MANY TOWNS BALLOT

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS IN VARIOUS PLACES.

Carter H. Harrison Re-Elected in Chicago for a Third Term—Rolla Wells Is the St. Louis World's Fair Mayor—Results in Many States.

Carter H. Harrison was elected Mayor of Chicago for the third time Tuesday by a plurality over Elbridge Haney of 28,257. The total vote was 296,596 out of a registry of 400,166. The number of voters who failed to go to the polls was 108,570, or over one-quarter of the electorate of the city. All of the remaining candidates on the Democratic city ticket were elected along with Mayor Harrison. In fact, Charles F. Gunther, the candidate for City Treasurer, ran better than the Mayor, his plurality being 33,376, or 5,119 more than that given the head of the ticket. Of the two other candidates both William Loeffler, elected City Clerk, and Andrew Ryan, City Attorney, suffered severely, and, although they have safe

CARTER H. HARRISON.

pluralities, they are not large ones. Oscar Hebel, the Republican candidate for City Attorney, heads his ticket. The Second Ward, Judge Haney's home, where a majority of 3,509 was claimed for him, did not give a third of that. The Third Ward he barely carried, and in the Sixth and Seventh fell much below the figures his supporters had expected.

Rolla Wells, the Democratic candidate for World's Fair Mayor of St. Louis, has been elected by about 10,000 plurality over James G. Blaine, Jr., Republican, and Lee Merriweather, municipal ownership. The latter declares he will contest on plea of frauds. With Mr. Wells was elected the entire Democratic ticket. St. Louis is normally a Republican city, by about 15,000 plurality. This has been reversed and a Democratic plurality of 10,000 rolled up. During the day many persons were beaten or assaulted, and two were shot. One of those hit by a bullet was E. A. Rozier, the United States District Attorney, and the other William Dwyer, formerly a Cuban volunteer.

Municipal elections were held in nearly all the cities of Wisconsin, local issues instead of party questions deciding the contests. Democratic gains were shown in a number of places. Cities electing Republican Mayors are: Janesville, Edgerton, Waukesha, Beloit and Eau Claire. Democratic Mayors were elected in Sheboygan, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Racine, Ashland, Marinette, Kenosha, La Crosse and Madison. Joshua Eric Dodge was elected Supreme Court judge without opposition.

Municipal elections were held in all the larger cities of Kansas. In numerous cities the issue was prohibition. In Kansas City, Kan., the largest city in the State, there were straight party tickets, headed by B. L. Short, Republican, and W. H. Craddock, Democrat. The latter won by 900 plurality. In Topeka Albert Parker, Democrat, is believed elected Mayor by 100 votes. He was opposed by the temperance people. J. W. Orr, Democrat, was elected Mayor of Atchison by 500 majority. At Leavenworth the entire Democratic ticket was elected by a majority of 500. At Wichita, where Mrs. Nation began her crusade, the temperance ticket was overwhelmingly defeated by the Republicans.

Municipal elections were held in the various cities of the third class throughout Minnesota. Party lines were not drawn, and in many cases there was only one ticket in the field. Wherever the issue was "license" or "no license," the former was successful. In several instances the question of issuing bonds for various local improvements was voted upon.

Denver, Colo., went Republican, the only part at all in doubt being the mayoralty. Henry V. Johnson, present Mayor, ran independently on a ticket which was almost identical with that of the Republicans, headed by Robert R. Wright. The combined vote for the two is conceded to exceed that for the Democratic ticket headed by Judge E. T. Wells by from 4,000 to 5,000. Johnson's vote is not far from 4,000, which leaves the vote for Mayor in doubt.

The issue in nearly every small town in Nebraska was license or no license, and reports received from fifty villages indicate that the majority of them have gone for license. In a few of the larger towns politics entered into the campaigns. The vote was generally light and no disturbances were reported. Omaha and South Omaha operate under special charters, and did not hold mayoralty elections.

Municipal elections were held throughout Arkansas Tuesday, and in nearly every case where party lines were drawn the Democratic nominees were elected. In Little Rock Mayor W. R. Duley (Dem.) was re-elected by a large majority over E. W. Perrin (Ind.).

The expenditures of the government of the United States for the current year were never before exceeded except in 1863-4-5, during the Civil War. The greatest expenditures of any year in the history of the country were $1,297,555,224 in 1865; in 1864 the total was $865,322,614; in 1863 it was $714,740,725, and then comes 1901 with a total of $710,150,862, which will be exceeded by nearly twenty millions in 1902, as the appropriations at the last session of Congress amount to the enormous sum of $720,911,683, and if Senator Carter had not beaten the river and harbor bill they would have reached nearly eight hundred millions. Low tide in national expenses was touched in 1878, when the total was only $236,804,327, and the amount per capita of population was $4.98. The most economical year, however, was 1886, when the total expenditures were $242,483,138, a per capita of $4.22. Expenses have been rapidly increasing since the Civil War, and ten years ago, in 1889, we passed the three hundred million mark. In 1898 we passed the four hundred million dollar mark, and in 1899 the half billion mark.

The census office has received through the State Department a consular report on the population of the German empire and its changes in the last century. The population is now about 56,000,000, being larger than that of any other country in Europe except Russia, which has in Europe alone over 106,000,000 subjects. In 1789 the whole German empire had a population of about 26,000,000, and at the close of the Napoleonic wars in 1815 Germany, although somewhat reduced in size, had a population of something more than 30,000,000. In 1845, since which date the area has remained almost constant, Germany had 34,000,000; in 1865, 40,000,000; in 1885, 47,000,000, and in 1900 about 55,500,000, an increase in the century of nearly 30,000,000. The Germans feel a natural pride in the rapid growth of their population compared with that of their rival across the Rhine. In 1845 France had about 36,000,000 inhabitants and Germany 34,000,000. Now France has 38,000,000, or only two-thirds the number of Germany.

The engagement of Miss Martha Hichborn, daughter of Rear Admiral Hichborn, to James G. Blaine, Jr., while not formally announced, is well understood. Miss Hichborn is considered the most beautiful woman in Washington. Miss Hichborn's most intimate friends declare it to be a probational engagement, inasmuch as the admiral's beautiful young daughter does not hesitate to affirm to her intimates that she has placed James G. Blaine, Jr., upon a year's probation of good behavior. If, during that time, he entirely abjures those serious failings which have heretofore mitigated so seriously against his standing in society and advancement in life, she will marry him.

MISS HICHBORN.

Satisfactory progress is being made with the wireless telegraphy experiments under the direction of Willis Moore of the weather bureau. Messages have been repeatedly transmitted a distance of fifty miles overland. Towers and apparatus have been erected at points along the Virginia and North Carolina coast to command a wide expanse of ocean. Those in charge are confident that one hundred miles can be covered without the use of a wire and are hopeful that even a greater distance will be mastered. The methods and mechanism in operation are distinct from those used elsewhere, and are being patented as fast as perfected. Under the arrangement with Secretary Wilson, made with the experts in charge, the government will share the benefits of all inventions and discoveries that may result from the tests, those employed binding themselves to give them without royalty.

Chief Wilkie of the secret service is not aware that United States silver dollars are being coined in Mexico. He says that if they are being made there and put in circulation in this country the operations have escaped the vigilance of his agents, who are constantly on the watch for such violations of the law, and have hitherto shown marked efficiency in the discharge of their duties.

IF every one in the world were healthy and happy what a glad day Easter would be. But the sun rises every Easter morning on a multitude of sick and afflicted. The Easter lilies gladden the hearts of the sick and well alike.

But to the sick something more than the Easter lily is necessary to bring that hope and cheer which every one expects on Easter day. The well need no physician, but the sick need a remedy.

Nearly one-half the people in the United States are suffering from some form or phase of catarrhal ailment. These ailments take different forms at different seasons of the year. In the springtime catarrh assumes a systemic form, producing nervousness, lassitude and general languor.

Systemic catarrh deranges the digestion and through deranged digestion it impoverishes or contaminates the blood. Thus we have blood diseases and nervous derangements through systemic catarrh.

Peruna is a specific for these cases. No other remedy yet devised by the medical profession is able to successfully meet so many phases of spring ailments as Peruna.

Men and women everywhere are praising Peruna as follows:

A First Class Tonic.

Wm. A. Collier, Assistant Paymaster U. S. N., writes: "I have taken Peruna, and recommend it to those needing a first-class tonic."

A Great Tonic.

Hon. M. C. Butler, Ex-U. S. Senator and Ex-Governor of South Carolina, writes from Edgefield, S. C.: "I have been using Peruna for a short period and I feel very much relieved. It is indeed a wonderful medicine and besides a great tonic."

Splendid for the Nerves.

Robert B. Mantell, the famous actor, writes from New York City: "Peruna is splendid and most invigorating—refreshing to the nerves and brain."

For General Debility.

Hon. Jno. V. Wright, of the Law Department, General Land Office of Tennessee, writes: "I wish everyone who is suffering with general debility or prostration could know of Peruna."

Proportion of Grapes to Wine.

Five ounces and a half of grapes are required to make one glass of good wine.

What Do the Children Drink?

Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food drink called GRAIN-O? It is delicious and nourishing and takes the place of coffee. The more Grain-O you give the children the more health you distribute through their systems. Grain-O is made of pure grains, and when properly prepared tastes like the choice grades of coffee, but costs about 1/4 as much. All grocers sell it. 15c and 25c.

The hackney coach proprietors and cabdrivers of Naples have formed themselves into a company for the purpose of transforming the hackney coaches and carryalls into automobiles.

Coughing Leads to Consumption.

Kemp's Balsam will stop the cough at once. Go to your druggist to-day and get a sample bottle free. Sold in 25 and 50-cent bottles. Go at once; delays are dangerous.

Brunswick, Me., owns 1,000 acres of land on which it is proposed to plant white pine as a public investment.

Lane's Family Medicine

Moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy this is necessary. Acts gently on the liver and kidneys. Cures sick headache. Price 25 and 50c.

A Spring Tonic.

Mrs. D. W. Timberlake, Lynchburg, Va., says: "There is no better spring tonic than Peruna, and I have used about all of them."

A Good Tonic.

Captain Percy W. Moss, Second Arkansas Volunteers, writes from Paragould, Ark.: "I find Peruna a very good spring tonic, and will readily recommend it at any time."

Builds Up the Entire System.

Miss Jennie Johnson, 3118 Lake Park avenue, Chicago, Ill., is Vice President of Chicago Teachers' Federation. She writes: "Peruna restores the functions of nature, induces sleep and builds up the entire system."

Makes Steady Nerves.

D. L. Wallace, Charter Member International Barbers' Union, 15 Western avenue, Minneapolis, Minn., writes: "I now feel splendid. My head is clear, my nerves are steady, I enjoy my food and rest well."

The Best of Tonics.

Hon. W. C. Chambers, Chief Justice of Samoa, says: "I have tried one bottle of Peruna and I can truthfully say it is one of the best tonics I ever used."

A Grand Tonic.

Mrs. Gridley, mother of Captain Gridley, of the "Olympia," writes: "I used Peruna and can truthfully say it is a grand tonic."

For Overwork.

Mr. Tefft Johnson, a prominent actor of Washington, D. C., writes from Fourteenth and "P" streets: "In the effort to improve a condition impaired by overwork I have found nothing that has done as much good as Peruna."

For a Worn-out System.

Mrs. Catherine Toft, President "Val-kyrion Association," 5649 Cottage Grove avenue, Chicago, Ill., writes: "I often advise Peruna in cases of a worn-out system and a broken down constitution."

Wedding Bells.

Wednesday, April 10th, 1901, at 11 a. m., in the M. E. parsonage at Culver, Mr. Harry J. Leopold and Miss Huldah Castleman were united in marriage by Rev. Forest C. Taylor, pastor M. E. church. The young couple are both of Starke county, and well known in this community. They went north on the 12:19 train.

The Easter bells and wedding bells Had quite agreed that they Would ring out clear in mellow tones Both on the self-same day.

On Easter Sunday, April 7, 1901, George W. Overmyer and Orpha McFarland were united in the holy bonds of wedlock by Rev. Forest C. Taylor, pastor of the Culver M. E. church. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents at 11 a. m. The guests being assembled a march and voluntary were played by Miss Addie Schaffer, at which the small procession filed into the room and took their places.

The prayer was said,

The service read,

After congratulating the happy couple, they all assembled in the dining room where a bountiful repast was served. There were two bridesmaids, Miss Pearl Schaffer and Miss Stella Calbeck, also two groomsmen, Mr. Robert McFarland and Mr. Guy Overmyer, brother of the bride and groom respectively. After spending a pleasant afternoon and being plentifully showered with rice, the couple departed on the evening train for Chicago, where they will reside for the future.

Mr. and Mrs. Overmyer are well known and highly respected in this vicinity and leave a large concourse of friends who will deeply regret their absence.

Guests from a distance were: The Misses Addie and Pearl Schaffer of South Bend, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Overmyer and Mr. Chas. M. Houghton of Chicago.

Mrs. C. E. VanDeusen, of Kilbourn, Wis., was afflicted with stomach trouble and constipation for a long time. It is not so much what the newspapers say, as what neighbor says to neighbor, or friend to friend, that has brought Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy into such general use. It is as natural for people to express their gratitude after using this remedy as it is for water to flow down hill. It is the one remedy that can always be depended upon, whether a baby be sick with cholera infantum or a man with cholera morbus. It is pleasant, safe and reliable. Have you a bottle of it in your home? For sale by Thomas Slattery.

Barber and Cadet Stein, and the good playing of Capt. Winter, Walter Hand and Cadet Masters were the features of the game.

Maxinkuckee.

Easter Sunday, April 7th, was an occasion of pleasure at the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. Jordan Jones, of Washington, it being the marriage of their daughter, Miss Victoria Jones to Rev. A. L. Wilson, of Maxinkuckee. At 12 m. the bride and groom entered the parlor and in the presence of perhaps thirty witnesses, Rev. Whittaker in a brief ceremony joined them together in holy wedlock. After congratulations all repaired to the dining room where a bountiful repast was served. The afternoon was spent in conversation and the guests departed wishing Mr. and Mrs. Wilson a long and happy life. The bride and groom are members of the Washington M. P. church and active workers in the Christian Endeavor and Sunday school. Rev. Wilson was a student at Adrian College for three years and expects to enter the ministry in the near future. At present their home will be in the town of Maxinkuckee.

DEERING AT PARIS IN 1900.

The Famous Chicago Harvester Company Received More and Greater Honors than Were Ever Before Accorded an American Exhibitor in the History of Expositions.

America may well feel proud of the interest which her citizens took in the Paris Exposition and the elaborate exhibits which were prepared with consummate skill and displayed in a manner not excelled by any other country. Those of Harvesting Machinery in particular were most complete and interesting. The Deering Harvester Company of Chicago, America's foremost manufacturer of this line of goods, was accorded the position of honor, having contributed more to the advancement of the art of harvesting than any other manufacturer, living or dead, and with a greater array of important inventions to its credit than any other company in the world.

Visitors to the Exposition were prompt to accord the Deering exhibits supreme honors, and it only remained for official mandate to ratify the popular verdict, which was done in a manner as substantial as it was well-merited. Each one of the seven Deering exhibits secured the highest award in its class.

In addition to four high decorations, the Deering Harvester Company received twenty-five awards, or twenty-nine in all, as follows: Decoration of Officer of the Legion of Honor, Decoration of Chevalier of the Legion of Honor, two decorations of Officer of Merite Agricole, a Special Certificate of Honor, the Grand Prize, six Gold Medals, six Silver Medals and eleven Bronze Medals, including Deering Collaborator Medals.

The Decoration of the Legion of Honor was instituted by Napoleon Bonaparte when First Consul in 1802, and is only conferred in recognition of distinguished military or civil achievements. It is the highest distinction in the gift of the French Republic.

The Decoration of Merite Agricole is an honor of but slightly less importance, which is conferred upon those who have contributed greatly to the advancement of agriculture.

An Official Certificate of Honor was accorded the Deering Retrospective Exhibit, which showed the improvements in harvesting machinery during the past century, and excited the highest praise of the French government officials who had entrusted to the Deering Harvesting Company the preparation of this most important exhibit. By special request this exhibit has been presented to the National Museum of Arts and Sciences at Paris, where it has become a permanent feature of that world-famed institution.

The Deering Twine Exhibit and Corn Harvester Exhibit, both of which received the highest awards, have by request of the French government been presented to the National Agricultural College of France.

There was no field trial, either official or otherwise, in connection with the Paris Exposition, but the most important foreign contest the past season was held under the auspices of the Russian Expert Commission at the Governmental Farm at Toms, Siberia, Aug. 14 to 18. All the leading American and European machines participated and were subjected to the most difficult tests by the government agriculturist. The Expert Commission awarded the Deering Harvester Company the Grand Silver Medal of the Minister of Agriculture and Domain, which was the highest award.

The Deering Harvester Works are the largest of their kind in the world, covering eighty-five acres and employing 9,000 people. They are equipped with modern automatic machines, many of which perform the labor of from five to fifteen hands.

This company is also the largest manufacturer of Binder Twine in the world, having been first to produce single-strand binder twine, such as is in general use to-day, making over a third of the product of the entire world. The output of its factory for a single day would tie a band around the earth at the equator, with several thousand miles to spare. The annual production would fill a freight train twenty miles long. Made into a mat two feet wide, it would reach across the American continent from ocean to ocean.

Deering machines are known as LIGHT DRAFT IDEALS, consisting of Binders, Mowers, Reapers, Corn Harvesters, Shredders and Rakes.

This company exhibited at the Paris Exposition an Automobile Mower, which attracted much attention; and exhibitions were given with one of these machines in the vicinity of Paris throughout the season.

Don't Call Him "Doc."

Beware of how you call your physician "doc." A well-known specialist of this city said: "A patient of mine was in here a few days ago. I had done something for him for which I could charge any amount in reason. I sat at the desk with a pencil in my hand. He began to speak to me familiarly, addressing me as 'doc.' Every time he 'doc'ed me I made a mark on a piece of paper and charged him $1 extra for each time. He doesn't know the cost of his familiarity, but I do."—Milwaukee Journal.

A WOMAN'S HEART.

Mrs. Samuel G. Dyer Tells a Harrowing Tale of Suffering.

McCarron, Mich., April 8.—(Special.)—Mrs. Samuel G. Dyer of this place has given the following interesting letter for publication:

"For years I suffered intense pain in the region of the heart. I doctored with the best physicians. Some of them would relieve me for a short time, but the pain always returned. My heart was so bad that I would have to sit up in bed for hours, to get relief. I would lie awake almost all night. I am 62 years of age, and no one can understand how much I suffered with this Heart Trouble.

"About a year ago I heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and commenced to use them. From the first my condition improved. The pain in my heart gradually grew less, and my general health much better, and now I can say positively that I am entirely cured. I can sleep all night, and enjoy almost perfect health. I thank God for the cure that has come to me through the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I have thought long over the matter of giving this letter for publication, and am doing so now without any solicitation whatever, and simply because I feel it to be my duty to express the profound gratitude I feel for my recovery, and to let others who may be suffering as I was know how they may find a cure. I know that nothing else but Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me, because I have taken no other medicine for over a year. I feel better now than I have for many years, and it is all due to the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Mrs. Dyer's case and its cure has attracted a great deal of attention, and her letter is a splendid tribute to the curative properties of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

TRIED TO BUNCO CLERGYMAN.

"Panhandlers" Keep a List of Their Victims for Future Operations.

"One morning a man came to me with a letter written on stamped paper and signed with the name of a clergyman of my church in a town in Massachusetts," writes Rev. David M. Steele, of "The Lovers of a Cheerful Giver," in the Ladies' Home Journal. "His story, told in great embarrassment, was that he had run away from home. According to the letter his aged mother was dying with grief, and the appeal of his rector was to the man to come back at once. The minister's check for eight dollars, drawn on a bank in this same town, was inclosed with which to pay car fare. He was distressed and was anxious to go, but the difficulty was he had been in New York only five days, knew no one, and could not be identified at any bank. Would I cash the check? I told him to come back in a couple of hours and meantime I telegraphed inquiries to the Reverend C—. The answer came, 'Do not know any such man.' When the fellow returned he was arrested, and in his pocket a neatly kept memorandum book was found containing the name of nearly every clergyman in Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Pittsburg and Philadelphia. This had been his route. On each page of the book there were columns, headed, 'Name, Date, Amount and Remarks,' and in these were such entries as, 'Reverend R—, $4.00. Got after an hour's work.' 'Rev. S—, No good. Can't work.' 'Rev. T—, $6.00. An easy mark.' The dates ran back through three years. When he had completed his tour he would probably either have sold his book to some one else to use, or he would have changed his appearance, invented a new story, and approached a second time the people who were worth it."

A Story of Lady Beaconsfield.

There were few more devoted attachments than that which existed between Lord Beaconsfield and his wife. Lady Beaconsfield usually drove with his lordship to the house, and was always awake to hear what success had been his and what speeches had told for or against his party. Once when setting him down at Westminster, as he was about to make some very important speech on a burning question of the day, her finger caught in the carriage door when the servant slammed it. No cry escaped her lips and the kind face smiled back at Disraeli untroubled by a sign of pain as he turned to enter the House. "Had he known how that hand was hurting me," she said afterward, "it would have upset him for the whole night. Quite time enough for him to be worried about it when he comes home." She lies in Hughenden churchyard, and in due time her husband was laid beside her. Long after her death he said of her: "The severest of critics, but a perfect wife."

Quite Likely.

She—I wonder who it was who wrote "Drink to me only with thine eyes."

He—Maybe it was the same fellow who invented the expression, "Here's looking at you."—Philadelphia Press.

THE BEST HE EVER SAW.

A Missionary Pronounces on the Farming Possibilities of Western Canada.

Just at present considerable interest is being aroused in the fact that a few new districts (of limited acreage) are being opened up by the Canadian government in Saskatchewan and Assiniboia (Western Canada), and any information concerning this country is eagerly sought. Mr. W. R. Corser, of Higginsville, Lafayette County, Mo., was a delegate there during last summer, and, writing of his impressions, he says:

"I found surprising yields of grain of all descriptions. One farmer I visited threshed off 175 acres:

"Six hundred bushels of wheat from fifteen acres, forty bushels to the acre.

"Six hundred bushels of barley from ten acres, sixty bushels to the acre.

"Fifteen thousand bushels of oats from 150 acres, 100 bushels to the acre.

"The samples were all No. 1.

"I also saw a considerable number of stock. Swine do well and there is no disease among them. They are a good source of income to the farmer. The cattle on the range beat anything I ever saw. Fat and ready for beef, fully matured and ripened on the nutritious grasses of the prairie. I am firmly convinced that this country offers better facilities for a poor man than any I have ever seen."

Information concerning these lands can be had from any agent of the government, whose advertisement appears elsewhere.

WHITE MAN LYNCHED

TAKEN FROM AN ARKANSAS JAIL AND HANGED.

Young Man Was Son of Respectable Parents and Crime Was Murder—Young Milliner Is Burned to Death at Ada, Minn.

May Hearn of Luxora, Ark., was taken from jail at Osceola, Ark., and lynched. He was a young white man, son of a respectable farmer, and his crime was the murder of Clyde King at a place of bad repute in Luxora, on Sunday, March 31. The mob, numbering about fifteen, entered Osceola about midnight. Sentries were posted along the main street and a posse was sent out to effect the capture of Deputy Sheriff Goodrich and Night Watchman Skipwith. Both were disarmed and compelled to accompany the lynchers. Arriving at the jail the lynchers opened the front door and made their way to the cell room. Hearn sank on his knees and commenced to pray. He was marched out into the jail, a rope was immediately produced and placed about his neck. In the rear of the jail is a huge walnut tree, from whose limbs the victim was left dangling in the air. After it was found that Hearn was dead the mob rode out of town.

TELLS STORY OF HIS CRIMES.

Young Dupuy of Minneapolis Confesses to Burglary and Arson.

A young man giving the name D. M. Depew, who had been arrested at the Chittenden Hotel, Columbus, Ohio, on a charge of attempting to defraud the proprietor, made a remarkable confession to the chief of police. He said that his right name was M. R. Dupuy and that his home was in Minneapolis. While at Minneapolis he claimed he embezzled $200 from Fletcher Brothers of the Minneapolis Elevator Company, by which he was employed as confidential clerk and bookkeeper. Then he says he fled, only to return and steal $100 worth of goods from the company's storehouse, after which he set fire to the building, the blaze destroying an entire block. Seeking his parents, he was aided by them in escaping. His parents, he claims, were respectable and wealthy and urged him to flee, so as not to disgrace them.

GIRL BURNS TO DEATH.

Hair Catches Fire from Flame of Gasoline Stove.

While Miss Maggie Ribbers, a milliner at Ada, Minn., was preparing her toilet she was burned to death. She had heated a curling iron over a small gasoline stove. In some manner her hair caught fire and the flames communicated to the inflammable millinery stock, the building and its contents being destroyed. Miss Ribbers' screams were heard by neighbors, but before she could be rescued she was burned to a crisp.

Two of the smallest people alive were passengers on the steamship Rhein from Bremen. Their names are Fatma and Smaun, sister and brother, natives of Burmah. Smaun, the brother is 19.685 inches in height and his sister is just 20.4724 inches. Smaun will soon be 18 years old. Fatma is 19. They are professional actors and have an engagement in New York.

Attempt to Wreck a Train.

An attempt was made to wreck No. 1 west-bound Short Line passenger at Malad Bridge, 100 miles east of Boise, Idaho. A large number of ties were piled on the track. The engineer did not see the obstruction in time to stop the train. The engine was damaged and brake beams were broken under some of the cars.

Royalty on Klondike Coal.

Advices from Alaska report that the discovery of coal in the Klondike has brought forth an order from Ottawa that a royalty must be paid on coal the same as on gold. This order caused a general protest, as consumers say the price of fuel is already sufficiently high without the addition of a royalty.

CORN KING PHILLIPS.

He's Again the Center of Interest in the Grain Market.

George H. Phillips, leader of an army of farmers and country investors in the bull campaign in corn, oats and wheat, was attacked Wednesday by the united bear forces of the Chicago Board of Trade, led by half a dozen great speculative generals, and given such a fight as brokers will speak about for years to come. He saw 3 cents clipped off the price of wheat, 2 cents off corn and more than a cent off oats. He put up $200,000 in margins in addition to $600,000 he had put up before in three days, sacrificed all his wheat holdings in order to make himself stronger in corn and oats, and came out at the end of the day confident that he would win in the end. Now he predicts 60-cent corn by the end of the month instead of 50-cent corn, of which he has talked before. Mr. Phillips made a reputation for a brilliant, skillful campaigner when he brought his November corn deal to a successful close.

GEORGE H. PHILLIPS.

Phillips is as remarkable a figure in the speculative world to-day as "Old Hutch" was a few years ago, and is fully as powerful. He is not yet 32 years old, but his keenness and foresight and his courage have made him a giant in trade circles. He is the youngest man who ever engineered a corner in grain in Chicago.

RICE MURDER IS OUT.

Dead New York Millionaire's Valet, Jones, Confesses Crime.

Charles F. Jones, the valet-secretary of William Marsh Rice, the old New York millionaire of whose murder Albert T. Patrick, the lawyer, is accused, confessed on the witness stand that at Patrick's instigation he had given the old man mercurial pills, oxalic acid and chloroform, from the effects of which he died. He said that when the mercurial pills did not have the desired effect, Patrick gave him the acid, which he administered to the millionaire. Then, at Patrick's order, he placed a sponge and towel saturated with chloroform over the old man's face. Jones said he left a towel saturated with the drug over the old man's head for thirty minutes.

The confession was the climax of a remarkable recital, in which was laid bare the details of an alleged subtle conspiracy which had for its object the seizure of $3,000,000 in cash and negotiable securities and the conversion of $3,000,000 in realty to the uses of the alleged chief conspirator.

JOHNSON FOR PRESIDENT.

Friends of Cleveland's New Mayor Propose His Nomination in 1904.

According to a Cleveland dispatch the election of Tom L. Johnson to the mayoralty of Cleveland is accepted by his political friends to mean that he has won his first great victory in his march toward the presidential chair. His immediate friends feel absolutely certain that he will be the nominee of the party three years hence. They point out that he is the only leader in the Democratic party on whom both factions can unite.

The annual track inspection of the Illinois Central system has been finished.

It is reported that one or two of the smaller roads west bound from Chicago are again paying commissions for the sale of tickets.

Net earnings of the Santa Fe for February were $1,510,260, an increase of $154,378. Gross receipts amounted to $4,142,989, an increase of $586,306.

Actual construction of the Los Angeles and Salt Lake City road has begun at San Pedro, Cal. Tons of seventy-five pound steel rails are now being laid.

It is said that at the coming conference in Gotham a plan will be discussed which will end in a practical amalgamation of the four big Harriman syndicate systems in the West—Chicago and Alton, Illinois Central, Union Pacific and Southern Pacific.

Five of the finest cars that have been turned out by the builders in months have been placed on the Burlington road. The new cars are seventy feet long and are built on the six-wheel trucks, steam heated, lighted by gas and fitted with a system of refrigeration. The inside finish is in quarter-sawn Flemish oak.

FARM LIFE THE BEST

ILLINOIS BOYS URGED TO STAY IN THE COUNTRY.

Plan to Check Emigration to the Cities Is Adopted—District School Teachers Will Aid—Course in Agriculture Prepared.

To stem the tide of emigration of farm-er boys to the cities will hereafter be one of the duties of the Illinois district school teacher. At the meeting of County School Superintendents at Springfield the statement was made that the attendance at country schools was falling off so fast as almost to threaten their extinction. This assertion was confirmed in a measure by the last census report, which indicates clearly that the rural population of Illinois is drifting gradually to the cities and larger towns, leaving the farms with a smaller population each year.

A plan to check this emigration has been a problem engaging the attention of country educators for years, and they think a solution has been reached finally in the bill permitting the consolidation of poor districts and the new course of agriculture just introduced into the rural schools of the State.

Assuming that the country boy grows up ignorant of the real beauties of country life and farming, a course of study has been prepared which will stimulate his interest in things agricultural. When he becomes of age the theory is that he will choose to remain on the farm rather than seek the more strenuous life of the city.

A committee of school superintendents was appointed by the Springfield convention to prepare the new course. It follows closely the course in the University of Illinois' College of Agriculture.

Every topic concerning the farm is covered, a detailed description of each kind of grain, vegetable, and fruit being required of the scholars. The students are expected to plant experimental patches of various products, watching each daily and reporting on the progress made. The amount constituting a day's work in the different lines of labor about a farm is asked in one question, and the student is required to make a close study of the subject.

China finally refused to sign the Manchurian treaty. Russian troops hold Manchuria. Moreover, Russia is bending every energy to complete the Transsiberian Railway through Manchuria to Port Arthur, and the workmen will not only be protected by troops, but it may be set down as certain the completed railroad will always be guarded by soldiers. Practically, then, Russia to-day holds Manchuria and is not likely to voluntarily give up control of the province. Only three powers—the United States, Great Britain and Germany—are strong enough to essay the task of driving Russia out of Manchuria. American interference is out of the question, while Great Britain and Germany cannot agree. Evidently there is no prospect that any of the powers will come to the aid of China. Japan claims Korea as her own ultimate inheritance, while Russia in Manchuria will always be a menace to Korea as well as to Japan. Motives of self-protection naturally lead Japan to make war on Russia. Under exactly similar circumstances it might well be believed that the United States would go to war to prevent Germany or Great Britain or France from taking possession of Mexico, where the presence of a great rival power would be a constant menace to this country. Japan is a conservative nation, tenacious of her rights. She feels strong enough to cope with Russia on the sea, but prudently doubts her ability to successfully meet the Czar's army on land. Her position is a difficult one and the situation perplexing.

The presence of the Italian fleet at Toulon and the fetes arranged in honor of the Duke of Genoa by the French government may have political significance fraught with interest to all Europe. Italy's place in the dreibund may be vacant within two years. If Victor Emmanuel withdraws from the alliance with Germany and Austria—an alliance dating from March 13, 1887—he will be compelled by force of Italy's isolation in Europe to seek new friendships. He can go nowhere but to France and Russia. In many respects an alliance between Italy, France and Russia would be of immense advantage to all three, for it would almost beyond question give them the control of the Mediterranean Sea. It will not be surprising if Italy casts loose from the alliance with Germany and Austria and throws her political fortunes with those of France and Russia.

The French Chamber of Deputies has passed the law of associations, and it now goes to the Senate. In the meantime, the Chamber has taken a recess until May 12. The law is aimed at the suppression of the Assumptionists and the teaching by the Jesuits. These religious associations make no secret of their hostility to the republic. Their newspaper, Le Croix, published in Paris, is the open friend of the monarchy. It is not surprising, therefore, that the present French ministry, formed nearly two years ago with the avowed purpose of killing off the enemies of the republic, should make vigorous war on the religious associations.

Nervous Prostration.

A Noted Boston Woman Describes its Symptoms and Terrors.—Two Severe Cases Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I am so nervous! no one ever suffered as I do! There isn't a well inch in my body. I honestly believe my lungs are diseased, my chest pains me so, but I have no cough. I am so weak at my stomach, and have indigestion terribly, and palpitation of the heart; am losing flesh; and this headache and backache nearly kills me, and yesterday I had hysterics.

"There is a weight in the lower part of my bowels, bearing down all the time, with pains in my groins and thighs—I can't sleep, walk, or sit, and blue—oh goodness! I am simply the most miserable of women."

This is a most vivid description of a woman suffering with nervous prostration, caused by inflammation or some other diseased condition of the womb.

No woman should allow herself to reach such a perfection of misery when there is no need of it. Read about Miss Williamson's case and how she was cured.

Two Bad Cases of Nervous Prostration Cured.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM;—I was suffering such tortures from nervous prostration that life was a burden. I could not sleep at all, and was too weak to walk across the floor. My heart was affected so that often I could not lie down at all without almost suffocating. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it worked like magic. I feel that your medicine has been of inestimable benefit to me."

Took a Mean Advantage.

"He was a softish sort of chap, but played a tolerably fair game of seven-up," said ex-Sheriff Warren K. Ridgway, of Pike County, Pennsylvania. "We were sitting in, up in Lackawanna, playing for a quarter a corner. I knew he was dead gone on a girl up in the Narrows, and so remarked, casually, early in the game:

"Every time a fellow gets the jack of trumps in seven-up it's a sure sign his girl is thinking of him."

"Then I sort o' watched the young fellow, and the very next hand he picked up I noticed his eyes light up, and a real nice flush of pleasure spread over his face. So I led out, and, sure as pollywogs! I caught his jack, as I thought maybe I would. And it worked so well all the evening that I had a whole lot of his quarters when we quit. But he seemed pleased, and went up to the Narrows on the next train."

Color Your Own Pictures.

Some of our amateur photographers may be interested in learning an easy way of coloring a photograph nicely without having first taken lessons in drawing or painting. This is the method: After you have printed your photograph, and before you mount it on cardboard, hold it against the window, placing the picture side toward the glass; then sketch clearly on the back of the picture the outlines of the parts to be colored. When this is completed place the picture side of the photograph against a blotter and apply the desired colors to the back of the picture, keeping within the sketched outlines. Then prepare a mixture consisting of ten parts benzine and one part vaseline, and pour this over the photograph, rubbing it thoroughly into the paper with the finger. Do this on the face and back of the picture. After the picture has become transparent through this process let it stand for an hour or two, then dry it with a cloth and mount it on cardboard. The color will show clearly.

Good For Nothing.

BY IMOGENE H. STYKES.

Crash went the beautiful cut-glass
vase on the stone steps, and down at the feet of the culprit lay the crushed
roses amid the glittering ruin.
"Oh, Maud!" cried a low, grieved
voice.

A white robe, dainty and perfumed,
flashed through the open door in angry haste, and paused beside the gingham dress of the culprit.

"I knew it!" retorted a high-pitched voice, in calm despair. "Each day sees my opinion of you verified, Kathleen. You are not to be trusted!"

"Surely, Maud, you do not think I purposely broke your vase?" asked the girl in gingham, looking half-proudly
at the angry face of her elegantly-clad cousin.

Maud Severn shrugged her shoulders—she had learned how from her French master; and with her head on one side, the action gave her quite a foreign air, she thought.

"What matters it whether you did it purposely or not?" she retorted, con-temptuously. "Those great, awkward hands of yours are forever doing mischief—they are truly good for nothing!"

Kathleen looked down at her brown
hands, and smiled sadly.

"True," she said, as she bent down
and gathered up the lovely roses,
"good for nothing as things count in your world, Maud; but we are not at the end of time yet, and my record
may read differently then!"

"What nonsense! You will never be ladylike or graceful, so do your best
with your other virtues!" cried Maud, angrily, as the proud, quiet manner of Kathleen betrayed a natural dignity
she could not imitate. "Put the roses
in another vase, and clear away that rubbish!"

Kathleen was looking at the broken
glass with a glad relief in her face.

"I can mend this, Cousin Maud," she quietly said; "and it can be used with safety."

"It will take gentler fingers than yours," laughed Maud. "But do as you please. Only, Kathleen"—she paused at the door, looking back over her shoulder—"you needn't think it worth while to appear to-night. Mamma thinks three unmarried daughters sufficient to entertain the guests without—"

"A portionless niece of her dead husband's," quietly interrupted the girl, with a far away smile. "I understand, Maud. Don't think I shall regret it. I do not like good-for-nothings
any more than you do."

Maud stamped her foot angrily.
"At least the new doctor is good for something!" she cried, eagerly, betraying her own tactics for the evening.

"So he should be, to fill the position
he assumes. I trust he has more ambition than vanity, or the poor of Gilford will suffer."

Kathleen carried the vase within doors, and though she was quick at repatee, there were tears none the less in her gray eyes, and a wistful
pain at her heart.

But she quickly completed her task
of arranging the table and flowers, besides numerous little touches to fruits
and ices, without which the effect
would have been marred, if left to the one clumsy servant, or the indolent
daughters of the house.

When all was done, she felt free to seek her own pleasure on that lovely evening. And a strange pleasure it was for one so young.

She took down a broad-brimmed hat
from its familiar hanging-place behind
the kitchen-door—it was needed too
often in her daily duties to rest idly
beside her cousins' on the hall-rack—
and she hastened quickly through the back garden out on to the highway,
and took the road to the village.

"The new doctor!" she pondered.
"Ah, how he has disappointed me! I did hope that a clever, earnest physician would come to Gilford and help
the poor, and instead we have a fashionable, gay young man, who frequents

lawn parties and flirts with silly girls.
Oh, if I were only a man!"

Kathleen was crossing a muddy patch in the road as she arrived at this wish, and, making a quick spring
to the dry side of the road, she turned her ankle with sickening pain and fell prostrate upon the grassy bank.

"Oh, dear! Maud is right, after all,"
she moaned, in despair, half-comical
and yet painful withal. "Two miles from the village or home, on a bylane
very few frequent, and unable to move
with a sprained ankle."

And after summing up her position,
she first laughed, then cried.

"Poor old granny!" she sobbed.
"She will think I have deserted her,
and she is so poor and ill, with no one
to care for her but me, and now I cannot go to her."

"Perhaps I can help you," said a pleasant voice from the bank above
her.

Looking up quickly, Kathleen met a pair of frank, brown eyes, that looked sensible enough to help her in her foolish predicament.

"I don't know—" she began dubi-ously.

"Well, there's nothing like trying,"
laughed the man on the bank, and down he came with a flying leap to her side. "What is it? Broke anything, eh?"

Kathleen had to laugh, he was so pleasant and breezy.

"Oh, no; only twisted my ankle,"
she said, shyly.

"Only! Humph! You are used to making light of great matters, I see."
And to Kathleen's horror down he dropped on his knees, and coolly took possession of her foot.

"So much for wearing a low shoe,"
he said, half-angrily, as he looked at the active little foot, clad in an Oxford tie, and then deftly untied it and drew it off.

Kathleen grew indignant and red.
"You need not trouble yourself—" she began.

"Be still. I am a doctor, young lady,
and know what sprains mean," he cool-
ly retorted, moving the foot gently,
though her lips quivered with the pain.

A doctor! Kathleen looked full at him in astonishment. Not the new doctor, surely!

"You are going to spoil two engagements for me this evening, with this foot, young lady, so you must repay
me with obedience. At one place, music, laughter and bright smiles await
me, to welcome me to my new home!
at the other, a poor old woman is waiting to thank me for looking up my poor, the first thing after I take possession of my practice."

His frank eyes met the conscious
gray ones looking so eagerly at him.

"You speak of my home and my poor
old woman!" she cried out, gladly.
"Oh, I am so rejoiced you are good for something!"

He laughed heartily.
"Which you doubted. And so you were going to see the old woman when this happened? Then you are—"

"Kathleen Severn," said the girl, quietly.

"Doctor Oscar Ware, at your service," retorted the cheery voice, as its owner raised his hat. "Now, Miss Kathleen, I know all about you, for Granny Duff is garrulous, and as you are used to obedience I expect you to mind me now. My horse is at the blacksmith's across the field, where I left him to be shod, while I came over here to gather wild-roses for a sick
lad in the village, and while I go after him you must sit still and wait for me."

Kathleen started. Would he drive
her home?

"Oh, but you must not!" she protested, in terror.

"Very well. Then I'll leave you sitting in the mud, waiting for a deliverer more to your taste," said the doctor, coolly, rising from his knees.

Kathleen felt her eyes droop with sudden pain.

"Thank you!" she said, gently with a sadness, in her voice that made him
look at her. "I will accept your help
since I must."

"Only because you must?"

"I am used to helping myself, but at last I am useless."

"I am glad to be the first to offer
you help in your weakness," said the frank voice, gently; and then away he sped across the field, leaving Kathleen dazed with sudden ideas and emotions,
yet laughing low and shyly.

In a short while the doctor appeared on the road, driving a light wagon behind a strong brown horse, which he drew up before the mud- puddle, and then he sprang down lightly beside the girl.

He raised her by her hand on to one foot; she put the other down carefully, winced, turned pale, and, before she knew what next would happen, she was caught up in a strong pair of arms
and lifted high above the mud into the wagon.

"There!" said the cheery voice, as the self-reliant young man took up the reins. "Your foot is all right, Miss Kathleen. It is only strained a little;
and by the day after tomorrow you
may try another jump."

Kathleen listened shyly; she was feeling emotions so new and strange that silence seemed to protect her
from herself, and throughout the drive
home she could only listen and rejoice
at the brave nature of the new doctor.

Once only she spoke, to ask him to drive in the back gate and through the barn-yard, so that her entrance
might not be seen from the house.
Then, as he left her at the kitchen-
porch, and gave her a little glass bottle, with the direction to apply its contents to her foot until the pain ceased,
she raised her eyes, and said:

"I am glad you have come here, Doctor Ware. So many sad hearts need you."

"But not brave ones like yours?" he asked, sharply.

"Even I," she softly said, as she turned away.

Kathleen grew more cheerful as the months went on, for her earnest, helpful nature rejoiced that there was now
another to care for and assist the poor
and sad-hearted in the village.

A great pride grew in her as she heard her cousins condemn the new doctor as too commonplace and hard-working to suit their idle tastes; and her eyes and lips grew brighter each day as some new tale of his cheery kindness came to her through village
gossip.

They met but seldom, and then only a few words were uttered; but Kathleen felt the need of even those few words, and knew they helped her.

One day a letter came. She was not surprised; it seemed to her as if the time must come when his nature would claim hers, and she was tremulous
with proud joy.

He spoke of their first meeting:

"Of that task were enamored my fingers, I ween,
For they lingered full long o'er those fetters of sheen."

"She smiled me her thanks, and returned from the spot,
With a look in her eyes I never forgot,
For it seemed to say, in language too
true,

"Thou'st fettered thy heart in the string of my shoe!"

"God for something at last!" said
Kathleen softly, as she told her tale to her aunt and cousins; and in the great light that beamed from the gray, earnest eyes, they felt their selfish natures
shrink and grow pitifully small.—Saturday Night.

The Crown Prince and the Garter.

The German imperial family now stand in a position absolutely unique
in relation to the Order of the Garter.
The Crown Prince, who was invested with it at Osborne at the unusually early age of nineteen, is the third member of the House of Hohenzollern
now entitled to wear England's highest decoration, his father, the emperor, and his uncle, Prince Henry,
being already members of that most select order. It now includes in all a dozen crowned heads, or will when the King-Emperor of Great Britain shall have been crowned. The eleven are the Kaiser, the Czar, the Emperor Francis Joseph, the King, of Denmark, the new King of Italy, the kings of the Belgians and the Hellenes and the kings of Portugal, Sweden, Saxony and Roumania. The Chapter of the Order of the Garter is strictly limited
to 25 knights not of royal blood, Lord Roberts being the last creation; but it is within the king's right at any time to create "extra knights" from among his fellow sovereigns, and there is a special statute facilitating the admission of princes who are descendants of George III.

It may be noted as a fact of interest,
and, perhaps, of some little significance, too, that not a single oriental potentate is a Knight of the Garter.—
Vanity Fair.

An Efficient Sentinel.

A book has just been published on
"The Kandahar Field Force." A story that might have been told is of the robberies that used to take place unpunished when English sentries were on the commissariat tents. Things changed when Goorkhas were allowed to take their place. One Goorkha, who had caught a Pathan thief red-handed,
was asked to tell his tale. It was: "I walk about on my post. I see Pathan budmash approach. I walk about on my post. Pathan budmash go near commissariat tent. I walk about on my post. Pathan budmash put his head and shoulders inside the tent. I run him through with my bayonet,
and shout, 'Halt, who come dar?'"—
London Chronicle.

Beltrami county, Minn., is the scene of a most remarkable strike. A judge and jury have positively refused to go on with the duties of the court until
the county provides funds to pay them
for their services.

An English ducal marriage now-a-days seems to be the first step in the direction of the law courts.

INDIANA INCIDENTS.

RECORD OF EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK.

Love Leads Almost to Starvation—
Kills Himself Rather than Appear Against His Sons—Old Lady Dies of Fright—Frankfort Man Leaves Home.

A peculiar case of love, pride and poverty has developed in Marion. Ernest O.
Hartman and Miss Tena Wilson were married in Dunkirk last July. They were of wealthy parents, the father of Miss Wilson being A. N. Wilson of Dunkirk,
who is the owner of the city gas plant.
The father of Hartman was a merchant of means in the town and had allowed
the boy to grow to manhood in idleness.
Mr. Wilson objected to the marriage. Hartman was very proud and refused aid of the parents. He secured a position in the freight depot of the Pennsylvania Railroad, but was discharged after one week.
The couple lived for nearly a week without anything to eat and were too proud to beg or to notify their parents of their condition. Then hunger finally overcame the pride of Mrs. Hartman and she notified her father, who went to her and found her in an exhausted and dangerous condition. He took his daughter home
with him, but his son-in-law has disappeared.

Remorse Leads to Suicide.

William Fiscus, an aged, wealthy and well-known farmer, residing six miles north of Anderson, died of self-inflicted wounds, the result of despondency over having his own son arrested. During the week the father became angry at a trivial offense committed by his boys, and caused both to be arrested. The trial was set for a certain afternoon. At an early hour that morning Mrs. Fiscus awoke to find the bed saturated with blood, her husband unconscious from loss
of blood, a gaping wound in his throat.
He revived sufficiently to say he had attempted to end his life with a razor,
which was found in the bed.

Lay Woman's Death to Fright.

Mrs. Josephine Lindsey of Lafontaine is said to have died from fright. The other night at 9 o'clock she was at the home of her son, J. W. Lindsey, a merchant. The only other person in the house was a little grandson. Some person attempted to enter the house, and when the glass of a window crashed the old lady expired. Avery Gardner, aged 16, was thought to be the burglar, and a mob went to his home to punish him.
He proved an alibi, which probably saved
his life.

Rich Farmer Spurns Home.

James Salmon, a wealthy Frankfort farmer and live stock dealer, has disappeared from home. It developed that he quietly disposed of his personal property
and deposited in bank the proceeds from the sale to the credit of his children and then left for some unknown point in the West. His wife is left in possession of a large farm. His friends are at a loss for an explanation for his strange actions.

Lamp Bursts, Causing Death.

The explosion of a lamp caused a panic
during an auction at the house of Frank Rogers in the town of Diamond. In the rush for doors and windows a dozen or more persons were crushed and trampled upon. Mrs. C. G. Catterson and her 4-year-old daughter probably will die.

Within Our Borders.

Princeton has twenty-seven secret orders.

Bridge near Kokomo fired by a spark
from an engine.

The gas wells supplying Noblesville are about played out.

William Patterson of Muncie killed himself with poison.

Kokomo has ten strongly organized
trade unions, it is said.

W. F. Harvey of Kokomo has struck a rich copper claim in Oklahoma.

Muncie has annexed a large part of Congerville, a southern suburb.

North Vernon is to have four new three-story business buildings this summer.

Muncie Council has resolved to start a fund to buy the present water plant or build a new one.

William Jones, charged with killing James Herron, at Muncie, waived examination and was held to the grand jury.

A tramp was discovered making off
with the 6-year-old son of James Hin-thorne of Rushville. Boy recovered, tramp fled.

Mrs. Willis Bray of Anderson recently adjudged insane, was spirited away by her relations before the sheriff could get her in custody.

While testing a revolver, Peter Williams, an aged colored preacher at Indianapolis, accidentally shot and killed
his 13-year-old daughter.

Fire at Goshen destroyed the warehouse and contents of the Nash, Knox
and Hubbell Company, manufacturers of fine tables. The loss is $40,000, with $18,000 insurance.

An oil well struck on the Sohn farm,
near Marion is throwing out eighty barrels an hour. Experts say it will have a steady output of 250 barrels a day.
This is the largest well ever developed in the Indiana field.

Oliver McMackin was killed in a quarrel with his father-in-law, Thompson
Smith, at New Albany. Smith, who is under arrest, says death was caused by the discharge of a shotgun which fell from the hands of Mrs. Smith.

Because he arrested Charley Phillips,
a boy, for throwing a stone into a passenger car on the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railroad, Thomas Stringer's saloon was burned by a mob at Lyford. He was badly beaten and there were threats of lynching.

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL

New York.

With the exception of a slightly firmer tone to the money market there has been no appreciable change in general conditions this week. In nearly all lines of trade the same degree of activity and strength that has been heretofore noted continues to prevail, and the outlook is regarded by authorities as about all that could be reasonably desired. Reports from the iron and steel centers are of a favorable character, and as this business
is looked upon as a fairly reliable index
to general trade the prevailing sentiment
naturally is an optimistic one. This confidence in the future continues to be strongly reflected in the stock market,
where further additions to the values of several securities have been recorded this week. Some of the leading commission houses that until recently have been consistently bullish are, however, beginning to take a more conservative stand. In their opinion there has been too much of a buying rush on the part of the public,
and enthusiasm in that quarter is likely to lead to overloading and a congested condition of the market. Furthermore, it is manifestly out of the question for prices to go one way indefinitely, and it is felt that after a five-month period of almost continuous advance, during which many stocks have been sent to a 3½ and 4 per cent investment basis, the limit of intrinsic worth has been very nearly reached, and that the situation calls for the exercise of considerable caution on the part of intending buyers.

Chicago.

Features of the week's speculative business on the Board of Trade have been the activity and strength of the corn and provision markets and the apathy and sluggishness of wheat. At the close of business, while wheat was practically the same price it was at the end of the week preceding, both corn and provisions showed considerable improvement. Wheat speculators appeared to regard the current price for May delivery of that cereal
as high enough under existing conditions,
with expectation of a somewhat lower
range should the present excellent outlook for the next winter wheat crop be maintained. Exports of wheat and flour to the United Kingdom and continent of Europe continue heavy, but the ability to meet all such demands, as well as the calls of all kinds for domestic requirements, without reducing in any marked degree the visible supply leads to the conclusion that the battle over the price
at which last season's crop should be sold,
practically has been fought, and the next
radical change must be on the general
outlook for the coming season's production. Everything in the latter direction looks hopefully for the industrious cultivators of the fields and dubiously for those who are buying July wheat at current prices. Speculation, which is so dormant in the wheat market, is active and widespread regarding the value of corn. A rise of 2¼ cents a bushel in the price of May delivery from the close of the previous week shows conclusively in which direction the weight of opinion tended. Receipts of corn in the West
have been small and are likely to continue so until some progress shall have been made with spring work on the farms. The bulls for the time being have complete control. There seems to be no reason why prices should not go
still higher should the dominant party conclude to push its advantage. Provisions were benefited by the advancing tendency of corn and a continuing good consumptive demand for the products, notwithstanding their increasing price.

AGUINALDO TAKES THE OATH.

Insurgent Leader Swears Allegiance
to the United States.

Aguinaldo has taken the oath of allegiance to the United States. The announcement was officially made by Secretary of War Root. This act of Aguinaldo's will greatly simplify matters and will relieve the American government from an embarrassing situation.

Ever since his capture by Gen. Funston the disposition of the troublesome insurgent was a puzzling question and one for which the Washington authorities had no solution. A punishment for the leader was necessary which would not make a martyr of him and at the same time it was imperative that he be placed where he could do no further harm
and where there was no chance for him
to escape and again raise a rebellion.

By taking the oath of allegiance Aguinaldo so binds himself that if he ever again attempts to stir up discontent
among the Filipinos he will make himself
liable to punishment by death, and there will be no extenuating circumstances as there were in the present case. The realization of this is expected to keep Aguinaldo in restraint. The Filipino leader's action is regarded as the culmination of the insurrection.

Mrs. J. K. Mawhorter is upon the sick list.

Circuit court at Plymouth adjourns for the present term Saturday.

J. C. Zechel and wife were quite ill the fore part of the week but are now improving.

Rev. Newman will preach his farewell sermon at the Evangelical church Sunday evening, April 28.

The editor of this paper has been sick during the past week, being afflicted with catarrhal fever. At this writing he is slowly improving.

J. J. Esher, of Chicago, senior bishop of the Evangelical church, died last Tuesday and will be buried next Sunday. He had served as bishop for nearly forty years.

The commencement exercises of the Culver High school will be held in the Evangelical church, Friday evening, May 10. There are seven graduates this spring, and the members of the class will deliver their orations.

Word received from T. E. Slattery and Dr. Hollister, who are in North Dakota on a hunting trip, tells of the excellent time they are having and of the remarkable appetite the Dr. is forming as a result of Tom's good cooking.

Rev. E. J. Oliver, of Peru, was instantly killed in the above city last Monday. He had just returned from the Evangelical conference and as he stepped from the train was struck by another which came up behind him. He was to have been married Wednesday.

While the fish wardens are making strenuous efforts to locate those who are violating the fish laws, they would do well to make an example of those Argos gentlemen and others who are spearing fish on old Lake Maxinkuckee nearly every night. What is the use of having fish and game laws if they are not enforced.

Knight Culver, of St. Louis, who was married recently, brought his young wife to Culver last Saturday, and the happy couple are now occupying their cottage on the east side of the lake. The Herald extends congratulations and joins the many friends of the groom in this vicinity in wishing them many happy years of wedded life.

Tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon, the academy team will test its strength with Purdue University. A good game is expected.

June 27 and 28, 1901, the South Bend District Epworth League convention will be held at Knox. An interesting program has been prepared, and the Culver chapter expects to send a large delegation.

Work on the new church at Burr Oak is progressing rapidly. It is intended to complete it so as to dedicate on the third Sunday in June.

"I had piles so bad I could get no rest nor find a cure until I tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. After using it once, I forgot I ever had anything like Piles." E. C. Boies, Scmers Point, N. Y. Look out for imitations. Be sure you ask for DeWitt's. T. E. Slattery.

Died, Tuesday, April 16, Mrs. Chas. DeMont. Funeral was held Wednesday, Rev. T. L. Austin, of Argos, officiating. Interment in the North Union cemetery.

"Last winter I was confined to my bed with a very bad cold on the lungs. Nothing gave me relief. Finally my wife bought a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure that effected a speedy cure. I cannot speak too highly of that excellent remedy." Mr. T. K. Houseman, Manatawney, Pa. T. E. Slattery.

Mrs. C. E. VanDeusen, of Kilbourn, Wis., was afflicted with stomach trouble and constipation for a long time. She says, "I have tried many preparations but none have done me the good that Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets have." These tablets are for sale at T. E. Slattery's drug store. Price 25c; samples free.

When the school enroller for calls at your home in the near future don't get mixed up and think it is his assessor. Give all information freely, and hand in all the names of your family including the domestic who is making her home with you. Every child enumerated between the ages of six and twenty-one will go that much towards lightening the school tax and will add to the tuition fund.

Local Notes Furnished by the Herald's Special Reporter.

Culver started the base ball season last Saturday afternoon by winning a hard fought game from Lewis Institute, of Chicago, by a score of 12 to 10.

The Lewisites put up a good game, and up to the seventh inning seemed to have a good chance of winning, and even after the memorable seventh inning, when Culver forged ahead by running in five scores, they succeeded in again passing the mark, and only when in the ninth inning, with one man out and three men on bases, Woodward retired two of their batters with a strike-out to their credit, did Culver feel sure of the outcome. It was a good, clean exciting game, and reflected great credit upon both teams.

Score by innings:
Lewis..... 0 1 2 3 0 1 0 3 0
Culver..... 1 0 0 3 0 0 5 3 *

NOTES.

Crawford, who has been elected captain of our team, has been our crack third baseman for the past three years, and during this period has opened every season by being the first man up to bat. But never before did he commence as splendidly as he did this year, when he sent the first ball delivered to him flying over the short-stop's head. His batting throughout the game was marvelous, for out of five times at the bat, he made four base hits and a two-bagger.

Woodward, who pitched for us last year, is better than ever in his delivery, and although a little wild at times, he was right there in time of emergency as was shown by his cool-headed work in the ninth inning.

Pearce is a second Anderson behind the bat and even excels his noted predecessor in base-throwing.

Morse played a splendid game at first base, and was always on hand when the ball came his way.

McQuaid held second in an admirable manner, and showed that he can be relied upon for good fast work.

Bruce played a star game at short, and was in the game at all times.

Nowels in center field and Jackson W. in left field played in their usual good form and if a ball came anywhere near them it was gone.

Masters, in right field, made an excellent showing, and completes the list of an excellent aggregation of ball players.

This year's rules are so obnoxious that all of the college teams have boycotted them, consequently last year's rules were used in Saturday's game and will be used throughout the year.

It is not so much what the newspapers say, as what neighbor says to neighbor, or friend to friend, that has brought Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy into such general use. It is as natural for people to express their gratitude after using this remedy as it is for water to flow down hill. It is the one remedy that can always be depended upon, whether a baby be sick with cholera infantum or a man with cholera morbus. It is pleasant, safe and reliable. Have you a bottle of it in your home? For sale by Thomas Slattery.

Strikes a Rich Find.

"I was troubled for several years with chronic indigestion and nervous debility," writes F. J. Green, of Lancaster, N. H., "No remedy helped me until I began using Electric Bitters, which did me more good than all the medicines I ever used. They have also kept my wife in excellent health for years. She says Electric Bitters are just splendid for female troubles; that they are a grand tonic and invigorator for weak, run down women. No other medicine can take its place in our family." Try them. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by T. E. Slattery.

You will waste time if you try to cure indigestion or dyspepsia by starving yourself. That only makes it worse when you do eat heartily. You always need plenty of good food properly digested. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is the result of years of scientific research for something that would digest not only some elements of food but every kind. And it is the one remedy that will do it. T. E. Slattery.

Attention, Everybody.

Why pay more for your laundry when you can receive just as good work for less money by leaving your orders with Peter Keller, barber, who represents the Plymouth Steam Laundry at Culver, Ind. Give him a trial. Work warranted. Collars 2 cents each; cuffs 4 cents per pair.

"I have been troubled with indigestion for ten years, have tried many things and spent much money to no purpose until I tried Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. I have taken two bottles and gotten more relief from them than all other medicines taken. I feel more like a boy than I have felt in twenty years." Anderson Riggs, of Sunny Lane, Tex. Thousands have testified as did Mr. Riggs. T. E. Slattery.

IF THOSE WE LOVE BE TRUE.

What matter if the days seem long,
Because your task is hard to do;
Within your heart will burst a song
If those you love be true.

What matter if the day be bleak,
No sunbeams pierce the black clouds
thro',
Joy to your inmost soul will speak
If those you love be true.

What if the world says things unkind,
And what it knows is false of you;
Much happiness you still can find
If those you love be true.

What if Dame Fortune, with a frown,
Seems e'er your footsteps to pursue;
Success your toll at last will crown
If those you love be true.

What matter, then, what comes or goes,
If life be long or days be few?
Life's pleasures far outrun life's woes,
If those we love be true.

"So As By Fire."

BY E. C. MARTIN.

Jack sat contemplating Moll's letter with dismayed eyes and contracted brows. The pen dropped from his nerveless grasp as he exclaimed: "By Jove, this is unanswerable! I must go to New York and consult Mortimer."

While he is writing out this prescription for himself, a telegram to his chum, Mortimer, let us glance over the document that has driven him to seek this consultation.

"Oh, my lost Jack, while my eyes are drenched in rivers of tears, you are doubtless with Madam Von Winkie, contemplating the moon at the end of the veranda, and holding on to that ever slipping off wrap of hers."

"Little did I dream when, one short month ago, she darkened the porch, that she would eclipse me in your fickle affections. The transit of Venus! In reply to my remark about her hair, with what dear indifference you responded, 'Too red to be imitation.' And yet in those glittering meshes you are now caught!"

"It relieves me to sit here and write my woes, just as if I meant to send you the letter. I shall address it, and post it in my desk drawer, and then address myself to sleep, imagining my letter is on its way to you. Besides, writing prevents me from taking peeps out of my window to see if I can find any moonlight between your shoulders and madam's at the end of the veranda."

"It was but yesterday that with your back to me, on the straw side, you were counting her rings, and I could not move away, because you were sitting on my sash. I tried to take comfort from the old song:—

"When pretty women show their rings,
What can a poor man do?"

The last word I caught, as your moving closer to her released me, was, 'Call me Vivienne,' in that serpent voice of hers. Ah, she is a false Vivienne indeed, as I trust it may be my good fortune to prove to you; for in spite of all these gathering clouds, hope is not quite dead within me.

"I opened my little text book suddenly, and the very first words I saw were 'Yet so as by fire.' They seemed to have a meaning, a reference to the fire through which I am passing. Somehow I have drawn a vague comfort from them. Besides, she wears peacock's feathers in one of her hats, worse luck for her!"

"Bless you, Jack, wherever you may be! I could hardly have said that had I not peeped out and found the veranda deserted. Good-night! I kiss the white rose you gave me, white as her cheek."

"Your all forlorn MOLL."

This was the letter that sent Jack, for change of air, to New York. How it came into his possession is easily explained. Our heroine forgot to "post it" in her desk. Kitty, her maid, when she came with hot water to her sleeping mistress, quietly took it away, as in the happy days gone by, with a kindly wish that it might prove a counter charm to the "wily widdy, bad 'cess to her!"

When Moll realized Kitty's mistake, after having "forty fits," to use her own words, she calmed down, and said:

"It is fate. What next?"

Jack's absence, day after day, strange to say, brightened her. Pale smiles began to play around her lips, and sleep once more visited her tired eyelids. It was misery, of a kind, not to see her gallant Jack every day and hour, but it was comparative bliss to share this misery with her rival.

Jack's Mortimer was as true as any friend could be who was so sympathetic as to be secretly in love with Moll. He "never told his love" to Jack, seeing from the first he had no chance, and for the pity that is akin to contempt he had no craving.

But when Jack was seized with this temporary insanity, and allowed the witch lights in the widow's eyes to lure him from Moll, then did Mortimer's heart rejoice, and alas for the advice he gave his friend!

The result of it was that when Moll gave out the mail, as she often did, after riding four miles on her bicycle to get it, it was her cruel duty to hand to Madam Vivienne Von Winkie a letter addressed in Jack's reckless hand.

Madam read the sprawly lines flauntingly, before Moll's indignant eyes, and passed to her, in pretty foreign fashion, "ze compliments of Monsieur Chack." Had she explained that the letter was chiefly about matching embroidery silks, Moll need not have gone down into such depths; as it was, she rushed madly to her room, and demanded wildly of her canary:

"What more can come?"

More did come, to wit, Jack, the very next day. After witnessing Vivienne's offer of her two hands, as he jumped from his wheel, Moll would see no more. She darkened her room and lay down, refusing to be comforted, though Kitty produced a tempting box of "Huyler's" mysteriously fresh from New York. Somewhat appeased, Moll said:

"Let him give his old candies to his horrid widow!"

Had she opened the box all would have been deepest gloom again, for the card in it was Mortimer's "favored" by Jack.

It might have been that the fire in Moll's veins communicated itself to the building; be that as it may, a little after midnight there was a great cry heard in the hotel:

"Fire! Fire!"

Moll, the sleepless, was in a moment all animation. Hastily dressing, she took a peep from the usual agony spot, toward the veranda. There, sure enough, stood Jack, hovering uncertainly between her end of the house and that of the golden haired siren.

Moll ground her teeth and stamped her foot, muttering "Faithless!" She would fain have stayed to see which way the scale might turn, but realizing that the fire would not wait his leisure, she seized a coil of rope kept ready in case of fire, and glided softly behind him, unseen, for his face was toward her rival's bower.

Blessing the good year she had spent in the wild West, Moll threw the rope, lasso fashion, around Jack. Her observation and experience among the cowboys now stood her in good stead.

The astonished captive found himself whirled along the veranda, away from Vivienne's bower. He was compelled to use his feet, otherwise Moll would have literally wiped up the veranda with him. Her feelings of exultation were past description. Sweet revenge—punishment—deliverance—triumph—filled her with compound ecstasy.

Our fair fireman had been wide enough awake to feel sure she was pulling Jack away from the direction of the fire—of both fires!

"She flew and she flew" down the long veranda and steps, away out on the lawn, with breathless Jack at her heels. Miscalculating distance and direction in her fierce joy, she went plump into the pond, carrying her prize with her. Then Jack took the saving business in hand, and presently they were shivering on the brink high, but by no means dry.

Luckily it was a warm August night. Moll looked up comically at her victim, saying:

"Thank you for saving me from the water. We are quits, since I rescued you from the fire."

Jack, looking sulkily in the direction of the hotel, and observing that the slight flame at one corner had almost died out, muttered, "A false alarm," feeling very much inclined to let his anger burn toward Moll for leading him such a dance, though he could not exactly command words to state his grievance.

Moll, meantime, had been using her eyes like a detective. Figures were fitting confusedly here and there, for an alarm of fire, even when there is little more than smoke, is a rousing thing at a summer hotel.

Suddenly a satisfied light gleamed in her eyes. She seized his hand as of old, saying:

"Come—I will take you to your Vivienne."

Jack objected.

Moll walked straight to a summer house into which she had seen the terrified madam rush. It was dark, but Moll knew all the buttons, and soon an electric searchlight shed its rays on Vivienne's "diminished head." The glory had departed. It was as though the fire had passed over it and left it stubble! Madam, like the ostrich, seemed anxious to get her unlucky head into a bush. She would not look at them.

Jack meekly followed Moll out into the darkness, suggesting that they might as well go and get dried. Moll saucily lifted a couplet from an old Irish ballad:

"A man of your stature, with long yellow hair,

Who once came a courting my father's gray mare."

I fancy, Jack, you'll find your love, her long, yellow hair, reposing on madam's dressing-table."

"Moll," cried Jack, spare me—for give me!"

Moll did. And safe in her room she caressingly opened her little text book and kissed the words. "So as by fire."

WILD BOAR HUNTING.

Rewards Offered by the Government of France Stimulate Sport.

Partridge shooting having been brought to an early close on account of the scarcity of game, and it having been ascertained that wild boars were in great abundance in the Bois de Boulogne, the inhabitants of the Boulogne and the neighboring districts made preparation for a grand battue. A big reward has been offered by the government for every boar shot, on account of the ravages made by them on the crops, and this, together with the desire to take part in an emotional hunt, induced the huntsmen to give up one of the week days to hunting. In order to have great success the twenty sportsmen, including the subprefect and the attorney-general, who joined in this battue, did not, as is usual, meet at a certain spot in the forest and then all march together to the place of action, but they all had their positions assigned to them beforehand, and then went one by one to the inclosure which was to be beaten. Thanks to this, a successful day and some sport were had. The gamekeepers came on the track of a band of fifteen boars in the early morning, and tracked them up to their lair, which was situated in a "futaie," one of the densest parts of the wood, which is only cut down and trimmed once every thirty years. Nothing daunted by the apparent impenetrability of the inclosure, as soon as the huntsmen had got into their places, the gamekeepers entered the bush with their dogs and commenced beating it thoroughly. All the boars were driven out, and, although most of them got away, some scot free, others with a little souvenir in the shape of a bullet or so somewhere in their bodies, the net result of the battue was four boars shot.

One amusing incident occurred toward dusk. Scores of horses and donkeys are daily out to grass in the Bois de Boulogne. Now, about two years ago a huntsman shot one by accident, and found himself mulcted in a very heavy fine as well as damages, for the French law punishes very heavily an act of this kind. As there was a young huntsman in the party who was not of these parts, and who had never before taken part in a battue, let alone seen a wild boar, the older huntsmen solemnly warned him against shooting at anything unless he could plainly see it. All went well until the last beat for the wounded boars was undertaken, when one of the latter emerged from the thicket and coolly limped past the young hunter at about a dozen yards from where he was standing. He, however, refrained from shooting it, and when the other huntsmen came up and abused him for having lost his opportunity, he calmly declared that it was a donkey, and that he had plainly seen its ears flapping. Now, as a matter of fact, a boar's ears are scarcely visible at a distance of three yards, so this was either a wild flight of imagination or the result of an attack of nervousness. Up till last year it was thought that the wild boars were becoming extinct in this part of the country; now, therefore, that the contrary has been proved, a battue will take place at least once in every week in order to thin the boars out as quickly as possible.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Tongueless He Talks.

John Witzerman, a German stone cutter of Canal Dover, O., performed the marvelous feat of talking without the use of his tongue. His tongue was cut out at the Lakeside Hospital, Cleveland, because a cancerous growth at its base threatened Witzerman's life. The cancer was due to the excessive use of tobacco. The tongue was cut cleanly off at the root, through a wide incision in the neck. Great care was taken not to sever the muscles which sustain the oesophagus, or gullet, and nature has increased these muscles to twice their normal size to fulfill the function that the tongue performed in swallowing.

One On Him.

The laugh is on a well known society fellow. His candid opinion is that he knows more than any other man in the city. He was so "wise" at a function the other evening that everybody became disgusted.

A young woman asked him a question as she started to leave.

"Oh, I won't tell everything I know," he responded, first assuming a superior air.

"You have plenty of time," she rejoined; "we're not going for a whole minute."—Louisville (Ky.) Commercial.

STATES ARE WIDE AWAKE.

Planning for Representation at the Pan-American Exposition.

The degree of interest in the Pan-American Exposition which has developed in the different States and Territories is up to the highest expectations. It assures adequate representation of the integral parts of the Union, and in conjunction with government action a complete and comprehensive display of the diversified resources of Uncle Sam's broad domain. Official recognition of the Exposition has been given in all the States.

New York's appropriation is $300,000. A magnificent permanent building has been erected, and an exhibit which will be highly creditable to the Empire State is being prepared.

Illinois has appropriated $75,000 for a building and exhibit.

Michigan's appropriation for a building and exhibit is $40,000.

Ohio's appropriation is $30,000. The State has erected a handsome building and is preparing an exhibit.

Missouri has appropriated $50,000 for a building and exhibit.

Wisconsin appropriated $25,000 for a building and exhibit.

The New England States have joined together for the erection of a building and display of their resources and industries. Massachusetts appropriated $15,000, Rhode Island $30,000, and Connecticut, Maine, Vermont and New Hampshire are expending sums sufficient for suitable exhibits.

California will make a very extensive exhibit through the State Board of Triumphal Bridge at the intersection of the two principal thoroughfares and at the head of the dock landing of the State and foreign building allotment. The size of the building is 84x122 feet. A ten-foot terrace walk extends around the outside, being widened at the northwest corner to a circular form, thus providing an ample approach from the dock landing. The lower floor is intended for the use of the general public and the upper floor for the commissioners, State officials and the State guests. Natural gas is used for heating and acetylene gas for illuminating purposes. The artistic manner of lighting constitutes part of the interior decorations. As the approach from the dock landing is the most picturesque, the building is embellished at the northwest corner with a statuary group. The background worked in relief upon the pilaster shows the great seal of the State, with its hills, trees, sunrise and sheaves of wheat and arrows. In the foreground is the center figure standing on the prow of a boat to typify the State. The Ohio River is represented by a Mermaid and Lake Erie by a Triton.

The Michigan Building occupies a very desirable site in the Court of State and Foreign Buildings of the Exposition. The style of architecture is colonial, with large porches. There is a large hall with mantel, ladies and gentlemen's parlors, secretary's office, check room, postoffice, lavatories, etc., on the ground floor, and a hall with mantel, committee-room, directors' room, two bedrooms, ladies' parlor and bathroom. The floors are hardwood.

SOME OF THE STATE BUILDINGS.

Trade and the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

Alabama proposes to appropriate $25,000 for an exhibit.

Georgia has appropriated a sum sufficient to pay the expenses of a fine exhibit.

Iowa has appointed a commission and an exhibit is being arranged. The Agricultural and Horticultural Boards will participate in the display.

Idaho has appropriated $15,000 for an exhibit.

Pennsylvania's appropriation for representation is $35,000.

Minnesota has appropriated $20,000 for an exhibit.

New Jersey's appropriation for representation is $25,000.

North Dakota will expend its appropriation of $10,000 for an exhibit.

Kentucky has appointed a commission and an exhibit is being arranged.

Maryland has appointed a commission to prepare an exhibit and the Baltimore Manufacturers Association is co-operating.

Delaware has made an appropriation for an exhibit.

Washington, Montana, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas and other States will be suitably represented.

Some State Buildings.

One of the handsomest buildings in the Court of State and Foreign Buildings at the Pan-American Exposition is that erected by the State of Ohio. It stands on the broad plateau near the

The porches, which are noble and commanding in appearance, have fluted columns. The roof is shingled and stained green. Unlike most of the other structures on the grounds, the Michigan Building has plain white walls, reminding of the White City at Chicago. The dimensions of this building are 100x82 feet.

The Illinois Building is a fine example of architectural art and appropriately representative of the great State of the Middle West. It covers an area 72x120 feet and is two stories high. There is a wide veranda encompassing the house on all sides. The lower floor is divided into two spacious reception-rooms and a grand hallway, from which ascends a staircase into the second story, which contains four smaller reception-rooms. The walls of the building are covered with staff. The tile roof surmounts an exterior highly decorated. Four sculptured figures near the entrance symbolize the principal industries of the State—agriculture, manufactures, commerce and mining.

The Wisconsin State Building is of the Spanish Gothic style of architecture, 48x46 feet in dimensions, and two stories high. Its situation is one of the most desirable in the Court of State and Foreign Buildings, near the bay of the Mirror Lake on the east side of the Triumphal Bridge, and in a setting of beautiful trees and flowers. It is surrounded by a broad veranda, over which is a large sheltered balcony.

MOVEMENT AGAINST KISSING.

A new league has just been formed in Paris, having for its motto: "If you would enjoy good health you must strictly refrain from kissing any one." Mme. Petit is leader of the new society. She is the leading woman lawyer of Paris.

If kissing goes out of fashion those who desire to give evidence of conjugal and maternal affection will be obliged to content themselves with shaking hands after the English fashion, and in such an event it may be asked whether it would not be well to pass a law ordaining that no one shall indulge in this form of greeting whose hands have not been first thoroughly purified by means of a solution of phenic acid or of bichloride of mercury.

This and That.

Sinners are always eager for tracts—of land.

The great man is he who does not lose his child's heart.—Mencius.

London has the poorest water service of any of the large cities of the world. There are many occasions on which it is wiser to hold a conference than to let it go.

For an army of 30,000 men and 10,000 horses for three months, it is estimated that 11,000 tons of food and forage are necessary.

The Russian ministry of communication has decided to adopt petroleum for generating motive power on the locomotives on all railways.

A motor-car has been designed for towing canal-boats. At a recent trial it towed a heavily-laden barge at the rate of three miles an hour with the greatest ease.

It is estimated that the Canadian gold fields yielded last year 1,257,862 ounces of gold, valued at $26,000,000. Compared with the preceding year, 1899, this is an increase in ounces of about 250,000, and in value of $5,000,000.
