WOMAN'S MUTILATED BODY IS FOUND NEAR DYING MAN.

Tragedy in Louisville Causes Sensation - Merchant Found with His Throat Cut-Girl Striker at East St. Louis Stockyards Shoots an Opponent.

The death of H. S. Church was the second act of a tragedy that began in Louisville, Ky., three days before with the murder of Emily Stuart, which did not come to light until late the other night, when the police found the horribly mutilated body of the woman hidden in a closet and in the same house the man dying from wounds self-inflicted with pistol and razor. Several pistol shots caused Policemen Finegan, Webb and Hueglin to enter the small frame building, occupied by Church as a grocery store and residence, the living rooms being just back of the grocery. They found Church propped up in a chair bleeding. He was taken to a hospital, but died without making a statement. Searching the premises, the police found the mutilated body of a woman in a closet. There was a big wound on the right side of her face and a gingham apron was tied tightly around her neck. "She was choked to death," said the coroner when he arrived. The woman was identified as Emily Stuart from a letter dated New York found in a bureau drawer, which the coroner said "was a love letter and unsigned." Another in the same handwriting, unsigned and dated Chicago, was next found.

Riot Is Caused by Trouble at Swift's East St. Louis Plant.

About 110 girls and women employed at the plant of Swift & Co., at the National Stock Yards, north of East St. Louis, went out on a strike because a change had been made in the manner of scaling the wages. Heretofore the girls have been paid by the hour; in the future they will be paid by the pound. As a result of the strike Miss Ella Beaman, residing near the works, was shot and seriously wounded by a young woman of the name of Wilzer. It is claimed that the Beaman and Wilzer girls were on opposite sides of the controversy and that they indulged in a heated discussion, when the Wilzer girl drew a small revolver and shot Miss Beaman. A crowd of girls chased the assailant, but was unable to catch hee unable to catch her.

CULVER CITY HERALD. STATE OF THE CROPS

WEATHER BUREAU'S WEEKLY AGRICULTURAL REPORT.

Temperature in Central Valleys Is Favorable-Cool in Northwest-Principal Corn States Report Improvement-Winter-Wheat Harvest.

According to the climate and crop division of the weather bureau the central valleys, lake region, Atlantic coast districts and Southern States experienced the most favorable temperature conditions of the season, but throughout the Rocky Mountain and Pacific coast regions the week was decidedly cool, with frosts more or less damaging in the central and northern Rocky Mountain districts and portions of California. Abundant and beneficial rains have fallen over portions of the middle Rocky Mountain slope and throughout the spring wheat region, and excessively heavy and damaging rains occurred in the South Atlantic States, while portions of Texas Missouri and Illinois continue to suffer from drought. Although the week averaged decidedly cool on the Pacific coast the latter part was warm and favorable.

A general and decided improvement in the condition of corn is reported from the principal corn States. Cut worms are, however, causing damage in Dakotas, and in the South Atlantic States the crop is suffering seriously from lack of cultivation due to excessive rains.

Winter wheat harvesting is becoming more general in Kansas and Missouri, has begun in southern Illinois, Virginia and Kentucky. The crop has experienced favorable conditions during the week in the central valleys, although damage by fly continues in some sections. On the Pacific coast cool weather has somewhat checked the development of wheat in California, where harvest is in progress in most sections with good yields. Promising reports continue from Oregon and Washington.

Spring wheat has made rapid advancement in the Dakotas and Minnesota, being in excellent condition in the lastnamed State.

Further improvement in the condition of oats is generally reported except in Arkansas and Missouri, where a poor crop is promised. Harvesting continues in the Southern States, being nearly finished in some sections.

In the central and western portions of the cotton belt cotton is generally improved and well cultivated, although needing rain in some sections.

In the States of the Ohio, central Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys the dropping of apples continues to be extensively reported. The general outlook for other fruits is encouraging, although the heavy rains in Georgia have caused rotting to more or less extent.

DIVORCE A CHURCH SIN.

The Episcopalian Clergymen's Revised Canon Is Rigid.

In the report to be submitted to the convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church on the prohibition of marriage within certain degrees of consanguinity is a proposed canon forbidding a man from wedding his dead wife's sister. There has been vigorous opposition.

Attached to the report is a "proposed canon on prohibited degrees." This is it: "Marriage between persons standing to one another in the following relations is prohibited by this church. A man may not marry his mother, step-mother, daughter, step-daughter, daughter-inlaw, sister, sister-in-law, grandmother, step-grandmother, grandmother-in-law, granddaughter. step - granddaughter, granddaughter-in-law, aunt, aunt by marriage, niece, niece by marriage. A woman may not marry father, step-father, son, step-son, son-in-law, brother, brother-in-law, grandfather, step-grandfather, grandfather-in-law, grandson, step-grandson, grandson-in-law, uncle, uncle by marriage, nephew, nephew by marriage."

Should the proposed caron be accepted it will raise within the Episcopal Church in this country the question which has long vexed the lawgivers in England on the subject of the deceased wife's sister, for marriage to a sister-in-law is prohibited. Marriages of divorced persons where the ground for divorce occurred after marriage is strictly prohibited, and the marriage to a deceased wife's sister is also placed under the ban.

DOWIE WEARS WINGS.

Although Claiming Immortality He Fears Kidnapers.

John Alexander Dowie appeared before his Chicago congregation Sunday with wings attached to his clerical robe. He announced that certain physicians had formed a plot to kidnap him, lock him in a detention hospital and beat him till he should lose all his reasoning powers and become really insane. He said that the kidnaping might take place any time, and after the service he called a special private meeting of the male members to help the Zion guard in protecting him. He also made threats against the physicians that he would do to them as he thought they were trying to do to him, unless they shall let him alone and stop calling him a paranoiac.

With all this, Dowie repeated his pretensions to be Elijah reincarnated, making way for the end of the world, and he incidentally laid claim to immortality.

"I have special information," shouted the general overseer to his followers, "that a law has been juggled with spefixed it so that an insanity complaint father's farm. He the same men who are calling me a paranoiac."

~~~~~ W. N. Rowley of Boston-Even the reports that come from the South fail to give people of the North an adequate conception of the industrial prosperity and prospects that are now the South's. The country is developing with wonderful rapidity. In the six hours' ride out of Savannah I counted from the window of the ear sixty-four cotton gins. There were doubtless just as many on the other side of the train. The race problem of that section is gradually settling itself satisfactorily by the industrial education of the young negroes, which is now beginning to show results. They have changed | life. in many cases from the worthless and unskilled labor of half a generation ago to skillful workmen and self-dependent Young Woman Travels to the Philipproperty owners.

is called an "open town" unless the public wants it. I don't believe that it is possible to reform a community by passing laws. The community cannot rise above its own level, and its level is reflected in the way in which it enforces its laws. There is no truth in the report that Chicago is a "wide open" town. It is a "closely shut down" town in every sense of the word. I think it is very poor policy for a mayor to advocate the enforcement of the blue laws or the ringing of the curfew bell when the people are not in favor of them. You cannot reform any community by law. It must be done by education.

Senator George F. Hoar of Massachusetts-Before I came to Congress I had built up a law practice that brought me an income of $20,000 a year, and I have every reason to believe that the practice would grow to $50,000. I had saved from my income about $100,000, and I believed I could keep my practice and still attend to my duties in Congress. After more than thirty years in the public service, I find myself at 75 with my law practice gone and the accumulations of my young days dissipated. It is impossible to remain in Congress and attend to one's duties and at the same time to continue an outside business.

EX-GOVERNOR OF MICHIGAN EX-PIRES IN LONDON.

Receives Death's Summons After Brief Illuess-Story of Remarkable Career in Business and Politics-Labored for Many Reforms While in Office.

Hazen S. Pingree, former Governor of Michigan, breathed his last in London, England, at 11:35 p. m. Tuesday. He was under the care of three physicians and two nurses, but the doctors had admitted for the last day or two that the hope of his recovery was very slight. Dr. Mills left the dying man's bedside hardly fifteen minutes before the final summons and promised soon to return. At that time Mr. Pingree was unconscious, as he had been for several hours.

Dr. Mills had not returned when the end came. The only person in the room at the time was Hazen S. Pingree, Jr., who had been constantly at his father's bedside and had not removed his clothes for four days. At 11:30 he noticed an apparent change in his father's condition and drawing closer soon observed that the heart had ceased to do its work. Death had come silently and without special warning. The once vigorous and aggressive American passed away peacefully and without a word to friend or

Upon the death of his father H. S. Pingree, Jr., cabled at once to his mothor and uncle, who were about to sail from New York, not to do so. The body will be embalmed and sent to Detroit.

Dr. Mills, in speaking of the condition of his distinguished patient shortly before his death, said: "It seems too bad that the serious nature of his ailment was not discovered earlier. He ought heavy, for the track and roadbed washed never to have been allowed to travel on the continent. Mr. Pingree is receiving every care and is making a gallant fight, but the ulceration of the stomach is only one symptom of the complicated disease which it seems impossible to check."

During 1864 he was for five months a prisoner of war. After the war he went to Detroit. He worked at his trade in a shoe factory in that place until 1866, when, with H. Smith, he established a very small shoe factory of his own. The partnership was eminently successful and the factory developed into the largest shoe manufacturing business in the West.

Mr. Pingree was Mayor of Detroit four times, serving in that capacity from 1889 to 1896. During the mayoralty he attained prominence by his successful project of securing vacant lots for the cultivation of potato patches for the poor, and also by his fights against street railway and other combinations. From 300 to 400 persons are thought tobe drowned in a flood which swept through the Elkhorn valley from Ennis, W. Va., to Vivian, in the same State, between the hours of 9 o'clock and 11 Sunday morning.

In the valley is located the celebrated Pocahontas coal fields. Nearly all the machinery and buildings were wrecked. The mining and railroad town? of Key-the entire day and night. Saturday toward noon the rain ceased. but the heavy storm clouds hung over the valley, threatening every moment another downfall. The clouds held back, however, until about midnight, when the rain again began to fall.

Cloudburst Adds to Terror. The storm increased in violence every minute and finally culminated in a cloudburst which precipitated a great volume of water into the Elkhorn valley, already flooded to the danger point by the rains of the preceding forty-eight hours. The great mass of water started down the valley with a roar that was heard above the storm. It swept everything before it-trees, telegraph poles, huge bowlders, whole buildings, railroad ties, steel rails, box cars, and coal sheds.

Into the mass of tangled wreckage of the flood were swept helpless men, women and children, caught in its path, and as all were swept along in the fury of the storm they went to their death with none-to hear their last cries for help. Buildings Float Away.

The valley was peopled almost entirely with miners and their families. Their frail cabins and cottages offered no resistance to the impact of the flood and the buildings were tossed upon the front of the great wave which was rushing: down the valley. There was no chancefor escape for the unfortunate people, caught without warning.

The flood began to make its terrible force felt at Ennis, and it extended the entire length of the valley to Vivian. As the crow flies the distance is fifteen or sixteen miles, but by the tortuous path. of the river it is thirty-five.

The Elkhorn valley at this point is a great gorge, cutting its way through the mountain range. It is a mile wide: at one place and then it narrows to an width of only 300 feet. At its narrowest point its rocky walls rise to a height of from 700 to 1,000 feet.

It was through this gorge that the storm tore its way. The great wave of water which swept everything before it wrought its destruction in a few minutes. In twenty minutes it was all over but: the desolation.

EXPLOSION FIREWORKS CAUSE DEATH AND INJURY.

Blowing Up of a Small Store Ignites a Big Tenement Building - Frantic Dwellers Entrapped in Frame Structure Jump from Windows to Escape.

In a terrific explosion of fireworks in a Paterson, N. J., store on Friday at least seventeen persons were killed and seven were injured. Several more are missing. Twenty-one families were rendered homeless, all their household effects being burned by the fire, which destroyed three large apartment buildings. Many rescues were made and many narrow escapes were recorded.

One woman, whose husband was a helpless invalid, dashed back into the flames to save him, and joined him in death just as the firemen sent to help her arrived. A bridegroom, by the exercise of great daring, strength and presence of mind, saved his young wife and himself when it seemed as if they must perish. A father and mother dug through heaps of fallen plaster to save their baby, and effected their escape after unsuccessful efforts. Three firemen were buried in the falling building material and were taken out injured but with a chance of recovery.

In the cellar, under the wholesale and retail fireworks store of A. M. Rittenburg, were stored tons of fireworks for the sales preliminary to the Fourth of July. No one knows the origin of the catastrophe, but at 12:30 o'clock the whole neighborhood was shaken by a terrific explosion which brought down almost immediately the tenement house above the store and so shook the adjoining buildings of the same kind that they quickly fell into the fire which followed. Rittenburg has been accused of keeping powder in great bulk, but he denies this.

Most of the families were at dinner, and they were so startled by the shock that they did not stop to learn its cause, but ran, pell-mell, into the street. Then those who had left little children or old persons behind had to go back to rescue them, and so rapid was the spread of the flames that they had barely time to do so. Many jumped from windows in making their escape.

Flames were leaping through the two houses adjoining long before an alarm had been turned in, and by the time the earth should the housemaids in other firemen arrived many casualties had been recorded. No less than thirty-five persons were taken from the three buildings. by firemen and by tenants who retained their presence of mind.

EIGHT DIE IN TORNADO.

Violent Storm Near Naper, Neb., Almost Wipes Out Two Families.

A tornado in which at least nine lives were lost swept down the Keya Paha river near Naper, Neb. Six members of a family of seven were killed and of another family of six two are dead and the others except the father are fatally injured. The dead are all in the families of Jacob Greening and August Anderson. Members of the family of Jacob Berg and Charles Metz were injured and their houses were demolished. Great damage was done by the storm along the Keya Paha river. The big wagon bridge was broken to pieces. Everything in the track of the storm was destroyed. Trees were blown down and the smaller ones were stripped of leaves, and barb-wire fences were carried 600 yards. The furniture that was in the homes of the Andersons and Greenings cannot be found. A trunk and pieces of the table were picked up half a mile away.

DOMESTICS IN A UNION.

Sixty Thousand of Them in Chicago to Democratic Chairman Jones Says New Form a Labor Organization.

Sixty thousand domestics employed in the homes of Chicago are ready to join a union which it is said may develop into the strongest labor organization on cities join the movement. Delegates to the Chicago Federation of Labor who attended the meeting were astounded when Sophia Becker of the Shoe-Stitchers' Union made the announcement that thousands of servant girls in Chicago were already members of a bona-fide labor organization. When she announced that "abolition of domestic slavery" was the slogan of the women, and that tens of thousands of servant girls in Chicago were eager to enter the field of industrial warfare, men in the hall cheered. Miss Becker, who is a delegate to the Chicago Federation of Labor and prominent in union circles, grew eloquent as she pictured the wrongs and indignities heaped upon domestics, and declared that "the time had come for the girls to throw off the yoke of slavery and fight for privileges enjoyed by other women.'

Regular days of duty and wages no below a stipulated figure will be demanded by the union. Permission to receive company and light rooms will also be required. It is said domestics are at present assigned to dark rooms or in some out-of-the-way corner where there is neither light nor ventilation, and the first effort of the organization will be to remedy this.

TROUBLE AT OPEN GRAVE.

Outspoken Declarations of Preacher Arouse Anger of Relatives.

A scene was created at the grave during the funeral services of the little son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hancock, of for some time. The child had been living with its grandfather. Rev. George Edward Walk, pastor of Harrison Street Christian Church of that city, was the officiating minister, and while the last words of the ceremony were being said over the grave Otto Jackson, a brother of Mrs. Hancock, took Rev. Walk to task for the sermon he had preached. He demanded that Mr. Walk retract certain statements made in his sermon. The text of the discourse was as follows: "When my father and mother forsake me, my Lord will take me up." Mr. Walk in his sermon vigorously denounced divorce. He disclaimed any personal application of the sermon, but Jackson still insisted and friends interfered to prevent trouble. To a newspaper reporter afterward Mr. Walk said: "I am tired of indiscriminate laudations at funerals and think the truth should be spoken at all times."

Carefully matured plans for the building of a great Indiana harbor on Lake Michigan, the erection of an immense steel mill, a belt railroad system and the foundation of a town to rival South Chicago, are now to be carried into execution. The town will be called Indiana Harbor. H. C. Frick, the Lake Michigan Land Company and the Calumet Land and Improvement Company are behind the project. It is not likely the United States Consulship at Pretoria will go begging, notwithstanding the fact that Secretary Hay's son, Adelbert Hay, came back to this country almost impoverished after a tour of duty in that place. He said it was impossible to live in Pretoria as the United States Consul on the salary of $2,000, and it was said he had spent in a single year in a legitimate way in maintaining the dignity of the country more money than his father receives as Secretary of State. There are several candidates for the place, however, and each is willing to go to South Africa for the $2,000 allowed by the government. They are perfectly willing to try to live on that stipend and maintain the dignity of their government without waiting for an increase of salary by Congress.

Serious embarrassment has been caused the Navy Department by the strikes of machinists all over the country. The story took hold of the child with a strong fascination. She never would put on those beads again, but she often took them out of their box and looked at them with something like affection, repeating softly to herself, "Indie's coral strand." She always said Indie's, not India's, as if it were a personal possession.

God sometimes uses small means to accomplish great purposes. By such little things the girl's interest in missions was awakened. It grew as she grew to womanhood, and India became the country of her dreams. Her twentieth birthday found her motherless, with no duty to bind her to this side of the world; it found her also strong in purpose to live her life in that far-off land, working for its people. If, mingling with this devotion, was a lurking thought that no heathen would ever learn to call her by her Christian name, who will blame her?

Thus it was that little Independence Day grew up to be a self-reliant woman, and on this 4th of July she is too far away for mischievous boys to twit her about her red hair or her name and too Indianapolis News.

AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT IS MAKING FARMERS' GUIDE.

Colored Chart of the Entire Country -Carefully Gathered Information Shows What Grows Best and Tells the Things to Avoid.

Washington correspondence:

The Agricultural department is about to publish a soil map that will enable the farmer, wherever he is located, to determine just what crops will bring him the largest returns in money. Printed in colors, it will convey information in the manner imaginable.

The map is to cover the whole of the United States, and will be on such a scale that every ten-acre patch will be represented by one-eighth of an inch square. But each farmer will be able to procure a chart of his own neighborhood on a larger scale, so that he can arrange his planting in accordance with the suggestions which it conveys. The work is done by townships to start with, and these are put together to make counties, which are finally assembled to form complete maps of States.

Hitherto the business of farming has been to some extent guesswork; the agriculturist formed a surmise as to what crops were best for him to try, and did his planting accordingly. Henceforth it will be quite different.

Soil Map Is First Guide.

In the first place, the soil map will show what kind of agricultural industry any given locality is best adapted for, whether fruit raising, vegetable growing, dairying, or general farming. It will make clear to the farmer in North Carolina, for instance, that he has the same soil that is used advantageously for certain purposes in Georgia, and that, if climatic conditions are not unfavorable, the same crops may be expected to succeed on his land.

A wonderful strip of light, sandy soil not over four or five miles wide extends along the Atlantic coast from Massachusetts to Florida with occasional interruptions, bordering the ocean and its embayments-i. e., the rivers and bays. It is a natural truck patch, adapted for the production of early vegetables, which | cure for Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Atlanta Constitution. ripen much sooner in that ribbon of land than anywhere else in corresponding latitudes, owing to the nearness of the sea. The nearer the water, the earlier the planting may be done.

Along that strip in spring the climate moves north at an average rate of thirteen miles a day. The crops of vegetables which it produces come to market at a corresponding rate. But backward weather in the South and forward weather in the North will disarrange things sometimes, causing a ripening of the same kinds of produce at the same period in different latitudes of the strip and thus bringing about a glut conditions, however, the potatoes, tomatoes, peas, and other garden stuff arrive first from Florida, then from Georgia, next from the Carolinas, and so on.

This interesting strip is conspicuously shown on the soil map, owing to its great commercial importance. It has so lengthened the season for fresh vegetables that now it may be said that there is no longer any season; such products are obtainable all the year round. In Southern Florida there is a limited area below reach of frost where vegetables can be grown all winter, and the yield of this region tides over the cold months until the spring season begins its march up the coast.

Shows What to Avoid.

It is the strip next to the beach, a mile wide, that is best for trucking purposes, and these sandy lands, when near to | cities and with good transportation available, are worth from $50 to $500 an acre, though only a few years ago they were valued at $1 an acre. As shown by the map, even along the strip the soils vary, so as to be adapted to different kinds of truck, the lightest and sandiest being best for early peas, the medium most suitable for tomatoes, and the heaviest just right for growing cabbages.

The map will call attention to certain troubles of soils, which have been investigated through chemical analysis. One of these is acidity, which has an important influence upon farming over large areas; another is excess or deficiency of certain elements of plant growth, which can be supplied by fertilizers; and yet another is alkali. As for alkali, science has ascertained both the source of it and the remedy. It comes usually from wash from the mountains, from salts carried on to the land by irrigation, or from deposits laid down at a period when the land was sea bottom. The remedy is to underdrain the land and wash out the alkali and to prevent the accumulation of seepage water in the subsoil.

ap for Cotton Region. An illustration of the method of mapping, and of the value of the work, is afforded by a chart of the so-called Yazoo Bottom, in Mississippi, which has just been completed. It is a vast alluvial delta 100 miles long by 40 miles wide, and comprises a good deal of the richest land in the world. But within its topographical limits are four or five different kinds of soil, some of which are unproductive. Some of the land yields a quarter of a bale of cotton to the acre, some of it half a bale, some of it three-quarters of a bale, and some of it a bale and more. Generally speaking, the bottom represents a production of about a bale to the acre.

The spots not so productive for cotton have been ascertained recently by the experts to be valuable for crops of kinds not yet introduced, such as vegetables and certain fruits. Provided with a soil map of the region, the farmer will know where to replace poor crops of cotton with vegetables that will yield $100 to $200 an acre.

"Perhaps not for water," said Mr. Du Chaillu, "for monkeys in their natural mals talk in certain ways among themselves."

This statement he prepared to demonstarate. "I have heard one gorilla call clearest and most easily comprehended another which was seven or eight miles away, when the first had found some berries in profusion, and I have seen monkeys deliberate among themselves a long time before making an import- then drawled out: ant move.

"That reminds me that animals have bullets are coming from!" to work hard to get a living, even in forests where there is an abundance of vegetation. Some animals travel miles every day to get food, and then have all sorts of trouble in picking out a safe spot in which to rest for the night. That is where the elephants have hard work -in selecting a spot to rest. They seem to have the same hatred for snakes which human beings and most animals have. They will carefully trample over a large section to drive away or kill any snakes or small animals that may be around."

Ambrose McKay's Case.

Rockbridge, Mo., June 24.—The neighborhood and particularly the members of Rockbridge Lodge, No. 435, A. F. & A. M., are feeling very much pleased over the recovery of Mr. Ambrose Mc-Kay, a prominent citizen and an honored member of the Masonic Fraternity.

Mr. McKay had been suffering for years with Diabetes and Rheumatism, which recently threatened to end his days. His limbs were so filled with pain that he could not sleep. He was left leg. But Providence, ever watchful very bad.

Just then some one suggested a new remedy-Dodd's Kidney Pills-which has been much advertised recently as a Dropsy, Rheumatism and Kidney Trouble. After Mr. McKay had used a few doses, he commenced to improve. His pain all left him, and he is almost as well as ever. He says Dodd's Kidney Pills are worth much more than they cost. They are certainly getting a great reputation in Missouri, and many very startling cures are being reported.

A Limited Monarchy.

In a high school examination paper, in reply to the question, "What is a limited monarchy?" was written: "A limited monarchy is a government by a king, who, in case of bankruptcy, would not be responsible for the entire national debt. You have the same thing in private life in limited liability companies." -Kansas City Star.

A Target for Lead.

The British officer, says Julian Ralph in "An American with Lord Roberts," is likely to be a high and mighty persoftens in time into an exceedingly good fellow. Yet at any moment he "Does a monkey, for instance," in- may be expected to perform a picturesque action in a truly British manner.

At the battle of Dreefontein several officers were under a shower of bullets that came like water shot out of a neestate very seldom drink water. They dle-bath. They were all pressing their eat berries and fruits which contain bodies down, as if they would like to water; but there is no doubt that ani- press them into the earth. Suddenly one very tall fellow began to rise. First he got on his knees, then he straightened up on his feet to his full stature, and stood in that spray of lead, the only target on the field.

He fumbled for his eye-glass, found it, contorted his cheek as a man does to fit such an ornament into his face, and

"Aw, I say, I wondah where these

He continued to stand and stare at the kopje where the Boers lay, and presently he drawled again, while the air was tattered with shot and buzzing with noise:

"Aw, I say, can any of you fellahs see where they come from?"

The other "fellahs" squirmed and wriggled as if they were going to get up and help him look, but not one raised his head or his body an inch.

"Get down, Reggie, you silly fool!" said one. "You're doing what the Boers want, and that isn't playing the game." At that Reggie adjusted his glass anew, and after one long, hard stare at the invisible enemy, slowly returned, to embrace his mother earth.

Bullet Proof.

Here is an odd paragraph from a Georgia exchange:

"While Major Williams was seated in his front room, with both feet in the window, peacefully smoking, some unknown miscreant shot him through the of its own, protected him. The bullet passed through his wooden leg, doing no damage whatever. It is the same leg that the rheumatism tackled in vain."-

What Do the Children Drink?

Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food drink called GRAIN-O? It is delicious and nourishing and takes the place of coffee. The more Grain-O you give the children the more health you distribute through their systems. Grain-O is made of pure grains, and when properly prepared tastes like the choice grades of coffee, but costs about 1/4 as much. All grocers sell it. 15c and 25c.

A Low Death Rate.

"You may talk as you please," said the public-spirited suburbanite, "but our town is all right. Why, look at our remarkably low death rate. That's an argument.'

"Yes, that's an argument," interrupted the caustic city man. "It shows how very few people would care to be found dead there."-Philadelphia Press.

The Best Way

To the Pan-American is by the Michigan Central, for it is not only "The Niagara Falls Route," but its train service is superb. The Pan-American Special is a swell train. It has the finest equipment the Pullman and Michigan Central shops can turn out. It leaves Chicago 6 p. m., serves dinner in one of its famous dining cars, stops at Falls View next morning, and reaches Buffalo 7:45 a. m. You can't do better. Send for folder to L. D.
