LOCAL BREVETIES.

Mrs. H. J. Meredith is upon the sick list.

Two or three new cottages are being erected on Long Point.

Is it not about time you paid your subscription?

Dr. Wiseman made Plymouth a visit Monday afternoon.

Is it not about time you paid your subscription?

The postoffice war is on in Culver, and the citizens await the final result with interest.

Sunday School at Grace Reformed church May 19th, at 10 a. m., and preaching at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m.

Major Anderson, the popular proprietor of the Park Cafe, spent a few days in Huntington, the fore part of this week.

Rev. Smith was called to Bruce Lake last week to officiate at the funeral of Mrs. Jno. Millier. She was 77 years of age and one of the early settlers of Fulton Co., having emigrated from Pennsylvania in 1856.

Remember that Decoration Day exercises will be a most elaborate affair in Culver. The cadets will take part in the parade, and every effort should be put forth to make this a memorable affair in the history of Culver.

Rev. Taylor, of Rockville, Ind., will preach at the Evangelical church next Sunday morning at 11 a. m. and at 8 o'clock in the evening, and Monday evening at the same place at 8 p. m. He is one of the most eloquent colored divines in the country and it will pay you to hear him.

D. A. Bradley and wife and several other citizens visited Logansport, Tuesday and took in the G. A. R. encampment.

It seems high time that some enterprising men build more houses for rent in Culver. At the present time there is not an empty house nor a room vacant in town, and people clamoring for places to live. A great many new families have moved to Culver this spring, and what the over supply of laboring men will do for a living remains to be seen.

A slight mistake was made in the election notice last week, as it did not state what office W. S. Easterday was elected to fill, but we wish to state right here that he turned his Democrat opponent Urias Menser, down to the tune of seven majority, a pretty good showing in a town decidedly Democratic.

Mrs. George and Val Nearpass are on the sick list.

A new base ball team has been organized in Culver.

It now reads Young & Carl, the latter having purchased an interest in the Culver City Construction Co.

The least in quantity and best in quality describes Dewitt's Little Early Risers, the famous pills for constipation and liver complaints. T. E. Slattery.

J. K. Mawhorter is doing an excellent job of tin work upon the new Advent church at Burr Oak.

We understand that Perkins and DuPea is the name of the new firm which has been organized for the manufacture of ice-cream. The firm has purchased a new engine and will have an up-to-date plant running in a few days. A great many people have tested the ice-cream and it is O. K.

Culver Military Academy.

The man who don't have to drill.

Artillery drill under Capt. Brooke, as instructor, will commence this week. The detachments will be composed of first class men, teams of fifteen or twenty cadets each will be formed from members lower classes for the purpose of maneuvering the pieces. The target range has been placed in a A 1 condition and practice is contemplated at once. Cadets must make 70 percent at each range before they can practice at greater distances—practice will commence at 100 yards, and will be extended to 200 yards, 300 yards and 500 yards. At 300 yards the cadets kneel or sit in firing, at 500 yards they lie down, at the first two ranges mentioned the shooting is done from position standing. Marksman's buttons will be given to those who qualify for them. Gallery practice developed some good shots who ought to make good records on the range and an interesting competition for the medal, at the finals. The range is now situated that all the shooting stands are on high and dry ground and are easily accessible.

A number of old riders are back in the riding school, and an interesting exhibition for commencement is being arranged. A medal is to be awarded to the most expert horseman.

The cadets made a magnificent appearance at inspection on Monday. There was not a break and everything was snappy from the word go. General Snyder was evidently pleased with the work of the cadets. The following order was published from Headquarters Corps of Cadets.

Culver, Ind., May 14, 1901.

GENERAL ORDERS NO. 32.

The Commandant desires to express to the cadets his entire satisfaction with the work of the battalion during the recent visit of the Inspector General. Each feature of the day's program was characterized not only by mechanical accuracy and entire absence of blunders and inattention, but also by a life and spirit which indicated a keen interest and earnest desire to do well on the part of every cadet, a condition most gratifying and productive of results of the highest grade of excellence. By order of

Maj. L. R. GIGNILLIAT.

Commencement is nearly upon us, invitations will be out the first of the week. The cover is of a purplish grey embossed with gold, the combination is such that it is both the colors of the cadet uniform, and the colors adopted by the first class.

All officers for next year are to be appointed on the last day of the session, the quartermaster ought to get in a supply of chevrons, so that the new corporals etc. etc. can wear them home. There are 14 commissioned officers, 21 sergeants and 16 corporals to be appointed. There is still a chance however for the fellow who does not get one this year to win out next, anyone who looks back on the changes in a year can tell that.

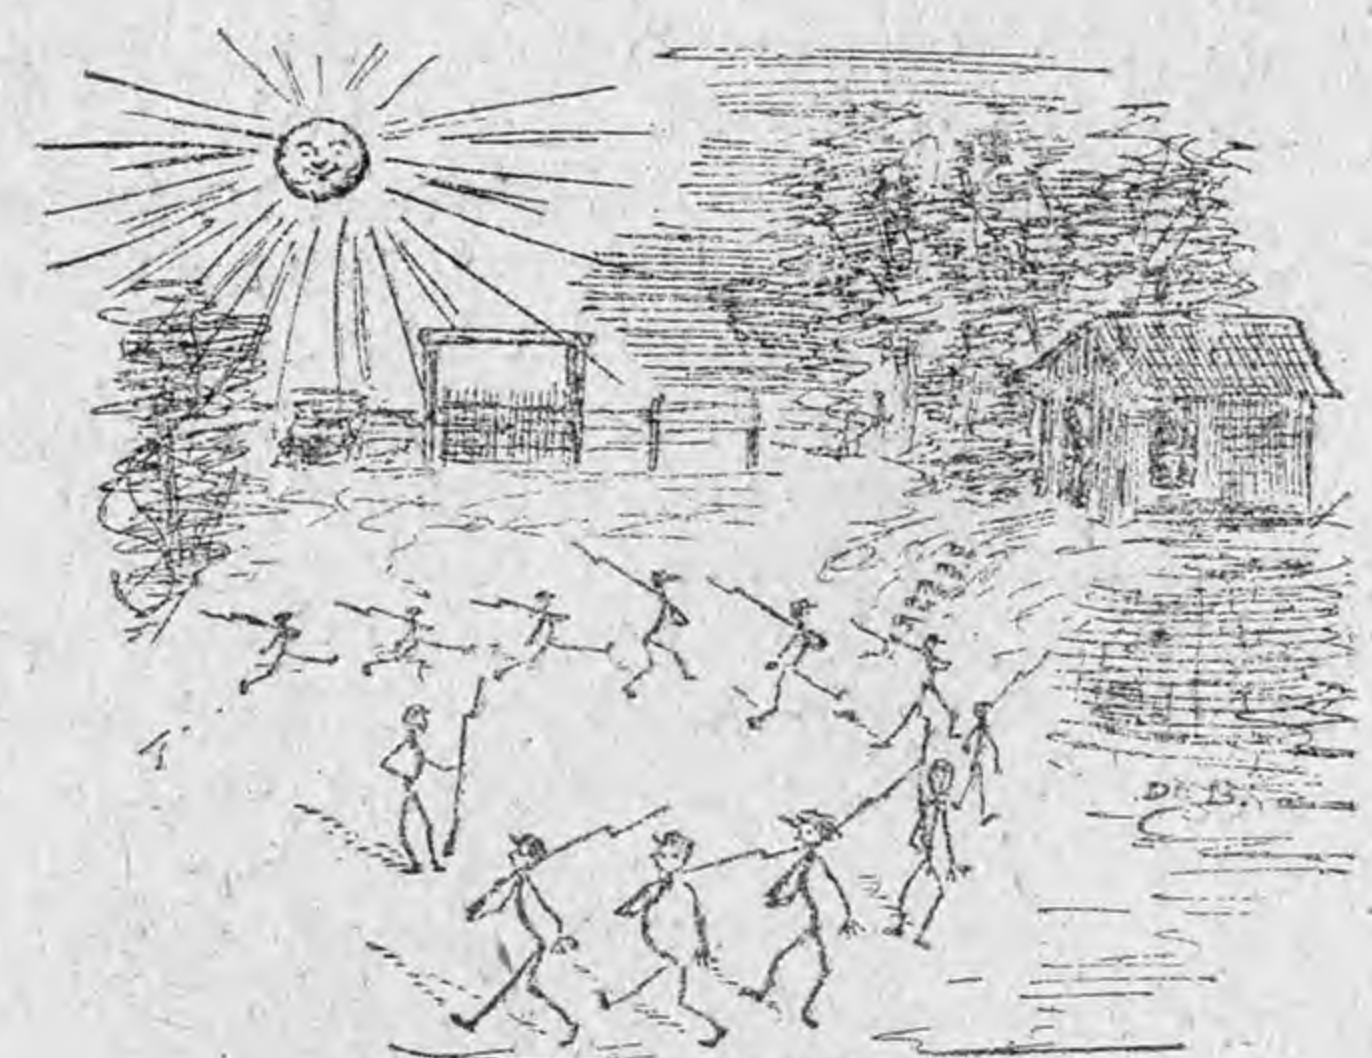

A new feature of the commencement program will be a tennis tournament. The Bold Buccaneers are sharpening up their swords and making extensive preparations for a one night stand during commencement. The Operetta has been added to and elaborated and a chorus added. Souvenir programmes containing photographic reproductions of members of the troop and one scene will be presented on the night of the performance.

Base Ball Notes.

The game with Lake Forest Academy last Saturday was for the most part very close and interesting. Culver, winning by a score of 6 to 2. Ed Akin, who was a substitute pitcher on our team last year, was in the box for Lake Forest, and succeeded in holding his own until the fourth inning when a bunch of hits netted Culver four runs. Lake Forest started out well, securing two runs in the first inning, while only one Culverite circled the bases. Thus it stood till the fourth inning, when Bruce made a two-bagger and Pearce duplicated it. Nowels got to second on three strikes because of a wild throw to first by the catcher and two runs came in. Woodward followed with a neat three-bagger, and when the inning ended the score stood 5 to 2. Another pitcher was put in in the fifth and one more run, in the eighth inning, was all that Culver got. Woodward pitched the game of his life, striking out eleven men and giving but three bases on balls.

On last Wednesday afternoon Indiana University defeated Culver by a score of 16 to 5. For the past two years Culver has defeated Indiana by large majorities, the score last year being 17 to 2, consequently it was Indiana's turn to win. In the first place it was an off day for Woodward McCreary went in the box in the third inning, but Woodward took his place again in the fifth. Culver made several good hits but they were too scattered to avail them much. Among these were two-baggers by Masters and Crawford, a three base hit by McQuaid and a home run by Nowels.

Later, Indiana defeated Notre Dame Thursday afternoon by a score of 10 to 4.

RECORD OF THE WEEK

INDIANA INCIDENTS TERSELY TOLD.

Law Has Been Tampered With—A Sad Sequel to Matrimonial Agency Marriage—New Trolley Line Company at Richmond—Starke County Stabbing.

The discovery was made the other day when the first volumes of the acts of recent legislation were distributed, that some one had cut out some important parts of the Wood medical law, and it is believed that the same methods were used as those which nullified the bitartrate of potassium bill, though the effect on the medical bill does not wholly vitiate the measure. When the bill was under consideration in the House Representative Minturn secured an amendment which exempted those who practice electrotherapy, hydropathy or massage from having to undergo an examination at the hands of the State Board of Medical Registration before being allowed to practice in the state. Another amendment, which, however, succeeded in getting into the act, as it appears in the acts, exempts osteopaths from compulsory examination, providing a special permit, distinct, however, from a medical license, for graduates of regularly constituted osteopathic schools. These amendments were duly incorporated in the bill, but the printed law does not contain them, and an investigation has been started to learn by whom they were cut out of the bill.

Husband and Money Gone.

Mrs. Ida Clark, living near the village of Culver, answered the advertisement of Vernon Lyles in a Chicago matrimonial publication. Letters were exchanged for two weeks, when Lyles visited Mrs. Clark, and the engagement and marriage of the couple followed. Lyles professed great devotion for his newly found bride and the couple planned to leave Culver and go to Chicago, where Lyles represented that he was a prosperous business man. The confiding bride intrusted $700 of her money to her husband, who is now missing.

Plan a Big Indiana Line.

The Richmond Street Railway and Interurban Railway Company has been organized in Richmond. The company recently purchased the local street railway property from the Union Trust Company of St. Louis and will build from Richmond to Cambridge City and thence to Greenfield to connect with the Indianapolis and Greenfield electric line. The capital stock is $500,000.

Stabbed in Fight Over Girl.

William Suit of Starke County quarreled with a man named Florence over a young woman named Belle Gates, to whom both were paying attention, and in the affray Suit was seriously if not fatally wounded. A general riot then took place, in which Florence stabbed six times in the heart and back. There is little hope of his recovery. His assailant fled.

Fire at Union Mills.

Six store buildings, one residence, the Masonic and Odd Fellows' halls and the postoffice in the Town of Union Mills were destroyed by fire, causing a loss of $25,000. The town has a population of 500 and is without fire protection.

State News in Brief.

Esther Costello, who is employed as a nurse in South Bend, is heir to a fortune of $500,000.
John Bader, Williamsport, ate forty fried eggs in twenty-six minutes and won $5 on a wager.
At the house on Schermerhorn farm, near Attica, mysterious rappings are heard every night.
Eaton fruit jar and bottle factory closed because of accident to the continuous tank; 100 persons idle.
Elizabeth J. Kemper, 77, of Muncie, fell down stairs, three months ago, and broke her hip. She is dead.
The Richmond street railway property has been sold to James Murdock of Lafayette and his associates.
The two G. A. R. posts of Terre Haute have issued a circular protesting against making a sporting holiday of Memorial day.
Muncie carpenters have agreed to 29 cents for nine hours instead of 30 cents for eight. Anderson will probably follow.
Greensport dealers are shipping a carload, 12,000 dozen of eggs, each week to New York, Boston and Pittsburg, to go into cold storage.
House of Mrs. Mary Fields, near Hazelton, burned. When she saw it must go she threw herself on the bed and asked to be burned, too.
Henry Hill, a steel worker living at Peru, dreamed of being killed by heavy castings falling upon him. While at work the other day he was knocked down by a falling casting, and his body was burned in a bed of hot sand.

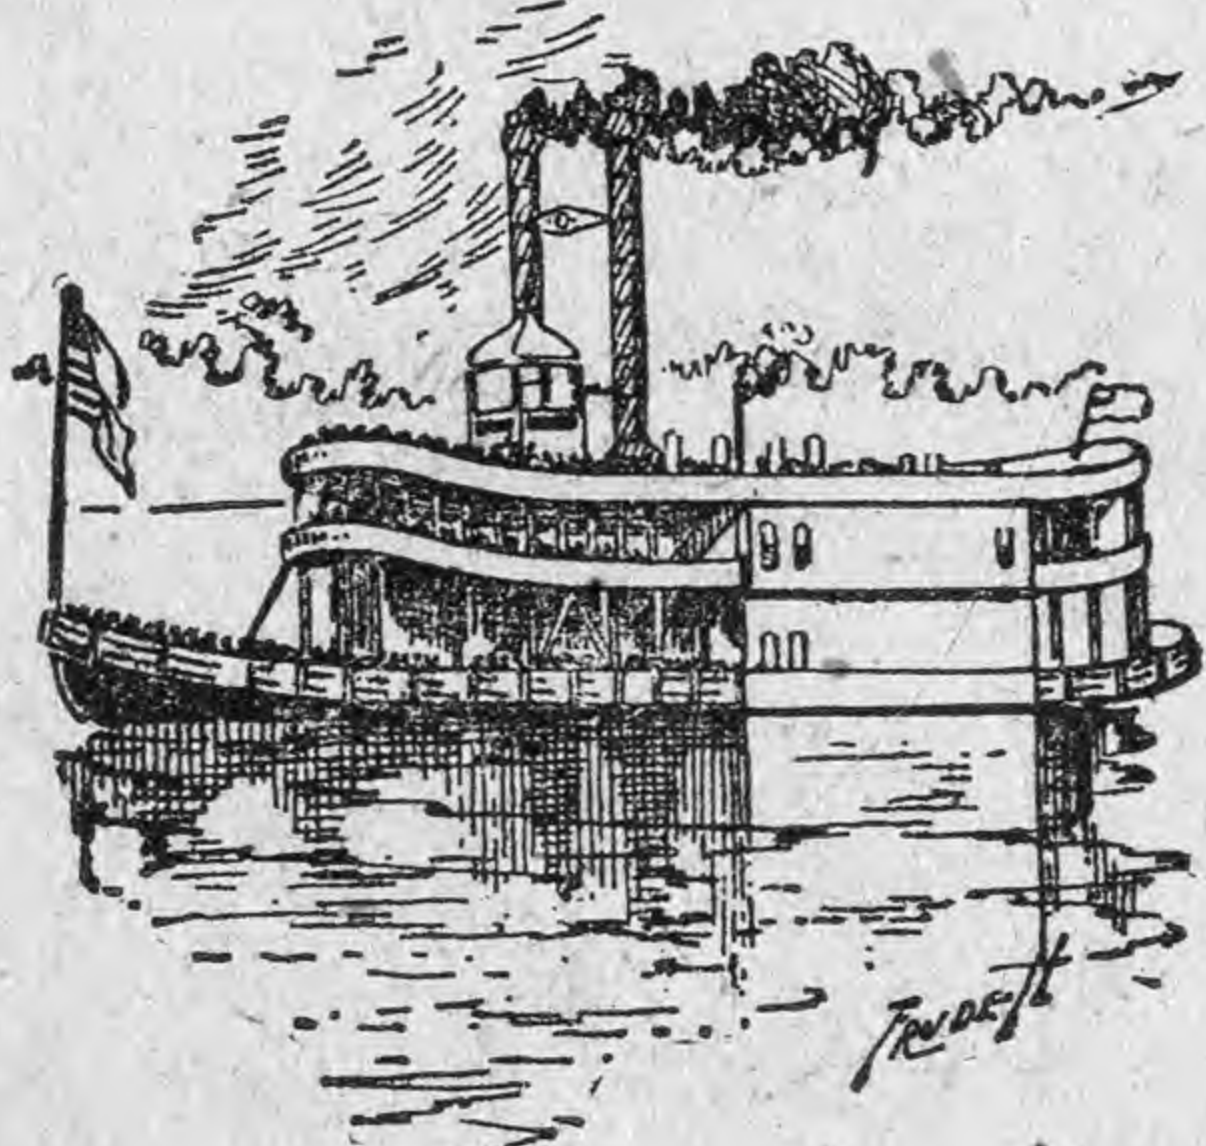

A RIVER BOAT SINKS.

PADUCAH GOES DOWN IN THE MISSISSIPPI.

Steamer Strikes a Snag During the Night Near Grand Tower, Ill.—Reports Say that Between Twenty and Thirty Persons Are Drowned.

The steamer City of Paducah sank early Monday morning in the Mississippi River near Grand Tower, Ill. Early reports stated that between twenty and thirty of the passengers and crew were drowned. The boat struck a snag while backing out from Brunkhorst landing. After striking the snag the pilot attempted to turn the City of Paducah's stern, and while making the turn the boat sank, going down in less than two minutes.

The boat left St. Louis Sunday morning, and at nearly every landing along the river took on freight, most of which was corn. The steamer carried a small passenger list and a light cargo. During the night she was backing out from Brunkhorst landing, which is about ten miles above Grand Tower, when she is supposed to have struck a dangerous sandbar which is located at that point. The passengers and most of the crew were asleep at the time. When the fact became known that the boat was in trouble a panic took possession of the people on board. Several jumped overboard and swam ashore. The boat sank in twenty-five feet of water.

The steamer City of Clifton, of the same line, passed up shortly after the accident and took on board the crew and passengers who had escaped.

A dispatch from St. Louis says that it was about 1 o'clock Monday morning when the accident occurred, and that the boat seemed to suddenly give way, all the center from the hog chain breaking and going down in less than two minutes. The break was directly under the berth occupied by Rev. Mr. Block, a Jewish rabbi, his wife and daughter. The daughter was aroused from sleep by the jar and asked her mother if their berth had broken down. No sooner had the words passed her lips than the water rushed into their apartments and covered them to their chins. By heroic efforts they were able to get ashore.

The City of Paducah was a 600-ton vessel, nine years old, and cost $30,000. Captain Kirkpatrick, one of the oldest river men of St. Louis, who had been with the vessel since it was put into commission, was in charge. It was fully insured. This is the third time the City of Paducah has sunk, but the first time loss of life has occurred. Captain Kirkpatrick stated that the boat would be a total loss.

HENRY BRANDT. MARIE SDOGEL.

Sdogel fell in love with the blond locks and the white teeth. When Henry proposed she accepted straightway.

One fateful day Henry fell ill. Marie hurried to his bedside. Oh, horrors! Those blond locks were no locks of his. He wore a wig. His head was bald. More horrors! His gleaming white teeth were as false as the hair.

Marie's heart was broken. She announced that she would be no wife of a bald and toothless man. Henry has commenced suit for breach of promise.

A Famous Old House.

The house of Walter Baker & Co., whose manufactures of cocoa and chocolate have become familiar in the mouth as household words, was established one hundred and twenty-one years ago (1780) on the Neponset River in the old town of Dorchester, a suburb of Boston. From the little wooden mill, "by the rude bridge that arched the flood," where the enterprise was first started, there has grown up the largest industrial establishment of the kind in the world. It might be said that, while other manufacturers come and go, Walter Baker & Co. go on forever.

What is the secret of their great success? It is a very simple one. They have won and held the confidence of the great and constantly increasing body of consumers by always maintaining the highest standard in the quality of their cocoa and chocolate preparations, and selling them at the lowest price for which unadulterated articles of good quality can be put upon the market. They welcome honest competition; but they feel justified in denouncing in the strongest terms the fraudulent methods by which inferior preparations are palmed off on customers who ask for and suppose they are getting the genuine articles. The best grocers refuse to handle such goods, not alone for the reason that, in the long run, it doesn't pay to do it, but because their sense of fair dealing will not permit them to aid in the sale of goods that defraud their customers and injure honest manufacturers.

Every package of the goods made by the Walter Baker Company bears the well-known trade-mark, "La Belle Chocolatiere," and their place of manufacture "Dorchester, Mass." Housekeepers are advised to examine their purchases, and make sure that other goods have not been substituted. An attractive little book of "Choice Recipes" will be mailed free to any housekeeper who sends her name and address to Walter Baker & Co., Ltd., 158 State Street, Boston, Mass.

White House Clocks.

There are clocks innumerable—historical and commonplace—in the home of the President of the United States. But one of the clocks is of American make. It was bought by James Monroe and has always remained in the green-room. It keeps just as good time as its foreign contemporaries, though in the early days America did not shine as a successful clockmaking country.

The clock in the blue parlor was once owned by Napoleon Bonaparte, who gave it to Lafayette, who in turn bestowed it upon Washington. It has a frame of alabaster and gilt bronze, and is wound but once a month. It keeps time to-day as accurately as when it was new.

The Lincoln clock is in the red room, and is made of ebony and gold. It strikes the halves and quarters, as well as the hours.

In the room now occupied by Mrs. McKinley is a clock which has been ticking away for thirty years. The clock with which the public is most familiar is on the stairs leading to the President's office, and many a weary and anxious waiter has watched its hands creep relentlessly across the face. It is modern and commonplace. The private secretary has a clock with a cathedral gong, which is a good time-keeper.

Epidemic of Baldness in Japan.

The ladies of Osaka, in Japan, are in a state of the utmost terror lest they should lose their beautiful hair through a disease which results in baldness.

It is not unusual for a fair one to have her hair dressed one day in a most elaborate manner, and a few days later to find every hair come out in the comb. This remarkable epidemic prevailed in the Chiba prefecture last spring, and now it is devastating human heads in Osaka.

The disease has also claimed a few victims in Tokio, where the police have issued stringent regulations to barbers regarding the disinfection of their scissors, combs, razors, etc.

The germ of the disease, according to one doctor, is of an "extremely fine sort," and more dangerous to the hair of women than to that of men.—Yokohama Correspondence London Mail.

What Do the Children Drink?

Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food drink called GRAIN-O? It is delicious and nourishing and takes the place of coffee. The more Grain-O you give the children the more health you distribute through their systems. Grain-O is made of pure grains, and when properly prepared tastes like the choice grades of coffee, but costs about 1/4 as much. All grocers sell it. 15c and 25c.

The great multitude take this remedy without any other advice than the directions to be found upon the bottle and in the pamphlets. There are those who prefer, however, to correspond with Dr. Hartman during their sickness. To all such he will make prompt and careful answer without charge.

Hon. J. F. Crooker, of Buffalo, N. Y., who was for years Superintendent of Schools at Buffalo, in a letter dated October 16, writes:

"I have been a sufferer from catarrh six or seven years, and after trying many remedies I was induced by a friend to take Peruna. The results have been highly satisfactory. I take pleasure in recommending Peruna to any one suffering with catarrh, as my cure is complete."

Hon. J. F. CROOKER, Supt. Buffalo, N. Y., Public Schools.

Hon. B. B. Doyner, Congressman from West Virginia, in a letter from Washington, D. C., to The Peruna Medicine Co., says the following of their catarrh remedy, Peruna:

"I join with my colleagues in the House of Representatives in recommending your excellent remedy, Peruna, as a good tonic and also an effective cure for catarrh."

Mrs. Mary C. Fentress writes from Paradise, Tex., the following: "I think I can say that your good advice and medicine has cured me of chronic catarrh. I have had no pains in my head since I have taken Peruna. I have been in bad health ever since '59, and have taken a good many medicines which were only of temporary relief. Peruna is the catarrh cure. The Peruna stopped my catarrh of the head so that it did not become chronic, and I am very thankful for Dr. Hartman's advice and medicine."

Peruna is a specific for all catarrhal diseases. It acts quickly and beneficially upon the inflamed mucous membrane, thus removing the cause of catarrh.

Catarrh is catarrh wherever located. Catarrh is essentially the same everywhere. The remedy that will cure catarrh in one situation will cure it in all situations.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

A Fable.

There was once an astute manager of a dramatic company which was playing to about $10 a night.

Now, the astute manager argued to himself: "There will have to be something doing here pretty suddenly, or it will be a case of hie to the friendly inn, for we cannot eat the papier-mache turkey."

So he put out the S. R. O. sign and refused to let any one into the theater that evening.

Next day there was a line of people reaching from the box office to the edge of town.

Moral—If you carry something besides hair under your hat you do not need to dramatize a novel or fake milk baths.—Baltimore American.

A Miracle Explained.

Bryant, Mo., May 13.—The sensational cure of Mrs. M. A. Goss, of this place, has sent a ripple of excitement all over Douglas County, and Dodd's Kidney Pills, the remedy in question, are receiving thereby the greatest advertisement any medicine has ever had in this State.

To satisfy the many inquiries which she finds it impossible to answer by letter, Mrs. Goss has sent the following statement of her case to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat:

"I did not think I could live a day and suffer, as I have lived and suffered for months with Sciatica and Rheumatism. I used baths and liniments of all kinds. Two physicians treated me, one of them for two months. Nothing helped me in the least. I never slept more than ten or fifteen minutes at a time. I was bedfast, and had to lie on one side all the time. I used to wish for death, to deliver me from such torture."

"A friend suggested Dodd's Kidney Pills, and after I had used them a week I began to improve, and in about four weeks I could sit up in bed. A few days later I walked a quarter of a mile and back. I now do all my own cooking and house work. The pain has entirely left me, and I am a well woman. I have taken altogether sixteen boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's Kidney Pills saved my life."

"MRS. M. A. GOSS."

People come for miles to see Mrs. Goss, and hear her wonderful story. Dodd's Kidney Pills are working marvelous cures in Missouri.

MRS. M'KINLEY IS ILL

PRESIDENT'S WIFE WORN OUT BY LONG JOURNEY.

Physician Says Rest Is All that Is Needed—Hurried Trip to San Francisco to Consult Specialists—Cabinet Ministers Carry Out Program.

President McKinley's tour of the West was suddenly interfered with by the serious illness of Mrs. McKinley. A special train bearing President and Mrs. McKinley, Miss Barber, Dr. Rixey, Secretary Cortelyou and Henry T. Scott and Mrs. Scott arrived in San Francisco at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon from Del Monte. Mrs. McKinley was taken there by the President in advance of the regular program that she might obtain complete rest. Upon arrival the President and party were driven to the residence of Henry T. Scott.

Mrs. McKinley has not been well since the long journey began and the trip has fatigued her very much. Her condition became such that both the President and Dr. Rixey considered it wise to take her to San Francisco, where she could have complete rest for a few days at Mr. Scott's residence and where Dr. Hirschfelder, Mr. Scott's physician, could be consulted if necessary. The cabinet and other members of the party carried out the program as arranged, arriving in San Francisco on Tuesday.

The illness of Mrs. McKinley cast a shadow on the other members of the party who remained at Del Monte, and there was talk at first of abandoning the entire schedule between there and San Francisco, but Mrs. McKinley especially requested that the plans of the party should not be disarranged by her departure.

Felon Appears on Her Finger.
The day after leaving New Orleans a bone felon appeared upon Mrs. McKinley's finger, and the soreness was aggravated by the hand being bruised against the side of the car as the train rounded a curve. Her hand became swollen and gave her considerable pain and produced Hawaiian Legislature Demands that McKinley Oust the Governor.

The removal of Gov. Dole has been demanded of President McKinley by a large majority in each house of the Hawaiian territorial legislature. The lawmakers accuse the governor of obstructing legislation and of being responsible for the adjournment of the legislature without passing a single one of the important measures to which the home-rulers were pledged, except the county government act, which the governor killed by a vest-pocket veto. Gov. Dole, in turn, denounces the legislators, making general charges of bribery and explaining his refusal to call an extra session of the legislature for general business, as requested by members, by saying he cannot justify himself in reassembling the body until the corruption accusations are investigated.

A special from Washington says: Officials who are acquainted with the President's views regarding the legislative situation in Hawaii do not believe Mr. McKinley will be inclined to take notice of the memorial from the Hawaiian legisla-

Western Canada's December Weather Equal to that of May in Minnesota.

To the Editor—Thomas Regan and C. Collins, of Eden Valley, Minn., went out to Western Canada last December as delegates, to look over the grazing and grain lands that are being offered at such low prices and reasonable terms. This is what they say:

"We arrived in Calgary about the 20th December, and although we had left winter in Minnesota and Manitoba, we were surprised to find beautiful warm weather at this point, quite equal to what we have in May in Minnesota. There was no snow nor trace of winter to be seen, and the climate was really splendid. Horses, cattle and sheep were running out, in prime condition, with plenty of feed on the prairie, and really better than that of ours stabled in the South. We are impressed with this country as one of the finest mixed farming countries we have ever seen. The immense tracts of fertile lands well sheltered and abundantly watered leave nothing to be desired.

Leaving Alberta, we returned east and visited the Yorkton district in Assiniboia. We drove out about ten miles at this point, and were highly pleased with the splendid samples of grain we were able to see, wheat yielding twenty-five bushels, oats sixty bushels. Roots were also good specimens. From what we have seen, we have decided to throw in our lot with the Yorktoners—satisfied that this part of the country will furnish good opportunities for any one anxious to make the best of a really good country. Any agent of the Canadian government, whose advertisement appears elsewhere in the columns of your paper, will give you full particulars of the new districts being opened out this year in Assiniboia and Saskatchewan. Yours truly, OLD READER.

This is the address given in an order for Dodd's Kidney Pills received and filled by the Dodds Medicine Company of Buffalo on April 16.

This unique direction means, that to reach the sick people of Iceland, the parcel must travel to New York, then to London, England, then northwest to Greenland, to be landed finally on the lonely island at the edge of the Arctic Circle.

This is a pointed illustration of how United States goods find their way to the remotest corners of the earth.

America to-day produces better medicines, as well as better manufactured articles, than any other country in the world, and this fact accounts for the demand for Dodd's Kidney Pills from every part of the known universe.

In London no fewer than 188,000 people live four and more to the room, and these 3,000 are packed to the extent of eight or more to the room.

fever which prevented her from sleeping. Dr. Rixey lanced the felon twice and gave her some relief in that way. Mrs. McKinley bore it all very bravely and urged continually that the program at the cities and towns en route should not be modified in any particular on her account.

It was hoped that the rest at Del Monte would do her good, but she slept little at night, and in the morning she reluctantly agreed to go to San Francisco at once. The President and Mrs. McKinley left at 12:30 o'clock for San Francisco on a special train, consisting of a locomotive and the combination baggage and smoker Atlantic and the private car Olympia. The entire equipment was made up from the presidential special train. The run was made in three and one-half hours.

Dr. Rixey said Mrs. McKinley's condition was not alarming. She is worn out by her long journey and it was considered wise to take her to San Francisco, where she could have proper nursing and where specialists could be consulted. But, a correspondent says, while the physician in attendance talks thus reassuringly, it is believed that her condition is much more serious than he is willing to admit.

THE MAINE WILL FLOAT.

Unique Method to Be Employed in Raising the Battleship.

Newton F. Chamberlain, who is engaged in raising the wreck of the battleship Maine in Havana harbor, says that the vessel whose destruction precipitated the war with Spain is not as badly damaged as has been generally supposed, and that she will be afloat and ready for business again some time next fall.

The proposed manner of raising the ship is unique. In order to float her it will be necessary to first build a dam around the battleship and pump out the water. When the water has all been removed from the wreck, the hole in her bow will be repaired. Then when the water is turned in again she will rise to the surface and will be towed into the Havana docks for complete overhauling. The machinery in the Maine does not seem to have been damaged at all. Steel does not rust until exposed to the air. As fast as the water is removed the machinery will be covered with oil to prevent corrosion.

When the ship sunk she had on board about $500,000 worth of ammunition, and as this is hermetically sealed in the vaults, Mr. Chamberlain does not apprehend that it will be at all damaged. It will take the best part of the summer to complete the dam, but within two months after it is finished the wreck will be afloat. All the machinery necessary for the work is on the ground.

POOR LITTLE JOHNNY! AND HIS "TUMMY"!

Small boys, and many times large ones, and occasionally girls, too, big and little, suffer terribly from convulsive pains or "cramps" in the bowels and stomach—pain so violent that it "doubles up" the ones attacked, and makes it impossible for them to stand up.

Some people call it colic, but most honest, plain-spoken people call it "belly-ache" and very properly, for the seat of the trouble is in the bowels, and caused by the violent efforts of the bowels to rid themselves of something which doesn't belong there. The small boy usually gets it from over-eating or from eating forbidden fruit, and suffers mostly in the summer time.

It's spring now, and "in times of peace, prepare for war." Let the boys and girls and the big folks, too, for that matter, clean out the clogged channels filled with winter bile and putrid undigested food, strengthen the 30-feet of bowel canal, liven up the liver, and "summer belly-aches" will have no terrors, because they won't happen. The way to make the body ache-proof is to use CASCARETS, gentle, sweet, fragrant CASCARETS, the perfect system cleaners and bowel strengtheners. For fear that anybody in the family should ever be attacked by belly-ache, keep a box of CASCARETS in the house always, and remember that all pains and troubles in your insides are

High School Commencement

Last Friday evening the Evangelical church was beautifully decorated with plants and Easterday and Overmyer secured chairs, so the seating capacity reached four hundred. The exercises were to begin at eight o'clock but before that time the church was filled with anxious listeners. Prompt at eight o'clock Culver's Orchestra played a beautiful march composed by C. S. Wiseman, and dedicated to the class of 1901, to the music of which the class, headed by D.H. Smith, Pres. school board, and followed by Prof. Hahn, marched to the platform.

Rev. Forest Taylor then gave the invocation, after which Prof. Hahn made a few remarks about the meaning of education.

Edward Zechiel then delivered a very unique and original oration on "Bonds Of Tyranny." It showed careful study of history. The orchestra then rendered a very beautiful overture. The oration by Maud Newman "Humble Crigin Of Great Men" followed. She chose Peabody, Lincoln, Luther and Moody as illustrations, it was well delivered. Elmer Scheuerman next gave a graphic account of the Progress Of America. It made the people appreciate the grand land in which we live. After another selection by the orchestra, Lucrètia Rea rendered a very beautiful production on "Great Women." She closed with an ideal christian woman. Her delivery was excellent. The life and influence of John Hampden was well portrayed by Harvey Scheuerman. His illustrations were unique and original. After the orchestra had again pleased the audience, Edwinna McFarland delivered a very beautiful and original production on "Character Building." Virtue alone is happiness below. It was followed by subject "Education" by Levi Osborn. He spoke in a clear forceful manner and the thoughts in his address was excellent. It ought to impress all with the need of education. President of the school board made a few remarks and awarded the diplomas. Rev. Taylor pronounced the benediction. All in all the commencement was well carried out, order good, music good, orations good and audience atten-

The Last Day of School.

The Culver Schools closed last Friday with appropriate program in the rooms below the High School. Many visitors were present and enjoyed the afternoon. Even though sickness greatly thinned the primary room for a time during the winter, the attendance of whole school for the year is 94 per cent. There were 194 pupils enrolled and an attendance at close of term, 157 and an average daily attendance of 150, all an advance over last year. Pupils neither absent nor tardy during the year were: in the High School eight; in Grammar grade seven; in Intermediate four; making a total of nineteen. The Library has been enlarged so as to hold many more books, but only six new books were purchased this year. There will be a few more added soon. The building was more commodious this year than any other year, the furnace heated as well as stoves with more room, less dirt and less coal. The grammar room was not always heated as it should be, but yet the same was true when stoves were used. Another year that will be made give satisfaction. Great care was taken not to promote pupils to rapidly. A pupil placed in a class when the work is too difficult for him to comprehend soon loses interest and lags in the work.

Also it is more embarrassing to fail to pass in the higher grades than in the lower, and if a pupil is weak in the grades he cannot pass the county examination when in the 8th grade. With above fact in mind only those were promoted who were fully able. In making the promotions, the one question in the mind of the teachers was, "What will be best for the child in the long run," and they strove to determine. It is hoped that parents and school officers will visit the schools more the coming year than in the past and work in harmony with the teachers in making a better school, and in this way do more for the children.

I. S. HAHN.

The amount of business done by any town and its progress are dependent upon the energy and enterpris of the citizens. A town is bound to be progressive whose business men are pushing and enlightened fellows, alive to her interests and always ready to aid any enterprise that is likely to be of any benefit to the community, and are willing and eager to encourage any enterprise that may advance the interests of town. The man who is afraid to spend a dollar in improvements is a barrier to progress. He throws every obstacle in the way of advancement and has nothing in view but his own selfish desire. They do not seem to know that their own interests of the town widens their business done by her business men increases in proportion is but a basis for future profit. This is decidedly an age of progress and if men desire to be successful, if they would see their business flourish, they must keep up with the demands of the times and not pull along in the old ruts in which our forefathers traveled.

Our Public Schools.

Our public schools closed for the year last Friday with appropriate exercises. It has been the most successful year in the history of the school. For many years our school board looked for a competent Superintendent and about three years ago selected Prof. Irving Hahn from the many applicants. The wisdom of this choice is apparent. No other Superintendent has labored with more zeal and singleness of purpose to bring the school up to its present high standard.

Looking back at the condition of the school when he took the work, one is amazed to see the changes wrought. No fairy wand has been waved to make it so, but it shows hard thinking, planning, working, sleepless nights, heartaches, discouraging days and a seeming thankless task. But a heart that felt the need of it, and a willing, determined spirit has overcome all obstacles. Prof. Hahn also realizes the importance of maintaining a high moral standing among his pupils, and his talks to the boys and girls have been a means of stimulating them to put forth their best efforts to not only excel in their studies but to become men and women worthy of the name. In this work he has been assisted by an able corps of teachers, everyone being imbued with their superintendent's spirit to do their very best to maintain the high standard of the school.

We understand that the school board has retained the present staff of teachers for the ensuing year.

A Sad Accident.

Last Saturday, the 15 year old son of Thomas A. Perkins proprietor of the ice-cream plant at this place, met with a most deplorable accident while making ice-cream. It seems that while he was arranging ice in the freezer, which was in rapid motion, the middle finger upon his left hand was caught in the cogs, and was mangled and crushed about an inch above the knuckle. He was taken to Dr. Rea's residence, where Drs. Rea and Wiseman dressed the hand and owing to the mangled condition of the finger were compelled to amputate it above the knuckle. The boy was brave and bore the operation with the spirit of a veteran. He is now doing nicely, and although his hand will be permanently crippled, his friends are thankful that it is no worse.

SOLDIER ACCUSES HIMSELF OF FATAL ASSAULT.

Starts to Flee, but Surrenders to Marshal in Orrville, Ohio—Officers Think Him Insane—Three Girls Try to Clean Out a Saloon.

Louis Deman, a member of Company D, Second United States infantry, surrendered himself to Marshal Drushall of Orrville, Ohio. Deman said he had assaulted a comrade, Daniel Ferris, with a bayonet while the latter was asleep in the barracks at Columbus, Ohio, recently, and he feared he had killed Ferris. He said he had started to run away, but concluded it would be best to return and take the consequences. He was held awaiting orders. The authorities at Columbus know nothing about the assault. They believe Deman is demented. While in Cuba he committed an assault upon a fellow soldier, and he was confined in the guardhouse for several months. It is supposed that Deman is still brooding over this trouble.

Proprietor Knocks Them Down and Wrist of One Is Broken.

Winona Kilgore, Anna Peoples and Jasmine Wilhoit, three young girls, the latter a daughter of Lucy Wilhoit, the colleague of Mrs. Nation, wrecked the Summit saloon in Wichita, Kan. They entered the place with rocks, and the barkeeper did not know that an attack was threatened until the glass began to crash about his ears. Fred Wolf, the proprietor, knocked the girls down with his fist, and pitched them one after another into the street. Miss Wilhoit's brother came to their defense and Wolf struck him, making a long gash on his face, from which the blood flowed freely. In the melee the wrist of Miss Peoples was broken. The police arrested the girls and lodged them in the city jail.

A FAMOUS MURDER.

It Is Recalled by the Trial of Prof. Eastman of Harvard.

The trial of Prof. Charles R. Eastman, Harvard College instructor, charged with the murder of his brother-in-law, Richard Grogan, awakens memories of one of the most celebrated tragedies in the history of this country—the murder of Dr. Geo. Parkman of Boston, in 1843, by Dr. John W. Webster, professor of chemistry at Harvard, and lecturer of chemistry in the Boston Medical College.

Dr. Parkman was a millionaire, of an old and aristocratic family. Just a week after the murder, when the detectives had given up, the janitor of the building dug a hole through a stone wall under the building, into a vault which had no opening save from Webster's laboratory. There he found the hip bones and two leg bones of a human body. Webster was at once arrested. He took strychnine at the police station, but not enough to kill him. Further search of his laboratory, which occupied two rooms, one above the other, on the basement and first floors of the medical college, resulted in the finding of Parkman's chest bone and clavicles buried among tan in a tea chest, covered by mineral specimens, and of his false teeth, part of his skull and a shirt button, in the ashes of a furnace.

EX-SECRETARY FOSTER FAILS.

Petition Shows Liabilities to Be $747,008 and Assets Nil.

Charles Foster of Fostoria, Ohio, filed a petition in voluntary bankruptcy in the United States District Court in Toledo, Mr. Foster has absolutely no assets and the schedule of debts is: Secured claims, $236,574.20; unsecured claims, $197,451.58; notes and bills which ought to be paid by other parties thereto, $142,608.42; accommodation paper, $170,374.14; grand total, $747,008.84.

Mr. Foster is perhaps one of the best known politicians in the United States. He has resided for years in Fostoria and the town was named in his honor. He has embarked quite extensively in business and has lost much money in glass manufacturing ventures. Mr. Foster was elected to Congress in 1868 from the Tenth district. He served until 1878, and owing to the gerrymander of the district was beaten in a close contest, reducing the Democratic majority from 3,400 to something less than 1,200. Gen. Finley being elected. In 1879 he was elected Governor of Ohio and served in the gubernatorial capacity until 1880. Mr. Foster was appointed Secretary of the Treasury by President Harrison to fill the vacancy caused by the death of William Windom. He held the treasury portfolio to the end of Harrison's administration.

Few-Line Interviews.

Dennis T. Flynn, Delegate from Oklahoma to Congress—I believe that the next Congress will give statehood to Oklahoma. I feel confident of it. Commercially, intellectually, as regards population and in every other requirement, she is in a position to demand recognition. Oklahoma stands very high at Washington and throughout the East, and her credit is rising constantly.

R. E. L. Meehan of Monterey, Mex.—Everything is booming in Mexico. The great industrial awakening Mexico is passing through in all parts with the introduction of Northern and Eastern capital and American methods, is making it an excellent place for young men with brains and energy to go and stay. There is a real demand for such men in that country now, and it is a pleasant place to live.

Judge Allen Page of Nebraska—I regard the ease with which divorces can be obtained as one of the greatest evils of our American life. Men and women on the stage, and men and women in high social positions set the example, which others are only too ready to follow. The trouble is that the American people are drifting away from right principles of living. They live artificially instead of naturally, and until we leave our artificial existence many things are bound to be wrong.

George B. Lane of Olympia, Wash., formerly of Nebraska—I notice much has been said about W. V. Allen having established a record as a long-winded talker during his senatorial term at Washington. Just to keep history right I want to say that Senator Allen established a record at Kearney in 1882, when he talked for five hours before a Grand Army of the Republic encampment to hold open a session until an Omaha delegation of old soldiers in favor of Maj. Clarkson for department commander could arrive. I heard Mr. Allen then and must say that he impressed me with the idea that he was possessed of an inexhaustible source of matter. He was entertaining, too, and kept the delegation in good humor throughout the entire time.

BIG PANIC IN STOCKS.

WALL STREET EXPERIENCES A TERRIBLE CRASH.

Northern Pacific Touches 1,000—Fearful Slump of Other Shares—Several Failures Are Announced—One Broker Falls Dead in the Exchange.

STOCKS took a terrible tumble Thursday. The New York exchange was a veritable bedlam, and the brokers and speculators were rank, wild-eyed madmen. The corner in Northern Pacific had assumed such colossal proportions that inevitable ruin stared hundreds of men in the face. A panic worse than that of the memorable "Black Friday" threatened to wipe out not only the "lamb," but hundreds of old and wealthy traders. Wall street was in the throes of the most violent convulsions that have ever been encountered in the wildest speculation. Up to 1 o'clock in the afternoon four failures were announced and at least half a dozen other brokerage firms were trembling on the verge of ruin.

A. A. Houseman, one of the leading traders in the Stock Exchange, and said to have been squeezed by the Northern Pacific common corner, dropped dead on the floor of the exchange.

In the craze to liquidate, due to the "corner," Northern Pacific was run up from the close of 160 Wednesday to $1,000 per share. The effect of this was stunning. The floor of the Stock Exchange presented a scene that defies description. Up and up went the stock at bounds of 20 points. Soon the mad fever drove the price up to 1,000 bid. Nothing like this has ever happened in the history of speculation.

The fond hopes of the traders that the differences between the brokers who were struggling for control of the stock had been composed had not been realized. The wish was father to the thought. It was this contest between the giants which had unsettled the entire market and turned the course of the trading from extreme bullishness into panic.

Crowds Watch the Bedlam.

When the gavel fell for the opening of the market the largest gallery of the week was watching the scene, drawn to the exchange by the hint that there would be a general crash and many failures. The first stroke of the gavel was hardly audible. The second and third were drowned in a storm of vocal uproar that echoed in the vast building like the hurrah of a regiment. It was a very rude awakening when the first sale of Northern Pacific was made at 170, which was a gain of 20 points.

The worst, however, was yet to come. There was a let-down to 170 from the first jump, at which some sorely pressed bear succeeded in getting 100 shares. On five additional transactions the price ran to 205 "cash," dropped back to 190 "regular." Then the price went on skyward.

No sooner had the giants of wealth been once more the assault upon Northern Pacific than there was a crash in stocks which is unequalled in the history of the exchange. All the railroad stocks tumbled with one accord save Northern Pacific, which changed hands in lots of thousands at $300, $500 and $700. A few years ago this stock went begging at $2.50. It was like a battle scene with the cries of the wounded and slain now and then drowned by the shrill cry of victory of those who had prepared themselves for just what took place.

Meanwhile there were rumblings in other quarters. The rest of the market opened down from 1 to 14 points for all stocks, railways, industrials and tractions. Then there was a slight recovery. But when the corner in Northern Pacific reached its zenith there was a convulsive movement and then came a great slump in all stocks. Northern Pacific dropped 15 points. United States Steel dropped 46 to 21, catching the longs for hundreds of thousands. Railway stocks dropped suddenly and the panic was increased until the Stock Exchange became a pandemonium. Union Pacific fell with a thud from 106 to 85, a loss of 21 points. A slight rally to 88 followed. Missouri Pacific was also panicky and dropped to 93. Atchison promptly followed with a decline of 5 points, falling to 60. Everything was panicky, barring Northern Pacific. Just before noon four failures were announced on 'Change, and other crashes were momentarily expected.

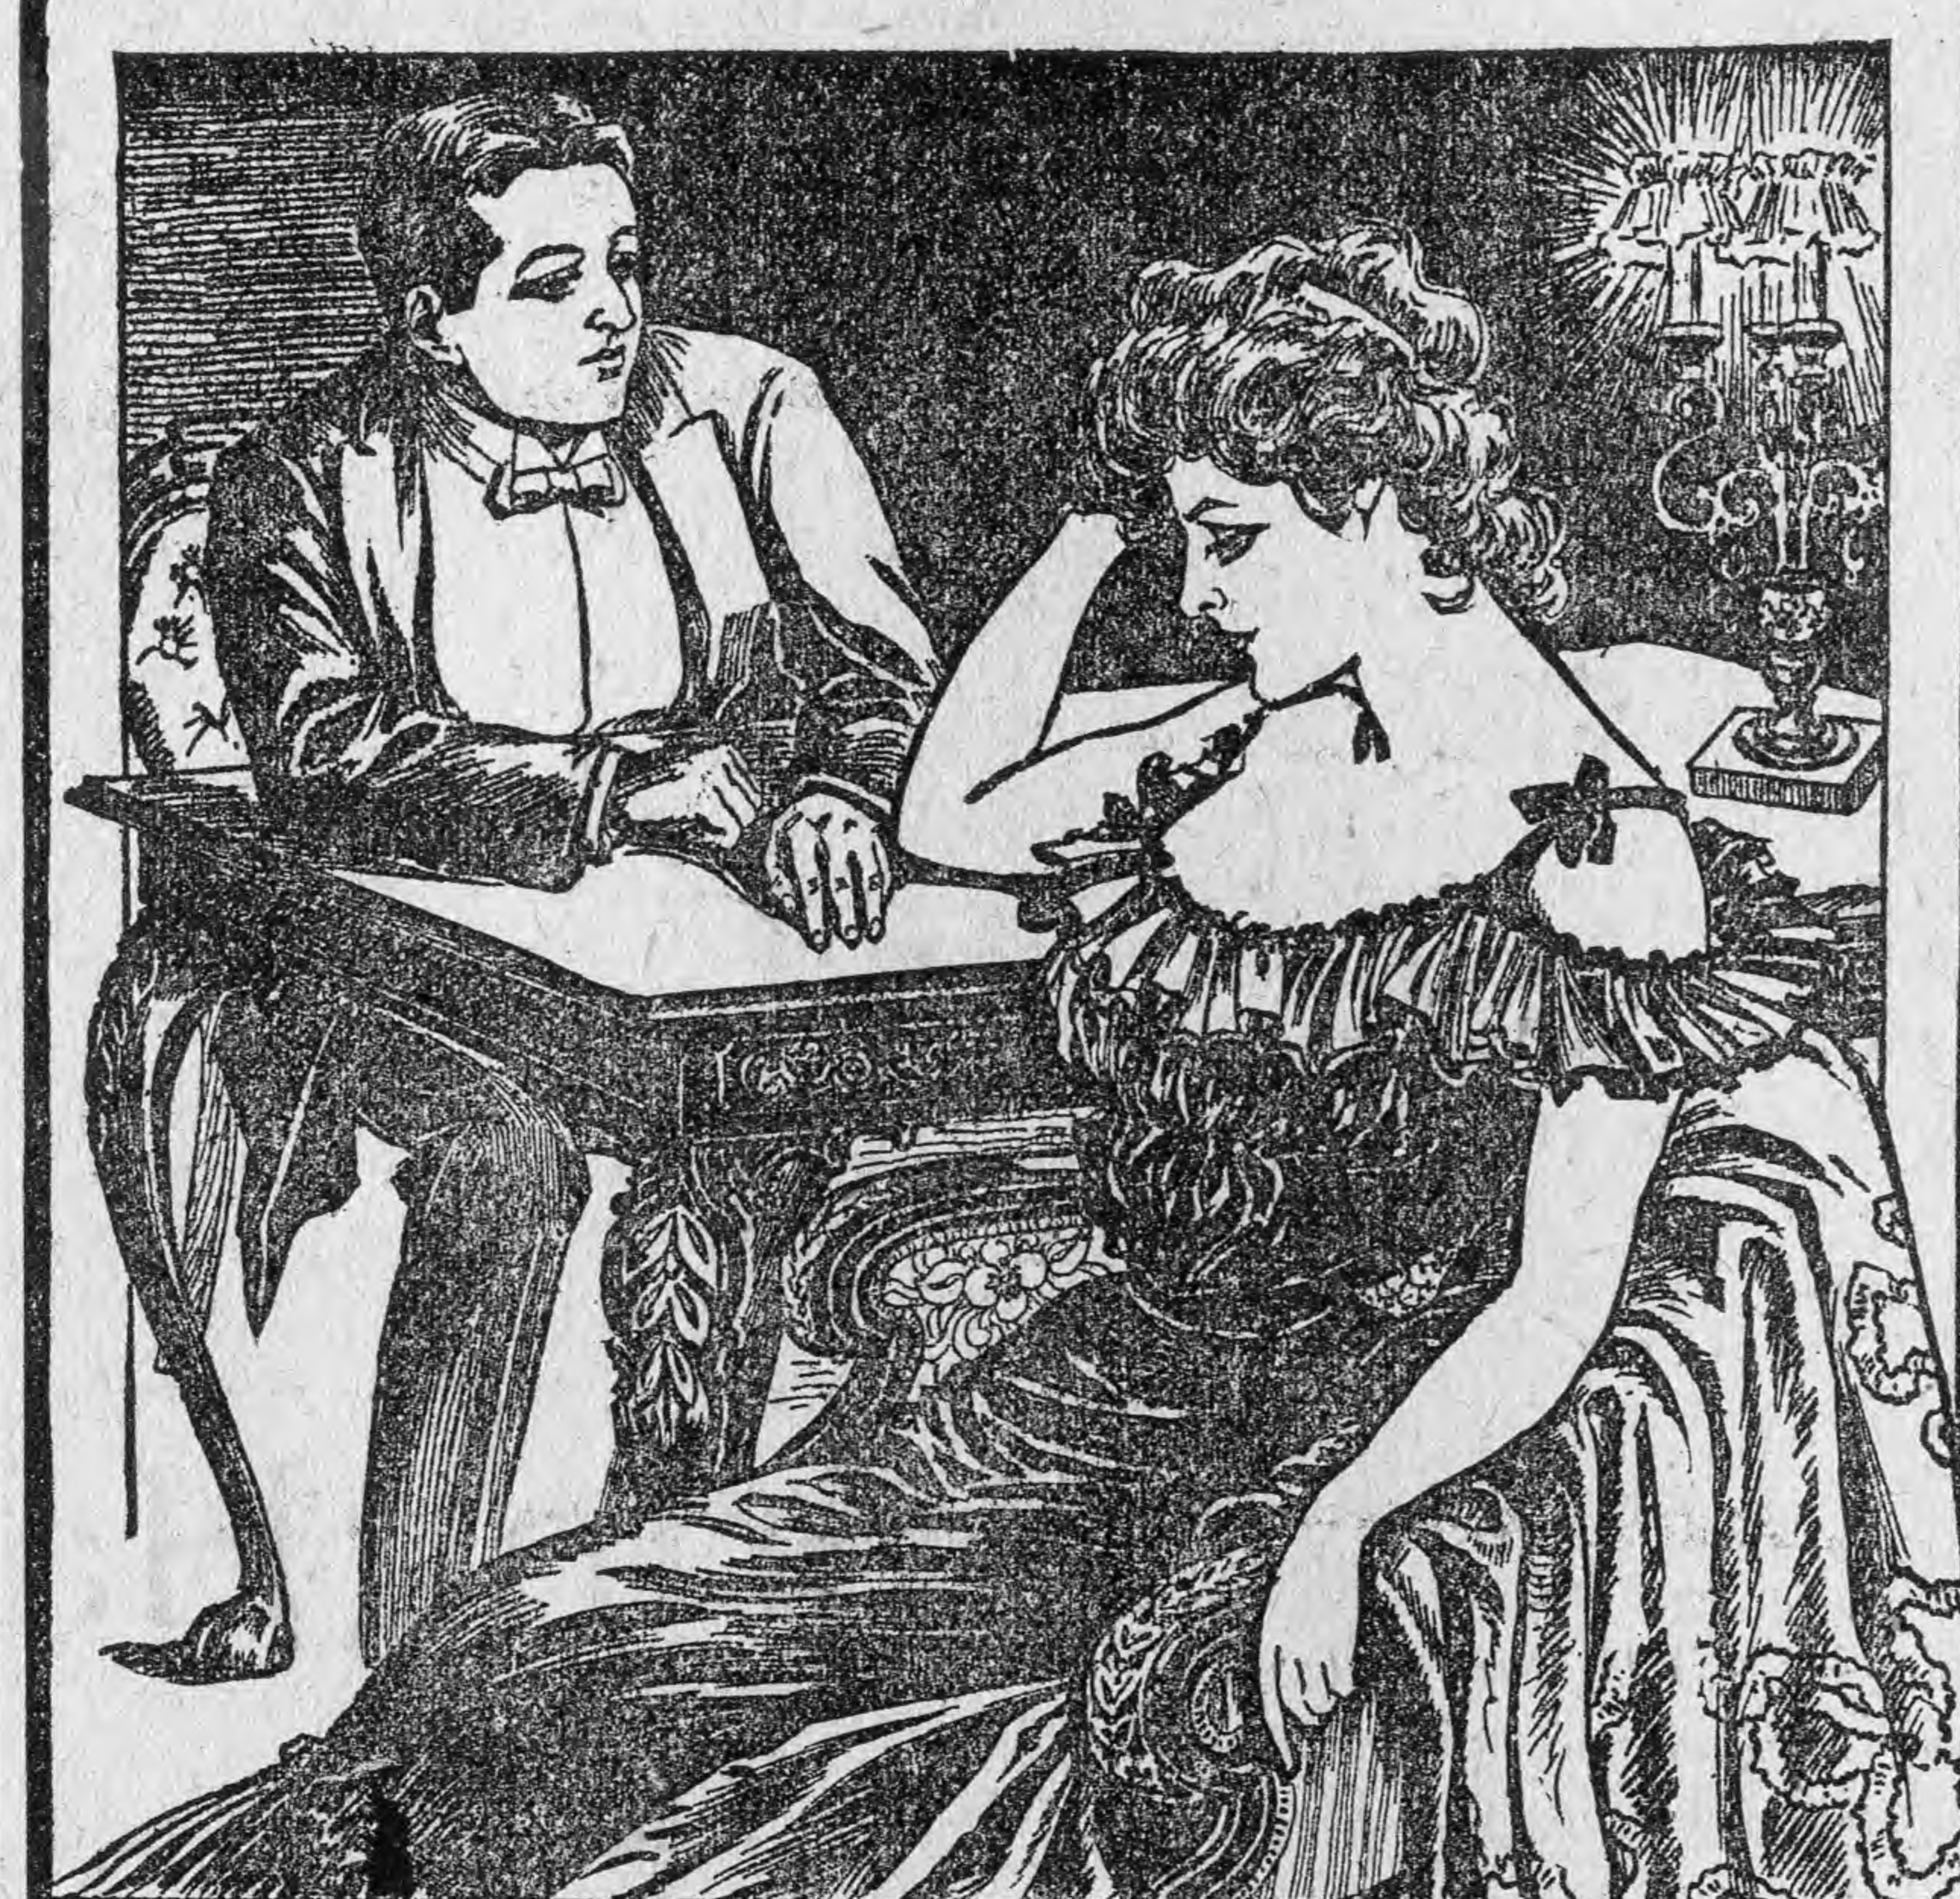

The magnitude of the panic and the fierce energy with which prices were pounded down could best be realized from the tape quotations.

End Must Come.

In spite of history and experience, of warning and prophecy, thousands of men have overstayed their day in Wall street and have been ruined. For weeks past disaster has been foretold for all who continued to seek the bubble fortune in the whirl of Wall street speculation, but like those who tarried in Sodom and Gomorrah, they preferred to wait until the signs of fire actually came. Then it was too late.

Like all panics, the cause of this particular one was accidental. It seems to have been suddenly discovered that two parties of great financial strength were striving for the possession and control of the Northern Pacific Railway. Each party had in their strong boxes a large amount of shares, but neither a controlling interest. To secure this they both went into the open market to buy it, with the result that has been seen. The price of the shares went to $1,000 and fluctuated wildly. Every bid carried with it panic and ruin for the unhappy speculators who were outside the scope of the contending factions.

"Now Don't Get the Blues."

When a cheerful, brave and light-hearted woman is suddenly plunged into that perfection of misery, the blues, it is a sad picture.

It is usually this way: She has been feeling out of sorts for some time, experiencing severe headache and backache; sleeps very poorly and is exceedingly nervous.

Sometimes she is nearly overcome by faintness, dizziness, and palpitation of the heart; then that bearing-down feeling is dreadfully wearing.

Her husband says, "Now, don't get the blues! You will be all right after you have taken the doctor's medicine."

But she does not get all right. She grows worse day by day, until all at once she realizes that a distressing female complaint is established.

Her doctor has made a mistake.

She loses faith; hope vanishes; then comes the morbid, melancholy, everlasting blues. She should have been told just what the trouble was, but probably she withheld some information from the doctor, who, therefore, is unable to accurately locate her particular illness.

Mrs. Pinkham has relieved thousands of women from just this kind of trouble, and now retains their grateful letters in her library as proof of the great assistance she has rendered them. This same assistance awaits every sick woman in the land.

Mrs. Winifred Allender's Letter. "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I feel it my duty to write and tell you of the benefit I have received from your wonderful remedies. Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I was a misery to myself and every one around me. I suffered terrible pain in my back, head, and right side, was very nervous, would cry for hours. Menses would appear sometimes in two weeks, then again not for three or four months. I was so tired and weak, could not sleep nights, sharp pains would dart through my heart that would almost cause me to fall. "My mother coaxed me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had no faith in it, but to please her I did so. The first bottle helped me so much that I continued its use. I am now well and weigh more than I ever did in my life."—MRS. WINIFRED ALLENDER, Farmington, Ill.

Pale Women!

A bloodless face indicates trouble. Watery blood a menace to health. We know how pale people can get rich blood. Come let us tell you about VINOL.

When blood is watery and thin, or, as doctors would say, lacks red blood corpuscles, it is a sign that much is radically wrong. We would advise everyone who has such symptoms to start at once to take a proper remedy to overcome this trouble. That remedy is VINOL, the greatest and most modern (GOLD AND RUBBER). VINOL owes its virtues to the fact that it contains in a highly concentrated state the active principles extracted from Cod's Livers, the same elements that have made Cod Liver Oil famous for wasting diseases. Because we know so well and because we know so surely what it will do, and how it will accomplish the good it does in a scientific way, we unreservedly endorse and recommend it, and in every instance guarantee to refund to anyone what they pay us for VINOL if they do not find it entirely satisfactory.

A Remarkable Duel.

How a God-fearing Soldier Wiped Out an Insult.

The duel between Count Boni de Castellane and Fernand de Rodays, fought in the Parc des Princes in Paris, in which the famous editor of Figaro was wounded, recalls a tragic duel which occurred at Nantes in 1853, and is graphically described by Maurice Mauris.

Oliver Fontaine, lieutenant in a light-infantry regiment stationed there, belonged to an old Toulouse family. His mother, to whom he was devoted, had educated him in the most orthodox fashion. He fulfilled his religious duties in the regiment as regularly as though he had been tied to her apron string. The Bishop of Nantes, who in his youth had been a cavalry officer, used to say that Lieutenant Fontaine would have made a better bishop than himself. He was a good and amiable companion, as well as a loyal, active, and dutiful soldier. He was idolized by all his fellow-officers excepting one—Lieutenant Trouillefou, who owed his commission to the Revolution of 1848. Trouillefou was a perfect type of vulgarity and ignorance, and a declared enemy of all that was noble, delicate, and refined. He continually boasted of a slight wound received in a fight at the barricades. In his eyes there was no glory beyond that gained in revolutionary wars. Like most ignorant men, Trouillefou wanted to pass as a learned man. His historical blunders were without parallel. One day, while the glories of the French army before the Revolution of 1789 were being discussed by a group of officers seated at a table of a cafe, the name of Marshal Saxe was mentioned.

"What do you talk about?" interrupted Trouillefou. "Marshal Saxe was not before the Revolution." The officers looked at each other in astonishment. "Don't you know that he was killed at Marengo?"

"True," Fontaine replied; "but at Marengo the name of De Saxe was pronounced Desaix." From that day Trouillefou's hatred for Fontaine increased. He never missed an occasion to insult the religious feelings of his comrade. He called him a canting priest, a nun, and similar names. Fontaine for a time bore good-naturedly these idiosyncrasies, but at last requested Trouillefou to stop them. Trouillefou complied with the request, and Fontaine, forgetful of his unpleasant remarks, treated him with cordiality. Two months later, several officers were gathered around a table in the same cafe. One, recently returned from a trip to Switzerland, was speaking of Thorwaldsen's monument to the martyrs of the Swiss revolution of 1772.

"The poor Swiss!" exclaimed one of the party. "Really, they have always had bad luck. Ever in our revolutions they generally received our first blows."

"It is true," added Fontaine. "It was against them that, in 1658, the Parisians, under the Duc de Guise, constructed their first barricades."

Lieutenant Fontaine had hardly uttered the word "barricades," when Trouillefou, who was smoking at the next table, and apparently perusing a newspaper, arose from his seat and struck the speaker in the face. There was great excitement. Trouillefou was asked why he had struck his comrade. With flushed face, bloodshot eyes, and foaming lips, he said: "He has spoken disrespectfully of barricades for the purpose of again insulting me. No one shall insult me without a blow."

Fontaine was as white as a sheet. He trembled. Two large tears stole down his cheeks. He kept his eyes on Trouillefou; at his nonsensical remark he wiped them, covered his head with his military cap, hurled at Trouillefou the words, "You are an ass and a coward," and left the coffee-house. Comrades offered to accompany him, but he declined their offer. He walked straight to the chapel of the Virgin, fell upon his knees, and buried himself in prayer. There he remained two hours. When he left the church he was as calm as though nothing had happened. Nearly all the officers of the regiment offered their services as seconds. He thanked them, but declared that he had sought advice from one "whose wisdom and love had never deceived him," and that he had irrevocably determined not to challenge Trouillefou. The officers were astounded. Some remarked that military honor required that he should fight. He replied that Christian honor forbade it; that Jesus had set an example of forgiveness that no Christian ought to disregard. Warned by others that he would be suspected of cowardice, he answered that he believed he could offer better evidence of his courage by obeying God than by yielding to human prejudice. If the army and the world misjudged his motives, he did not care, for God read his heart.

Although esteemed and loved by all his comrades, Lieutenant Fontaine could not convince them of the correctness of his views. His refusal to fight created such a commotion in the regiment that the colonel deemed it prudent to interfere. He summoned the officer to his presence. "Is it true," he asked, "that you have been slapped in the face by Lieutenant Trouillefou?"

"Yes, Colonel," he replied. "Have you asked for satisfaction?" "No, Colonel." "You must ask for it without delay." "I shall not, for three reasons," was the reply.

"Let us have your reasons," rejoined the old officer.

"Because dueling is opposed to human law, to divine law, and to common sense." "Is that all?" the Colonel inquired.

"Yes, Colonel." "Well, Monsieur Fontaine, if before the end of the week you do not challenge Trouillefou to a duel, I will expel you from the regiment."

Fontaine remarked that only soldiers guilty of crime deserved expulsion. The Colonel rejoined that to stain the uniform of a regiment with cowardice was a crime, and repeated his threat. Fontaine left without finching in his determination.

The general then intervened. As he loved the officer dearly, he entreated him to fight, for the honor of his regiment. The lieutenant firmly replied: "Order me to give up life in behalf of my country, or society, or religion, or any noble cause, and I will willingly encounter death. But ask me not to disobey the gospel."

Fontaine, however, could not resist the treatment of his comrades and subordinates. He tendered his resignation. The minister of war replied that it could not be accepted under the circumstances. He could only be dismissed in disgrace. That filled the measure. One evening Fontaine again walked into the Cafe Cambonne, where his comrades were assembled. "Gentlemen," said he, "you were witnesses of the insult received from Lieutenant Trouillefou. I intended to forgive it, because my religion teaches me to forgive. You will have it otherwise, and I obey you. God, who has witnessed the struggle of my heart, will allot to each his share of responsibility for what may happen. You force me to fight. I will fight. I make two conditions. First, that all who were present at the outrage shall witness the reparation; second, that the latter be proportionate to the offense. I want a duel to the death, with pistols, and only one of them loaded, the distance to be fifteen feet. Do you accept, Lieutenant Trouillefou?"

The latter hesitated, but finally stammered, "All right."

"To-morrow, at six o'clock in the morning, in the Forest of Chavandiere, by the cross road of the Trois-Louvards," said Fontaine.

A roar of applause greeted his words. The officers crowded around him to congratulate him upon his determination and to protest their friendship.

"Wait until to-morrow, gentlemen," the lieutenant replied. "You have suspected me of being a coward. Before protesting your friendship, you had better see me on the ground," and he withdrew.

At the appointed time the officers of the regiment were at the Trois-Louvards. The colonel loaded one of the pistols, enveloped them in a silk handkerchief, and requested Fontaine to choose a weapon, as he was the insulted party. The combatants were placed fifteen feet from each other. The officers silently formed in two lines, on the right and left of the duellists, and the colonel gave the word.

Trouillefou was the first to fire. His pistol carried no bullet. He staggered as though already wounded. Fontaine could now forgive. But his moral feeling had given way under the pressure of bitter sarcasm. He calmly leveled his weapon, fired, and Trouillefou fell, with a shattered skull. There was a cry of horror. The spectators rushed toward the dead duelist. But before they reached him, Fontaine was at his side. He dipped his hand in the blood of the dead officer, and with that blood washed the cheek upon which he had been struck, exclaiming: "Well, gentlemen, do you think the insult sufficiently washed away?" Then, running like a lunatic, he disappeared in the forest, and was seen no more at Nantes. Years afterward he was discovered in a monastery at Rome, where, under the religious name of Fra Pancrazio, he was still praying for the remission of his sins, and for the eternal salvation of the man whom he had killed.—San Francisco Argonaut.

A COSTLY VENTURE.

Von Zeppelin Sinks a Pile of Money in His Airship.

In July last, and again in October, experiments were made in aerial navigation at Friedrichshafen, on Lake Constance, by a rich German military officer, Count von Zeppelin. These were reported in the New York Tribune at the time. It will be remembered that the court's airship was a cylindrical gas reservoir, 400 feet in length and 37 feet in diameter. It was divided up into a number of compartments. Two tiny boats were suspended from the reservoir, and gas engines and screw propellers were employed to drive the colossal object through the air.

The possibility of getting this craft up without accident and of coming down again (on the surface of a lake), of keeping right side up while flying in comparatively calm weather, and of steering from side to side, was demonstrated in a satisfactory manner. But it was not practicable to develop a higher speed than six or eight miles, and consequently the ship could not cope with a wind of a greater velocity than that.

As might have been expected, this venture cost an enormous amount of money, most of which was supplied by the builder himself. But the count was a member of the King of Wurtemberg's staff, and succeeded in interesting the King to such an extent that the latter not only contributed money, but also personally attended one of the trials. It is now announced that the stock company formed to help the count has been dissolved, and it is doubtful if anything will ever be heard of the Von Zeppelin airship again. The count is now practically a bankrupt, and no one is likely to advance any more money to promote further experiments.

Although a good deal of engineering skill as well as money was put into this venture, it was unfortunate in one important respect. The ship was altogether too big and the engine too feeble. Airships of this type have been able to develop twice as great a speed as Von Zeppelin secured. And if he wanted to beat the record he should have increased the proportion between the size of the craft and the amount of motive power employed. A self-propelled airship that will make only six or eight miles an hour might serve some good purpose, perhaps, but a much greater velocity seems to be essential either for military observation in time of war or geographical research. Moreover, when testing any new principles or apparatus, it is always wise to work on a small scale at first, and build on a big one only after the complete success of the mechanism has been demonstrated. Hiram Maxim seems to have made the same mistake as the Wurtemberger. Langley has sensibly continued his operations to mere models, though the latter were big enough to show what he wanted to find out.

A Kangaroo Ranch in Arkansas.

An Arkansas planter is to start a kangaroo ranch. Besides the value of the kangaroo's hide, the animals are chiefly valuable for the use which is made of their tendons. These can be split extremely fine, and are then the best thing known to the medical profession for sewing up wounds, and especially for holding the broken parts of bones together.

SOME ONE BLUNDERED.

Jack's father and mother were having a very heated discussion at the table one day. They entirely forgot him, and, as the argument waxed fiercer, he looked from one to the other with real concern on his chubby face. Presently, during a lull, he cleared the air by asking, pointedly: "Papa, did you marry mamma, or did mamma marry you?"—Brooklyn Life.

BUFFALO'S BIG SHOW

PAN-AMERICAN EXPOSITION A GORGEOUS DISPLAY.

Plenty of Contrast and Color, Unlike the Chicago Fair—A Correspondent Says It's Well Worth Crossing the Continent to See.

Buffalo correspondence:

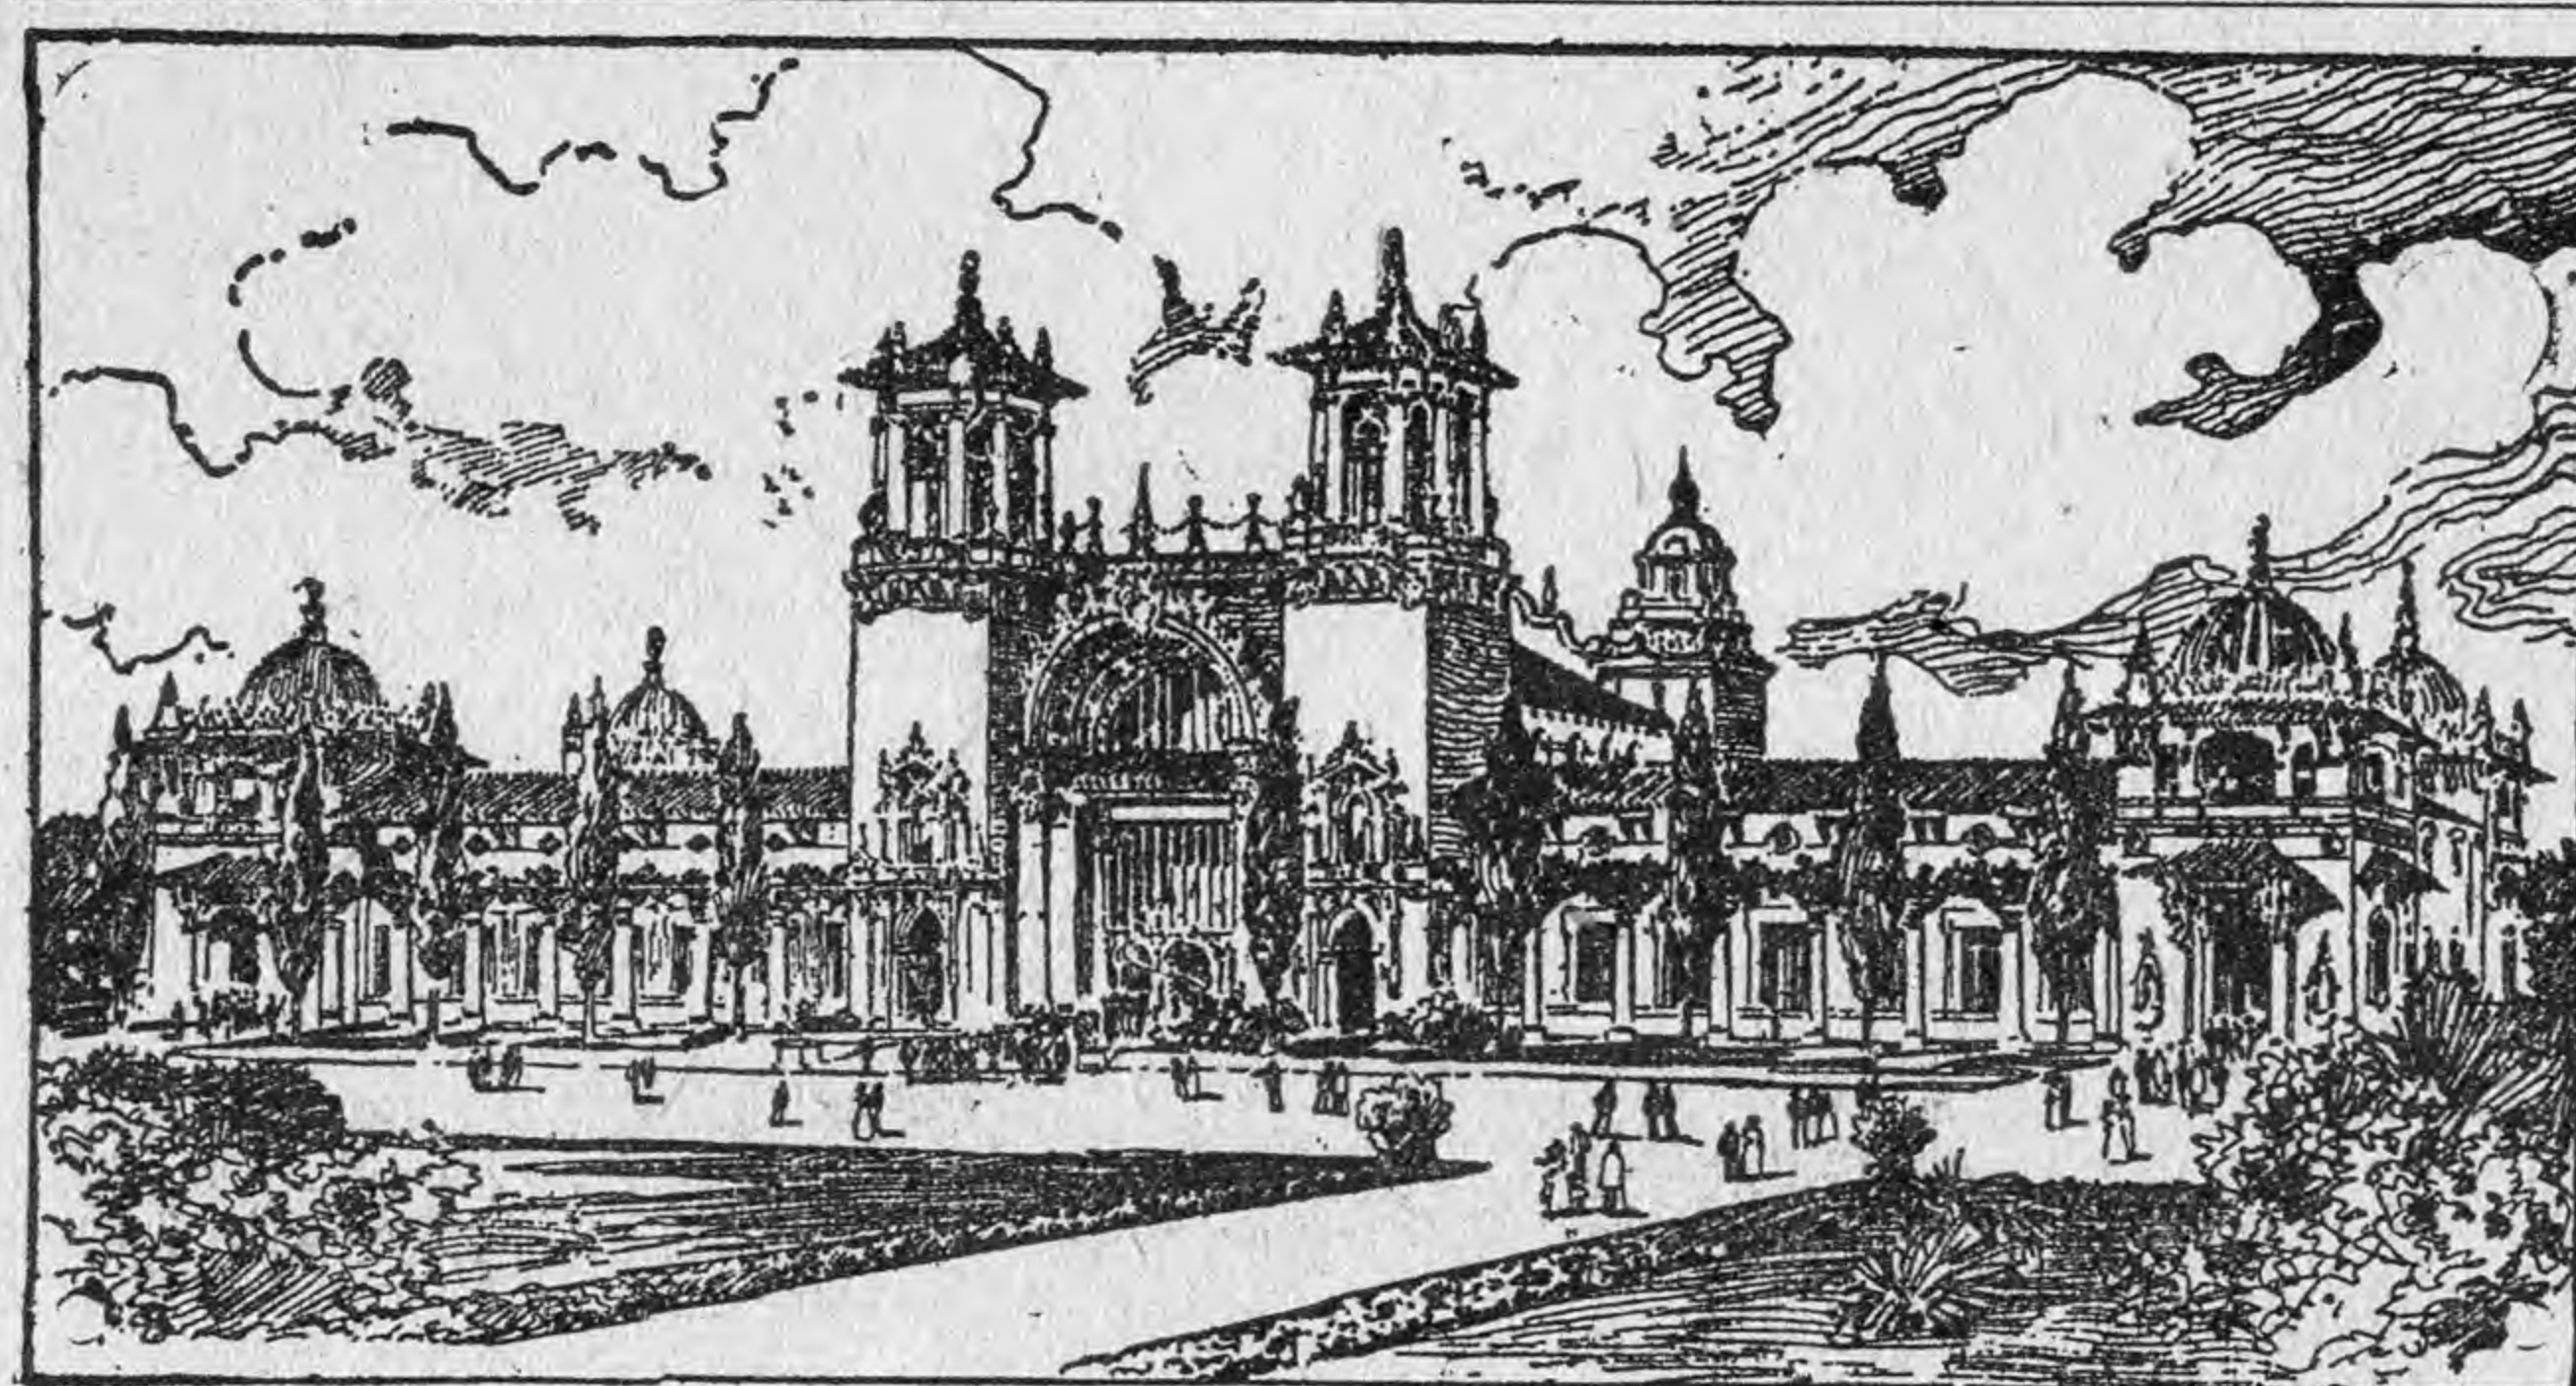

The Pan-American exposition in many respects ought to be the most successful international exposition ever held in America. The Centennial at Philadelphia and the Columbian World's Fair at Chicago are the only exhibitions that can fairly be compared with the Pan-American at Buffalo. Each of those was held in a slough of bad times. The nation was sick at heart. Most of the people were too poor for entertainments. Buffalo gets the benefit of the most marvelous rush of prosperity the country has ever known. She has the advantage, too, of eight years of scientific progress over Chicago, and of twenty-five years over Philadelphia—a quarter of a century as full of miracles as half a dozen centuries in slower times. And then she has Niagara Falls—a thing no other city could have matched eight years ago, or twenty-five, or at any other time.

It is a happy thought of Buffalo to invite the world to come and see the falls while she has them. They will not last very long. Even if they were left to themselves they would probably wear away and disappear within the next ten or fifteen thousand years, but industrial enterprise is not likely to let us keep them even as long as that. Within the next half century the Niagara river may be all running through a double row of electric power tunnels, leaving nothing but a dry cliff where now the cataract surges. So all should hasten to Buffalo and prepare to tell their grandchildren truthfully that they once looked upon the glory of Niagara Falls.

The Pan-American Exposition is well worth crossing the continent to see. The buildings here, excepting those erected by the government for its exhibits, are in variegated tints the very opposite of the white city at Chicago. Opulent contrasts are offered by the red tile roofs, with the greens, yellows and other tasteful tints of the walls, and the blues, reds, gold, purple and other rich hues used in the decoration of the pavilions, archways, cornices and towers of the Spanish renaissance architecture in which all the buildings are harmoniously constructed. At night the electric illuminations bring out in full the beauties of the statuary and of the many cascades. The effect is wonderful. Over 500,000 incandescent lights are used in the marvelous illumination.

The things that greet the eye of the visitor in the Rainbow City give one a comfortable feeling, and the greetings of the Buffalo people enhance the pleasure. Comparisons are bound to be made between the Pan-American Exposition and the Chicago World's Fair. But the conditions are so different that comparisons are out of order. Experts in such affairs who have made a study of both displays say the effects at Buffalo are more satisfactory because of the warmth in the coloring of the buildings, which gives a variety that was lacking in the White City.

These Pan-American grounds include 133 acres of improved park lands and are completely surrounded by big trees, lagoons, canals and waterways. At the north is the railway approach, and at the south or city end is a shaded boulevard, the Lincoln parkway. The visitor, once in, stands with the music gardens at the left, the court of State and foreign buildings at the right, and the triumphal bridge in front, from which he sees everything. On the east are the United States government buildings, on the west the buildings devoted to horticulture, forestry, mines and graphic arts.

Directly in front is the esplanade, reaching to the court of fountains, with its bubbling cascades from the electric tower. At the right of the court of fountains are the ethnology, manufactures and liberal arts buildings; to the left the temple of music, machinery and transportation buildings. The mall runs east and west across the north end of the court of fountains, and in front of the electric tower, east and west of which will be respectively the agriculture and the electricity buildings. At the right, north of the mall, will be the stadium, "Just like the old Coliseum of Rome," say the Buffaloes, and on the left the midway. "Something like the old Columbian midway," they explain.

OUR NEW POSSESSIONS.

Splendid Exhibit of Island Resources at Buffalo.

The diversified and valuable resources of Cuba are exhibited at the Pan-American Exposition. A Cuban building has been erected in the Court of State and Foreign Buildings and it is one of the most picturesque of this fine group. Its architecture and materials are peculiar to the island. The building is surmounted by the traditional "Tower of Havana," and attracts the attention of all visitors. It has a splendid view of the Park lakes, the Approach, the Fore Court, the Triumphal Bridge and other parts of the exposition. The exhibits are the best ever collected in the island and are entirely representative of its industries.

Porto Rico has a building desirably located in the Court of State and Foreign Buildings. The building was constructed entirely of native woods of all varieties and was built in Porto Rico and "knocked down," ready to be set up on its arrival at the exposition grounds. The island also has 1,200 square feet of space in the Agriculture Building and the same space in the Horticulture Building for exhibits. Most of the space allotted to the island in the Agriculture Building is occupied by a comprehensive exhibit of sugar, coffee and tobacco in various stages of growth and manufacture. Besides everything produced and manufactured on the island, instructive tables of information have been prepared which will be invaluable to agriculturists and others intending to invest in Porto Rico. The space occupied by the Philippine exhibit covers four acres. It is laid out as a Filipino village with a broad street down the center from the front entrance. The buildings lining both sides of this street are of native construction of bamboo and nipa. A very complete collection has been made of the woods, flora, insect, reptile, animal and bird life of the islands. The trade, vocations and professions of the natives are shown by natives at work, material in quantities for this purpose being a big part of the collection. This exhibit is one of the most important at the exposition.

NOTES OF THE BUFFALO FAIR. Items of Interest to Prospective Visitors of the Exposition. The biggest logs in the Western Hemisphere may be seen at Buffalo. The Ohio State Historical and Archaeological Society has an exhibit. Canada's exhibit at the Pan-American exposition occupies a space of about 3,000 square feet. The Louisiana exhibit at the Pan-American Exposition occupies 2,000 square feet of space. Stamp collectors all over the world are adding the new Pan-American series of stamps to their collections. Wisconsin makes a very important display of agricultural products at the Pan-American Exposition. Michigan has a splendid State building. New York State has about 4,000 square feet of space for its exhibit. The ordinance exhibit at the Pan-American Exposition surpasses any display of the kind ever made at an exposition. Chicago yachtsmen propose to organize a fleet of local yachts to cruise to Buffalo for the purpose of attending the Pan-American Exposition. Sousa's famous band, and more than thirty other great musical organizations have been engaged to give concerts at the Pan-American Exposition. Every woman who visits the Pan-American Exposition will make comparison between her home methods of cooking and those she will find in the electrical kitchen of the exposition. The farmers of America are thoroughly interested in what electricity will do for them on the farm. In the electrical features of the Pan-American Exposition there is much for the members of farming communities to study, and they may see where the toil of the farm may be greatly lessened.
