buying a considerable portion of the low ground lying between the town and lake and north of the road running to the grist mill. He anticipates the ground being valuable in the future as building sites.

We understand that J. W. Cromley has purchased two lots of Dr. Wiseman and will erect a handsome residence upon the same in the early spring, after which he will become a resident of Culver. He is one of our most enterprising farmers, hence will surely make one of our wisesake citizens.

J. E. Myers of Rutland, was in town today.

Rev. Newman was called to Logansport last Thursday on business.

Frank Lamson of the Palmer House, made South Bend a visit Thursday.

Preaching by the pastor at Poplar Grove M. E. church, Sunday, March 3, 1901, at 11 a. m.

When in town drop in and see the samples of work Keen Bros. are doing. Their portraits are likenesses.

On Sunday, March 10, Rev. Forest C. Taylor will begin a series of special meetings at the M. E. church in Culver.

C. E. Thornberg has been quite ill and is not improving very fast. Drs. Knott and Reynolds, of Plymouth, are his attending physicians.

The pulpit of the M. E. church of Culver will be filled by Dr. J. G. Campbell, of the Milbourn M. E. church, South Bend, next Sunday evening.

Rev. S. C. Cramer, of Logansport, will conduct a two weeks' meeting at Washington Evangelical church, beginning next Monday evening, March 4th.

M. E. Church, Culver, Ind., Sunday, March 3, 1901.—Sunday school, 10 a. m.; Junior League, 2:30 p. m.; Epworth League, 6:30 p. m.; preaching by Dr. J. G. Campbell, of South Bend, 7:30 p. m.

There is always danger in using counterfeits of Dewitt's Witch Hazel Salve. The original is a safe and certain cure for piles. It is a soothing and healing salve for all skin diseases. T. E. Slattery.

Mrs. Rearick, mother of Mrs. Chas. Bortz, who is living with her daughter in this city, has been dangerously ill the past two weeks, but at this writing is better. She is over 80 years of age.

FOR SALE—A first-class harness shop in Culver. No better location in the state for a man with limited means. You can just step right into a paying business. Address the HERALD for further information.

Revival services at the Evangelical are progressing nicely. Rev. S. C. Cramer, of Logansport, has been rendering some very valuable help in the meetings, which added much to their interest.

A business meeting of the Epworth League will be held at the home of Mrs. Elta Mawhorter, Saturday evening March 2, at 8:30 p. m. A full attendance is desired as important business is to be transacted.

Sunday school at the Evangelical church Sunday morning at the usual hour. Preaching services at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday, March 3rd. Y. P. A. meeting at 6:30 p. m.

Daily Trains To St. Paul, Minneapolis, Ashland, Duluth and the Northwest, leave Chicago from Central Station, 12th St. and Park Row, Lake Front via Wisconsin Central Ry. Nearest ticket agent can give you complete information.

Reports show a greatly increased death rate from throat and lung troubles due to the prevalence of croup, pneumonia and gripe. We advise the use of One Minute Cough Cure in all of these difficulties. It is the only harmless remedy that gives immediate results. Children like it. T. E. Slattery.

Mrs. Mary Smith died at her home near Poplar Grove last Tuesday afternoon. She was about 72 years of age and leaves a number of relatives to mourn their loss. Mrs. Smith was sick less than a week and her death came as a surprise to her friends and relatives. The funeral was held at Poplar Grove M. E. church at 11 a. m. today (Friday.) The services were conducted by the Rev. Forest C. Taylor. Interment at Poplar Grove.

Pneumonia Can be Prevented.

This disease always results from a cold or an attack of the grip and may be prevented by the timely use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. That remedy was extensively used during the epidemics of La Grippe of the past few years, and not a single case has ever been reported that did not recover or that resulted in pneumonia, which shows it to be a certain preventive of that dangerous disease. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has gained a world wide reputation for its cures of colds and grip. For sale by T. E. Slattery.

Prof. B. F. Moore, of Marion, chairman of the program committee of the Northern Indiana Teachers' Association, has announced the program for the annual session at Anderson, April 4, 5 and 6. The opening address will be by Governor Durbin and the response by C. N. Kendall, of Indianapolis.

When Travelling Northwest, see that your ticket reads via Wis. Central Ry. for St. Paul, Minneapolis, Ashland and Duluth. Convenient trains leave Chicago daily from Central Station, 12th St. & Park Row (Lake Front.)

How to Cure the Grip.

Remain quietly at home and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as directed and a quick recovery is sure to follow. That remedy counteracts any tendency of the grip to result in pneumonia, which is really the only serious danger. Among the tens of thousands who have used it for the grip not one case has ever been reported that did not recover. For sale by T. E. Slattery.

There are a good many men lying out under the beautiful white snow today because they tried to please everybody. When they started out in life they made up their minds that everybody should be satisfied with them, but they didn't succeed in making anybody happy but the undertaker. The world is full of fault-finders and grumblers and a man can't walk five minutes in any direction without meeting them. The man who just jogs along from day to day and does his best regardless of what people say, is the one who is the hardest to kill, and when at last he does die there are about as many bouquets laid on his casket as there are on the man who worried himself into Abraham's bosom.

La Grippe Quickly Cured.

"In the winter of 1898 and 1899 I was taken down with a severe attack of what is called La Grippe" says F. L. Hewett, a prominent druggist of Winfield, Ill. "The only medicine I used was two bottles of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It broke up the cold and stopped the coughing like magic, and I have never since been troubled with 'Grippe.' Chamberlain's Cough Remedy can always be depended upon to break up a severe cold and ward off any threatened attack of pneumonia. It is pleasant to take, too, which makes it the most desirable and one of the most popular preparations in use for these ailments. For sale by T. E. Slattery.

For the weakness and prostration following gripe there is nothing so prompt and effective as One Minute Cough Cure. This preparation is highly endorsed as an unfailing remedy for all throat and lung troubles and its early use prevents consumption. It is made to cure quickly. T. E. Slattery.

Working Overtime.

Eight hour laws are ignored by those tireless little workers—Dr. King's New Life Pills. Millions are always at work night and day, curing Indigestion, Biliousness, Constipation, Sick Headache and all Stomach, Liver and Bowel troubles. Easy, pleasant, safe, sure. Only 25c at Slattery's drug store.

NOTICE.—Having purchased the dray line of J. Baumgartner, formerly owned by Wm. Swigert, I am prepared to deliver goods to any part of the city, or around the lake. Prompt delivery and reasonable charges is my motto.

Danger of Colds and La Grippe.

The greatest danger from colds and la grippe is their resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for these diseases we have yet to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia, which shows conclusively that it is a certain preventative of that dangerous malady. It will cure a cold or an attack of the la grippe in less time than any other treatment. It is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by T. E. Slattery.

We will make entire changes in the interior of our large store which will keep us torn up for quite a while, and, during this time will let all merchandise go at and less than cost. We are looking forward to a large spring business, and must arrange our store in a different way so as to put us in good shape when spring goods are in. We expect to have the largest line of Wash and White goods in our mammoth store this spring that was ever exhibited in Plymouth. Meanwhile, all winter goods must go at some price. Ladies', Misses' and Children's Jackets, Lots 1, worth up to $15, choice, $5.00; Lot 2, worth up to $10, choice, $3.25; Lot 3, worth up to $5, choice, $1.75. Any Ladies' Suit in the house at $5.00. Now is your time to lay in a supply. We still have a long winter before us, and they will be just as good next season. The goods must go to make room for our spring stock now constantly arriving.

Local Notes Furnished by the Herald's Special Reporter.

The 22nd has come and gone, and another of those little festivities which keep life in a military school from being a weary drag is now only a very pleasant memory. The pretty fir-cloaked girls who burst upon us so suddenly, and who were hardly out of our sight for three days, have vanished as suddenly as they appeared, and we are left in this "summer resort in winter" with only ourselves and about six inches of snow in which to go out and drown our sorrows.

It is just dawning upon us that we will have to get a new cap-cord, sword-knot, breast-plate, or the "anything military" that we gave her and that in return we have only a rather hazy, far-off promise of coming again during commencement. We (which means we not in the dramatic club) hardly realized that the 22nd was so near at hand until the noon trains on Thursday brought in the first party of young ladies who were so kind as to help us dance away our p. m. drill that day and prevented the mad rush that comes with recall. All agreed that the dance Friday evening was the most successful of the "small hops" we have ever given, and it would be hard to find prettier, more stylish, more attractive or better dancers than the 40 girls who braved the zero weather to be with us.

The cavalry exercises were par excellence, and were enjoyed by all who saw them. The boys gave some very fine exhibitions of riding which received rounds of applause.

The dramatic club in their performance of "The Bold Buccaneers," Saturday evening eclipsed even their former triumphs, and our only regret is that we didn't make each member of the excellent caste, reply to a curtain call, which they so richly deserved to have. The little opera itself, written by Cadets Morehouse and Jackson, was thoroughly well balanced, laughable, and clever in every one of the five scenes, and the authors richly deserve the countless compliments they received. Nor would it be just to close this short description without mentioning the parallel bar "artists" who by their hair-raising feats kept the large audience at the topmost crest of the wave of approbation. On the whole, the exercises this year were carried out successfully, and the many visitors were well pleased with the efforts of the corps to entertain them.

Campbell N., went to Indianapolis Monday to consult an oculist.

Cadet Sipe is in Kokomo this week visiting his parents.

Cadet Shaw is in Chicago, having received a message from his father, Governor Shaw, of Iowa, to meet him in Chicago for a few hours' visit before the governor departs for Washington to attend the inauguration.

W. C. Miller of Indianapolis, R. W. Sprout of Chicago, and M. A. McLain of Washington, D. C., are new cadets. The vacancies are all filled.

About ten cases of mumps have been reported, which have been properly quarantined.

Cadet Curtis was summoned home Wednesday on account of the death of his grandfather.

Cadet Haughey attended the funeral of his aunt at Indianapolis Thursday.

Cadet Heidrick was at his home in Peoria, Ill., last week having his eyes treated. Also Cadet Downey, of Gosport, Ind., is home having his eyes treated.

Next Tuesday evening the cadets will visit Kokomo, and will attend the great comedy, entitled "A Bachelor's Romance," tendered by Tim Murphy's popular company. The boys are invited there by George W. Sipe, the owner of the opera house, who tender them free admission. The battalion will go by special train.

Cadet Vajen went to Indianapolis last week Thursday and returned to the academy Tuesday.

The following persons were in attendance at the Washington Birthday exercises at the Academy, and were also guests at the Palmer House during their stay:

R. S. Butler and C. De Bumenthal, of Chicago.

J. W. Younge and wife and Jewel Younge, of Ft. Wayne.

Mr. McSweeney and son James, of Wooster, Ohio.

B. B. Wickham, Norwalk, Ohio.

M. J. Gibbon, Akron, Ohio.

Mrs. R. D. Lewis and Miss Margaret Lewis, of St. Louis.

E. M. Campbell and Miss Edna Frank, of Indianapolis.

Mrs. Horron, of Crawfordville.

W. B. Dorsett and wife, Miss Helen Dorsett, and Mrs. Edwin Reed and daughter, of St. Louis.

Mrs. R. H. Aishton and daughter, of Evanston, Ill.

Miss Neff, of Plymouth, Ind.

Miss Ireland, Miss Jackson, Miss Kelley, Mrs. Ireland, and C. M. Becker, of Lafayette.

Misses Jessie Balliett, Genevieve Pure, Helen Gunsaulus, Nellie Wray, Anna James McIntock, and Lucy Hall, of Lake Forest, Ill.

Former captains, de Blumenthal and Wickham were visitors at the academy during the Washington birthday exercises.

Mrs. C. A. Schaff and her sister-in-law, Mrs. M. Schaff, and four young ladies, the Misses Frye, Hooker, C. Barr and Gooder, arrived in a special car from Cincinnati and attended the grand ball. Mrs. C. A. Schaff is the wife of the superintendent of the Big Four R. R.

Monday evening, Col. Fleet attended a meeting of the college presidents of the state, at the Bates' House in Indianapolis, for the purpose of conferring with John R. Mott, secretary of the united federation of college Y. M. C. A's for the advancement of Y. M. C. A. work in educational institutions.

Dr. J. G. Campbell, pastor of the Milburn M. E. church, of South Bend, will preach at the academy Sunday morning at 11 o'clock and in the Culver M. E. church in the evening. He is one of the most eloquent and profound divines in the state, and our citizens should certainly hear him.

Culver School Notes.

The debate with the North Bend debating club comes off to night.

The debate in the high school has been postponed from March 1, to March 8. The question is, resolved "That education is of more benefit to man than wealth."

Last Friday being Washington's birthday, the pupils were given a sleigh ride by the school board. Eleven sleighs convened at the school house and were loaded with children at one o'clock and were taken to Burr Oak school house where they sang America, and gave three cheers for the father of our country. The ride was enjoyed very much.

In the near future there will be made an addition to the library. Not many new books have been purchased for the library this year. It is a plain fact that the books already in the library are a source of great help to the pupils and as our means of getting money comes mainly from donations, we would say to our friends if they have any spare money, it would find a royal welcome in the library fund.

BIG TRUST COMPLETE.

UNITED STATES STEEL COMPANY INCORPORATES.

Capital Stock Only $3,000—Great Morgan-Carnegie Combination Formally Created—Wide Scope of Corporation—Joint Robbed in Armourdale, Kan.

With an authorized capital stock of $3,000 J. Pierpont Morgan has launched the United States Steel Company, which is the legal name of the gigantic Morgan-Carnegie combination. Articles of incorporation were filed at the office of the county clerk of Hudson County, New Jersey, by the Hudson Trust Company of 51 York street, Hoboken, the New Jersey agent of the combination. According to the articles of incorporation the objects of corporation are to "manufacture steel, iron and other materials," to "own, occupy and develop mines" and to "own means of transportation." There is a provision that the corporation shall not own a railroad in the State of New Jersey. Charles C. Cluff, William J. Curtis and Charles McVeagh are the incorporators. The $3,000 authorized capital stock is divided into thirty shares of $100 each, but there is a provision that the authorized capital may be increased at any time.

NEGRO KILLS WHITE WOMAN.

Indiana School Teacher Is Shot and Stabbed on Her Way Home.

Miss Ida Finkelstein, a school teacher, was murdered and robbed by a negro while she was walking from her country school to Terre Haute, Ind. She was taken to a hospital and died. The negro had a shotgun and game bag and had been hunting when he called to her to stop. Instead she ran, and he fired at her, some of the shot striking her head. She stopped, and when he came up to her she handed him her purse with $3 in it and started to go, but he caught hold of her. She struggled and he then cut her throat. When found by a passing wagon she was unconscious, but recovered sufficiently to give a complete description of the man.

THREE MEN HOLD UP FOURTEEN.

In White Masks They Rob a Joint and Its Inmates.

Three men, wearing white masks, walked into a joint run by A. Carlson in Armourdale, Kan., and, at the point of revolvers, relieved the cash till of $30. One of the highwaymen stayed on the outside as a guard, while his two confederates on the inside proceeded to relieve the proprietor and thirteen habitués of their valuables. They secured a gold watch from the proprietor, Carlson, and a gold watch from one of the other men. They searched the pockets of every man in the place and secured all the small change they had.

Bad Fire at Bellevue, Ohio.

At Bellevue, Ohio, fire burned out a dozen business houses, involving a loss of $30,000, on which there is little insurance. The losers were as follows: J. F. Cook, livery, $2,000; T. Alexander, livery, $1,000; A. A. Alexander, building, $4,000; J. H. Munson, implement dealer, $500; Smith Brothers' Opera House, $500; Henry Cook, confectionery, $250; Thomas Conklin, bakery, $2,500; J. Baker, building, $3,000; Vickery block, $3,500; Bellevue News, totally destroyed, $6,000; Vickery's law office, $2,000; city hall building, $3,500; Kaiser's livery, $1,500.

Hamilton Sentenced to Prison.

Frank Hamilton, newspaper man, was sentenced by Judge Brooks at Minneapolis to seven years at hard labor in the penitentiary at Stillwater for the killing of Leonard R. Day, society man and millionaire, during a quarrel over a woman in the billiard room of the West Hotel Nov. 25 last.

Nome Swept by Fierce Hurricane.

Nome mail advices state that the most terrific storm known swept Nome in November. Many fair houses were wrecked and several steamers and small sailing vessels carried to sea and crushed in the ice.

Incorporates for $6,000,000.

Marshall Field & Co. of Chicago have decided to incorporate their business and have applied for the necessary papers. The firm name and ownership will remain the same. The capital stock will be $6,000,000.

Trolley Cars in Collision.

A car of the Bellaire and Wheeling electric line containing thirteen passengers, was struck by a Cleveland, Lorain and Wheeling freight train at a grade crossing in Bridgeport, Ohio, and several persons were seriously injured.

Fire Burns Opera House.

Haden's opera house was destroyed by fire at Columbia, Mo. The fire was caused by a defective furnace and started while a matinee performance was in progress. The audience was largely composed of children, but all escaped injury.

DOOM SLAYER OF DAY.

Jurymen Find Frank H. Hamilton Guilty of Manslaughter.

The jury in the Hamilton-Day murder case at Minneapolis returned a verdict of guilty of manslaughter in the first degree, after having been out forty hours. The jury recommended mercy in their verdict. Leonard A. Day, son of a millionaire lumberman, a social leader in Minneapolis, a young man with plenty of money and a lack of serious purpose, was stabbed to death in the billiard room of the West Hotel at 2 o'clock in the morning, Nov. 25. Frank Hamilton, sporting editor of the Minneapolis Times, was immediately arrested, afterward indicted for the murder and was placed on trial Feb. 4.

The murder, the strange stories of social degeneracy that caused a quarrel, the prominence of all parties, caused a tremendous sensation and for months there has been an exclusion of all other topics of discussion in the circles in which these young men were prominent. Following the arrest came rumors that perhaps Hamilton was not the guilty one after all, and from circumstances and events the friends of the accused sought to weave a web of mystery for the confusion of the prosecution.

Hamilton denied that he had killed Day, although at the trial a policeman testified that Hamilton had confessed the murder to him. The cause of the quarrel was jealousy. Stories growing out of the affair connected several society men and women with unspeakable scandal, and for a time it was feared that the trial would reveal a hideous condition of social life in Minneapolis. Several young people hastily left the city. The forecast of sensational evidence as to Minneapolis society was not made good at the trial.

The prisoner was dazed with speechlessness when the foreman of the jury announced the finding, and the prisoner's lips moved silently in mute protest as he looked despairingly at his attorneys. No one, it is said, expected anything but a verdict of not guilty, or, at the most, a disagreement. The severity of the decision is tempered somewhat by the recommendation of court clemency. The penalty for manslaughter is imprisonment for not more than twenty or fewer than five years.

All the tin can factories throughout the United States are to be controlled by a new combination to have a capital of $15,000,000 and will include nearly 100 concerns. The deal is being promoted by James H. and Wm. H. Moore. The trust is expected to become effective on April 1, all the leading manufacturers, it is reported, having already signed the agreement. The new trust will control the entire output of all the factories from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Not an independent concern of any importance in the country will be left outside the combination. An immediate advance in the prices of the product of the new trust is anticipated.

STOP GRABS IN CHINA.

UNITED STATES CHECK PARTITION OF EMPIRE.

Powers Will Not Press Claims for Territory—International Consent Required for Concessions—Punishments Demanded Will Be Inflicted.

At the instance of the United States government the powers have accepted the principle that no further individual concessions of territory in China shall be sought or obtained by any one power, without international assent. This agreement applies not only to Tien-tsin, where there has been some rivalry exhibited in the effort to obtain concessions for foreign settlements, but to all other Chinese points.

According to a Washington correspondent, the State Department began this movement some time ago. It is surmised, though no admission on that point can be obtained, that the occupation by Russia of the important concession opposite Tien-tsin, including the railroad terminus, caused the initiation of this movement. However, it was realized that it might be very difficult to deal with a separate case, because thereby national pride might be aroused. But it was conceived that all of the powers might be willing to subscribe to a general principle which promised upon its face to maintain the rights of all against selfish individual efforts.

The conjecture was well founded, for after the department had addressed each of the powers on the subject the answers received from not only a majority, but nearly all of them—and certainly a sufficient number to insure the execution of the plan—were an acceptance of the American principle. So hereafter, if any one nation seeks to secure room for its individual settlements or like privileges in ports or elsewhere in China, the application must be approved by the other powers before the Chinese government will be permitted to assent, even if it desired to do so.

China Yields All Points.

It is believed at the State Department that the Chinese acquiescence in the demands of the ministers covers also the additions to the punishment program made by the ministers on Feb. 8. These provide for the degradation and exile of Chao Chi Chao and Ying Lien and death for Prince Chwang, the chief of the Boxers' society.

Later official information from Minister Conger was received that the Chinese government had consented to order Prince Chwang to commit suicide, to degrade and banish Prince Tuan and Duke Lan and to inflict some punishment, yet to be determined, on Chi Tsu and Hsu Cheng Yu.

While Minister Conger does not say that the action of the Chinese government is thoroughly satisfactory, it is inferred that it is. At any rate, the cause for the hostile movement against Singan-Fu has been removed.

A Pekin dispatch says that the European and Chinese secretaries of legations and others who have lived in China for years consider that China has gained a victory, as the only man the court has to behead is Yu Hsien. The other two are in the hands of the Japanese, and could be beheaded when their execution is wanted. Suicide is no disgrace whatever in the eyes of the Chinese. No one believes Gen. Tung Fu Hsiang will ever suffer punishment.

People in Pekin say Chinese imperial edicts are very unstable documents, especially when private edicts to the executive officials accompany the public edicts. A recent decree ordered all the indicated officials to commit suicide, yet, it is evident, a secret edict was sent instructing the persons implicated not to obey. What proof, it is asked, is there now that the terms of the decree will be carried out?

THOUSANDS OUT OF POCKET.

Stopping of the Jeffries-Ruhlin Contest a Blow to Promoters.

The granting of an injunction against the Jeffries-Ruhlin match in Cincinnati, backed up by the stand taken by Gov. Nash, who threatened to call the militia to his assistance in case the managers of the fight made any attempt to pull it off, resulted in the stopping of the championship contest that was scheduled to take place there. There was some hint that an effort might be made to hold the match no matter what action would be taken by the court, but there was apparently no ground for this, as the supporters of the mill took their medicine, bitter though it was to some.

The most sorely disappointed of those who were in favor of holding the contest were the members of the Saengerfest Athletic Club. They made a hard fight to have the bout take place and brought all their powerful influence to bear, but the opposition was too strong. The match was planned to raise a big debt that rested on the Saengerfest, but now the society finds itself plunged thousands of dollars deeper in the financial hole. It went to great expense in advertising the contest, overhauling the buildings where the fight was to take place, etc., besides the money it paid out to fight the injunction in the courts, and also the forfeit money that had to be paid the managers of the fighters in case the match would not be held. The total indebtedness of the organization at present amounts to about $35,000.

After the Saengerfest the next heaviest losers were Billy Brady and Billy Madden, the managers of Jeffries and Ruhlin respectively. The former figures up his loss at $18,000 and the latter at about $10,000. These figures include the training expenses of the men and the cancelling of profitable theatrical dates in order that they might go into training.

That the fight would have been a financial success is shown by the advance sale

Congress.

On Tuesday the Senate by a vote of 18 to 42 rejected conference report on military academy appropriation bill. This action came at conclusion of spirited debate upon provisions against hazing inserted in bill by conference committee. Report of conferees was rejected because regarded by large majority of Senate as too drastic. Mr. Deboe delivered his announced speech upon Nicaragua canal, advocating construction of waterway by United States. Effort was made to obtain consideration for bill reviving grade of vice-admiral of the navy for benefit of Rear Admirals Sampson and Schley, but it was unavailing. The House devoted day in consideration of sundry civil appropriation bill, debate being chiefly upon national irrigation of arid lands. Passed resolution calling upon Secretary of State and Secretary of Treasury regarding shipments to South Africa of horses, mules and other army supplies.

The Senate spent Wednesday on the postoffice appropriation bill. The amendment of Mr. Butler proposing a reduction of about 9 per cent in the pay for railway postal service was defeated—18 to 51—after a debate in which Mr. Depew answered Mr. Butler's criticisms on the large profits made by American roads. Late in the day a sharp controversy on the pneumatic tube question was precipitated by an amendment offered by Mr. Mason extending that service to Chicago and one by Mr. Vest extending it to St. Louis. Mr. Hale severely criticised those promoting the system, referring to a "job and lobby." When he made a point of order that a committee had not passed on the amendment the advocates of the extension quickly circulated a call for a meeting of the committee on postoffices, and the session closed with Mr. Wolcott's humorous announcement of the committee meeting in response to the imperative demands made on him. The House passed the sundry civil appropriation bill and entered upon consideration of the general deficiency—the last of the general appropriation bills.

On Thursday the Senate considered postoffice appropriation bill. Amendment providing for pneumatic tube service killed. The old controversy over the special appropriations for fast mail service engaged much attention. It was decided to begin holding night sessions Friday night. The House passed deficiency appropriation bill, after day of exciting debate.

The Senate on Friday passed two of the great supply bills—the postoffice and the diplomatic and consular appropriation. During the greater part of the session a proposition to discontinue the appropriations for fast mail facilities from New York to New Orleans via Atlanta and from Kansas City, Mo., to Newton, Kan., was under discussion. By a decisive vote the appropriations were continued. An effort was made to obtain an appropriation to continue the pneumatic tube service in New York, Boston and Philadelphia, but it failed. An amendment was agreed to authorizing the Postmaster General to investigate the question of establishing a postal telegraph system and to report his findings to the next Congress. After a spirited debate the conference report on the Indian appropriation bill was rejected and sent back to conference. Early in the day, Washington's farewell address, in accordance with a custom of the Senate on Washington's birthday, was read, the reader being Senator Bacon of Georgia. The House devoted an hour to unanimous consent legislation and two hours and a half each to the passage of private claims bills and private pension bills. Nine bills were passed by unanimous consent and twenty-nine claims bills and 139 pension bills were passed. Among the latter was the Senate bill to pension the widow of the late Gen. Henry W. Lawton, who was killed in the Philippines. As the bill passed the Senate it carried $100 a month. The House cut the amount down to $50 upon the representation that Mrs. Lawton enjoyed a comfortable income.

The Senate on Saturday passed St. Louis exposition appropriation bill, with amendments for Sunday closing and an appropriation of $250,000 for the Charleston exposition next December. Passed fortification appropriation bill. The House adopted a resolution to investigate the pay of its employees. The bill to increase the efficiency of the revenue cutter service was debated for two hours, but no action was taken. Several of the appropriation bills were sent to conference. The seed amendment to the agricultural bill was agreed to. At 4 o'clock public business was suspended to permit the House to pay tribute to the memories of the late Representatives Clarke of New Hampshire and Shaw of New York.

The Senate devoted Monday to debate on the Philippine amendment to the army appropriation bill. The House devoted the day to conference reports. Concurred in Senate amendment to navy bill striking out appropriations for new battleships and cruisers.

Geo. S. Scally, of 75 Nassau St., New York, says: "For years I have been troubled with rheumatism and dyspepsia and I came to the conclusion to try your pills. I immediately found great relief from their use. I feel like a new man since I commenced taking them, and would not now be without them. The drowsy, sleepy feeling I used to have has entirely disappeared. The dyspepsia has left me and my rheumatism is gone entirely. I am satisfied if any one so afflicted will give Radway's Pills a trial they will surely cure them, for I believe it all comes from the system being out of order—the liver not doing its work."

NOW.

Break now the alabaster box
Of sympathy and love
Amid the cherished friends of earth
Ere they are called above.
How many burdened hearts are here
That long for present help and cheer!

The kindly words you mean to say
When they are dead and gone Speak now, and fill their souls with joy.

Before the morning's dawn.
'Tis better far when friends are near Their saddened hearts to soothe and cheer.

The flowers withheld till after death
Has closed their eyes in sleep
If proffered in life's weary hours
Would still their fragrance keep.
While hearts can thrill and ears can hear,
Let loving deed and word bring cheer.
—James J. Reeves.

Wherever hunters and dogs abound,
the cougar, if found at all, is a timid,
shrinking, spineless brute, fighting
only when brought to bay. It learns and practices infinite caution. Hence the beast has fallen into a certain contempt; latter-day naturalists even deny
that it gives voice to the long, quavering cry that was formerly attributed to it. But I have often heard that cry,
and I know, too, that the tamed, man-
hunted cougar differs from its con-geners of the mountain wilds, somewhat as the Moravian Indian differed from the savage Shawnees of old.

The adventure I am about to relate occurred near French Creek, in the Black Hills of Dakota, in August, 1875
—a region then untrodden by white men, except little bands of miners, who had recently gathered along this creek,
and the exploring expeditions of General Custer and Professor Jenney. Rich in gold and silver though they are,
the Black Hills had been guarded at every avenue of approach by thousands of hostile Sioux. They themselves were deterred by traditions and superstitions from much venturing within the shadows of their black pines;
so that we found there no trace of aboriginal habitations, permanent or transient.

There was a solemn and wonderful atmosphere in that primitive wilderness. Its denizens, unscared by men, seldom fled at first approach. The pine-hen sat upon limb of bush or tree,
and cocked its head without fear. The big, dun mule-deer approached the lone prospector with open-eyed, curious
gaze, and if not stopped by a bullet,
would often come within a few steps of him. The grizzly bear actually came into camp to be killed, for he had never before found his path barred by living creatures. And there the cougar,
never hunted, knew not fear of man.

I left our camp on a warm Sunday
afternoon for a stroll among the hills,
and from force of Sunday habits I left my gun in my tent. As I dislike to feel
a revolver banging against my hips,
I went for my walk unarmed.

In the course of half an hour, alternately walking and scrambling I came to the head of the gulch and out upon
a rough slope surmounted by cap-
rocks, which formed the highest hilltop within reach. Along the base of these scarred and fissured rocks grew creeping pine, brier and raspberry bushes, bearing ripe fruit. Many berries had fallen, and more had been gathered by the bears and birds, but enough yet remained, red and luscious,
to furnish me with a palatable after-
dinner relish.

When I had eaten all I could, I resolved to climb to a summit of the rocks, that I might get a more extended view of the beautiful region.
But to reach those lookout heights was no easy task. I sought for a great cleft or split in the rocks, which offered an arduous line of ascent along one steep
and rugged face.

Along the fissured surface of this
cleft I advanced slowly and cautiously,
going up slantwise, now on my hands
and knees, and again drawing myself
up bodily by clutching rocky projections with my fingers. As I passed along the face of the cleft, it deepened and widened, and the ascent became still more difficult and perilous. Below me lay two steep inclines, each with a chevaux de frise of rock points and scattered pines, reaching to a dizzy
depth.

Finally, when I almost despaired of climbing farther, and when descent seemed equally dangerous, I reached a flat surface of the rock, where there was a thin soil and clustering juniper
bush, and there I saw an easier way of climbing to the summit, still fifty feet
or so above my head.

After I scanned the ascent I lay, puffing with exertion, tired and heated, flat upon my face, to rest. A cool breeze blowing through the cleft fanned my cheeks, and I enjoyed in anticipation the grand expanse of horizon which awaited me on the heights. I had lain thus several minutes, when I became aware, with a quick and creepy

thrill, of some magnetic presence close at hand. What sort of creature was it which could thus make itself felt?

I raised my head, turned my face
instinctively toward the wall of rock
upon my right, and found myself looking directly into the yellow-green,
scintillating eyes of a great red cougar.

The great cat had crept stealthily
out from a shelter of bush and rock,
and lay upon its stomach, facing me,
and not a dozen feet distant. Its ears were pricked forward, and it was watching me with intense and savage
curiosity. The big eyes, with dilating pupils, were fixed on me in a fascinated stare.

There was no movement of the cougar's body or head, save a slight quivering about the muzzle. Its great paws were outstretched, the great talons hidden in the soft fur which covered them. The tail curved upward in a curious twist, not unlike the hook of an interrogation point.

The whole attitude of the animal was one of half-fierce, half-wondering questioning. It was as if I saw in me
a big and probably harmless reptile—
perhaps a huge kind of lizard or turtle.

I cannot recall that cowardice was ever attributed to me, even in childhood; but as I looked into the eyes
of that treacherous beast, I was afraid —terribly afraid. I dared not get to my feet, and thus invite immediate attack, for had I possessed the speed of a greyhound, there was no way to run.
I had no weapon, save a small and worse than useless pocket-knife. Plainly my only recourse was to lie in perfect quiet until the animal should gratify its curiosity and haply, if not hungry, take itself off.

I had not long to wait until there was a sudden unsheathing of the yellow claws, and the cougar leaped lightly to its feet. It came toward me fearlessly, with a slow, cat's tread, holding its head sidewise and lashing its tail.

Sick with a sense of helplessness, I could only lie inert, waiting to grapple, barehanded, with the beast, as a final resort. My only movement was to lower my face to the soil and clasp the back of my neck with both hands to prevent a fatal bite at the outset.

The cougar snarled down at me in a warning fashion. Then it gave me a heavy pat upon the shoulder—a tentative, stingsless, half-playful stroke, intended, doubtless, to test my defensive qualities. Finding me apparently of a despicable spirit, the brute coolly took possession of my body.

It sniffed fastidiously at my woollen shirt, then roughly rolled me over and lay upon me, the points of its shoulders resting squarely on my chest. I managed, while the animal's claws
were pricking my side and leg, to shift
my hands in readiness to defend my throat.

There I lay upon my back, with that great beast across me, its heart thumping against my ribs, its red lips parted,
its claws ripping at the hard soil as if
to sharpen them for a banquet!

In my despair I regretted keenly that I had not flung myself over the decliv-ity and taken my chances in a terrific slide down its steep, ragged slope. I resolved to make the desperate leap if an opportunity should offer in the struggle which must come.

There could be no doubt of the final intention of the beast. The cougar was merely indulging itself in a bit of cat
play, and when this should end, would treat me as a cat does a mouse.

The animal thrust its head down
sidewise and snarled; its big eyes narrowed to cruel points, and its hot breath played upon my face. Its tail switched back and forth, lashing first my boots and then my head, from which the hat had fallen. In every motion of the creature there was a hard, perfect efficiency, and under the working of its whipcord muscles I felt myself quite powerless.

Nevertheless, an impulse was strong upon me to clutch the beast by the throat and try to hurl it over the ledge.
But reason saved me from such a rash attempt. The cougar was a large one,
of the variety since famed as the mountain lion. Certainly it would instantly
tear me asunder if I grappled with it.
The brute snarled and scratched with increased vehemence. Its hind claws, working against my left side, tore my clothes and sliced me painfully. Through this ordeal I lay in perfect
quiet, suppressing breath and appearance of animation.

Suddenly the cougar sprang to its feet and leaped lithely away. I turned my face, in a great hope that it would abandon me, but only to see it sink
behind a spray of pencil-cedar a few yards distant. There it lay, with nothing visible save the light play of its tail. Despite its great size, the animal was still young enough to be eager for play with a too easily caught victim.

Was it possible the creature might finally go away and leave me? No;
amid the clustering cedar sprigs I caught the gleam of its yellow-green
eye—an eye fastened upon me in cunning, waiting cruelty. Evidently I was expected to move, and furnish sport in the killing. Without doubt,
too, the cougar shrewdly suspected me

of playing the part of the turtle or the porcupine.

I thought of trying to escape now.
How far and how fast might I go? I rolled cautiously over until I could look down the steep of the ledge.
To throw myself over at that point
would be destruction. The descent was not perpendicular, but quite appalling in its ragged steepness. There were scattered pines growing in soil-
filled crevices, but the nearest of them
was too far below to offer hope of lodgment.

I ran my eye along the slope in advance, and saw that by crawling some twenty-five or thirty feet on the brink
I could, if nimble enough, leap down upon a jutting point of rock, and thence into the thick of a pine beneath.
What lay immediately beyond was hidden by a projection. It was a desperate chance, even if I might crawl so far in safety—simply a chance of out-
doing the cougar in daring a perilous descent.

I crawled slowly forward along the rim of the declivity, keeping a close
eye upon the cougar's swaying tail,
and guided my movement by that danger signal. When the tail switched too nervously, I sank upon the rocks
and lay inert.

Hitching myself forward inch by inch, I actually succeeded in delaying an attack until I had reached the only safe footing for a leap. Well out of reach of a single bound of the animal,
I sprang to my feet with a yell of defiance, and jumped outward with all my might.

I alighted with a heavy jar upon the projecting rock, and instantly leaped for the pine top below. There was a dizzy swoop of twenty feet, and I crashed among the branches and clutched wildly at them as they broke beneath me. By sheer luck, as it seemed, I lodged head downward in a tangle of lower limbs which had been turned aside in their growth by the face of the rock.

Before there was time to move, I heard a rushing swish of boughs overhead, the snapping of a big limb and a muffled thud upon the slope below.
Then, clinging face downward, with but few limbs to intervene, I saw my enemy, the cougar, go down the fearful steep in a lightning slide, clawing
and spitting at the rocks, until it disappeared among some pine tops below.

Two minutes later, safely seated, I
again saw my enemy, now limping,
with drooping tail, along the bottom of the gulch. The cougar had survived that frightful descent, but the courage
had been taken out of it, and I had no
farther fear.

Although much scratched and bruised, I had no broken bones. It was only by the hardest kind of scrambling that I got safely to the top of the ledge. Then, thankful enough for life and freedom, I made my way back to camp.—Youth's Companion.

Too Far and Too Near.

An old photographer, who for many years made triumphant tours of the country with his tintype studio on wheels, tells in Lippincott's Magazine
of an amusing development due to chemicals more subtle than any in use
in his dark room.

One Fourth of July a young farmer and his sweetheart came to him to have some tintypes taken together. He posed them on a flight of stairs, with a balustrade between them. When he came from his dark room after developing the plate, the young fellow
stepped forward and said:

"Sa-a-y, couldn't ye take that over again?"

"Why, what's the matter?" the photographer asked in surprise.

"We ain't going to like that picture
a bit," was the evasive answer.

"But why not?" the photographer
persisted.

"Wal," the young man blurted out,
bushing to the roots of his hair,
"she's too far off!"

He refused, however, to pay fifty cents for a new sitting, and at last took the tintypes as they were. The next day, however, he came back to the gallery very wrathful.

"Sa-a-y," he shouted when he saw
the photographer, "take that girl off
this picture! I'm mad with her!"

Soldiers With Illustrious Names.

"When the Indians were being recruited for the regular army," said
an old soldier quoted by the Albany Evening Journal the other day, "it was the custom to give them civilized names. Down at Fort Apache army officers were recruiting Yumas and Apaches. A recruiting sergeant was naming them. Finally a company was formed, and the first sergeant, who was an American, went out to the front and centre to report his company to the commanding officer.

"Company D, sir, four privates absent."

"Who are they?" asked the commanding officer.

"Jay Gould, Joseph Jefferson, Carter H. Harrison and Russell Sage, sir," shouted the sergeant."

INDIANA LAWMAKERS

The Senate on Tuesday gave a second blow to faith-curers and Dowietes by voting to accept a favorable report on Senator Wood's bill requiring believers
in faith cure to call medical aid in the illness of children and dependents. The bill makes it a felony to withhold medical aid from children and other dependents
when such dependents die for the lack of medical aid. The bill was reported favorably after a hot argument in the Senate.
The House passed the Cooper anti-trust
bill. It is regarded as a harmless measure and is not nearly so drastic as Senator Agnew's bill. The House killed the bill appropriating $120,000 for the payment of the claim of Vincennes University based on the sale by the State of certain lands ceded by the United States government for university purposes.

The House on Wednesday passed the bill which provides for a special tax of 1 cent on each $100 of property for the support of free kindergartens. The bill applies to all cities of the State having a population of 8,000. The bill establishing boards of children's guardians was also passed. The congressional reapportionment bill, which makes Marion County a separate district, was also passed.
It strengthens some of the Republican districts, but does not make any radical changes, and four districts are left to the Democrats as at present. The bill authorizing the construction of a ship canal
from Lake Michigan to the Calumet river
will be reported favorably in the House,
as the result of a final meeting of the cities and towns committee. There will probably be a minority report also. The State is not asked to donate for the work,
assessments for benefits being made
against the property one and a half miles
on each side of the canal.

The bill to require women to remove their hats and bonnets in all public places, including churches, was killed by the House Thursday. The women gained a second victory when a constitutional amendment giving them the right of suffrage, which was supposed to have been dropped, was reported from committee
and agreed to by the Senate. The House passed the Senate bill providing for the consolidation of railroads under provisions which, it is claimed, practically destroy the power of the judiciary over them. The House also passed a bill defining the practice of medicine and recognizing osteopathy as a science.

The Calumet canal bill advanced Friday by the adoption of the majority report, favoring it. The debate was very bitter. One member pronounced it "damnable." Railroad members fought it to the end. Fortner's quo warranto bill was reconsidered and killed. The bill permitted a citizen, on giving bond, to bring quo warranto proceedings when the prosecuting attorney fails to act to determine whether a franchise has been violated.

Word has reached Terre Haute that
Rev. William Sims, formerly a pastor
at Highland Place, a suburb of Terre Haute, has been convicted of wife murder
at Poplar Bluffs, Mo.

Cecil Minick, near Yorktown, was badly injured by trying to ride a blind mule
through a barbed wire fence. The mule hit the wires at full gallop. In the recoil the rider was thrown under the animal.

A syndicate of capitalists has leased
10,000 acres of land in two townships of Laporte County, in the Kankakee marsh district. They will secure leases covering 15,000 acres more, it is said, and drill for oil. Experts say that this is one of the best oil fields in the State.

Milton Haney was accidentally shot by a woman member of the local tribe of Daughters of Pocahontas in an initiation ceremony held at the lodge room in Kokomo. In mistake she used a revolver that had fallen from the pocket of a member instead of the one filled with blank cartridges provided for the occasion.

INDIANA INCIDENTS.

RECORD OF EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK.

Miner Kills His Bosom Friend—First Beet Sugar Factory for Kankakee Valley—Gift for State University—Crushed on Brick Pile.

Patrick Gateris, 36, shot and instantly killed John Friel, his bosom friend, on the national road, west of Brazil. They had been roommates for months, and worked in the same room in the Collins Coal Company's mine. They loved the same woman and quarreled. Gateris shot Friel through the head. Gateris at once surrendered. He refuses to talk, but is greatly depressed. Both he and Friel came a year ago from Ohio.

Gives to Indiana College.

Mrs. Joseph Swain, wife of the president of the State University at Bloomington, has announced her purpose of giving $10,000 to a fund for a $30,000 building to be built at the university for the exclusive use of women. This building is to contain a gymnasium, swimming pool, bath, rest rooms and dining rooms.
Centers are to be organized in different parts of the State among the alumni to raise further funds.

First Beet Sugar Factory.

The Central Sugar Company, the first beet sugar factory in Indiana, will be built at Shelby. The plant will be in operation this season. The construction contract has been awarded to the Dyer company of Cleveland, Ohio. The Central company has been incorporated with $2,000,000 capital. Among the stockholders are W. R. Shelby of Grand Rapids, Mich.; G. W. Cass of Chicago, T. P.
Shonts and several New York men.

Fatal Fall from a Roof.

M. H. Jackson, hardware merchant of Kokomo, and Milton Martz fell thirty feet from a roof on to a brick pile. Jackson's skull was crushed and the injuries
are fatal. Martz was injured internally.
They were spouting a barn when the scaffold broke.

Keating Brothers Acquitted.

Charles and Joseph Keating, brothers,
who were jointly indicted for the murder
of their brother-in-law, Allen Robinson,
last August, were acquitted at Muncie.
Physicians testified the wounds received
by Robinson in a fight with the Keat-ings were insufficient to cause death.

State News in Brief.

William Griffin, 87, died at Spiceland.
Archibald B. McKee, 92, died near Vincennes.

Brown County reports three large panthers.

Price of window glass will go still higher.

Chas. S. Price, Nashville, was a grandfather at 34.

Noblesville ministers will fight dancing
and card playing.

An Anderson paper calls a $5,000 residence a "mansion."

Union City body works and the Moffat & Evans butterfat factory burned.

manufacturer of Shelbyville, is dead.

Mr. and Mrs. John Roberts, Centerville, have been married sixty-eight years.

Abalom Burnett, Peru, has a yellow
hen, 18 months old, that had laid 178
eggs.

William G. Ayers, Frankfort, wealthy carriage manufacturer, became violently
insane.

Indiana spiritualists are planning an eight weeks' meeting at Chesterfield next summer.

Terre Haute says the Harriman-Vanderbilt syndicate has purchased the C. &
E. I. Railroad.

At Anderson Jacob Hoppes caused the arrest of his son, Granville Hoppes, on a charge of forgery.

All the schools at New Castle have been closed because of an epidemic of measles in the town.

James Green was arrested at Marion
on the charge of boring gas mixers, and fined $10 and costs.

Jefferson Gates, farmer, near Edinburgh, fell from a tree, while he was after a coon, and may die.

Dr. Charles B. Ross, Tell City, an army
surgeon, was killed in the Philippines.
He was shot from ambush.

Jacob H. Turner of Muncie died at Hot Springs, Ark., of Bright's disease.
He was an usher at the White House.

Coroner Mershon of Brazil rendered a verdict that Patrick Gatins killed John Friel in self-defense. Gatins will be released.

Starke County will build thirty miles
of gravel roads under the 20-year road law. An engineer and viewers have been appointed.

J. Lowenstein & Co. of Waterloo, recently failed, have filed a petition in bankruptcy. The liabilities are $22,000, assets $11,000.

Mrs. Oscar Nool, the girl wife of a well-known farmer residing at Leesburg, has mysteriously disappeared. Foul play or kidnaping is suspected.

paralysis. She weighed 676 pounds and was the mother of thirteen children.

There was a big fox drive in Redding township, several hundred persons taking part. Everybody had a rattling good time, but caught no foxes. Some say a half dozen foxes were sighted, but others contend the same fox was counted more than once.

SOLDIERS MAY GET HOMES

In the Indian Reservation Soon to be Opened to Settlement.

COM. NO. 1, T., Feb. 2.
Editor Tribune:

For the benefit of the many old soldiers who do not know that their great opportunity to get homes on public lands will soon be at hand, I am prompted to give the following information through your columns:

The Indian reservation lately ceded to the United States government by the Comanches, Apaches, and Kiowas will be opened to settlement sometime before August 6th. They consist of about two and one-half million acres of very fertile land.

It has been provided that soldiers may get land in these reservations by filing declaratory statement. If convenient they may come and file in person, if not, they may file through attorney, authorized by power of attorney.

In order to be entitled to file statement they must have served in the United States army of the rebellion at least ninety days, and have been honorably discharged; must not have made a homestead entry or filed a declaratory statement previous to that time (but if before 1872, they made a homestead entry of less than 160 acres, they may make an additional entry sufficient to make with the former entry 160 acres); since August 30, 1890 they must not have filed on a tract of land, which with the tract applied for would make more than 320 acres, and at the time of filing declaratory statement must not be the owner of more than 160 acres of land elsewhere.

If a soldier entitled to file be dead, his wife, if living and unmarried, is entitled, but if she be dead or married his minor orphan child by proper guardian are entitled.

Soldiers will not be allowed to take up homestead before the reservation is declared open by the President, as a great many think. Just when it will be opened no one can tell, but it will be well to be prepared for it at any time.

A Fireman's Close Call.

"I stuck to my engine, although every joint ached and every nerve was racked with pain," writes C. W. Bellamy, a locomotive fireman of Burlington, Iowa. "I was weak and pale, without any appetite and all ran down. As I was about to give up, I got a bottle of Electric Bitters and after taking it, I felt as well as I ever did in my life." Weak, sickly, run down people always gain new life, strength and vigor from their use. Try them. Satisfaction guaranteed by Thomas Slattery. Price 50c.

A bill is now pending before the State Legislature, which if it becomes a law, will be one of the basest and rankest deals ever given to the newspapers outside the county seats, in any state in the union, and not only is it a hard blow to the newspapers, but it will add double the cost to the people in general. The bill provides that all legal publications of any description shall be published in papers at the county seats designated as the official organs for the parties. Of course the party organs at the county seats have nothing to say against this infamous bill, but the legislators who vote for the bill will be duly tabbed, and will find out what the papers outside the county seats have to say in future campaigns. We believe, and so do the people who will have to bear the expense of two publications instead of one, that the bill is infamous, and should not become a law.

Recent experiments show that all classes of foods may be completely digested by a preparation called Kodel Dyspepsia Cure, which absolutely digests what you eat. As it is the only combination of all the natural digestants ever devised, the demand for it has become enormous. It has never failed to cure the worst cases of indigestion and it always gives instant relief. T. E. Slattery.

A Serious Accident.

The following letter from Miss Leah Smith, formerly a resident of this place, and who was recently injured by the street cars in Chicago, explains itself.

ST. JOSEPH'S HOSPITAL,
Chicago, Ill., Feb. 1, 1901.

MY DEAR PARENTS:

As this is Pa's birthday I will endeavor to write to you all. I am feeling pretty well at present; have not so much pain and sleep well nearly every night. The sisters and nurses do all they can to make me comfortable. My doctor is coming this afternoon to examine my leg to see how strong I am. Every one says I had plenty of nerve. I did not lose consciousness once until they put me under ether. I did not know anything then until they had me in bed. They had me on a table while they set my leg. They were going to set it without giving me anything, but after examining it they said that it was broken badly. It is broken about half way between the knee and ankle in three places, one being broken twice and the bone that is split into the other bone is broke once. That is as far as I can find out. The doctor won't tell me, but I pay attention to what is done and said in the operating room. I have a cut on my head about an inch long; it is healed over nicely and will only look like a scratch. I have a great deal of company, so can't complain. The sister said she thought I was really popular. I came in on Friday evening and every day after that until Sunday there were five or six and sometimes more, and on Sunday there 24 here to see me. There has been someone here every day. I wish I could see you all, but I will try to come home for a couple of weeks before I go back to work. As I have nothing more to write, will bring my scribbling to a close; so good-by to all.

Your loving daughter,
LEAH SMITH.

P. S.—I have so much to tell you when I see you. Tell Leonard he must throw the street car off the track when he comes out here, and Florence must study hard. I suppose they both, or all the children, will be so large I will hardly know them.

Encourage Young Men at Home.

A recent issue of the Elkhart Review contained a most excellent editorial upon appreciation of home. Among other things Editor Kent remarked that the talent and worth of young men are not appreciated as they should be by those who have known them all their lives. As a consequence, many of them go away from home where better opportunities await them and often the result is, they achieve greater success than was expected by those who are disposed to think of them only as boys, instead of young men who are capable of performing an important part in the business or profession of their choice. This lack of appreciation which drives them away is often more of a detriment to the community than it is to the young men, in that it robs the community of their talents and of the valuable service which they might render it, but which is given to the people of some other place instead. For this reason among others, each community should offer every encouragement to its ambitious and worthy young men and women. It should go farther than this and endeavor to make opportunities for them to develop and use their talents to the best possible advantage. This is a duty which each city and each country neighborhood owes to its young people, and besides, the service thus rendered will often be repaid many fold.
